The policyholder system contains records of insured producers’ and their policy information. Included in this information is: Name and tax identification numbers (including social security numbers) of the insured and all persons with a substantial beneficial interest in the insured. The system also contains insured acreage, coverage levels, price elections, production and yield history; acreage report information including acres, farming practices, planting dates, premium and liability data; a legal description and identification of insured’s land; and, if applicable, associated loss data on the insured’s land as submitted to RMA by private insurance companies.

The purpose of the policyholder system is to administer the Federal crop insurance program: identify and support compliance and agency oversight efforts to mitigate fraud, waste and abuse; evaluate and analyze program performance as an element of determining actuarial soundness; support data reconciliation with the Farm Service Agency; assemble data for the purpose of establishing sound actuarial bases for insurance on agricultural commodities; research and develop new crop and risk management programs; analyze, evaluate or modify existing programs, internal controls and program performance; perform cost benefit analysis to support program rules, changes and modifications; provide historical records of program performance for research and development related to rating and coverage; and provide insured producers’ policy information to private insurance companies as required by the Standard Reinsurance Agreement between the FCIC and the private insurance companies.

The policyholder system is maintained by the Actuarial Division, Research and Development, located in the RMA Kansas City office. A report on a new system, as required by 5 U.S.C. 552a(r) and implemented by OMB Circular A–130, was sent to the Chairman, Committee on Governmental Affairs, United States Senate; the Chairman, Committee on Government Reform, U.S. House of Representatives; and the Administrator, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, on November 4, 2002.
