VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

Section VIII of the General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

Activities assisted under this program are subject to HUD environmental review to the extent required under 24 CFR part 50. An award under the Healthy Homes Initiative does not constitute approval of specific sites where activities may be carried out. Following award execution, HUD will perform environmental reviews for activities to be carried out on properties proposed by your organization. You must comply with HUD's regulations in 24 CFR 50.3(h) in carrying out responsibilities regarding environmental review. You may not rehabilitate, convert, repair or construct a property, or commit or expend program funds or non-HUD funds for these program activities for any eligible property, until you receive written notification from the appropriate HUD official that HUD has completed its environmental review and the property has been approved. The results of environmental reviews may require that proposed activities be modified or proposed sites rejected. Recipients of a grant under this NOFA will be given guidance in these responsibilities.

IX. HUD Reform Act of 1989

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the section XI (A) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

X. Authority

The authority for this program is sections 501 and 502 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 and the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Public Law 108–7, approved February 20, 2003.

Appendix A: Housing-Related Health and Injury Hazards

The following briefly describes the housing-associated health and injury hazards HUD considers key targets for intervention. More information about housing-associated health and injury hazards is available at the Healthy Homes Initiative Web site, at <http://www.hud.gov>.

Allergens and asthma: Experts estimate that 14 million Americans have asthma, with an associated annual cost of $6.2 billion. Asthma is now recognized as the leading cause of school and work absences, emergency room visits and hospitalizations. For sensitized children, exposure to antigens from dust mites, certain pets, and cockroaches has been associated with more severe asthma. There is a preponderance of evidence showing a dose-response relationship between exposure and prevalence of asthma and allergies; some evidence also indicates that exposure to antigens early in life may predispose or hasten the onset of allergies and asthma. Dust mites have been identified as the largest trigger for asthma and allergies. Cockroach allergens appear to be excessive in 30–50 percent of inner-city housing and affect 5–15 percent of the population, whereas dust mites appear to be the dominant allergen in other environments.

Interventions known to have beneficial effects include the installation of impervious mattress and pillow covers, which can reduce allergen exposure by 90 percent. Other dust mite control measures include dehumidification, laundering bedding, and removal of carpets and other dust sinks. Cleaning carpets with tannic acid solution has also been demonstrated to greatly reduce dust mites. Asthma prevention program costs have been estimated at about $500 per unit, which includes about $150 for educational interventions. Additional information is available in HUD's research topic paper, "Healthy Homes Issues: Asthma" available at the Resources, Technical Resources link of HUD's Healthy Homes Initiative Web site, linked to HUD's Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

Asbestos: Asbestos is a mineral fiber that has been used commonly in a variety of building construction materials and household products for insulation and as a fire-retardant. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) have banned most asbestos products. Manufacturers have also voluntarily limited uses of asbestos. Today, asbestos is most commonly found in older homes, in pipe and furnace insulation materials, asbestos shingles, millboard, textured paints and other coating materials, and floor tiles. Elevated concentrations of airborne asbestos can occur when asbestos-containing materials (ACMs) are disturbed by cutting, sanding or other remodeling activities. Improper attempts to remove these materials can release asbestos fibers into the air in homes, increasing asbestos levels and endangering the people living in those homes. The most dangerous asbestos fibers are too small to be visible. After they are inhaled, they can remain and accumulate in the lungs. Asbestos can cause lung cancer, mesothelioma (a cancer of the chest and abdominal linings), and asbestosis (irreversible lung scarring that can be fatal). Most people with an asbestos-related disease were exposed to elevated concentrations on the job; some developed disease from exposure to clothing and equipment brought home from job sites. As with radon, dose-response extrapolations suggest that lower level exposures, as may occur when asbestos-containing building materials deteriorate or are disturbed, may also cause cancer.

Intact asbestos-containing materials are not a hazard; they should be monitored for damage or deterioration and isolated if possible. Repair of damaged or deteriorating ACMs usually involves either sealing (encapsulation) or covering (enclosure) it. Repair is usually cheaper than removal, but it may make later removal of asbestos more difficult and costly. Repairs should be done only by a professional who is trained and certified to handle asbestos safely. Repairs can cost from a few hundred to a few thousand dollars and removal can be more expensive.

Combustion products of heating and cooking appliances: Burning of oil, natural gas, kerosene, and wood for heating or cooking purposes can release a variety of combustion products of health concern. Depending upon the fuel, these may include carbon monoxide (a chemical asphyxiant), oxides of nitrogen (respiratory irritants), polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (e.g., the carcinogen benzo[a]pyrene), and airborne particulate matter (respiratory irritants). Carbon monoxide, an odorless gas, can be fatal. Nitrogen dioxide can damage the respiratory tract, and sulfur dioxide can irritate the eyes, nose and respiratory tract. Smoke and other particulates irritate the eyes, nose and throat, and can cause lung cancer.

Improper venting and poor maintenance of heating systems and cooking appliances can dramatically increase exposure to combustion products. Experts recommend having combustion heating systems inspected by a trained professional every year to identify blocked openings of flues and chimneys, cracked or disconnected pipe pipes, dirty filters, rust or cracks in heat exchangers, soot or creosote build-up, and exhaust or gas odors. Installing a carbon monoxide detector is also recommended; however, such a detector will not detect other combustion by-products.

Insect and rodent pests: The observed association between exposure to cockroach antigen and asthma severity has already been noted above. In addition, cockroaches may act as vehicles to contaminate environmental surfaces with certain pathogenic organisms. Rodents can transmit a number of communicable diseases to humans, either through bites, arthropod vectors, or exposure to aerosolized excreta. In addition, humans can become sensitized to proteins in rodent urine, dander and saliva. Such sensitization may contribute to asthma severity among children. Insect and rodent infestation is frequently associated with substandard housing that makes it difficult to eliminate. Treatment of rodent and insect infestations often includes the use of toxic pesticides that may present hazards to occupants (see below). Integrated pest management (IPM) for rodents and cockroaches, which reduces the use of pesticides, is estimated to cost approximately $150 per unit. IPM control measures include sealing holes and cracks, removing food sources and the use of traps. In technical terms, IPM is the coordinated use of pest and environmental information with available pest control methods to prevent unacceptable levels of pest damage by the most economical means and with the least possible hazard to people, property, and the environment. (One information source is the University of Minnesota's electronic textbook of Integrated Pest Management, available at <http://ipmworld.umn.edu/textbook.htm>.)

Lead: Exposure to lead, especially from deteriorating lead-based paint, remains one of the most important and best-studied of the household environmental hazards to children. Although blood lead levels have fallen nationally, a large reservoir of lead remains in housing. The National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (1991–1994) showed that nearly one million U.S. preschoolers still have elevated blood lead levels. Overall, the prevalence rate among all children under six years of age is 4.4 percent. Among low-income children living in older housing where lead-based paint is most prevalent, the rate climbs to 16 percent; and for African-American children living in such housing, it reaches 21 percent.

The National Survey of Lead and Allergens in Housing (2000) estimates that 38 million dwellings have some lead-based paint, and that 24 million have significant lead-based paint hazards. Of those, about 4.8 million have young children and of those, about 1.2 million have household incomes under $30,000 per year. Costs for Lead Hazard Control can range anywhere from $500 to $15,000 per unit. Corrective measures include paint stabilization, enclosure and removal of certain building components coated with lead paint, and cleanup and "clearance testing," which ensures the unit is safe for young children.

Mold and moisture: An analysis of several pulmonary disease studies estimates that 25 percent of airways disease, and 60 percent of interstitial lung disease may be associated with moisture in the home or work environment. Moisture is a precursor to the growth of mold and other biological agents, which is also associated with respiratory symptoms. An investigation of a cluster of pulmonary hemosiderosis (PH) cases in infants showed PH was associated with a history of recent water damage to homes and with levels of the mold Stachybotrys atra (SA) in air and in cultured surface samples. Associations between exposure to SA and "sick building" symptoms in adults have also been observed. Other related toxigenic fungi have been found in association with SA-associated illness and could play a role. For sensitive individuals, exposure to a wide variety of common molds may also aggravate asthma. Addressing mold problems in housing requires coordination among the medical, public health, microbiological, housing, and building science communities. Additional information is available in HUD's research topic paper, "Healthy Homes Issues: Mold" available at the Resources, Technical Resources link of HUD's Healthy Homes Initiative website, linked to HUD's Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

The cost of mold/moisture-related intervention work (e.g., IPM, clean and tune furnace, remove debris, vent clothes dryer, cover dirt floor with impermeable vapor barrier) is a few hundred dollars, unless major modification of the ventilation system is needed. For example, in Cleveland, mold interventions, including repairs to ventilation systems and basement flooring, in the most heavily contaminated homes range from $500–$5,000, with some costs also being dedicated to lead hazard control simultaneously through its Lead+Asthma program.

Pesticide residues: According to the EPA, 75 percent of U.S. households used at least one pesticide product indoors during the past year. Products used most often are insecticides and disinfectants. Another study suggests that 80 percent of most people's exposure to pesticides occurs indoors and that measurable levels of up to a dozen pesticides have been found in the air inside homes. The amount of pesticides found in homes appears to be greater than can be explained by recent pesticide use in those households; other possible sources include contaminated soil or dust that migrates in from outside, stored pesticide containers, and household surfaces that collect and then release the pesticides. Pesticides used in and around the home include products to control insects (insecticides), termites (termiteicides), rodents (rodenticides), molds and fungi (fungicides), and microbes (disinfectants). In 1990, the American Association of Poison Control Centers reported that some 79,000 children were involved in common household pesticide poisonings or exposures. In households with children under five years of age, almost half stored at least one pesticide product within the reach of children. Exposure to chlorpyrifos (CP), a commonly used organophosphate insecticide, in the prenatal and early postnatal period may impair neurological development. While CP is a biodegradable pesticide, substantial persistence of CP in house dust has been demonstrated. Exposure to high levels of cyclodiene pesticides, commonly associated with misapplication, has produced various symptoms, including headaches, dizziness, muscle twitching, weakness, tingling sensations, and nausea. In addition, the EPA is concerned that cyclodienes might cause long-term damage to the liver and the central nervous system, as well as an increased risk of cancer.

There are available data on hazard evaluation methods and remediation effectiveness regarding pesticide residues in the home environment.

Radon progeny: The National Academy of Sciences estimates that approximately 15,000 cases of lung cancer per year are related to radon exposure. Epidemiologic studies of miners exposed to high levels of radon in inhaled air have defined the dose response relation for radon-induced lung cancer at high exposure levels. Extrapolation of this data has been used to estimate the excess risk of lung cancer attributable to exposure to radon gas at the lower levels found in homes. These estimates indicate that radon gas is an important cause of lung cancer deaths in the U.S. Excessive exposures are typically related to home ventilation, structural integrity and location.

Radon measurement and remediation methods are well developed, and the EPA recommends that every home be measured for radon. The EPA estimates that materials and labor costs for radon reduction in an existing home are $800–$2,500. Including radon resistant techniques in new home construction costs $350–$500, and can save up to $65 annually in energy costs, according to the EPA.

Take-home hazards from work/hobbies and work at home: When the clothing, hair, skin, or shoes of workers become contaminated with hazardous materials in the workplace, such contaminants may inadvertently be carried to the home environment and/or an automobile. Such “take-home” exposures have been demonstrated, for example, in homes of lead-exposed workers. In addition, certain hobbies or workplaces located in the home may provide an especially great risk of household contamination.

Control methods include storing and laundering work clothes separately, and showering and changing clothes before leaving work or immediately after arriving at home. Once a home becomes contaminated, cleaning floors and contact surfaces and replacing furnishings may be necessary to reduce exposures.

Unintentional injuries/fire: Unintentional injury is now the leading cause of death and disability among children younger than 15 years of age. In 1997, nearly 7 million persons in the U.S. were disabled for at least one full day by unintentional injuries received at home. During the same year, 28,400 deaths were attributable to unintentional home injuries, of which 1,800 occurred among children four years of age and younger. Among young children, three types of events accounted for more than 75 percent of deaths: fires/ burns; drownings; and mechanical suffocation. Falls and poisoning are the next most common causes of death.

Home visitation protocols have been shown to be effective in reducing exposure to such hazards. The “add-on” cost of injury prevention measures, when combined with other housing interventions are estimated at about $100 per unit. This includes the cost of some injury prevention devices (e.g., smoke alarms, electrical socket covers, etc.).

Appendix F: Forms and Administrative Costs

This appendix lists the standard forms, certifications and assurances used by the programs that are part of this NOFA. Listed forms are located in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

The following forms are to be used for the Programs listed in this NOFA:

- (1) Form HUD-424
- (2) Form HUD-424 B
- (3) Form HUD-424 C
- (4) Form HUD-424 CBW
- (5) Form HUD Logic Model Form
- (6) Application Checklist and Submission Table of Contents
- (7) Ethnicity and Race Data

HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates having to have the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), the Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and the Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

HUD-424 C and CB replaces SF-424 A and C

The HUD-424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet and replaces various budget worksheets used throughout the Department.

Administrative Costs

Administrative costs that may be applicable to the programs included in this NOFA are discussed below:

I. Purpose

The intent of this HUD grant program is to allow the Grantee to be reimbursed for the reasonable direct and indirect costs, subject to a top limit, for overall management of the grant. In most instances the grantee, whether a State or a local government, principally serves as a conduit to pass funding to sub-grantees, which are to be responsible for the conducting lead-hazard reduction work. Congress set a top limit of ten percent of the total grant sum for the grantee to perform the function of overall management of the grant program, including passing on funding to sub-grantees. The cost of that function, for the purpose of this grant, is defined as the "administrative cost" of the grant, and is limited to ten percent of the total grant amount. The balance of ninety percent or more of the total grant sum is reserved sub-grantees or other direct-performers of lead-hazard identification and reduction work. Lead hazard identification and reduction includes, but is not necessarily limited to outreach, training, enrollment, lead paint inspection/risk assessments, interim controls, hazard abatement, clearance documentation, blood lead testing, and public education.

II. Administrative Costs: What They Are Not

For the purposes of this HUD grant program for States and local governments to provide support for the evaluation and reduction of lead-hazards in low- and moderate-income, private target housing, the term "administrative costs" should not be confused with the terms "general and administrative cost," "indirect costs," "overhead," and "burden rate." These are accounting terms usually represented by a government-accepted standard percentage rate. The percentage rate allocates a fair share of an organization's costs that cannot be attributed to a particular project or department (such as the chief executive's salary or the costs of the organization's headquarters building) to all projects and operating departments (such as the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Community Development Department, the Health Department or this program). Such allocated costs are added to those projects' or departments' direct costs to determine their total costs to the organization.

III. Administrative Costs: What They Are

For the purposes of this HUD grant program, "Administrative Costs" are the grantee's allowable direct costs for the overall management of the grant program plus the allocable indirect costs. The allowable limit of such costs that can be reimbursed under this program is ten (10) percent of the total grant sum. Should the grantee's actual costs for overall management of the grant program exceed ten percent of the total grant sum, those excess costs shall be paid for by the grantee. However, excess costs paid for by the grantee may be shown as part of the requirement for cost-sharing funds to support the grant.

IV. Administrative Costs: Definition

A. General

Administrative costs are the allowable, reasonable, and allocable direct and indirect costs related to the overall management of the HUD grant for lead-hazard reduction activities. Those costs shall be segregated in a separate cost center within the grantee's accounting system, and they are eligible costs for reimbursement as part of the grant, subject to the ten percent limit. Such administrative costs do not include any of the staff and overhead costs directly arising from specific sub-grantee program activities eligible under Section III of this NOFA because those costs are eligible for reimbursement under a separate cost center as a direct part of project activities.

The grantee may elect to serve solely as a conduit to sub-grantees, who will in turn perform the direct program activities eligible under Section III (C) (1) of this NOFA, or the grantee may elect to perform all or a part of the direct program activities in other parts of its own organization, which shall have their own segregated, cost centers for those direct program activities. In either case, not more than 10 percent of the total HUD grant sum may be devoted to administrative costs, and not less than 90% of the total grant sum shall be devoted to direct program activities. The grantee shall take care not to mix or attribute administrative costs to the direct project cost centers.

B. Specific

Reasonable costs for the grantee's overall grant management, coordination, monitoring, and evaluation are eligible administrative costs. Subject to the ten percent limit, such costs include, but are not limited to, necessary expenditures for the following goods, activities and services:

(1) Salaries, wages, and related costs of the grantee's staff, the staff of affiliated public agencies, or other staff engaged in grantee's overall grant management activities. In charging costs to this category the recipient may either include the entire salary, wages, and related costs allocable to the program for each person whose primary responsibilities (more than 65% of their time) with regard to the grant program involve direct overall grant management assignments, or the pro rata share of the salary, wages, and related costs of each person whose job includes any overall grant management assignments. The grantee may use only one of these two methods during this program. Overall grant management includes the following types of activities:

- (a) Preparing grantee program budgets and schedules, and amendments thereto;
 - (b) Developing systems for the selection and award of funding to sub-grantees and other sub-recipients;
 - (c) Developing suitable agreements for use with sub-grantees and other sub-recipients to carry out grant activities;
 - (d) Developing systems for assuring compliance with program requirements;
 - (e) Monitoring sub-grantee and sub-recipient activities for progress and compliance with program requirements;
 - (f) Preparing presentations, reports, and other documents related to the program for submission to HUD;
 - (g) Evaluating program results against stated objectives;
 - (h) Providing local officials and citizens with information about the overall grant program; however, a more general education program, helping the public understand the nature of lead hazards, lead hazard reduction, blood-lead screening, and the health consequences of lead poisoning is a direct project support activity);
 - (i) Coordinating the resolution of overall grant audit and monitoring findings; and
 - (j) Managing or supervising persons whose responsibilities with regard to the program include such assignments as those described in paragraphs (a) through (i).
- (2) Travel costs incurred for official business in carrying out the overall grant management;
- (3) Administrative services performed under third party contracts or agreements, for services directly allocable to grant management such as: legal services, accounting services, and audit services;
- (4) Other costs for goods and services required for and directly related to the overall management of the grant program; and including such goods and services as telephone, postage, rental of equipment, renter's insurance for the program management space, utilities, office supplies, and rental and maintenance (but not purchase) of office space for the program.
- (5) The fair and allocable share of grantee's general costs that are not directly attributable to specific projects or operating departments such as salaries, office expenses and other related costs for local officials (e.g., mayor and city council members, etc.), and expenses for a city's legal or accounting department which are not charged back to particular projects or other operating departments. If a grantee has an established burden rate, it should be used; if not, the grantee shall be assigned a negotiated provisional burden rate, subject to final audit.

II. Authority, Funding Amounts and Amount of Funds Allocated

(A) Authority. The authority for this program is Section 1011(e)(8) & (g)(1) of the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992 (Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992), and Division K of the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Pub. L. 108-7, signed February 20, 2003.

(B) Funding Available and Eligibility. Approximately $2,200,000, including approximately $480,000 in Fiscal Year 2003 funds from the lead technical assistance set aside under the lead hazard reduction appropriation, and approximately $1,720,000 in previous-year recaptured funds, will be available for the Lead Outreach Program. Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis following evaluation of all proposals according to the Rating Factors described in Section V of this program section. Between five and 11 States, Tribes or units of general local government could receive grant awards ranging between approximately $200,000 and approximately $500,000. A minimum score of 75 is required for award consideration. The amounts included in this program are subject to change based on funds availability.

III. Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Background

Lead toxicity in children has been well established, yet childhood lead poisoning is the primary childhood environmental health problem in the United States today. The February 2000, report of the President's Task Force on Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks to Children, titled "Eliminating Childhood Lead Poisoning: A Federal Strategy Targeting Lead Paint Hazards," sets forth what action needs to be taken to prevent such poisoning. In addition to eliminating lead hazards in housing occupied by low-income families with children, the Federal government's public education and outreach activities must measurably increase the public's awareness of lead hazards and how to address them.

In keeping with the mandate of section 1011(g)(1) of Title X for HUD "develop the capacity of eligible applicants * * * to carry out activities under" lead hazard control grant programs, the Department has conducted outreach and public education initiatives through the Lead Hazard Control Grant program, the National Lead Information Center, and other education and outreach initiatives.

Lead Hazard Control Grants are awarded competitively to eligible States, tribes, or units of local government to perform lead hazard reduction in low-income privately owned pre-1978 housing. Lead outreach activities contribute to building the capacity of jurisdictions to submit successful applications for lead hazard control grants, because they have the effect of inducing local businesses to enter into the lead hazard control field before jurisdictions apply for the grants and, thus, increase jurisdictions' ability to demonstrate their capacity to meet the grant's requirements. These inducements can be expressed by the market directly, and/or through the efforts of the jurisdictions.

HUD's lead awareness supplement to the Current Population Survey has determined that only a fraction of citizens are well-educated about how lead-based paint hazards threaten young children and are more common in older housing. One consequence of this low level of awareness is that few housing construction and maintenance business owners are aware of the extent of lead-based paint hazards. One result is that few areas have an adequate supply of businesses that work in the lead hazard control field, or an adequate supply of workers trained to perform interim controls or lead hazard abatement for more than their HUD-assisted pre-1978 housing, as required by the Lead Safe Housing Rule.

Lead outreach activities have the effect of encouraging residents of older low-income housing to prompt their state, tribal or local governments to control lead-based paint hazards. In turn, these governments are induced to consider obtaining funding under the HUD Lead Hazard Control Grant Program, or perform lead hazard reduction in conjunction with other housing, health or environmental activities. In practice, this can be done only if housing owners and occupants are aware of and apply for enrollment in lead hazard treatment programs. Potential applicant agencies are, thereby, induced to promote lead hazard control activities locally, by working with private-sector stakeholders (e.g., grassroots organizations, including faith-based and community-based non-profit organizations, community colleges, etc.). As described above, HUD's outreach efforts contribute to the timely performance of successful lead hazard control work and associated capacity building.

Outcomes of this outreach program include:

(1) Identifying and maximizing opportunities to raise visibility of and publicize the lead issue among the general public, and invigorating the efforts in both the public and private sectors to take action to eradicate childhood lead poisoning, especially by increasing the number of low-income housing units that are enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs.

(2) Increasing lead awareness in communities identified as being at greatest risk of lead poisoning (e.g., those with many low-income and minority families), with special interest in target audiences within those communities, such as parents, pregnant women, health care providers, multi-family and single family housing owners, corporations, educational institutions such as community colleges, schools, non-profit organizations, and historic preservation, renovation, remodeling, weatherization and maintenance firms and personnel, major banks, lenders and insurance companies, housing inspectors, real estate professionals and appraisers, homebuyers and low-income minority families.

(3) Increasing the base of support for this important outreach activity through the creation of partnerships between public and private entities, especially grassroots organizations, including faith-based and community-based non-profit organizations and community colleges.

(4) Implementing strategies to directly contact and speak to the general public, especially high-risk populations, or media strategies for using print, radio and/or television, as applicable, to increase public awareness of childhood lead poisoning and ways to prevent it.

(5) Disseminating existing tools and, as needed, new tools to inform parents and caregivers about lead-related hazards and enabling them to take prompt corrective action, especially enrolling their housing in lead hazard treatment programs.

(B) Eligible Applicants

(1) States, Tribes, and units of general local government are eligible.

Partnerships are encouraged, although the application must be made by a single entity. Non-profit organizations, such as groups of parents of lead poisoned children, and grassroots organizations, including faith-based and community-based non-profit organizations, and colleges and universities, can be sub-grantees or sub-contractors.

(2) As an applicant, you must meet all of the threshold requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA (Section V(B)) as well as any specific threshold requirements for applicants under the Lead Outreach Grant Program. Applications will not be rated or ranked if they do not meet the threshold requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(3) All awardees are expected to commence activity immediately upon completion of budget and work plan negotiations, and execution of the grant agreement.

(C) Eligible Activities

Eligible activities to be funded under this program include, but are not limited to, developing and conducting education and outreach campaigns in high-risk communities to:

- Increase lead awareness.
- Encourage owners and low-income occupants to enroll their housing units in programs conducting lead hazard treatment activities.
- Encourage owners and low-income occupants to identify potential lead-based paint hazards and report them to property owners and managers, and public health and/or housing officials as appropriate.

HUD is interested in promoting approaches that are cost-effective and efficient and that result in the reduction of lead poisoning for the maximum number of children, and, in particular, low-income children. Section II of the General Section of this SuperNOFA presents HUD's FY 2003 Policy Priorities.

Outreach can take various forms, depending on the intended audience(s). Activities may include publicizing and/or conducting events, developing and distributing publications in, for example, stores, schools, churches, community centers, or other neighborhood locations, making presentations, or forging partnerships to cost-effectively disseminate information to populations identified as being at-risk. Regardless of the form of outreach you choose to implement, all eligible activities must identify at-risk populations (or areas), propose an outreach program to meet those populations' information needs, and evaluate the program's effectiveness.

(1) Eligible activities may include:

(a) Establishing partnerships with non-profit organizations and associations, such as grassroots organizations, including faith-based, parent, and community-based non-profit organizations, or corporations, retailers, construction organizations, and unions or for the purpose of coordinating or conducting joint activities;

(b) Preparing publications, graphics, public service announcements, posters and entries for newspapers and magazines with local and/or regional distribution. These activities could include training local residents and businesses on identifying potential lead-based paint hazards, and lead-safe maintenance and renovation practices, etc.;

(c) Making materials available in alternative formats for persons with disabilities (e.g., Braille, audio, large type), and in languages other than English that are common in the community, whenever possible. Applicants are encouraged to utilize minority media in an effort to achieve diversity in outreach and educational efforts. Applications that include development and distribution of media products in languages other than English must include a discussion of the applicant's (or subcontractor's) expertise in those languages and in meeting the informational needs of non-English-speaking, underserved populations.

(d) Preparing quarterly progress reports and an overall final grant report, detailing activities (e.g., the number of low-income housing units enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs as a result of activities performed under this grant, number and type of materials produced, activities conducted, evaluation of the various outreach and educational methods used, findings, and recommended future actions at the conclusion of grant activities).

(2) Support Elements.

(a) Your administrative costs. There is a 10 percent maximum for administrative costs. Specific information about administrative costs is included in Appendix D of this program section of this NOFA.

(b) Program planning and management costs of sub-grantees and other sub-recipients.

(D) Ineligible Activities

(1) Purchase of real property.

(2) Purchase or lease of equipment having a per-unit cost in excess of $5,000, unless prior written approval is obtained from HUD.

(3) Hazard abatement, hazard reduction, rehabilitation, remodeling, repair, or other construction work.

IV. Requirements and Procedures Applicable to the Lead Outreach Grant Program

In addition to program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, you, the applicant, must comply with the following requirements:

(A) Budgeting

(1) Matching Contribution. You are not required to provide a matching contribution in the Lead Outreach Program.

(2) Administrative Costs. There is a 10 percent maximum for administrative costs. Additional information about allowable administrative costs is provided in Appendix D of this program section of this NOFA.

(B) Period of Performance. The period of performance cannot exceed 24 months from the date of the award, except that HUD reserves the right to approve no cost time extensions for a total period not to exceed 12 months.

(C) Environmental Review. In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(2) and (b)(3) of the HUD regulations, activities assisted under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321) and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities.

(D) Certifications and Assurances. You must include the certifications and assurances listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA with your application. A Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan is not required for this program Section of this SuperNOFA.

(E) Conducting Business in Accordance with HUD Core Values and Ethical Standards. If awarded assistance under the Lead Outreach NOFA, you will be required, prior to entering into a grant agreement with HUD, to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees, and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct. (See Section V(B)(3) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about conducting business in accordance with HUD's core values and ethical standards.)

(F) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is committed to ensuring that small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses and women-owned businesses participate fully in HUD's direct contracting and in contracting opportunities generated by HUD grant funds. Too often, these businesses still experience difficulty accessing information and successfully bidding on Federal contracts. HUD Regulations at 24 CFR 85.36(e) require recipients of assistance (grantees and sub-grantees) to take all necessary affirmative steps in contracting for purchase of goods or services to assure that minority firms, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible. Affirmative steps shall include:

(1) Placing qualified small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises on solicitation lists.

(2) Assuring that small and minority business, and women's business enterprises are solicited whenever they are potential sources.

(3) Dividing total requirements, when economically feasible, into smaller tasks or quantities to permit maximum participation by small and minority business, and women's business enterprises.

(4) Establishing delivery schedules, where the requirement permits, which encourage participation by small and minority business, and women's business enterprises.

(5) Using the services and assistance of the Small Business Administration, and the Minority Business Development Agency of the Department of Commerce.

(G) Participation in HUD-Sponsored Program Evaluation. As a condition of the receipt of financial assistance under this NOFA, you will be required to cooperate with all HUD staff or contractors performing HUD-funded research and evaluation studies pertaining to the subject of the grant.

(H) HUD Reform Act of 1989. See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information regarding the applicability of the HUD Reform Act.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. Please see Section VI(B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Only those applications that meet the threshold requirements will be rated and ranked. HUD intends to award the highest ranked applications receiving a minimum score of 75 within the limits of funding.

(B) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are stated below. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 102, including the potential for two bonus points, as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses your organizational capacity necessary to successfully implement your proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating of you or your staff includes any grassroots organizations, including faith-based and other community-based non-profit organizations, sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia that are firmly committed to your project. For all of the descriptions of personnel and organizational qualifications and experience in this factor, more points will be given for more recent relevant experience of high quality with this kind of work, as documented below. Applicants who are funding or sub-contracting with grassroots organizations, including faith-based, and other community-based non-profit organizations, in conducting their work programs should include the qualifications and experience of these organizations in responding to this rating factor. In rating this factor HUD will consider:

(a) Your recent, relevant and successful demonstrated experience in undertaking eligible program activities. You must describe the knowledge and experience of the proposed overall project director and day-to-day project manager in planning and managing large and complex interdisciplinary outreach programs, especially those involving housing, public health, or environmental programs. In your narrative response for this factor, you should include information on your project staff, their experience, percentage commitment to the project, and position titles. You must provide resumes (or position descriptions and copies of job announcements including salary range, for vacant positions) of up to three pages each for the project director, project manager, and up to three key personnel, and a clearly delineated organizational chart for the Lead Outreach project in Appendix 1 of your application. Indicate the name of the position of key personnel, the percentage of time that proposed staff will devote to your project and any salary costs to be paid by funds from this program. Include descriptions of the experience and qualifications of subcontractors and consultants. You may find it useful to include a table indicating the name, position and percentage contribution of staff members, specifying organizational affiliation. HUD reserves the right to terminate grant awards made to applicants that fail to timely hire (within 90 days of award) staff to fill key positions identified in the applicant's proposal as vacant.

(b) Your qualifications to carry out the proposed activities as evidenced by experience, training, and/or relevant publications of project staff, and whether you have sufficient personnel, or will be able to quickly retain qualified experts or professionals to begin your proposed project immediately, and to perform your proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Describe how principal components of your organization will participate in, or support, your project. You should thoroughly describe capacity, as demonstrated by experience in initiating and implementing and evaluating related health education, outreach and recruitment projects.

(c) Your past performance in previous projects with an emphasis on health education, outreach and recruitment. Provide details about the nature of the project, the funding agency, and your performance, relative to performance measures or the achievement of desired health outcomes. If a subgrantee or subcontractor is an existing lead outreach grantee, provide a description of the progress and outcomes achieved in that grant.

HUD's evaluation process will consider an applicant's past performance in effectively organizing and managing their grant operations, in meeting performance and work plan benchmarks and goals, and in managing funds, including their ability to account for funds appropriately, timely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, State, Tribal or local programs, and meeting performance milestones. HUD may use other information relating to these items from sources at hand, public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints, or other sources of information that have been proven to have merit.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for your proposed project activities to address documented problems, target area(s) and target populations. Applications that demonstrate a greater need for lead outreach beyond existing levels as a mechanism for increasing enrollment in lead hazard treatment programs, or more thoroughly document this need will earn higher numbers of points.

(a) Your application should document a critical level of need for your proposed outreach activities in the area(s) where activities will be carried out. You should pay specific attention to documenting the need for outreach to increase enrollment of low-income housing units in lead hazard treatment programs as it applies to your target area(s) and target populations, rather than a larger geographic area or general population. Examples of information that might be used to demonstrate need, include:

(1) Economic or sociological information relevant to your target area(s). If this information is applied locally, the neighborhoods or type of neighborhoods to be targeted should be characterized with regard to age of housing and populations that the outreach activities are attempting to reach.

(2) Data documenting targeted populations that are traditionally underserved or have special needs. For a maximum score in this Rating Factor, data provided should specifically represent the target area. If the data presented in your response does not specifically represent your target area, you should discuss why the target areas are being proposed. If your application addresses needs that are in the Consolidated Plan or Analysis of Impediments (AI) to Fair Housing Choice (see paragraph V.C of the General Section of this SuperNOFA), court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, or voluntary compliance agreements, you will receive more points than applicants that do not relate their project to an identified need.

(3) Information from the local (or State or Tribe, if applicable) health department, if available, on rates of elevated blood lead levels among children residing in your target area(s).

(4) Readily available information on the presence of existing outreach and educational resources in your target area(s).

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. You should present information on your proposed approach for increasing the public's awareness and knowledge about lead poisoning and lead-based paint hazards, and for encouraging owners and low-income family occupants to identify potential lead-based paint hazards and enroll their housing units in lead hazard treatment programs. Applications containing approaches with clear activities and sub-activities that will result in increasing the enrollment in lead hazard treatment programs; that include a range of approaches that address the needs of populations with limited English proficiency, persons with disabilities, persons with low literacy, etc.; that demonstrate a logical progression of implementation steps; that include more appropriate mechanisms for reaching audiences, and that provide better documentation of the methodology of the proposed approach, will receive higher numbers of points. Applicants will receive higher rating points for approaches that include higher percentages of funding or subcontracting for substantive work by grassroots organizations, including faith-based, and other community-based non-profit organizations.

You should describe how proposed activities would help HUD achieve its goals for this program area. You should demonstrate your knowledge of the outreach methodology relevant to your approach. You should develop a work plan that includes specific, measurable and time-phased objectives for each major program activity, accompanied by a complementary schedule indicating proposed date(s) of completion.

There must be a direct relationship between the proposed activities, community needs, the purpose of the project, and the number of low-income housing units enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs. Your response to this factor should include the following elements:

(a) Approach for Developing the Project. (30 points) Describe your overall approach for your proposed project. The description must include a discussion of specific planned project activities:

(1) Provide the estimated total number of low-income housing units that you expect to be enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs. Describe in detail how you will identify and track participants receiving outreach under your project, especially participants in high-risk groups and communities, vulnerable populations and persons traditionally underserved. (6 points)

(2) Describe your process for developing outreach materials, or using existing materials. (3 points)

(3) Describe your management processes to be used to ensure the cost-effectiveness of expenditures of funds. (2 points)

(4) Describe any measurement tools you would employ to evaluate the effectiveness of your outreach and educational activities for occupants of housing units enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs before and after treatment. (3 points)

(5) Describe the methods of community education you would use including community awareness, education, training, and outreach programs in support of your work plan and objectives that are culturally sensitive, targeted, and linguistically appropriate. (3 points)

(6) Proposed involvement of grassroots organizations, including faith-based and other community-based non-profit organizations in the proposed activities. HUD strongly encourages you to substantively use grassroots organizations, including faith-based, and other community-based non-profit organizations. (10 points)

(7) Indicate if, and describe how, you will address any of HUD's Departmental policy priorities. (See Section II of the General Section of this NOFA for a fuller explanation of HUD's policy priorities.) Policy priorities that are potentially applicable to this NOFA include: (1) Improving the Quality of Public and Assisted Housing and Providing More Choices for its Residents; (2) Increasing the Participation of Faith-based and other Community-based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation; and (3) Colonias. You will receive one point for each of the applicable policy priorities that are adequately addressed in your application, up to a maximum of three points. If your application addresses all three policy priorities, you would get at least three points. (3 points)

(b) Approach for Implementing the Project. (10 points) Describe your project goals and objectives and the strategy you will use in executing the project. You should provide information on the general approach and overall plan employed.

(1) Baseline Plan for Project Management. (5 points) Include a management plan that:

(i) Lists the outreach project objectives, major tasks and activities. All specific activities necessary to complete the proposed project must be included in the task listing.

(ii) Incorporates appropriate performance goals with projected outputs and outcomes of the outreach program's activities.

(iii) Identifies major milestones and provides a schedule for the assignment, tracking and completion of major tasks and activities, and a timeframe for delivery, including reports and other proposed deliverables of the outreach activity.

(iv) Designates resources and identifies responsible entities for performing work.

(2) Budget Justification. (5 points) Your proposed budget will be evaluated for the extent to which it is reasonable, clearly justified, and consistent with the outreach project management plan and intended use of program funds. HUD is not required to approve or fund all proposed activities. Your budget should be submitted in the format recommended in Appendix B of the General Section of this NOFA. An electronic spreadsheet and other budgetary forms are available on HUD's website at www.hud.gov. You must thoroughly document and justify all budget categories and costs (HUD Form 424-C) and all major tasks, for yourself, sub-recipients (especially grassroots organizations, including faith-based, and other community-based non-profit organizations), partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to the project, especially those proposed to receive greater than 10 percent of the Federal budget request. Describe clearly and in detail your budgeted costs for each required program element (major task) included in your overall plan.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other community and/or private-sector resources (such as financing, supplies or services) that can be combined with HUD's resources to achieve project purposes. These community resources may be contributions from organizations such as the applicant, subrecipients, partners, or other organizations not directly involved in the project.

(a) In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which you have developed partnerships to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed project. Describe how other organizations will participate in or support your project. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions (such as labor, fringe benefits, services, supplies, or equipment) budgeted for your proposed project. Resources may be provided by State, Tribal and local governmental entities, public or private organizations, or other partners.

(b) Each source of contributions (financial or in-kind) must be supported by a letter of commitment from the contributing entity, whether the applicant, a partner organization, or a public or private source. The letter must describe the contributed resources that will be used in your project and the dollar value of that contribution. Staff in-kind contributions should be given a market-based monetary value. If you fail to provide letters of commitment with specific details including the amount of the actual contributions, you will not get points for this factor. Each letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement to participate shall include the organization's name and the proposed level of commitment and responsibilities as they relate to the proposed project. The commitment must be signed by an official legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization. Letters of support (letters that indicate support but do not specify a monetary commitment to the project) will not be considered in the scoring of this Rating Factor. Include information to address the following elements:

(1) The extent to which you have coordinated your activities with other known organizations that are not directly participating in your proposed work activities, but with which you share common goals and objectives.

(2) The extent to which your project exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on Federal funding and relying more on State, Tribal, local and private funding to continue educational and outreach activities after the grant period is completed.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (15 points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their application and assessing their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits, or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals; for this lead outreach grant program, the major outcome is increasing the number of low-income housing units enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs as a result of the grant activity. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have described outcome measures and benefits of your program.

In your response to this Rating Factor you are to discuss the performance goals for your project and identify specific outcome measures. You are also to describe how the outcome information will be obtained, documented, and reported. You must complete and return the Logic Model Form included in Appendix A of the General Section of this NOFA showing your proposed project long-term, mid-term, short-term and final results, and how they support HUD's departmental goals and objectives. Information about developing a Logic Model is available at www.hud.gov.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have:

- (1) Described the degree to which you have identified and characterized the information needs of your intended audience or targeted populations.
- (2) Refined your outreach message.
- (3) Specified how you will deliver your message to the audience.
- (4) Described anticipated results of specific plans and objectives and listed projected products or outputs. Outputs are actions, attendance numbers, materials, publications, inquiries or other products of the process.

(5) Demonstrated ability to measure outcomes. The major outcome is the increasing the number of low-income housing units enrolled in lead hazard treatment programs that result from the grant activity.

(6) Developed a proposed organization with the capacity to begin work immediately and incorporating adequate management planning and financial controls.

(7) Demonstrated how you have identified potential obstacles in meeting your objectives, and how you will respond to these obstacles.

(8) Described efforts to coordinate and cooperate with other organizations that will result in a reduction in lead risks to community residents.

(9) Described how your program will be held accountable for meeting program goals, objectives, and the actions undertaken in implementing the grant program. You should provide a description of the mechanism to assess progress and track performance in meeting the goals and objectives outlined in the work plan.

Bonus Points for Federally Designated Zones and Communities. (2 points)

This Section of the NOFA provides for the award of two bonus points for eligible activities/projects that the applicant proposes to be located in federally designated Empowerment Zones (EZs), Enterprise Communities (ECs), Urban Enhanced Enterprise Communities (EECs), Strategic Planning Communities, or Renewal Communities (RCs), serve the residents of these areas, and are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan. For ease of reference in this NOFA, all these federally designated areas are collectively referred to as "RC/EZ/ECs" and residents of any of these federally designated areas as "RC/EZ/EC residents." This NOFA contains a certification that must be completed for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A list of RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs, and Strategic Planning Communities is available from HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>. See also Section VI(C) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. See Section XI(A)(4) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about applicant debriefing, and Section I(I) of this Section for contact information.

VI. Application Submission Requirements(A) Applicant Information

(1) Application Format. The application narrative response is limited to a maximum of 25 pages (excluding appendices and worksheets). Your response must be typewritten on one side only on 8½" × 11" paper using a 12-point (minimum) font with not less than ¾" margins on all sides. Appendices should be referenced and discussed in the narrative response. Materials provided in the appendices should directly apply to the rating factor narrative.

(2) Application Checklist. Your application must contain all of the required information as noted in this Section of this NOFA and the General Section of this SuperNOFA. These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA that are applicable to this funding (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms can be found in Appendix B of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. The application items are as follows:

(a) Transmittal letter (one-page only) that summarizes your proposed project, provides the dollar amount requested, and identifies you and your partners in the application. Provide the name, mailing address, and telephone number of the principal contact person. If you are a consortium of associates, sub-recipients, partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to the project, similar information shall also be provided for each of these entities and you must specify the primary entity.

(b) Application Abstract Summary. An abstract describing the goals and objectives of your proposed program (two-page maximum) must be included in the proposal.

(c) Checklist and Submission Table of Contents.

(d) All application forms found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(e) A narrative statement addressing the rating factors for award. The narrative statement must be numbered in accordance with each factor for award (Rating Factors 1 through 5). The response to the rating factors must not exceed a total of 25 pages. Any pages in excess of this limit will not be read. (The 25-page limit does not apply to the two-page abstract.) Key points to consider in preparing your application are provided in the General Section of this NOFA.

(f) Any attachments, appendices, references, or other relevant information that directly support the narrative may accompany it, but must not exceed 20 pages for your entire application. Any pages in excess of this limit will not be read. Specific criteria for the content of the appendices for the Lead Outreach Grant Program application are listed in the Checklist and Submission Table of Contents.

(g) Within Appendix 1, the resumes and position descriptions of your project director, project manager and up to three additional key personnel (in accordance with Rating Factor 1). These should not exceed three pages each. This information will not be counted towards the page limit.

(h) Within Appendix 3, a detailed budget with supporting cost justification for all budget categories of your funding request, in accordance with Rating Factor 3. This information will not be counted towards the page limits. A detailed budget must also be provided for any subcontractors, subgrantees, or subrecipients receiving greater than 10 percent of the Federal budget request.

(i) Any information or materials that are not listed above will not be reviewed.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

See Section VIII of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about corrections to deficient applications.

Appendix A

Lead: Exposure to lead, especially from deteriorating lead-based paint, remains one of the most important and best studied of the household environmental hazards to children. Although blood lead levels have fallen nationally, a large reservoir of lead remains in housing. The national survey published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, conducted from 1991–94, showed that nearly one million U.S. preschoolers still have elevated blood lead levels. Overall, the prevalence rate among all children under six years of age was 4.4 percent. Among low-income children living in older housing where lead-based paint is most prevalent, the rate climbed to 16 percent; and for African-American children living in such housing, it reached 21 percent.

HUD estimates that 38 million dwellings have some lead-based paint, and that 26 million have significant lead-based paint hazards. Of those, about 5.7 million have young children and of those, about 1.6 million have household incomes under $30,000 per year. Costs for lead hazard control can range anywhere from $500 to $15,000 per unit, depending on the extent of the hazard and the type of hazard control measures. Corrective measures include paint stabilization, enclosure and removal of certain building components coated with lead paint, and cleanup and clearance testing, which ensures the unit is safe for young children.

Educating the public and individuals living in “at-risk communities” about lead poisoning, symptoms, treatment and lead hazard prevention and control, and encouraging occupants to identify potential lead-based paint hazards, report them to property owners and managers, and public health and/or housing officials as appropriate, and enroll their housing units in lead hazard treatment programs, are key components in an overall plan to reduce the prevalence rate of lead poisoned children.

Appendix D

This appendix to this NOFA contains lists the standard forms, certifications and assurances used by the programs that are part of this NOFA. Listed forms are located in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Form HUD-424 B

Form HUD-424 C

Form HUD-424 CBW

Form HUD Logic Model Form

Application Checklist and Submission Table of Contents

Ethnicity and Race Data

Form SF-LLL (Disclosure of Lobbying Activities)

HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates having to have the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), the Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and the Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

HUD-424 B replaces SF-424 B and D and HUD-50070, 50071 and 2992.

HUD-424 C and CB replaces SF-424 A and C

The HUD-424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet and replaces various budget worksheets used throughout the Department.

Administrative costs that may be applicable to the programs included in this NOFA are discussed below:

Administrative Costs

I. Purpose

The intent of this HUD grant program is to allow the Grantee to be reimbursed for the reasonable direct and indirect costs, subject to a top limit, for overall management of the grant. In most instances the grantee, whether a State, Tribal or a local government, principally serves as a conduit to pass funding to sub-grantees, which are to be responsible for the conducting lead-hazard reduction work. Congress set a top limit of ten percent of the total grant sum for the grantee to perform the function of overall management of the grant program, including passing on funding to sub-grantees. The cost of that function, for the purpose of this grant, is defined as the "administrative cost" of the grant, and is limited to ten percent of the total grant amount. The balance of ninety percent or more of the total grant sum is reserved sub-grantees or other direct-performers of lead-hazard identification and reduction work. Lead hazard identification and reduction includes, but is not necessarily limited to outreach, training, enrollment, lead paint inspection/risk assessments, interim controls, hazard abatement, clearance documentation, blood lead testing, and public education.

II. Administrative Costs: What They Are Not

For the purposes of this HUD grant program for States, Tribes and local governments to provide support for outreach to increase the enrollment of low-income, private target housing in lead hazard treatment programs, the term "administrative costs" should not be confused with the terms "general and administrative cost," "indirect costs," "overhead," and "burden rate." These are accounting terms usually represented by a government-accepted standard percentage rate. The percentage rate allocates a fair share of an organization's costs that cannot be attributed to a particular project or department (such as the chief executive's salary or the costs of the organization's headquarters building) to all projects and operating departments (such as the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Community Development Department, the Health Department or this program). Such allocated costs are added to those projects' or departments' direct costs to determine their total costs to the organization.

III. Administrative Costs: What They Are

For the purposes of this HUD grant program, "Administrative Costs" are the grantee's allowable direct costs for the overall management of the grant program plus the allocable indirect costs. The allowable limit of such costs that can be reimbursed under this program is ten (10) percent of the total grant sum. Should the grantee's actual costs for overall management of the grant program exceed ten percent of the total grant sum, those excess costs shall be paid for by the grantee. However, excess costs paid for by the grantee may be shown as part of the requirement for cost-sharing funds to support the grant.

IV. Administrative Costs: Definition

A. General

Administrative costs are the allowable, reasonable, and allocable direct and indirect costs related to the overall management of the HUD grant for lead outreach activities. Those costs shall be segregated in a separate cost center within the grantee's accounting system, and they are eligible costs for reimbursement as part of the grant, subject to the ten percent limit. Such administrative costs do not include any of the staff and overhead costs directly arising from specific sub-grantee program activities eligible under Section III (C) of this NOFA, because those costs are eligible for reimbursement under a separate cost center as a direct part of project activities.

The grantee may elect to serve solely as a conduit to sub-grantees, who will in turn perform the direct program activities eligible under Section III (C) of this NOFA, or the grantee may elect to perform all or a part of the direct program activities in other parts of its own organization, which shall have their own segregated, cost centers for those direct program activities. In either case, not more than 10 percent of the total HUD grant sum may be devoted to administrative costs, and not less than 90% of the total grant sum shall be devoted to direct program activities. The grantee shall take care not to mix or attribute administrative costs to the direct project cost centers.

B. Specific

Reasonable costs for the grantee's overall grant management, coordination, monitoring, and evaluation are eligible administrative costs. Subject to the ten percent limit, such costs include, but are not limited to, necessary expenditures for the following goods, activities and services:

(1) Salaries, wages, and related costs of the grantee's staff, the staff of affiliated public agencies, or other staff engaged in grantee's overall grant management activities. In charging costs to this category the recipient may either include the entire salary, wages, and related costs allocable to the program for each person whose primary responsibilities (more than 65% of their time) with regard to the grant program involve direct overall grant management assignments, or the pro rata share of the salary, wages, and related costs of each person whose job includes any overall grant management assignments. The grantee may use only one of these two methods during this program. Overall grant management includes the following types of activities:

(a) Preparing grantee program budgets and schedules, and amendments thereto;

(b) Developing systems for the selection and award of funding to sub-grantees and other sub-recipients;

(c) Developing suitable agreements for use with sub-grantees and other sub-recipients to carry out grant activities;

(d) Developing systems for assuring compliance with program requirements;

(e) Monitoring sub-grantee and sub-recipient activities for progress and compliance with program requirements;

(f) Preparing presentations, reports, and other documents related to the program for submission to HUD;

(g) Evaluating program results against stated objectives;

(h) Providing local officials and citizens with information about the overall grant program; however, a more general education program, helping the public understand the nature of lead hazards, lead hazard reduction, blood-lead screening, and the health consequences of lead poisoning is a direct project support activity);

(i) Coordinating the resolution of overall grant audit and monitoring findings; and

(j) Managing or supervising persons whose responsibilities with regard to the program include such assignments as those described in paragraphs (a) through (i).

(2) Travel costs incurred for official business in carrying out the overall grant management;

(3) Administrative services performed under third-party contracts or agreements, for services directly allocable to grant management such as: legal services, accounting services, and audit services;

(4) Other costs for goods and services required for and directly related to the overall management of the grant program; and including such goods and services as telephone, postage, rental of equipment, renter's insurance for the program management space, utilities, office supplies, and rental and maintenance (but not purchase) of office space for the program.

(5) The fair and allocable share of grantee's general costs that are not directly attributable to specific projects or operating departments such as salaries, office expenses and other related costs for local officials (e.g., mayor and city council members, etc.), and expenses for a city's legal or accounting department which are not charged back to particular projects or other operating departments. If a grantee has an established burden rate, it should be used; if not, the grantee shall be assigned a negotiated provisional burden rate, subject to final audit.

Funding Availability for the Operation Lead Elimination Action Program

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of the Operation Lead Elimination Action Program (LEAP) is to leverage private sector resources to eliminate lead poisoning as a major public health threat to young children.

Available Funds. Approximately $9.935 million in Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 funds.

Eligible Applicants. To be eligible to apply for funding under this program, the applicant must be a tax-exempt non-profit or for-profit entity or firm. States and units of general local government and their departments are not eligible. Colleges and universities are eligible as a non-profit entity.

Application Due Date. You, the applicant, must submit a completed application to HUD on or before the respective program's application due date. The application deadline is June 10, 2003.

Additional Information

I. Application and Application Submission Procedures.

Match. None required.

(1) Application Submission. See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures concerning the form of application submission (e.g., mailed applications, express mail or overnight delivery). Be advised that there is no Application Kit for this year's Operation Lead Elimination Action Program (LEAP). All the information required to submit an application is contained in this NOFA.

(2) Addresses. You, the applicant, must submit a completed application to: Robert C. Weaver HUD Headquarters Building, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, ATTN: Operation Lead Elimination Action Program, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room P3206, Washington, DC 20410.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. You may contact John Baker, Lead Hazard Control Grants Division, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, at the address above; telephone (804) 771-2100, extension 3765 (this is not a toll-free number). If you are a hearing- or speech-impaired person, you may reach the above telephone numbers via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

II. Authority, Funding Amounts, and Amount Of Funds Allocated

(A) Authority. HUD's authority for making funding available under this NOFA is Division K of the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003.

(B) Funding Available. Approximately $10 million will be available for the FY 2003 Operation Lead Elimination Action Program (LEAP). Grants of 24 months duration will be awarded on a competitive basis following evaluation of all proposals according to the rating factors described in this NOFA. HUD anticipates that approximately 6-10 grants will be awarded.

(C) Allocation of Funds/Grant Awards. Through Operation LEAP, grantees will aggressively pursue additional private sector resources with the goal of securing the resources needed to eliminate lead-based paint hazards in housing. Resources generated by awardees must be used and/or distributed to assist national, state, and local entities actively committed to lead hazard control in residential structures and that possess the requisite skills, certifications, and capacity to utilize these resources to conduct lead hazard control/abatement activities in low-income, privately-owned rental or owner-occupied housing containing lead-based paint hazards. The allocation and distribution of generated resources by the grantee requires prior approval of the HUD Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control.

III. Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Program Description. Operation LEAP grant funds will be used to support non-profit and for-profit entities with substantial fundraising and/or leveraging skills to use those skills to mobilize substantial private sector resources for addressing lead hazards in housing. HUD is particularly looking for innovative or creative local, regional or nationwide fund raising and/or leveraging and mobilization strategies that can yield large amounts of contributions in a two-year time frame and also increase awareness of lead hazards and abatement measures in the home. Grants will be awarded to those entities that are able to demonstrate the ability to generate substantial private sector resources that can be used toward lead abatement programs and efforts, based upon the responses provided in the Factors for Award described below. (Private sector resources do not include any funding or in-kind resources from the public sector.)

LEAP funds may also be used to eliminate lead-based paint hazards in low-income privately owned housing, which supplements the National strategy as defined by Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 4851 et. seq.).

(B) Eligible Applicants. To be eligible to apply for funding under this program, the applicant must be a tax-exempt (501(c)), other non-profit or for-profit entity or firm. States and units of general local government and their departments are not eligible. Colleges and Universities are eligible as non-profit entities.

(C) Eligible Activities. Activities that you may conduct for the purposes of developing a national or regional (multi-state) strategy designed to leverage or mobilize resources from the private sector may include, but are not necessarily limited to:

(1) Recruiting and placing appropriate staff skilled in leveraging private sector resources;

(2) Identifying innovative approaches for mobilizing resources and coordinating activities among a number of diverse organizations in both the public and private sectors;

(3) Providing all necessary administrative and indirect support, including rent, equipment, materials, travel expenses and logistics, and subcontractors/consultants necessary to carry out grant activities;

(4) Conducting fund raising, outreach activities and other activities that will result in increased lead hazard control activities in low-income privately owned or owner occupied housing with lead-based paint hazards;

(5) Other activities that may be carried out include:

(a) Performing dust, paint or soil testing, hazard screens, inspections, and risk assessments of eligible housing constructed before 1978 to determine the presence of lead-based paint and/or lead hazards from paint, dust, or soil;

(b) Conducting lead hazard control, which may include: interim control of lead-based paint hazards in housing (which may include specialized cleaning techniques to address lead dust); and abatement of lead-based paint hazards, including soil and dust, by means of removal, enclosure, encapsulation, or replacement methods. Unless there are only a few surfaces coated with lead paint, complete abatement of all lead-based paint or lead-contaminated soil is not usually acceptable as a cost-effective strategy unless justification is provided and subsequently approved by HUD. Abatement of lead-contaminated soil should be limited to areas with bare soil in the immediate vicinity of the structure being treated, and children's play areas. All hazard control activities must comply with 24 CFR part 35, subpart R, the HUD Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-

Based Paint Hazards in Housing and all applicable Federal, State and local regulations; in the case of a conflict between any of the above, the more stringent shall apply;

(c) Carrying out temporary relocation of families and individuals during the period in which lead hazard control is conducted and until the time the affected unit receives clearance for re-occupancy;

(d) Performing blood lead testing and air sampling to protect the health of the hazard control workers, supervisors, and contractors; and

(e) Undertaking minimal housing rehabilitation activities that are specifically required to carry out effective hazard control, and without which the hazard control could not be completed and maintained. Operation LEAP grant funds may be used for lead hazard control work done in conjunction with other housing rehabilitation programs. HUD strongly encourages integration of this grant program with housing rehabilitation, weatherization, and other energy conservation activities.

(f) Conducting clearance dust-wipe testing and associated laboratory analysis.

