

with the HMR from the point of offer and at all times until transportation is complete.

Checked baggage: Checked baggage containing a hazardous material is offered to the carrier at the point the passenger presents the baggage for acceptance by the carrier. This can occur at curbside check-in, at the ticket counter at the airport, or when the passenger presents the bag to screening personnel for explosive detection screening as a prerequisite to presentation to the carrier. When the baggage is tendered at curbside check-in or the ticket counter to the air carrier, the baggage is considered to have been accepted when the air carrier issues a baggage claim ticket for the checked baggage.

Accordingly, if a passenger's carry-on baggage or checked baggage contains a hazardous material that does not comply with Federal hazardous materials transportation law or the HMR, and the passenger has tendered the baggage to screening personnel at an airport security screening checkpoint, passed through the checkpoint with the baggage (including items on his/her person), or offered it to the carrier, the passenger may be subject to civil or criminal penalties under Federal hazardous materials transportation law, the HMR, or any other applicable laws or regulations. Likewise, an air carrier that knowingly accepts a passenger's carry-on baggage or checked baggage containing a hazardous material that does not comply with Federal hazardous materials transportation law or the HMR may be subject to civil or criminal penalties under Federal hazardous materials transportation law, the HMR, or any other applicable laws or regulations.

Information Concerning Passengers Who Need Supplemental Oxygen

The above interpretation does not affect the use of oxygen by passengers at airports. Ticketed passengers using their own oxygen on the ground, who do not intend to transport the oxygen because they are receiving oxygen for the flight from the air carrier, are not considered to be offering their oxygen for transportation on an aircraft when they enter or pass through the security screening checkpoint. Passengers may not carry oxygen aboard an aircraft; it must be provided by the aircraft operator (see 49 CFR 175.10 and 14 CFR 121.574).
