approval of consent decrees” serves as a public means to counterbalance the “great influence and economic power” available to antitrust violators. Sen. Rept. No. 93–298, at 5 (1973).

The House Report echoes this concern: Given the high rate of settlement in public antitrust cases, it is imperative that the integrity of and public confidence in procedures relating to settlements via consent decree procedures be assured. Your Committee agrees with S. Rept. No. 93–298, “The bill seeks to encourage additional comment and response by providing more adequate notice to the public,” (p. 5) but stresses that effective and meaningful public comment is also a goal.” H.R. Rept. No. 93–1463.

It is not possible for the public to play the role envisioned by the statute unless adequate information is presented in the CIS, with the result that the Court cannot fulfill its own role of determining whether the proposed decree will serve the public interest. 15 U.S.C. 16(e). With respect to the corn syrup and HFCS markets, the CIS fails to disclose essential facts necessary to an understanding of either the competitive problem or a remedy. With respect to the ethanol market, the CIS is totally silent, despite the apparent fact that ADM is the leading producer and MCP is the second leader producing. We recognize that the Department may have been aware of all the relevant facts and may have carried out a perfectly designed and perfectly executed investigation, reaching a perfectly understandable compromise. Nevertheless, neither the public nor the Court can evaluate whether the proposed decree is in the public interest because there is too little disclosure for an evaluation to be made.

The Department has traditionally been reluctant to say a great deal in its CIS disclosures, presumably because it risks disclosure of confidential information, adds to the staff’s workload, and opens up the door to additional inquiry. We urge the Department to look to the example of the Federal Trade Commission in its handling of the recent cruise case, in which it permitted two problematic mergers to go forward, without condition, but (without the requirements of a Tunney Act hanging over its head) provided a detailed explanation of its reasoning, accompanied by a minority statement. After the Enron and related scandals, we operate in a new age where transparency of government regulation is of even greater importance. ADM is a company that has had more than its share of scandal and illegal activity. In order to sustain the public’s confidence in the antitrust settlement process, we urge the Department and the Court to give the Tunney Act the benefit of any doubt by revising the CIS so as to meet Professor Carstensen’s objections. Sincerely,

Albert A. Feer, President.

Gentlemen (and women); I am thankful for this opportunity to offer my brief comment to you on the proposed ADM–MCP purchase transaction.

I will try not to duplicate the obvious facts and data that you no doubt have indicating the anticompetitive effect this transaction could have on:

1. The market price the farmer receives (and growth of same)
2. The ethanol and (3) Sweetener industry market prices.

I will instead attempt to offer some of the not so obvious that you may not have but are never the less, just as important.

I am hopeful that you can provide evidence that this public comment opportunity does have meaning instead of ‘being cut & dried’ or a ‘done deal’ that ADM has under control, the well grounded perception that most have expressed to me. This perception plus (1) the extended corn harvest in SW MN, (2) most stakeholders being unaware of this public comment forum and (3) many of us who are (aware of), being poor writers and cramped for time means relatively few comments from those who would otherwise do so, which is unfortunate. So I hope you can bear with us and receive what we (I) intended to convey on this very important issue. To provide all of the important details is beyond the scope of this comment writing, but please if u do want more detail. I’d be most honored to respond with the full impact & detail that you need (if I know it not redundant) to make your most important decisions and conveyance of same.

I have personal knowledge that many of the new coops that have formed & now producing ethanol did so with the knowledge that MCP was a positive role model. This transaction & you could’ve occurred would be asked for by the decision makers. I repeat, since I don’t know which of what else I had to say would be redundant & other reasons listed herein I defer for now pending your request for more. (Including any resume in this field)

I out of time!
Thanking you again for this opportunity.

P.S.

If every component of this transaction was legal (I’m not saying it wasn’t)—then I’d like to meet with the people who make the laws.—To see that this injustice never happens again!

I wish my appraisal of the growth that could’ve occurred would be asked for by the decision makers.

I repeat, since I don’t know which of what else I had to say would be redundant & other reasons listed herein I defer for now pending your request for more. (Including any resume in this field)