(D) Strategies/Approaches. The applicant is encouraged to employ creativity and initiative in achieving the objectives of the program: leveraging private sector resources to increase local and regional lead hazard control measures through a variety of means. Some examples of possible strategies/approaches include the following:

(1) Enlisting the support and resource commitment of financial institutions, foundations, private industry and others to make residential housing lead-safe and eliminate lead poisoning as a public health threat to children;

(2) Soliciting the support of national building materials providers, building component manufacturers, and housing-related national retail outlets to donate money or materials to lead hazard control programs in housing and health departments, landlords and owner-occupants to eliminate lead-based paint hazards in privately owned low-income dwellings: For example, a window, wallboard, or paint manufacturer/retailer could donate or coordinate the donation and distribution of windows or paint to lead-based paint and/or rehabilitation projects throughout the country. This strategy could also include the distribution of discount coupons for purchases of paint or other materials from national suppliers;

(3) Forming partnerships with banks or other mortgage or financial institutions willing to provide no or low-interest home improvement loans to finance lead hazard control activities and abatement measures among low-income recipients who would not otherwise be served. By participating, banks could fulfill a major element of their responsibilities under the Community Reinvestment Act;

(4) Creating a national clearinghouse for facilitating the coordination and distribution of donated building materials, such as windows, trim molding, or paint, etc. to local projects involved in lead hazard control programs;

(5) Identifying and facilitating the availability and use of relocation facilities for families who need to move out of their dwellings while lead hazard control work is being undertaken. For example, hotel chains, colleges, and other lead-safe sites could be contacted to make housing available for the relocation of families during lead hazard control;

(6) Working with landlords, tenant groups and others to form consortia or otherwise engage landlords and owner-occupants to enroll their eligible housing units in local lead hazard control or rehabilitation programs. The applicant should obtain commitments from landlords to provide matching resources for work to be done on their units. For example, the lead hazard control program could offer landlords grant funds for replacement windows if the landlords contribute the cost of additional repairs (such as basic system upgrades, or other rehabilitation work including painting and maintenance) that is associated with lead hazard control;

(7) Creating a nationwide "lead-safe unit" identification seal of approval program that would be used by landlords and others to market lead-safe units. Housing units that have lead-based paint hazards safely eliminated or controlled and have passed a lead clearance test, would receive a lead-safe unit seal;

(8) Promoting homebuilder, remodeler, or contractor associations to coordinate efforts to reduce lead hazards by contributing technical assistance, training, presentations and materials and/or labor to lead hazard control efforts;

(9) Encourage landscaping firms, nurseries, and landscape architects to contribute lead-safe soil, mulch, and other forms of vegetation cover and shrubbery designed to mitigate lead contamination of soil around the exterior/perimeter and play areas of affected housing units;

(10) Working with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that are committed to improving the quality of life within the community;

(11) Providing training for significant numbers of trades people to implement lead-safe work practices, such as window replacement and weatherization work; and

(12) Expand dust testing and clearance testing, especially in high-risk communities.

(E) Support Elements

(1) Administrative costs. Up to 10 percent of the HUD grant funds may be used for administration. Such costs would include the costs associated with completing HUD reports, accounting and bookkeeping expenses, costs associated with obtaining audits, and other direct grant management expenses (see Appendix A of this NOFA for the definition of Administrative Costs applicable to this program).

(2) Outreach, Education, and Training Costs. Up to twenty percent of the leveraged funds may be used for training, lead hazard awareness and other public education, outreach and education initiatives.

(F) Ineligible Activities. You may not use grant funds for any of the following:

- (1) Purchase of real property;
- (2) Chelation or other medical treatment costs related to children with elevated blood lead levels;
- (3) Lead hazard abatement activities in publicly owned housing, or project-based Section 8 housing; and
- (4) Capital expenditures in excess of $5,000 per unit cost.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the requirements listed in this NOFA, the applicant must comply with the requirements described below:

(A) Period of Performance. The period of performance is 24 months. HUD reserves the right to approve no-cost time extensions for a period not to exceed 24 months.

(B) Statutory Requirements. To be eligible for funding under this NOFA, the applicant must meet all federal statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to this program. The specific requirements will be identified in the grant agreement for successful applicants. In addition, you will be required to comply with all state and local statutes, regulations or other applicable requirements.

(C) Threshold Requirements. As an applicant, you must meet all of the threshold requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA (Section V(B)) as well as any specific threshold requirements for applicants under Operation LEAP. Applications will not be rated or ranked if they do not meet the threshold requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Your application must receive at least 75 points to be eligible for funding.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Partial Funding. In the selection process, once available funds have been allocated to meet the requested or negotiated amounts of the top eligible applicants, HUD reserves the right to offer any residual amount as partial funding to the next eligible applicant, provided HUD is satisfied that the residual amount is sufficient to support a viable, though reduced effort, by this applicant. If an applicant is offered a reduced grant amount, the applicant will have a maximum of 14 calendar days to accept such a reduced award and a maximum of 30 calendar days after acceptance to submit a revised strategy and budget. If the applicant fails to respond within the seven-day limit, the applicant shall be considered to have declined the award and the award will be offered to the next highest ranked applicant. HUD intends to fund the highest ranked applications within the limits of funding.

(B) Budget. HUD will evaluate an applicant's proposal to determine if it is reasonable, clearly justified, and consistent with the intended use of grant funds. HUD is not required to approve or fund all proposed activities. You must thoroughly document and justify all budget categories and costs. Leveraged funds should be listed in the column labeled "Applicant Match" on Form 424C.

(C) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are stated below. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 100. The application must receive a total score of at least 75 points to be eligible for funding.

Rating Factor 1: Organizational Capacity (30 points)

This factor addresses the applicant's organizational capacity to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner.

(A) Staff Experience (20 points)

Describe the knowledge and experience of the staff responsible for the following functions: Executive Direction; Finance Marketing; and Program Coordination. The applicant must have sufficient qualified personnel or be able to quickly retain qualified experts or professionals in financial/grant management, marketing, and/or lead-based paint programs that will allow you to immediately begin your proposed work program and to perform your proposed activities within the two-year period of performance.

The applicant's narrative should include information about your organizational and staff capacity in fund raising and/or leveraging, and private sector recruitment successfully conducted recently (e.g., within the past five years). Include a discussion of staff knowledge and expertise in fund raising, organizational skills, lead hazard control and lead-safe housing information.

The discussion on capacity should include the depth, (depth relates to the number of persons with available knowledge and expertise: range relates to the extent of that knowledge and expertise), experience, the commitment of time to the program, salary information, length of time with organization and position titles of the program staff. Resumes or detailed job announcements for the above key positions must be included as an appendix to your application. Indicate the percentage of time key personnel will devote to the proposed project. The Program Coordinator must be dedicated to this effort for a minimum of 75 percent of the time. An applicant may demonstrate capacity by thoroughly describing prior experience in this type of activity and/or how the applicant will develop the necessary capacity to carryout proposed activities.

(B) Grants Management (5 points)

Describe the agency's or organization's ability to manage grants and leveraged program funds and activities.

(C) Partner Expertise (5 points)

Describe project participants/partners knowledge and experience regarding lead poisoning as a public health threat to children, and/or lead-based paint issues and hazard control. Use of staff with more recent, relevant, and demonstrated successful experience will result in a higher rating.

Rating Factor 2: Approach (30 points)

This factor addresses the work plan strategy that the applicant intends to follow in meeting the goals and objectives of the program. This work plan strategy should address the following:

(A) Selection Process for Partner Organization (20 points)

Describe the selection process for those organizations that are to conduct or coordinate work activities for lead hazard control, outreach, evaluation, etc. How do you intend to involve faith-based and other community-based organizations in your proposed activities?

(B) Leveraging Strategy (10 points)

Describe the proposed strategy for leveraging private sector resources including:

- (1) Target audiences/constituencies;
- (2) Use of contractors/subgrantees/partners and their method of selection;
- (3) Methods of outreach/promotion;
- (4) Types of leveraging to be employed;
- (5) Proposed use and distribution of funds/resources leveraged;
- (6) Overall project management and coordination; and
- (7) Proposed schedule of activities within the 24-month period of performance.

Although creativity and innovation are strongly encouraged, these activities must be realistic and capable of accomplishment. An applicant's award would be contingent upon budget negotiation and approval of a revised work plan. This work plan would have to describe the deliverables as goals with specific measures of achievement. For example: if an applicant proposed to use as leverage the resources from property owners who are eliminating and/or controlling lead hazards for their properties, the applicant would have to provide the number of units and an average investment amount. This information would be shown in the applicant's work plan and become part of the applicant's performance expectations.

Rating Factor 3: Leveraging Resources (35 points)

This factor addresses the applicant's ability to obtain and use private sector resources or leverage private sector activities that can be combined with HUD and other program resources to achieve program objectives. Private funds/resources do not include any public sector funds, e.g., funds provided by states and units of general local government including Community Development Block Grant (CDBG)/Home Investment Partnership (HOME) funds. Applicants may use such funds as part of this program but will not receive any points for use of public funds under this rating factor. Points will be awarded based on the satisfactory provision of evidence of leveraging and financial sustainability, as described above, and the ratio of requested HUD LEAP funds to the total Federal budget meets the following:

(1) Leveraged Funds (25 Points)

Points for this sub-factor will be awarded based on the satisfactory provision of evidence of leveraging and financial sustainability, as described above, and the ratio of leveraged funds as a percentage of the HUD funds requested.

Percentage of leveraged funds	Points
10-20	10

(2) Prior Ability to Leverage Funds (5 Points)

Describe what the organization has done in the recent past (e.g., within the past five years) that gives evidence of its ability and experience to leverage substantial private sector resources. Describe specific activities, the amount of funds or goods leveraged, and what the leveraged funds were used to support. If an applicant has experience in generating funds or goods for purposes similar to addressing lead paint abatement or control measures, the applicant should describe those activities and the results achieved.

(3) Current Commitments (5 points)

Describe the types of public or private sector commitments, if any, currently available to devote to Operation LEAP grant program activities, and the anticipated future amounts to be generated. Based upon the estimated amount of funding anticipated for leveraging over the life of the award, identify the general geographic locations of the units that will be treated by this increased funding or leveraged goods. Also provide an estimate of the number of units that can be expected to be treated. The description of the location of treatment areas should be sufficient to determine that the units serve low-income persons. Generated resources may include cash or in-kind contributions of services, equipment, or supplies. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant has established working partnerships, memoranda of understanding and/or firm agreements with other identified entities for the commitment of additional resources. Resources may be provided by any private source, including contributions of investor-owners. However, leveraged claims for donations of goods and services should be based on market values and documented where possible. Applicants that do not have such partnerships at the time of application will be required to establish partnerships immediately following notification of grant award. Only contributions that have a stated monetary value with supporting documentation from the contributing organization/entity authorized to make such commitment will be counted. Firmly established commitments will be rated more highly than applications with commitments that have not yet been established. Applicants that have targeted specific high-risk neighborhoods or geographic locations for leveraging/fundraising and abatement/control activities will receive a higher number of rating points.

Rating Factor 4: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation. (5 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants achieve the goals outlined in their work plan and other benchmark standards and assess their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits, or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going measure it and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. Applicants are required to complete the HUD Logic Form included in Appendix A of this NOFA.

(1) An applicant is to identify and describe specific methods, measures, and tools that you will use (in addition to HUD reporting requirements) to measure progress, evaluate program effectiveness, and identify program changes necessary to improve performance. Describe how you will obtain, document and report the information. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have described outcome measures and benefits of your program including:

(a) The purpose of the Operation LEAP is to leverage private sector resources to eliminate lead poisoning as a major public health threat to young children. The key terms here are "leverage of private sector resources." HUD is looking for those applicants that demonstrate the most realistic and positive fund raising and/or leveraging skills to mobilize substantial private sector resources for addressing lead hazards in housing.

(b) Demonstration of a national and/or regional (multi-state) strategy for leveraging resources from the private sector is essential. Those resources should be realistic and achievable and made part of the workplan and benchmark activities of this proposal. The proposed budget should demonstrate how these leveraged funds would be used to address lead hazards in housing and make residential housing lead-safe and eliminate lead poisoning as a public health threat to children.

(c) Results of any specific plans and objectives established to implement and/or maintain a registry (listing) of lead-safe housing that is available to the public, or to incorporate the inclusion of the lead-safe status of properties in another publicly accessible address-based property information system. Results could include how the information would be managed and affirmatively marketed to the public so that families (particularly low-income families with children under six years of age) can make informed decisions regarding their housing options. Applicants that demonstrate partnerships with national or regionally recognized material suppliers, e.g., sheet rock/drywall manufacturers or retailers, paint manufacturers or distributors, window manufacturers or distributors, etc., will receive stronger consideration.

(d) The extent to which affirmatively furthering fair housing for all segments of the population is advanced by the proposed activities. Detail how the proposed work plan will support the community's efforts to affirmatively further affordable housing and discuss the impact of prior activities that have contributed to enhanced lead-safe housing opportunities.

(e) How your program will be held accountable for meeting program goals, objectives, and the actions undertaken in implementing the grant program. Applicants should provide a description of the mechanism to assess progress and track performance in meeting the goals and objectives outlined in the work plan. Applicants should provide assurances that work plans and performance measures developed for the program will assist intended beneficiaries, and that work will be conducted in a timely and cost-effective manner.

Note on Program Performance: Grantees shall take all reasonable steps to accomplish all LEAP activities outlined in an approved work plan within the approved period of performance. HUD will closely monitor grantee performance with particular attention placed on the leveraging of private sector resources specified in the application and grant agreement, the expenditure of HUD grant funds as evidenced by draw downs from the Line of Credit Control System (LOCCS), and other approved grant activities. HUD reserves the right to terminate the grant prior to the expiration of the period of performance if a grantee fails to meet established work plan benchmark milestones in implementing the approved program of activities.

(D) Applicant Debriefing. See Section XI (A)(d) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about applicant debriefing. Written requests for debriefings after the selection of successful applicants should be sent to Matthew Ammon, Director, Lead Hazard Control Grants Division, 451 7th Street SW., Washington, DC, 20410.

(E) Rating Panels. See Section VI (B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about rating panels.

(F) Adjustments to Funding. See Section VI (F) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for information about adjustments to funding.

(G) Participation in HUD-Sponsored Program Evaluation. As a condition of the receipt of financial assistance under this NOFA, you will be required to cooperate with all HUD staff or contractors performing HUD-funded research and evaluation studies pertaining to the subject of the grant.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Applicant Information

(1) Application Format. The application narrative response to the Rating Factors are limited to a maximum of 15 pages. Your response must be typewritten on one (1) side only on 8½" x 11" paper using a 12-point (minimum) font with not less than ¾" margins on all sides. Appendices should be referenced and discussed in the narrative response. Materials provided in the appendices should directly apply to the rating factor narrative.

(2) Application Checklist. Your application must contain the items listed in the Checklist and Submission

Table of Contents included in Appendix A of this NOFA. These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed that are applicable to this funding (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms can be found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The application items required for submission are:

(a) Transmittal Letter. A transmittal letter that identifies the applicant(s) or submitting the application, the dollar amount requested, what the program funds are requested for, and the nature of involvement with community-based organizations. Also include the name, mailing address, telephone number, and principal contact person of the applicant. If you have consortium associates, sub-grantees, partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to your project, you must provide similar information for each of these partners;

(b) Abstract Summary. Provide an abstract summary describing the goals and objectives of the proposed program (two-page maximum);

(c) Standard Forms. All forms as required by the General Section of the SuperNOFA

(d) Budget. A total budget summary (total budget is the federal share and leveraged contribution) with supporting cost justifications for all budget categories of your grant request. A maximum of ten percent of the federal share can be for administrative costs (see Appendix A—Administrative Costs of this NOFA for a description of administrative costs applicable to this grant program);

An itemized breakout (using the HUD Form-424) of your required matching contribution, including:

- i. Values placed on donated in-kind services;
- ii. Letters or other evidence of commitment from donors; and
- iii. The amounts and sources of contributed resources; and

(e) Partners. Contracts, Memoranda of Understanding or Agreement, letters of commitment or other documentation must describe the proposed roles of agencies, local broad-based task forces, participating faith-based and other community- or neighborhood-based groups or organizations, local businesses, and others working with the program. For-profit entities and/or firms must clearly demonstrate and document how the lead-based paint hazard identification and control measures will be coordinated with local organizations, state(s) or units of general local government to carry out lead hazard control.

(B) Proposed Activities. All applications must, at a minimum, describe the proposed activities in the narrative responses to the rating factors. Your narrative statement must be numbered in accordance with each factor for award (Rating Factors 1 through 4).

VII. Findings and Certifications

See Section IX of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific requirements.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

See Section VIII of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about corrections to deficient applications.

IX. Environmental Requirements

Environmental Requirements. Certain activities assisted under this program may be subject to HUD environmental review to the extent required under 24 CFR part 50. An award under the Lead Elimination Action Program (LEAP) does not constitute approval of specific sites where activities that are subject to environmental review may be carried out. Following grant award execution, HUD will be responsible for ensuring that any necessary environmental reviews are completed. You may not rehabilitate, convert or repair property, or commit or expend grant funds or HUD-leveraged funds for any eligible property, until you receive written notification from the appropriate HUD official that HUD has completed its environmental review and the property has been approved. The results of the environmental reviews may require that proposed activities be modified or proposed sites rejected.

X. HUD Reform Act of 1989

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA at Section XI.

Appendix A.

This appendix to this NOFA contains lists the standard forms, certifications and assurances used by the programs that are part of this NOFA. Listed forms are located in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

The following forms are to be used for the Programs listed in this NOFA

- (1) Form HUD-424
- (2) Form HUD-424 B
- (3) Form HUD-424 C
- (4) Form HUD-424 CBW
- (5) Form HUD Logic Model Form
- (6) Application Checklist and Submission Table of Contents

(7) Ethnicity and Race Data

HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates having to have the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), the Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and the Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

HUD-424 B replaces SF-424 B and D and HUD-50070, 50071 and 2992.

HUD-424 C and CB replaces SF-424 A and C

The HUD-424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet and replaces various budget worksheets used throughout the Department.

Administrative Costs

Administrative costs that may be applicable to the programs included in this NOFA are discussed below:

I. Purpose

The intent of this HUD grant program is to allow the Grantee to be reimbursed for the reasonable direct and indirect costs, subject to a top limit, for overall management of the grant. In most instances the grantee, whether a State or a local government, principally serves as a conduit to pass funding to sub-grantees, which are to be responsible for the conducting lead-hazard reduction work. Congress set a top limit of ten percent of the total grant sum for the grantee to perform the function of overall management of the grant program, including passing on funding to sub-grantees. The cost of that function, for the purpose of this grant, is defined as the "administrative cost" of the grant, and is limited to ten percent of the total grant amount. The balance of ninety percent or more of the total grant sum is reserved sub-grantees or other direct-performers of lead-hazard identification and reduction work. Lead hazard identification and reduction includes, but is not necessarily limited to outreach, training, enrollment, lead paint inspection/risk assessments, interim controls, hazard abatement, clearance documentation, blood lead testing, and public education.

II. Administrative Costs: What They Are Not

For the purposes of this HUD grant program for States and local governments to provide support for the evaluation and reduction of lead-hazards in low- and moderate-income, private target housing, the term "administrative costs" should not be confused with the terms "general and administrative cost," "indirect costs," "overhead," and "burden rate." These are accounting terms usually represented by a government-accepted standard percentage rate. The percentage rate allocates a fair share of an organization's costs that cannot be attributed to a particular project or department (such as the chief executive's salary or the costs of the organization's headquarters building) to all projects and operating departments (such as the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Community Development Department, the Health Department or this program). Such allocated costs are added to those projects' or departments' direct costs to determine their total costs to the organization.

III. Administrative Costs: What They Are

For the purposes of this HUD grant program, "Administrative Costs" are the grantee's allowable direct costs for the overall management of the grant program plus the allocable indirect costs. The allowable limit of such costs that can be reimbursed under this program is ten (10) percent of the total grant sum. Should the grantee's actual costs for overall management of the grant program exceed ten percent of the total grant sum, those excess costs shall be paid for by the grantee. However, excess costs paid for by the grantee may be shown as part of the requirement for cost-sharing funds to support the grant.

IV. Administrative Costs: Definition

A. General

Administrative costs are the allowable, reasonable, and allocable direct and indirect costs related to the overall management of the HUD grant for lead-hazard reduction activities. Those costs shall be segregated in a separate cost center within the grantee's accounting system, and they are eligible costs for reimbursement as part of the grant, subject to the ten percent limit. Such administrative costs do not include any of the staff and overhead costs directly arising from specific sub-grantee program activities eligible under Section II (C) of this NOFA, because those costs are eligible for reimbursement under a separate cost center as a direct part of project activities.

The grantee may elect to serve solely as a conduit to sub-grantees, who will in turn perform the direct program activities eligible under NOFA Section II (C), or the grantee may elect to perform all or a part of the direct program activities in other parts of its own organization, which shall have their own segregated, cost centers for those direct program activities. In either case, not more than 10 percent of the total HUD grant sum may be devoted to administrative costs, and not less than 90% of the total grant sum shall be devoted to direct program activities. The grantee shall take care not to mix or attribute administrative costs to the direct project cost centers.

B. Specific

Reasonable costs for the grantee's overall grant management, coordination, monitoring, and evaluation are eligible administrative costs. Subject to the ten percent limit, such costs include, but are not limited to, necessary expenditures for the following goods, activities and services:

(1) Salaries, wages, and related costs of the grantee's staff, the staff of affiliated public agencies, or other staff engaged in grantee's overall grant management activities. In charging costs to this category the recipient may either include the entire salary, wages, and related costs allocable to the program for each person whose primary responsibilities (more than 65% of their time) with regard to the grant program involve direct overall grant management assignments, or the pro rata share of the salary, wages, and related costs of each person whose job includes any overall grant management assignments. The grantee may use only one of these two methods during this program. Overall grant management includes the following types of activities:

(a) Preparing grantee program budgets and schedules, and amendments thereto;

(b) Developing systems for the selection and award of funding to sub-grantees and other sub-recipients;

(c) Developing suitable agreements for use with sub-grantees and other sub-recipients to carry out grant activities;

(d) Developing systems for assuring compliance with program requirements;

(e) Monitoring sub-grantee and sub-recipient activities for progress and compliance with program requirements;

(f) Preparing presentations, reports, and other documents related to the program for submission to HUD;

(g) Evaluating program results against stated objectives;

(h) Providing local officials and citizens with information about the overall grant program; however, a more general education program, helping the public understand the nature of lead hazards, lead hazard reduction, blood-lead screening, and the health consequences of lead poisoning is a direct project support activity);

(i) Coordinating the resolution of overall grant audit and monitoring findings; and

(j) Managing or supervising persons whose responsibilities with regard to the program include such assignments as those described in paragraphs (a) through (i).

(2) Travel costs incurred for official business in carrying out the overall grant management;

(3) Administrative services performed under third party contracts or agreements, for services directly allocable to grant management such as: legal services, accounting services, and audit services;

(4) Other costs for goods and services required for and directly related to the overall management of the grant program; and including such goods and services as telephone, postage, rental of equipment, renter's insurance for the program management space, utilities, office supplies, and rental and maintenance (but not purchase) of office space for the program.

(5) The fair and allocable share of grantee's general costs that are not directly attributable to specific projects or operating departments such as salaries, office expenses and other related costs for local officials (e.g., mayor and city council members, etc.), and expenses for a city's legal or accounting department which are not charged back to particular projects or other operating departments. If a grantee has an established burden rate, it should be used; if not, the grantee shall be assigned a negotiated provisional burden rate, subject to final audit.

DEVELOPMENT INITIATIVE (BEDI)

Funding Availability for the Brownfields Economic Development Initiative (BEDI)

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. BEDI funds are used to enhance the security of a loan guaranteed by HUD under Section 108 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, for the same brownfields economic development project, or to improve the viability of a brownfields economic development project financed with the Section 108-guaranteed loan, in order to stimulate economic development by local governments and private sector parties at brownfields sites.

HUD provides BEDI funds (as defined in Section III (A)(1) below) to be used in conjunction with Section 108 loan guarantee funds, to finance projects and activities at brownfields sites that will provide near-term and measurable economic benefits, such as job creation and increases in the local tax base, through the return of brownfields sites to productive economic uses. HUD encourages brownfields economic development projects that propose the redevelopment of a brownfields site through new investments by identified private sector parties and that will result in new business or job creation, increases in the local tax base or other near-term, measurable economic benefits. In FY 2003, HUD seeks to increase economic development opportunity throughout the nation and promote the creation and retention of jobs. All BEDI grants must be used in conjunction with a new Section 108 guaranteed loan commitment.

Available Funds. Approximately $29.5 million, including $24.8 million in appropriations from the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, Public Law 108-7, approved February 20, 2003 (FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations) under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading; approximately $2,629,155 of unobligated funds from the Fiscal Year 2002 HUD Appropriations Act under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading; and $2,065,000 of unobligated funds from the Fiscal Year 2001 HUD Appropriations Act under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading. The amount of total available funds is further described in Section II below. The maximum amount of any BEDI grant award this year will be $2 million per project.

Eligible Applicants. Only units of general local government eligible for assistance under the Entitlement, States' Program, or the Small Cities segments of the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program may apply for a BEDI grant and a Section 108 Guaranteed Loan. CDBG-eligible urban counties may also apply for funding, but units of general local government that participate in the Urban County Program may not submit an application independent of the Urban County. (See Section III (B) below for additional information regarding eligible applicants.)

Application Deadline. July 16, 2003.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under this program, please review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date and Submission, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. Please submit your completed applications (one original and three copies) on or before July 16, 2003, to the addresses shown below.

Application Submission Procedures. See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for specific procedures governing the submission and receipt of applications.

Addresses for Submitting Applications to HUD Headquarters. Submit your completed application (an original and two copies) by mail or permitted delivery service to: Processing and Control Unit, Room 7251, Office of Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410, Attention: BEDI.

When submitting the application, please specify BEDI on any label or mailing container, and include the applicant's name, mailing address (including zip code), street address (if different from mailing address) and zip code, and voice and facsimile telephone numbers (including area code), along with the contact person's name and voice and facsimile telephone numbers (including area code).

Applications to HUD Field Offices. At the same time the application and copies are submitted to HUD Headquarters, an additional copy should be submitted to the Community Planning and Development Division of the appropriate HUD Field Office for the applicant's jurisdiction. HUD strongly suggests that applications submitted to HUD Field Offices be mailed via the United States Postal Service, as access by other delivery services cannot be guaranteed.

For Applications. There is no application kit this year. All information and forms necessary to complete and submit a valid application are contained in the General Section and this program section of the SuperNOFA, and the appendices to the General Section and this program section. Copies of the NOFA and forms are also available on the Internet through the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Contact Lisa Peoples, Economic Development Specialist, Office of Economic Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room 7140, Washington, DC 20410, telephone (202) 708-0614 ext. 4456 (this is not a toll-free number). Persons with speech or hearing impairments may access this number via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339. Before the application due date, HUD staff will be available to provide general guidance and technical assistance about this BEDI NOFA. However, HUD staff is not permitted to assist in preparing a BEDI application. Following selection of applicants, but before awards are made, HUD staff are available to assist in clarifying or confirming information that is a prerequisite to the offer of an award by HUD. In addition, the Section 108 Loan Guarantee program is not a competitive program and therefore is not subject to those provisions of the HUD Reform Act pertaining to competitions that do not permit HUD staff to assist in the preparation of applications. HUD staff is available to provide advice and assistance to develop your Section 108 loan application.

Applicant Debriefing. Section XI (A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA provides information on applicant requests for a debriefing. Applicants requesting to be debriefed must send a written request to the contact person for the BEDI program, Ms. Lisa Peoples, at the address listed in the preceding paragraph.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of BEDI application(s). For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, you should consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

II. Amount Allocated

HUD has available a maximum of $29,531,655 for grant awards under this program section as of its publication date. This amount consists of $24,837,500 in appropriations under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading in the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations. Funds also include $2,629,155 of unobligated appropriated funds from the Fiscal Year 2002 HUD Appropriations Act under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading, as well as $2,065,000 of unobligated appropriated funds from the Fiscal Year 2001 HUD Appropriations Act under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading. All such funds are authorized by Section 108(q) of the Act (as defined below). The maximum amount of a BEDI award under this competition is $2 million per project. If any additional funds become available for the BEDI program during Fiscal Year 2003, including through the deobligation and recapture of previous BEDI awards, HUD may either fund additional applicants in accordance with this program section of the SuperNOFA, or may add these funds to funds available for future competitions pursuant to Section 108(q) of the Act.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. BEDI is designed to help local governments redevelop brownfields, defined in this program section as abandoned, idled, or underutilized real property, including industrial and commercial facilities, where expansion or redevelopment is complicated by the presence or potential presence of environmental contamination. BEDI provides funding to local governments to be used in conjunction with Section 108 loan guarantees, to finance redevelopment of brownfields sites. A BEDI grant award will be conditioned upon, and must be used in conjunction with, a new (i.e., not previously approved) Section 108-guaranteed loan commitment. Both Section 108 loan guarantee proceeds and BEDI grant funds are initially made available by HUD to units of general local government eligible for assistance under HUD's Entitlement, States' Program or Small Cities segments of the Community Development Block Grant program. Such public entities may re-loan the Section 108 loan proceeds and provide BEDI funds to a business or other entity eligible to carry out a specific approved brownfields economic development project, or the public entity may carry out the eligible project itself, as provided in the approved application. In either case, BEDI grant funds and the 108 proceeds must be used to support the same eligible BEDI project.

(1) Definitions. Unless otherwise defined herein, terms defined in 24 CFR part 570 and used in this program section of this SuperNOFA shall have the respective meanings given thereto in that part.

Act means Title I, Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended (42 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.).

Application means a single set of documents submitted by an eligible applicant for BEDI grant funds, in accordance with the provisions of this program section of the SuperNOFA to finance a brownfields economic development project. A BEDI application must be accompanied by a Section 108 loan guarantee request, which may consist of either a brief summary of the proposed use of 108 funds, or a full application, which may either be submitted at the same time as the BEDI application or be provided within 60 days of BEDI grant award, as more fully explained in Section IV(D) of this program section. Note that the Section 108 application must be submitted to the appropriate HUD field office concurrently with its submission to Headquarters.

Brownfields means abandoned, idled, or under-used real property (including industrial and commercial facilities) where expansion or redevelopment is complicated by the presence or potential presence of contamination.

Brownfields Economic Development Initiative (BEDI) funds means the appropriated funds made available for the competition under this program section from any available appropriation.

Brownfields Economic Development Initiative (BEDI) project or brownfields economic development project means an activity or activities (including mixed use projects with housing components) that are eligible under Section 108(q) of the Act and under 24 CFR 570.703, and that will increase economic opportunity for persons of low- and moderate-income, stimulate or retain businesses or jobs, or otherwise lead to near-term, measurable economic benefits in connection with brownfields.

CDBG funds means those funds collectively so defined at 24 CFR 570.3, including grant funds received pursuant to Section 108(q) and this program section of this SuperNOFA.

Economic Development Initiative (EDI) grant means the provision of economic development grant assistance under Section 108(q) of the Act, as authorized by Section 232 of the Multifamily Housing Property Disposition Reform Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103-233, approved April 11, 1994).

EPA means the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Firm Commitment means either a written agreement or letter of understanding by which an applicant and/or a third party:

(1) Agrees to perform an activity or provide resources as specified in the application, and demonstrates their relationship to the proposed BEDI/Section 108 project;

(2) Specifies the dollar value of the commitment, and demonstrates that it has the financial and organizational capacity to deliver the resources necessary to successfully complete the activity; if the activity is to be self-financed, the third party must evidence its financial capacity through a corporate or personal financial statement or other appropriate means; and

(3) Irrevocably commits the resources to the activity either through cash or in-kind services or contributions; if any portion is to be financed through a grant or loan from another public or private organization, that institution's grant or loan commitment must be firmly committed as well.

Any such agreement or letter of understanding shall be understood as being contingent upon receipt of the BEDI grant. In order for a commitment to be included in the applicant's score under Rating Factor 4 (Leveraging Resources), each commitment—including the donation or purchase of real property or the provision of in-kind services—must be assigned a monetary value by the party making the commitment, accompanied by an indication of the basis for that assigned value.

Each agreement or letter of commitment must include the name of the organization making the commitment, the proposed total level of commitment (including how the value was determined) and the responsibilities of the organization as they relate to the proposed BEDI project. The commitment must be signed by an official of the organization legally authorized to make commitments on behalf of the organization, with a statement confirming that authority, and remain in effect for a period stated in the commitment.

Applicants Committing CDBG Funds: In order for an applicant's commitment of CDBG funds to be accepted by HUD as additional financing for a BEDI project, a resolution from the local governing body (e.g., city/borough council) authorizing the amount and permitted uses of the funds must be provided.

Showcase Community means an applicant chosen by the federal government's Brownfields National Partnership for inclusion in the federal government's Brownfields Showcase Communities program. A list of the federally designated Brownfield Showcase Communities is provided in Appendix B of this program section of the SuperNOFA and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center or through the HUD web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

Strategic Plan means a strategy or course of action developed and agreed to by the nominating local government(s) and state(s) and submitted in partial fulfillment of the application requirements for an Empowerment Zone, Enterprise Community, or a Renewal Community, designated pursuant to 24 CFR part 597, part 598, or part 599.

(2) Background. HUD has multiple programs that are intended to stimulate economic and community development and promote economic revitalization of distressed areas, and which can be effectively employed to address and remedy brownfields conditions. Primary among HUD's resources are the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program and the Section 108 loan guarantee program.

(a) The CDBG program provides grant funds by formula to local governments (either directly or through states) to carry out community and economic development activities ($4.340 billion appropriated in FY 2003). The Section 108 loan guarantee program provides CDBG-recipient communities with a source of financing for economic development, public facilities, and other eligible large-scale physical development projects. HUD is authorized pursuant to Section 108 to guarantee notes issued by CDBG entitlement communities and non-entitlement units of general local government eligible to receive funds under the CDBG States' program, as well as non-entitlement units of general local government in the State of Hawaii. The Section 108 program is subject to the regulations applicable to the CDBG program at 24 CFR part 570 as described in 24 CFR part 570, subpart M. BEDI grants must support Section 108 loan guarantees as generally described in this program section of this SuperNOFA.

(b) For FY 2003, the loan guarantee authority for the Section 108 program is estimated at $573,000,000 including $298,000,000 in loan guarantee authority that will continue to be available under the Fiscal Year 2002 appropriation and $275,000,000 in loan guarantee authority for Fiscal Year 2003. The full faith and credit of the United States is pledged to the payment of all guarantees made under Section 108. Under this program, communities (and states, as applicable) pledge their continuing CDBG allocations as security for loans guaranteed by HUD. The Section 108 program, however, does not require CDBG funds to be escrowed for loan repayment (unless such an arrangement is specifically negotiated as loan security and included in the applicable "Contract for Loan Guarantee Assistance.") This means that a community can ordinarily continue to spend its existing allocation for other CDBG purposes, unless needed for loan repayment.

(3) EDI Program. The EDI authorization, Section 108(q) of the Act, was enacted in 1994 and is intended to complement and enhance the Section 108 Loan Guarantee program.

(4) BEDI Program. A purpose of BEDI (and EDI) grant funds is to reduce grantees' potential loss of future CDBG allocations:

(a) By strengthening the economic feasibility of a project financed with Section 108 funds (and thereby increasing the probability that the project will generate enough cash to repay the guaranteed loan);

(b) By directly enhancing the security of the Section 108-guaranteed loan; or

(c) Through a combination of these or other risk mitigation techniques.

HUD intends all the funds available pursuant to this program section of the SuperNOFA to be used for purposes of the redevelopment of brownfields sites. Accordingly, BEDI funds shall be used as the stimulus for local governments and private sector parties to commence redevelopment or continue phased redevelopment efforts on brownfields sites where contamination is present or potentially present and a redevelopment plan exists. HUD desires to see BEDI and Section 108 funds used to finance projects and activities that involve investment in the brownfields site by an identified private sector party and that will provide near-term results and measurable economic benefits, such as job creation and increases in the local tax base, through the return of brownfields sites to productive economic use.

(5) Integration of Other Government Brownfields Programs. HUD expects and encourages local governments which are designated through (a) the federal government's Brownfields Showcase Community program, (b) other federal brownfields programs (e.g., EPA's Assessment, Tax Incentive, Revolving Loan Fund or Cleanup Grant programs), (c) a state-supported brownfields program, or (d) a state or local related economic development program, to integrate efforts arising from those programs in developing projects for assistance under HUD's BEDI and

Section 108 programs. Applicants should elaborate upon these ties in their response to the rating factors, where appropriate (e.g., "Capacity of the Applicant," "Soundness of Approach," or "Leveraging Resources"—Rating Factors 1, 3, and 4 respectively.)

(6) Additional Security for Section 108 Loan Guarantee. Public entities should consider the need to provide additional security for the Section 108 loan guarantee pursuant to 24 CFR 570.705(b)(3). Although a public entity is required by the Act to pledge its current and future CDBG allocations as security for the Section 108 loan guarantee, the public entity will usually be required to furnish additional collateral. In most cases, the additional collateral consists (in whole or in part) of the asset financed with the Section 108 loan funds (e.g., a loan made to a business as part of an economic development project and the related mortgage from the business). Applications proposing uses for BEDI funding that directly enhance the value of the assets securing the Section 108 loan will help ensure that the project-based asset(s) will satisfy the additional collateral requirements.

(7) Uses of BEDI Funds. Generally, proposals must be consistent with other CDBG requirements, including meeting National Objectives and activity eligibility requirements under § 570.703 of the Section 108 Loan Guarantee regulations, as described in Section III (C) of this program section. The following examples are offered only to illustrate some of the ways in which BEDI funds may be used to support 108-guaranteed loans:

(a) Land Writedowns. Local governments may use a combination of Section 108 and BEDI funds to acquire a brownfields site for purposes of reconveying the site to a private developer at a discount from its purchase price. This approach would provide the developer with an asset of enhanced value that could be used as collateral for other sources of funding and those other sources of financing could then be used to finance environmental remediation or other development costs. In such a circumstance, the level of BEDI assistance could approximate the difference between the original cost of the site and its remediation in comparison to the market value of the remediated property.

(b) Site Remediation Costs. Local governments may use BEDI funds in any of several ways to address site remediation costs. If the local government proposes to use Section 108 funds to acquire real property, BEDI funds could be used to address assessment and site remediation costs as part of eligible demolition, clearance, or site preparation activities. If the local government uses Section 108 funds to make a loan to a developer, BEDI funds could be granted or loaned to the developer for the purpose of addressing remediation costs as part of an economic development activity.

(c) Funding Reserves. The cash flow generated by an economic development project may be expected to be relatively "thin" in the early stages of the project, i.e., potentially insufficient to meet operating expenses and debt service obligations. The BEDI grant could be used by the grantee to either establish a debt service reserve to cover interest on the Section 108 loan, or as a grant to a business for working capital. In either case, the BEDI funds enhance the economic feasibility of the project.

(d) Direct Enhancement of the Security of the Section 108 Loan. The BEDI grant can be used to pay for the cost of providing credit enhancements for the Section 108 loan. For example, if eligible as part of the cost of an appropriate eligible activity, the BEDI grant can be used to pay for the cost of a standby letter of credit, issued in favor of HUD. This letter of credit will be available to fund amounts due on the Section 108 loan if other sources fail to materialize, and thus will serve to protect the public entity's future CDBG funds.

(e) Provision of Financing to For-Profit Businesses at a Below Market Interest Rate.

While the rates on loans guaranteed under Section 108 are only slightly above the rates on comparable U.S. Treasury obligations, they may nonetheless be higher than can be afforded by businesses, non-profit groups or public entities in severely economically distressed neighborhoods. The BEDI grant can be used to make Section 108 financing affordable by serving to "buy down" the interest rate up front, or make full or partial interest payments on the Section 108 loan. This might increase the financial viability of the businesses or other entities in the early start-up period, which might not otherwise be possible with Section 108 alone. This strategy would be particularly useful where a community was undertaking a large commercial or retail project in a brownfields area in order to act as a catalyst for other development in the area.

(f) Combination of Techniques. A combination of the above could be employed to implement a BEDI project successfully.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Any public entity eligible to apply for Section 108 loan guarantee assistance in accordance with 24 CFR 570.702 may apply for BEDI grant assistance under Section 108(q). Eligible applicants are CDBG entitlement units of general local government and non-entitlement units of general local government eligible to receive loan guarantees under 24 CFR part 570, subpart M. Urban Counties, as defined at 24 CFR 570.3 and 570.307, are eligible applicants for BEDI funds; units of general local government that participate in an Urban County program are not independently eligible applicants. For non-entitlement applicants other than those subject to 24 CFR 570, subpart F (which applies only to the State of Hawaii), applicants will be required to provide evidence in the application from an authorized official of the state agency responsible for administering the State CDBG program stating that it will support the related Section 108 loan with a pledge of its CDBG allocations pursuant to the requirements of 24 CFR 570.705(b)(2). Such evidence shall take the form of the HUD Certification titled "SECTION 108 LOAN GUARANTEES: State Certifications Related to Nonentitlement Public Entities" included in this program section to the SuperNOFA, or which may be obtained by downloading from the Internet at <http://www.hud.gov>. Note that effective January 25, 1995, non-entitlement public entities in the State of Hawaii are authorized to apply to HUD for Section 108 loans (see 59 FR 47510, December 27, 1994). Thus non-entitlement public entities in all 50 states and Puerto Rico are eligible to participate in the Section 108 and BEDI programs, with assistance of the state's or commonwealth's pledge of CDBG allocations.

(C) Eligible Activities and National Objectives. (1) BEDI grant funds and Section 108 loan guarantee funds may be used for activities listed at 24 CFR 570.703, provided such activities are carried out as part of a BEDI project as described in this program section of the SuperNOFA and meet the CDBG requirements at 24 CFR 570.200. Applicants are required to submit applications that seek funding for BEDI projects that will contribute to the redevelopment and revitalization of brownfields. Applications that fail to meet the threshold requirements found in Section V (B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and the program requirements of this section will not be rated, ranked, or otherwise considered by HUD.

(2) Each activity assisted with Section 108 loan guarantee or BEDI funds must meet a national objective of the CDBG program as described in 24 CFR 570.208. Applicants must clearly identify in their narrative statement (as described in Section V (B) of this program section below) the CDBG national objective to be achieved by the proposed project and provide the appropriate CDBG national objective regulatory citation found at 24 CFR 570.208. Applicants must also address, when applicable, how the proposed activities will comply with the public benefit standards of the CDBG program as reflected in the regulation at 24 CFR 570.209.

(3) A grantee's aggregate use of its CDBG funds, including any Section 108 loan guarantee proceeds and Section 108(q) (BEDI) funds provided pursuant to this program section of the SuperNOFA, must comply with the CDBG primary objective requirements as described in Section 101(c) of the Act and 24 CFR 570.200(a) (3) for entitlement grantees, or 570.484 in the case of a recipient under a state's program.

(4) Applicants are reminded of the Department's Policy Priorities for FY 2003 found in Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, several of which apply to this program section, as described below, under Rating Factor 3 in Section V of this program section.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) General Requirements. Applicants for BEDI grant funds must comply with the statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) CDBG Program Regulations. In addition to 24 CFR 570.701 (Definitions), § 570.702 (Eligible applicants), and § 570.703 (Eligible activities), as explained in Section III (C) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, the CDBG regulatory requirements cited in 24 CFR 570.707, including subparts J (Grant Administration), K (Other Program Requirements), and O (Performance Reviews) govern the use of BEDI funds, as applicable.

(C) Compliance with Applicable Environmental and Other Laws. Applicants are advised that an award of BEDI funding does not in any way relieve the applicant or third party users of BEDI funds from compliance with all applicable federal, state and local laws, particularly those addressing the environment. Applicants are further advised that HUD may require evidence that any project involving remediation has been or will be carried out in accordance with applicable law, including voluntary clean up programs.

(D) Related Section 108 Loan Guarantee Request. (1) Each BEDI application must be accompanied by a request for new Section 108 loan guarantee assistance. The request may take any of the four forms defined in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), or (d) below in this Section IV (D). Notwithstanding the form of your request for new Section 108 loan guarantee assistance, the applicant must include citations to the specific regulatory subsection supporting activity eligibility and National Objectives compliance for the Section 108 funds described in the application. (See Section III (C) of this program section of the SuperNOFA.) Both the BEDI and Section 108 funds must be used in conjunction with the same BEDI project. The request for new Section 108 guarantee assistance may be presented through:

(a) A full application for new Section 108 loan guarantee(s), including the documents listed at 24 CFR 570.704(b).

(b) A brief description (not to exceed three pages) of the project to be applied for in a subsequent new Section 108 loan guarantee application(s). Such a 108 application(s) shall be submitted within 60 days of written notice of BEDI selection, with HUD reserving the right to extend such period on a case-by-case basis where HUD determines there is evidence of good cause. BEDI awards will be conditioned on approval of actual Section 108 loan commitments and loan guarantee proceeds in a specific ratio of BEDI funds to Section 108 funds as approved by HUD in the BEDI award. The application description must be sufficient to support the basic eligibility of the proposed project and activities for Section 108 assistance. (See Section III (C) of this program section of the SuperNOFA.)

(c) A copy of a pending, unapproved Section 108 loan guarantee application, and any proposed amendments to the Section 108 application which are related to the BEDI application. The applicant's submission of such a BEDI/Section 108 application shall be deemed by HUD to constitute a request to suspend separate processing of the Section 108 application. The Section 108 application will not be approved until on or after the date of the related BEDI award.

(d) A request for Section 108 loan guarantee assistance (analogous to Section IV (D)(1)(a) or (b) of this BEDI section of the SuperNOFA) that proposes to increase the amount of a previously approved application. However, any amount of Section 108 loan guarantee authority approved before HUD's announcement of a BEDI grant for the same project is not eligible to be used in conjunction with a BEDI grant under this program section.

(2) Further, a Section 108 loan guarantee amount that is required to be used in conjunction with a previously approved BEDI or EDI grant award, whether or not the Section 108 loan guarantee has been approved as of the date of this SuperNOFA, is not eligible for a BEDI award under this SuperNOFA. For example, if a public entity has a previously approved Section 108 loan guarantee commitment of $12 million, even if none of the funds have been utilized, or if the public entity had previously been awarded a BEDI grant of $1 million and had agreed to submit a Section 108 loan application for $10 million in support of that BEDI grant, the public entity's application under this program section of this SuperNOFA must propose to increase the amount of its total Section 108 loan guarantee commitments beyond those amounts to which it has previously agreed. (i.e., the $12 million or $10 million Section 108 loan guarantee commitments in this example).

(E) Prohibitions on Use of BEDI and Section 108 Funds. Certain restrictions shall apply to the use of BEDI and Section 108 funds:

(1) BEDI grant funds must not be used as a resource to immediately repay the principal of a loan guaranteed under Section 108. Repayment of principal is only permissible with BEDI grant funds as a matter of security if other sources projected for repayment of principal prove to be unavailable.

(2) Section 108 loan obligations may not be subordinated, directly or indirectly, to federally tax exempt obligations. Pursuant to Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-129 (Rev.) Appendix A, Sections II.2.c. and d., (Policies for Federal Credit Programs and Non-Tax Receivables), Section 108 guaranteed loan funds may not directly or indirectly support federally tax-exempt obligations.

(3) BEDI grant funds shall not be used in any manner by grantees to provide public or private sector entities with funding to remediate conditions caused by their own actions, where the public entity (or other known prospective beneficiary of the proposed BEDI grant) has been determined responsible for causation and remediation by order of a court or a federal, state, or local regulatory agency, or is responsible for the remediation as part of a settlement approved by such a court or agency. Applicants will be required in the BEDI

Narrative Statement described in Section (V)(B) of this program section of the SuperNOFA to indicate that the proposed BEDI project will not be used to provide assistance as prohibited herein.

(4) Applicants may not propose projects on sites which are: (i) Listed or proposed to be listed on EPA's National Priority List (NPL); (ii) subject to unilateral administrative orders, court orders, administrative consent orders or judicial consent decrees issued or entered into by parties under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980, as amended (CERCLA); or (iii) subject to the jurisdiction, custody or control of the United States government. Applicants will be required in the BEDI Narrative Statement described in Section (V)(B) of this program section of the SuperNOFA to indicate that the proposed BEDI project will not be undertaken at an ineligible site as provided herein.

(5) BEDI grant assistance cannot be used to leverage a Section 108 loan guarantee approved prior to the date of HUD's announcement of a BEDI grant pursuant to this SuperNOFA. However, the BEDI grant may be awarded before HUD approval of the Section 108 commitment if HUD determines that such award will further the purposes of the Act.

(6) A BEDI award will not be made if the Section 108 request contained in the application (See Section IV(D) of this program section) calls for the use of the Section 108-guaranteed obligation solely as security for other financing on the project.

(F) Time-frames. As a condition of any award under this program section, if the related Section 108 application has not been submitted and approved within ten (10) months of written HUD notification of selection for potential funding under this NOFA, HUD may deobligate the BEDI funds. BEDI grant awards will contain conditions requiring grantees to adhere to time-frames mutually agreed on by the applicant/grantee and HUD for implementing proposed projects and drawing Section 108 and BEDI funds. If BEDI grant funds and Section 108 loan proceeds are not disbursed to the applicant within the timeframes specified in the BEDI grant agreement, HUD reserves the right to cancel the award and recapture the BEDI funds.

(G) Limitations on Grant Amounts. (1) HUD expects to approve BEDI grant amounts for approvable applications with a range of ratios of BEDI grant funds awarded to new Section 108 loan guarantee commitments but the minimum ratio will be $1.00 of Section 108 loan guarantee commitments for every $1.00 of BEDI grant funds. However, if an applicant proposes a leverage ratio of exactly 1:1, that application, while still meeting the threshold requirement, will not receive any points under the Rating Factor 4, paragraph (1): "Leverage of Section 108 Funds."

To receive points under this Factor, applications will have to exceed the 1:1 minimum ratio, and the higher the ratio the more points will be awarded, to the extent consistent with the points available for Rating Factor 4, paragraph (1). Because the proposed ratio of BEDI funds to Section 108 funds represents an applicant's financial commitment, HUD will condition the BEDI grant award on the grantee's achievement of that specific ratio. Its failure to meet that condition by obtaining timely HUD approval of a commitment for, and issuance of, the required Section 108 guaranteed obligations ratio may result in the cancellation and recapture of all or a proportionate share of the BEDI grant award.

(2) HUD will cap BEDI awards at a maximum of $2 million per project. An application in excess of $2 million will be reduced to the extent HUD determines that such a reduction is appropriate.

(3) After selection, but prior to grant award, if HUD determines that an application can be funded at a lesser BEDI grant amount than requested and still be feasible and consistent with the proposed plan and the purposes of the Act, it reserves the right to reduce the amount of the BEDI award and/or increase the required Section 108 loan guarantee commitment.

(4) In the event a BEDI grant is awarded and has been reduced below the original request (e.g., the application contained some activities that were ineligible, exceeded the $2 million cap, or there were insufficient funds to fund the last competitive application at the full amount requested), the applicant will be required to modify the project plans and application to conform to the terms of HUD approval before HUD will execute a grant agreement.

(5) HUD also may proportionately reduce or deobligate the BEDI award if a grantee does not submit an approvable Section 108 loan guarantee application, issue Section 108-guaranteed obligations and receive loan guarantee proceeds on a timely basis (including any extension authorized by HUD) in the amount required by the BEDI/108 leveraging ratio, which will be approved by HUD as a special condition of the BEDI grant award (see Section IV (F)

(6) Any modifications or amendments to an application approved pursuant to this SuperNOFA, whether requested by the applicant or by HUD, must be within the scope of the approved original BEDI application in all respects material to rating the application, unless HUD determines that the revised application remains within the competitive range and is otherwise approvable under this SuperNOFA competition.

(7) In the case of a requested increase in guarantee assistance for a project with a previously approved Section 108 loan guarantee commitment (as further discussed in Section IV (D)(1)(d), above), the BEDI assistance approved will be based on the increased amount of Section 108 loan guarantee assistance.

(H) Timing of Grant Awards and Disbursements. (1) To the extent a full and complete Section 108 application is submitted with the BEDI grant application, HUD will evaluate the Section 108 application immediately following the competition for BEDI grant funds. Note that the 108 application must be submitted to the appropriate HUD field office concurrently with submission to Headquarters.

(2) Notwithstanding any earlier obligation or award of BEDI funds to a grantee, or execution of a grant agreement, HUD will not permit the grantee to draw down BEDI funds before the issuance of the obligations evidencing the related Section 108 guaranteed loan.

(3) Pursuant to the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act (under the "Brownfields Redevelopment" heading) and 31 U.S.C. 1552(a), FY 2003 BEDI funds must be obligated (i.e., awarded) by HUD by September 30, 2004, and must be disbursed by HUD to the grantee by September 30, 2009. FY 2002 BEDI funds must be obligated by September 30, 2003 and must be disbursed by HUD to the grantee by September 30, 2008. FY 2001 BEDI funds are not subject to statutory obligation or disbursement deadlines. In all cases, however, HUD reserves the right to require earlier disbursement under a BEDI grant agreement.

(I) Obligation to affirmatively further fair housing. All BEDI grantees are obliged to affirmatively further fair housing, even when the proposed activities do not appear to be directly related to housing. Therefore, applicants that propose to use BEDI funds must include in their applications an explanation of how they propose to further fair housing opportunities for persons on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, familial status, or disability. Applicants should respond to this requirement under Rating Factor 2, subfactor (2)(c). Affirmative activities include, but are not limited to: initial and periodic assessments of the extent to which affordable and accessible housing opportunities are provided or denied to persons by race, color, national origin, sex, religion, familial status, or disability; outreach to persons in underserved population groups or advocacy organizations representing such persons; affirmative fair marketing of job or housing opportunities; housing choice; addressing environmental justice concerns; or ensuring that employment, housing and other benefits of the BEDI grant are made available to those individuals and families living at or near the brownfields site prior to its redevelopment.

V. The Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking

(1) Each rating factor and the maximum number of points are provided below. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 104. To be eligible for funding, a BEDI application must obtain a total score of at least 75 points. All applications meeting BEDI program and threshold requirements will be rated under the selection criteria below. Applications must include citations to the specific regulatory subsections supporting eligibility of activities and compliance with National Objectives. (See Section III (C) of this program section of this SuperNOFA). The applicant must also provide narrative statements in response to each of the rating factors below.

(2) All applications meeting BEDI program and threshold requirements will be rated under the selection criteria below. Applications must include citations to the specific regulatory subsections supporting eligibility of activities and compliance with National Objectives. (See Section III (C) of this program section of the SuperNOFA). The applicant must also provide narrative statements in response to each of the rating factors below.

Applications will be selected for funding as follows:

(3) All BEDI grant applications that meet threshold requirements will be ranked separately in order of points assigned with the applications receiving more points ranked above those receiving fewer points.

(4) In the event two or more applications are given the same score, but there are insufficient funds to fund all of the tied applications, the application(s) with the highest score(s) on Rating Factor 3 (Soundness of Approach) shall be selected. If there is still a tie, the following Factors will be considered sequentially, with the application having the high score on that Factor taking precedence until the tie is broken: Rating Factor 1 (Capacity and Experience), Rating Factor 2 (Distress/Extent of the Problem), Rating Factor 4 (Leveraging Resources), and Rating Factor 5 (Achieving Results and Program Evaluation).

(5) Fundable BEDI grant applications must meet the threshold requirements stipulated in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA and be complete as required by the submission requirements of this program section of the SuperNOFA or they will not be ranked. Brownfields economic development projects will be funded in rank order until the total aggregate amount of the applications funded is equal to the maximum amount available in the competition (subject to the limitations described in Section IV(G) above).

(B) BEDI Narrative Statement

(1) Applications must contain narrative statements printed in 12 point type, with sequentially numbered pages for the entire application, including forms and exhibits. The BEDI narrative statement must not exceed three (3) 8.5" by 11" pages, doubled-spaced. The BEDI narrative statement should:

(a) Describe the activities that will be carried out with the BEDI grant funds, and explain the nature and extent of the brownfields problem(s) affecting the site and/or structure(s) already on the site;

(b) Describe how the proposed uses of BEDI funds will qualify as eligible activities under 24 CFR 570.703 and meet the National Objectives under 24 CFR 570.208 of the CDBG program. In describing how the proposed uses will meet the National Objectives of the CDBG program and the activity eligibility requirements of the Section 108 program, applications must also include citations to the specific regulatory subsections supporting eligibility of activities and compliance with National Objectives. (See Section III(C) of this program section of this SuperNOFA) and;

(c) Indicate that: (i) the proposed assistance will not be used to provide funding to parties to remediate conditions caused by their own actions for which they have been determined to be legally responsible, as specified in Section IV(E)(3) of this program section; and (ii) that the proposed brownfields site is not ineligible as provided in Section IV(E)(4) of this program section.

(2) The applicant must also provide in narrative form responses to each of the rating factors below.

(C) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. HUD will evaluate all applications for funding assistance based on the following factors, the responses to which demonstrate the quality of the proposed project or activities, and the applicant's capacity and commitment to use the BEDI funds in accordance with the purposes of the Act.

(D) Responses to Rating Factors 1-5. Responses to Rating Factors 1-5 below shall not exceed fifteen (15) double-spaced pages combined.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points Maximum)

This factor addresses the extent to which the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating of the "applicant" or the "applicant's organization and staff" will include any subcontractors, consultants, and sub-recipients that are firmly committed (see definition in Section III(A)(1) above) to participate in the activities described in the application. In responding to subfactors (1) and (2) of this Factor, applications that merely summarize the amount of funds received, spent or managed will receive fewer points than those providing specific measurable information on program activities undertaken, outcomes of these activities and their accomplishments. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the following:

(1) Applicant Capacity (Up to 10 points). The applicant should demonstrate that it has the organization, the staff and the financial resources in place to implement the specific steps required to successfully carry out its proposed BEDI/Section 108 project. The applicant should offer evidence of this capacity through a description that includes:

(a) Performance in the administration of its CDBG, HOME or other HUD programs, including a description of successfully completed projects and other outcomes or accomplishments under these programs;

(b) Performance, if any, in carrying out economic development projects similar to that proposed, including brownfields economic development or redevelopment projects, if any, and if applicable, the ability to conduct prudent underwriting;

(c) Ability to carry out projects and programs in a timely manner. An applicant must address its performance in spending previously awarded HUD and other funds, if any, in a timely manner, including, for CDBG entitlement recipients, the extent to which the CDBG entitlement recipient has met the HUD standard that the total amount of its undisbursed, entitlement grant funds may not be more than 1.5 times the entitlement grant amount for the current program year (see 24 CFR 570.902(a)(1)(i));

(d) If applicable because the applicant has such designation, the capacity to achieve state and local commitments, including maximizing the federal tax benefits made available as a result of a federal Renewal Community/ Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community designation (including Enhanced Enterprise Community (EEC) designation). Applicants that have been designated as a Renewal Community (RC), Empowerment Zone (EZ) or Enterprise Community (EC/EEC) must respond to this subfactor even if the proposed brownfields economic development project is not to be located within the boundaries of the designated RC/EZ/EC; and

(e) An applicant that has previously received a BEDI or an EDI grant award or, within the past five years, a Section 108-guaranteed loan commitment, must describe the status of the implementation of those project(s) assisted with any BEDI or EDI funds or with any Section 108-guaranteed loan funds so approved within the last five years. An applicant must address any delays that have been encountered and the actions it is taking to overcome any such delays in carrying out the project(s) in a timely manner. For any such previously funded BEDI or EDI grant projects, or for those Section 108 guaranteed-loan projects committed within the past five years, HUD will award more rating points for applications providing evidence of achievement of specific measurable outcomes in carrying out approved activities funded with such guaranteed loan and/or grant funds.

If any of the rating criteria listed under (a) through (e) above do not apply to an application, the rating for this subfactor (1) shall be based solely upon the other applicable criteria.

(2) Partner Capacity (Up to 10 points). In response to this subfactor (2), the applicant should describe the experience and performance of subrecipients, private developers and other businesses, nonprofit organizations (including grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations), and other entities, if any, that have a role in implementing the proposed BEDI/108 program. Applicants are encouraged to identify specific economic development or other projects undertaken by each entity, which reflect the capacity of each entity to fulfill its responsibilities under the proposed brownfields economic development project, including the location, scale, and timeframe for completion of other relevant projects. If there are no third parties participating with the applicant in the proposed project, points under this subfactor (2) will be allocated under subfactor (1) and added to the maximum points possible under subfactor (1).

Experience will be judged in terms of recent (i.e., within the past 5 years) and successful performance of activities relevant to those proposed in the BEDI application. The more recent and extensive the experience is, the greater the number of points that will be awarded for this Factor.

In addition to the application, HUD also may rely on information at hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, from performance and/or monitoring reports, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office reports or findings, hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit, audit reports and other reliable public information in rating this Factor.

Rating Factor 2: Distress/Extent of the Problem (20 Points Maximum)

This Factor addresses the extent to which there is need for funding the proposed activities based on levels of distress in both the jurisdiction of the public entity that is the applicant and the geographic or target area that will benefit from the project. In responding to this Factor, applications will be evaluated on the extent to which the level of distress for the target area is documented and compared with national data and data for the jurisdiction.

(1) In applying this Factor, HUD will consider current levels of distress defined in standard geographic terms in the target area, as defined by the applicant. This may be Census Tract(s) or Block Groups immediately surrounding the project site up to a radius of one-half mile; or it may be the target area proposed to be served by the project. HUD will also consider the current levels of distress in the applicant public entity's jurisdiction. The applicant should describe the nature of the distress that the project is designed to address and the rationale for its definition of the area to be benefited. Examples of project beneficiaries may include: (a) those receiving or using products or services produced by the project, and (b) those employed by the project.

To the extent that the applicant's Consolidated Plan, its Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing choice (AI), and/or its Anti-Poverty Strategy found therein identify the level of distress in the jurisdiction and the neighborhood in which the project is to be carried out, references to such documents should be included in preparing the response to this Factor. Applications that fail to reference these sources will receive fewer points under this Factor.

Notwithstanding the above, an applicant proposing a project to be located outside the area for which benefit is claimed could still receive points under this Factor if a clear rationale is provided linking the proposed project location and the benefits to be derived by persons living in the target area.

(2) Applicants should provide data that address the following specific indicators of distress:

(a) Poverty Rate (Up to 5 points). Data should be provided in both absolute and percentage form (i.e., whole numbers and percents) for both the target area and the applicant's jurisdiction as a whole; an application that compares the local poverty rate in the following manner to the national average at the time of submission will receive points under this section as follows:

(i) Less than the national average, but with a poverty rate in the target area that is greater than the applicant's jurisdiction: 2 points;

(ii) Equal to or greater than, but less than twice, the national average: 3 points;

(iii) Equal to or greater than twice the national average: 5 points.

(b) Unemployment Rate (Up to 5 points). An application that compares the local unemployment rate for the applicant's jurisdiction and the target area in the following manner to the national average at the time of submission will receive points under this Section as follows:

(i) Less than the national average, but with an unemployment rate in the target area that is greater than the applicant's jurisdiction: 2 points;

(ii) Equal to or greater than, but less than twice, the national average: 3 points;

(iii) Equal to or greater than twice the national average: 5 points.

(c) Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (Up to 5 points). Describe any unmet needs as identified in the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan and, pursuant to Section IV(I) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, any impediments to fair housing identified in the jurisdiction's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice that will be directly addressed by the proposed project.

(d) Other Indicators of Social and/or Economic Decline (Up to 5 points). Applicants should provide other indicators of social or economic decline that best capture the applicant's local situation. Examples that could be provided under this section include information demonstrating the target area and the jurisdiction's stagnant or falling tax base, including recent (within the last three years) commercial or industrial closings, downturns or layoffs; housing conditions, such as the number and percentage of substandard and/or overcrowded units; rent burden (defined as average housing cost divided by average income) for both the target area and jurisdiction; local crime statistics. The response to this subfactor (d) should paint a portrait of the extent of need and distress in the target area and jurisdiction.

HUD requires use of sound and reliable data (e.g., U.S. Census data, state statistical reports, university studies/reports that are verifiable) to support distress levels cited in each application. A source for all information along with the publication or origination date must also be provided. Updated Census data are available as follows for the listed indicators:

Unemployment rate—estimated monthly for counties, with a two-month lag;

Poverty rate—estimated every two years, with a three-year lag, with 2000 being the most recent available.

In rating applications under this Factor, HUD reserves the right to consider sources of available objective data other than, or in addition to, those provided by applicants, in order to compare such data to those provided by applicants.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (35 Points Maximum)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of the proposed plan for the brownfields economic development project. Brownfields economic development projects that do not involve new investments by an identified private sector party and that do not result in near-term, measurable economic benefits, such as projects that involve only the preparation of a site for potential redevelopment by an unidentified party, or the capitalization of a loan pool for loans to unidentified borrowers, will receive fewer points under this Factor. The relationship between the proposed eligible activities, community needs and purposes of the program funding must be clearly described, as set forth below, in order to receive points for this Factor. In rating this Factor, HUD will consider the following:

(1) Consistency/Appropriateness of Proposed Activities with Identified Needs (Up to 8 points). The applicant should address the extent to which the proposed plan for use of BEDI grant/Section 108-guaranteed loan funds will address the needs described in Rating Factor 2 above, regarding the distress and extent of the problem in the target area or area to be benefited and the long-term benefit for current residents of the target area. The applicant should provide a clear and quantified explanation of this relationship. As part of the response to this Factor, an applicant should also fully describe:

(a) How the project will achieve one of the National Objectives under the Community Development Block Grant program (see 24 CFR 570.208) and the eligible activities that will be carried out under 24 CFR 570.703, including citations to the specific regulatory subsections supporting eligibility of activities and compliance with National Objectives; and

(b) How the project will address the following policy priorities:

(i) For all BEDI projects, the extent to which the proposed project will improve the quality of life in the nation's communities, by bringing private capital to distressed communities; and

(ii) For BEDI projects that include the construction or rehabilitation of housing:

(A) The extent to which the project will increase affordable housing and homeownership opportunities for low- and moderate income persons, the disabled, the elderly, minorities and families where English may be the second language, whether through the provision of housing or employment which will enable residents to access affordable housing and have a choice of such housing in environmentally healthy and revitalized neighborhoods; and

(B) The extent to which the project will encourage accessible design features for persons with disabilities.

(2) Feasibility and Demonstrable Benefits (Up to 15 points). In responding to this subfactor (2), the applicant should demonstrate the extent to which the redevelopment plan for the brownfields site is logical, feasible and likely to achieve its stated purpose. Applicants are reminded that HUD's intention is to fund brownfields economic development projects and activities that will quickly produce measurable economic benefits and advance the purposes of the BEDI program. The applicant's response should demonstrate the extent to which the project is "ready to go," meaning that the project is likely to be completed within three to five years from the date of the BEDI award and will produce near-term, measurable economic benefits. Points for this subfactor will be awarded in two parts, for the following:

(a) Implementation Steps (Up to 8 points). The applicant's response should discuss the extent to which the redevelopment plan demonstrates a clear understanding of each of the steps required to implement the brownfields economic development project, including the actions that all parties responsible for implementing the project must complete. The applicant's response to this subfactor should address:

(i) Environmental Investigation. This subfactor (i) will consider the extent to which the redevelopment plan takes into account environmental issues typical of many brownfields remediation efforts. Proposed projects on sites where the nature and degree of environmental contamination is not well-quantified, where no environmental investigation has commenced, or that are the subject of on-going litigation or environmental enforcement actions will receive fewer points under this subfactor (i). Similarly, fewer points will be awarded to proposed projects at sites with exceptionally expensive contamination problems that may be beyond the scope of the BEDI and Section 108 programs' financial resources or other resources firmly committed to the project as described in the application, and sites subject to pending and current litigation that may not be available for remediation and development or redevelopment in a time-frame that will produce near-term and measurable economic benefits through the use of BEDI and Section 108 funds.

(ii) Site Control. This subfactor (ii) will consider the extent to which control of the proposed project site has been secured or is being sought.

(iii) Regulatory and Other Approvals. This subfactor (iii) will consider the extent to which any required zoning classifications, environmental regulatory approvals, waivers, general and special use permits, assessment district designations, public easements or rights-of-way have been secured or are being sought.

(iv) User Agreements. This subfactor (iv) will consider the extent to which any development agreements, leases, memoranda of understanding or other agreements integral to the success of the project have been secured or are being sought.

(b) Timing and Delivery of Project Benefits (Up to 7 points). The applicant's response should set forth the strategy and schedule for the delivery of the project's measurable economic benefits.

(i) Project Benefits. The response to this subfactor (i) should include a full description of the problem (e.g., the extent of environmental contamination, the need for jobs, the shortage of affordable housing, etc.) and the measurable economic benefits that will accrue from the project (e.g. the number of permanent jobs, the amount of commercial or industrial space to be created, the number of housing units to be provided, etc.). The response to this subfactor (i) must also include the time frame in which the measurable economic benefits are to be delivered. For multi-phase projects, the response to this Factor must clearly delineate the different phases of the project and indicate whether or not they are to be funded by BEDI/Section 108 funds. Brownfields economic development projects that provide near-term, measurable economic benefits directly through the creation or retention of jobs will receive a greater number of points under this subfactor (i). BEDI projects that utilize innovative construction techniques, technologies or other strategies in order to achieve increased energy efficiency will also receive a greater number of points under this subfactor (i).

(ii) Project Schedule. The applicant should provide a specific time schedule (with both beginning and end dates) for carrying out the project and identify interim measurable benchmarks (acquisition, site improvements, construction, etc.) to be accomplished. The applicant should also include a proposed schedule for drawing down all funds necessary to complete the project, including BEDI and Section 108 funds.

A timeline form is provided in Appendix A to this program section of the NOFA for the purpose of illustrating the project schedule, but HUD will consider the timeline form only as an illustration of the narrative response to this subfactor (ii).

(3) Section 108 Application (Up to 2 points). BEDI applications accompanied by a full and complete Section 108 application will receive up to two (2) points for this subfactor (3). BEDI applications accompanied by a copy of a currently pending but unapproved Section 108 loan guarantee application for the same project described in the BEDI application will also receive up to two (2) points under this subfactor (3).

(4) Financial Feasibility/Need (Up to 10 points). The applicant should demonstrate the extent to which the project is financially feasible based on its proposed use of BEDI and Section 108 funds. In responding to this subfactor (4), applicants are encouraged to accompany their narrative response, as appropriate, with a development and operating pro forma or similar analysis of the proposed project financing. Such pro forma or other financial analysis will not be counted in the fifteen page limitation on the narrative response to the Rating Factors as provided in Section V (D) of this program section. In the narrative response, applicants must clearly address the question of why the BEDI funds are critical to the success of this project by providing the following items, as applicable:

(a) Project Costs and Financial Requirements. A funding sources and uses statement should be provided that specifies the source of funds for each identified use or activity, along with the derivation of project costs;

(b) Use of BEDI and Section 108 Funds. The applicant should discuss the critical gaps that exist in the financing of the proposed project, why those gaps exist and how the BEDI and Section 108 funds will be used to fill those gaps; and

(c) Funding Criteria. The applicant should describe the criteria used for determining funding need and feasibility.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (15 Points Maximum)

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the response demonstrates the likelihood that the project will leverage both Section 108 loan and other public or private funds as part of the total project resources. This factor has two subfactors, each with its own maximum point total:

(1) Leverage of Section 108 funds (Up to 8 points).

The minimum ratio of Section 108 funds to BEDI funds in any project may not be less than 1:1. Points will be awarded based upon the extent to which the proposed project leverages an amount of Section 108 funds greater than a 1:1 ratio. If the application has a ratio of 1:1, it will not receive any points under this subfactor. The higher the ratio of additional new Section 108 funds to BEDI funds proposed in an application, the more points it will receive under this subfactor, within the points available hereunder. (See Section IV (G)(1) and (5) of this program section of the SuperNOFA regarding the conditioning of BEDI awards on achievement of a specific BEDI/Section 108 leveraging ratio.)

(2) Leverage of Other Financial Resources (Up to 7 points).

HUD will evaluate the extent to which other funds (public or private) are leveraged by BEDI grant funds, and the extent to which such other funds are firmly committed to the project. This could include the use of CDBG funds, other federal or state grants or loans, local general funds, project equity or commercial financing provided by private sources or funds from non-profits or other sources. Funds will be considered committed to the project if they meet the definition of "Firm Commitment" found in Section III(A)(1) above, and may be subject to completion of any environmental review required under 24 CFR part 58 for the project. In order for an applicant's commitment of CDBG funds to be accepted by HUD as additional financing for a project, a resolution from the local governing body (e.g., city/borough council) authorizing the amount and permitted use(s) of the funds must be provided. Additionally, with respect to all commitments, in order for a commitment to receive points under this Factor—such as a commitment to donate or purchase real property or to provide in-kind services—the party making the commitment must assign a monetary value to the commitment and provide the basis for that value.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points Maximum)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants maintain commitments made in their application and assess their performance to ensure that performance goals are met. The applicant's response to this Factor should identify: (1) Project outcomes for the proposed BEDI project; (2) interim benchmarks of the project; and (3) performance indicators that will allow the applicant to measure its performance in achieving the identified interim benchmarks and the project outcomes. Achieving results means that the applicant has clearly identified the outcomes of the brownfields economic development project, i.e., the measurable economic benefits to be achieved. The applicant must also identify the interim benchmarks that will lead to the achievement of the project outcomes. The performance indicators selected by the applicant to measure performance should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. The response to this Factor should identify what will be measured, how it will be measured, and the procedures that are in place to make adjustments if performance targets for the interim benchmarks or the project outcomes are not met within established timeframes. BEDI grant agreements will provide for a periodic report by the grantee on the progress of the grantee in achieving the interim benchmarks and project outcomes of the BEDI project, until such time as the project outcomes are achieved.

In response to this Factor, applicants are encouraged to address any of the following applicable outcomes or ultimate goals identified by HUD for BEDI projects: The number of jobs to be created or retained; the amount of increased wages resulting from the creation or retention of jobs; the number of housing units to be constructed or rehabilitated; the total square feet of commercial and industrial space to be created; the total number of low- and moderate-income persons to benefit from the project; the total number of businesses assisted by the project; the number of acres of brownfields returned to productive economic use; and any increased land value as a result of the BEDI project. Applicants may also propose alternative or additional outcomes or goals related to other benefits expected for the neighborhood or for persons assisted, as part of the evaluation plan. A logic model is provided in the General Section of the SuperNOFA for the purpose of illustrating the evaluation plan, but HUD will consider the logic model only as an illustration of the narrative response to this Factor.

Bonus Points

An application may receive up to four (4) bonus points, until the maximum of four points are achieved. Two bonus points may be awarded for each of the following:

(a) Projects that are located either in federally-designated Empowerment Zones, Enterprise or Renewal Communities, or Strategic Planning Communities (See Section VI (C)(2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA) for advice on locating a list of designated communities);

(b) Projects that are located in Brownfields Showcase Communities designated by EPA. A list of the federally designated Brownfield Showcase Communities is listed in Appendix B of this program section of the SuperNOFA and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center or through the HUD Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) BEDI Funding. An application for a BEDI grant under this program section of the SuperNOFA must have the following items listed in this Section VI to be complete. The standard forms, certifications and assurances that are required for the BEDI application (and listed in paragraph (I) below) can be found in Appendix B to the General Section. The remaining application items that are forms (i.e., excluding such items as narratives or letters, etc.), referred to as the “non-standard forms”, can be found in Appendix A to this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Transmittal Letter signed by the authorized representative of the eligible applicant indicating that it is submitting the application for funding under the Brownfields Economic Development Initiative Program and is requesting funding consideration for a BEDI project.

(C) Checklist and Submission Table of Contents indicating the page numbers where the submission items can be found in the application (form HUD-40076-A EDI/BEDI).

(D) BEDI Narrative Statement (not to exceed 3 pages) describing BEDI-funded eligible activities within the proposed project and indicating that funding will not be used for a prohibited purpose and that the proposed site for the project is not ineligible under the BEDI program. (See Section V (B) of this program section.)

(E) EDI/BEDI/Section 108 Funding Eligibility Statement. A completed EDI/BEDI Section 108 Funding Eligibility Statement (form HUD-40076-E EDI/BEDI).

(F) Request for Loan Guarantee Assistance. A request for loan guarantee assistance under Section 108, as further described in Section IV (D) of this program section of the SuperNOFA. Full application guidelines for the Section 108 program are found at 24 CFR 570.704.

(G) Narrative Responses to Factors for Award (not to exceed 15 pages overall):

(1) Rating Factor 1: Capacity and Relevant Organizational Experience. Provide a narrative indicating the capacity of the applicant's organization and staff and any third parties to perform the work for which it is requesting funding.

(2) Rating Factor 2: Need Statement Identifying the level of Distress/Extent of the Problem. Provide a narrative statement including any documentation supporting the statement of need, accompanied by a completed form HUD-40076-B EDI/BEDI.

(3) Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach. Include the activities, budget and time frame for conducting activities and providing project benefits in the narrative response, accompanied by form HUD 40076-C EDI/BEDI.

(4) Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources. The response must include a completed copy of form HUD-40076-D EDI/BEDI, “Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources—Sources and Uses Statement,” accompanied by any letters of firm commitment as defined in Section III (A)(1) of this program section.

(5) Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation: Provide a narrative response to this factor, accompanied by the logic model provided in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(H) Request for Funds. A single application must contain a request for funds for a single BEDI/108 project. An applicant may submit an additional application for each additional unrelated BEDI/108 project, but in no event will HUD rate and rank more than one BEDI project per application.

(I) Additional Application Forms and Certifications. In addition to any forms that have been submitted in response to Section VI (A) through (H) above (which may be found at Appendix A), the following forms and certifications must also be submitted in accordance with Section V (H) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA:

(1) Application for Federal Assistance (HUD-424);

(2) Federal Assistance Funding Matrix (HUD 424-M);

(3) Standard Form for Assurances—Non-Construction Programs (HUD 424-B) and/or Standard Form for Assurances—Construction Programs (SF 424-D); not required for BEDI applications since the “Leveraging Resources—Sources and Uses Statement” serves the same purpose as a budget form, but must be submitted with the Section 108 application. Since these forms contain assurances of compliance with civil rights and other regulatory requirements, BEDI applicants may elect to provide the signed assurances either with the BEDI or the Section 108 application, if the latter is submitted with the BEDI application.

(4) Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report, HUD-2880;

(5) Certification of Consistency With EZ/EC Strategic Plan, HUD-2990.

These forms are found in the Appendix B to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

The non-standard forms for the BEDI applications are in Appendix A to this program section.

If an applicant wishes to receive an acknowledgment of HUD's receipt of its application, it should submit a completed Acknowledgment of Receipt of Application form.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

(A) Environmental Reviews. After the completion of this competition and after HUD's award of BEDI grant funds, pursuant to 24 CFR 570.604, each project or activity assisted under this program is subject to the provisions of 24 CFR part 58, including limitations on the BEDI grantee and Section 108 public entity's commitment of HUD and non-HUD funds prior to the completion of environmental review, notification and release of funds. No such assistance will be released by HUD until a request for release of funds is submitted and the requirements of 24 CFR part 58 have been met. All public entities, including non-entitlement public entities, shall submit the request for release of funds and related certification, required pursuant to 24 CFR part 58, to the appropriate HUD field office for each project to be assisted.

(B) Environmental Justice. (1) Executive Order 12898 (Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations) directs federal agencies to develop strategies to address environmental justice. Environmental justice seeks to rectify the disproportionately high burden of environmental pollution that is often borne by low-income, minority, and other disadvantaged communities, and to ensure community involvement in policies and programs addressing this issue.

(2) Brownfields are often located in distressed neighborhoods, contribute to neighborhood blight, and lower the quality of social, economic, and environmental health of communities. The BEDI program is intended to promote the clean up and redevelopment of brownfields sites and HUD expects that projects presented for BEDI funding will integrate environmental justice concerns and provide measurable economic benefits for affected communities and their current residents for the long term.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. SHOP funding is intended to facilitate and encourage innovative homeownership opportunities on a national geographically-diverse basis through self-help housing where the homebuyer contributes a significant amount of sweat-equity toward the construction or rehabilitation of the dwelling.

Decent, safe, and sanitary non-luxury dwellings developed under SHOP must be made available to eligible homebuyers at prices below the prevailing market prices. Eligible homebuyers are low-income individuals and families (i.e., those whose annual incomes do not exceed 80 percent of the median income for the area, as established by HUD) who are unable to purchase a dwelling. Housing assisted under this Notice must involve community participation in the form of labor contributed by homebuyers and, if the program permits them, volunteers in the construction of dwellings and by other activities that involve the community in the project.

(B) Eligible Applicants. You must be a national or regional nonprofit public or private organization or consortium that has the capacity and experience to provide or facilitate self-help housing homeownership opportunities. Your organization or consortium must undertake eligible SHOP activities directly and/or provide assistance to your local affiliates. Your organization or consortium must undertake eligible SHOP activities directly and/or provide assistance to your local affiliates.

"Regional" is defined for the purpose of this program to be an area such as the Southwest or Northeast that must include at least two states. The states in the region need not be contiguous and the operational boundaries of the organization need not precisely conform to state boundaries.

"Consortium" for the purposes of SHOP is defined as two or more nonprofit organizations that individually have the capacity and experience to provide or facilitate self-help housing and come together to submit a single application for SHOP funding on a national or regional basis. If you are a consortium, an agreement must be executed by all consortium members forming the consortium for the purpose of applying for and using FY 2003 SHOP funds before the application is submitted to HUD. The consortium agreement must be submitted as part of your application. All consortium members must be identified in your application. Your application must be submitted as one integrated document that demonstrates the consortium's comprehensive approach to self-help housing. However, the application must describe the program design of each consortium member if they are different from one another. One organization must be chosen as the lead entity. The lead entity must submit the application and, if selected for funding, will execute the grant agreement with HUD and assume responsibility for carrying out grant activities in compliance with all program requirements. If funded, the lead entity must enter into a separate agreement with each consortium member that incorporates the requirements of the Grant Agreement between HUD and the consortium and outlines the individual consortium member's responsibilities for compliance with SHOP.

"Affiliate" is defined for the purpose of this program to be:

(i) A local self-help housing organization which is a subordinate organization (i.e., chapter, local, post, or unit) of a central organization and which is covered by the group exemption letter issued to the central organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code;

(ii) A local self-help housing organization with which the applicant has an existing relationship, e.g., the applicant has provided technical assistance or funding to the local self-help housing organization; or

(iii) A local self-help housing organization with which the applicant does not have an existing relationship, but to which the applicant will provide necessary technical assistance and mentoring as part of funding under the application.

Your application may not propose to fund any affiliate or consortium member that is also included in another SHOP application. You must ensure that any affiliate or consortium member under your FY 2003 application is not also seeking funding from another SHOP applicant for FY 2003 funds. If they apply under more than one national or regional organization or consortium, they may be disqualified for any funding.

(C) Eligible Activities. The only eligible activities are:

(1) Land acquisition (including financing and closing costs), which may include reimbursing an organization, consortium, or affiliate, upon approval of any required environmental review, for non-grant amounts of the organization, consortium, or affiliate advanced to acquire land before completion of the review;

(2) Infrastructure improvements (installing, extending, constructing, rehabilitating, or otherwise improving utilities and other infrastructure, including removal of environmental hazards); and

(3) Administration, planning and management development shall not exceed 20 percent of any SHOP grant. Administrative costs are the costs of general management, oversight and coordination of the SHOP grant; staff and overhead costs of the SHOP grant; costs of providing information to the public about the SHOP grant; cost of affirmatively furthering fair housing; and indirect costs (such as rent and utilities) of the grantee or affiliate in carrying out the SHOP activities. Indirect costs may only be charged to the SHOP grant under a cost allocation plan prepared in accordance with OMB Circular A-122. Funds may be used for both single-family and multifamily dwellings.

(D) Ineligible Costs: Costs associated with the rehabilitation, improvement, or construction of dwellings are not eligible uses of program funds.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, each applicant must meet and comply with the following SHOP statutory, threshold, and other program requirements:

(A) Threshold Requirements

(1) You, the applicant, must be eligible to apply under SHOP (see Section III(B) of this program section of the SuperNOFA).

(2) The amount of funding you request must support no less than 30 self-help units and may not exceed an average investment of $10,000 per unit in SHOP funding.

(3) The population you plan to serve must be eligible under SHOP. Eligible homebuyers are low-income individuals and families (i.e., those whose incomes do not exceed 80 percent of the median income for the area, as established by HUD).

(4) You must demonstrate that you have successfully completed at least 30 self-help homeownership units within a national or regional area in which the homebuyers contributed a significant amount of sweat-equity, and, if your program permitted it, volunteer labor was used toward the construction of the dwellings within the 24-month period immediately preceding the publication of this SuperNOFA.

(5) Your program must require homebuyers to contribute a minimum of 200 hours of sweat equity on the construction of their own homes. This excludes the contribution of volunteer labor, except for assistance for homebuyers with disabilities.

Submission Threshold Requirements

(1) Evidence of your public or private non-profit status, such as a copy of a current Internal Revenue Service ruling that your organization is exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. Where an IRS ruling is unavailable, you may submit a certified copy of your approved charter, articles of incorporation or bylaws demonstrating that you are established as a nonprofit organization under state law. If you are a consortium, each participant in your consortium must be a nonprofit organization. Each consortium member must submit evidence of its nonprofit status to the lead entity for inclusion in the consortium's application package.

Threshold requirements (2) through (5) require no separate submissions. In order for the application to be rated and ranked, these requirements must be addressed under the submission requirements for the rating factors listed in Section V(D) of this program section of this SHOP NOFA below.

(B) Statutory and Program Requirements. This program does not have regulations. You must comply with all statutory requirements applicable to the SHOP program as cited in Section X, Authority, of this SHOP program section and program requirements cited in this program section of the SuperNOFA. Pursuant to these requirements, you must:

(1) Develop, through significant amounts of sweat-equity by each homebuyer and any additional volunteer labor, at least 30 dwelling units at an average cost of no more than $10,000 per unit in SHOP funds for land acquisition and infrastructure improvements;

(2) Use your grant to leverage other sources of funding, including private or other public funds, to complete construction of the housing units;

(3) Develop quality dwellings that comply with local building and safety codes and standards, that will be made available to homebuyers at prices below the prevailing market price;

(4) Schedule activities to expend all grant funds awarded and substantially fulfill your obligations under your grant agreement, including timely development of the appropriate number of dwelling units. Grant funds must be expended within 24 months of the date that grant funds are first made available for drawdown under a line of credit established by HUD for the Grantee, except that grant funds provided to affiliates that develop five or more units must be expended within 36 months; and

(5) Not require a homebuyer to make an up-front financial contribution to a unit other than cash contributed for down payment or closing costs at the time of acquisition.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating. HUD will review all applications in accordance with the Application Selection Process in Section VI of the General Section of this SuperNOFA and in this SHOP program section of the SuperNOFA. HUD will review all applications based on the threshold factors listed in Section IV of this program section. Applications that meet all threshold requirements will be rated according to the selection factors in this program section of the SuperNOFA. Applications that do not meet all threshold factors will be rejected and not rated.

(B) Ranking and Selection Procedures. Applications that receive a total rating of 75 points or more (without the addition of Empowerment Zones/Enterprise Communities/Urban Enhanced Enterprise Communities/Strategic Planning Communities, or Renewal Communities [RC/EZ/ECs] bonus points) will be eligible for selection, and HUD will place them in rank order. After adding any bonus points for RC/EZ/ECs, HUD will consider rank order, funds availability, and past performance in the selection and funding of applications. HUD reserves the right to:

(1) Fund less than the amount requested by any applicant based on the applicant's rank, the applicant's past performance, and the amount of funds requested relative to the total amount of available funds; and

(2) Fund less than the full amount requested by any applicant to ensure a fair distribution of the funds and the development of housing on a national, geographically-diverse basis as required by the statute; and/or

(3) Not award funds to an applicant with significant performance problems.

HUD will not fund any portion of an application that is ineligible for funding under program statutory requirements, or which does not meet the requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA or the requirements in this SHOP section of the SuperNOFA. The minimum grant award shall be the amount necessary to complete at least 30 units at an average investment of not more than $10,000 per unit or a lesser amount if lower costs are reflected in the application. If any funds remain after all selections have been made, these funds may be available for other competitions.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. In accordance with the requirements of Section XI(A)(4) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants requesting to be debriefed must send a written request to Ms. Lou Thompson, Office of Affordable Housing Programs, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Room 7164, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20410.

(D) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate Applications. HUD will rate all SHOP applications that successfully complete technical processing using the Rating Factors and the Application Submission Requirements described below. The maximum number of points for this program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in Section III(C)(1) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. In evaluating applications for funding, HUD will take into account an applicant's past performance in managing funds, including accounting for funds appropriately, the timely use of funds received from HUD, meeting performance targets for completion of activities, and the number of persons served.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (20 Points)

This factor examines the extent to which you, as a single applicant or as a consortium (including individual consortium members), have the experience and organizational resources necessary to carry out the proposed activities in a timely manner.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider your recent and relevant experience in carrying out the activities you propose, and your administrative and fiscal management capability to administer the grant, including the ability to account for funds appropriately. All applicants, including individual consortium members, must have capacity and experience in administering or facilitating self-help housing. If you are sponsoring affiliate organizations that do not have a history of developing self-help housing, HUD will assess your organization's experience in providing technical assistance and the ability to mentor new affiliates. HUD will assess your organization's past performance based upon performance reports submitted for completion of eligible activities and the number of households/families provided housing, financial status information focusing on expediency of draws and use of funds, monitoring reports, audit reports and other information available to HUD in making its determination under this factor. If you are not a current recipient of HUD funds, you should submit any existing internal or external performance reports or other information that will assist HUD in making this determination.

Submission Requirements for Rating Factor 1

(1) (7 points) You must describe your past experience in carrying out self-help housing activities (specify the time frame when these activities occurred) that are the same as, or similar to, the activities you propose for funding, and demonstrate reasonable success in carrying out and completing those activities. You must include the average number of sweat equity hours provided per family, and volunteer labor, if your program permitted it. You may demonstrate reasonable success by showing that your previous activities were carried out as proposed consistent with the time frame you proposed for completion of all work. You must show that established benchmarks for acquiring properties and completing housing construction were met and performance reports were submitted, as required. You must also describe any obstacles and/or delays that were encountered, and the actions taken to overcome them to successfully complete your program.

(2) (7 points) You must provide a description of your organization's or consortium's management structure. You must also describe the key staff and their roles and responsibilities for day-to-day management of your proposed SHOP program and activities within the organization or consortium if funds are awarded. If you elect to work with affiliates that do not have capacity and experience, you must state how you will provide technical assistance and mentor these organizations to develop capacity either directly or indirectly.

(3) (4 points) You must demonstrate your organization's ability to handle financial resources with adequate financial control and accounting procedures. You must describe your financial control procedures for SHOP and how they meet 24 CFR 84.21, "Standards for Financial Management Systems." You are requested to submit a copy of your most recent audit if one is required to be performed for your organization. Only an audit of the lead entity would need to be provided with an application for a consortium.

(4) (2 points) You must demonstrate your experience and ability in constructing and altering homes by describing the kinds of features that you have used to design homes in accordance with universal design or otherwise make homes accessible to the elderly or persons with disabilities. You must provide data on the number of units and the timeframe in which units were constructed and/or altered.

This factor examines the extent to which you identify the housing need, or problems in the areas that your proposed activities will target, and the urgency of meeting that need.

The purpose of this factor is to make sure that funding is provided where a need for funding exists. Under this factor, you must identify the need or needs in the community that your proposed SHOP activities are designed to address or, if you plan to select specific affiliates only after you receive SHOP funding, you must demonstrate how you plan to identify need prior to your selection of affiliates.

Extent of Need

(1) (7 points) Identify the extent of need for SHOP funds in all communities or areas in which your proposed activities will be carried out or describe the specific criteria you will use to select communities or projects based on need after you have received an award under SHOP. National and regional organizations and consortia that select affiliates after grant award must submit a listing of affiliates surveyed on which they are projecting their need for SHOP funding.

Quality of Documentation

(2) The kind of information you submit to demonstrate the need or needs in the target areas may include, but is not limited to, the following:

(a) (6 points) Quality of data demonstrating:

(i) Housing market data such as information included in the local Five-Year Consolidated Plan or other data sources, such as local tax assessor databases or relevant realtor information.

(ii) Data dealing with such factors as housing density, housing affordability, housing age or deterioration, homeownership rate (especially minority) and lack of adequate infrastructure or utilities.

(b) (2 points) Quality of data demonstrating:

(i) Need for accessible homes in the area.

(ii) Evidence of housing discrimination.

(iii) Evidence from the local Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice that shows the need for this program.

Applicants will receive higher scores both for the level of need documented and for the quality of documentation.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 points)

This factor examines the quality of your plan of proposed activities. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider:

(1) Your specific use of SHOP funds, the number of units and the type(s) of housing to be constructed, the use of sweat equity/volunteer labor; your established timeline for performance; your schedule for expending funds and completing construction; the proposed budget and cost effectiveness of your program; and your plans to reach all potentially-eligible homebuyers, including those with disabilities or least likely to apply.

(2) How your planned activities further the Department's FY 2003 policy priorities noted in Section II of the General Section. You will receive one rating point for each priority your program will address and associated with performance measures. For FY 2003, HUD's policy priorities that apply to the SHOP program are:

(a) Providing increased homeownership and rental opportunities for low- and moderate-income persons, persons with disabilities, the elderly, minorities, and families with limited English proficiency.

(b) Improving our Nation's communities.

(c) Encouraging accessible design features: visitability in new construction and substantial rehabilitation and universal design.

(d) Providing full and equal access to grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations in HUD program implementation.

(e) Improving housing conditions for families living in the Colonias and migrant farm workers.

(f) Participation of minority serving institutions in HUD programs.

(g) Participation in Energy Star.

Submission Requirements for Factor 3

(1) (3 points) Identify all activities that you propose to fund with SHOP. You should identify the specific use of SHOP funds and the proposed number of units to be assisted with SHOP funding, the housing type(s) (single family or multifamily, or both) and the form of ownership (fee simple, condominium, cooperative, etc.) you propose to use.

(2) (4 points) Submit a construction and completion schedule that expends SHOP funds and substantially fulfills your obligations, including the completion of the appropriate number of dwelling units, within 24 months, or in the case of affiliates that develop five or more units, within 36 months, and demonstrates that remaining housing construction will be completed within a reasonable period of time. Your schedule must show the number or percentage of dwelling units that will be completed and conveyed to homebuyers at the end of the 24- and 36-month periods and the timeframe for completing any unfinished units.

(3) (4 points) Submit a timetable listing milestones against which HUD is to measure your performance progress in final selection of local affiliates if they are not specifically identified in the application, expending funds, and completing acquisition, infrastructure and housing construction activities within the schedule in Item 2 above. These milestones should be at reasonable intervals (e.g., monthly, quarterly).

(4) (2 points) Describe how your proposed activities address the need or needs you identified under Rating Factor 2 above.

(5) (5 points) Provide a detailed budget with a break out for each proposed task and each budget category (acquisition, infrastructure improvements, and administration) funded by SHOP in the HUD-424C and 424CB. If SHOP funds will be used for administration of your grant, you must include the cost of monitoring consortium members and affiliates at least once during the grant period. Your budget must also include leveraged funding to cover all costs of completing construction of the proposed number of units.

(6) (2 points) Demonstrate that projected costs for the proposed activities do not deviate substantially from the norm in the locale in which your activities will take place, will not exceed an average cost of $10,000 per unit in SHOP funds, and that your proposed activities are cost effective.

(7) (7 points) Describe how each of the Department's policy priorities are furthered by your proposed activities. You will receive one point for each policy priority addressed. To receive a point for a policy priority, you must describe how your proposed work activities address the specific policy and list proposed performance measurements related to it.

(8) (2 points) Describe how you will reach potential homebuyers through the use of services and materials that are accessible or visitable to all persons, including persons with disabilities (e.g., languages, formats, locations, distribution, and use of minority media to attract those least likely to apply).

(9) (4 points) Describe your criteria, including the income range of targeted homebuyers, and procedures for selecting homebuyers. If the selection criteria used by individual consortium members or affiliates are different from your criteria, you must describe the differences.

(10) (2 points) Describe how your program will provide reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities by providing "sweat equity" assignments that can be performed by the client regardless of disability. Describe the types of tasks that persons with disabilities will be required to perform.

(11) (5 points) Describe your proposed plan for overseeing the performance of consortium members and affiliates, including a plan for monitoring each consortium member and affiliate for program compliance at least once during the term of the grant. Your plan should address when and how you will shift funds among consortium members and affiliates to ensure effective use of SHOP funds within your schedule identified in Item 3 above.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (15 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other resources that can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve the purposes of SHOP. HUD will consider only those leveraging contributions for which current firm commitments have been provided. Leveraged resources can be counted only if you have secured a firm financial commitment described in this Factor. A firm commitment means the agreement by which the contributing partner or entity agrees to perform or provide resources for an activity specified in your application that demonstrates your financial capacity to deliver the resources necessary to carry out the self-help housing activity. Firm commitments of resources may be in the form of cash funding, in-kind contributions, or personnel from federal, state, local, and private sources, which are jointly referred to as your leverage partners. Together with the SHOP grant funds, these commitments must be sufficient to develop the proposed number of units in your application, which must be 30 units or more. Firm commitments must be substantiated by documentation required in item 1 below. Along with leveraged resources, HUD will also consider the extent that the applicant's proposed sweat-equity requirements will serve to reduce costs to the homebuyers.

(1) (10 points) Provide firm written commitments (letters, agreements, etc.) from the source of the commitment that will be used to complete the number of self-help housing units stated in your application. Written commitments must include your organization's name, the contributing organization's name (including designation as a federal, state, local or private source), and the proposed type and level of commitment and responsibilities as they relate to your proposed program. This leveraging commitment must be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make the commitment on behalf of the organization and must be specifically targeted to support your FY 2003 SHOP application. If your organization depends upon fund raising and donations from unknown sources/providers and you signed the HUD 424, in order to receive credit you must still submit a separate letter committing a specific amount of dollars in fund raising to your proposed FY 2003 SHOP program. Written commitments may be contingent upon your receiving a grant award. Written commitments must be included as an appendix and do not count against the page limitation. Letters expressing support do not count as leveraging. To receive full credit for leveraging, an applicant's firm commitments must be clearly identified for this FY 2003 SHOP grant and must equal the amount needed to complete all properties, exclusive of the proposed SHOP grant amount.

(2) (5 points) Provide a description of the individual sweat-equity requirements (types of tasks and number of hours required of homebuyers) of your program. Include the dollar value of the sweat equity contribution and how this contribution of labor will reduce the costs of the home to the homebuyer. Reasonable accommodation must be allowed for persons with disabilities to participate in your program. Applicants showing a higher reduction in cost as a result of the sweat equity contribution by the homebuyer will receive a higher score.

Rating Factor 5. Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and assess their performance to realize performance goals. HUD requires SHOP applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met using the Logic Model form provided in the General Section. "Out-comes" are benefits accruing to the families and/or communities during or after participation in the SHOP program. Outcomes are not the actual development of the self-help housing units. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be achieved and measured. Examples of outcomes are increasing the homeownership rate in a neighborhood or among low-income families by a certain percentage, increasing financial stability (e.g. increasing assets of the low-income homebuyer households through additional savings, home equity) or increasing housing stability (e.g., whether persons and families assisted remain in the home one, two, or five or more years after completion).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs for their proposed programs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the applicant's program activities. Examples of outputs are the number of the houses constructed, number of sweat equity hours, or number of homes rehabilitated. Outputs should produce outcomes for your program.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, outputs, benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your evaluation plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability.

Submission Requirements for Factor 5

You must submit a program evaluation plan that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your plan must identify the outcomes you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant and benchmarks and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements. You must indicate how your plan will measure the performance of individual consortium members and affiliates, including the standards and measurement methods, and the steps you have in place or how you plan to make adjustments if you begin to fall short of established benchmarks and timeframes.

VI. Application Requirements, Assembly Format, and Checklist for Application Submission

Your application consists of the items listed in this Section VI. The standard forms, certifications, and assurances that are applicable to this funding (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms") can be found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Assembly Format. You should assemble your application as outlined below, with tabs designating forms, rating factors, and appendices. Your FY 2003 application has page limitations on your responses to the five rating factors. If you are a national or regional organization, you are limited to 60 pages of narrative responding to the five rating factors. This limitation does not include other required information, such as your audit and commitment letters, which must be included in the appendix. If you are a consortium, you are permitted up to 10 additional pages total to address the capacity and soundness of approach of your individual consortium members if they are different. Make certain that you number all pages sequentially and insert tabs marking each factor. Except for the narrative statements addressing the five rating factors, forms, certifications, assurances, and requested appendices, any other information that is submitted will not be considered. For example, commitments letters will be considered, but not counted against the page limitations; however, general expressions of support will not be considered. Any information beyond the above-noted 60–70 page limitations for the five rating factors will not be reviewed in the rating and ranking process.

In order to receive full consideration for funding, you should assemble your application according to the following checklist to ensure that all of the required items have been submitted.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

The provisions contained in section 305(c) of the Multifamily Housing Property Disposition Reform Act of 1994, Environmental Review, implemented in the Environmental Review regulations at 24 CFR part 58, are applicable to properties assisted with SHOP funds. All SHOP assistance is subject to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and related federal environmental authorities. SHOP grant applicants are cautioned that no federal or non-federal funds or assistance which limits reasonable choices or could produce a significant adverse environmental impact may be committed to a project until all required environmental reviews and notifications have been completed by a unit of general local government, tribe or state and until HUD approves a recipient's request for release of funds under the environmental provisions contained in 24 CFR part 58. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, in accordance with section 11(d)(2)(A) of the Housing Opportunity Extension Act of 1996 and HUD Notice CPD-01-09, an organization, consortium or affiliate receiving SHOP assistance may advance non-grant funds to acquire land prior to completion of an environmental review and HUD's approval of a request for release of funds and environmental certification. Any advances to acquire land prior to such approval are made at the risk of the organization, consortium or affiliate and reimbursement from SHOP funds for such advances will depend on the result of the environmental review.

IX. HUD Reform Act of 1989

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA at Section XI.

X. Authority

The funding made available under this program section of the SuperNOFA is authorized by section 11 of the Housing Opportunity Program Extension Act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. 12805 note) (the "Extension Act").

III. Program Description and Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The purposes of the Youthbuild Program are to:

(1) Provide economically disadvantaged young adults with opportunities to obtain an educational experience that will enhance their employment skills, as a means to achieving self-sufficiency;

(2) Foster the development of leadership skills and commitment to community;

(3) Expand the supply of permanent affordable housing for homeless and low- and very low-income persons by providing implementation grants for carrying out a Youthbuild program;

(5) Give to the greatest extent possible, job training, employment, contracting and other economic opportunities to low-income young adults.

HUD also focuses on the Youthbuild Program as a way to foster the development of nonprofit organizations, including grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations which over time can provide the services mentioned above to disadvantaged youth and which at the same time rely less on HUD's financial support to carryout these activities.

(B) Eligible Activities

(1) Work and activities associated with the acquisition, architectural and engineering work, rehabilitation or construction of the housing, as defined in HUD's regulations at 24 CFR 585.309, 585.310, and 585.311.

(2) Relocation payments and other assistance required to comply with HUD's regulation at 24 CFR 585.308;

(3) Costs of ongoing training and technical assistance needs related to carrying out a Youthbuild program;

(4) Education, job training, counseling, employment, leadership development services and optional activities that meet the needs of the participants including entrepreneurial training, drivers' education, apprenticeship opportunities, financial literacy, credit counseling, assistance programs for those with learning disabilities, and in-house staff training;

(5) Outreach to potential participants;

(6) Wages, benefits, and need-based stipends for participants and;

(7) Administrative costs, which must not exceed 10 percent of the grant award. Please refer to HUD's regulation at 24 CFR 585.305 for further details on eligible activities.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, as an applicant you must comply with the following Youthbuild program requirements.

(A) Threshold Requirements

(1) Eligible Applicants. Eligible applicants are public or private nonprofit agencies, including grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, State or local housing agencies or authorities, State or units of local government, or any entity eligible to provide education and employment training under other Federal employment training programs.

(2) Eligible Participants. Participants in a Youthbuild program must be very low-income high school dropouts between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, at the time of enrollment. Up to 25 percent of participants may be above very low-income, or may be high school graduates (or equivalent), but must have educational needs (such as lack of reading, writing and communication skills) that justify their participation in the program.

(3) Locational Limitations. You may submit more than one application in the current competition if your program's participant recruitment and housing areas are in different jurisdictions. Each application you submit may only propose activities to carry out one Youthbuild program, i.e., to start a new Youthbuild program or to fund new classes of Youthbuild participants for an existing program.

(4) Response to NOFA—Page Limitation. The total narrative response to all factors identified in Section VI of this program NOFA must not exceed 15 pages, and must be submitted on 8.5" by 11" paper, using a 12 point font, with lines double spaced and printed only on one side. Please note that submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify your application. However, HUD will not review or consider the information on any excess pages, which may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold.

(5) Youthbuild Program Components. Applications that receive assistance under this Youthbuild Program section of the SuperNOFA must contain the three components described as follows:

(a) Educational and job training services;

(b) Leadership training, counseling, and other support activities; and

(c) On-site training through actual housing rehabilitation and/or new construction work, new construction may be subject to the accessible design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act [see Section II(C) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA], including the provision of alternative training experiences that are necessary as a reasonable accommodation for students with disabilities.

(6) Identification of and Access to Property. Your application must identify the location of the site(s) or property(ies) (e.g. addresses, parcel numbers, etc.) that will be used for on-site construction. Your application MUST contain a letter from the property owner or property management company(ies) allowing access to the housing site(s) for on-site construction training. HUD may deem as ineligible any application that fails to specifically identify the location of the on-site construction.

Site Selection—In determining the site or the location of a federally assisted facility, the applicant may not select sites that will exclude qualified persons with disabilities, or otherwise subject them to discrimination under the Youthbuild Program.

New Construction—Substantial Alterations—Other Alterations. If the Applicant undertakes to participate in New Construction, Substantial Alterations or Other Alterations, it must conform to the accessibility standards outline in the Regulations Implementing the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 at 24 CFR, Part 8, §§ 8.22, 8.23(a) and 8.23(b).

(7) Training Requirement. Each program must be structured so that 50 percent of each participant's time is spent in on-site training and the other 50 percent in educational training.

(8) Economic Opportunities for Low and Very Low-Income Persons (Section 3). Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, (12 U.S.C. 1701u) is applicable to the Youthbuild program. Please see Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(12) Maximum Awards. Under the competition established by this Youthbuild Program section of the SuperNOFA, the maximum award for a Youthbuild grant is $700,000.

(13) Potential Environmental Disqualification. HUD reserves the right to disqualify an application where one or more environmental thresholds are exceeded if HUD determines that it cannot conduct the environmental review and satisfactorily complete the review within the HUD application review period. (See 24 CFR 585.307.) Environmental thresholds are explained in Appendix A of this program section of this SuperNOFA.

(B) Desirable Elements of a Youthbuild Program

You should document the extent to which HUD's initiatives are furthered by the proposed activities. Such initiatives include:

- (1) Promoting healthy, safe, and energy efficient homes;
- (2) Affirmatively furthering fair housing by promoting greater opportunities for housing choice for minorities and persons with disabilities;
- (3) Providing opportunities for self-sufficiency, particularly for persons enrolled in welfare to work programs;
- (4) Providing educational, apprenticeship and job training opportunities;
- (5) Promoting welfare reform;
- (6) Encouraging visitability in new construction and substantial rehabilitation activities; and
- (7) Encouraging universal design.

VI. Application Selection Process

Applicants must meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of Section V (B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and Sections IV(A), (B) and C of this program section of the SuperNOFA. HUD will review each application and assign points in accordance with the selection factors described in this section. The maximum number of points is 102. This maximum includes two Renewal Community/Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community (RC/EZ/EC) bonus points as described in Section VI(C) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. An application must receive a minimum of 75 points to be eligible for funding.

(A) Rating and Ranking.

(1) General. To review and rate applications, HUD may establish panels including officials from other Federal agencies and outside experts or consultants to obtain certain expertise and other outside points of view. In evaluating applications for funding, HUD will take into account an applicant's past performance in managing funds, including the ability to account for funds appropriately, timely use of funds received either from HUD or from other Federal, State or local programs and meeting performance targets for completion of activities and number of persons served or targeted for assistance. HUD may use information relating to these items based on information at hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit, or other such sources of information.

(2) Rating. All applications for funding will be evaluated against the rating factors described in Section (VI) of this NOFA.

(3) Ranking. Applications will be ranked separately within each of the three funding categories. Applications will be selected for funding in accordance with their rank order in each category.

(4) To be eligible for funding, an application must have an overall minimum score of 75 points. If two or more applications are rated fundable and have the same score, but there are insufficient funds to fund all of them, HUD will select the application(s) with the highest score for Rating Factor 3 (Soundness of Approach). If two or more applications still have the same score, the highest score in the following factors will be selected sequentially until one highest score can be determined: Rating Factor 1 (Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organization); Rating Factor 4 (Leveraging of Resources) and Rating Factor 2 (Need/Extent of the Problem).

(B) Categories of Grants. HUD will make grants in three categories:

(1) Category 1 Grants. Grants for new applicants that have not previously received funding under the Youthbuild program since the inception of the Program and that have elected not to apply under Category 2 or 3. HUD will make available approximately $10,000,000 to new applicants proposing grant(s) of $400,000 or less for activities not to exceed 30 months.

(2) Category 2 Grants. HUD will make available approximately $34,642,500 to applicants proposing grant(s) of $700,000 or less for activities not to exceed 30 months.

(3) Category 3 Grants. HUD will make available $10,000,000 for applicants proposing grant(s) of $400,000 or less to establish programs in underserved and rural areas not to exceed 30 months. Rural and Underserved areas are defined as follows:

(a) Rural Area. A Rural area is defined in one of five ways:

- (i) A place having fewer than 2,500 inhabitants (within or outside of metropolitan areas).
- (ii) A county with an urban population of 20,000 inhabitants or less.
- (iii) Rural portions of extended cities, as identified by the U.S. Census Bureau.
- (iv) Open country, which is not part of or associated with an urban area. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) describes "open country" as a site separated by open space from any adjacent densely populated urban area. Open space includes undeveloped land, agricultural land or sparsely settled areas but does not include physical barriers, (such as rivers and canals), public parks, commercial and industrial developments, small areas reserved for recreational purposes, and open space set aside for future development.

(v) Any place with a population not in excess of 20,000 and not located in a Metropolitan Statistical Area.

(b) Underserved Area. An underserved area is defined as an area comprised of census tracts with the following distress criteria:

- (i) A census tract where the unemployment remains high (50 percent or more above the nation's unemployment rate) and
- (ii) A census tract where high rates of poverty (50 percent or more above the national average) persists.

(C) Potential Environmental Disqualification. HUD reserves the right to disqualify an application where one or more environmental thresholds are exceeded if HUD determines that it cannot conduct the environmental review and satisfactorily complete the review within the HUD application review period. (See 24 CFR 585.307.) Environmental thresholds are explained in Appendix A of this program section of this SuperNOFA. Complete form 2C13a, 2C13b, or 2C13c and form 2C15 only if you are proposing to use Youthbuild funds for new housing construction or rehabilitation.

(D) Notification of Approval or Disapproval. HUD will notify you whether or not you have been selected for an award. If you are selected, HUD's notice to you of the amount of the grant award based on the approved application will constitute HUD's CONDITIONAL approval, subject to negotiation and execution of the grant agreement by HUD.

(E) Rating Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are provided below. The maximum number of points for the program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(F) Application Debriefing. Applicants requesting to be debriefed must send a written request (see General Section IX(G)(3)) to Ms. Jackie Williams-Mitchell, Director, Office of Rural Housing and Economic Development (ORHED), Office of Community Planning and Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room 7137, Washington, DC 20410. Debriefing information can be found in Section VII(E)(2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

This factor addresses the qualifications and experience of the applicant and participating parties to implement a successful young adult education, training program in accordance with your work plan as further described in Factor 3. HUD will review and evaluate information provided documenting recent capability. Experience within the last 5 years will be considered recent. In reviewing this rating factor, HUD will evaluate the following sub-factors:

(1) Team Member Composition and Experience (5 points). Your experience and the experience of your project director, core staff competencies including your day-to-day program manager, consultants and contractors. You must demonstrate that your program manager has the background, experience and capacity to implement all of the program components of the proposed work plan, as evidenced by recent work experience (within the last 5 years) in managing projects of the same or similar size, dollar amount, types of activities and beneficiaries as those proposed in your work plan. If any gaps exist in your experience or organizational structure to carry out the program, describe how you will fill those gaps including the hiring of consultants or other outside parties.

(2) Organizational Structure (5 points). The structure of your organization, management structure, including reporting relationships of key staff, a system for coordinating with outside contractors or third party service providers, a mechanism for an internal and external auditing relationships, and an accounting system which meets Federal accounting system requirements. You should provide a clear description of how your organizational structure will operate to carry out your work plan.

(3) Relevant Experience (5 points). The objectives and accomplishments of your past experience in conducting similar activities. You must describe your past project objectives and accomplishments which are similar to those of your proposed work plan to show your effectiveness and timeliness in managing similar projects. If you have received similar grants including previous Youthbuild grants, you must describe your effectiveness of your administration including timeliness and performance in meeting reporting requirements and your ability to have resolved problems that presented themselves during the grant period. In addressing timeliness of reports, you must compare when your reports were due with when they were actually submitted. You must describe your achievements, including those of previous Youthbuild grants, of specific measurable outcome objectives. Specific outcome objectives include: number of youths recruited, trained and received GEDs; number of youths obtaining jobs (i.e., those that are a part of a career path or apprenticeship program), number of youths participating in apprenticeships and number of housing units rehabilitated or constructed and made available for low and very low income persons.

Also, you must describe the extent to which you or participating partners have been successful in past education, training and employment programs and activities, including Federally-funded Youthbuild programs. If you have received a Youthbuild grant, you must submit copies of your last two progress reports or, if applicable, a closeout report. In applying the rating criteria, HUD will take into consideration your performance (including meeting target dates and schedules) as reported.

The more recent, relevant, and successful the experience of the proposed team members, organization and other participating entities in relation to the work plan, the greater the number of points that you will receive. For previous and existing Youthbuild grantees, applicants that can demonstrate a closer and greater linkage between the expected outcomes and the previously generated outcomes will receive a higher amount of points for this Factor.

This Factor addresses the extent to which there is need for funding the proposed activities based on levels of distress and an indication of the urgency of meeting the need/distress in the applicant's target area. In responding to this Factor, applications will be evaluated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activity and the urgency in meeting the need are documented and compared to the target area and national data.

(1) In applying this Factor, HUD will consider current levels of distress for the area (i.e., Census Tract(s) or Block Groups) immediately surrounding the project site or the target area to be served by the proposed project, and in the nation. This means that an application that provides data that show levels of distress in the target area expressed as a percent greater than the national average will be rated higher under this Factor.

Notwithstanding the above, an applicant proposing a project to be located outside the target area could still receive points under the Distress Factor if a clear rationale and linkage is provided linking the proposed project location and the benefits to be derived by persons living in more distressed area(s) of the applicant's target area.

(2) Applicants should provide data that address indicators of distress, as follows:

(a) Poverty (5 points)—data should be provided in both absolute and percentage form (i.e., whole numbers and percents) for the target area(s); an application that compares the local poverty rate in the following manner to the national average at the time of submission will receive points under this section as follows:

- (i) Less than the national average—0 points
- (ii) Equal to but less than twice the national average—1 point
- (iii) Twice but less than three times the national average—3 points
- (iv) Three or more times the national average—5 points

(b) Unemployment (5 points)—for the project area;

- (i) Less than the national average—0 points
- (ii) Equal to but less than twice the national average—1 point
- (iii) Twice but less than three times the national average—2 points
- (iv) Three but less than four times the national average—3 points
- (v) Four but less than five times the national average—4 points
- (vi) Five or more times the national average—5 points

(c) High School Dropouts (10 points)—for the project area;

- (i) Less than the national average—0 points
- (ii) Equal to but less than twice the national average—2 points
- (iii) Twice but less than three times the national average—4 points
- (iv) Three but less than four times the national average—6 points
- (v) Four but less than five times the national average—8 points
- (vi) Five or more times the national average—10 points

(d) Concrete examples of social and/or economic decline that best capture the applicant's local situation (5 points). Examples that could be provided under this section are information on the community's stagnant or falling tax base, including recent commercial or industrial closings, housing conditions, such as the number and percentage of substandard and/or overcrowded units, rent burden (defined as average housing cost divided by average income) for the target area and urgency in addressing problems facing youth, local crime statistics, etc.

(3) In rating applications under this Factor, HUD reserves the right to consider sources of available objective data, such as the U.S. Census, other than, or in addition to, those provided by applicants, and to compare such data to those provided by applicants and local crime statistics for the project site.

HUD requires use of sound and reliable data (e.g., U.S. Census data, State statistical reports, university studies/reports that are verifiable) to support distress levels cited in each application. A source for all information along with the publication or origination date must also be provided.

Updated Census data are available as follows for the listed indicators:

- (a) Unemployment rate—estimated monthly, with a two-month lag;
- (b) Population—estimated for incorporated places through 2000;
- (c) Poverty rate—2000 data being the most recent available.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 points)

This factor addresses the extent to which your proposed program is coordinated with other ongoing and related activities in the area you propose to serve, how well your program outcomes result in increased independence and empowerment to your beneficiaries at the conclusion of the grant period. HUD will evaluate the extent to which your application meets the following three elements:

(1) Coordination of activities (2 points). The extent to which you have coordinated your activities with other known organizations that are not directly in your proposed work activities, but with which you share common goals and objectives and are working toward meeting these objectives in a holistic and comprehensive manner. The goal of coordination is to ensure that programs do not operate in isolation. The more your activities are coordinated with other agencies in your service area, the more points you will receive. An example of coordination activities would be the applicant's partnership with an existing child day care facility (which is not funded by program) that provides day care services to the Youthbuild participants during the hours they are being trained or receiving education.

(2) Self-Sufficiency (1 point). The extent to which your application implements practical solutions within the grant term that result in assisting beneficiaries of grant program funds in achieving independent living, economic empowerment, educational opportunities, housing choice or improved environments which are free from environmental hazards such as lead hazards, brownfields, overcrowded housing, etc. Applicants that clearly describe the extent to which proposed activities result in increased independence and empowerment for their beneficiaries will receive higher points in this sub-factor.

(3) Sustainability (2 points). The extent to which your program exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on Youthbuild funding and relying more on state, local and private funding so your activities can be continued after your grant award is complete. Applicants that demonstrate a reduced dependence on Youthbuild funds over the life of their award will receive a greater number of points for this sub-factor.

Youthbuild Program Work Plan. There must be a clear relationship between your proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the Youthbuild program. HUD will consider the overall quality and feasibility of your proposed work plan and budget which must be consistent with the Youthbuild program as measured by your specific activities and outcomes.

Specifically, HUD will consider the following categories when assessing your proposed work plan:

(1) Program Components. (15 points).

(a) Outreach strategy, recruitment strategy and selection activities. HUD will determine the extent to which you demonstrate a clear linkage with the following work plan activities and proposed outcomes and results. Points will be awarded based upon overall quality and feasibility of the outreach, recruitment and selection activities, the number and types of outreach activities, number of youths to be recruited including eligible participants who are harder to reach and comprehensiveness of the local selection process.

Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. In evaluating this category, HUD will consider:

(i) Specific steps you will take to attract potential eligible participants who are unlikely to be aware of this program (because of race, color, national origin, religion, ethnicity, sex or disability) and selection strategies;

(ii) Special outreach efforts you will make to recruit eligible young women, young women with dependent children, and persons receiving public assistance; and

(iii) Recruitment arrangements you have made with public agencies, courts, homeless shelters, local school systems, local workforce development systems, one-stop centers and, community-based organizations, etc. You will receive a greater number of points if your outreach and recruitment arrangements are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(b) Educational and job training services and activities. HUD will evaluate the extent to which you demonstrate a clear linkage with the following work plan activities and proposed outcomes and results.

Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. Points will be awarded based upon the quality and feasibility of your proposed curriculum, qualifications of instructors and proposed wages and stipends for youth participants. In evaluating this category, HUD will consider:

(i) The types of in-class academic and vocational instruction you will provide;

(ii) The number and qualifications of program instructors and ratio of instructors to participants;

(iii) Scheduling plan for classroom and on-the-job training needed to meet program requirements and ensure timely completion of your program; and

(iv) Reasonable payments of participants' wages, stipends, and incentives. You will receive a greater number of points if your educational and job training services are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(c) Leadership development. HUD will determine the extent to which you demonstrate a clear linkage with work plan activities and proposed outcomes and results. Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be submitted in your application. Points will be awarded based upon the quality and feasibility of your proposed leadership curriculum, qualifications of instructors and the impact of the proposed leadership activities on the target area. You must describe the leadership development training you will offer to participants and strategies for providing the training to build group cohesion and peer support. You will receive a greater number of points if your leadership development activities are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(d) Support services. HUD will determine the extent to which you demonstrate a clear linkage with work plan activities and proposed outcomes and results.

Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. Points will be awarded based upon the quality and feasibility of your proposed support services strategy and stipends for the participants.

You must assess the need for counseling and referral services during each stage of program implementation: outreach strategy, recruitment strategy, youths interviewed and not selected for the program, program participants, youths who drop out of the program and graduates of the program. Describe how the participant needs will be addressed, document counseling and referral services to be offered to participants, the type of counseling, social services, and/or need-based stipends you will provide.

Applicants will receive a greater number of points if your support service activities are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(e) Follow-up assistance and support activities to program graduates. HUD will evaluate the extent to which you provide assistance to Youthbuild program participants after graduation. Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. Points will be awarded based upon the quality and feasibility of your proposed strategy. You must describe the type of proposed assistance and support which should be based upon an assessment of the needs of the program graduates and should include continued linkage to the local Youthbuild program, counseling and social service referral services. You will receive a greater number of points if your follow-up assistance and support service activities to program graduates are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(f) On-site training. HUD will evaluate the extent to which the work plan provides for quality and comprehensive on-site construction training by addressing the categories below. Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by any non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. Points will be awarded based upon the quality and feasibility of your proposed curriculum, experience of proposed instructors, number of youth to be trained and wages or stipends for participants. HUD will consider:

(i) The housing construction or rehabilitation activities participants will undertake at the site(s) to be used for the on-site training component of the program as provided in the training curriculum and methodology for carrying out on-site training;

(ii) The qualification and number of on-site supervisors;

(iii) The ratio of trainers to participants;

(iv) The number of participants per site; and

(v) The amounts, wages, and/or stipends you will pay to participants during on-site work. All applicants will receive a greater number of points if your on-site training plan is consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program and your project goals and the resources provided.

(2) Strategy for Job Placement. (2 points). HUD will evaluate the quality and feasibility of your proposed strategy to place youth participants in permanent jobs.

Letters describing specific resources or services to be contributed by non-applicant organizations must be included in your application. You will be rated on the following factors: (a) Proposed number of youth to obtain jobs that promote economic self-sufficiency (i.e. those that are a part of career paths or apprenticeship programs); (b) proposed number of youths who will continue post-secondary or secondary education; (c) proposed number of youths to receive entrepreneurship training. Two points of this factor will be awarded based upon the comprehensiveness and feasibility of your strategies and procedures to place youth participants in related apprenticeships and commitments from construction trade unions. You will receive a greater number of points if your strategy for job placement is consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program, your proposed project and the resources provided.

(3) Expected Outcomes. (3 points). Program outcomes for the Youthbuild Program must include: (a) Number of participants; (b) attainment of a GED or certificate by participants; (c) number of housing units constructed; (d) number of housing units rehabilitated; (e) placement of participants in employment or education; and (f) literacy and numeracy. As part of this evaluation, HUD will assess the cost effectiveness of your stated outcomes as compared to the funds that you are requesting in the Youthbuild Grant Budget. You will receive a greater number of points if your proposed outcomes are consistent with the purpose of the Youthbuild program, your proposed project and the resources provided.

(4) Housing Program Priority. (10 points). HUD will assign Housing Program Priority points to all applications that contain evidence that housing resources for other Federal, State, local or private sources that are available and firmly committed to cover all costs, in full, for the following housing activities for the proposed Youthbuild program: acquisition, architect and engineering fees, construction, and rehabilitation. Applications that do not include proper documentation of firm financial commitments of non-Youthbuild resources or propose to use Youthbuild grant funds, in whole or in part, or do not evidence site control, for any one of the housing activities listed above will not be entitled to housing program priority points. Forms 2C, Housing Site Description, and 2C10, Youthbuild Grant Individual Housing Project Site Estimate, must be completed to receive the Housing Program Priority points.

(5) Policy Priorities. (5 points). Policy Priorities are further defined in Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Applicant should document to the extent HUD's policy priorities are enhanced by the proposed activities. Applicants who include activities that can result in the achievement of these Departmental policies priorities as described below and in Section II of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, will receive higher rating points in evaluating their application for funding. Five Departmental policy priorities are listed below. Applicant will receive 1 rating point for each policy priority addressed in the program of activities section under this rating factor as described in Section VI(b) of this program NOFA. Policy Priorities include:

(a) Improving our Nation's Communities

(b) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community—Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation.

(c) Participating in Energy Star.

(d) Encouraging Accessible Design Features.

(e) Ending Chronic Homelessness within Ten Years.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

(Exhibit 4B Non-Housing Program Resources Must Be Complete and You Must Provide Letters of Firm Commitment From the Donor With the Amount of Cash or In-Kind Contribution) This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure non-HUD resources. This factor measures the extent to which you have established partnerships with other entities to secure resources for your proposed program. Each commitment described in the narrative for this Factor must have a firm commitment letter. Grantees who leverage significant resources will receive a greater number of points.

HUD will evaluate the extent to which firm commitments of resources are obtained from Federal, State, local, and private and nonprofit sources. HUD will award a greater number of points based upon a comparison of the extent of leveraged funds and the requested Youthbuild grant. The greater the amount of resources leveraged, the higher the points that will be awarded. In assigning points for this criterion, HUD will consider the level of non-applicant resources obtained for cash or in-kind contributions to cover the following kinds of areas:

- (1) Social services (i.e., counseling and training);
- (2) Use of existing vocational, adult, and bilingual educational courses;
- (3) Donation of labor, resource personnel, supplies, teaching materials, classroom, and/or meeting space; and
- (4) Other commitments. In rating this element, HUD will consider only those contributions for which current firm commitments have been provided. HUD will evaluate the level of resources from other organizations and agencies proposed based on their importance to the total program. Leveraging will only be counted if you have secured a firm financial commitment. A firm commitment letter means an agreement by which an applicant's partner or contributing entity agrees to perform an activity specified in the application and demonstrates the financial capacity to deliver the resources necessary to carry out the activity, and commits the resources to the activity either in cash, through in-kind services or contributions and is irrevocable, subject only to approval and receipt of a FY 2003 Youthbuild grant.

For all applicants, each letter of commitment must include the organization's name, the applicant's name, the proposed program, the proposed total level of commitment and responsibilities as they relate to the proposed program. The commitment letter must also be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization and not earlier than the date that this NOFA is published. In documenting a firm commitment, the applicant's partner or contributing entity must:

(i) Specify the authority by which the commitment is made, the amount of the commitment and the use of funds. If the committed activity is to be self-financed, the applicant's partner or contributing entity must evidence its financial capability through a corporate or personal financial statement or other appropriate means. If any portion of it is to be financed through a lending institution, the participant must evidence the institution's commitment to fund the commitment.

(ii) State the amount and use of the commitment, and the relationship of the commitment to the proposed investment; and

(iii) Affirm that its investment is contingent only upon receipt of FY 2003 Youthbuild funds and state a willingness on the part of the signatory to sign a legally binding commitment (conditioned on HUD environmental review and approval of a property, where applicable) upon award of the grant.

Resources from other Federal, State, Local governments or Private Entities. HUD encourages use of existing housing and homeless assistance programs administered by HUD or other Federal, State, local governments, or private and nonprofit housing programs as part of your Youthbuild program. In addition, HUD encourages use of other non-Youthbuild funds available for vocational, adult, and bilingual education programs or for job training under the Workforce Investment Act and the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996.

Grantees who leverage significant resources will receive more points.

(1) Public sector sources—Federal, State, or local government sources to provide resources to carry out Youthbuild activities. (5 points)

(2) Private or nonprofit sector sources to provide resources to carry out Youthbuild activities. (5 points)

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their application and assesses their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits, or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals.

Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals. Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

Applicant should agree to cooperate with any HUD-approved evaluation by making staff available for interview, providing lists of participants and their contact information, and making available files under appropriate assurance of confidentiality of records.

Program outcomes for the Youthbuild Program must include:

- (1) Number of participants;
- (2) Number of housing units constructed;
- (3) Number of housing units rehabilitated.

(4) Number of GED's or certificates attained by participants (numerator: of those who are enrolled in education, the number of participants who attain a diploma, GED or certificate; denominator: those who are enrolled in education).

(5) Number of participants placed in employment or education (numerator: of those who are not in education or employed at registration, the number of participants who have entered employment, the military or enrolled in post secondary education and/or advanced training/occupational skills training by the end of the first quarter after exit; denominator: of those who are not in education or employed at registration, the number of participants who exit during the quarter); and

(6) Literacy and numeracy gains (measures the increase in literacy and numeracy skills of participants through a common assessment tool administered at program registration and regular intervals thereafter).

Applicants are required to complete the Logic Model form (see appendix to the General Section). This rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability.

VII. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Site Access Submission Requirements. You must submit identification of specific housing sites, and firm evidence of site access.

(1) Guidance on evidence of site access:

a. If the applicant or joint applicant has a contract or option to purchase the property, you should provide a statement to that effect and include a copy of the contract or option;

b. If a third party owns the property or has a contract or option to purchase, that third party must provide a letter to you stating the nature of the ownership and specifically providing you with access to the property for the purposes of the program and the time frame in which the property will be available. In the case of a contract or option, include a copy of the document; and

c. You must provide the required certification that the proposed activities are consistent with the HUD-approved Consolidated Plan in accordance with 24 CFR part 91 and referenced in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Category 3 applicants only. You must state that the proposed project to be established will be located in an underserved and rural area as defined in Section (VI)(B)(3) of this notice.

(C) Application Items. Your application must contain the items listed in this section. These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of the SuperNOFA that are applicable to this funding (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms can be found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The remaining application items that are forms (i.e., excluding such items as narratives, letters), referred to as the "non-standard forms" can be found as Appendix B to this program section of the SuperNOFA. The items are as follows:

(1) HUD-424, Application for Federal Assistance.

(2) HUD-424B, Applicant Assurances and Certifications.

(3) HUD-424C, Budget Information for Construction Program.

(4) HUD-2880, Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Form.

(5) SF-LLL, Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (if applicable);

(6) Letters from property owners allowing access to the housing site for construction training.

(7) Submission of 501(c)(3) status and/or letter certifying non-profit status if the applicant is a public non-profit organization.

(8) Narrative Response to Factors for Award.

Factor 1—Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience Factor 2—Need/Extent of the Problem
Factor 3—Soundness of Approach, including the following non-narrative items:

(a) letters from non-applicant resource providers describing contributions or support, (b) documentation necessary to complete environmental review (Exhibit 2C15), and description of relocation, if applicable.

Factor 4—Leveraging Resources, including your letters(s) evidencing the leveraged commitment(s), which will not be counted in the 15 page limitation.
Factor 5—Achieving Results and Program Evaluation.

(9) HUD-2990, Certification of Consistency with the EZ/EC Strategic Plan;

(D) The total narrative response to all factors identified in Section VI(C)(13) of this program NOFA must not exceed 15 pages, and must be submitted on 8.5" by 11" paper, using a 12 point font, with lines double-spaced and printed only on one side. Please note that submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify your application. However, HUD will neither review nor consider the information on any excess pages, which may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

IX. Environmental Requirements

(A) Environmental Reviews. Environmental procedures apply to HUD approval of grants when you propose to use Youthbuild funds to cover any costs for the lease, acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction of real property proposed for housing project development. Environmental procedures do not apply to HUD approval of your application when you propose to use your Youthbuild funds solely to cover costs for classroom and/or on-the-job construction training and support services.

If you propose to use your Youthbuild funds to cover any costs of the lease, acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction of real property, you must submit all relevant environmental information in your application to support HUD decision-making in accordance with the environmental procedures and standards set forth in HUD Regulation 24 CFR 585.307.

X. Authority

This program is authorized under subtitle D of title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, as added by section 164 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, 106 Stat. 3723, 42 U.S.C. 12899). The Youthbuild Program regulations are found in 24 CFR part 585.

Appendix A—Instructions for Completion of Youthbuild Environmental Requirements (Exhibit 2C(15))

A. Instructions to Applicants

1. If you propose to use Youthbuild funds to cover any costs of the lease, acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction or real property, you shall submit all relevant environmental information in your application to support HUD decision making in accordance with the environmental procedures and standards set forth in 24 CFR 585.307. For each proposed Youthbuild property for which HUD environmental procedures apply, you are to prepare a separate Exhibit 2C(15) in which you supply HUD with environmental threshold information and letters from qualified data sources (see definition below) which support the information. HUD will review your submission and determine how, if necessary, HUD will comply with any Federal laws and authorities that may be applicable to your property proposed for Youthbuild funding. If environmental procedures apply and Exhibit 2C(15) with supporting documentation is not included then the application will be deemed ineligible.

You are to follow these instructions for preparing Exhibit 2C(15). The instructions advise you on how to obtain and document certain information to be supplied to HUD in this exhibit. Before selecting a property for Youthbuild funding, you should read these instructions and be advised that HUD encourages you to select, to the extent practicable, properties and locations that are free of environmental hazards and problems discussed in these instructions. The responses to the environmental criteria in Exhibit 2C(15) will be used to determine environmental approval or disapproval by HUD of proposals for physical development of properties.

2. After selecting a property for proposed Youthbuild funding, you are to determine the activities to be undertaken with your Youthbuild funds. You are to indicate in Section E whether the Youthbuild funds will be used for:

- (a) Lease or purchase of a property;
- (b) Minor rehabilitation or
- (c) Major rehabilitation; or
- (d) New construction of housing.

The activities proposed for Youthbuild funding will determine the kind of data that you will need to obtain from a qualified data source in order to complete Exhibit 2C(15).

3. Once you have selected a property and determined the activities for Youthbuild funding, you are advised to check with your city or county agency that administers HUD's

Community Development Block Grant program and performs environmental reviews, or the local planning agency. This course of action is recommended in view of the fact that most, if not all of the data needed for preparing Exhibit 2C(15) is readily available from the local community development agency and the local planning agency. You are advised to ask the environmental staff of those agencies the following questions:

(a) Has the agency ever prepared an environmental review of the proposed Youthbuild property or the neighborhood in which the property is located, and if so, would it provide a copy to the applicant for use by HUD;

(b) Would the agency assist you in completing section G; or if the agency is not able to help complete any item in section G, would the agency advise you which local or State agency is the appropriate qualified data source for obtaining the information.

Also, you should check with the local planning agency before proceeding elsewhere for the information.

You are advised that the cost of preparing information and analyses needed for Exhibit 2C(15) is an eligible cost under the Youthbuild program and is reimbursable if you are approved for a grant.

4. Key terms used in these instructions are defined in the following section. Most of the other terms are technical and their definition would be known to qualified data sources.

(a) Qualified data source means any Federal, State or local agency with expertise or experience in environmental protection (e.g., the local community development agency; the land planning agency; the State environmental protection agency; the State Historic Preservation Officer) or any other source qualified to provide reliable information on the particular subject. Please attach a letter supporting the information from each qualified data source to Exhibit 2C(15).

(b) Minor rehabilitation refers to proposed repairs and renovations to an existing building;

(i) Where the estimated cost of the work is less than 75 percent of the property value after completion;

(ii) That does not involve changes in land use from residential to nonresidential, or from nonresidential to residential;

(iii) That does not involve the demolition of one or more buildings, or parts of a building, containing the primary use served by the project; and

(iv) That does not increase unit density by more than 20 percent.

For minor rehabilitation of a building located in a floodplain, the criteria for substantial improvement modify this definition. (See Item B 3 below)

(c) Major rehabilitation refers to proposed repairs and renovations to an existing building;

(i) Where the estimated cost of the work is 75 percent or more of the property value after completion; or

(ii) That involves changes in land use from residential to nonresidential, or from nonresidential to residential; or

(iii) That involves the demolition of one or more buildings, or parts of a building, containing the primary use served by the project; or

(iv) That increases unit density by more than 20 percent.

(d) Multifamily housing means any residential building that contains five or more apartments or rooming units.

(e) Single-family housing means any residential building that contains one-to-four dwelling units.

Because each Federal environmental law or authority has compliance requirements that differ according to the type of proposed activity to be funded, you are required to supply information in Exhibit 2C(15) only for the type of activity for which the Youthbuild grant will be used.

(f) If you propose new construction or major rehabilitation of multifamily housing, you must supply complete and reliable environmental threshold information for items 1 through 13 in section G.

(g) If you propose new construction of single family housing, you must supply complete and reliable environmental threshold information for items 1 through 12 in section G.

(h) If you propose minor rehabilitation of multifamily or single-family housing, or the purchase or lease of a property, you must supply complete and reliable environmental threshold information for items 1 through 7 in section G.

5. Applicants subject to HUD's environmental procedures are to submit Exhibit 2C(15) and accompanying documentation to HUD with the applications for grant assistance. Such applicants are prohibited from committing or expending State, local or other funds in order to undertake property rehabilitation, construction (including demolition), or acquisition (including lease), until HUD and the grantee execute a grant agreement for the proposed Youthbuild project.

6. HUD reserves the right to disqualify any application where one or more environmental thresholds are exceeded if HUD determines that the compliance review cannot be conducted and satisfactorily completed within the HUD review period for Youthbuild applications.

B. Environmental Threshold and Documentation Requirements

The threshold and documentation requirements for each of the Federal environmental laws and authorities are described below, following the same order as they appear in section G.

1. Site within designated coastal barrier resources:

Threshold: Youthbuild applicants are prohibited by Federal law from using Federal financial assistance for properties, if the properties are located within designated coastal barriers of the Atlantic Ocean, Gulf of Mexico, and the Great Lakes (Coastal Barrier Resources Act, as amended, 16 U.S.C. 3501).

* Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes the property and report the option selected in item 1 of section G.

A. Your program operates in a community that does not contain any shores along the Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, or the Great Lakes.

B. Your program operates in a community that does contain shores along the Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, or the Great Lakes, you must provide HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the proposed property is not located within a designated coastal barrier resource by citing the map panel number of the official maps issued by the Department of the Interior (DOI) on the basis of which the finding was made.

2. Site contaminated with toxic chemicals and radioactive materials:

Threshold: Under HUD policy, as described in 24 CFR 50.3(i), HUD will not approve the provision of financial assistance to residential properties on sites where contamination could affect the health and safety of occupants or conflict with the intended utilization of the property. Sites known or suspected to be contaminated by toxic chemicals or radioactive materials include but are not limited to sites: (i) Listed on either an EPA Superfund National Priorities List (NPL) or CERCLA (Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act) List, or equivalent State list; (ii) located within 3,000 feet of a toxic or solid waste landfill site; or (iii) with an underground storage tank (which is not a residential fuel tank).

* Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes property and report the option selected in item 2 of section G.

A. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the proposed Youthbuild property and any neighboring properties do not contain any sites known or suspected to be contaminated with toxic chemicals and radioactive materials.

B. You are providing any site contamination data by a qualified data source in your letter for HUD's evaluation of contamination and/or suspicion of any contamination of a proposed property or any neighboring properties.

3. Site affecting a floodplain:

Threshold: A property located within a floodplain and proposed for funding is subject to Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management. The Executive Order directs HUD to avoid, where practicable, proposed financial support for any floodplain property, whenever HUD has options to approve properties in flood-free locations. The Order does not apply to existing single-family properties proposed for purchase or lease except for: (a) Property that is located within a floodway or coastal high hazard area; and (b) substantial improvement. Substantial improvement for flood hazard purposes means any property rehabilitation which: (i) Increases the unit density of the property; or (ii) equals or exceeds 50 percent of the market value of the property before rehabilitation, but excluding the costs for correcting health, sanitary, and safety code violations. Note: Proposed funding for substantial improvement and new construction are subject to the Executive Order decision-making process. This may result in a disqualification of your application (refer above to number 7 under "Instructions to Applicants").

* Documentation: You are to select A or B for the condition that best describes your property and report the option selected in item 3 of section G.

A. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the property is not located within the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA).

B. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source that the property is located within the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA) and indicating if the property is located within a floodway or coastal high hazard area.

The information for A and B must provide HUD with the flood map panel number obtained either from the official maps issued for the National Flood Insurance Program or from the property appraisal report used to make the finding.

For all proposed rehabilitation of properties that are located within a SFHA, you must provide HUD with estimates of: (1) The property value before rehabilitation, and (2) the cost of the proposed rehabilitation. Provide the estimates in section F.

If the property is found to be located within a SFHA, proceed to item 4 on flood insurance protection. Otherwise proceed to item 5.

4. Building requiring flood insurance protection:

Threshold: HUD will estimate the amount and period of flood insurance coverage that is to be made a condition of approval of any HUD financial assistance for a building located within a Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA). The Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 requires owners of HUD-assisted buildings to purchase and maintain flood insurance protection as a condition of approval of any HUD financial assistance for the proposed purchase, rehabilitation, or new construction of any SFHA building. The law prescribes the coverage period and dollar amount of flood insurance protection.

Proof of Purchase of Flood Insurance Protection: You must provide HUD with proof of purchase of flood insurance protection for any proposed Youthbuild building located within the SFHA, whenever HUD funding is being used for property purchase, rehabilitation, or new construction. The standard documentation for compliance is the Policy Declarations form issued by the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) or issued by any property insurance company offering coverage under the NFIP. Whenever the requirement applies to coverage which extends to future years, the grant agreement will require that the insured has its insurer automatically forward to HUD, in the same manner as to the insured, an information copy of the Policy Declarations form, which is used to verify compliance. The Youthbuild applicant's responsibility ceases in cases where a mortgage loan is approved requiring flood insurance as condition of loan approval by a lender (other than the Youthbuild applicant), whose responsibility is to assure flood insurance coverage for the loan.

* Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes your property and report the option selected in item 4 of section G.

A. You already own the property and attach a copy of the Policy Declarations form confirming that a current flood insurance policy is in effect and the policy provides adequate coverage for the building proposed for the Youthbuild project located within the Special Flood Hazard Area.

B. After you have purchased (or constructed, in the case of proposed new construction) the Youthbuild property, you must obtain and maintain flood insurance protection. For the term and amount of coverage prescribed by law, you must provide HUD with a copy of the Policy Declarations form confirming that the flood insurance policy is in effect and the policy provides adequate coverage for the Youthbuild building located within the Special Flood Hazard Area.

5. Site within clear zones or accident potential zones of airports and airfields:

Threshold: HUD policy as described in 24 CFR part 51, subpart D applies to HUD approval of financial assistance to: (a) Properties located within clear zones; and (b) in the case of new construction or major rehabilitation, properties located within accident potential zones.

(a) Clear zones: New construction and major rehabilitation of a property that is located on a clear zone site is prohibited. HUD financial assistance in a clear zone is allowed only for the proposed lease, purchase, or minor rehabilitation of properties (24 CFR 51.302(a)). For HUD funding approval for any property in a clear zone: (a) HUD will give advance written notice to the prospective property buyer in accord with 24 CFR 51.303(a)(3); and (b) a copy of the HUD notice signed by the prospective property buyer will be placed in the property file. The written notice informs the prospective property buyer of: (i) The potential hazards from airplane accidents, which studies have shown more likely to occur within clear zones than in other areas around the airport/airfield; and (ii) the potential acquisition by airport or airfield operators, who may wish to buy the property at some future date as part of a clear zone acquisition program.

(b) Accident potential zones: For properties located within the accident potential zone (APZ), HUD shall determine whether the use of the property is generally consistent with Department of Defense "Land Use Compatibility Guidelines for Accident Potential Zones."

* Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes your property and report the option selected in item 5 of section G.

A. The property is not located within 3,000 feet of a civil airport or military airfield.

B. If your property is located within 3,000 feet of a civil airport or military airfield, you must provide HUD with a finding from the airport operator stating whether or not the property is located within a runway clear zone at a civil airport, or a clear zone or accident potential zone at a military airfield.

For properties that are located within a runway clear zone or a clear zone or accident potential zone, if you propose to rehabilitate such a property you must provide HUD with estimates of: (i) The cost of the proposed rehabilitation, and (ii) the property value after completion of the rehabilitation. The estimates are to be provided in section F.

6. Site is or affects a historic property:

Threshold: Only if a property is proposed for rehabilitation or new construction must HUD in consultation with the State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO), and following the Department of the Interior's Standards and Guidelines for Evaluation, make a determination whether the property is:

(a) Listed on or formally determined to be eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places;

(b) Located within or directly adjacent to an historic district; or

(c) A property whose area of potential effects includes an historic district or property.

Historic properties and districts are subject by law to special protection and historic preservation processing, which HUD must perform to comply with the regulations of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP; 36 CFR part 800). Note: If you are using information from the SHPO as a qualified data source you need to allow sufficient time to obtain the information from the SHPO. You may wish to make special arrangements with the SHPO for rapid review of the proposed property where this is practicable. In addition, for properties determined to be historic properties, HUD will require 30 to 90 days in most cases for HUD to perform historic preservation compliance with the ACHP regulations. This may result in a disqualification of the application (refer above to number 7 under "Instructions to Applicants").

* Documentation: You are to select one of the following options that best describe the condition of your property and report the option selected in item 6 of section G.

A. You propose financial assistance for rehabilitation or new construction, and are providing HUD with a SHPO's finding that the proposed Youthbuild activity:

1. Is located within an area where there are no historic properties; or

2. Will have no effect on historic properties; or

3. Will have an effect on historic properties not considered adverse.

B. You propose financial assistance for rehabilitation or new construction, and are providing HUD with a SHPO's finding that the proposed Youthbuild activity will have an adverse effect on historic properties.

C. You are providing HUD with a copy of a letter from the SHPO stating any reasons for not being able to provide you with the requested information and finding.

7. Site near hazardous industrial operations:

Threshold: Properties that are located near hazardous industrial operations handling fuels or chemicals of an explosive or flammable nature are subject to HUD safety standards (24 CFR 51, Subpart C). However, under the Youthbuild program, these standards would apply only if you propose: (a) construction of a building; (b) conversion of a non-residential land use to a residential land use including making habitable a building condemned for habitation; or (c) rehabilitation that increases the density of a residential structure by increasing the number of dwelling or rooming units. In the case of tanks containing common liquid fuels, the requirement for an acceptable separation distance (ASD) calculation only applies to storage tanks that have a capacity of more than 100 gallons. *Documentation: You are to select one of the following options that best describes the condition of the property, and report the option selected in item 7 of section G.

A. The proposed project does not include: (1) Construction of a building; (2) conversion of a non-residential land use to a residential land use including making habitable a building condemned for habitation; or (3) rehabilitation that increases the density of a residential structure by increasing the number of dwelling or rooming units.

B. The proposed project includes: (1) Construction of a building; (2) conversion of a non-residential land use to a residential land use including making habitable a building condemned for habitation; or (3) rehabilitation that increases the density of a residential structure by increasing the number of dwelling or rooming units; and you are providing HUD with a finding by a qualified data source that the proposed property is not located within the immediate vicinity of hazardous industrial operations handling fuel or chemicals of an explosive or flammable nature by citing data used and the maps used.

C. The applicant proposes: (1) Construction of a building; (2) conversion of a non-residential land use to a residential land use including making habitable a building condemned for habitation; or (3) rehabilitation that increases the density of a residential structure by increasing the number of dwelling or rooming units. The grantee provides HUD a finding made by a qualified data source stating: (1) That the proposed property is located within the immediate vicinity of hazardous industrial operations handling fuel or chemicals of an explosive or flammable nature; (2) the type and scale of such hazardous industrial operations; (3) the distance of such operations from the proposed property; (4) a preliminary calculation of the acceptable separation distance (ASD) between such operations and the proposed property; and (5) a recommendation as to whether it is safe to use the property in accord with 24 CFR Part 51, subpart C.

8. Site near high noise source:

Threshold: For new construction which is to occur in high noise areas (i.e. exceeding 65 decibels), applicants shall incorporate noise attenuation features to the extent required by HUD environmental criteria and standards contained in Subpart B (Noise Abatement and Control) of 24 CFR part 51. Approvals in a Normally unacceptable noise zone require a minimum of 5 decibels additional sound attenuation for buildings having noise-sensitive uses if the day-night average sound level is greater than 65 decibels but does not exceed 70 decibels, or a minimum of 10 decibels of additional sound attenuation if the day-night average sound level is greater than 70 decibels but does not exceed 75 decibels.

Proposed housing sites with above 75 decibels are unacceptable and the noise attenuation measures require the approval of the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development. In Unacceptable noise zones, HUD strongly encourages conversion of noise-exposed sites to non-housing land uses compatible with the high noise levels.

For major rehabilitation projects involving five or more dwelling units located in the "Normally Unacceptable" and "Unacceptable" noise zones, HUD actively seeks to have project sponsors incorporate noise attenuation features, given the extent and nature of the rehabilitation being undertaken and the level of exterior noise exposure.

*Documentation: You are to select A or B for the condition that best describes their project and report the option selected in item 8 of section G.

A. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the property proposed by the applicant for a major rehabilitation or new construction project involving five or more dwelling units is not located within: (1) 1,000 feet of a major noise source, road, or highway; (2) 3,000 feet of a railroad; or (3) 1 mile of a civil or 5 miles of a military airfield.

B. The applicant provides HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source: (1) Stating that the plans for the property proposed by the applicant for a major rehabilitation or new construction project involving five or more dwelling units will incorporate noise attenuation features in accord with HUD environmental criteria and standards contained in Subpart B (Noise Abatement and Control) of 24 CFR part 51; (2) stating whether the property is located within a "Normally Unacceptable" or "Unacceptable" noise zone; and (3) providing HUD plans and a statement of the anticipated interior noise levels.

9. Site affecting coastal zone management:

Threshold: Only for proposed activities involving new construction or major rehabilitation of multifamily housing does the Coastal Zone Management (CZM) authority apply. Projects that can affect the coastal zone must be carried out in a manner consistent with the approved State coastal zone management program under Sec. 307 of the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, as amended.

*Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes the project and report the option selected in item 9 of section G.

A. You state that your project is not located within a coastal zone, as defined by the States Coastal Zone Management Plan.

B. If your project is located within a coastal zone, you are providing HUD with a finding made by the State CZM agency that the project proposed by the applicant is consistent with the approved State coastal zone management program.

10. Site affecting a sole source aquifer:

Threshold: The sole source aquifer authority applies primarily to activities involving proposed new construction or conversion to housing of non-residential property. Projects which can affect aquifers designated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) must be reviewed for impact on such designated aquifer sources. The Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 requires protection of drinking water systems which are the sole or principal drinking water source for an area and which, if contaminated, would create a significant hazard to public health.

*Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes their project and report the option selected in item 10 of section G.

A. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the proposed property is not located on nor does it affect a sole source aquifer designated by EPA.

B. If your project proposes new construction or conversion activities that are located on or may affect any sole source aquifer designated by the EPA, you are identifying the aquifer and providing HUD with an explanation of the effect on the aquifer from a qualified data source, and/or a copy of any comments on the proposed project that have been received from the EPA Regional Office as well as from any State or local agency with jurisdiction for protecting the drinking water system.

11. Site affecting endangered species:

Threshold: The Endangered Species Protection (ESP) authority applies primarily to activities involving proposed new construction or conversion to housing of a non-residential property. Projects which can affect listed or proposed endangered or threatened species or critical habitats require consultation with the Department of the Interior or the Department of Commerce in compliance with the procedure of Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended.

*Documentation: You are to select either A or B for the condition that best describes the property and report the option selected in item 11 of section G.

A. If your project proposes new construction or conversion activities, you are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source that the project is not likely to affect any listed or proposed endangered or threatened species or critical habitat. The finding shall indicate whether the project is located within a critical habitat, and if so, explain why the project is not likely to affect the species or habitat.

B. If your project proposes new construction or conversion activities that are likely to affect listed or proposed endangered or threatened species or critical habitat, you are providing HUD with a statement from a qualified data source explaining the likely affect, and/or a finding made by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior or the National Marine Fisheries Service of the Department of Commerce stating as acceptable the proposed mitigation that you will provide to protect any affected endangered or threatened species or critical habitat.

12. Site affecting a designated wetland:

Threshold: New construction or conversion to housing of a non-residential property located within a designated wetland is subject to Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands. This Executive Order directs HUD to avoid, where practicable, financial support for new construction on wetland property. Note: Proposed funding for new construction or conversion is subject to the Executive Order decision making process. This may result in a disqualification of the application (refer above to number 7 under "Instructions to Applicants").

Documentation:* You are to select A or B for the condition that best describes the property and report the option selected in item 12 of section G.

A. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source stating that the property is not located within a designated wetland where new construction or conversion is proposed.

B. You are providing HUD with a finding made by a qualified data source that the property is located within a designated wetland, which applies only to property where new construction or conversion is proposed.

The information for A and B must provide HUD with the wetland panel number obtained from official maps issued by the Department of the Interior on the basis of which the finding was made, or where DOI has not mapped the area, a letter or other documentation from the Army Corps of Engineers or other Federal agency.

13. Significant impact to the human environment:

Threshold: HUD must perform an environmental assessment of any property proposed for major rehabilitation or new construction except for an individual single-family property having one-to-four dwelling units or a scattered site project of five or more units where the sites are more than 2,000 feet apart and there are not more than four units on any one site. It is the policy of the Department to reject proposals which have significant adverse environmental impacts and to encourage the modification of projects in order to enhance environmental quality and minimize environmental harm. This policy is authorized by the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and the implementing regulations of the Council on Environmental Quality and HUD's Environmental Rule at 24 CFR part 50.

Documentation:* You are to provide HUD with any information on any adverse environmental impacts that affect the property or that the project would create. You are to report this data on a separate sheet and attach it to Exhibit 2C(15). Examples of adverse impacts are: soil instability and erodibility; natural or person-made hazards and nuisances; air pollution; inadequate infrastructure (e.g., water supply, waste water treatment, storm water management, solid waste collection), inadequate public services (i.e., fire, police, health care, social services, schools, parks) and transportation; and encroachment on prime farmlands and wild and scenic river areas. You are to identify any significant impacts to the human environment.

II. Amount Allocated

(A) Available Funds. Approximately $24,837,500 million in Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 funding (plus any additional funds that would be available through recapture) is being made available through this NOFA. The breakdown for this funding is below.

(B) Funding Categories and Maximum Award Amounts. HUD will award up to approximately $25 million on a competitive basis in the following funding categories. Applicants must apply for funds in only one of the two categories: Category (1) Capacity Building or Category (2) Support for Innovative Housing and Economic Development Activities. Only one application will be accepted from any given organization. All subsequent applications will be deemed ineligible.

Category 1 Capacity Building. HUD will award up to approximately $10 million to applicants for capacity building activities. This amount will go directly to local rural non-profits, community development corporations (CDCs) and federally recognized Indian tribes to increase an organization's capacity to support innovative housing and economic development activities. The maximum amount awarded to a successful applicant in this category will be $150,000. If you received two or more RHED grants for capacity building since 1999, you are not eligible to apply under this category.

activities in rural areas. A number of resources are available from the Federal government to address these problems, including programs of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), the Economic Development Administration (EDA), the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), the Department of the Interior (for Indian Tribes) and HUD. The Rural Housing and Economic Development program has been developed to supplement these resources and to focus specifically on capacity building and promoting innovative approaches to housing and economic development in rural areas. The commitment must be written on letterhead from the participating organization, must be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization and dated not earlier than the date of publication of this NOFA. In documenting a firm commitment, the applicant's partner must:

(n) Provision of direct financial assistance to homeowners/businesses/developers, etc. This can be in the form of establishing default reserves, pooling/securitization mechanisms, loans, grants, funding existing Individual Development Accounts or similar activities.

Applicants are reminded that they must affirmatively further fair housing in all their activities. Applicants should reference Section V(D) of the SuperNOFA General Section for clarification of AFFA requirements.

Applicants should demonstrate that their activities will continue to serve the populations that are in need and that beneficiaries will have a choice of innovative housing and economic development opportunities as a result of these activities.

Note: Administrative costs for assistance under this funding category may not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the total HUD RHED grant award.

(D) Ineligible activities. Examples of ineligible activities for both funding categories include:

(a) the use of RHED grant funds for income payments to subsidize individuals or families;

(b) political activities;

(c) general governmental expenses other than expenses related to the administrative cost of the grant; or

(d) projects and activities intended for personal gain or private use.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) General. To be eligible for funding under this program section of this SuperNOFA, you must meet the threshold and statutory or regulatory requirements applicable to all programs set forth in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. In addition to the above, you must meet the following program specific requirements.

(B) Accounting System Requirements. RHED requires that successful applicants have in place an accounting system that meets the policies, guidance, and requirements as described in the following applicable OMB Circulars and Code of Federal Regulations:

(1) OMB Circular No. A-87 (Cost Principles Applicable to Grants, Contracts and Other Agreements with State and Local Governments);

(2) OMB Circular No. A-122 (Cost Principles for Nonprofit Organizations),

(3) OMB Circular No. A-133 (Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations);

(4) 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and other Non-Profit Organizations); and

(5) 24 CFR part 85 (Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State, Local, and Federally recognized Indian tribal governments).

These documents apply to the award, acceptance and use of assistance under the Rural Housing and Economic Development program NOFA, and to the remedies for noncompliance, except when inconsistent with the provisions of the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act, other Federal statutes or the provisions of this NOFA.

(C) Ethical Standards. HUD requires that all grantees adhere to core values and ethical business practices, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA as a condition of the award.

(D) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. HUD requires grantees to use small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses and women-owned businesses in conducting your work activities, if possible. Please refer to Section V(F) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for specific requirements.

(E) Forms, Certifications and Assurances. Applicants are required to submit signed copies of the standard forms, certifications and assurances included in the Appendix of this NOFA signed by the managing officer of your organization.

(F) Environmental Review. Selection for award does not constitute approval of any proposed sites. Following selection for award, HUD will perform an environmental review of activities proposed for assistance under this part, in accordance with 24 CFR part 50. The results of the environmental review may require that proposed activities be modified or that proposed sites be rejected. Applicants are particularly cautioned not to undertake or commit HUD funds for acquisition or development of proposed properties (including establishing lines of credit that permit financing of such activities or making commitments for loans that would finance such activities from a revolving loan fund capitalized by funds under this NOFA) prior to HUD approval of specific properties or areas. Each application must contain an assurance that you, the applicant, will assist HUD to comply with part 50; will supply HUD with all available relevant information to perform an environmental review for each proposed property; will carry out mitigating measures required by HUD or select alternate property; and will not acquire, rehabilitate, convert, demolish, lease, repair or construct property, nor commit or expend HUD or local funds for these program activities with respect to any eligible property, until HUD approval of the property is received. In supplying HUD with environmental information, grantees are to use the same guidance as provided in the Notice CPD-99-01, entitled "Field Environmental Processing for HUD Colonias Initiative (HCI) grants" issued January 27, 1999.

(G) Conflicts of Interest. Consultants and experts assisting HUD in rating and ranking applicants for funding under this NOFA are subject to 18 U.S.C. 208. Refer to Section V(M) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(H) Grant Amounts. In the event, you, the applicant, are awarded a grant that has been reduced (e.g. the application contained some activities that were ineligible or budget information did not support the request), you will be required to modify your project plans and application to conform to the terms of HUD's approval before execution of the grant agreement. HUD reserves the right to reduce or de-obligate the award if suitable modifications to the proposed project are not submitted by the awardee within 90 days of the request. Any modifications must be within the scope of the original application. HUD reserves the right not to make awards under this NOFA.

(I) Grant Period. Recipients will have 36 months from the date of the executed grant agreement to complete all project activities.

(J) Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control. All property assisted under the Rural Housing and Economic Development program is covered by the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act (42 U.S.C. 4821-4846) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 35.

(K) Adjustments to Funding. In addition to the items identified under Section VI(F) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, HUD:

(1) reserves the right to utilize this year's funding to fund previous year's errors prior to the rating and ranking this year's applications. Additionally, HUD reserves the right to reallocate funds between categories to achieve the maximum allocation of funds in both categories.

(2) If after all eligible applicants have been selected for funding in Category 1 and funds remain, the remaining funds will be allocated to Category 2 to fund additional eligible applications in that category. If after all eligible applicants have been selected for funding in Category 2 and funds remain, the remaining funds will be allocated to Category 1 to fund additional eligible applications in that category. If a balance of funds remains, HUD reserves the right to utilize those funds toward the following year's competition.

(L) Economic Opportunities for Low and Very Low Income Persons (Section 3). Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1702u) is applicable to the RHED program. Please see Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. (1) General. To review and rate applications, HUD may establish panels which may include outside experts or consultants to obtain certain expertise and outside points of view, including views from other Federal agencies.

(2) Rating. All applicants for funding will be evaluated against the criteria below. In evaluating applications for funding, HUD will take into account an applicant's past performance in managing funds, including the ability to account for funds appropriately; timely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, State or local programs; meeting performance targets for completion of activities; and number of persons to be served or targeted for assistance. HUD may use information relating to these items based on information at hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office reports or findings, hotline complaints that have been found to have merit, or other such sources of information. In evaluating past performance, HUD will deduct points from rating scores as specified under Rating Factor 1, Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience, described in this section below.

(3) Ranking. Applicants will be ranked separately within each of the two funding categories. Applicants will be selected for funding in accordance with their rank order in each category. An application must receive a minimum score of 75 points to be eligible for funding. If two or more applications are rated fundable and have the same score, but there are insufficient funds to fund all of them, the application(s) with the highest score for Rating Factor 2 (Need and Extent of the Problem) shall be selected. If applications still have the same score, the highest score in the following factors will be selected sequentially until one highest score can be determined, Rating Factor 3 (Soundness of Approach), Rating Factor 1 (Capacity and Experience), Rating Factor 5 (Achieving Results and Program Evaluation) and Rating Factor 4 (Leveraging Resources).

(B) Initial screening. During the period immediately following the application deadline, HUD will screen each application to determine eligibility. Applications will be rejected if they:

(1) Are submitted by ineligible applicants (including applicants that do not meet the threshold requirements described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA);

(2) Do not serve an eligible rural area;

(3) Do not meet the objectives of the RHED program;

(4) Propose a program for which the majority of the activities are ineligible.

(C) Rating Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are provided below. The maximum number of points for this program is 102. This includes 100 points for all five rating factors and two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(D) Notification of Approval and Disapproval. HUD will notify you whether or not you have been selected for an award. If you are selected, HUD's notice to you of the amount of the grant award based on the approved application will constitute HUD's conditional approval, subject to negotiation and execution of the grant agreement by HUD.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. Any applicant can obtain a debriefing of their application. Please refer to Section IX(A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for details on the conditions and time frames for requesting a debriefing. In addition, applicants requesting a debriefing must send a written request to Ms. Jackie Williams-Mitchell, Director, Office of Rural Housing and Economic Development (ORHED), at the address listed in Section I of this NOFA under "For Further Information and Technical Assistance."

(F) Rating Factors. The following Rating Factors will be used to review, evaluate and rate your application.

Rating Factor 1—Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (15 Points).

This rating factor addresses the extent to which you have the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement your proposed work plan as further described in Rating Factor 3 in a timely manner, specifically within the 36 month award period.

Rating standards applicable to individual funding categories. The two funding categories have different objectives. Accordingly, in addition to the generally applicable rating standard discussed above, different standards as discussed below will be used to judge the experience and qualifications of the applicants for each of the two funding categories. HUD fully supports emerging organizations that desire to develop internal capacity. Therefore, the following categories will be evaluated:

(1) For Capacity Building applications (15 points). Team members, composition, experience, organizational structure and management capacity.

Your response to this subfactor should clearly state the need which your organization is to address through the request for assistance. In addition, you should describe how the enhanced capacity realized through the assistance will fulfill that need. HUD will evaluate the experience of your project director, core staff, any outside consultants, contractors, subrecipients, and project partners to implement all of the work activities in your workplan as they relate to innovative housing and economic development activities. In evaluating your capacity to do the work, HUD will assess the recentness and relevancy of the prior work experience of each of the parties listed above to execute the prescribed activities; the services that consultants or other parties will provide to fill gaps in your staffing structure to enable you to carry out the proposed workplan; the experience of your project director in managing projects of similar size, scope, and dollar amount; the lines of authority and procedures that you have in place for ensuring that workplan goals and objectives are being met, consultants and other project partners are performing as planned, and that beneficiaries are being adequately served. In responding to this sub-factor, please indicate how the capacity building assistance will strengthen or otherwise impact your organization's current housing or economic development program portfolio, or if you are a new grantee, how the capacity assistance will ensure that you can carry out your proposed activities. In judging your response to this factor, HUD will only consider work experience gained within the last three years. When responding, please be sure to provide the dates, job titles and relevancy of the past experience to work undertaken by the employee or contractor under your proposed RHED application. The more recent, relevant, and successful the experience of your team members is in relationship to the workplan activities, the greater the number of points you will receive.

(2) For Support for Innovative Rural Housing and Economic Development Activities applications

(a) (5 points). Team members, composition, and experience. HUD will evaluate the experience of your project director, core staff, any outside consultants, contractors, subrecipients, and project partners to implement all of the work activities in your workplan. In evaluating your capacity to do the work, HUD will assess the recentness and relevance of the prior work experience of each of the parties listed above to execute the prescribed activities; the services that consultants or other parties will provide to fill gaps in your staffing structure to enable you to carry out the proposed workplan; the experience of your project director in managing projects of similar size, scope, and dollar amount; the lines of authority and procedures that you have in place for ensuring that workplan goals and objectives are being met, that consultants and other project partners are performing as planned, and that beneficiaries are being adequately served. In judging your response to this factor, HUD will only consider work experience gained within the last seven years. When responding, please be sure to provide the dates, job titles and relevancy of the past experience to work undertaken by the employee or contractor under your proposed RHED application. The more recent, relevant, and successful the experience of your team members are in relationship to the workplan activities, the greater the number of points that you will receive.

(b) (5 points). Organizational structure and management capacity. HUD will evaluate the extent to which you can demonstrate your organization's ability to manage a workforce composed of full-time and/or part-time staff as well as any consultant staff and your ability to work with community-based groups or organizations in resolving issues related to affordable housing and economic development. In evaluating this sub-factor, HUD will take into account your experience in working with community-based organizations to design and implement programs which address the identified housing and economic development issues. The more recent, relevant, and successful the experience of your organization and any participating entities, the greater the number of points you will receive.

(c) (5 points). Experience with performance based funding requirements. HUD will evaluate your experience in producing timely products and reports in any previous grant programs undertaken with HUD funds or other Federal, State, local or non-profit or for-profit organization funds. In assessing points for this sub-factor, HUD reserves the right to take into account your past performance in meeting performance and reporting goals on any previous HUD awards. HUD will deduct one point for each of the following activities related to previous HUD grant programs for which unsatisfactory performance has been verified and related to: (1) Mismanaging funds, including the inability to account for funds appropriately; (2) untimely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, State, or local programs; and (3) significant and consistent failure to meet performance targets. Among the specific outcomes to be measured are the number of jobs created or retained, the number of people trained, the number of housing units rehabilitated or constructed and made available for low- and moderate-income persons, or other relevant objective performance measures related to your previous job experience and/or grant programs. Applicants that can demonstrate a closer and greater linkage between the expected outcomes and the previously generated outcomes will receive higher points for this sub-factor.

Rating Factor 2—Need and Extent of the Problem (25 Points)

The Rural Housing and Economic Development program is designed to address the problems of rural poverty, inadequate housing and lack of economic opportunity. This Factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed activities based on levels of distress, and an indication of the urgency of meeting the need/distress in the applicant's target area. In responding to this Factor, applications will be evaluated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activity and the urgency in meeting the need are documented and compared to the target area and national data.

(1) In applying this factor, HUD will compare current levels of need in the area (i.e.) Census Tract(s) or Block Group(s), immediately surrounding the project site or the target area to be served by the proposed project and in the national level of need. This means that an application that provides data that show levels of need in the project area expressed as a percent greater than the national average will be rated higher under this Factor. Notwithstanding the above, an applicant proposing a project to be located outside the target area could still receive points under the Rating Factor 2 if a clear rationale and linkage is provided linking the proposed project location and the benefits to be derived by persons living in more distressed area(s) of the applicant's target area.

(2) Applicants should provide data that address indicators of need as follows:

(a) Poverty Rate (5 points)—data should be provided in both absolute and percentage form (i.e., whole numbers and percents) for the target area(s). An application that compares the local poverty rate in the following manner to the national average at the time of submission will receive points under this section as follows:

(i) Less than the national average = 0 points;

(ii) Equal to but less than twice the national average = 1 point;

(iii) Twice but less than three times the national average = 3 points;

(iv) Three or more times the national average = 5 points.

(b) Unemployment (5 points)—for the target area:

(i) Less than the national average = 0 points;

(ii) Equal to but less than twice the national average = 1 point;

(iii) Twice but less than three times the national average = 2 points;

(iv) Three but less than four times the national average = 3 points;

(v) Four but less than five times the national average = 4 points;

(vi) Five or more times the national average = 5 points.

(c) Other indicators of social and/or economic decline that best capture the applicant's local situation (5 points)—Data that could be provided under this section are information on the community's stagnant or falling tax base, including recent commercial or industrial closings; housing conditions, such as the number and percentage of substandard and/or overcrowded units; rent burden (defined as average housing cost divided by average income) for the target area; local crime statistics, etc. To the extent that the applicant's statewide or local Consolidated Plan, its Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing choice (AI), and/or its Anti-Poverty Strategy identify the level of distress in the community and the neighborhood in which the project is to be carried out, references to such documents should be included in preparing the response to this Factor.

In rating applications under this Factor, HUD reserves the right to consider sources of available objective data other than, or in addition to, those provided by applicants, and to compare such data to those provided by applicants for the project site. This data includes the use of U.S. Census data.

(a) HUD requires use of sound and reliable data (e.g., U.S. Census data, State statistical reports, university studies/reports that are verifiable) to support distress levels cited in each application. A source for all information along with the publication or origination date must also be provided.

(b) Updated Census data are available for the following indicators:

(i) Unemployment rate—estimated monthly for counties, with a two-month lag;

(ii) Population—estimated for incorporated places and counties, through 2000;

(iii) Poverty rate—2000 data being the most recent available.

(c) Demographics of Distress—Special Factors (10 points). Because of HUD's concern with meeting the needs of certain underserved areas, you will be awarded a total of ten points if you are located in or propose to serve one or more of the following populations, if your application demonstrates that 100 percent of the beneficiaries supported by RHED funds are in one or more of the following populations. You must also specifically identify how each population will be served and that the proposed service area meets the definition of "eligible rural area" as described in Section III(A)(2) of this NOFA:

(i) Areas with very small populations in non-urban areas (2,500 population or less);

(ii) Seasonal farmworkers;

(iii) Federally recognized Indian Tribes;

(iv) Colonias;

(v) Appalachia's Distressed Counties;

or

(vi) The Lower Mississippi Delta Region (8 states and 235 counties/parishes). For these underserved areas, you should ensure that the populations that you serve and the documentation that you provide is consistent with the information described in the above paragraphs under this rating factor.

Rating Factor 3—Soundness of Approach (30 points)

This factor addresses the overall quality of your proposed workplan, taking into account the project and the activities proposed to be undertaken; the cost-effectiveness of your proposed program; and the linkages between identified needs, the purposes of this program and your proposed activities and tasks. In addition, this factor addresses your ability to ensure that a clear linkage exists between innovative rural housing and economic development. In assessing cost-effectiveness, HUD will take into account your staffing levels, beneficiaries to be served, a timetable for the achievement of program outcomes, the delivery of products and reports and any anticipated outcomes or products. You will receive a greater number of points if your workplan is consistent with the purpose of the RHED program, your program goals and the resources provided.

(a) Management Plan (24 points). A clearly defined management plan that identifies each of the projects and activities you will carry out to further the objectives of this program; describes the linkage between rural housing and economic development activities; and addresses the needs identified in Factor 2, including needs that had been previously identified in a statewide or local Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or Consolidated Plan. The populations that were described in Rating Factor 2 for the purpose of documenting need should be the same populations that will receive the primary benefit of the activities, both immediately and long term. The benefits should be affirmatively marketed to those populations least likely to apply for and receive these benefits without such marketing. Your timetable should address the measurable goals and objectives to be achieved through the proposed activities; the method you will use for evaluating and monitoring program progress with respect to those activities; and the method you will use to ensure that the activities will be completed on time and within your proposed budget estimates. Applicants that have a clearly defined management plan and can produce results in less than 36 months will receive higher rating points for this sub-factor. Your management plan should also include the budget for your program, broken out for each line item. Documented projected cost estimates from outside sources are also required. Applicants should submit their workplan on a spreadsheet showing each project to be undertaken and the tasks (to the extent necessary or appropriate) in your workplan to implement the project with your associated budget estimate per activity/task. Your workplan should provide the rationale for your proposed activities and any assumptions used in determining your project timeline and budget estimates. Failure to provide your rationale may result in an application receiving fewer points for lack of clarity in the proposed management plan.

This sub-factor should include information that indicates the extent to which you have coordinated your activities with other known organizations (e.g. through letters of participation or coordination) that are not directly participating in your proposed work activities, but with which you share common goals and objectives and are working toward meeting these objectives in a holistic and comprehensive manner. The goal of this coordination is to ensure that programs do not operate in isolation. Additionally, your application should demonstrate the extent to which your program exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on RHED funding and relying more on state, local, and private funding. The goal of sustainability is to ensure that the activities proposed in your application can be continued after your grant award is complete.

(b) Policy Priorities (6 Points). Policy Priorities are further outlined in Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. You should document the extent to which HUD's Policy Priorities are furthered by the proposed activities. Applicants that include activities that can result in the achievement of these Departmental Policy Priorities as described below and in Section II of the General Section of this SuperNOFA will receive higher rating points in evaluating their application for funding. Six Departmental Policy Priorities are listed below. You will receive 1 rating point for each Policy Priority addressed in your program of activities under this rating factor as described in Section VI (b) of this program NOFA. When Policy Priorities are included, describe in brief detail how those activities will be carried out. The Policy Priorities include (1 point each):

(a) Providing Increased Homeownership and Rental Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency;

(b) Improving our Nation's Communities;

(c) Encouraging Accessible Design Features;

(d) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation;

(e) Participation in Energy Star;

(f) Ending Chronic Homelessness within Ten Years

Rating Factor 4—Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which applicants for any of the two funding categories have obtained firm commitments of financial or in-kind resources from other Federal, State, local, and private sources. For every RHED dollar anticipated, you should provide the specific amount of dollars leveraged. In assigning points for this criterion, HUD will consider the level of outside resources obtained for cash or in-kind services that support activities proposed in your application. HUD will award a greater number of points based upon a comparison of the extent of leveraged funds compared to the requested RHED grant. This criterion is applicable to both funding categories under this NOFA. The level of outside resources for which commitments are obtained will be evaluated based on their importance to the total program. You must provide evidence of leveraging by including in the application letters of firm commitment to participate from any entity, including your own organization, which will be providing matching funds to the project. Each commitment described in the narrative of this factor must be in accordance with the definition of "firm commitment" as defined in Section III(A)(2) of this NOFA. The commitment letter must be on letterhead from the participating organization, must be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization and must not be dated earlier than this NOFA is published.

Points for this Factor will be awarded based on the satisfactory provisions of evidence of leveraging and financial sustainability, as described above, and the ratio of requested HUD RHED funds as follows:

- (i) 50% or more of requested HUD RHED funds will receive 10 points;
- (ii) 39–30% of requested HUD RHED funds will receive 8 points;
- (iii) 29–20% of requested HUD RHED funds will receive 6 points;
- (iv) 19–9% of requested HUD RHED funds will receive 4 points;
- (v) Less than 9% of HUD RHED funds requested will receive 0 points.

Rating Factor 5—Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (20 Points)

This Factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their application and assesses their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate project end goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals. Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established time frames.

Program outcomes for the Rural Housing and Economic Development Program must include where applicable: (1) Number of housing units constructed; (2) number of housing units rehabilitated that will be made available to low-to-moderate-income participants; (3) number of jobs created; (4) percentage change in earnings as a result of employment for those participants; (5) number of participants trained; (6) the percent of participants trained that find a job; (7) number of new businesses created; (8) number of existing businesses assisted; and (9) annual estimated savings for low-income family as a result of energy efficiency improvements. In addition, applicants that receive capacity building funds must include goals (and report accomplishments) for the following, where applicable: (1) Increase in program accomplishments as a result of capacity building assistance (e.g. number of employees hired or retained, efficiency or effectiveness of services provided) and (2) Increase in organizational resources as a result of assistance (e.g., dollars leveraged).

Applicant must complete the "Logic Model" HUD Form included in the General Section of the SuperNOFA and submit the completed form with their application.

This rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. HUD will hold a training broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about Rating Factor 5. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, consult the HUD Web site at www.hud.gov.

RC/EZ/EC Bonus Points (2 Points)

HUD will award two bonus points to all applications that include documentation stating that the proposed eligible activities/projects will be located in and serve Federally designated Rural Renewal Communities, Rural Empowerment Zones, or Enterprise Communities (Rural EZs/ECs). A listing of Federally designated Rural RCs, EZs and ECs is available on the Internet at <http://www.hud.gov>. Further explanation of RC/EZ/EC can be found in Section VI of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

The total narrative response to all factors should not exceed 15 pages and must be submitted on 8.5" by 11" paper, using a 12 point font size, with lines double spaced and printed only on one side. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify your application, HUD will not consider or review the information on any excess pages, which may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications. After the application due date, HUD may not, consistent with its regulations in 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, consider any unsolicited information you, the applicant, may want to provide. HUD may contact you, however, to clarify an item in your application or to correct technical deficiencies. You should note, however, that HUD may not seek clarification of items or responses that improve the substantive quality of your response to any eligibility or selection factors. Examples of curable (correctable) technical deficiencies include your failure to submit the proper certifications or your failure to submit an application that contains an original signature by an authorized official. In each case, HUD will notify you in writing of a technical deficiency. HUD will notify applicants by facsimile or by USPS, return receipt requested. Clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information requested by HUD must be submitted within 5 calendar days of the date you receive HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday, your correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or Federal holiday). The determination of when you received the deficiency letter will be based on the confirmation of the facsimile transmission, return or postal tracking information, as appropriate. If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete and it will not be considered for funding.

Funding Availability for Housing Choice Voucher Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Program Coordinators

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. The Housing Choice Voucher Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) program (referred to in previous NOFAs as the Section 8 FSS program and as the Rental Certificate/Housing Choice Voucher FSS program) is intended to promote the development of local strategies to coordinate the use of assistance under the Housing Choice Voucher program with public and private resources to enable participating families to achieve economic independence and self-sufficiency. The FSS program provides critical tools that can be used by communities to support welfare reform and help families develop new skills that will lead to economic self-sufficiency. As a result of their participation in the FSS program, many families have achieved stable, well-paid employment, which has made it possible for them to become homeowners.

An FSS program coordinator assures that program participants are linked to the supportive services they need to achieve self-sufficiency.

Available Funds. This NOFA announces the availability of up to $47,688,000 in Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 to employ program coordinators for the Housing Choice Voucher FSS program. If additional funding becomes available during FY 2003, HUD may increase the amount available for Housing Choice Voucher FSS Program coordinators under this NOFA. Awards under this NOFA are subject to a cap of $62,500 per year per full time coordinator position funded. Under this NOFA, if PHAs apply jointly, the $62,500 maximum amount that may be requested per position applies to up to one full-time coordinator position for the application as a whole, not to each PHA separately. Evidence of salary comparability to similar positions in the local jurisdiction for each position must be kept on file in the PHA office.

Eligible Applicants: PHAs eligible to apply for funding under this NOFA are:

- (1) PHAs that received funding for one or more FSS program coordinators under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001 or FY 2002, and
- (2) PHAs that were not funded under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 that—

(a) Have HUD approval to administer a Housing Choice Voucher FSS program of at least 25 slots, or

(b) Are PHAs with HUD approval to administer Housing Choice Voucher FSS programs of fewer than 25 slots, applying jointly with one or more other PHAs so that together they have HUD approval to administer at least 25 Housing Choice Voucher FSS slots. (See Section III. A. of this NOFA for further information about the PHA's HUD-approved FSS program size.)

Application Deadline. May 30, 2003.

Match. None

II. Amount Allocated

For FY 2003, up to $47,688,000 is available under Title II, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Certificate Fund in the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003). If additional funds become available in FY 2003, HUD may fund additional applications submitted in response to the NOFA.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Number of Positions for Which Eligible Applicants May Apply; Eligible Activities, Ineligible Activities

(A) Program Description. A PHA administering the FSS program uses a program coordinating committee (PCC) to assist the PHA to secure resources and implement the FSS program. A PCC is made up of representatives of businesses, local government, job training and employment agencies, local welfare agencies, educational institutions, childcare providers, and nonprofit service providers, including faith-based and other community organizations. A Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinator works with the PCC and with local service providers to assure that Housing Choice Voucher FSS program participants are linked to the supportive services they need to achieve self-sufficiency. The FSS program coordinator ensures through case management that the services included in participants' contracts of participation are provided on a regular, ongoing and satisfactory basis, that participants are fulfilling their responsibilities under the contracts and that FSS escrow accounts are established and properly maintained for eligible families. FSS coordinators may also perform job development functions for the FSS program.

PHAs are encouraged to outreach to disabled Housing Choice Voucher program participants who might be interested in participating in the FSS program and to include agencies on their FSS PCC that work with and provide services for disabled families.

Under normal circumstances, a full-time FSS program coordinator should be able to serve approximately 50 FSS program participants, depending on the coordinator's case management functions.

Through annual NOFAs, HUD has provided funding to PHAs that are operating Housing Choice Voucher FSS programs to enable those PHAs to employ program coordinators to support their Housing Choice Voucher FSS programs.

In the FY 2003 Housing Choice Voucher FSS Program Coordinator NOFA, HUD is again making funding available to PHAs to employ FSS program coordinators and FSS homeownership program coordinators for one year.

PHAs funded under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 are considered "renewal" PHAs in this NOFA. These renewal PHAs are invited to apply for funds to continue previously funded FSS program coordinator positions. In addition, any renewal PHA that did not receive funding for a Housing Choice Voucher FSS homeownership coordinator under the FY 2002 FSS NOFA is invited to apply for funding for a coordinator position to support FSS homeownership activities.

Because of the importance of the FSS program in helping families increase earned income and develop assets, HUD will also accept applications from "new" PHAs that were not funded under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002.

To support the Department's initiatives on Colonias, a selection preference is included in this NOFA for "new" applicant PHAs that provide services and support to rural underserved communities in the Southwest Border regions of Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas. See Section IV.A.(3)(c) of this NOFA for requirements that must be met to qualify for the Colonias preference.

In this NOFA, the FSS program size is the total number of Housing Choice Voucher FSS program slots identified in the PHA's HUD-approved FSS Action Plan. To ensure that the application is accurate, prior to submitting an application, new PHAs may wish to confirm the number of HUD-approved slots their local HUD field office has on record for the PHA. An FSS Action Plan can be updated by means of a simple one-page addendum that reflects the total number of FSS slots (voluntary and/or mandatory slots) the PHA intends to serve. This addendum must be approved by the PHA's local HUD field office.

For a new PHA applicant to qualify for funding under this NOFA, the PHA's initial FSS Action Plan or amendment to change the number of Housing Choice

Voucher FSS slots in the PHA's previously HUD-approved FSS Action Plan must be submitted to and approved by the PHA's local HUD field office prior to the application due date under this NOFA.

(B) Eligible Applicants. PHAs eligible to apply for funding under this NOFA are:

(1) Renewal PHAs. Those PHAs that received funding under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002.

(2) New PHAs. PHAs that were not funded under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 that:

(a) Are authorized through their HUD-approved FSS Action Plan to administer a Housing Choice Voucher FSS program of at least 25 slots; or

(b) Are PHAs with HUD approval to administer Housing Choice Voucher FSS programs of fewer than 25 slots that apply jointly with one or more other PHAs so that together they have HUD approval to administer at least 25 Housing Choice Voucher FSS slots. Joint applicants must specify a lead co-applicant that will receive and administer the FSS program coordinator funding.

(3) Moving to Work (MTW) PHAs. PHAs that are under the MTW demonstration may qualify for funding under this NOFA if the PHA administers an FSS program. When determining the size of a MTW PHA's HUD-approved FSS program, the PHA may request that the number of FSS slots reflected in the PHA's MTW agreement be used instead of the number in the PHA's FSS Action Plan.

(4) Troubled PHAs. (a) A PHA that has been designated by HUD as a troubled PHA under the Section 8 Management Assessment Program (SEMAP), or has major program management findings from Inspector General audits or serious outstanding HUD management review or IPA audit findings for the PHA's Housing Choice Voucher or Moderate Rehabilitation programs that are resolved prior to the application due date is eligible to apply under this NOFA. Serious program management findings are those that would cast doubt on the capacity of the PHA to administer its Housing Choice Voucher FSS program in accordance with applicable HUD regulatory and statutory requirements.

(b) A PHA whose SEMAP troubled designation has not been removed by HUD or the findings resolved by the due date, may apply if the PHA submits an application that designates another contractor that is acceptable to HUD that:

(i) Includes an agreement by the other contractor to administer the FSS program on behalf of the PHA; and

(ii) In the instance of a PHA with unresolved major program management findings, includes a statement that outlines the steps the PHA is taking to resolve the program findings.

(C) Number of Positions for which Eligible PHAs may apply: Eligible PHAs may apply for funding for Housing Choice Voucher FSS coordinator positions under this NOFA as follows:

(1) Renewal PHAs. PHAs that received funding under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 that qualify as eligible PHAs under the definition of eligible applicants in Section III.B. of this NOFA, may apply for:

(a) Renewal of each FSS coordinator position, including homeownership coordinator positions, most recently funded under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 that has been filled by the PHA.

(b) Up to one initial full-time FSS homeownership program coordinator for renewal PHAs with qualifying homeownership programs that did not receive funding for a homeownership coordinator under the FY 2002 FSS NOFA.

(2) New PHAs: A PHA that did not receive funding under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 may apply for funding for Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinator positions as follows:

(a) Up to one full-time FSS coordinator position for a PHA with HUD approval to administer an FSS program of 25 or more FSS slots.

(b) Up to one full-time position per application for joint PHA applicants that have HUD approval to administer a total of at least 25 Housing Choice Voucher FSS slots between or among them.

(D) Eligible Activities. Funds awarded to PHAs under this NOFA may only be used to employ or otherwise retain the services of Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinators and FSS homeownership coordinators for one year. A part-time program coordinator may be retained where appropriate.

(E) Ineligible Activities. (1) Funds under this NOFA may not be used to pay the salary of an FSS coordinator for a public housing FSS program. Operating subsidy can be used to fund a public housing FSS program coordinator's salary.

(2) Funds under this NOFA may not be used to pay for services for FSS program participants.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the applicable statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in Section V. of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, each applicant must meet and comply with the following threshold statutory and other program requirements.

(A) Threshold Requirements. (1) Each applicant must qualify as an eligible PHA under Section III.B of this NOFA and must have submitted their FSS application by the application due date and in the format required in Section VI. of this NOFA.

(2) Renewal Applicants. (a) In addition to the requirements in Section IV.(A)(1) above, renewal PHA applicants must continue to operate a Housing Choice Voucher FSS program, have filled eligible FSS program coordinator positions for which they are seeking renewal funding, executed FSS contracts of participation with FSS program participants and submitted reports on participating families to HUD via the HUD-50058 FSS/WtW Voucher Addendum.

(b) Renewal PHAs applying for an initial Housing Choice Voucher FSS Homeownership Coordinator must meet all requirements of Sections IV.(A)(1) and (A)(2)(a) above. In addition, the PHA must not have received funding for an FSS homeownership coordinator under the FY 2002 Housing Choice Voucher FSS Program Coordinator NOFA and must administer or participate in a homeownership program that serves FSS program participants or graduates. Qualifying homeownership programs include the Housing Choice Voucher program homeownership option and other programs that prepare voucher program FSS participants for making the transition from rental to homeownership.

(3) New Applicants. (a) Must be authorized through their HUD-approved FSS Housing Choice Voucher Action Plan to administer an FSS program or at least 25 slots; or

(b) Are PHAs with HUD approval to administer Housing Choice Voucher FSS programs of fewer than 25 slots that apply jointly with one or more other PHAs so that together they have HUD approval to administer at least 25 Housing Choice Voucher FSS slots.

(c) New Applicant PHAs claiming the Colonias preference must meet the requirements of Section IV.(A)(1) and Section IV.(A)(3)(a) or (b) and operate in a Southwest border area that contains Colonias communities and administer programs that include outreach to members of those Colonias communities.

Note: A listing of those PHAs in Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas that HUD has identified as operating in areas containing Colonias is included in this NOFA as Attachment C. PHAs not listed in Attachment C will be required to request that the Grants Management Center determine their eligibility for the preference.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Threshold Compliance. Only applications that meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of Section IV. of this NOFA will be eligible for further processing.

(B) Panels. To review applications, HUD may establish panels that may include persons not currently employed by HUD.

(C) Order of Funding. The funds available under this NOFA are not being awarded on a competitive basis. Applications will be reviewed by the Grants Management Center (GMC) to determine whether or not they are technically adequate based on the NOFA requirements. Field offices will provide to the GMC in a timely manner, as requested, information needed by the GMC to make its determination, such as the HUD-approved Housing Choice Voucher FSS program size of new PHA applicants and information on the administrative capabilities of PHAs. Categories of applications that will not be funded are stated in Section VII.(B) of this FSS NOFA.

All technically adequate applications will be funded to the extent funds are available. If HUD receives applications for funding greater than the amount made available under this NOFA, HUD will fund eligible applicants as follows:

Priority 1—Applications from eligible renewal PHAs for continuation of eligible positions where the PHA has hired a coordinator.

Priority 2—Eligible new applicant PHAs that qualify for the Colonias preference.

Priority 3—Applications from eligible new PHAs that do not qualify for the Colonias preference.

Priority 4—Applications from eligible renewal PHAs for an initial coordinator position to support FSS homeownership activities.

HUD will first process and fund all eligible Priority 1 applications to continue funding for Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinators and FSS homeownership coordinators. If the amount available is not sufficient to fund all eligible Priority 1 applications up to the maximum amount permitted in this NOFA, HUD will determine if all applications can be funded if salary increases for Priority 1 are limited to no more than one percent of the salary from the most recent award to the PHA for the position to be renewed. If monies are still not sufficient to fund all eligible positions, HUD will begin by funding eligible applications at the reduced salary level, by Housing Choice Voucher program size, from smallest to largest, starting with the smallest Housing Choice Voucher programs first. Housing Choice Voucher program size will be determined by HUD using baseline data developed by the Department.

If funding remains after funding all Priority 1 applications, HUD will then process and provide funding to eligible Priority 2 applicants for up to one Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinator position per eligible new PHA that qualifies for the Colonias preference under this NOFA. If there are not sufficient monies to fund an FSS program coordinator for each eligible Priority 2 PHA, HUD will begin funding up to one full-time coordinator for each eligible Priority 2 applicant by Housing Choice Voucher program size, from smallest to largest, starting with the smallest Housing Choice Voucher programs first. As with Priority 1, Housing Choice Voucher program size will be determined by HUD using baseline data developed by the Department.

If funding remains after funding all Priority 1 and 2 applications, HUD will then process and provide funding to eligible Priority 3 applicants for up to one FSS program coordinator per PHA, or in the case of joint applications, up to one coordinator per application. If there are not sufficient monies to fund an FSS program coordinator for each eligible Priority 3 PHA, HUD will begin funding up to one full-time FSS program coordinator for each eligible Priority 3 applicant by Housing Choice Voucher program size, from smallest to largest, starting with the smallest first. If there are not sufficient monies to fund all applications from Priority 3 PHAs with the same Housing Choice Voucher program size, funding will be provided based on the size of the PHA's Housing Choice Voucher FSS program, reflected in the PHA's HUD-approved Housing Choice Voucher FSS Action Plan, starting with the largest approved Housing Choice Voucher FSS program first.

If funding remains after funding all Priority 1, 2 and 3 applications, HUD will then process and provide funding to eligible Priority 4 applicants for up to one initial Housing Choice Voucher FSS homeownership coordinator to support the homeownership activities of Housing Choice Voucher FSS program participants. If there are not sufficient monies to fund an initial FSS homeownership coordinator for each eligible Priority 4 PHA, HUD will begin funding up to one full-time homeownership coordinator for each eligible Priority 4 PHA, starting with PHAs with the highest percentage of FSS families currently ready for homeownership, including the number of families (FSS participants and graduates) currently participating in a homeownership program. The percentage will be computed using the Housing Choice Voucher FSS program size in the PHA's HUD-approved FSS Action Plan and the total number of families certified as being ready for homeownership and the number of FSS participants and graduates currently participating in a homeownership program or programs that are stated in the Attachment A certification letter of the PHA.

Based on the number of applications submitted, the GMC may elect not to process applications for any funding category in instances where it is apparent that there are insufficient funds available to fund any applications within the priority category.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Renewal PHAs. Each PHA that received funding for an FSS program coordinator or coordinators under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 that wishes to receive funding under this NOFA must complete a certification in the format shown as "Attachment A" of this NOFA, and must include all information required in "Attachment A." The completed Attachment A certification constitutes the entire PHA application for funding for renewal PHAs under this FSS NOFA.

(B) "New" PHAs. PHAs that did not receive funding under an FSS NOFA in FY 1999, FY 2000, FY 2001, or FY 2002 must complete a certification in the format shown as "Attachment B" of this FSS NOFA and must include all information required in Attachment B. The completed Attachment B certification constitutes the entire PHA application for funding under this section.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. See Section XI. (A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

(A) Acceptable Applications. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications. Examples of correctable technical deficiencies include, but are not limited to, submission of an attachment A or B with missing information or one that lacks an original signature by an authorized official.

(B) Unacceptable Applications. (1) After the technical deficiency correction period (as provided in the General Section), the GMC will disapprove PHA applications that it determines are not acceptable for processing.

(2) Applications from PHAs that fall into any of the following categories are ineligible for funding under this NOFA and will not be processed:

(a) An application from a PHA that is not an eligible PHA under Section III.B. of this NOFA or an application that does not comply with the requirements of Section VI. of this NOFA.

(b) An application from a PHA that does not meet the fair housing and civil rights compliance requirements of Section V.(B)(2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(c) An application from a PHA that does not comply with the prohibition against lobbying activities of Section V.(N) of this SuperNOFA.

(d) An application that fails to comply with the requirements of Section III.(B)(4) of this FSS NOFA from a PHA that as of the application due date has not made progress satisfactory to HUD in resolving serious outstanding Inspector General audit findings, or serious outstanding HUD management review or independent public accountant (IPA) audit findings for one or more of the following programs: Housing Choice Voucher or Moderate Rehabilitation and has not designated another contractor acceptable to HUD to administer the FSS program on behalf of the PHA.

(e) An application from a PHA that has been debarred or otherwise disqualified from providing assistance under the program.

(f) An applicant that as of the application due date has a "troubled" rating under SEMAP and has not designated another contractor acceptable to HUD to administer the FSS program on behalf of the PHA.

(g) An application that was not received by the due date specified in Section I. of this FSS NOFA.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

No environmental review is required in connection with the award of assistance under this NOFA, because the NOFA only provides funds for employing a coordinator that provides public and supportive services, which are categorically excluded from environmental review under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321) and not subject to compliance actions for related environmental authorities under 24 CFR 50.19(b)(4) and (12).

IX. Authority

The Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Pub.L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003) allows funding for program coordinators under the Housing Choice Voucher FSS program. As a result, the Department determined to make a sufficient amount available under this NOFA, under Part 984, in accordance with 24 CFR 984.302(b), to enable PHAs to employ Housing Choice Voucher FSS program coordinators for one year at a reasonable cost as determined by the PHA and HUD, based on salaries for similar positions in the locality.

Funding Availability for Public and Indian Housing Resident Opportunities and Self Sufficiency (ROSS) Program

Program Overview

Purpose of Program. The purpose of the Public and Indian Housing Resident Opportunities and Self Sufficiency (ROSS) Program is to provide grants to Public Housing Agencies, tribes/Tribally Designated Housing Entities (TDHEs), Resident Organizations and nonprofits, including grassroots, faith-based and other community based organizations for the delivery and coordination of supportive services and other activities designed to help Public and Indian housing residents attain economic self-sufficiency.

Available Funds. A total of $49,675,000 is available for funding in Fiscal Year 2003. Of this, $14,902,500 is allocated to Neighborhood Networks.

Transfer of Funds. HUD may transfer funds between the two Resident Service Delivery Models (RSDM) programs and the Homeownership Supportive Services program in the event that funds in one or more categories are remaining after all qualified applications have been funded. If transfer of funds does become necessary, HUD will give first priority to Homeownership Supportive Services (HSS), second priority to RSDM-Family and third priority to RSDM-Elderly. HUD does not have the discretion to transfer funds for the Neighborhood Networks category to any other funding category within this NOFA. If remaining funds under the Neighborhood Networks funding category are too small to make an award, they will be used to partially fund applications in rank order regardless of region in the existing center category.

Match. At least 25 percent of the grant amount is required as the grant match.

Eligible Applicants. Eligible applicants are Public Housing Agencies (PHAs), tribes/TDHEs, resident management corporations (RMCs), resident councils (RCs), resident organizations (ROs), Intermediary Resident Organizations (IROs), City-Wide Resident Organizations (CWROs) and nonprofits including grassroots, faith-based and other community based organizations that have resident support or the support of tribes. Tribes and TDHEs are not eligible for the Neighborhood Networks funding category. The following chart summarizes the funding categories available under ROSS, eligible applicants and application procedures.

Number of Applications Permitted.

General. Applicants including PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, ROs, RCs, and nonprofits, including grassroots, faith-based or other community-based organizations that have resident support or the support of tribes may submit an application for more than one funding category, however applicants must submit separate applications for each funding category. NOTE: Applications from PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, ROs, RCs, RAs and nonprofit organizations targeting the same public housing development/population will not all be funded. HUD suggests that in these cases, applicants work together to submit one application. Otherwise, the highest scoring application will be funded. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided that they will be serving residents of distinct Public Housing Authorities.

Joint applications. Two or more applicants may join together to submit a joint application for proposed grant activities. Joint applications must designate a lead applicant. Both lead and non-lead applicants are subject to threshold requirements. Joint applications may include PHAs, RAs, IROs, Tribes/TDHEs, and nonprofit entities on behalf of resident organizations. Joint applications involving nonprofits must also provide evidence of resident support. The maximum funding for joint applications cannot exceed the amount of funding applicants would have collectively received had they applied individually.

Grant term. The grant term for funding for each funding category under the ROSS program is thirty-six months from the execution date of the grant agreement.

Extensions. The field office may grant one six-month extension, as long as the request for an extension occurs no less than one year of grant expiration. Other extensions require approval from the Deputy Assistant Secretary for the Office of Public Housing and Voucher Programs.

Contract Administrators may be: Local Housing Agencies; community-based organizations such as Community Development Corporations (CDCs), churches, temples, synagogues, mosques; nonprofits; state/regional associations and organizations. Match. All applicants are required to have in place a 25% match in cash or in-kind donations. The match is a threshold requirement. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail the threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Match donations must be firmly committed. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of match resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) or tribal resolution must be on organization letterhead, and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment whether it be in cash or in-kind services. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolution must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If volunteer time is being committed it should be calculated using the number of hours to be committed and multiplied by either the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15/hour. The commitment should be in place at time of award and should be for the duration of the grant. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. For tribal and TDHE applicants, you must submit a letter of support and/or tribal resolution committing to the 25% match. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate the HUD-424-CB to list the sources and amount of each match for the duration of the grant term. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(1) It is national (i.e., conducts activities or provides services in at least two HUD Areas or two states);

(2) It has the capacity to provide start-up and capacity-building training to residents and resident organizations; and

(3) Public housing residents representing different geographical locations in the country are members of the board of directors.

Nonprofit organization. A nonprofit organization is an organization that is exempt from federal taxation. A nonprofit can be organized for the following purposes: Charitable, religious, educational, scientific, literary and others. In order to qualify, an organization must be a corporation, community chest, fund or foundation. An individual or partnership will not qualify. To obtain nonprofit status, qualified organizations must file an application with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and receive designation as such by the IRS. For more information, go to www.irs.gov. Applicants who are in the process of applying for nonprofit status, but have not yet received nonprofit designation from the IRS, will not be considered nonprofit organizations.

National nonprofit organizations means organizations that work on a national basis and have the capacity to mobilize resources on both a national and local level.

Past Performance is a threshold requirement. HUD's field offices will evaluate applicants for past performance to determine whether an applicant has the capacity to manage the grant for which they are applying. The DPONAP will review past performance for tribal/TDHE submissions. Using Rating Factor 1, the field office will evaluate applicants' past performance. Applicants should carefully review Rating Factor 1 to ensure their application addresses each of the criteria requested therein. If applicants fail to address what is requested in Rating Factor 1, their application will fail threshold and will not receive further consideration. If applicants pass threshold, they will go on to be scored for Rating Factor 1 during the technical review process.

Person with disabilities means a person who:

(1) Has a condition defined as a disability in section 223 of the Social Security Act;

(2) Has a developmental disability as defined in section 102 of the Developmental Disabilities Assistance Bill of Rights Act; or

(3) Is determined to have a physical, mental, or emotional impairment which:

(a) Is expected to be of long-continued and indefinite duration;

(b) Substantially impedes his or her ability to live independently; and

(c) Is of such a nature that such ability could be improved by more suitable housing conditions.

The term "person with disabilities" does not exclude persons who have acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (HIV/AIDS) or any conditions arising from the etiologic agent for AIDS. In addition, no individual shall be considered a person with disabilities, for purposes of eligibility for low-income housing, solely on the basis of any drug or alcohol dependence.

The definition provided above for persons with disabilities is the proper definition for determining program qualifications. However, the definition of a person with disabilities contained in section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and its implementing regulations must be used for purposes of reasonable accommodations.

Project Coordinator is a person who is responsible for coordinating the proposed activities to ensure that their accomplishment will assist in achieving the overall grant goals and objectives.

Project is the same as "low-income housing project" as defined in section 3(b)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437 et seq.) (1937 Act).

funds for RC activities and stipends for officers for their related costs for volunteer work in public housing. The following also applies to resident councils:

(1) The RC must adopt written procedures such as by-laws, or a constitution, which provides for the election of residents to the governing board by the voting membership of the public housing residents. The elections must be held on a regular basis, but at least once every 3 years. The written procedures must provide for the recall of the resident board by the voting membership. These provisions shall allow for a petition or other expression of the voting membership's desire for a recall election, and set the percentage of voting membership that must be in agreement in order to hold a recall election. This threshold shall not be less than 10 percent of the voting membership.

(2) The RC must have a democratically elected governing board that is elected by the voting membership. At a minimum, the governing board should consist of five elected board members. The voting membership must consist of heads of households (any age) and other residents at least 18 years of age or older and whose names appear on a lease for the unit in the public housing that the resident council represents.

(3) The RC may represent residents residing in:

- (a) Scattered site buildings in areas of contiguous row houses;
- (b) One or more contiguous buildings;
- (c) A development; or
- (d) A combination of the buildings or developments described above.

(4) The RC must be in good standing and recognized by the PHA.

(3) Public housing residents representing different geographical locations in the region must comprise the majority of the board of directors.

Resident Management Corporation (RMC) (see 24 CFR 964.7, 964.120) means an entity that consists of residents residing in public housing and must have each of the following characteristics in order to receive official recognition by the PHA and HUD:

(1) The RMC shall be a nonprofit organization that is incorporated under the laws of the state in which it is located;

(2) The RMC may be established by more than one RC, so long as each such council:

(a) Approves the establishment of the corporation; and

(b) Has representation on the Board of Directors of the corporation.

(3) The RMC shall have an elected Board of Directors, and elections must be held at least once every 3 years;

(4) The RMC's by-laws shall require the Board of Directors to include resident representatives of each RC involved in establishing the corporation; include qualifications to run for office, frequency of elections, procedures for recall; and term limits if desired;

(5) The RMC's voting members shall be heads of households (any age) and other residents at least 18 years of age and whose names appear on the lease of a unit in public housing represented by the RMC;

(6) Where an RC already exists for the development, or a portion of the development, the RMC shall be approved by the RC board and a majority of the residents. If there is no RC, a majority of the residents of the public housing development it will represent must approve the establishment of such a corporation for the purposes of managing the project; and

(7) The RMC may serve as both the RMC and the RC, so long as the corporation meets the requirements of 24 CFR part 964 for an RC.

Resident Organization (RO) for tribal entities means an incorporated or unincorporated nonprofit tribal organization or association that meets each of the following criteria:

(1) It shall consist of residents only, and only residents may vote;

(2) If it represents residents in more than one development or in all of the developments of the tribal/TDHE community, it shall fairly represent residents from each development that it represents;

(3) It shall adopt written procedures providing for the election of specific officers on a regular basis; and

(4) It shall have democratically elected governing board. The voting membership of the board shall consist solely of the residents of the development or developments that the tribal RO represents.

Secretary means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Site-Based Resident Associations means Resident Councils or Resident

Management Corporations representing a specific public housing development.

Statewide Resident Organization (SRO) is an incorporated nonprofit organization or association for public housing that meets the following requirements:

(1) The SRO is statewide;

(2) The SRO has experience in providing start-up and capacity-building training to residents and resident organizations; and

(3) Public housing residents representing different geographical locations in the state must comprise the majority of the Board of Directors.

Tribal/TDHE Resident Group means tribal/TDHE resident groups that are democratically elected groups such as IHA-wide resident groups, area-wide resident groups, single development groups, or resident management corporations (RMCs).

III. Program Description: Resident Service Delivery Models-Family

(A) Program Description. The purpose of the ROSS RSDM-Family funding category is to provide funding to PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, resident organizations, nonprofits including grassroots, faith-based or other community-based organizations to create programs to help residents achieve economic self-sufficiency.

HUD is looking for applications that implement comprehensive programs within the thirty-six month grant term which will result in improved economic self-sufficiency for Public or Indian housing residents.

HUD is looking for proposals that involve partnerships with organizations that will help grantees provide educational programs, housing counseling, including fair housing counseling, job training and other supportive services for residents. Proposed grant activities should build on the foundation created by previous ROSS grants or other federal, state and local self-sufficiency efforts.

(B) Available Funding. The amount of funding available for FY03 is $14,345,000.

(C) Allocation. To the extent that there are a sufficient number of qualified applications, not less than 25 percent of funds available for RSDM-Family shall be provided directly to Resident Councils (RCs), Resident Organizations (ROs), Resident Management Corporations (RMCs), Intermediary Resident Organizations (IROs), and City-Wide Resident Organizations (CWROs). In addition, 5 percent of available funding shall be allocated to national nonprofit organizations provided there is a sufficient number of qualified applications.

(1) Maximum grant amount. For PHAs applying for RSDM-Family grants, the maximum grant award will be based on the number of occupied conventional family public housing units. Tribes/TDHEs applying for RSDM-Family grants should use the computation of units for the maximum grant amount, which is outlined below.

(a) PHAs must use the number of occupied conventional family public housing units as of September 30, 2002 per their budget to determine the maximum grant amount they are eligible for in accordance with the categories listed below. PHAs should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

—For PHAs with 1 to 780 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $250,000.

—For PHAs with 781 to 2,500 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $350,000.

—For PHAs with 2501 to 7,300 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $500,000.

—For PHAs with 7,301 or more occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $1,000,000.

—The maximum grant award is $100,000 for each RA.

—Nonprofit entities that have resident support or the support of tribes or RAs/ROs are limited to $100,000 for each RA/RO. A nonprofit may submit a single application for no more than three different RAs from the same PHA for a maximum grant award of $300,000. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided they target residents of distinct PHAs.

(b) Tribes/TDHEs should use the number of units counted as Formula Current Assisted Stock for Fiscal Year 2002 as defined in 24 CFR 1000.316. Tribes/TDHEs are eligible for the same amounts as PHAs within each category in (a) above. Tribes that have not previously received funds from the Department under the 1937 Housing Act should count housing units under management that are owned and operated by the Tribe and are identified in their housing inventory as of September 30, 2002 for family units. Tribes should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

(D) Deobligation of Funds. HUD may deobligate amounts for the grant if proposed activities are not initiated or completed within the required time period after the effective date of the award. The grant agreement will set forth in detail circumstances under which funds may be deobligated and other sanctions imposed.

(E) Eligible Applicants.

(1) This funding category provides grants to PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, resident management corporations, resident councils, resident organizations, and nonprofit entities supported by HUD, residents or tribes, to enable them to establish and implement comprehensive programs that assist residents in becoming self-sufficient.

(2) IROs with 501(c) status may apply as nonprofit entities under this funding category.

Note: Applications from PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, ROs, RCs, RAs and nonprofit organizations targeting the same public housing development/population will not all be funded. HUD suggests that in these cases, applicants work together to submit one application. Otherwise, the highest scoring application will be funded.

(F) Eligible Activities. This funding category is designed to provide resources that will benefit adult residents who seek to achieve economic self-sufficiency. This category is also designed to help youth residing in Public and Indian Housing succeed in school and begin planning their educational and economic future. Funds may be used for the activities described below. The eligible activities are listed below in four categories from basic to advanced: Life-Skills Training; Job Training, Job Search and Placement Assistance; Post Employment Follow-up and finally, Activities to Support Career Advancement and Long-term Economic Self-Sufficiency. Grantees are not limited to choosing one category of activities, but rather should design their programs to address the specific needs of the population they are targeting. Grantees are encouraged to pull from all categories and activities listed below:

(1) Hiring of a qualified project coordinator to run the grant program. A qualified project coordinator is someone with at least two years of experience working on supportive services programs designed for typically underserved populations. The project coordinator should be hired for the entire term of your grant. The ROSS program will fund up to $62,500 in combined annual salary and fringe benefits for a full-time project coordinator. However, the project coordinator's salary and administrative costs may not exceed more than 30% of the total grant amount. Other administrative costs, see paragraph 9 below, may not exceed 10% of the total grant amount requested from HUD. For audit purposes, applicants must have documentation on file demonstrating that the salary they pay the project coordinator is comparable to similar professions in their local area. The project coordinator should be responsible for:

(a) Marketing the program to residents;

(b) Assessing participating residents' skills and job-readiness;

(c) Assessing participating residents' needs for supportive services, e.g. child care, transportation costs, etc.

(d) Project coordinators working for tribes/TDHEs may assist the tribe or TDHE to create a Resident Group to promote self-sufficiency efforts on the reservation;

(e) Designing and coordinating grant activities based on residents' needs and the local labor market; and

(f) The project coordinator should be responsible for monitoring the progress of program participants and evaluating the overall success of the program. A portion of grant funds should be reserved to ensure that evaluations can be completed for all participants who received training through this program. For more information on how to measure performance, please see Rating Factor 5.

(2) Life-skills Training for Youth and Adults.

(a) Applying for a job. Filling out employment forms; highlighting skills employers are looking for; job opportunities in the area; calculating net wages; workplace norms (appropriate dress, punctuality, respectful communication, etc.).

(b) Credit. What it means to have good credit; how to maintain good credit.

(c) Banking and Money Management. Opening a bank account; balancing a checkbook; creating a weekly spending budget; contingency planning for child care and transportation, etc.

(d) Real Life Issues. Tax forms; voter registration; lease samples; car insurance; health insurance; long-term care insurance; etc.

(e) Literacy training and GED preparation.

(f) College preparatory courses and information.

(g) Goal setting.

(h) Mentoring.

(3) Job Training, Job Search and Placement Assistance:

(a) Skills Assessment of target population.

(b) Soft skills training which includes: Problem solving and other cognitive skills; oral and written communication skills; personal qualities and work ethic; interpersonal and teamwork skills.

(c) Creating job training and placement programs with local employers.

(d) Resume writing.

(e) Interviewing techniques.

(f) Employer linkage and job placement.

Working with local employers to design and offer training that addresses their employment needs, create a job placement program that refers trained residents to participating employers and other local area employers.

(g) Establish relationships with local job placement providers. Encourage them to participate in the training and to meet with residents.

(4) Post-employment follow-up. After placing residents in jobs, follow-up and ongoing support to newly hired residents can have a significant impact on their long-term job retention. Activities can range from one-on-one meetings to weekly group sessions involving other residents who are making the same transition from welfare to work.

(5) Activities to Support Career Advancement and Long-term Economic Self-Sufficiency.

(a) Career advancement and planning programs. Such programs should be designed to:

(iii) Reinforce initial welfare-to-work programs and focus efforts on increasing residents' earning capacity. Activities can include job counseling, helping residents secure better paying jobs or jobs in better work environments, preparing for work in a new job category, obtaining additional job skills and other educational training.

(b) Working with local employers, create opportunities that combine education and job skill training with jobs. Strategies that promote work-based learning can offer the most effective method for giving new workers the tools they need to move on to a career ladder and achieve upward mobility.

(c) Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs). You may create programs that encourage residents to save and contribute to matched savings accounts such as Individual Development Accounts (IDAs). The programs should include financial counseling and education activities. ISAs may only be used for three purposes: (1) To purchase a first home; (2) receiving post-secondary education or training; or (3) starting a small business. ROSS RSDM funds can be used as matching funds for ISAs but no more than 20% of total grant funds may be used for this purpose. You are encouraged to leverage RSDM funds by working with local financial organizations which can also contribute to residents' ISAs. FSS escrow accounts may not be used as a match for RSDM-funded ISAs. Grantees shall consult the Internal Revenue Service regarding possible tax consequences to participating residents of the ISAs.

(d) Housing Counseling for Homeownership. "Pre-purchase" homeownership counseling and training; which may include training on such subjects as credit and financial management; credit repair; housing search; how to finance purchase of a home; fair housing; Individual Development Accounts, Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA); and home maintenance.

(6) Stipends. Stipends are an eligible use of grant funds. However, no more than $200 of the grant award may be used per participant per month for stipends for active trainees and program participants to reimburse reasonable out-of-pocket expenses related to participation in training and other program-related activities. Reasonable costs reimbursable with stipends include such things as local transportation to and from job training and job interviews, supplemental educational materials, and child care expenses. Receipts for such expenses should be provided by the resident in order to obtain reimbursement. Stipends must be tied to residents' successful performance and regular attendance. Stipends are not considered an administrative expense and therefore are not subject to the 10% limitation on administrative costs.

(7) Hiring of Residents. Grant funds may also be used to hire a resident(s) as program staff. Residents' salaries are to come out of administrative expenses, see section 9 "Administrative Costs" below.

(8) Supportive Services.

(a) After school programs for school-age children to include tutoring, remedial training, educational programming using computers.

(b) Provision of information on the Earned Income Tax Credit Program, Food Stamps, Child Tax Credit Program, Medicaid, the State Child Health Insurance Program (S-CHIP), Student Loan Interest Deduction, tribal welfare programs, and other benefit programs that can assist individuals and families make a successful transition from welfare to work.

(c) Housing Counseling to help residents move to market rate rental housing.

(d) Transportation costs as necessary to enable participating families to receive services or commute to training or employment.

(e) Child-care provision for ROSS-RSDM program participants.

(f) Parenting courses.

(g) Nutrition courses.

(h) Healthcare information and services including referrals to mental health providers, alcohol and other drug abuse treatment programs.

(i) English as a second language (ESL) classes.

(j) Creating and maintaining linkages to local social service agencies, such as employment agencies, health departments, transportation agencies, economic/community development agencies, community colleges, recreational and cultural services, and other community organizations such as Boys & Girls Clubs, 4H-Clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, etc.

(9) Administrative costs.

Administrative costs may include, but are not limited to, purchase of furniture, office equipment and supplies, salaries for resident employees hired as part of this grant program, quality assurance, local travel, and utilities. Nonprofit organizations only may use administrative funds to pay for rental of space. Administrative costs must not exceed 10 percent of the total grant amount requested from HUD. Administrative costs must adhere to OMB Circular A-87. Please use HUD-424-CBW to itemize your administrative costs.

(G) Ineligible Activities.

Activities for which costs are ineligible for funding under the RSDM-Family funding category include:

(1) Payment of wages and/or salaries to participants receiving supportive services and/or training programs;

(2) Purchase or rental of land;

(3) New construction, materials costs;

(4) Rehab or physical improvements;

(5) Purchase or rental of vehicles; and

(6) Cost of application preparation.

(H) Threshold Requirements.

Applicants must respond to threshold requirements clearly and thoroughly by following the instructions below. If your application fails one threshold requirement (regardless of the type of threshold) it will be considered a failed application and will not be reviewed further.

(1) Match. All applicants are required to have in place as defined in this NOFA a firmly committed 25% match in cash or in-kind donations. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum

25% match will fail this threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Match donations must be firmly committed. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of match resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) or tribal resolution must be on organization letterhead, and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment whether it be in cash or in-kind services. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolutions must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If volunteer time is being committed it should be calculated using the number of hours to be committed and multiplied by either the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15/hour. The commitment should be in place at time of award and should be for the duration of the grant. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support/tribal resolution indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate the HUD-424-CB to list the sources and amount of each match for the duration of the grant term. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(2) Past Performance. HUD's field offices will evaluate applicants for past performance to determine whether an applicant has the capacity to manage the grant for which they are applying. Using Rating Factor 1, the field office will evaluate applicants' past performance. Applicants should carefully review Rating Factor 1 to ensure their application addresses each of the criteria requested therein. If applicants fail to address what is requested in Rating Factor 1, their application will fail threshold and will not receive further consideration. If applicants pass threshold, they will go on to be scored for Rating Factor 1 during the technical review process.

(3) All applicants except non-troubled PHAs and tribes/TDHEs are required to submit a signed Contract Administrator Partnership Agreement. The agreement must be for the thirty-six month duration of the grant term. Your grant award shall be contingent upon having a Partnership Agreement included in your application. The Contract Administrator must assure that the financial management system and procurement procedures that will be in place during the grant term will fully comply with either 24 CFR part 84 or 85. Troubled PHAs are not eligible to be Contract Administrators. Grant writers who assist applicants prepare their ROSS applications are also ineligible to be Contract Administrators. See the definition in Section III of Contract Administrator for more information.

(4) Nonprofit applicants must include letters from Resident Organizations (RO), Resident Associations (RA) indicating that the ROs/RAs you will be working with support your application. Letters from ROs/RAs must be signed by a person authorized to sign for the organization and should, whenever be possible, be on RO/RA letterhead.

(H) Program Requirements.

(1) Eligible Participants. All program participants must be residents of conventional public or NAHASDA-assisted Housing. Participants in the Public or Indian Housing Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) programs who are residents of public housing (non Housing Choice Voucher Program) are also eligible to participate in activities funded under this category.

(2) Resident Assessment. Applicants are required to assess residents' needs and interests so that program activities are designed to address their needs.

(3) Partnering. Applicants should partner with local schools, libraries, businesses, banks, employment agencies, housing counseling agencies (preferably HUD-approved), state and local social service agencies, or other organizations which will help applicants deliver supportive services and fulfill residents' needs. These organizations can provide additional expertise, volunteers, office supplies, training materials, software, equipment, and other resources.

(4) Performance Reports. The grantee shall submit semi-annual performance reports to the field office. These progress reports shall include financial reports (SF-269A) and a narrative describing milestones, work plan progress, and problems encountered and methods used to address these problems. HUD anticipates that some of the reporting of financial status and grant performance will be through Internet-based submissions. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. Performance reports are due to the field office on July 30 and January 31 of each year. If reports are not received by the due date, grant funds will not be advanced until reports are received.

(5) Final Report. The grantees shall submit a final report which will include a financial report (SF-269A) and a narrative evaluating overall performance against its work plan. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. The financial report shall contain a summary of all expenditures made from the beginning of the grant agreement to the end of the grant agreement and shall include any unexpended balances. The final narrative and financial report shall be due to the field office 90 days after the termination of the grant agreement.

(6) Final Audit. Grantees are required to obtain a complete final close-out audit of the grant's financial statements by a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), in accordance with generally accepted government audit standards. A written report of the audit must be forwarded to HUD within 60 days of issuance. Grant recipients must comply with the requirements of 24 CFR part 84 or 24 CFR part 85 as stated in OMB Circulars A-110, A-87, and A-122, as applicable.

(J) Application Selection Process.

(1) Four types of reviews will be conducted: A screening to determine if you are eligible to apply for this funding category; whether your application submission is complete, on time and meets threshold; a review by the field office to evaluate past performance; and a technical review to rate your application based on the five rating factors provided in this section. A minimum score of 75 is required for the application to be considered for funding.

(2) The selection process is designed to achieve geographic diversity of grant awards throughout the country. HUD will first select the highest ranked application from each of the ten federal regions and DPONAP for funding. After this "round," HUD will select the second highest ranked application in each of the ten federal regions and DPONAP for funding (the second round). HUD will continue this process with the third, fourth, and so on, highest ranked applications in each federal region and DPONAP until the last complete round is selected for funding. If available funds exist to fund some but not all eligible applications in the next round, HUD will make awards to those remaining applications in rank order regardless of region and DPONAP and will fully fund as many as possible with remaining funds. If remaining funds are too small to make an award, they may be transferred to another category. If transfer of funds does become necessary, HUD will give first priority to Homeownership Supportive Services, second priority to RSDM-Family and third priority to RSDM-Elderly.

(K) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate RSDM-Family. The factors for rating and ranking applicants and maximum points for each factor are provided below. The maximum number of points available for this program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The SuperNOFA contains a certificate that must be completed in order for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A listing of federally designated RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs and Strategic Planning Communities is attached to the General Section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix A-2 and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center, and the HUD Web site, www.hud.gov.

Note: Applicants should carefully review each rating factor before writing a response. Applicants' narratives should be as descriptive as possible, ensuring that every requested item is addressed. Applicants should make sure to include all requested information, according to the instructions found in Section VIII of this NOFA. This will help ensure a fair and accurate review of your application. Applications must not be longer than 30 narrative pages. Supporting documentation and certificates will not be counted towards the 30 page limit. However, applicants should make every effort to submit only what is necessary in terms of supporting documentation.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (20 Points)

This factor addresses whether the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities within the grant period. In rating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates that the applicant will have qualified and experienced staff dedicated to administering the program.

(A) Proposed Program Staffing (7 Points).

(1) Staff Experience (4 Points). The knowledge and experience of your proposed project coordinator, staff, subcontractors, and partners in planning and managing programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant and successful experience of your staff to undertake eligible program activities. In rating this factor, HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent the experience and the more experience your own staff members who work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the greater the number of points you will receive for this rating factor. The following information should be provided in order to provide HUD an understanding of your staff's experience and capacity:

(a) The number of staff years (one staff year = 2080 hours) to be allocated to your program by each employee or expert as well as each of their roles in the program;

(b) The staff's relevant educational background and/or work experience; and

(c) Relevant and successful experience running programs whose activities are similar to the eligible program activities described in this grant category.

(2) Staff Capacity (3 Points). You will be evaluated based on whether you, your subcontractors and partners have sufficient personnel or will be able to quickly access enough qualified experts or professionals, to deliver the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Your ability to immediately begin the proposed work program will also be evaluated. Attach resumes or position descriptions (where staff is not yet hired) for all key personnel. (Resumes do not count toward the 30-page limit.)

(B) Past Performance of Applicant/Project Coordinator (6 Points) Your narrative must describe how you (or your proposed Project Coordinator) successfully implemented grant programs (including those listed below) designed to promote resident self-sufficiency or moving from welfare to work. You will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

(1) Achievement of specific measurable outcomes and objectives in terms of benefits gained by participating residents (i.e. higher incomes, higher rates of employment, increased savings, improved literacy, etc.);

(2) Success in attracting and keeping residents involved in past grant programs so that grant activities benefited a significant numbers of residents;

(3) Timely expenditure of funds throughout the term of the grant. Timely means regular drawdowns throughout the life of the grant, i.e. quarterly drawdowns, with all funds expended by the end of the grant term;

(4) Leveraging of funding or in-kind services beyond that which was originally proposed to be used for past projects;

(5) Long-term partnerships formed with local employers, libraries, community organizations, social service agencies, local colleges and universities, etc.

Your past experience may include, but is not limited to, programs aimed at assisting residents of low-income housing achieve economic self-sufficiency; i.e. Tenant Opportunities Program; Public Housing Drug Elimination program and Youthbuild. Your narrative must indicate the grants, grant amounts, grant terms and grant sources which you are counting towards past experience.

(C) Program Administration and Fiscal Management. (7 Points)

(1) Program Administration. (4 Points). Describe how you will manage the program; how HUD can be sure that there is program accountability; and describe staff's roles and responsibilities.

(2) Fiscal Management. (3 Points). In rating this factor, your skills and experience in fiscal management will be evaluated. If you have had any audit or material weakness findings, you will be evaluated on how well you have addressed them. You must provide the following:

(a) A complete description of your fiscal management structure, including fiscal controls you have in place including those of a Contract Administrator for all applicants except non-troubled PHAs, tribes and TDHES;

(b) List any audit findings (HUD Inspector General, management review, fiscal, etc.), material weaknesses and what you have done to address them;

(c) For applicants who are required to have a Contract Administrator, describe the skills and experience your Contract Administrator has in managing federal funds.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding your proposed program and your indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, you will be evaluated on the extent to which you describe and document the level of need for your proposed activities and the urgency in meeting the need.

You should use statistics and analyses contained in data source(s) that are sound and reliable. Data that describes socioeconomic conditions at the local level can be found by going to the following websites: www.bls.gov (Bureau of Labor Statistics) or www.census.gov (US Census). Other types of sources include Continuum of Care gaps analysis, law enforcement agency crime reports, academic, state, and local sources. To the extent possible, the data you use should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. You should document needs as they apply to the area where activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state.

In responding to this factor, you should include:

(1) Socioeconomic Profile (5 points). A thorough socioeconomic profile of the eligible residents to be served by your program, including education levels, income levels, the number of single-parent families, economic statistics for the local area, crime levels, etc.

(2) Local Training Program Information (5 points). Information on training programs currently available and easily accessible to residents either through the PHA, tribe/TDHE, or other local or state community organizations.

You may also address needs in terms of fulfilling the requirements of court actions or other legal decisions or which expand upon the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) to further fair housing. If you address needs that are in your community's Consolidated Plan, AI, or a court decision, or identify and substantiate needs in addition to those in the AI, you will receive a greater number of points than applicants who do not relate their proposed program to the approved Consolidated Plan or AI or court action. NOTE: Fines, penalties, damages, and other settlements resulting from violations (or alleged violations) of, or failure of the applicant to comply with federal, state, local or Indian tribal laws and regulations are unallowable means in which to satisfy this Rating Factor, except when incurred as a result of compliance with specific provisions of the federal award or written instructions by the awarding agency authorizing in advance such payments.

(3) Resource Documentation (3 points). The names and/or titles of information resources you used to document the need/extent of the problem.

(4) Demonstrated Link Between Proposed Activities and Local Need (7 points). There must be a clear relationship between your proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the program funding for you to receive points for this factor.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (30 Points)

This factor addresses both the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. Your work plan must indicate a clear relationship between your proposed activities, the targeted population's needs, and the purpose of the program funding. Your activities must address HUD's policy priorities which relate to this program.

In rating this factor HUD will consider:

(A) Quality of the Work Plan (18 points). This factor evaluates both your work plan and your budget and will be evaluated based on the following components:

(1) Specific Services and/or Activities (6 points). Your narrative must describe the specific services and activities you plan to offer and who will be responsible for each. You must also provide a work plan which will enumerate the specific services and activities and outcomes you expect. Please see a sample work plan in Appendix B. HUD will consider how well your proposed activities will:

(a) Involve community partners in the delivery of services; and

(b) Offer comprehensive services versus a small range of services geared toward enhancing economic opportunities for residents.

(2) Feasibility and Demonstrable Benefits (4 points). This factor examines whether your work plan is logical, feasible and likely to achieve its stated purpose during the term of the grant. HUD's desire is to fund projects that will quickly produce demonstrable results and advance the purposes of the ROSS program.

(a) Timeliness. This subfactor evaluates whether your work plan demonstrates that your project is ready to be implemented shortly after grant award, but not to exceed three months following the execution of the grant agreement. Your work plan should indicate timeframes and deadlines for accomplishing major activities.

(b) Description of the problem and solution. Your work plan will be evaluated based on how well your proposed activities address the needs described in Factor 2.

(3) Budget Appropriateness/Efficient Use of Grant. (4 Points) The score in this factor will be based on the following:

(a) Justification of expenses. You will be evaluated based on whether your expenses are reasonable and well-explained.

(b) Budget Efficiency. You will be evaluated based on whether your application requests funds commensurate with the level of effort necessary to accomplish your goals and anticipated results.

(4) Involving Residents in the Design of the Work Plan (4 points). All applicants should make every effort to involve residents in the design of the work plan, so that activities and services offered by your organization address their needs.

(B) Addressing HUD's Policy Priorities (12 points). HUD wants to improve the quality of life for those living in distressed communities. HUD's grant programs are a vehicle through which constructive changes can be achieved. Your narrative and work plan will be evaluated based on how well it meets the following HUD policy priorities:

(1) Improving the Quality of Life in Our Nation's Communities (5 points). In order to receive points in this category, your narrative and work plan must indicate the types of activities and training programs you will offer which can help residents successfully transition from welfare to work and earn higher wages.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation (7 points). HUD encourages applicants to partner with grassroots organizations, e.g., civic organizations, grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that are not usually effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as developing first-time homeownership programs, creating economic development programs, providing job training and other supportive services. In order to receive points under this factor, your narrative and work plan must describe how you will work with these organizations and what types of services they will provide.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (20 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant resources to achieve program purposes. Applicants are required to create partnerships with organizations that can help achieve their program's goals. PHAs are required by QHWR (Sec. 12(d)(7) of the U.S. Housing Act, entitled "Cooperation Agreements for Economic Self-Sufficiency Activities") to make best efforts to enter into such agreements with relevant state or local agencies. In rating this factor, HUD will look at the extent to which you partner, coordinate and leverage your services with other organizations serving the same or similar populations.

Additionally, you must have at least a 25 percent cash or in-kind match. The match is a threshold requirement. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail the threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one grant ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Leveraging in excess of the 25 percent of the grant amount will receive a higher point value. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which you have partnered with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed program activities. The budget, the work plan, and commitments for additional resources and services, other than the grant, must show that these resources are firmly committed, will support the proposed grant activities and will, in combined amount (including in-kind contributions of personnel, space and/or equipment, and monetary contributions) equal at least 25 percent of the grant amount proposed in this application. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU), or tribal resolutions must be on organization letterhead and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolutions must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. For tribal and TDHE applicants, you must submit a letter of support and/or tribal resolution committing to the 25% match. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate their budget form (the HUD-424-CB) to list the sources and amount of each match. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(A) Volunteer time and services shall be computed by using the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15 an hour (Note: Applicants may not use their staff time towards the match);

(B) In order for HUD to determine the value of any donated material, equipment, staff time, building, or lease, your application must provide a letter from the organization making the donation stating the value of the contribution. The letter must be on letterhead, signed by an official authorized to make such commitments on behalf of the donating organization and must be dated within two months of the application deadline.

(C) Other resources/services that can be committed include: in-kind services, contributions or administrative costs provided to the applicant; funds from federal sources (not including ROSS funds) as allowed by statute, including for example Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and federal Revenue Sharing; funds from any state or local government sources; and funds from private contributions. You may also partner with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in your target area.

(D) Points for this factor will be awarded based on the documented evidence of partnerships and firm commitments and the ratio of requested ROSS funds to the total proposed grant budget.

Points will be assigned based on the following scale:

Percentage of match	Points awarded
26-50	10
76-99 or above	20

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

An important element in this year's NOFA is the development and reporting of performance measures and outcomes. Under this rating factor, applicants must demonstrate how they propose to measure their success and outcomes as they relate to the Department's Strategic Plan.

This factor emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and that they assess their performance so that they realize performance goals. HUD requires ROSS applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented work plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to the residents, families and/or communities during or after participation in the ROSS program. Outcomes are not the actual development of self-sufficiency services or program activities. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be achieved and measured. Examples of outcomes are: Increasing the homeownership rates among residents of a development or from a particular housing authority, increasing residents' financial stability (e.g. increasing assets of a household through savings), or increasing employment stability (e.g., whether persons assisted obtain or retain employment for one or two years after job training completion).

In addition to outcomes, applicants must establish interim benchmarks or outputs for their proposed program that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of a program's activities. Examples of outputs are: The number of eligible families that participate in supportive services, the number of new services provided, the number of residents receiving counseling, or the number of households using a technology center. Outputs should produce outcomes for your program.

This rating factor requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, outputs, benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your work plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

In order to satisfy the requirements for Factor 5, you must submit a work plan and a Logic Model that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your plan must identify the outcomes you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant and benchmarks, outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your work plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements. You must indicate how your plan will measure the performance of individual consortium members and affiliates, including the standards, data sources, and measurement methods, and the steps you have in place or how you plan to make adjustments if you begin to fall short of established benchmarks and timeframes.

Applicants should also use the Logic Model provided in the General Section of this SuperNOFA for reporting on how they will conduct performance measurement. You will be evaluated based on how comprehensively you propose to measure your program's outcomes.

IV. Program Description: Resident Service Delivery Models—Elderly and Persons With Disabilities

(A) Program Description. The Resident Service Delivery Models (RSDM)-Elderly and Persons with Disabilities funding category is intended to provide PHAs, Resident Management Corporations, Resident Councils, Resident Organizations, Intermediary Resident Organizations, City-Wide Resident Organizations, nonprofits and Indian tribes/TDHEs with the resources to provide and coordinate supportive services that lead elderly and/or disabled public housing residents to independent living.

HUD is looking for applications that implement comprehensive programs within the thirty-six month grant term which will result in improved living conditions for the target population. HUD is looking for proposals that involve partnerships with organizations that will help grantees provide enhanced services to the elderly/persons with disabilities they will serve. Proposed grant activities should build on the foundation created by previous ROSS grants or other federal, state and local self-sufficiency efforts to assist these populations.

(B) Available Funding. The amount of funding available for FY03 is $9,300,300.

(C) Allocation. To the extent that there are a sufficient number of qualified applications, not less than 25 percent of funds available for RSDM-Elderly and Persons with Disabilities shall be provided directly to Resident Councils (RCs), Resident Organizations (ROs), Resident Management Corporations (RMCs), Intermediary Resident Organizations (IROs), and City-Wide Resident Organizations (CWROs). In addition, 5 percent of available funding shall be allocated to national nonprofit organizations provided there is a sufficient number of qualified applications.

1. Maximum grant amount. For PHAs applying for the RSDM-Elderly and Persons with Disabilities funding category, the maximum grant award will be based on the number of occupied elderly and disabled conventional public housing units. Tribes/TDHEs applying for this funding category should use the computation of units for the maximum grant amount, which is outlined below.

(a) PHAs must use the number of occupied elderly and disabled conventional public housing units as of September 30, 2002, per their budget to determine the maximum grant amount they are eligible for in accordance with the categories listed below. PHAs should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

—For 1 to 217 units occupied by elderly residents and persons with disabilities, the maximum grant award is $100,000.

—For 218 to 1,155 units occupied by elderly residents and persons with disabilities, the maximum grant award is $200,000.

—For 1,156 or more units occupied by elderly residents and persons with disabilities, the maximum grant award is $300,000.

—The maximum grant award is $100,000 for each RA.

—Nonprofit entities that have resident support or RAs/ROs are limited to $100,000 for each RA/RO. A nonprofit may submit a single application for no more than three different RAs from the same PHA for a maximum grant award of $300,000. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided they target residents of distinct PHAs.

(b) Tribes/TDHEs should use the number of units counted as Formula Current Assisted Stock for Fiscal Year 2002 as defined in 24 CFR 1000.316. Tribes/TDHEs are eligible for the same amount of funding as PHAs within each category in (a) above. Tribes who have not previously received funds from the Department under the 1937 Housing Act should count housing units under management that are owned and operated by the Tribe and are identified in their housing inventory as of September 30, 2002 for elderly/disabled units. Tribes should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

(D) Deobligation of Funds. HUD may deobligate amounts for the grant if proposed activities are not initiated or completed within the required time period after the effective date of the award. The grant agreement will set forth in detail circumstances under which funds may be deobligated and other sanctions imposed.

(E) Eligible Applicants.

(1) This funding category provides grants to PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, resident management corporations, resident councils, resident organizations, and nonprofits, including grassroots, faith-based and other Community-based organizations, that have resident support or have the support of tribes, so they may provide supportive services for elderly and/or disabled residents. PHAs that are recipients of the Service Coordinator grant are not eligible to apply for this ROSS funding category.

(2) IROs with 501(c) status may apply as nonprofit entities under this funding category.

Note: Applications from PHAs, tribes/TDHEs, ROs, RCs, RAs and nonprofit organizations targeting the same public housing development/population will not all be funded. HUD suggests that in these cases, applicants work together to submit one application. Otherwise, the highest scoring application will be funded.

(F) Eligible Activities.

(1) Hiring of a qualified project coordinator to run the grant program. A qualified project coordinator is someone with at least two years of experience working on supportive services programs designed for elderly and/or disabled people. The ROSS program will fund up to $62,500 in combined annual salary and fringe benefits for a full-time project coordinator. However, the project coordinator's salary and administrative costs may not exceed more than 30% of the total grant amount. Other administrative costs, see paragraph 9 below, may not exceed 10% of the total grant amount requested from HUD. For audit purposes, applicants must have documentation on file demonstrating that the salary they pay the project coordinator is comparable to similar professions in their local area. The project coordinator will be responsible for:

(a) Assessing participating residents' needs for supportive services (e.g. Medicaid, Medicare, physician care, food stamps, rehabilitation services, veterans disability, state-funded programs such as nurse case management, housekeeping, Meals-on-Wheels; transportation etc.);

(b) Designing and coordinating grant activities based on residents' needs;

(c) The project coordinator shall be responsible for monitoring the progress of program participants and evaluating the overall success of the program. A portion of grant funds should be reserved to ensure that evaluations can be completed for all participants who received assistance through this program. For more information on how to measure performance, please see Rating Factor 5.

(2) Coordination and set up of meal services;

(3) Assistance with daily activities;

(4) Coordination and set-up of transportation services;

(5) Wellness programs including, health and nutrition programs, preventive health education, referral to rehabilitation services, services for the disabled and other community resources;

(6) Personal emergency response;

(7) Congregate services—includes supportive services that are provided in a congregate setting at a conventional public housing development;

(8) Case management; and

(9) Administrative costs.

Administrative costs may include, but are not limited to, purchase of furniture, office equipment and supplies, quality assurance, local travel, and utilities.

Nonprofit organizations only may use administrative funds to pay for rental of space. Administrative costs must not exceed 10 percent of the total grant amount requested from HUD.

Administrative costs must adhere to OMB Circular A-87. Please use HUD-424-CBW to itemize your administrative costs.

(G) Ineligible Activities.

(1) Service Coordinator salary and fringe benefits;

(2) Payment of wages and/or salaries to doctors, nurses or other staff in relation to medical services provided to residents;

(3) Payment of wages and/or salaries to participants receiving supportive services and/or training programs;

(4) Purchase of food;

(5) Purchase of non-prescription or prescription medications;

(6) Purchase or rental of land;

(7) New construction, materials costs;

(8) Rehab or physical improvements;

(9) Purchase or rental of vehicles; and

(10) Cost of application preparation.

(H) Threshold Requirements.

Applicants must respond to threshold requirements clearly and thoroughly by following the instructions below. If your application fails one threshold requirement (regardless of the type of threshold) it will be considered a failed application and will not be reviewed further.

(1) Match. All applicants are required to have in place as defined in this NOFA a firmly committed 25% match in cash or in-kind donations. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail this threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Match donations must be firmly committed. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of match resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) or tribal resolution must be on organization letterhead, and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment whether it be in cash or in-kind services. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolution must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If volunteer time is being committed it should be calculated using the number of hours to be committed and multiplied by either the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15/hour. The commitment should be in place at time of award and should be for the duration of the grant. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support/tribal resolution indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate the HUD-424-CB to list the sources and amount of each match for the duration of the grant term. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(2) Past Performance. HUD's field offices will evaluate applicants for past performance to determine whether an applicant has the capacity to manage the grant for which they are applying. The DPONAP will review past performance for tribal/TDHE submissions. Using Rating Factor 1, the field office will evaluate applicants' past performance. Applicants should carefully review Rating Factor 1 to ensure their application addresses each of the criteria requested therein. If applicants fail to address what is requested in Rating Factor 1, their application will fail threshold and will not receive further consideration. If applicants pass threshold, they will go on to be scored for Rating Factor 1 during the technical review process.

(3) All applicants except non-troubled PHAs and tribes/TDHEs are required to submit a signed Contract Administrator Partnership Agreement. The agreement must be for the thirty-six month duration of the grant term. Your grant award shall be contingent upon having a Partnership Agreement included in your application. The Contract Administrator must assure that the financial management system and procurement procedures that will be in place during the thirty-six month grant term will fully comply with either 24 CFR part 84 or 85. Troubled PHAs are not eligible to be Contract Administrators. Grant writers who assist applicants prepare their ROSS applications are also ineligible to be Contract Administrators. See the definition in Section III of Contract Administrator for more information.

(4) Nonprofit applicants must include letters from Resident Organizations (RO), Resident Associations (RA) indicating that the ROs/RAs you will be working with support your application. Letters from ROs/RAs must be signed by a person authorized to sign for the organization and should, whenever possible, be on RO/RA letterhead.

(I) Program Requirements.

(1) Eligible Participants. All program participants must be residents of conventional public or Indian Housing. Participants in the Public or Indian Housing Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) programs who are residents of public housing (non Housing Choice Voucher Program) are also eligible to participate in activities funded under this category.

(2) Resident Assessment. Applicants are required to assess residents' needs and interests so that program activities are designed to address their needs.

(3) Partnering. Applicants should partner with local schools, libraries, businesses, banks, employment agencies, housing counseling agencies (preferably HUD-approved), state and local social service agencies, or other organizations which will help applicants deliver supportive services and fulfill residents' needs. These organizations can provide additional expertise, volunteers, office supplies, training materials, software, equipment, and other resources.

(4) Performance Reports. The grantee shall submit semi-annual performance reports to the field office. These progress reports shall include financial reports (SF-269A) and a narrative describing milestones, work plan progress, and problems encountered and methods used to address these problems. HUD anticipates that some of the reporting of financial status and grant performance will be through Internet-based submissions. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. Performance reports are due to the field office on July 30 and January 31 of each year. If reports are not received by the due date, grant funds will not be advanced until reports are received.

(5) Final Report. The grantees shall submit a final report which will include a financial report (SF-269A) and a narrative evaluating overall performance against its work plan. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. The financial report shall contain a summary of all expenditures made from the beginning of the grant agreement to the end of the grant agreement and shall include any unexpended balances. The final narrative and financial report shall be due to the field office 90 days after the termination of the grant agreement.

(6) Final Audit. Grantees are required to obtain a complete final close-out audit of the grant's financial statements by a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), in accordance with generally accepted government audit standards. A written report of the audit must be forwarded to HUD within 60 days of issuance. Grant recipients must comply with the requirements of 24 CFR part 84 or 24 CFR part 85 as stated in OMB Circulars A-110, A-87, and A-122, as applicable.

(J) Application Selection Process.

(1) Four types of reviews will be conducted: A screening to determine if you are eligible to apply for this funding category; whether your application submission is complete, on time and meets threshold; a review by the field office to evaluate past performance; and a technical review to rate your application based on the five rating factors provided in this section. A minimum score of 75 is required for the application to be considered for funding.

(2) The selection process is designed to achieve geographic diversity of grant awards throughout the country. HUD will first select the highest ranked application from each of the ten federal regions and DPONAP for funding. After this "round," HUD will select the second highest ranked application in each of the ten federal regions and DPONAP for funding (the second round). HUD will continue this process with the third, fourth, and so on, highest ranked applications in each federal region and DPONAP until the last complete round is selected for funding. If available funds exist to fund some but not all eligible applications in the next round, HUD will make awards to those remaining applications in rank order regardless of region and DPONAP and will fully fund as many as possible with remaining funds. If remaining funds are too small to make an award, they may be transferred to another funding category. If transfer of funds does become necessary, HUD will give first priority to Homeownership Supportive Services, second priority to RSDM-

Family and third priority to RSDM-Elderly.

(K) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate RSDM-Elderly and Persons with Disabilities Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants and maximum points for each factor are provided below. The maximum number of points available for this program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The SuperNOFA contains a certificate that must be completed in order for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A listing of federally designated RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs and Strategic Planning Communities is attached to the General Section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix A-2 and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center, and the HUD web site, www.hud.gov.

Note: Applicants should carefully review each rating factor before writing a response. Applicants' narratives should be as descriptive as possible, ensuring that every requested item is addressed. Applicants should make sure to include all requested information, according to the instructions found in Section VIII of this NOFA. This will help ensure a fair and accurate review of your application. Applications must not be longer than 30 narrative pages. Supporting documentation and certificates will not be counted towards the 30 page limit. However, applicants should make every effort to submit only what is necessary in terms of supporting documentation.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (20 Points)

This factor addresses whether the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities within the grant period. In rating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates that the applicant will have qualified and experienced staff dedicated to administering the program.

(A) Proposed Program Staffing (7 Points).

(1) Staff Experience (4 Points). The knowledge and experience of your proposed project coordinator, staff, subcontractors, and partners in planning and managing programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant and successful experience of your staff to undertake eligible program activities. In rating this factor, HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent the experience and the more experience your own staff members who work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the greater the number of points you will receive for this rating factor. The following information should be provided in order to provide HUD an understanding of your staff's experience and capacity:

(a) The number of staff years (one staff year = 2080 hours) to be allocated to your program by each employee or expert as well as each of their roles in the program;

(b) The staff's relevant educational background and/or work experience; and

(c) Relevant and successful experience running programs whose activities are similar to the eligible program activities described in this grant category.

(2) Staff Capacity (3 Points). You will be evaluated based on whether you, your subcontractors and partners have sufficient personnel or will be able to quickly access enough qualified experts or professionals, to deliver the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Your ability to immediately begin the proposed work program will also be evaluated. Attach resumes or position descriptions (where staff is not yet hired) for all key personnel. (Resumes do not count toward the 30-page limit.)

(B) Past Performance of Applicant/Project Coordinator (6 Points). Your narrative must describe how you (or your proposed Project Coordinator) successfully implemented grant programs designed to assist the elderly/persons with disabilities meet their daily living needs and enhance their access to needed services so that they can continue to reside comfortably and productively in their current living environment. You will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

(1) Achievement of specific measurable outcomes and objectives in terms of benefits gained by participating residents (i.e. access to a greater number of social services; improved health conditions of targeted population; less emergency care; etc.);

(2) Success in attracting and keeping residents involved in past grant program so that grant activities benefited a significant number of residents;

(3) Timely expenditure of funds throughout the term of awarded grant. Timely means regular drawdowns throughout the life of the grant, i.e. quarterly drawdowns, with all funds expended by the end of the grant term;

(4) Leveraging of funding or in-kind services beyond that which was originally proposed to be used for past projects;

(5) Long-term partnerships formed with other state and local social service providers, nonprofits and other organizations serving these populations; etc.

Your past experience may include, but is not limited to, running and managing programs aimed at assisting elderly/persons with disabilities who reside in low-income housing/areas such as HUD's Office of Housing's Congregate grant program. Your narrative must indicate the grants, grant amounts, grant terms and grant sources which you are counting towards past experience.

(C) Program Administration and Fiscal Management. (7 Points).

(1) Program Administration. (4 Points). Describe how you will manage the program; how HUD can be sure that there is program accountability; and describe staff's roles and responsibilities.

(2) Fiscal Management. (3 Points). In rating this factor, your skills and experience in fiscal management will be evaluated. If you have had any audit or material weakness findings, you will be evaluated on how well you have addressed them. You must provide the following:

(a) A complete description of your fiscal management structure, including fiscal controls you have in place including those of a Contract Administrator for all applicants except non-troubled PHAs;

(b) List any audit findings (HUD Inspector General, management review, fiscal, etc.), material weaknesses and what you have done to address them; and

(c) For applicants who are required to have a Contract Administrator, describe the skills and experience your Contract Administrator has in managing federal funds.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding your proposed program and your indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, you will be evaluated on the extent to which you describe and document the level of need for your proposed activities and the urgency in meeting the need.

You should use statistics and analyses contained in data source(s) that are sound and reliable. Data that describes socioeconomic conditions at the local level can be found by going to the following Web sites: www.bls.gov (Bureau of Labor Statistics) or www.census.gov (US Census). Other types of sources include Continuum of Care gaps analysis, academic, state, and local sources. To the extent possible, the data you use should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. You should document needs as they apply to the area where activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state.

In responding to this factor, you should include:

(1) Socioeconomic Profile (5 points). A needs assessment which provides the number of residents needing assistance with activities of daily living;

(2) Local Training Program Information (5 points). Information on the type and number of social service programs currently available to residents either through the PHA, tribe/TDHE, or other local or state organizations. Your narrative should indicate the extent to which such programs are utilized by residents.

You may also address needs in terms of fulfilling the requirements of court actions or other legal decisions or which expand upon the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) to further fair housing. If you address needs that are in your community's Consolidated Plan, AI, or a court decision, or identify and substantiate needs in addition to those in the AI, you will receive a greater number of points than applicants who do not relate their proposed program to the approved Consolidated Plan or AI or court action. NOTE: Fines, penalties, damages, and other settlements resulting from violations (or alleged violations) of, or failure of the applicant to comply with federal, state, local or Indian tribal laws and regulations are unallowable means in which to satisfy this Rating Factor, except when incurred as a result of compliance with specific provisions of the federal award or written instructions by the awarding agency authorizing in advance such payments.

(3) Resource Documentation (3 points). The names and/or titles of information resources you used to document the need/extent of the problem.

(4) Demonstrated Link Between Proposed Activities and Local Need (7 points). There must be a clear relationship between your proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the program funding for you to receive points for this factor.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (30 Points)

This factor addresses both the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. Your work plan must indicate a clear relationship between your proposed activities, the targeted population's needs, and the purpose of the program funding. Your activities must address HUD's policy priorities which relate to this program.

In rating this factor HUD will consider:

(A) Quality of the Work Plan (18 points). This factor evaluates both your work plan and your budget and will be evaluated based on the following components:

(1) Specific Services and/or Activities (6 points). Your narrative must describe the specific services and activities you plan to offer and who will be responsible for each. You must also provide a work plan which will enumerate the specific services and activities and outcomes you expect. Please see a sample work plan in Appendix B. HUD will consider how well your proposed activities will:

(a) Involve community partners in the delivery of services; and

(b) Offer comprehensive services versus a small range of services geared toward enhancing economic opportunities for residents.

(2) Feasibility and Demonstrable Benefits (4 points). This factor examines whether your work plan is logical, feasible and likely to achieve its stated purpose during the term of the grant. HUD's desire is to fund projects that will quickly produce demonstrable results and advance the purposes of the ROSS program.

(a) Timeliness. This subfactor evaluates whether your work plan demonstrates that your project is ready to implement shortly after grant award, but not to exceed three months following the execution of the grant agreement. Your work plan should indicate timeframes and deadlines for accomplishing major activities.

(b) Description of the problem and solution. Your work plan will be evaluated based on how well your proposed activities address the needs described in Factor 2.

(3) Budget Appropriateness/Efficient Use of Grant. (4 Points) The score in this factor will be based on the following:

(a) Justification of expenses. You will be evaluated based on whether your expenses are reasonable and well-explained.

(b) Budget Efficiency. You will be evaluated based on whether your application requests funds commensurate with the level of effort necessary to accomplish your goals and anticipated results.

(4) Involving Residents in the Design of the Work Plan (4 points). All applicants should make every effort to involve residents in the design of the work plan, so that activities and services offered by your organization address their needs.

(B) Addressing HUD's Policy Priorities (12 points). HUD wants to improve the quality of life for those living in distressed communities. HUD's grant programs are a vehicle through which constructive changes can be achieved. Your narrative and work plan will be evaluated based on how well it meets the following HUD policy priorities:

(1) Improving the Quality of Life in Our Nation's Communities (5 points). In order to receive points in this category, your narrative and work plan must indicate the types of activities and services you will offer which will enhance the quality of life of the elderly/persons with disabilities.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation (7 points). HUD encourages applicants to partner with grassroots organizations, e.g., civic organizations, grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that are not usually effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as developing visiting programs, arranging holiday parties, connecting residents to transportation, and other supportive services. In order to receive points under this factor, your narrative and work plan must describe how you will work with these organizations and what types of services they will provide.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (20 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant resources to achieve program purposes. You are required to create partnerships with organizations that can help you achieve your program's goals. PHAs are required by QHwRA (Sec. 12(d)(7) of the U.S. Housing Act, entitled "Cooperation Agreements for Economic Self-Sufficiency Activities") to make best efforts to enter into such agreements with relevant state or local agencies. In rating this factor, HUD will look at the extent to which you partner, coordinate and leverage your services with other organizations serving the same or similar populations.

Additionally, you must have at least a 25 percent cash or in-kind match. The match is a threshold requirement. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail the threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one grant ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Leveraging in excess of the 25 percent of the grant amount will receive a higher point value. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which you have partnered with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed program activities. The budget, the work plan, and commitments for additional resources and services, other than the grant, must show that these resources are firmly committed, will support the proposed grant activities and will, in combined amount (including in-kind contributions of personnel, space and/or equipment, and monetary contributions) equal at least 25 percent of the grant amount proposed in this application. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU), or tribal resolution must be on organization letterhead and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolution must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate their budget form (the HUD-424-CB) to list the sources and amount of each match. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(A) Volunteer time and services shall be computed by using the normal professional rate for the local area at the national minimum wage rate of $5.15 per hour (Note: Applicants may not use their staff time towards the match);

(B) In order for HUD to determine the value of any donated material, equipment, staff time, building, or lease, your application must provide a letter from the organization making the donation stating the value of the contribution. The letter must be on letterhead, signed by an official authorized to make such commitments on behalf of the donating organization and must be dated within two months of the application deadline.

(C) Other resources/services that can be committed include: in-kind services, contributions or administrative costs provided to the applicant; funds from federal sources (not including ROSS funds) as allowed by statute, including for example Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and federal Revenue Sharing; funds from any state or local government sources; and funds from private contributions. You may also partner with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in your target area.

(D) Points for this factor will be awarded based on the documented evidence of partnerships and firm commitments and the ratio of requested ROSS funds to the total proposed grant budget.

Points will be assigned based on the following scale:

Percentage of match	Points awarded
26-50	10
76-99 or above	20

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

An important element in this year's NOFA is the development and reporting of performance measures and outcomes. Under this rating factor, applicants must demonstrate how they propose to measure their success and outcomes as they relate to the Department's Strategic Plan.

This factor emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and that they assess their performance so that they realize performance goals. HUD requires ROSS applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented work plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to the residents, families and/or communities during or after participation in the ROSS program. Outcomes are not the actual development of self-sufficiency services or program activities. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be achieved and measured. Examples of outcomes are: increasing the homeownership rates among residents of a development or from a particular housing authority, increasing residents' financial stability (e.g. increasing assets of a household through savings), or increasing employment stability (e.g., whether persons assisted obtain or retain employment for one or two years after job training completion).

In addition to outcomes, applicants must establish interim benchmarks or outputs for their proposed program that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of a program's activities. Examples of outputs are: the number of eligible families that participate in supportive services, the number of new services provided, the number of residents receiving counseling, or the number of households using a technology center. Outputs should produce outcomes for your program.

This rating factor requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, outputs, benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your work plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

In order to satisfy the requirements for Factor 5, you must submit a work plan and a Logic Model that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your plan must identify the outcomes you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant and benchmarks, outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your work plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements. You must indicate how your plan will measure the performance of individual consortium members and affiliates, including the standards, data sources, and measurement methods, and the steps you have in place or how you plan to make adjustments if you begin to fall short of established benchmarks and timeframes.

Applicants should also use the Logic Model provided in the General Section of this SuperNOFA for reporting on how they will conduct performance measurement. You will be evaluated based on how comprehensively you propose to measure your program's outcomes.

V. Program Description: Homeownership Supportive Services

(A) Program Description. The Homeownership Supportive Services (HSS) category funds homeownership training, counseling and supportive services for residents of Public and Indian Housing who are participating or have participated in self-sufficiency programs, such as ROSS, Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) or other federal, state or local self-sufficiency programs. Resident participants in any HSS-funding activity cannot be public housing residents and section 8 voucher holders concurrently. HSS is designed to enhance other self-sufficiency efforts by providing public housing residents with the necessary preparation and supportive services they need in order to move from rental housing to homeownership. PHAs, tribes/TDHEs and nonprofits specializing in homeownership training and counseling are eligible to apply.

HUD is looking for applications that implement comprehensive programs within the thirty-six month grant term which will result in increased rates of homeownership for residents of public housing. In this vein, applicants should create linkages with the following HUD homeownership programs: Housing Choice Voucher Homeownership Program, Turnkey III, HOPE I, and the Section 5(h) Homeownership Program. The Turnkey III and HOPE I grant programs are not funding new applications but grantees are still operating homeownership programs under previously awarded grants. The PHA Homeownership Program (Section 32) supercedes the Section 5(h) program and allows PHAs to sell public housing units to low-income families without special funding from HUD. In order to find out whether a PHA or other organization in your area is operating any of these programs, contact your local field office.

Tribes/TDHEs should create linkages with programs such as the Mutual Help Homeownership Opportunity Program, the Section 184 Program, and other homeownership programs developed under the Indian Housing Block Grant Program such as mortgage assistance.

HUD is also looking for proposals that involve partnerships with organizations that will enhance the services grantees will offer. Applicants are strongly encouraged to partner with HUD-approved housing counseling agencies, or other organizations that provide housing counseling services. For a list of HUD-approved housing counseling agencies, go to: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hccprof14.cfm>.

Applicants' programs should build on the foundation created by previous ROSS grants, or other state and local self-sufficiency efforts in which their target population may have participated.

(B) Available Funding. The amount of funding available for FY03 is $11,127,200.

(C) Allocation. To the extent that there are a sufficient number of qualified applications, not less than 5 percent of funds available for ROSS shall be provided to national nonprofit organizations which specialize in designing and delivering homeownership programs for low-income individuals and families.

1. Maximum grant amount. For PHAs applying for the HSS funding category, the maximum grant award will be based on the number of occupied conventional family public housing units.

(a) PHAs must use the number of occupied conventional family public housing units as of September 30, 2002 per their budget to determine the maximum grant amount they are eligible for in accordance with the categories listed below. PHAs should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

—For PHAs with 1 to 780 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $250,000.

—For PHAs with 781 to 2,500 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $350,000.

—For PHAs with 2,501 to 7,300 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $500,000.

—For PHAs with 7,301 or more occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $1,000,000.

—Nonprofit entities that have resident support or RAs/ROs are limited to $100,000 for each RA/RO. A nonprofit may submit a single application for no more than three different RAs from the same PHA for a maximum grant award of $300,000. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided they target residents of distinct PHAs.

(b) Tribes/TDHEs should use the number of units counted as Formula Current Assisted Stock for Fiscal Year 2002 as defined in 24 CFR 1000.316. Tribes/TDHEs are eligible for the same amounts as PHAs within each category in (a) above. Tribes that have not previously received funds from the Department under the 1937 Housing Act should count housing units under management that are owned and operated by the tribe and are identified in their housing inventory as of September 30, 2002 for family units. Tribes should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

(D) Deobligation of Funds. HUD may deobligate amounts for the grant if proposed activities are not initiated or completed within the required time period after the effective date of the award. The grant agreement will set forth in detail circumstances under which funds may be deobligated and other sanctions imposed.

(E) Eligible Applicants.

This funding category provides grants to PHAs, tribes/TDHEs and qualified nonprofits so they may provide homeownership training and supportive services to residents of public housing.

Note: Applications from PHAs and nonprofit organizations targeting the same public housing development/population will not all be funded. HUD suggests that in these cases, applicants work together to submit one application. Otherwise, the highest scoring application will be funded.

(1) PHA applicants must have a Homeownership Voucher program as stated in 24 CFR 982.625 et seq. (65 FR 55163). Those PHAs that have not elected to provide assistance under the Homeownership Voucher option and receive funding under this category, will be required to implement the Homeownership Voucher program and make such option available to eligible families who participate in this ROSS activity.

(2) In applying for HSS, PHA applicants will be required to offer a minimum of 10 housing choice vouchers per year for eligible residents described above.

(3) Tribal/TDHE applicants must have a Low-income Homeownership Program outlined in its current Indian Housing Plan.

(4) In applying for HSS, Tribes/TDHEs will be required to provide homeownership assistance to a minimum of 10 eligible families as described above.

(F) Eligible Activities. Under this funding category, applicants will develop homeownership training programs and supportive services based on needs assessments of the residents they intend to serve. Eligible activities include, but are not limited to:

(1) Hiring of a qualified project coordinator to run the grant program. A qualified project coordinator is someone with at least two years of experience working on homeownership and supportive services programs designed for typically underserved populations. The ROSS program will fund up to $62,500 in combined annual salary and fringe benefits for a full-time project coordinator. However, the project coordinator's salary and administrative costs may not exceed more than 30% of the total grant amount. Other administrative costs, see paragraph 4 below, may not exceed 10% of the total grant amount requested from HUD. For audit purposes, applicants must have documentation on file demonstrating that the salary they pay the project coordinator is comparable to similar professions in their local area. The project coordinator should be responsible for:

(a) Assessing participating residents' needs;

(b) Designing and coordinating grant activities based on residents' needs;

(c) Monitoring the progress of program participants and evaluating the overall success of the program. A portion of grant funds should be reserved to ensure that evaluations can be completed for all participants who received assistance through this program. For more information on how to measure performance, please see Rating Factor 5.

(2) Training to include:

- a. Asset building;
- b. Credit counseling and credit scoring;
- c. Financial literacy and management;
- d. Selecting a real estate broker;
- e. Choosing a lender;
- f. Appraisals;
- g. Home inspections;
- h. Avoiding delinquency and predatory lending;
- i. Foreclosure prevention;
- j. Home maintenance and financial management for first-time homeowners;
- k. Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA); and
- l. Fair Housing Counseling.

(3) Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs). You may create programs that encourage residents to save and contribute to matched savings accounts such as Individual Development Accounts (IDAs). ISAs may be used for escrow accounts, downpayment assistance and closing costs only. HSS funds can be used as matching funds for ISAs but no more than 20% of total grant funds may be used for this purpose. You are encouraged to leverage HSS funds by working with local financial organizations which can also contribute to residents' ISAs. FSS escrow accounts may not be used as a match for HSS-funded ISAs. FSS residents are not eligible to participate in the ISA provision.

(4) Administrative costs.

Administrative costs may include, but are not limited to, purchase of furniture, office equipment and supplies, quality assurance, local travel, and utilities.

Nonprofit organizations only may use administrative funds to pay for rental of space. Administrative costs must not exceed 10 percent of the total grant amount requested from HUD. Administrative costs must adhere to OMB Circular A-87. Please use HUD-424-CBW to itemize your administrative costs.

(G) Ineligible Activities.

(1) Payment of wages and/or salaries to participants receiving supportive services and/or training programs;

(2) Stipends;

(3) Down payment assistance;

(4) Revolving loan funds;

(5) Purchase or rental of land;

(6) New construction, materials costs;

(7) Rehab or physical improvements;

(8) Purchase or rental of vehicles; and

(9) Cost of application preparation.

(H) Threshold Requirements.

Applicants must respond to threshold requirements clearly and thoroughly by following the instructions below. If your application fails one threshold requirement (regardless of the type of threshold) it will be considered a failed application and will not be reviewed further.

(1) Match. All applicants are required to have in place a firmly committed 25% match in cash or in-kind donations as defined in this NOFA. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail this threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Match donations must be firmly committed. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of match resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, Memoranda of Understanding (MOU), or tribal resolution must be on organization letterhead, and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment whether it be in cash or in-kind services. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolutions must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If volunteer time is being committed it should be calculated using the number of hours to be committed and multiplied by either the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15/hour. The commitment should be in place at time of award and should be for the duration of the grant. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support/tribal resolution indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate the HUD-424-CB to list the sources and amount of each match for the duration of the grant term. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(2) Past Performance. HUD's field offices will evaluate applicants for past performance to determine whether an applicant has the capacity to manage the grant for which they are applying. The DPONAP will review past performance for tribal and TDHE submissions. Using Rating Factor 1, the field office will evaluate applicants' past performance. Applicants should carefully review Rating Factor 1 to ensure their application addresses each of the criteria requested therein. If applicants fail to address what is requested in Rating Factor 1, their application will fail threshold and will not receive further consideration. If applicants pass threshold, they will go on to be scored for Rating Factor 1 during the technical review process.

(3) All applicants except nontroubled PHAs and tribe/TDHEs are required to submit a signed Contract Administrator Partnership Agreement. The agreement must be for the thirty-six month duration of the grant term. Your grant award shall be contingent upon having a Partnership Agreement included in your application. The Contract Administrator must assure that the financial management system and procurement procedures that will be in place during the thirty-six month grant term will fully comply with either 24 CFR part 84 or 85. Troubled PHAs are not eligible to be Contract Administrators. Grant writers who assist applicants prepare their ROSS applications are also ineligible to be Contract Administrators. See the definition in Section III of Contract Administrator for more information.

(4) Nonprofit applicants must include letters from Resident Organizations (RO), Resident Associations (RA) indicating that the ROs/RAs you will be working with support your application. Letters from ROs/RAs must be signed by a person authorized to sign for the organization and should, whenever be possible, be on RO/RA letterhead.

(I) Program Requirements.

(1) Eligible Participants. All program participants must be residents of conventional public housing or NAHASDA-assisted housing. This funding category is targeted to the population of public housing residents that were recipients/beneficiaries of previously awarded ROSS grants, other state or local self-sufficiency programs, and/or participate or participated in the public housing Family Self Sufficiency Program. Resident participants in any HSS-funding activity cannot be public housing residents and section 8 voucher holders concurrently.

(b) ROSS families or FSS residents to be targeted for proposed grant activities must meet the following eligibility requirements:

(i) Achieve a level of income within the acceptable range for the local minimum income for home purchases in the local area; and

(ii) Currently reside in public housing.

(2) Resident Assessment. Applicants are required to assess residents' needs and interests so that program activities are designed to address their needs.

(3) Partnering. Applicants should partner with local schools, libraries, businesses, banks, employment agencies, housing counseling agencies (preferably HUD-approved), state and local social service agencies, or other organizations which will help applicants deliver supportive services and fulfill residents' needs. These organizations can provide additional expertise, volunteers, office supplies, training materials, software, equipment, and other resources.

(4) Performance Reports. The grantee shall submit semi-annual performance reports to the field office. These progress reports shall include financial reports (SF-269A) and a narrative describing milestones, work plan progress, and problems encountered and methods used to address these problems. HUD anticipates that some of the reporting of financial status and grant performance will be through Internet-based submissions. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. Performance reports are due to the field office on July 30 and January 31 of each year. If reports are not received by the due date, grant funds will not be advanced until reports are received.

(5) Final Report. The grantees shall submit a final report which will include a financial report (SF-269A) and a narrative evaluating overall performance against its work plan. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. The financial report shall contain a summary of all expenditures made from the beginning of the grant agreement to the end of the grant agreement and shall include any unexpended balances. The final narrative and financial report shall be due to the field office 90 days after the termination of the grant agreement.

(6) Final Audit. Grantees are required to obtain a complete final close-out audit of the grant's financial statements by a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), in accordance with generally accepted government audit standards. A written report of the audit must be forwarded to HUD within 60 days of issuance. Grant recipients must comply with the requirements of 24 CFR part 84 or 24 CFR part 85 as stated in OMB Circulars A-110, A-87, and A-122, as applicable.

(J) Application Selection Process.

(1) Four types of reviews will be conducted: a screening to determine if you are eligible to apply for this funding category; whether your application submission is complete, on time and meets threshold; a review by the field office to evaluate past performance; and a technical review to rate your application based on the five rating factors provided in this section. A minimum score of 75 is required for the application to be considered for funding.

(2) The selection process is designed to achieve geographic diversity of grant awards throughout the country. HUD will first select the highest ranked application from each of the ten federal regions for funding. After this "round," HUD will select the second highest ranked application in each of the ten federal regions for funding (the second round). HUD will continue this process with the third, fourth, and so on, highest ranked applications in each federal region until the last complete round is selected for funding. If available funds exist to fund some but not all eligible applications in the next round, HUD will make awards to those remaining applications in rank order regardless of region and will fully fund as many as possible with remaining funds. If remaining funds are too small to make an award, they may be transferred to another funding category. If transfer of funds does become necessary, HUD will give first priority to Homeownership Supportive Services, second priority to RSDM-Family and third priority to RSDM-Elderly.

(K) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Homeownership Supportive Services Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants and maximum points for each factor are provided below. The maximum number of points available for this program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The SuperNOFA contains a certificate that must be completed in order for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A listing of federally designated RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs and Strategic Planning Communities is attached to the General Section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix A-2 and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center, and the HUD Web site, www.hud.gov.

Note: Applicants should carefully review each rating factor before writing a response. Applicants' narratives should be as descriptive as possible, ensuring that every requested item is addressed. Applicants should make sure to include all requested information, according to the instructions found in Section VIII of this NOFA. This will help ensure a fair and accurate review of your application. Applications must not be longer than 30 narrative pages. Supporting documentation and certificates will not be counted towards the 30 page limit. However, applicants should make every effort to submit only what is necessary in terms of supporting documentation.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (20 Points)

This factor addresses whether the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities within the grant period. In rating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates that the applicant will have qualified and experienced staff dedicated to administering the program.

(A) Proposed Program Staffing (7 Points).

(1) Staff Experience (4 Points). The knowledge and experience of your proposed project coordinator, staff, subcontractors, and partners in planning and managing programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant and successful experience of your staff to undertake eligible program activities. In rating this factor, HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent the experience and the more experience your own staff members who work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the greater the number of points you will receive for this rating factor. The following information should be provided in order to provide

HUD an understanding of your staff's experience and capacity:

(a) The number of staff years (one staff year = 2080 hours) to be allocated to your program by each employee or expert as well as each of their roles in the program;

(b) The staff's relevant educational background and/or work experience; and

(c) Relevant and successful experience running programs whose activities are similar to the eligible program activities described in this grant category.

(2) Staff Capacity (3 Points). You will be evaluated based on whether you, your subcontractors and partners have sufficient personnel or will be able to quickly access enough qualified experts or professionals, to deliver the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Your ability to immediately begin the proposed work program will also be evaluated. Attach resumes or position descriptions (where staff is not yet hired) for all key personnel. (Resumes do not count toward the 30-page limit.)

(B) Past Performance of Applicant/Project Coordinator (6 Points). Your narrative must describe how you (or your proposed Project Coordinator) successfully implemented grant programs designed to promote resident self-sufficiency, moving from welfare to work or homeownership. You will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

(1) Achievement of specific measurable outcomes and objectives in terms of benefits gained by participating residents (i.e. higher incomes, higher rates of employment, increased savings, moving out of subsidized housing to market-rate housing, homeownership etc.);

(2) Success in attracting and keeping residents involved in past grant programs so that grant activities benefited a significant numbers of residents;

(3) Timely expenditure of funds throughout the term of the grant. Timely means regular drawdowns throughout the life of the grant, i.e. quarterly drawdowns, with all funds expended by the end of the grant term;

(4) Leveraging of funding or in-kind services beyond that which was originally proposed to be used for past projects;

(5) Long-term partnerships formed with local housing groups, employers, community organizations, social service agencies, etc.

Your past experience may include, but is not limited to, programs aimed at assisting residents of low-income housing achieve economic self-sufficiency; i.e. Tenant Opportunities Program and Youthbuild. Your narrative must indicate the grants, grant amounts, grant terms and grant sources which you are counting towards past experience.

(C) Program Administration and Fiscal Management. (7 Points)

(1) Program Administration. (4 Points). Describe how you will manage the program; how HUD can be sure that there is program accountability; and describe staff's roles and responsibilities.

(2) Fiscal Management. (3 Points). In rating this factor, your skills and experience in fiscal management will be evaluated. If you have had any audit or material weakness findings, you will be evaluated on how well you have addressed them. You must provide the following:

(i) A complete description of your fiscal management structure, including fiscal controls you have in place including those of a Contract Administrator for all applicants except non-troubled PHAs;

(ii) List any audit findings (HUD Inspector General, management review, fiscal, etc.), material weaknesses and what you have done to address them; and

(iii) For applicants who are required to have a Contract Administrator, describe the skills and experience your Contract Administrator has in managing federal funds.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding your proposed program and your indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, you will be evaluated on the extent to which you describe and document the level of need for your proposed activities.

You should use statistics and analyses contained in data source(s) that are sound and reliable. Data that describes socioeconomic conditions at the local level can be found by going to the following Web sites: www.bls.gov (Bureau of Labor Statistics) or www.census.gov (US Census). Other types of sources include academic, state, and local sources. To the extent possible, the data you use should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. You should document needs as they apply to the area where activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state.

In responding to this factor, you should include:

(1) Socioeconomic Profile (5 points). A thorough socioeconomic profile of the eligible residents to be served by your program, including education levels, income levels, the number of single-parent families, economic statistics for the local area, crime levels, etc.

(2) Local Training Program Information (5 points). Information on training programs currently available and easily accessible to residents either through the PHA or other state or local organizations.

You may also address needs in terms of fulfilling the requirements of court actions or other legal decisions or which expand upon the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) to further fair housing. If you address needs that are in your community's Consolidated Plan, AI, or a court decision, or identify and substantiate needs in addition to those in the AI, you will receive a greater number of points than applicants who do not relate their proposed program to the approved Consolidated Plan or AI or court action. NOTE: Fines, penalties, damages, and other settlements resulting from violations (or alleged violations) of, or failure of the applicant to comply with federal, state, local or Indian tribal laws and regulations are unallowable means in which to satisfy this Rating Factor, except when incurred as a result of compliance with specific provisions of the federal award or written instructions by the awarding agency authorizing in advance such payments.

(3) Resource Documentation (3 points). The names and/or titles of information resources you used to document the need/extent of the problem.

(4) Demonstrated Link Between Proposed Activities and Local Need (7 points). There must be a clear relationship between your proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the program funding for you to receive points for this factor.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (30 Points)

This factor addresses both the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. Your work plan must indicate a clear relationship between your proposed activities, the targeted population's needs, and the purpose of the program funding. Your activities must address HUD's policy priorities which relate to this program.

In rating this factor HUD will consider:

(A) Quality of the Work Plan (18 points). This factor evaluates both your work plan and your budget and will be evaluated based on the following components:

(1) Specific Services and/or Activities (6 points). Your narrative must describe the specific services and activities you plan to offer and who will be responsible for each. You must also provide a work plan which will enumerate the specific services and activities and outcomes you expect. Please see a sample work plan in Appendix B. HUD will consider how well your proposed activities will:

(a) Involve community partners in the delivery of services; and

(b) Offer comprehensive services versus a small range of services geared toward enhancing homeownership opportunities for residents.

(2) Feasibility and Demonstrable Benefits (4 points). This factor examines whether your work plan is logical, feasible and likely to achieve its stated purpose during the term of the grant. HUD's desire is to fund projects that will quickly produce demonstrable results and advance the purposes of the ROSS program.

(a) Timeliness. This subfactor evaluates whether your work plan demonstrates that your project is ready to implement shortly after grant award, but not to exceed three months following the execution of the grant agreement. Your work plan should indicate timeframes and deadlines for accomplishing major activities.

(b) Description of the problem and solution. Your work plan will be evaluated based on how well your proposed activities address the needs described in Factor 2.

(3) Budget Appropriateness/Efficient Use of Grant. (4 Points). The score in this factor will be based on the following:

(a) Justification of expenses. You will be evaluated based on whether your expenses are reasonable and well-explained.

(b) Budget efficiency. You will be evaluated based on whether your application requests funds commensurate with the level of effort necessary to accomplish your goals and anticipated results.

(4) Involving Residents in the Design of the Work Plan (4 points). All applicants should make every effort to involve residents in the design of the work plan, so that activities and services offered by your organization address their needs.

(B) Addressing HUD's Policy Priorities (12 points). HUD wants to improve the quality of life for those living in distressed communities. HUD's grant programs are a vehicle through which constructive changes can be achieved.

Your narrative and work plan will be evaluated based on how well it meets the following HUD policy priorities:

(1) Providing Increased Homeownership and Rental Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency (5 points). In order to receive points in this category, your narrative and work plan must indicate the types of activities and training programs you will offer which can help residents successfully transition from subsidized housing to market-rate rental housing or homeownership.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation (7 points). HUD encourages applicants to partner with grassroots organizations, e.g., civic organizations, grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that are not usually effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as developing first-time homeownership programs, creating economic development programs, providing job training and other supportive services. In order to receive points under this factor, your narrative and work plan must describe how you will work with these organizations and what types of services they will provide.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (20 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant resources to achieve program purposes. You are required to create partnerships with organizations that can help you achieve your program's goals. PHAs are required by QHWRA (Sec. 12(d)(7) of the U.S. Housing Act, entitled "Cooperation Agreements for Economic Self-Sufficiency Activities") to make best efforts to enter into such agreements with relevant state or local agencies. In rating this factor, HUD will look at the extent to which you partner, coordinate and leverage your services with other organizations serving the same or similar populations.

Additionally, you must have at least a 25 percent cash or in-kind match. The match is a threshold requirement. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail the threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one grant ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Leveraging in excess of the 25 percent of the grant amount will receive a higher point value. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which you have partnered with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed program activities. The budget, the work plan, and commitments for additional resources and services, other than the grant, must show that these resources are firmly committed, will support the proposed grant activities and will, in combined amount (including in-kind contributions of personnel, space and/or equipment, and monetary contributions) equal at least 25 percent of the grant amount proposed in this application. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, or Memoranda of Understanding (MOU), or tribal resolutions must be on organization letterhead and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment. The letters of commitment/MOUs/tribal resolution must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate their budget forms (the HUD-424CB) to list the sources and amount of each match. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(A) Volunteer time and services shall be computed by using the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15 per hour (Note: Applicants may not use their staff time towards the match);

(B) In order for HUD to determine the value of any donated material, equipment, staff time, building, or lease, your application must provide a letter from the organization making the donation stating the value of the contribution. The letter must be on letterhead, signed by an official authorized to make such commitments on behalf of the donating organization and must be dated within two months of the application deadline.

(C) Other resources/services that can be committed include: in-kind services, contributions or administrative costs provided to the applicant; funds from federal sources (not including ROSS funds) as allowed by statute, including for example Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and federal Revenue Sharing; funds from any state or local government sources; and funds from private contributions. You may also partner with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in your target area.

(D) Points for this factor will be awarded based on the documented evidence of partnerships and firm commitments and the ratio of requested ROSS funds to the total proposed grant budget.

Points will be assigned based on the following scale:

Percentage of match	Points awarded
26-50	10
76-99 or above	20

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

An important element in this year's NOFA is the development and reporting of performance measures and outcomes. Under this rating factor, applicants must demonstrate how they propose to measure their success and outcomes as they relate to the Department's Strategic Plan.

This factor emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and that they assess their performance so that they realize performance goals. HUD requires ROSS applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented work plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to the residents, families and/or communities during or after participation in the ROSS program. Outcomes are not the actual development of self-sufficiency services or program activities. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be achieved and measured. Examples of outcomes are: increasing the homeownership rates among residents of a development or from a particular housing authority, increasing residents' financial stability (e.g. increasing assets of a household through savings), or increasing employment stability (e.g., whether persons assisted obtain or retain employment for one or two years after job training completion).

In addition to outcomes, applicants must establish interim benchmarks or outputs for their proposed program that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of a program's activities. Examples of outputs are: the number of eligible families that participate in supportive services, the number of new services provided, the number of residents receiving counseling, or the number of households using a technology center. Outputs should produce outcomes for your program.

This rating factor requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, outputs, benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your work plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

In order to satisfy the requirements for Factor 5, you must submit a work plan and a Logic Model that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your plan must identify the outcomes you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant and benchmarks, outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your work plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements. You must indicate how your plan will measure the performance of individual consortium members and affiliates, including the standards, data sources, and measurement methods, and the steps you have in place or how you plan to make adjustments if you begin to fall short of established benchmarks and timeframes. Applicants should also use the Logic Model provided in the General Section of this SuperNOFA for reporting on how they will conduct performance measurement. You will be evaluated based on how comprehensively you propose to measure your program's outcomes.

VI. Program Description: Neighborhood Networks

(A) Program Description.

This funding category provides grants to PHAs and qualified nonprofit organizations to (1) update, maintain and expand existing Neighborhood Networks/community technology centers; or (2) establish new Neighborhood Networks (NN) computer technology centers. NN centers provide computer and Internet access to public housing residents and offer a full range of supportive services. Applicants should submit proposals that will: Provide job training, reduce welfare dependency; promote economic self-sufficiency; increase the use of computer technology; expand educational opportunities for residents; develop access to health and nutrition information; and meet other needs of residents. All applicants must complete a Business Plan (see sample provided in Appendix B) covering the thirty-six month grant term. Applicants' business plan and narrative must indicate how the centers will become self-sustaining after the grant term expires.

An existing computer center is: (1) A computer lab, or community technology center already owned and operated by a PHA or nonprofit which serves residents of public housing and which has not received prior Neighborhood Networks funding and therefore is not officially designated a HUD Public & Indian Housing (PIH) Neighborhood Networks center; or (2) a computer lab officially designated a HUD PIH Neighborhood Networks center by virtue of prior funding received under this grant program.

A new computer center is one that: (1) Is not operational; (2) in development; and/or (3) needs funding under this grant program to become fully operational and serve residents of public housing.

HUD is looking for applications that implement comprehensive programs within the grant term which will result in improved economic self-sufficiency for public housing residents. HUD is looking for proposals that involve partnerships with organizations that will help supplement and enhance the services grantees' offered to residents.

Proposed grant activities should build on the foundation created by previous ROSS grants or other federal, state and local self-sufficiency efforts.

(B) Available Funding. The amount of funding available for FY03 is $14,902,500.

(C) Allocation. Fifty percent of available funding for NN will provide grants for updating, maintaining and expanding existing computer technology centers. The other 50% will provide grants to establish and operate new Neighborhood Networks centers. Five percent of available funding shall be provided to national nonprofit organizations provided there is a sufficient number of qualified applications.

(1) Maximum Funding Amount. To update, maintain and expand existing computer technology centers, PHAs must use the number of occupied conventional family public housing units they have as of September 30, 2002 per their budget to determine the maximum grant amount they are eligible for in accordance with the categories listed below. PHAs should clearly indicate the number of units under management on the Fact Sheet.

—For PHAs with 1 to 780 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $50,000.

—For PHAs with 781 to 7,300 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $100,000.

—For PHAs with 7,301 or more occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $200,000.

—Nonprofit entities that have resident support or RAs/ROs are limited to $100,000 for each RA/RO. A nonprofit may submit a single application for no more than three different RAs from the same PHA for a maximum grant award of $300,000. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided they target residents of distinct PHAs.

(2) For new NN centers, PHAs must use the number of occupied conventional family public housing units they have as of September 30, 2002 per their budget to determine the maximum grant amount they are eligible for in accordance with the categories listed below for families:

—For PHAs with 1 to 780 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $150,000.

—For PHAs with 781 to 7,300 occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $250,000.

—For PHAs with 7,301 or more occupied conventional family public housing units, the maximum grant award is $450,000.

—Nonprofit entities that have resident support or RAs/ROs are limited to $100,000 for each RA/RO. A nonprofit may submit a single application for no more than three different RAs from the same PHA for a maximum grant award of $300,000. Nonprofits may submit more than one application provided they target residents of distinct PHAs.

(D) Deobligation of Funds. HUD may deobligate amounts for the grant if proposed activities are not initiated or completed within the required time period after the effective date of the award. The grant agreement will set forth in detail circumstances under which funds may be deobligated and other sanctions imposed.

(E) Eligible Applicants. Public Housing Authorities and nonprofit organizations that have a demonstrated expertise in developing and managing community technology centers are eligible to apply for this funding category. Tribes/TDHEs are not eligible to apply for this funding category.

Note: Applications from PHAs and nonprofit organizations targeting the same public housing development/population will not all be funded. HUD suggests that in these cases, applicants work together to submit one application. Otherwise, the highest scoring application will be funded.

(F) Eligible Activities.

Programs offered by Neighborhood Networks centers shall be designed to meet residents' needs; be geared towards helping residents transition from welfare to work; assist school-age children and youth with homework; provide guidance and preparatory programming to high school students (or other interested residents) for post-secondary education (college or trade schools); offer life-skills and job training for youth, adults and seniors; provide health care information; and other services as deemed necessary by results obtained from resident surveys.

Neighborhood Networks centers should be located within a public housing development, on PHA land or within reasonable walking distance to the PHA development(s) being served by the center.

Neighborhood Networks will use computers, software and Internet connectivity and should provide the following array of supportive services:

(1) Hiring of a qualified Project Coordinator to run the grant program. A qualified Project Coordinator should have two years of experience running a community technology center. The Project Coordinator should be hired for the entire term of your grant. The ROSS program will fund up to $62,500 in combined annual salary and fringe benefits for a full-time project coordinator. However, the project coordinator's salary and administrative costs may not exceed more than 30% of the total grant amount. Other administrative costs, see paragraph 17 below, may not exceed 10% of the total grant amount requested from HUD. For audit purposes, applicants must have documentation on file demonstrating that the salary they pay the project coordinator is comparable to similar professions in their local area. The project coordinator should be responsible for ensuring that the center's programs achieve your proposal's goals and objectives. In addition, the project coordinator should be responsible for the following activities:

(a) Marketing the program to residents;

(b) Assessing participating residents' needs, interests, skills and job-readiness;

(c) Assessing participating residents' needs for supportive services, e.g. childcare, transportation.

(d) Designing and coordinating grant activities based on residents' needs; and

(e) Monitoring the progress of program participants and evaluating the overall success of the program. A portion of grant funds should be reserved to ensure that evaluations can be completed for all participants who received training through this program. For more information on how to measure performance, please see Rating Factor 5.

(2) Life skills training: How to apply for a job; credit worthiness; opening a bank account; balancing a checkbook; creating a weekly spending budget; contingency planning for child care and transportation;

(3) Real Life Issues: Tax forms; voter registration; lease samples; fair housing; car insurance; health insurance; long-term care insurance;

(4) Literacy training and GED preparation;

(5) Computer training, from basic to advanced;

(6) College preparatory courses and information;

(7) Goal setting: Working with residents to define their professional, educational, economic goals;

(8) Mentoring;

(9) Job Training: Oral and written communication skills; work ethic; interpersonal and teamwork skills; resume writing; interviewing techniques, creating job training and placement programs with local employers and placement agencies; and post-employment follow-up to assist residents who are new to the workplace.

(10) Supportive Services such as transportation, healthcare information and services including referrals to mental health providers, alcohol and other drug abuse treatment programs, childcare, parenting courses, and other services needed by residents.

(11) Physical improvements. Physical improvements must directly relate to providing space for Neighborhood Networks Center activities. Renovation, conversion, wiring, and repair costs may be essential parts of physical improvements. In addition, architectural, engineering, and related professional services required to prepare architectural plans or drawings, write-ups, specifications or inspections may also be part of the cost components to implement physical improvements. For new centers, expenses for physical improvements may not exceed 20 percent of the total grant amount. For existing centers, expenses for physical improvements may not exceed 10 percent of the total grant amount.

Modifications to create a space that is accessible to persons with disabilities is an eligible use of funds. Refer to Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-87, Cost Principles for state, local and Indian tribal Governments. All renovations must meet appropriate accessibility requirements, including Section 504 requirements at 24 CFR part 8, Architectural Barriers Act at 24 CFR part 40, the Americans with Disabilities Act and the Fair Housing Act. Compliance with The Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards shall be deemed to comply with the requirements of 24 CFR 8.21, 8.22, 8.232, and 8.25 with respect to buildings.

(a) The renovation, conversion, or joining of vacant dwelling units in a PHA development to create appropriate space for the equipment needs and activities of an NN center (computers, printers, and office space) are eligible activities for physical improvement.

(b) The renovation, conversion of existing common areas in a PHA development to accommodate an NN center is eligible.

(c) If renovation, conversion, or repair is done off-site, the PHA must provide documentation that it has control of the proposed property for not less than 3 years and preferably for 4 years or more. Control can be demonstrated through a lease agreement, ownership documentation, or other appropriate documentation.

(12) Maintenance and insurance costs. Include installing, training, and maintaining the hardware and software as well as insurance coverage for the space and equipment. Costs of computer hardware and software necessary to accommodate the needs of persons with disabilities are an eligible cost for this funding category.

(13) Purchase of computers, printers, software and other peripheral equipment;

(14) Security and related costs. Includes space and minor refitting, locks, and other equipment for safeguarding the center.

(15) Resident development and training courses. These courses may be on disk, CD-ROM through the Web, and/or presented live. Programs should be designed to address job training, life-skills, educational needs of residents (youth and adults) and other interests/needs of residents as determined by an assessment of residents conducted by the applicant.

(16) Distance learning equipment. Distance learning equipment (including the costs for video casting and purchase/lease/rental of distance learning equipment) is an eligible use of funds provided your proposal indicates that the center will be working in a virtual setting with a college, university or other educational organization. If you operate more than one center, distance learning equipment can be used to link one or more centers so that residents using the different centers can benefit from courses being offered at only one site.

(17) Administrative costs. Administrative costs may include, but are not limited to, purchase of furniture, office equipment and supplies, salaries for resident employees hired as part of this grant program, quality assurance, local travel, and utilities. Nonprofit organizations only may use administrative funds to pay for rental of space. For existing NN centers, administrative costs must not exceed 10 percent of the total grant amount requested from HUD. Administrative costs must adhere to OMB Circular A-87. Please use HUD-424-CBW to itemize your administrative costs.

(G) Ineligible Activities.

(1) Payment of wages and/or salaries to participants receiving supportive services and/or training programs;

(2) Purchase or rental of land;

(3) Purchase or rental of vehicles; and

(4) Cost of application preparation.

(H) Threshold Requirements.

Applicants must respond to threshold requirements clearly and thoroughly by following the instructions below. If your application fails one threshold requirement (regardless of the type of threshold) it will be considered a failed application and will not be reviewed further.

(1) Match. All applicants are required to have in place a firmly committed 25% match in cash or in-kind donations as defined in this NOFA. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail this threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Match donations must be firmly committed. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of match resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, or Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) must be on organization letterhead, and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment whether it be in cash or in-kind services. The letters of commitment/MOUs must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If volunteer time is being committed it should be calculated using the number of hours to be committed and multiplied by either the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15/hour. The commitment should be in place at time of award and should be for the duration of the grant. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate the HUD-424-CB to list the sources and amount of each match for the duration of the grant term. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(2) Past Performance. HUD's field offices will evaluate applicants for past performance to determine whether an applicant has the capacity to manage the grant for which they are applying. Using Rating Factor 1, the field office will evaluate applicants' past performance. Applicants should carefully review Rating Factor 1 to ensure their application addresses each of the criteria requested therein. If applicants fail to address what is requested in Rating Factor 1, their application will fail threshold and will not receive further consideration. If applicants pass threshold, they will go on to be scored for Rating Factor 1 during the technical review process.

(3) All applicants except nontroubled PHAs are required to submit a signed Contract Administrator Partnership Agreement. The agreement must be for the thirty-six month duration of the grant term. Your grant award shall be contingent upon having a Partnership Agreement included in your application. The Contract Administrator must assure that the financial management system and procurement procedures that will be in place during the thirty-six month grant term will fully comply with either 24 CFR part 84 or 85. Troubled PHAs are not eligible to be Contract Administrators. Grant writers who assist applicants prepare their ROSS applications are also ineligible to be Contract Administrators. See the definition in Section III of Contract Administrator for more information.

(4) Nonprofit applicants must include letters from Resident Organizations (RO), Resident Associations (RA) indicating that the ROs/RAs you will be working with support your application. Letters from ROs/RAs must be signed by a person authorized to sign for the organization and should, whenever be possible, be on RO/RA letterhead.

(I) Program Requirements.

(1) Eligible Participants. All program participants must be residents of conventional public Housing. Participants in the Public Housing Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) program who are residents of public housing (non Housing Choice Voucher Program) are also eligible to participate in activities funded under this category.

(2) Resident Assessment. Applicants are required to assess residents' needs and interests so that program activities are designed to address their needs.

(3) Applicants shall submit a business plan with their application (see Appendix B for a sample) which shall indicate level and type of expenditures over the three year grant term, contributions from partners, and efforts applicants will make to ensure the NN center will be sustainable once the grant term expires.

(4) Partnering. Applicants should partner with local businesses, schools, libraries, banks, employment agencies, or other organizations which will help applicants deliver supportive services and fulfill residents' needs. These organizations can provide additional expertise, volunteers, office supplies, training materials, software, equipment, and other resources.

(5) Performance Reports. The grantee shall submit semi-annual performance reports to the field office. These progress reports shall include financial reports (SF-269A) and a narrative describing milestones, work plan progress, and problems encountered and methods used to address these problems. HUD anticipates that some of the reporting of financial status and grant performance will be through Internet-based submissions. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. Performance reports are due to the field office on July 30 and January 31 of each year. If reports are not received by the due date, grant funds will not be advanced until reports are received.

(6) Final Report. The grantees shall submit a final report which will include a financial report (SF-269A) and a narrative evaluating overall performance against its work plan. Grantees shall use quantifiable data to measure performance against goals and objectives outlined in its work plan. The financial report shall contain a summary of all expenditures made from the beginning of the grant agreement to the end of the grant agreement and shall include any unexpended balances. The final narrative and financial report shall be due to the field office 90 days after the termination of the grant agreement.

(7) Final Audit. Grantees are required to obtain a complete final close-out audit of the grant's financial statements by a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), in accordance with generally accepted government audit standards. A written report of the audit must be forwarded to HUD within 60 days of issuance. Grant recipients must comply with the requirements of 24 CFR part 84 or 24 CFR part 85 as stated in OMB Circulars A-110, A-87, and A-122, as applicable.

(J) Application Selection Process.

(1) Four types of reviews will be conducted: A screening to determine if you are eligible to apply for this funding category; whether your application submission is complete, on time and meets threshold; a review by the field office to evaluate past performance; and a technical review to rate your application based on the five rating factors provided in this section. A minimum score of 75 is required for the application to be considered for funding.

(2) The selection process is designed to achieve geographic diversity of grant awards throughout the country. HUD will first select the highest ranked application from each of the ten federal regions for funding. After this "round," HUD will select the second highest ranked application in each of the ten federal regions for funding (the second round). HUD will continue this process with the third, fourth, and so on, highest ranked applications in each federal region until the last complete round is selected for funding. If available funds exist to fund some but not all eligible applications in the next round, HUD will make awards to those remaining applications in rank order regardless of region and will fully fund as many as possible with remaining funds. If remaining funds are too small to make an award, they will be used to partially fund applications in rank order regardless of region in the existing center category.

(L) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Neighborhood Networks Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants and maximum points for each factor are provided below. The maximum number of points available for this program is 102. This includes two RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The SuperNOFA contains a certificate that must be completed in order for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A listing of federally designated RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs and Strategic Planning Communities is attached to the General Section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix A-2 and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center, and the HUD Web site, www.hud.gov.

Note: Applicants should carefully review each rating factor before writing a response. Applicants' narratives should be as descriptive as possible, ensuring that every requested item is addressed. Applicants should make sure to include all requested information, according to the instructions found in Section VIII of this NOFA. This will help ensure a fair and accurate review of your application. Applications must not be longer than 30 narrative pages. Supporting documentation and certificates will not be counted towards the 30 page limit. However, applicants should make every effort to submit only what is necessary in terms of supporting documentation.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (25 Points)

This factor addresses whether the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities within the grant period. In rating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates that the applicant will have qualified and experienced staff dedicated to administering the program.

(A) Proposed Program Staffing (12 Points)

(1) Staff Experience (9 Points). The knowledge and experience of your proposed project coordinator, staff, subcontractors, and partners in planning and managing programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant and successful experience of your staff to undertake eligible program activities. In rating this factor, HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent the experience and the more experience your own staff members who work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the greater the number of points you will receive for this rating factor. If your proposed staff has experience working in both computer-related and social service programs, you will receive a maximum score. If your staff has experience in only one area, you will receive 2 points. If your staff has experience in neither area, you will receive a score of 0 for this subfactor.

The following information should be provided in order to provide HUD an understanding of your staff's experience and capacity:

(a) The number of staff years (one staff year = 2080 hours) to be allocated to your program by each employee or expert as well as each of their roles in the program;

(b) The staff's relevant educational background and/or work experience;

(c) Relevant and successful experience running programs whose activities include social services and computer programs that are similar to the eligible program activities described in this grant category;

(d) Another five points will be awarded if applicants commit to hiring 1-3 residents. Small PHAs should hire one person, medium PHAs should hire 1-2 people, and large PHAs should hire 3 people. In the case of large and medium PHAs, one hired resident should be 17 years of age or younger. Residents' salaries must be paid as administrative expenses, see section F(17) above.

(2) Staff Capacity (3 Points). You will be evaluated based on whether you, your subcontractors and partners have sufficient personnel or will be able to quickly access enough qualified experts or professionals, to deliver the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Your ability to immediately begin the proposed work program will also be evaluated. Attach resumes or position descriptions (where staff is not yet hired) for all key personnel. (Resumes do not count toward the 30-page limit.)

(B) Past Performance of Applicant/Project Coordinator (6 Points). Your narrative must describe how you (or your proposed Project Coordinator) successfully implemented grant programs (including those listed below) designed to promote resident self-sufficiency or moving from welfare to work. You will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

(1) Achievement of specific measurable outcomes and objectives in terms of benefits gained by participating residents (i.e. higher incomes, improved grades, higher rates of employment, increased savings, improved literacy, etc.);

(2) Success in attracting and keeping residents involved in past grant programs so that grant activities benefited a significant numbers of residents;

(3) Timely expenditure of funds throughout the term of the grant. Timely means regular drawdowns throughout the life of the grant, i.e. quarterly drawdowns, with all funds expended by the end of the grant term;

(4) Leveraging of funding or in-kind services beyond that which was originally proposed to be used for past projects;

(5) Long-term partnerships formed with local businesses, employers, libraries, community organizations, social service agencies, local colleges and universities, etc.

Your past experience may include, but is not limited to, programs aimed at assisting residents of low-income housing achieve economic self-sufficiency; i.e. Tenant Opportunities Program and Youthbuild. Your narrative must indicate the grants, grant amounts, grant terms and grant sources which you are counting towards past experience.

(C) Program Administration and Fiscal Management. (7 Points)

(1) Program Administration. (4 Points). Describe how you will manage the program; how HUD can be sure that there is program accountability; and describe staff's roles and responsibilities.

(2) Fiscal Management. (3 Points). In rating this factor, your skills and experience in fiscal management will be evaluated. If you have had any audit or material weakness findings, you will be evaluated on how well you have addressed them. You must provide the following:

(a) A complete description of your fiscal management structure, including fiscal controls you have in place including those of a Contract Administrator for all applicants except non-troubled PHAs;

(b) List any audit findings (HUD Inspector General, management review, fiscal, etc.), material weaknesses and what you have done to address them; and

(c) For applicants who are required to have a Contract Administrator, describe the skills and experience your Contract Administrator has in managing federal funds.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding your proposed program and your indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, you will be evaluated on the extent to which you describe and document the level of need for your proposed activities and the urgency in meeting the need.

You should use statistics and analyses contained in data source(s) that are sound and reliable. Data that describes socioeconomic conditions at the local level can be found by going to the following Web sites: www.bls.gov (Bureau of Labor Statistics) or www.census.gov (US Census). Other types of sources include academic, state, and local sources. To the extent possible, the data you use should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. You should document needs as they apply to the area where activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state.

In responding to this factor, you should include:

(1) Socioeconomic Profile (5 points). A thorough socioeconomic profile of the eligible residents to be served by your program, including education levels, income levels, the number of single-parent families, economic statistics for the local area, crime levels, etc.

(2) Local Training Program Information (5 points). Information on training programs currently available and easily accessible to residents either through the PHA or other local or state community organizations.

You may also address needs in terms of fulfilling the requirements of court actions or other legal decisions or which expand upon the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) to further fair housing. If you address needs that are in your community's Consolidated Plan, AI, or a court decision, or identify and substantiate needs in addition to those in the AI, you will receive a greater number of points than applicants who do not relate their proposed program to the approved Consolidated Plan or AI or court action. Note: Fines, penalties, damages, and other settlements resulting from violations (or alleged violations) of, or failure of the applicant to comply with federal, state, local or Indian tribal laws and regulations are unallowable means in which to satisfy this Rating Factor, except when incurred as a result of compliance with specific provisions of the federal award or written instructions by the awarding agency authorizing in advance such payments.

(3) Resource Documentation (3 points). The names and/or titles of information resources you used to document the need/extent of the problem.

(4) Demonstrated Link Between Proposed Activities and Local Need (7 points). There must be a clear relationship between your proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the program funding for you to receive points for this factor.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (30 Points)

This factor addresses both the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed business plan. (A sample business plan is included in Appendix B.) Your business plan and supporting narrative must indicate a clear relationship between your proposed activities, the targeted population's needs, and the purpose of the program funding. Your activities must address HUD's policy priorities which relate to this program.

In rating this factor HUD will consider:

(A) Quality of the Business Plan and Supporting Narrative (18 points). This factor evaluates both your business plan, narrative, and your budget and will be evaluated based on the following components:

(1) Specific Services and/or Activities (6 points). Your business plan and supporting narrative must describe the specific services and activities you plan to offer and who will be responsible for each. HUD will consider how well your proposed activities will:

(a) Involve community partners in the delivery of services; and

(b) Offer comprehensive services versus a small range of services geared toward enhancing economic opportunities for residents.

(2) Feasibility and Demonstrable Benefits (4 points). This factor examines whether your business plan and supporting narrative are logical, feasible and likely to achieve its stated purpose during the term of the grant. HUD's desire is to fund projects that will quickly produce demonstrable results and advance the purposes of the ROSS program.

(a) Timeliness. This subfactor evaluates whether your business plan demonstrates that your project is ready to implement shortly after grant award, but not to exceed three months of grant award. Your business plan should indicate timeframes and deadlines for accomplishing major activities.

(b) Description of the problem and solution. Your business plan and supporting narrative will be evaluated based on how well your proposed activities address the needs described in Factor 2.

(3) Budget Appropriateness/Efficient Use of Grant. (4 Points). The score in this factor will be based on the following:

(a) Justification of expenses. You will be evaluated based on whether your expenses are reasonable and well-explained.

(b) Budget Efficiency. You will be evaluated based on whether your application requests funds commensurate with the level of effort necessary to accomplish your goals and anticipated results.

(4) Involving Residents in the Design of the Work Plan (4 points). All applicants should make every effort to involve residents in the design of the work plan, so that activities and services offered by your organization address their needs.

(B) Addressing HUD's Policy Priorities (12 points). HUD wants to improve the quality of life for those living in distressed communities. HUD's grant programs are a vehicle through which constructive changes can be achieved. Your narrative and business plan will be evaluated based on how well it meets the following HUD policy priorities:

(1) Improving the Quality of Life in Our Nation's Communities (5 points). In order to receive points in this category, your business plan and supporting narrative must indicate the types of activities and training programs you will offer which can help residents successfully transition from welfare to work and earn higher wages.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation (7 points). HUD encourages applicants to partner with grassroots organizations, e.g., civic organizations, grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that are not usually effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as developing first-time homeownership programs, creating economic development programs, providing job training and other supportive services. In order to receive points under this factor, your narrative and business plan must describe how you will work with these organizations and what types of services they will provide.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (20 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant resources to achieve program purposes. You are required to create partnerships with organizations that can help you achieve your program's goals. PHAs are required by QHWRA (Sec. 12(d)(7) of the U.S. Housing Act, entitled "Cooperation Agreements for Economic Self-Sufficiency Activities") to make best efforts to enter into such agreements with relevant state or local agencies. In rating this factor, HUD will look at the extent to which you partner, coordinate and leverage your services with other organizations serving the same or similar populations.

Additionally, you must have at least a 25 percent cash or in-kind match. The match is a threshold requirement. Applicants who do not demonstrate the minimum 25% match will fail the threshold requirement and will not receive further consideration for funding. If you are applying for more than one ROSS grant, you must use different sources of match donations for each grant application. Leveraging in excess of the 25 percent of the grant amount will receive a higher point value. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which you have partnered with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed program activities. The budget, the business plan, narrative, and commitments for additional resources and services, other than the grant, must show that these resources are firmly committed, will support the proposed grant activities and will, in combined amount (including in-kind contributions of personnel, space and/or equipment, and monetary contributions) equal at least 25 percent of the grant amount proposed in this application. "Firmly committed" means that the amount of resources and their dedication to ROSS-funded activities must be explicit, in writing and signed by a person authorized to make the commitment. Letters of commitment, or Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) must be on organization letterhead and signed by a person authorized to make the stated commitment. The letters of commitment/MOUs must indicate the annual level and/or amount of commitment, be dated within two months of the application deadline, and indicate how the commitment will relate to the proposed program. If you, the applicant, propose to use your own, non-ROSS grant funds to meet the match requirement in whole or in part, you must also include a letter of support indicating the type of match (cash or in-kind) and how the match will be used. Applicant staff time is not an eligible cash or in-kind match. Applicants shall annotate their budget form (HUD-424-CB) to list the sources and amount of each match. Grant awards shall be contingent upon letters of commitment being submitted with your application.

(A) Volunteer time shall be computed by using the normal professional rate for the local area or the national minimum wage rate of $5.15 per hour (Note: Applicants may not use their staff time towards the match);

(B) In order for HUD to determine the value of any donated material, equipment, staff time, building, or lease, your application must provide a letter from the organization making the donation stating the value of the contribution. The letter must be on letterhead, signed by an official authorized to make such commitments on behalf of the donating organization and must be dated within two months of the application deadline.

(C) Other resources/services that can be committed include: in-kind services, contributions or administrative costs provided to the applicant; funds from federal sources (not including ROSS funds) as allowed by statute, including for example Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and federal Revenue Sharing; funds from any state or local government sources; and funds from private contributions. You may also partner with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in your target area.

(D) Points for this factor will be awarded based on the documented evidence of partnerships and firm commitments and the ratio of requested ROSS funds to the total proposed grant budget.

Points will be assigned based on the following scale:

Percentage of match	Points awarded
26-50	10
76-99 or above	20

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

An important element in this year's NOFA is the development and reporting of performance measures and outcomes. Under this rating factor, applicants must demonstrate how they propose to measure their success and outcomes as they relate to the Department's Strategic Plan.

This factor emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and that they assess their performance so that they realize performance goals. HUD requires ROSS applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented work plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to the residents, families and/or communities during or after participation in the ROSS program. Outcomes are not the actual development of self-sufficiency services or program activities. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be achieved and measured. Examples of outcomes are: increasing the homeownership rates among residents of a development or from a particular housing authority, increasing residents' financial stability (e.g., increasing assets of a household through savings), or increasing employment stability (e.g., whether persons assisted obtain or retain employment for one or two years after job training completion).

In addition to outcomes, applicants must establish interim benchmarks or outputs for their proposed program that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of a program's activities. Examples of outputs are: the number of eligible families that participate in supportive services, the number of new services provided, the number of residents receiving counseling, or the number of households using a technology center. Outputs should produce outcomes for your program.

This rating factor requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, outputs, benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your work plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

In order to satisfy the requirements for Factor 5, you must submit a work plan and a Logic Model that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your plan must identify the outcomes you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant and benchmarks, outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your work plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements. You must indicate how your plan will measure the performance of individual consortium members and affiliates, including the standards, data sources, and measurement methods, and the steps you have in place or how you plan to make adjustments if you begin to fall short of established benchmarks and timeframes. Applicants should also use the Logic Model provided in the General Section of this SuperNOFA for reporting on how they will conduct performance measurement. You will be evaluated based on how comprehensively you propose to measure your program's outcomes.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

After the application due date, HUD may not, consistent with its regulations at 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, consider any unsolicited information, you the applicant, may want to provide. HUD may contact you to clarify an item in your application or to correct technical deficiencies. HUD may not seek clarification of items or responses that improve the substantive quality of your response to the rating factors. In order not to unreasonably exclude applications from being rated and ranked, HUD may contact applicants to ensure proper completion of the application and will do so on a uniform basis for all applicants. Examples of curable (correctable) technical deficiencies include failure to submit the proper certifications or failure to submit an application that contains an original signature by an authorized official. In each case, HUD will notify you in writing of a technical deficiency. HUD will notify applicants by facsimile or by USPS, return receipt requested. Clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information requested by HUD must be submitted within 14 calendar days of the date you receive HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or federal holiday, your correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or federal holiday.) The determination of when you received the deficiency letter will be based on the confirmation of the facsimile transmission, return receipt or postal tracking information, as appropriate. If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete and it will not be considered for funding.

Unacceptable Applications. After the 14-day technical deficiency correction period, the Grants Management Center (GMC), or the DPONAP for tribal and TDHE applicants, will disapprove all applications that the GMC, or DPONAP determines are not acceptable for processing. The GMC's notification of rejection must state the basis for the decision. The applicant may request a debriefing. Applicants requesting to be debriefed must send a written request to Michael Diggs, Director, Grants Management Center, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 501 School Street, SW., Suite 800, Washington, DC 20024. For tribal and TDHE applicants, contact Deborah Lalancette, Director, Grants Management, DPONAP, 1999 Broadway, Suite 3390, Denver, CO 80202.

HUD Reform Act of 1989. The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA in Section XI.

(1) If the grantee is not a PHA or tribe/TDHE, HUD has completed an environmental review to the extent required by 24 CFR part 50, prior to grant award.

(2) If the grantee is a PHA or tribe/TDHE, HUD has approved the grantee's Request for Release of Funds (HUD Form 7015.15) following a Responsible Entity's completion of an environmental review under 24 CFR part 58, where required, or if HUD has determined in accordance with § 58.11 to perform the environmental review itself under part 50, HUD has completed the environmental review.

RATING FACTOR 5

For FY 2003, rating Factor 5 has been changed to “Achieving Results and Program Evaluation.” This factor emphasizes HUD’s commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their application and assess their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Performance measures are used to track progress against a baseline or condition that existed before the implementation of a particular grant activity. Applicants are encouraged to select three or more of the following performance measures, tailor them to fit the activities in your application, or create others that reflect the activities in your application. The Logic Model is being provided as a tool to track the performance measures you select.

- Percent of eligible families in the development who participate in supportive services before the implementation of your program versus the percentage of families who participate after six months of your program’s implementation.
- Number of new services provided by the ROSS grant.
- Percentage of elderly and handicapped residents receiving supportive services (before and after program implementation)
- Number and/or percent of residents receiving counseling from service coordinators/case managers (before and after program implementation)
- Number and/or percent of families who received housing counseling (before and after program implementation)
- Number of families who received homeownership counseling (before and after program implementation)
- Percent of counseled families who moved to market rent units.
- Percent of counseled families who buy a home.
- Number of new computer technology centers established
- Number of computer technology centers that expanded or upgraded.
- Percent of households that use the computer technology center(s) (over time, for example at six month intervals)
- Number of volunteer residents working at the computer technology center (over time)
- Number of paid residents working at the computer technology center (over time)

A good business plan is one of the best ways developers of Neighborhood Networks Computer Technology Centers can ensure success. It is more than just a marketing tool; it fleshes out the mission and structure of the center. This plan is the first step in identifying the purpose, goals and objectives of the center. It is a tool that allows Neighborhood Network planners to THINK through their ideas, solidify their intentions and objectives, and work efficiently with a plan towards specific goals. Fewer errors are made because actions will be based upon research and analysis.

There is no single best format for a business plan. This one incorporates items and concepts from the U.S. Small Business Administration's (SBA) Business Plan, which has been used successfully by thousands of small businesses.

KEY POINTS WHEN DEVELOPING THIS PLAN:

The objective of this sample Neighborhood Network Business Plan is to provide guidance to those who are developing the computer learning centers so they may plan for sustainability beyond the 3-year term of the grant. It also provides a framework and means for evaluating results, best practices, and successful operations.

Individual center planners may find that this format needs to be modified to suit the needs of the center, PHA, and residents. This plan serves as only the minimum information needed. Your narrative will act as a supplement to this business plan. To begin your business plan, some good rules of thumb to follow when preparing the plan are:

- 1) Plan from the start to be self sufficient. Many centers, from the beginning, will rely on the HUD grant as well as the minimum 25% match requirement. The goal should be to progress from substantial reliance on federal grants and to self sustaining status within three years. HUD strongly encourages all centers to incorporate this goal into their NN Business Plan. The Business Plan is a road map to follow with goals and action steps to guide decision making. It also provides a way to communicate the center's operations, goals, and philosophy to personnel, residents, community partners, foundations, and other financial and business contacts.
- 2) Are the residents involved in the planning, implementation, and maintenance of the computer learning center? Resident involvement and "ownership" of the process is a necessity and key to the center's success. All plans should include a section describing resident involvement either as designers or operators as well as customers.

OMB Approval No. 2577-0229
Expiration Date 11/30/2003

- 3) Evaluate the successes. All plans should include how the center will record their results and successes. Please see the NOFA's Rating Factor 5 for guidance. Evaluating success can also be very useful in attracting other potential funding resources and partners. NOTE: Where significant federal funds are involved (see Budget information above), a methodology to measure results and successes is required by the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993.
- 4) Access to the Internet: HUD encourages all NN Computer Technology Centers to have at least one computer with Internet capability. The Internet can be used as a tool to connect with services, information, and people as well as the opportunity for the "world" to connect with the center. It can also be used to market the successes of your program. Monthly charges for an Internet account for the center (normally $19.95/month per account) are an approvable expense.
- 5) Continue to build local partnerships. Local partners are a necessity in sustaining the NN Computer Technology Center. It is important to include in the Business Plan ways for the center to continue to build local partners.
- 7) Remain sensitive to possible federal/national partnerships. There are numerous benefits in combining efforts with other programs both on the local and national levels. Collective efforts will gain increasing national recognition and thereby help in obtaining self-sufficiency. It is important to include in the plan ways for the center to continue to build federal/national partnerships.

SUPPORTIVE HOUSING PROGRAM (SHP)

SHELTER PLUS CARE (S+C),

SECTION 8 MODERATE REHABILITATION SINGLE ROOM OCCUPANCY PROGRAM FOR HOMELESS INDIVIDUALS (SRO)

Funding Availability for Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Programs—Supportive Housing Program (SHP), Shelter Plus Care (S+C), Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy Program for Homeless Individuals (SRO)

Program Overview

Purpose of the Programs. The purpose of the Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Programs is to fund projects that will fill gaps in locally developed Continuum of Care systems to assist homeless persons to move to self-sufficiency and permanent housing. An important element of meeting this objective is to fund projects that will meet the Department's goal of ending chronic homelessness.

Available Funds. Approximately $ 1.060 billion.

Eligible Applicants. The chart in Appendix A to this program section of this SuperNOFA identifies the eligible applicants for each of the three programs under the Continuum of Care.

Application Deadline. July 15, 2003.
Match. Yes.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under any of the Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance programs, please review carefully the General Section of the SuperNOFA and the following Additional Information. Failure to comply with the procedures specified may disqualify your application.

I. Application Due Date, Application Kits, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. Your completed applications (an original containing the signed documentation and two copies) are due on or before July 15, 2003 to the addresses shown below.

Security Procedures. HUD security procedures apply to application submission. Please read the following instructions carefully and completely. HUD will not accept hand delivered applications at any office. Applications to HUD Headquarters must be either mailed using the United States Postal Service (USPS) or may be shipped via the following delivery services: United Parcel Service (UPS), FedEx, DHL, or Falcon Carrier. Express delivery service is highly recommended. No other delivery services are permitted into HUD Headquarters without escort. You must, therefore, use one of the four carriers listed above. HUD strongly suggests application copies submitted to HUD Field Offices be sent via the United States Postal Service, as access by other delivery services is not guaranteed.

Please remember that mail to Federal facilities is screened prior to delivery, so please allow time for your package to be delivered, and that it is addressed to the proper location and office.

Timeliness. Your application will be considered timely filed if your application is either

(1) Postmarked on or before 12:00 midnight on the application due date; or

(2) Was placed in transit with an approved overnight delivery/express mail service on or before 12:00 midnight on the application due date; and was received by HUD Headquarters within fifteen (15) days of the application due date. All applicants must obtain and save a Certificate of Mailing (USPS Form 3817) showing the date when you submitted your application to the United States Postal Service (USPS) or documentary evidence showing the date that the application was placed in transit with an approved overnight delivery/express mail service. These will be your evidence that your application was timely filed.

Approved Overnight Delivery/Express Mail Services. Due to new security measures, you must use one of the four carrier services that do business with HUD Headquarters regularly. These services are UPS, DHL, FedEx, and Falcon Carrier. Delivery by these services must be made during HUD's Headquarters business hours, between 8:30 AM and 5:30 PM Eastern time, Monday to Friday. If these companies do not service your area, you should submit your application via the United States Postal Service.

Addresses for Submitting Applications. To HUD Headquarters. Submit your original completed application (the application with the original signed documentation) to: Room 7270, Office of Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20410, Attention: Continuum of Care Programs.

To the Appropriate CPD Field Office. Also submit two copies of your completed application to the Community Planning and Development Division of the appropriate HUD Field Office for your jurisdiction. The field office copies also must be postmarked or placed in transit with an approved delivery/express mail service on or before 12:00 midnight on the application due date and received by the field office within fifteen (15) days. You must obtain and save a Certificate of Mailing (USPS Form 3817) showing the date when you submitted the field office's copies of your application to the United States Postal Service (USPS). The determination, however, that your application was received on time will be made solely on receipt of the application at HUD Headquarters in Washington. Reviews will be based upon the contents of the application submitted to HUD Headquarters. However, in the event that the application received in Headquarters is missing pages or exhibits that result in your application not being selected for an award, HUD may request proof that your field office copies were submitted and received on time and may insert pages from the field office copies into the Headquarters copy for review.

For Application Kits. This year, the application kit will be attached to this program section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix B. An applicant may also obtain a copy of the application kit by calling the SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 (voice) (this is a toll-free number) or you may download an application by Internet at <http://www.hud.gov>.

For Further Information. You may contact the HUD Field Office serving your area, at the telephone number shown in Appendix A to the General Section of the SuperNOFA, or you may contact the Community Connections Information Center at 1-800-998-9999 (voice) or by Internet at: <http://www.hud.gov>. Individuals who are hearing-or speech-impaired should use the Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (these are toll-free numbers).

For Technical Assistance. Before the application deadline, HUD staff will be available to provide you with general guidance. HUD staff, however, cannot provide you with guidance in actually preparing your application. HUD Field Office staff also will be available to help you identify organizations in your community that are involved in developing the Continuum of Care (CoC) system. Following conditional selection of applications, HUD staff will be available to assist selected applicants in clarifying or confirming information that is a prerequisite to the offer of a grant agreement or Annual Contributions Contract by HUD. However, between the application deadline and the announcement of conditional selections, HUD will accept no information that would improve the substantive quality of your application pertinent to HUD's funding decision.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of the application. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, you should consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

II. Amount Allocated

Approximately $1.060 billion is available for this Continuum of Care (CoC) competition in FY 2003. Any unobligated funds from previous CoC competitions or additional funds that may become available as a result of deobligations or recaptures from previous awards or budget transfers may be used in addition to 2003 appropriations to fund applications submitted in response to this program section of this SuperNOFA. The FY 2003 HUD Appropriation Act requires HUD to obligate all Continuum of Care homeless assistance funds by September 30, 2005. These funds will remain available for expenditure for five years following that date. The funds available for the CoC program can be used under any of three programs that can assist in creating community systems for combating homelessness. The three programs are:

- (1) Supportive Housing (SHP);
- (2) Shelter Plus Care (S+C); and
- (3) Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy for Homeless Individuals (SRO).

The chart in Appendix A to this program section of this SuperNOFA summarizes key aspects of the programs, and also provides the citations for the statutes and regulations that authorize these programs. The regulations listed in the chart provide more detailed descriptions of each of the programs.

As noted in Appendix A, for FY 2003, the minimum term of assistance for all new SHP projects is two (2) years. The minimum term for new HMIS is one (1) year. Any requests for one-(1) year terms for new SHP projects will be automatically changed to a two-year term if funded. In this case, the one-year budget will be doubled and the applicant will provide the difference between the awarded SHP amount and the two-year total budget. If the applicant does not agree to these conditions, the award will be deselected. The renewal term of expiring SHP projects will remain at the applicant's choice of one-, two- or three-year term.

As in previous funding availability announcements for the CoC Homeless Assistance Programs, HUD will not specify amounts for each of the three programs this year. Instead, the distribution of funds among the three programs will depend largely on locally determined priorities and overall demand. Local priorities notwithstanding, the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act requires that not less than 30 percent of this year's Homeless Assistance Grants appropriation, excluding amounts provided for one-year renewals under the Shelter Plus Care Program, must be used for permanent housing projects. (See Sections V(A)(5)(b) and V(A)(8) of this program section of the SuperNOFA for additional information.) Since this permanent housing set-aside requirement is expected to continue to be part of future competitions and may affect project funding selections as described below, you are strongly encouraged to begin planning as soon as possible for new permanent housing projects to be included as part of your submission in this and future competitions.

Secretary Martinez has established as a HUD priority the elimination of chronic homelessness in ten years. Continuums, therefore, are strongly encouraged within the rating and ranking process to use the funds available in this NOFA to target the chronic homeless in their communities. Such projects awarded through any of the three programs will contribute to the Department's priority of ending chronic homelessness.

Under the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act, eligible Shelter Plus Care Program grants whose terms are expiring in FY 2004, and Shelter Plus Care Program grants that have been extended beyond their original five-year terms but which are projected to run out of funds in FY 2004, will be renewed for one year provided that they are determined to be needed by the CoC as evidenced by their inclusion on the priority chart. These projects must also meet the applicant and sponsor eligibility and capacity requirements described in Section V(A)(1) of this NOFA. However, these S+C renewal projects will not count against a continuum's pro rata need amount. On the other hand, no S+C renewal adjustment will be made to a CoC's pro rata need amount since these projects are being funded outside of the competition. Please be advised that S+C renewal applications that are not submitted as part of either a "consolidated" or "associated" CoC application will not be considered as eligible for funding. (See Section VI for a description of the three options for submitting applications.) Non-competitive S+C renewals should be submitted by the application deadline.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

(1) Developing Continuum of Care Systems. The purpose of the Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Programs is to fund projects that will fill gaps in locally developed CoC systems to assist homeless persons, especially the chronically homeless, to move to self-sufficiency and permanent housing. The process of developing a CoC system to assist homeless persons is part of the community's larger effort of developing a Consolidated Plan. For a community to successfully address its often complex and interrelated problems, including homelessness, the community must marshal its varied resources—community and economic development resources, social service resources, housing and homeless assistance resources—and use them in a coordinated and effective manner. The Consolidated Plan serves as the vehicle for a community to comprehensively identify each of its needs and to coordinate a plan of action for addressing them.

In addition to prevention, a CoC system consists of four basic components:

- (a) A system of outreach and assessment for determining the needs and conditions of an individual or family who is homeless;
- (b) Emergency shelters with appropriate supportive services to help ensure that homeless individuals and families receive adequate emergency shelter and referral to necessary service providers or housing finders;
- (c) Transitional housing with appropriate supportive services to help those homeless individuals and families who are not prepared to make the transition to permanent housing and independent living; and
- (d) Permanent housing, or permanent supportive housing, to help meet the long-term needs of homeless individuals and families.

A CoC system is developed through a community-wide or region-wide process involving nonprofit organizations (including those representing persons with disabilities), government agencies, public housing authorities, faith-based and other community-based organizations and other homeless providers, housing developers and service providers, private businesses and business associations, law enforcement agencies, funding providers, and homeless or formerly homeless persons. To ensure that the CoC system addresses the needs of homeless veterans, it is particularly important that you involve veteran service organizations with specific experience in serving homeless veterans. A CoC system should address the specific needs of each homeless subpopulation: those experiencing chronic homelessness, veterans, persons with serious mental illnesses, persons with substance abuse issues, persons with HIV/AIDS, persons with co-occurring diagnoses, victims of domestic violence, youth, and any others. The term "co-occurring diagnoses" may include diagnoses of multiple physical disabilities or multiple mental disabilities or a combination of these two types.

Your application is more likely to be given a high score under the CoC scoring factors if the application demonstrates the achievement of three basic goals:

- That you have provided maximum participation by nonprofit organizations (including those representing persons with disabilities), government agencies, public housing authorities, faith-based and other community-based organizations and other homeless providers, housing developers and service providers, private businesses and business associations, law enforcement agencies, funding providers, and homeless or formerly homeless persons.

- That you have created, maintained and built upon a community-wide inventory of housing and services for homeless families and individuals; identified the full spectrum of needs of homeless families and individuals; and coordinated efforts to fill gaps between the current inventory and existing needs. This coordinated effort must appropriately address all aspects of the continuum, especially permanent housing.

- That you have instituted a CoC-wide strategy to coordinate homeless assistance with mainstream health, social services and employment programs for which homeless individuals and families may be eligible. These programs include Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, Food Stamps, and services funded through the Mental Health Block Grant and Substance Abuse Block Grant, Workforce Investment Act, Welfare-to-Work grant program, and Veterans Health Care.

Should HUD determine, in its sole discretion, that sufficient evidence exists to confirm that the entity responsible for convening and managing the CoC process in a community has failed to follow locally established or accepted procedures governing the conduct of that process or has failed to provide for a fair process, including a project priority selection process that gives equal consideration to projects proposed by nonprofit organizations, HUD reserves the authority to impose sanctions up to and including a prohibition on that entity and the individuals comprising that entity from participating in that capacity in the future. In making this determination, HUD will consider as evidence court proceedings and decisions, or the determinations of other independent and impartial review bodies. This authority cannot be exercised until after a description of procedural safeguards, including an opportunity for comment and appeal, and the specific process and procedures for imposing a prohibition or debarment, have been published in the Federal Register.

In deciding what geographic area you will cover in your CoC strategy, you should be aware that the single most important factor in being awarded funding under this competition will be the strength of your CoC strategy when measured against the CoC rating factors described in this program section of the SuperNOFA. When you determine what jurisdictions to include in your CoC strategy area, include only those jurisdictions that are involved in the development and implementation of the CoC strategy.

The more jurisdictions you include in the CoC strategy area, the larger the pro rata need share that will be allocated to the strategy area (as described in Section V(A)(5) of this program section of the SuperNOFA). However, it would be a mistake to include jurisdictions that are not fully involved in the development and implementation of the CoC strategy since this would adversely affect the CoC score. If you are a rural county, you may wish to consider working with larger groups of contiguous counties to develop a region-wide or multi-county CoC strategy covering the combined service areas of these counties.

Since the basic concept of a CoC strategy is to create a single, coordinated, inclusive homeless assistance system for an area, the areas covered by CoC strategies should not overlap. If the geography included in your CoC strategy geographically overlaps to the extent that it competes with another application, projects within the CoC application that receive the highest CoC score will be eligible for up to 40 Need points. Projects in the competing CoC application with the lower CoC score will be eligible for only 10 Need points. In no case will the same geographical area be used more than one time in assigning Need points. The local HUD Field Office can help you determine if any of the areas proposed for inclusion by your CoC system is also likely to be claimed under another CoC system in this competition.

(2) Prioritizing. In HUD's view, project priority decisions are best made through a local process, which includes nonprofit organizations. Again this year, you must list all projects proposed for funding in priority order from the highest priority to the lowest, and indicate the applicant, project sponsor, and term for each project. Generally, this priority order will mean, for example, that if HUD has funds available only to award 8 of 10 proposed projects, then it will award funding to the first eight eligible projects listed, except as may be necessary to achieve the 30 percent overall permanent housing requirement—in which case higher priority non-permanent housing projects may be de-selected to fund lower priority permanent housing projects. Since you are now able to closely calculate your Continuum of Care's total pro rata need amount using information provided to you from HUD, and now that you no longer need to carry the large cost burden imposed by Shelter Plus Care five-year renewals, the tiering of projects (splitting into two or more projects by year or by units) on your priority list is not permitted.

To promote permanent housing, a special incentive is being provided to CoC systems that place an eligible, new permanent housing project in the number one priority slot on the priority list. The only eligible activities that will be counted toward the incentive for the number one priority project are housing activities and for SHP, administration. For the SHP program, housing activities include acquisition, new construction, rehabilitation, leasing of housing and operating costs for housing. Because S+C and SRO provide only rental assistance, they are by definition housing activities and are eligible as well. See Section V(A)(5)(b) of this program section of the SuperNOFA for a description of this incentive.

HUD will use this priority list to award up to 40 points per project under the "Need" scoring factors. Higher priority projects will receive more points under Need than lower priority projects. A project priority chart is included in the application kit and you should complete and submit it. If you do not submit clear project priority designations for the continuum, or if HUD, at its sole discretion, cannot determine priority designations, then HUD will give all projects the lowest score for Need.

(3) Project renewals. If your SHP or S+C grant will be expiring in calendar year 2004, or if your S+C Program grant has been extended beyond its original five-year term and is projected to run out of funds in FY 2004, you must apply under this CoC program section of the SuperNOFA to get continued funding.

Your local needs analysis process must consider the need to continue funding for projects expiring in calendar year 2004. HUD will not fund competitive renewals out of order on the priority list except as may be necessary to achieve the 30 percent overall permanent housing requirement. HUD reserves the authority to use FY 2004 funds, if available, to conditionally select for one year of funding lower-rated eligible SHP renewal projects that are assigned 40 need points in either a "consolidated" or "associated" CoC application receiving at least 20 points under the CoC scoring factor that would not otherwise receive funding for these projects.

It is important that SHP renewals and S+C non-competitive renewals meet minimum project eligibility and capacity standards identified in this program section of the SuperNOFA or they will be rejected from consideration for either competitive or non-competitive funding.

For the renewal of an SHP project, you may request funding for one (1), two (2) or three (3) years. The total amount of the request cannot exceed the average yearly amount received in total for leasing, supportive services, and/or operations for the grant being renewed, plus up to five percent for administration.

For the renewal of an S+C project, including S+C SROs, the grant term will be one (1) year, as specified by Congress. For the renewal of S+C rental assistance that is Tenant-based (TRA), Sponsor-based (SRA) or Project-based (PRA), you may request up to the amount determined by multiplying the number of units under lease at the time of your application for renewal funding by the applicable current Fair Market Rent(s) by 12 months, except that for S+C grants having been awarded one year of renewal funding in 2002, the number of units requested for renewal this year may not exceed the number of units funded in 2002. While full funding of existing grants may be requested, there is no guarantee that the entire amount will be awarded. As is the case with SHP, HUD will recapture S+C grant funds remaining unspent at the end of the previous grant period when it renews a grant. The one-year term of non-competitively awarded S+C renewal projects may not be extended.

The renewal of S+C SROs will also be non-competitively awarded in this application process. The process for determining renewal funding amounts for S+C SROs, however, is substantially similar to the Section 8 Mod Rehab SRO program and is described in the application kit.

This program section of the SuperNOFA is not applicable to the renewal of funding under the Section 8 Mod Rehab SRO program. The renewal of expiring SRO projects is not part of the competitive SuperNOFA process. Rather, expiring SROs will be identified at the beginning of the applicable year by the public housing authority and HUD field office. One-year renewal funds will be provided by HUD under a separate, non-competitive process. For further guidance on Section 8 Mod Rehab SRO renewals, please contact your local HUD Field Office.

As a project applicant, you are eligible to apply for renewal of a grant only if you have executed a grant agreement for the project directly with HUD. If you are a project sponsor or subrecipient who has not signed such an agreement, you are not eligible to apply for renewal of these projects. HUD will reject applications for renewal submitted by ineligible applicants. If you have questions about your eligibility to apply for project renewal, contact the local HUD field office. To be considered an applicant when applying as part of a "consolidated" application, you must be an eligible applicant for the program for which you are applying, and you must submit an original, signed Form HUD-424 and the necessary certifications and assurances. (See Section VI for a description of the three options for submitting an application.) Only public housing authorities and private nonprofits are eligible applicants for the Section 8 Mod Rehab Single Room Occupancy SRO program. If you are a unit of general local government acting as an applicant for a consolidated application and plan to include a request for Section 8 SRO funds, you must have a public housing authority or nonprofit listed as the Section 8 SRO applicant and they must submit a signed Form HUD-424, along with all necessary certifications and assurances applicable to the Section 8 SRO project.

(B) Eligible Applicants. See Appendix A.

(C) Eligible Activities. See Appendix A.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) Statutory and Regulatory Requirements. If your project is selected for funding as a result of the competition, you will be required to coordinate and integrate your homeless program with other mainstream health, social services, and employment programs for which homeless populations may be eligible, including Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, Food Stamps, and services funding through the Mental Health Block Grant and Substance Abuse Block Grant, Workforce Investment Act, Welfare-to-Work grant program and Veterans Health Care. In addition, as a condition for award, any governmental entity serving as an applicant must agree to develop and implement, to the maximum extent practicable and where appropriate, policies and protocols for the discharge of persons from publicly funded institutions or systems of care (such as health care facilities, foster care or other youth facilities, or correction programs and institutions) in order to prevent such discharge from immediately resulting in homelessness for such persons. While the state or local governmental entity having jurisdiction in the area of the Continuum's application has the formal responsibility to enact the discharge policy, the Continuum is expected to actively involve itself in the planning and implementation of the discharge policy. Starting in 2003, the effort of a CoC in this area will be rated in Exhibit 1 of the application. This condition for award is intended to emphasize that States and units of general local government are primarily responsible for the care of these individuals, and to forestall attempts to use scarce McKinney-Vento Act funds to assist such persons in lieu of State and local resources.

(B) Program specific requirements follow:

(1) SRO Program. As an applicant, you need to know that the following limitations apply to the Section 8 SRO program:

- Under section 8(e)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937, no single project may contain more than 100 assisted units;
- Under 24 CFR 882.802, applicants that are private nonprofit organizations must subcontract with a Public Housing Authority to administer the SRO assistance;
- Under section 8(e)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 and 24 CFR 882.802, rehabilitation must involve a minimum expenditure of $3,000 for a unit, including its prorated share of work to be accomplished on common areas or systems, to upgrade conditions to comply with the Housing Quality Standards.

- Under section 441(e) of the McKinney-Vento Act and 24 CFR 882.805(d)(1), HUD publishes the SRO per unit rehabilitation cost limit each year to take into account changes in construction costs. This cost limitation applies to rehabilitation that is compensated for in a Housing Assistance Payments Contract. For purposes of Fiscal Year 2003 funding, the cost limitation is raised from $18,500 to $19,000 per unit to take into account increases in construction costs during the past 12-month period.

- The SRO Program is subject to the Federal labor standards provisions at 24 CFR part 882, subpart H.

- Individuals assisted through the SRO Program must meet the definition of homeless individual found at section 103 of the McKinney-Vento Act.

(2) Shelter Plus Care/ SRO Component. With regard to the SRO component of the Shelter Plus Care program, if you are a State or a unit of general local government, you must subcontract with a Public Housing Authority to administer the Shelter Plus Care assistance. Also with regard to this component, no single project may contain more than 100 units.

(3) Supportive Housing Program. Please be advised that where an applicant for Supportive Housing Program funding is a State or unit of general local government that utilizes one or more nonprofit organizations to administer the homeless assistance project(s), administrative funds provided as part of the SHP grant must be passed on to the nonprofit organization(s) in proportion to the administrative burden borne by them for the SHP project(s). HUD will consider States or units of general local government that pass on at least 50 percent of the administrative funds made available under the grant as having met this requirement. This requirement does not apply to either the SRO Program, since no administrative funds are provided as part of the grant, or to the S+C Program, since paying the costs associated with the administration of these grants is ineligible by regulation.

(4) HUD will require recordation of a HUD-approved use and repayment covenant (a form may be obtained from your field office) for all grants of funds for acquisition, rehabilitation or new construction. The covenant will enforce the use and repayment requirements found at section 423(b)(1) and (c) of the McKinney Act.

(C) Match. You must match Supportive Housing Program funds provided for acquisition, rehabilitation, and new construction with an equal amount of funds from other sources. For operating costs, since by law SHP can pay no more than 75% of the total operating budget for supportive housing, you must provide at least 25% of the total annual operating costs. In addition, for all SHP funding for supportive services and Homeless Management Information Systems (HMIS) you must provide a 25% cash match. The cash source may be you, the Federal Government, State and local governments, or private resources. You must match rental assistance provided through the Shelter Plus Care Program in the aggregate with supportive services.

(D) Timeliness Standards. As an applicant, you are expected to initiate your approved projects promptly in accordance with Section II of this NOFA. In addition, HUD will take action if you fail to satisfy the following timeliness standards:

(1) Supportive Housing Program

- HUD will deselect your award if you do not demonstrate site control within one (1) year of the date of your grant award letter, as required by the McKinney-Vento Act (see 42 U.S.C. 11386(a)(3)) and implemented in program regulations at 24 CFR 583.320(a).

- HUD may de-obligate SHP funds if the following additional timeliness standards are not met:

- You must begin construction activities within eighteen (18) months of the date of HUD's grant award letter and complete them within thirty-six (36) months after that notification.

- For activities that cannot begin until construction activities are completed, such as supportive service or operating activities that will be conducted within the building being rehabilitated or newly constructed, you must begin these activities within three (3) months after you complete construction.

- You must begin all activities that may proceed independent of construction activities within twelve (12) months of the date of HUD's grant award letter.

(2) Shelter Plus Care Program

Components Except SRO Component. HUD may de-obligate S+C funds if you do not meet the following timeliness standards:

- For Tenant-based Rental Assistance, for Sponsor-based Rental Assistance, and for Project-based Rental Assistance without rehabilitation, you must start the rental assistance within twelve (12) months of the date of HUD's grant award letter.

- For Project-based Rental Assistance with rehabilitation, you must complete the rehabilitation within twelve (12) months of the date of HUD's grant award letter.

(3) SRO Program and SRO Component of the Shelter Plus Care Program.

For projects carried out under the SRO program and the SRO component of the S+C program, the rehabilitation work must be completed and the Housing Assistance Payments contract executed within twelve (12) months of execution of the Annual Contributions Contract. HUD may reduce the number of units or the amount of the annual contribution commitment if, in HUD's determination, the Public Housing Authority fails to demonstrate a good faith effort to adhere to this schedule.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Review, Rating and Conditional Selection. HUD will use the same review, rating, and conditional selection process for all three programs (SHP, S+C and SRO). The standard factors for award identified in the General Section of this SuperNOFA have been modified in this program section as described below. Only the factors described in this program section—Continuum of Care and Need—will be used to assign points. To review and rate applications, HUD may establish panels. In order to obtain certain expertise and outside points of view, including views from other Federal agencies, these panels may include persons not currently employed by HUD. Two types of reviews will be conducted. Paragraphs (1) and (2) below describe threshold reviews and paragraphs (3) and (4) describe factors—Continuum of Care and Need—that will be used to assign points. Up to 100 points will be assigned using these factors.

(1) Applicant and sponsor eligibility and capacity. HUD will review your capacity as the applicant and project sponsor to ensure the eligibility and capacity standards in this section are met. If HUD determines these standards are not met, the project will be rejected from the competition. The eligibility and capacity standards are:

- You must be eligible to apply for the specific program;
- You must demonstrate ability to carry out the project(s). With respect to each proposed project, this means that, in addition to knowledge of and experience with homelessness in general, the organization carrying out the project, its employees, or its partners, must have the necessary experience and knowledge to carry out the specific activities proposed, such as housing development, housing management, and service delivery;

- If you or the project sponsors are current or past recipients of assistance under a HUD McKinney-Vento Act program, there must have been no delay in meeting applicable program timeliness standards unless HUD determines the delay in project implementation is beyond your or the project sponsor's control, no unresolved HUD finding, or no outstanding audit finding of a material nature regarding the administration of the program; and

- You and the project sponsors must be in compliance with applicable civil rights laws and Executive Orders, and must meet the threshold requirements of Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(2) Project eligibility. HUD will review projects to determine if they meet the following eligibility standards. If HUD determines the following standards are not met by a specific project or activity, the project or activity will be rejected from the competition.

- The population to be served must meet the eligibility requirements of the specific program as described in the program regulations and you must provide evidence of eligibility specified in the application kit. The application must clearly establish eligibility pertaining to homelessness and disability status.

- Projects that involve rehabilitation or new construction must meet the accessibility requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and the accessibility requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act, as applicable.

The project must be cost-effective in HUD's opinion, including costs associated with construction, operations and supportive services with such costs not deviating substantially from the norm in that locale for the type of structure or kind of activity.

- For the Section 8 SRO program, only individuals meeting HUD's definition of homeless are eligible for assistance. Therefore, any individual occupying a unit at the time of application is not eligible for the SRO program and upon returning after having vacated their unit during the rehabilitation period is not eligible to receive rental assistance under the SRO Program since they do not meet the McKinney-Vento Act definition of homeless individual.

- For those projects proposed under the SHP innovative category: Whether or not a project is a considered innovative will be determined on the basis that the particular approach proposed is new and can be replicated.

- Applicant agrees to participate in a local HMIS system when implemented. Standards for participation in an HMIS will soon be published by HUD.

(3) Project quality. HUD will review projects to determine if they meet the following quality standards. The housing and services proposed must be appropriate to the needs of the persons to be served. HUD may find a project to be inappropriate if:

- The type, scale and general location of the housing or services do not fit the needs of the proposed participants. A S+C or SHP project renewal will be considered as having met this requirement through its previously approved grant application unless information to the contrary is received.

- A specific plan for ensuring that clients will be assisted to obtain the benefits of the mainstream health, social service, and employment programs for which they are eligible is not provided.

- The description of the project does not show how participants will be helped to access permanent housing and achieve self-sufficiency. A S+C project renewal will be considered as having met this requirement through its previously approved grant application.

- Renewal projects do not evidence satisfactory performance for their existing grant in HUD's opinion based upon the substantial achievement of their program goals as reflected in their most recent Annual Progress Report. (New projects funded for one year in 2001 are not subject to this requirement.)

- Renewal projects do not evidence that they have assisted clients to obtain the benefits of the mainstream health, social service, and employment programs for which they were eligible as evidenced in their most recent Annual Progress Report.

- An applicant that proposes a new project does not evidence satisfactory performance for their existing or prior grants based upon the substantial achievement of their program goals as reflected in their most recent Annual Progress Report.

(4) Continuum of Care. HUD will award up to 60 points as follows:

(a) Process and Strategy. HUD will award up to 20 points based on the extent to which your application demonstrates:

- The existence of a coordinated and inclusive community process, including organizational structure(s), for developing and implementing a CoC strategy which includes nonprofit organizations (such as veterans service organizations, organizations representing persons with disabilities, faith-based and other community-based organizations, and other groups serving homeless persons), State and local governmental agencies, public housing authorities, housing developers and service providers, law enforcement, hospital and medical entities, funding providers, local businesses and business associations, and homeless or formerly homeless persons; and

- That a well-defined and comprehensive strategy has been developed which addresses the components of a CoC system (i.e., prevention, outreach, intake, and assessment; emergency shelter; transitional housing; permanent and permanent supportive housing) and that strategy has been designed to serve all homeless subpopulations in the community (e.g., seriously mentally ill, persons with multiple diagnoses, veterans, persons with HIV/AIDS), including those persons living in emergency shelters, supportive housing for homeless persons, or in places not designed for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings.

The CoC's statement on process and strategy must also include the following:

A description of how the Continuum will work with the appropriate local government entity to develop and implement a discharge policy for persons leaving publicly funded institutions or systems of care (such as health care facilities, foster care or other youth facilities, or correction programs and institutions) in order to prevent such discharge from immediately resulting in homelessness for such persons; and a description of the CoC's strategy and schedule for implementing an HMIS and its progress to date.

(b) Gaps and Priorities. HUD will award up to 15 points based on the extent to which your application:

(i) Describes the gap analysis performed, uses reliable information and sources that are presented completely and accurately; and

(ii) Proposes projects that are not inconsistent with the gaps analysis described in the CoC strategy, describes a fair project selection process, explains how gaps identified through the analysis are being addressed, and correctly completes the priority chart.

When HUD reviews a community's CoC to determine the points to assign, HUD will consider whether the community took its renewal needs into account in preparing its project priority list. (See discussion on renewals in Section III(A)(3) of this NOFA.)

(c) Supplemental Resources. HUD will award up to 15 points based on the extent to which your application incorporates mainstream resources and demonstrates leveraging of funds requested under this program section of the SuperNOFA with other resources, including private, other public, and mainstream services and housing programs. To achieve the highest rating for this factor, applicants must evidence explicit Continuum-wide strategies to coordinate homeless assistance with mainstream health, social services and employment programs for which homeless populations may be eligible, and to use those benefits as appropriate and practicable to help offset supportive service costs of the programs that would otherwise be paid for with HUD funding. These include Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, Food Stamps, and services funding through the Mental Health Block Grant and Substance Abuse Block Grant, Workforce Investment Act, the Welfare-to-Work grant program, and Veterans Health Care. To the extent that such mainstream benefits supplement, and ideally reduce, HUD's coverage of supportive service costs, greater resources will be available for housing.

(d) Emphasis on housing. HUD will award up to 10 points based upon the relationship between funds requested for housing activities and funds requested for supportive service activities among projects assigned 40 need points (excluding S+C renewals). Points will be awarded on a sliding scale with the Continuums with the highest percentage of approvable requests for funds for housing activities receiving the highest points. HUD will count as housing activity all approvable funds for rental assistance and approvable funds for acquisition, rehabilitation, construction, leasing and operations when used in connection with housing. HMIS costs will be excluded from this calculation as either a housing or supportive service cost.

(5) Need. HUD will award up to 40 points for need. There is a three-step approach to determining the need scores to be awarded to projects:

(a) Determining relative need: To determine the homeless assistance need of a particular jurisdiction, HUD will use nationally available data, including the following factors as used in the Emergency Shelter Grants program: data on poverty, housing overcrowding, population, age of housing, and growth lag. Applying those factors to a particular jurisdiction provides an estimate of the relative need index for that jurisdiction compared to other jurisdictions applying for assistance under this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(b) Applying relative need: HUD will then apply that relative need index to the total amount of funding estimated to be competitively available under this program section of the SuperNOFA to determine a jurisdiction's pro rata need. However, in order to promote permanent housing for the homeless, if a CoC's number one priority project qualifies as an eligible, new permanent housing project, then the full amount of that project's housing eligible activities, up to the lesser of 100 percent of the CoC's preliminary pro rata need or $750,000, will be added to the final pro rata need amount for the Continuum. For this purpose, HUD will consider the same housing activities identified in Section D above as counting toward the permanent housing bonus. HUD also reserves the right to adjust pro rata need, if necessary, to address SHP project renewals.

(c) Awarding need points to projects: Once the pro rata need is established, it is applied against the priority project list in the application. Starting from the highest priority project, HUD proceeds down the list to award need points to each project. An eligible project will receive the full 40 points for need if at least one half of its requested amount falls within the pro rata need amount for that CoC. Thereafter, HUD proceeds further down the priority project list and awards 15 points for need to each project if at least one half of its requested amount falls within the "second level" of pro rata need amount for that CoC. The "second level" is the amount between the pro rata need and twice the pro rata need for the CoC. Remaining projects each receive 10 points. If projects are not prioritized for the Continuum, then all projects will receive 10 points for Need.

In the case of competing CoC applications from a single jurisdiction or service area, projects in the application that received the highest score out of the possible 60 points for CoC are eligible for up to 40 points under Need. Projects in the competing applications with lower CoC scores are eligible for only 10 points under Need.

(6) Ranking. HUD will add the score for CoC to the Need score to obtain a total score for each project. The projects will then be ranked from highest to lowest according to the total combined score.

(7) Conditional Selection and Adjustments to Funding.

(a) Conditional Selection. Whether a project is conditionally selected, as described in Section V (B) below, will depend on its overall ranking compared to others, except that HUD reserves the right to select lower rated eligible projects in order to meet the 30 percent overall permanent housing requirement. (See Section V (A)(8) for additional selection information.)

When insufficient funds remain to fund all projects in the competition having the same total score, HUD will first fund permanent housing projects if necessary to achieve the 30 percent overall permanent housing requirement. HUD will then break ties among the remaining projects with the same total score by comparing scores received by the projects for each of the following scoring factors, in the order shown: Need, Overall CoC score, CoC Process and Strategy, CoC Gaps and Priorities, and CoC Supplemental Resources. The final tie-breaking factor is the priority number of the competing projects on the applicable CoC priority list(s).

(b) Adjustments to Funding. The Secretary of HUD has determined that geographic diversity is appropriate to carrying out homeless assistance programs in an effective manner. HUD believes that geographic diversity can be achieved best by awarding grants to as many CoCs as possible. To this end, in instances where any of the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, the Virgin Islands, and American Samoa does not have at least one funded COC, HUD reserves the right to fund eligible project(s) receiving 40 Need points in the CoC with the highest total score in that jurisdiction. To qualify for funding, the total score for these first level projects on the CoC priority list must be at least 65 points. In the case of two or more CoCs with the same total score, HUD will use the tie-breaking rules described above. In addition, if the highest priority project passing threshold requirements within a CoC fails to meet the criteria for receiving 40 Need points, HUD reserves the right to reduce the total requested amount for that project to allow it to qualify for 40 Need points. Finally, if the total amount that would be awarded for first level projects in a CoC exceeds the final pro rata need amount for that COC by more than $200,000, the lowest priority first level project being selected for funding will be reduced to the amount necessary to ensure that the total sum being awarded for such projects does not exceed the final pro rata need amount by more than $200,000. HUD may otherwise adjust funding of applications in accordance with the provisions of Section VI(E) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. In addition, HUD reserves the right to ensure that a project that is applying for, and eligible for, selection under this competition is not awarded funds that duplicate activities.

(8) Additional Selection

Considerations. HUD also will apply the limitations on funding described below in making conditional selections.

In accordance with the appropriation for homeless assistance grants in the Fiscal Year 2003 Appropriation Act for HUD, HUD will use not less than 30 percent of the total FY 2003 Homeless Assistance Grants appropriation, excluding amounts provided for renewals under the Shelter Plus Care Program, to fund projects that meet the definition of permanent housing. Projects meeting the definition of permanent housing for this purpose are: (1) New Shelter Plus Care projects, (2) Section 8 SRO projects, and (3) new and renewal projects under the Supportive Housing Program that are designated as either permanent housing for homeless persons with disabilities or Safe Havens projects having the characteristics of permanent housing for homeless persons with disabilities, including leases with the program participants, that, in addition, have been assigned at least 15 Need points, and which are submitted as part of either a "consolidated" or "associated" Continuum of Care application receiving at least 20 points under the Continuum of Care scoring factor. However, no Continuum of Care application may receive more than 30 percent of its pro rata need, up to $3 million, for "second-level" permanent housing projects assigned 15 Need points that are selected for funding under this procedure. (See Section V(A)(5)(c) for definition of "second-level".) As stated above, HUD will award no less than 30 percent of the total FY 2003 Homeless Assistance Grants appropriation, excluding amounts for Shelter Plus Care renewals, for permanent housing projects unless an insufficient number of approvable permanent housing projects are submitted. In order to meet this permanent housing funding requirement and stay within the total funding amount available, initially selected Supportive Service Only (SSO) and non-permanent housing projects may need to be de-selected to add an adequate number of permanent housing projects, even if they are lower scoring housing projects. As a result, within a Continuum, higher priority SSO and non-permanent housing projects may need to be de-selected to include lower priority permanent housing projects. This is because HUD will initially select projects (permanent housing, SSO and other non-permanent housing alike) until the 30 percent permanent housing requirement is met. Since this will likely exceed the total funding amount available for award, HUD will, if necessary, first proceed to de-select new SSO projects initially selected, starting with lowest scoring new projects and proceeding if needed to the lowest scoring new non-permanent housing projects initially selected. If the funding line is still exceeded, HUD will proceed to de-select SSO and non-permanent housing renewal projects until all selected projects are within the funding line.

In accordance with section 429 of the McKinney-Vento Act, HUD will award Supportive Housing funds as follows: not less than 25 percent for projects that primarily serve homeless families with children; not less than 25 percent for projects that primarily serve homeless persons with disabilities; and not less than 10 percent for supportive services not provided in conjunction with supportive housing. After projects are rated and ranked, based on the factors described above, HUD will determine if the conditionally selected projects achieve these minimum percentages. If not, HUD will skip higher-ranked projects in order to achieve these minimum percentages.

In accordance with section 463(a) of the McKinney-Vento Act, as amended by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, at least 10 percent of Shelter Plus Care funds will be awarded for each of the four components of the program: Tenant-based Rental Assistance; Sponsor-based Rental Assistance; Project-based Rental Assistance; and Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation of Single Room Occupancy Dwellings for Homeless Individuals (provided there are sufficient numbers of approvable projects to achieve these percentages). After projects are rated and ranked, based on the factors described above, HUD will determine if the conditionally selected projects achieve these minimum percentages. If necessary, HUD will skip higher-ranked projects in order to achieve these minimum percentages.

In accordance with section 455(b) of the McKinney-Vento Act, no more than 10 percent of the assistance made available for Shelter Plus Care in any fiscal year may be used for programs located within any one unit of general local government. In accordance with section 441(c) of the McKinney-Vento Act, no city or urban county may have Section 8 SRO projects receiving a total of more than 10 percent of the assistance made available under this program. HUD is defining the 10 percent availability this fiscal year as $10 million for Shelter Plus Care and $10 million for Section 8 SRO. However, if the amount awarded under either of these two programs exceeds $100 million, then the amount awarded to any one unit of general local government (for purposes of the Shelter Plus Care program) or city or urban county (for the purposes of the SRO program) could be up to 10 percent of the actual total amount awarded for that program.

Lastly, HUD reserves the right to reduce the amount of a grant if necessary to ensure that no more than 10 percent of assistance made available under this program section of the SuperNOFA will be awarded for projects located within any one unit of general local government or within the geographic area covered by any one Continuum of Care. If HUD exercises a right it has reserved under this program section of the SuperNOFA, that right will be exercised uniformly across all applications received in response to this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Action on Conditionally Selected Applications. HUD will notify conditionally selected applicants in writing. As necessary, HUD will subsequently request them to submit additional project information, which may include documentation to show the project is financially feasible; documentation of firm commitments for cash match; documentation showing site control; information necessary for HUD to perform an environmental review, where applicable; and such other documentation as specified by HUD in writing to the applicant, that confirms or clarifies information provided in the application. HUD will notify SHP, SRO, S+C and S+C/SRO applicants of the deadline for submission of such information. If an applicant is unable to meet any conditions for fund award within the specified timeframe, HUD reserves the right not to award funds to the applicant, but instead either to use them to select the next highest ranked application(s) from the original competition for which there are sufficient funds available; or to add them to funds available for the next competition for the applicable program.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. See Section VII(E)(2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

The application kit provides the application materials, including Form HUD-424 and certifications, that must be used in applying for homeless assistance under this SuperNOFA.

These application materials substitute for the forms, certifications, and assurances listed in Section II(H) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA (collectively, the "standard" forms).

In addition to the required narratives, the items that you must submit to HUD as part of the application for homeless assistance funding are the following:

- (1) 2003 Application Summary Form
- (2) Continuum of Care and Project Exhibits
- (3) Gaps Analysis Form
- (4) Project Priorities Form
- (5) Project Leveraging Form
- (6) HUD-424
- (7) Applicant Certifications
- (8) Consolidated Plan Certification(s)

The standard forms can be found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The remaining forms (i.e., excluding such items as narratives), referred to as the non-standard forms, can be found in the Application Kit.

The application requires a description of the Continuum of Care system and the proposed project(s). To ensure that no applicant is afforded an advantage in the rating of the Continuum of Care element (described in Section V(A)(4) above), HUD is establishing a limitation of 25 pages, excluding required multiple page tables or charts but including any attachments, on the length of Exhibit 1 of any application submitted in response to this NOFA. HUD will not consider the contents of any pages exceeding this limit when rating the Continuum of Care element of any application. The application kit also contains certifications that the applicant will comply with fair housing and civil rights requirements, program regulations, and other Federal requirements, and (where applicable) that the proposed activities are consistent with the HUD-approved Consolidated Plan of the applicable State or unit of general local government. Projects funded under this SuperNOFA shall operate in a fashion that does not deprive any individual of any right protected by the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601-19), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 794), the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 12101 et seq.), Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d) or the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (42 U.S.C. 6101).

There are three options for submitting an application under this program section of the SuperNOFA.

One: A "Consolidated Application" is submitted when a jurisdiction (or a consortium of jurisdictions) submits a single application encompassing a Continuum of Care strategy and containing all the projects within that strategy for which funding is being requested. Individual projects are contained within the one consolidated application. Grant funding may go to one entity which then administers all funded projects submitted in the application, or under this option, grant funding may go to all or any of the projects individually. Your application will specify the grantee for each project.

Two: "Associated Applications" are submitted when applicants plan and organize a single Continuum of Care strategy that is adopted by project sponsors or operators who choose to submit separate applications for projects while including the identical Continuum of Care strategy. In this case, project funding would go to each successful applicant individually and each would be responsible to HUD for administering its separate grant.

Three: A "Solo Application" is submitted when an applicant applies for a project exclusive of participation in any community-wide or region-wide Continuum of Care development process.

Options one and two are not substantively different and will be considered equally competitive. Applicants are advised that projects that are not a part of a Continuum of Care strategy will receive few, if any, points under the Continuum of Care rating factors.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications (See Section V of the General Section).

VIII. Appeals Process

Applicants may appeal the results of HUD's review and selection process if they believe a HUD error has occurred. Appeals must be in writing to the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development and must state what HUD error the applicant believes has occurred.

IX. Environmental, Local Resident Employment, and Relocation Requirements

(A) Environmental Requirements

(1) Finding of No Significant Impact. A Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) with respect to the environment was made for this program section of the SuperNOFA, in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 50 that implement section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4223). The FONSI is available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Department's Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of General Counsel, Room 10276, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410-0500.

(2) Environmental Reviews. All Continuum of Care assistance is subject to the National Environmental Policy Act and applicable related Federal environmental authorities. Section 208 of Public Law 106-377 (114 Stat. 1441, approved October 27, 2000) amended section 443 of the Stewart B. McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act to provide that for purposes of environmental review, Continuum of Care projects shall be treated as assistance for special projects that are subject to section 305(c) of the Multifamily Housing Property Disposition Reform Act of 1994, and shall be subject to HUD's regulations implementing that section. The effect of this provision is that environmental reviews for Continuum of Care activities are to be completed by responsible entities (States or units of general local government) in accordance with 24 CFR part 58, whether or not the applicant is itself a State or a unit of general local government. Applicants (such as PHAs or nonprofit organizations) that are not States or units of general local government must request the unit of general local government to perform the environmental review. This statutory provision supersedes those portions of 24 CFR 582.230 and 583.230 that provide for automatic HUD environmental review in the case of applications from such entities. With this exception, conditional selection of projects under the Continuum of Care Program is subject to the environmental review requirements of 24 CFR 582.230, 583.230, and 882.804(c), as applicable. Recipients may not commit or expend any Continuum of Care assistance or nonfederal funds on project activities (other than those listed in 24 CFR 58.22(c), 58.34 or 58.35(b)) until HUD has approved a Request for Release of Funds and environmental certification from the responsible entity. The expenditure or commitment of Continuum of Care assistance or nonfederal funds for such activities prior to this HUD approval may result in the denial of assistance for the project under consideration.

(B) Local Resident Employment

To the extent that any housing assistance (including rental assistance) funded through this program section of the SuperNOFA is used for housing rehabilitation (including reduction and abatement of lead-based paint hazards, but excluding routine maintenance, repair, and replacement) or housing construction, then it is subject to section 3 of the Housing and Urban Rehabilitation Act of 1968, and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 135. Section 3, as amended, requires that economic opportunities generated by certain HUD financial assistance for housing and community development programs shall, to the greatest extent feasible, be given to low- and very low-income persons, particularly those who are recipients of government assistance for housing, and to businesses that provide economic opportunities for these persons.

(C) Relocation

The SHP, S+C, and SRO programs are subject to the requirements of the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, as amended (URA). These requirements are explained in HUD Handbook 1378, Tenant Assistance, Relocation and Real Property

Acquisition. Any person or family who moves, even temporarily, as a direct result of acquisition, rehabilitation or demolition for a project that is assisted through one of these programs (whether or not HUD funded the acquisition, rehabilitation or demolition) is entitled to relocation assistance. Displacement that results from leasing a unit in a structure may also trigger relocation requirements. Relocation assistance can be expensive. To avoid unnecessary costs, it is important to provide occupants with timely information notices, including a general information notice to be sent at the time the application is submitted to HUD. HUD Handbook 1378 contains guideform information notices. The HUD field office can provide a copy of the handbook and copies of appropriate information booklets to be provided to occupants. Accordingly, if the site is occupied, the applicant should contact the HUD field office in the planning stage to obtain advice, including help in estimating the cost of required relocation assistance.

X. Authority

The Supportive Housing Program is authorized by title IV, subtitle C, of the Stewart B. McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (McKinney-Vento Act), 42 U.S.C. 11381. Funds made available under this program section of the SuperNOFA for the Supportive Housing Program are subject to the program regulations at 24 CFR part 583.

The Shelter Plus Care program is authorized by title IV, subtitle F, of the McKinney-Vento Act, 42 U.S.C. 11403. Funds made available under this program section of the SuperNOFA for the Shelter Plus Care program are subject to the program regulations at 24 CFR part 582.

The Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program for Single Room Occupancy Dwellings for Homeless Individuals (SRO) is authorized by section 441 of the McKinney-Vento Act, 42 U.S.C. 11401. Funds made available under this NOFA for the SRO program are subject to the program regulations at 24 CFR part 882, subpart H.

Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance: 2003 Competition SHP, S+C, and SRO Programs

General Instructions

Since 1987, the programs authorized under the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act have been a major source of Federal assistance to States, local governments, and nonprofit organizations for meeting the needs of homeless individuals and families. It is widely recognized and accepted that these and other programs designed to assist homeless persons are more effective and efficient when carried out through carefully planned and systematic local approaches, otherwise known as Continuum of Care systems. The application process under the 2003 Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) gives heavy emphasis to programs that are designed and will be carried out under such systems. Please give close attention to the NOFA since it is the document that controls the competition. If there is a conflict between information provided in the application kit and information provided in the published NOFA, the information in the published NOFA prevails.

The homeless assistance application has two parts. The first is the process and outcome of the community-based homeless assistance plan – the Continuum of Care. The second consists of the exhibits for the specific program funds for which you are applying – Supportive Housing Program (SHP) New and Renewal, Shelter Plus Care (S+C) New and Renewal, and Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy Dwellings (SRO) Program.

Eligibility and Roles

Under each of the programs, there may be applicants and sponsors. An applicant will be responsible for the overall management and administration of the grant, including drawing down the grant funds, distributing them to the project sponsors, and reporting to HUD. Applicants can submit projects on behalf of project sponsors, who will actually carry out the proposed project activities. Applicants can also carry out their own projects. In these cases, the applicant is responsible for both administering/managing the grant (as the grantee) and carrying out the project (as the project sponsor).

Submitting Your Application

To HUD Headquarters. The original completed application (containing the original signed documentation) must be submitted to: Special Needs Assistance Programs Office, Room 7270, Office of Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20410, Attention: Continuum of Care Programs.

To the Appropriate CPD Field Office. Two copies of the completed application must also be submitted to the Community Planning and Development Division of the appropriate HUD Field Office for the applicant's jurisdiction. Field Office copies must be received by the deadline date as well, but a determination that an application was received on time will be made solely on receipt of the application submitted to HUD Headquarters in Washington. The review and scoring will be based upon the contents of the submission received in HUD Headquarters.

See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures governing the form of application submissions (e.g., mailed applications, express mail, or overnight delivery). Please note that hand delivery is no longer permitted.

The three ways to package an application under the NOFA are described below. Options one and two are developed from a single Continuum of Care strategy. They will be considered equally competitive and are not substantively different. A Solo Application, because it is not part of a single Continuum of Care strategy, will receive few, if any, points under the Continuum of Care rating criteria.

1. A Consolidated Application is developed from a single Continuum of Care strategy for a jurisdiction (or several jurisdictions) and contains funding requests for all the projects within that system. In a Consolidated Application there may be one applicant, which then administers all funded projects through project sponsors or multiple applicants that request funding.
2. An Associated Application is also developed from a single Continuum of Care strategy, but project funding is requested through individual applications and the applicant and project sponsor are the same entity.
3. A Solo Application is not connected to the community's Continuum of Care strategy, and the applicant and project sponsor are the same entity.

In both the Consolidated Application and the Associated Application there is a single Continuum of Care exhibit (Exhibit 1).

Application Exhibits

There are six exhibits in the homeless assistance portion of the application. Exhibit 1 is a description of your community's Continuum of Care strategy, the process used to create that strategy, and the project priorities. Exhibits 2, 2R, 3, 3R and 4 correspond to the three programs (SHP – New, SHP – Renewal, S+C - New, S+C - Renewal and SRO) and are used to describe the projects for which funding is requested. The SHP – Renewal Exhibit is new and will contain information pertaining to previously funded supportive housing projects.

A completed application will include one Exhibit 1 (Continuum of Care) and any number of Exhibits 2 (SHP New), and 2R (SHP Renewal), 3 (S+C New), 3R (S+C Renewal) and 4 (SRO), depending on the number of projects and type of programs proposed for funding. For example, if you were proposing five SHP Renewal projects and one S+C New project, then you would submit one Exhibit 1, five Exhibits 2R and one Exhibit 3. No submission would be necessary for Exhibit 4 because funding is not being requested under the SRO program. (Refer to Assembling Your Application on page iii for full assembling instructions.)

Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care

Exhibit 1 is a description of your community's Continuum of Care strategy, the process used to create that strategy, and a list of projects in priority order. You should pay special attention to Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care and the associated selection criteria in the 2003 NOFA. Scoring high on Exhibit 1 will be the key to the success of an application in this competition.

Exhibits 2 and 2R: Supportive Housing Program (SHP)

The Supportive Housing Program is designed to develop supportive housing and services that will allow homeless persons to live as independently as possible. Eligible applicants for SHP are States, units of local government, other governmental entities such as public housing agencies (PHAs), public nonprofit community mental health associations, and private nonprofits. A private nonprofit organization is any organization with tax exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the IRS Code, or an organization with documentation that it meets the requirements for private nonprofit status listed in the Glossary on page iv.

There are no eligibility requirements for project sponsors; however, a sponsor and any partners that will assist with a project must have the experience and skills to carry out the project.

When applying for SHP assistance, you should submit one Exhibit 2 for each new project and/or one Exhibit 2R for each renewal project.

Exhibits 3 and 3R: Shelter Plus Care (S+C) Program

The S+C Program provides rental assistance for hard-to-serve homeless persons with disabilities in connection with supportive services funded from sources outside the program. S+C was designed to give an applicant maximum flexibility by allowing the rental assistance to be tenant-, sponsor-, or project-based (with or without rehabilitation) or for SRO units. Eligible applicants are States, units of general local government, and PHAs. Under the sponsor-based component, an applicant must subcontract with a private nonprofit organization (see Glossary for definition) or a community mental health agency established as a public nonprofit organization. Under the SRO component, non-PHA applicants must subcontract with a PHA. For new project requests, see Exhibit 3 for specific details. For renewal requests, see Exhibit 3R.

When applying for S+C assistance, you should submit one Exhibit 3 for each new project and/or one exhibit 3R for each renewal. A project may not include more than one component.

Exhibit 4: Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation for Single Room Occupancy Dwellings (SRO) Program

SRO housing contains units for occupancy by one person. These units may contain food preparation or sanitary facilities, or both. The SRO Program provides rental assistance on behalf of homeless individuals in connection with the moderate rehabilitation of SRO dwellings. Resources outside the program pay for the rehabilitation; however, the rental assistance covers operating expenses of the SRO housing, including debt service for rehabilitation financing. Eligible applicants are private nonprofit organizations which subcontract with PHAs (see Glossary for definition), and PHAs. Please note that States and units of local government are not eligible applicants for the SRO Program.

As an applicant, if you are a private nonprofit organization, you must subcontract with a PHA to administer the rental assistance. An application may contain multiple projects (multiple Exhibit 4's), but each project may not contain more than 100 assisted units.

Scoring

HUD will review and rate all three programs using the same process. Two types of reviews will be conducted. One is a threshold review of each proposed project for the specific criteria identified in the NOFA. Projects that do not meet these requirements will be eliminated from the competition. In the other review, HUD will assign up to 60 points for the community's Continuum of Care (CoC) strategy and up to 40 points for that community's relative need for housing and services for homeless persons. The NOFA describes fully the criteria HUD will use to assign points and should be read carefully. Please note this year that there will not be a bonus of up to two (2) points for projects located within an Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community (EZ/EC).

Applicants conditionally selected for funding under the SHP, SRO, or the SRO component of the S+C program will be required to provide additional information in the form of a Technical Submission at a later date.

Assembling Your Application

Please assemble your application as outlined below, with tabs marking each exhibit and project and all pages numbered sequentially. Be sure to complete the Application Summary Form using the Geographic Area Guide included with the application kit. Please also pay special attention to the HUD-424, the form that indicates who the applicant is for a project. (Project sponsors do not fill out an HUD-424 unless they are also the applicant for the project.) This form helps HUD determine if an organization is eligible to apply for a specific program and for which projects it will be the grantee. It is essential, therefore, that you complete and sign the form, along with the Applicant Certification and, where appropriate, submit private nonprofit documentation or community mental health association documentation, followed by the projects for which you will be the grantee. The law requires a Consolidated Plan Certification for each project.

For a Consolidated Application with one applicant, an Associated Application, or a Solo Application, assemble the application as shown below. For a Consolidated Application with multiple applicants, the first applicant should submit all the information in the order shown below. The second applicant would then insert its HUD-424 form, Applicant Certification, and, if applicable, private nonprofit documentation or community mental health association documentation followed by its project exhibit(s), Consolidated Plan Certification(s) and the required HUD Form-2880. For additional applicants, this order would be repeated.

Assembly order:

1. Application Summary Form
2. Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care
3. Certifications/Forms
 - a. HUD-424 Form (signed by applicant)
 - b. Applicant certifications (signed by applicant)
 - c. Private nonprofit documentation [SHP, SRO, and S+C (SRA component) programs] – New Applicants
 - d. Community mental health association documentation (for SHP public nonprofits only) – New Applicants
4. Project exhibits including a Consolidated Plan Certification, HUD Form 2880-Disclosure/Update Report, and Special Project Certifications – (a) Coordination and Integration of Mainstream Programs, and (b) Discharge Policy (as applicable).

Assembly Format:

1. Number all pages sequentially and insert tabs marking each exhibit. For Exhibit 1, Continuum of Care narrative, number pages from 1 up to 30 using letter suffixes where appropriate to indicate pages that do not count toward the 30 page limit as per the instructions for completing the Continuum of Care narrative. For example, the first page of a 4 page project leveraging chart would be numbered 23 while the next 3 pages of the chart would be numbered 23-A, 23-B, and 23-C.
2. Please use a two-hole punch to insert holes at the top of your application.
3. Please do not bind your application, since this impedes processing.

Deadline

It is critical that you check the NOFA published in 2003 for the deadline date. Please carefully review the NOFA for specific information on meeting the application submission deadline.

Glossary

Applicant. An entity that applies to HUD for funds. In order to be an applicant, you must submit a HUD-424. If selected for funding, the applicant becomes the grantee and is responsible for the overall management of the grant, including drawing grant funds and distributing them to project sponsors. The applicant may also be a project sponsor.

Applicant Certification. The form, required by law, in which an applicant certifies that it will adhere to certain statutory requirements, such as the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Chronically Homeless Person. An unaccompanied homeless individual with a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years. Disabling condition is defined as "a diagnosable substance use disorder, serious mental illness, developmental disability, or chronic physical illness or disability, including the co-occurrence of two or more of these conditions." To be considered chronically homeless, persons must have been sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation (e.g., living on the streets) and/or in an emergency homeless shelter during that time.

Consolidated Plan. A long-term housing and community development plan developed by State and local governments and approved by HUD. The Consolidated Plan contains information on homeless populations and can be a source of information for the Gaps Analysis Chart. The plan contains both narratives and maps, the latter developed by localities using software provided by HUD.

Consolidated Plan Certification. The form, required by law, in which a state or local official certifies that the proposed activities or projects are consistent with the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan and, if the applicant is a State or unit of local government, that the jurisdiction is following its Consolidated Plan.

Continuum of Care. An approach that helps communities plan for and provide a full range of emergency, transitional, and permanent housing and service resources to address the various needs of homeless persons.

Current Inventory. An inventory of the community's existing beds and supportive services.

Homeless Management Information Systems (HMIS). An HMIS is a computerized data collection application designed to capture client-level information over time on the characteristics and service needs of men, women, and children experiencing homelessness. It is designed to aggregate client-level data to generate an unduplicated count of clients served within a community's system of homeless services. An HMIS may also cover a statewide or regional area, and include several CoCs. The HMIS can provide data on client characteristics and service utilization.

Homeless Person. A person sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation or in an emergency shelter; a person in transitional or supportive housing for homeless persons who originally came from the street or an emergency shelter. For a more detailed discussion, see the Questions and Answers Supplement. The programs covered by this application are not for populations who are at risk of becoming homeless.

NOFA. Notice of Funding Availability, published in the Federal Register to announce available funds and application requirements.

Private Nonprofit Status (includes faith-based and community-based organizations). Private nonprofit status is documented by submitting either: a) a copy of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ruling providing tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the IRS Code; or b) documentation showing that the applicant is a certified United Way agency; or c) a certification from a designated official of the organization that no part of the net earnings of the organization inures to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or individual; that the organization has a voluntary board; that the organization practices nondiscrimination in the provision of assistance; and that the organization has a functioning accounting system that provides for each of the following (mention each in the certification):

1. Accurate, current and complete disclosure of the financial results of each federally-sponsored project.
2. Records that identify adequately the source and application of funds for federally-sponsored activities.
3. Effective control over and accountability for all funds, property and other assets.
4. Comparison of outlays with budget amounts.
5. Written procedures to minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds to the recipient from the U.S. Treasury and the use of the funds for program purposes.
6. Written procedures for determining the reasonableness, allocability and allowability of costs.
7. Accounting records including cost accounting records that are supported by source documentation.

Public Nonprofit Status. Public nonprofit status is documented for community mental health centers by including a letter or other document from an authorized official stating that the organization is a public nonprofit organization.

Project Sponsor. The primary organization responsible for carrying out the proposed project activities. A project sponsor does not submit a HUD-424, unless it is also the applicant.

HUD Form 424. The information sheet required to be submitted by applicants requesting HUD Federal Assistance.

Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care

Developing a Continuum of Care

HUD believes the best approach for alleviating homelessness is through a community-based process that provides a comprehensive response to the different needs of homeless individuals and families. To this end, HUD is encouraging localities to shape a comprehensive and coordinated housing and service delivery system called a Continuum of Care.

A Continuum of Care approach helps communities plan for and provide a balance of emergency, transitional, and permanent housing and service resources to address the needs of homeless persons so they can make the critical transition from the streets to jobs and independent living.

The fundamental components of a Continuum of Care system are:

- Homeless prevention
- Outreach and assessment to identify an individual's or family's needs and make connections to facilities and services.
- Immediate (emergency) shelter and safe, decent alternatives to the streets.
- Transitional housing with appropriate supportive services to help people reach independent living. Such services include job training and placement, substance abuse treatment, short-term mental health services, and independent living skills training.
- Permanent housing or permanent supportive housing arrangements.

While many homeless people will not need access to all components, each component must be present and coordinated within a community for a Continuum of Care to be viable. A Continuum of Care system serves the specific needs of all homeless subpopulations within the community. It is coordinated with as inclusive a group of community representatives as possible, such as nonprofit organizations (including faith-based and community-based organizations), State and local governmental agencies, public housing authorities (PHAs), service providers, local businesses and business associations, law enforcement, private funders and homeless or formerly homeless persons.

While the Continuum of Care approach can serve as a framework to bring homeless housing and services and their respective providers together, only the community—not HUD—can design a strategy that works best.

As part of the development and ongoing refinement of a Continuum of Care strategy, communities should assess the service and housing needs of homeless persons in their locality, inventory the existing resources available to serve them, and identify gaps. This assessment will help to ensure that the needs of all homeless persons will be met to the extent practicable.

If you are a service or housing provider for homeless persons and you are not currently involved in a Continuum of Care process, feel free to contact your local HUD Field Office to identify other organizations in your area that have established a Continuum of Care system and may be applying for funding.

Choosing a Geographic Area

The geographic area included in your Continuum of Care system may be composed of one or more cities or counties. The geographic area of one Continuum of Care system should not overlap any portion of the service area of any other system. If Continuum of Care systems geographically overlap to the extent that they are competing with each other, projects in the application that receive the highest score out of the possible 60 points for Continuum of Care will be eligible for up to 40 points under Need. Projects in the competing application with the less effective Continuum of Care system will be eligible for only 10 points under Need. In no case will the same geography be used more than one time in assigning Need points. The local HUD Field Office can help determine if any of the area covered by one Continuum of Care system is also likely to be claimed under another Continuum of Care in this competition.

In determining what jurisdictions to include in a Continuum of Care strategy, you should only include those jurisdictions that are fully involved in the development and implementation of the strategy. You should be aware that the larger the area included in a Continuum of Care strategy, the larger the pro rata need share that will be allocated to the strategy area. However, it would be a mistake to include jurisdictions that are not fully involved in the development and implementation of the Continuum of Care strategy, since this would adversely affect the Continuum of Care score. Because most rural counties have extremely small pro rata need shares, they are strongly encouraged to consider working with contiguous counties to develop a region-wide Continuum of Care strategy covering the combined service areas of these counties.

Continuum of Care Narrative

The Exhibit 1 submission for applicants involved in the same Continuum of Care strategy must be identical. The information will be in narrative and chart form, as indicated below.

To ensure that no applicant is afforded an advantage in the rating of the Continuum of Care Exhibit [described in Section V(A)(4) of the NOFA], HUD is establishing a limitation of 30 pages on the length of Exhibit 1. Except as indicated herein, all pages, including attachments, are counted towards the 30-page limitation. HUD will not consider the contents of any pages exceeding this limit when rating Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care of any application.

1. Your Continuum of Care's accomplishments.

Briefly describe the specific accomplishments over the past 12 months in implementing your Continuum of Care strategy. (Please keep discussion to no more than half a page)

2. Your community's planning process for developing a Continuum of Care strategy.

In order to determine the quality and inclusiveness of your Continuum of Care (CoC) planning process, please provide the following:

- a. Identify the lead entity (i.e., convener or organization managing the overall process) for the CoC planning process.
- b. Describe your community's CoC planning process, demonstrating that one well-coordinated process is in place with no overlapping or duplicative efforts.
- c. List the dates and main topics of your CoC planning meetings held since June 2002, which should demonstrate that these meetings (both plenary and committee) are: (1) regularly scheduled; (2) held year round; and (3) not solely focused on developing an application in response to the NOFA.
- d. List, using the format on the following page:

(1) the specific names and types of organizations involved in your Continuum of Care (CoC) planning process, such as State and local government agencies, Public Housing Authorities (PHAs), nonprofit organizations, individual businesses or business associations, homeless or formerly homeless persons, and others, including law enforcement, hospital or medical facility representatives, and funders;

(2) the one or two subpopulation(s) the organization/entity primarily serves and whose interests they are specifically focused on representing; and

(3) each organization's level of participation in the planning process. High participation levels might include: steering committee member attends all monthly planning meetings, housing subcommittee member attends most CoC planning meetings, gaps analysis subcommittee chairperson attends all group meetings and most CoC planning meetings, etc. In order to obtain a higher competitive score for "participation", planning participants must attend most of the planning and/or committee meetings. In addition, if more than one geographic area is claimed on the 2003 Application Summary page, you must indicate which geographic area(s) each organization represents in your Continuum of Care planning process.

(Although you may require multiple pages to respond to this item, your response will count as only one page towards the 30-page limitation.)

3. Your community's Continuum of Care goals and system under development.

The key to developing a successful Continuum of Care is to continually assess the existing system and identify shortcomings or gaps, then establish a set of goals and carry out a series of action steps intended to address these shortcomings or gaps. With this in mind, please provide the following:

A. Chronic Homelessness Strategy/Goals

Chronic homelessness refers to an unaccompanied homeless individual with a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years. To be considered chronically homeless, persons must have been sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation (e.g., living on the streets) and/or in an emergency shelter during that time.

- (1) Past Performance. In 2001, HUD established a goal of eliminating chronic homelessness within 10 years. HUD is beginning to track progress made toward this ambitious goal. Please tell us using no more than 2 pages: (a) the specific actions that your community has taken over the past year towards ending chronic homelessness; and (b) any remaining obstacles to achieving this goal.
- (2) Current Chronic Homelessness Strategy. In order to keep HUD informed of your chronic homelessness strategy, please provide a brief summary of the community's strategy for ending chronic homelessness by 2012, including any updates to your strategy. As a part of this discussion, please include in this narrative the number of sheltered and unsheltered chronically homeless persons identified on the "CoC: Homeless Population and Subpopulations Chart" (see page 10). (Your response is expected to be no more than 2 pages, however, none of it will count towards your 30-page limitation.)
- (3) Future Goals. Describe your specific future-oriented goals, and specific action steps for each to be undertaken over the next 18 months in carrying out a strategy to end chronic homelessness in your community. Specify the entity that has the lead responsibility for success or failure in carrying out each step and provide specific target dates for completion. Be sure to include among your goals/action steps each of the plans for housing and services mentioned in sections 3.E. and 3.F. Please use the following format. (Add to as needed for additional goals.)

Goal: End Chronic Homelessness ("What" are you trying to accomplish)	Action Steps ("How" are you to go about accomplishing it)	Responsible Person/Organization ("Who" is responsible for accomplishing it)	Target Dates (mo/yr will be accomplished)
Ex: Count unsheltered homeless to establish baseline	Annual street counts of unsheltered homeless persons	Emergency Shelter Commission	January 2004
Goal 1:
Goal 2:
Goal 3:

B. Other Homelessness Goals Chart

- (1) Please provide a summary of accomplishments made over the past year in addressing your community's other homelessness goals.
- (2) In addition to the goals for ending chronic homelessness, please describe any other goals and specific action steps that your community has developed to address homelessness. Specify the entity that has lead responsibility for carrying out each step and specific target date for completion. Please use the following format.

Goal: Other Homelessness	Action Steps	Responsible Person/Organization	Target Dates
Goal 1:
Goal 2:
Goal 3:

C. Discharge Planning Policy

The McKinney-Vento Act requires that any governmental agency receiving funding may not receive HUD McKinney funds unless they develop and implement, to the extent practicable, policies for the discharge of persons from publicly funded institutions or systems of care. These institutions and systems of care include health care facilities, foster care or other youth facilities, and corrections programs and institutions. The purpose of developing and implementing discharge policies is to prevent persons being discharged from immediately becoming homeless.

Describe how your CoC will work with the appropriate local and State governments to ensure that a discharge policy for persons leaving publicly funded institutions or systems of care is being developed and implemented to prevent the discharge of persons from immediately resulting in homelessness.

D. Unexecuted Grants Awarded Prior to the 2002 Continuum of Care Competition

Homeless assistance awards are intended to rapidly help homeless individuals and families become more self-sufficient. It is expected that continuums will keep apprised of grants awarded to homeless providers in their jurisdiction(s) and become aware of projects that are not moving forward. Using the prescribed format, please provide a list of all HUD McKinney-Vento Act awards announced prior to 2002 that are not yet under contract (i.e. signed grant agreement or executed ACC).

Project Number	Applicant Name	Project Name	Grant Amount
Ex: MI23B901002	Michiana Homes, Inc.	TH for Homeless Families	$514,000

E. Service Activity Chart

Using the format below, describe the fundamental service components of your Continuum of Care system currently in place, and any additional services being planned. Describe how homeless persons access or receive assistance under each component other than Outreach. (Although you may require multiple pages to respond to this item, your response will count as only one page towards the 30-page limitation.)

F. Housing Activity Chart

How to Complete the Housing Activity Chart

Starting with the information on the 2002 Housing Activity Chart, please update that information and show all housing activity on the following chart for 2003. Please provide information on each facility concerning: (1) the location of the facility/voucher program, using HUD's geographic codes, (2) the target populations, and (3) each facility/voucher program under development.

Geo Code column: Indicate the Geographic Area Code (Geo Code) for the facility. Where there is only one geographic code for the Continuum, check the box and indicate that code in the first facility listing only. If the project is located in multiple jurisdictions, select the jurisdiction where the majority of the inventory is located.

Target Population columns:

Column A, Select the code that best represents your project: SM=only Single Males (18 years and over); SF=only Single Females (18 years and over); SMF=only Single Males and Females (18 years and over with no children); FC=Families with Children; YM=only unaccompanied Young Males (under 18 years), YF=only unaccompanied Young Females (under 18 years), YMF=unaccompanied Young Males and Females (under 18 years), and O=Others.

Column B, Indicate whether the facility serves these additional characteristics: DV=only Domestic Violence victims, VET=only Veterans, and AIDS=only persons with HIV/AIDS.

Current Inventory: List all facilities and voucher programs that are currently operating.

Under Development: List all the projects that are fully funded but are not yet serving homeless people.

(Although you may require multiple pages to respond to this item, your response will count as only one page towards the 30-page limitation.)

*CoCs that list only one geographic code in their Application Summary sheet may check this box and should identify the Geographic Code. All other CoCs must identify the location of each facility by the geographic code.

Permanent Supportive Housing is Shelter Plus Care (S+C), Section 8 SRO and Supportive Housing Program-Permanent Housing component (SHP-PH). It also includes any permanent housing projects dedicated exclusively to serving homeless persons such as public housing units that have been dedicated to housing homeless persons.

4. Instructions for Continuum of Care Housing Gaps Analysis and Homeless Population Charts

Housing Gaps Analysis Chart

This required chart summarizes the information from the Fundamental Components in the CoC System -- Housing Activity Chart and represents the CoC's judgment as to the need for additional emergency, transitional housing and permanent supportive housing resources. The estimated unmet need is based upon the status of the inventory at a point-in-time (one-day) and takes into account both existing beds and funded new beds that are not yet ready for occupancy but are under development.

Include this required chart with your Continuum of Care narrative in your Exhibit 1 submission.

1. Complete the first column "Current Inventory in 2003."
Enter the number of existing beds serving the community in 2003. This inventory includes only beds currently available for occupancy. The completion of the "Current Inventory in 2003" for emergency shelter, transitional housing, and permanent supportive housing beds must be carried over from the subtotals shown under "Current Inventory" in each of the three housing component areas contained in the Fundamental Components Housing Activity Chart.
2. Complete the second column "Under Development in 2003."
Enter the number of funded new beds not ready for occupancy but under development in 2003. The completion of "Under Development in 2003" must be carried over from the subtotals shown under "Under Development" in each of the three housing component areas contained in the Fundamental Components Housing Activity Chart.
3. Complete the third column "Unmet Need/Gap."
Enter the number of beds the CoC determines to be the unmet remaining need for each category. This number should represent the need for additional beds after the current inventory and under development inventories are considered. This represents the Continuum of Care's judgment on the need for additional beds under each category.

Homeless Population and Subpopulations Chart

Completing Part 1: Homeless Population. This must be completed using statistically reliable, unduplicated counts or estimates of homeless persons in sheltered and unsheltered locations at a one-day point in time. The counts must be from: (A) administrative records, (N) enumerations, (S) statistically reliable samples, or (E) estimates. The quality of the data presented in each box must be identified as: (A), (N), (S) or (E).

Completing Part 2: Homeless Subpopulations. This must be completed using statistically reliable, unduplicated counts or estimates of homeless persons in sheltered and unsheltered locations at a one-day point in time. The numbers must be from: (A) administrative records, (N) enumerations, (S) statistically reliable samples, or (E) estimates. The quality of the data presented in each box must be identified as: (A), (N), (S) or (E).

Sheltered Homeless. Count adults, children and youth residing in shelters for the homeless. "Shelters" include all emergency shelters and transitional shelters for the homeless, including domestic violence shelters, residential programs for runaway/homeless youth, and any hotel/motel/apartment voucher arrangements paid by a public/private agency because the person or family is homeless. Do not count: (1) persons who are living doubled up in conventional housing; (2) formerly homeless persons who are residing in Section 8 SRO, Shelter Plus Care, SHP permanent housing or other permanent housing units; (3) children or youth, who because of their own or a parent's homelessness or abandonment, now reside temporarily and for a short anticipated duration in hospitals, residential treatment facilities, emergency foster care, detention facilities and the like; and (4) adults living in mental health facilities, chemical dependency facilities, or criminal justice facilities.

Unsheltered Homeless. Count adults, children and youth sleeping in places not meant for human habitation. Places not meant for human habitation include streets, parks, alleys, parking ramps, parts of the highway system, transportation depots and other parts of transportation systems (e.g. subway tunnels, railroad car), all-night commercial establishments (e.g. movie theaters, laundromats, restaurants), abandoned buildings, building roofs or stairwells, chicken coops and other farm outbuildings, caves, campgrounds, vehicles, and other similar places.

5. Methods used to Collect Information for the Housing Gaps Analysis and Homeless Population/Subpopulations Charts

In order to assess the quality of the data identified by your community, please provide the following:

- a. For Housing Gaps Analysis Chart identify the data source (e.g., City Shelter Survey), and the methods (e.g., mail survey) for filling out the "Current Inventory in 2003" and "Under Development in 2003" columns. Briefly describe the basis for the community's determination as to the amount of unmet need for emergency shelter, transitional housing and permanent supportive housing for the homeless.
- b. Provide your community's definition of emergency shelter and transitional housing.
- c. For the Part 1 Homeless Population and Subpopulations Chart indicate the specific point-in-time date of data collection (e.g., March 30, 2003) for both the "sheltered" and "unsheltered." This must be only a one-day/night count. Describe your community's process and methods for collecting the data, including the reason(s) your community chose those methods. If your community conducts an enumeration of persons at least annually or uses administrative data from outreach programs to those living on the street, please provide a description of the lead agency/contact person and the process for data collection and coverage in the community.
- d. For the Part 2 Homeless Population and Subpopulations Chart indicate the methods for determining homeless subpopulations in general and the chronic homeless in particular.
- e. Describe your community's plans for conducting an annual update of the Fundamental Components in the CoC System Housing Activity Chart.
- f. Describe your community's process for conducting regular point-in-time counts (not less than once every three years) of the "sheltered" and "unsheltered" categories in order to complete Part 1 and 2 of the Homeless Population and Subpopulations Chart and the collection methods you plan to use.

6. Homeless Management Information System (HMIS). (Your response to this item will not count towards your 30-page limitation.)

Congress has established a national goal that all communities should be collecting an array of data on the homeless, including unduplicated counts of the homeless, their use of services and the effectiveness of local assistance systems. In order to achieve this objective, HUD has encouraged communities to develop a Homeless Management Information System (HMIS).

- a. Describe in a brief narrative your Continuum of Care (CoC) strategy to implement an HMIS, providing a schedule for implementation and describing the progress you have made to date, including obtaining the participation of emergency shelter, transitional housing and McKinney-Vento permanent supportive housing providers.
- b. Please check one of the following which best reflects the status of your CoC in having a Continuum-wide HMIS (see Section O of the "Questions and Answers" supplement to the application before completing):

- The CoC has not yet considered implementing an HMIS.
- The CoC has been meeting and is considering implementing an HMIS.
- The CoC has decided to implement an HMIS and is selecting needed software and hardware.
- The CoC has implemented a Continuum-wide HMIS.
- The CoC has implemented, but is seeking to update or change its current HMIS.
- The CoC has implemented, but is seeking to expand the coverage of its current HMIS system.

- c. If your CoC has already implemented or is seeking to update or expand its HMIS system, identify in the table below how many of the Current Inventory in 2003 beds listed on your Housing Gaps Analysis chart are included in the CoC's HMIS and are currently providing data on clients into the system. For each Current Inventory in 2003 Housing Activity category, indicate the number of beds that are providing client level data into the HMIS and the percent of coverage for that category. For example: there are 100 beds in the Current Inventory in 2003 for the Individuals/Emergency Shelter category and client level data into the HMIS are provided for 60 of these beds. Place 60 beds/60 percent in the following chart for the Individuals/Emergency Shelter category.

Transitional Housing	____/____	____/____

7. Priorities.

Having now assessed the need in your community and having compared it to your existing Continuum of Care system, please provide the following:

- a. Using your gaps analysis findings, complete the Continuum of Care: Project Priorities chart that follows according to the instructions provided. (Refer to the chart for specific instructions and examples.)
- b. Describe the methods you use to determine whether projects up for renewal are: (1) performing satisfactorily and (2) effectively addressing the need(s) for which they were designed.
- c. Describe how each project proposed for funding will fill a gap in your community's Continuum of Care system. (Although you may require multiple pages to respond to this item, your response will count as only one page towards the 30-page limitation.)
- d. Demonstrate how the project selection and priority placement processes were conducted fairly and impartially, and gave equal consideration to projects sponsored by nonprofit organizations. In doing so, (1) specify your open solicitation efforts for projects; (2) identify the objective rating measures applied to the projects and demonstrate that participants on the review panel or committee are unbiased; and (3) explain the voting system used. Finally (4), if written complaints concerning the process were received during the last 12 months, please briefly describe them and how they were resolved.

8. Supplemental Resources.

HUD funding is limited and, therefore, can provide only a portion of the resources needed to successfully address the needs of homeless families and individuals. This being the case, please provide the following:

- A. Project Leveraging. Fill out the Continuum of Care: Project Leveraging chart. (See instructions with chart).
- B. Enrollment and Participation in Mainstream Programs.
Describe your Continuum of Care-wide strategy currently in place to systematically:
 - (1) IDENTIFY ELIGIBILITY of homeless persons for mainstream programs.
 - (2) HELP ENROLL them in the following programs for which they are eligible: SSI, TANF, Medicaid, Food Stamps, SCHIP, Workforce Investment Act, Veterans Health Care.
 - (3) ENSURE THEY RECEIVE assistance under each of the programs for which they are enrolled.
- C. Participation in Mainstream Programs and Employment.

In order for HUD to assess the results of your continuum's effort in implementing this strategy, please complete the following chart. The source of information is from the most recent Annual Progress Report (APR) for all SHP and SPC renewals being submitted in this year's competition.

Instructions for filling out the Participation in Mainstream Programs and Employment chart:

- Column 1 – Income Source. Use these income sources from the APR (Question 11).
- Column 2 – Adults Who Exited (All Renewals). For each SHP and SPC renewal being submitted in this year's competition, use APR Question 2C (Number who left the program during the operating year). For each APR, add the Number of Singles Not in Families and the Number of Adults in Families. The total represents the number of adults who exited the project during the operating year. Add the total from each renewal's APR to get the total number of adults in the CoC who left the projects during the operating year.
- Column 3 – Source of Income at Entry. Using the information in each project's APR Question 11C (Income Sources at Entry), add the total number of exiting adults who, upon entry to the project, already had each source of income.
- Column 4 – % with Income at Entry. Divide Column 3 by Column 2, multiply by 100 and round.
- Column 5 – Source of Income at Exit. Using the information in each project's APR Question 11D (Income Sources at Exit), add the total number of adults who, upon exiting the project, had each source of income.
- Column 6 – % with Income at Exit. Divide Column 5 by Column 2, multiply by 100 and round.
- Column 7 – Entry / Exit Difference. Subtract Column 4 from Column 6.

IMPORTANT: If you are not submitting any renewals in this year's competition, provide the chart using the most recent APR for all currently operating SHP and SPC projects in your continuum.

Instructions for Continuum of Care: Project Priorities

A priority ordering of all projects proposed for each community in the Continuum of Care strategy should be included on the Project Priority chart whether submitted through Consolidated or Associated Applications. The projects that communities rank as higher priorities will receive the most points under the "Need" criterion. This required chart must be identical for all Associated Applications requesting funding under the same Continuum of Care system. If you do not provide a Project Priorities Chart in Exhibit 1, all proposed projects may lose up to 30 points of the 40-point Need total. There should be only one project per line. Projects submitted in response to the 2003 NOFA should fill gaps identified as priorities for funding as determined by your community's gaps analysis.

1. In the first column, enter the name of the applicant, the entity that is responsible for the overall management of the grant. This entity becomes the grantee if the project is selected for funding. (You must submit a HUD-424).
2. In the second column, enter the project sponsor that will carry out the project and the project name.
3. The third column is the numeric priority that your Continuum of Care community has assigned to each project. For your convenience, this column has been pre-filled, with number 1 as the highest priority and number 12 as lowest. Please reproduce this required chart if you need additional space to accommodate more projects, renumbering as necessary.
4. In the fourth column, enter the requested amount of project funding for each project.
5. In the fifth column, enter the requested term of your project in years.
6. In the sixth column, enter the component/type of each project. Codes for the project components/type are:
SHP new and renewal—Transitional Housing (TH), Permanent Housing for Persons with Disabilities (PH), Supportive Services Only (SSO), Safe Haven (SH), Homeless Management Information Systems (HMIS), and Innovative Supportive Housing (IH)
Shelter Plus Care new and renewal—Tenant-based Rental Assistance (TRA), Sponsor-based Rental Assistance (SRA), Project-based Rental Assistance (PRA), Project-based Rental Assistance with Rehabilitation (PRAR), and Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy rental assistance (SRO).
7. At the bottom of the chart, fill in the total requested amount for the projects in the chart. (If multiple pages are being submitted, provide only a grand total at the end of the last page.)
8. Place all Shelter Plus Care renewal projects as the last entries in the chart. They are not prioritized with the other programs because they are being funded non-competitively; however, the law requires that they be a part of the national competition.
9. The tiering of projects on your priority list is no longer permitted.

Instructions for Renewals

Communities wishing to seek funding for project renewals (for expiring HUD projects other than S+C renewals) need to include such projects in their priority list. The purpose of renewal funding is to provide continued assistance to homeless persons, provided that the grantee can demonstrate success in achieving program objectives. A project whose HUD grant will expire during calendar year 2004 may request renewal funding if it previously received HUD McKinney-Vento Act funds for one of the following:

- Supportive Housing Program (SHP)
- SHP Renewal
- Shelter Plus Care (S+C) Program
- S+C Renewal

When developing priority lists, your community may wish to pay particular attention to the funding needs of current McKinney-Vento homeless assistance projects that will not have sufficient funds to continue operating throughout 2004. If your community is unsure as to when its grants are eligible for renewal funding, please contact your local HUD Field Office. Note: Only the current grantee (the entity that has executed the current grant agreement with HUD) can apply for renewal of its project, i.e., must be the applicant and submit a HUD-424.

Please Note:

- (1) Place all Shelter Plus Care renewal projects as the last entries on the Chart.
- (2) For all Shelter Plus Care and SRO projects, please be advised that the actual FMRs used in calculating your grant will be those in effect at the time the grants are approved which may be higher than those found in the September 30, 2002 Federal Register.

Instructions for Continuum of Care: Project Leveraging

Complete only one chart for the entire Continuum of Care and insert in Exhibit 1. Provide information only for contributions for which you have a written commitment in hand at the time of application. A written agreement could include signed letters, memoranda of agreement, and other documented evidence of a commitment. Leveraging items may include any written commitments that will be used towards your cash match requirements in the project, as well as any written commitments for buildings, equipment, materials, services and volunteer time. The value of commitments of land, buildings and equipment are one-time only and cannot be claimed by more than one project (e.g., the value of donated land, buildings or equipment claimed in 2002 and prior years for a project cannot be claimed as leveraging by that project or any other project in subsequent competitions). The written commitments must be documented on letterhead stationery, signed by an authorized representative, dated and in your possession prior to the deadline for submitting your application, and must, at a minimum, contain the following elements: the name of the organization providing the contribution; the type of contribution (e.g., cash, child care, case management, etc.); the value of the contribution; the name of the project and its sponsor organization to which the contribution will be given; and, the date the contribution will be available. The documentation will be required at Technical Submission if a project is conditionally selected. If you do not have in hand at the time of application submission a written agreement for a contribution that will be used in your project, do not enter the contribution. Please be aware that undocumented leveraging claims may result in a re-scoring of your application and possible withdrawal of your conditional award(s).

1. In the first column, enter the project priority number.
2. In the second column, enter the name of the project.
3. In the third column, identify the type of contribution being leveraged by the proposed project. Types of contributions could include cash, buildings, equipment, materials, and services, such as transportation, health care, and mental health counseling.
4. In the fourth column, enter the name of the source or provider from whom the contribution is being leveraged. The contribution may be leveraged through Federal, State, local, or private sources, including mainstream housing and social service programs.
5. In the last column, enter the value of the contribution. Donated professional services should be valued at the customary rate; volunteer time should be valued at $10 per hour. Donated buildings should be valued at their fair market value or fair rental value minus any charge to the SHP, S+C, or SRO program.
6. At the bottom of the chart, fill in the total amount. (If multiple pages are being submitted, provide only a grand total at the end of the last page.)

Warning: HUD will prosecute false claims and statements. Conviction may result in criminal and/or civil penalties (18 U.S.C. 1001, 1010, 1012; 31 U.S.C. 3729, 3802)

Exhibit 2 and 2R: Supportive Housing Program (SHP)

The following information pertains to Exhibit 2 (SHP New) and Exhibit 2R (SHP Renewal). Exhibit 2R is new this year. It was developed for renewal projects since the majority of CoC applications are for SHP renewal projects. Since HUD has prior history working with these applicants/grant recipients, this streamlined exhibit was developed for ease in filling out the application. The Project Components and SHP Guidance sections apply to both exhibits.

Program Components/Type

The Supportive Housing Program promotes the development of supportive housing and services that help homeless persons transition from homelessness to living as independently as possible. Each project submitted under SHP must be classified as one of the program components described below.

Transitional Housing facilitates the movement of homeless individuals and families to permanent housing within 24 months. This temporary housing is combined with supportive services to enable homeless individuals and families to live as independently as possible. Supportive services—which help promote residential stability, increased skill level and/or income, and greater self-determination—may be provided by the organization managing the housing or coordinated by that organization and provided by other public or private agencies. Transitional housing can be provided in one structure or several structures at one site or in multiple structures at scattered sites.

Permanent Housing for Persons with Disabilities is long-term housing for this population. Basically, it is community-based housing and supportive services as described above, designed to enable homeless persons with disabilities to live as independently as possible in a permanent setting. Permanent housing can be provided in one structure or several structures at one site or in multiple structures at scattered sites.

Supportive Services Only projects provide services designed to address the special needs of the homeless persons. Projects are classified as this component only if the project sponsor is not also providing or operating the housing for the same persons receiving the services. Eligible activities for Supportive Services Only projects are acquisition, rehabilitation, leasing, and, of course, supportive services. (Applicants cannot request funds for new construction or operations.) Supportive services only projects may have one or more structures at a central site or at scattered sites where services are delivered; or services may be delivered independent of a structure, such as street outreach.

Safe Haven projects must meet the following criteria: (1) have no limit on length of stay; (2) serve hard-to-reach homeless persons who have severe mental illness, are on the streets, and have been unable or unwilling to participate in supportive services; (3) provide 24-hour residence for an unspecified duration; (4) provide private or semiprivate accommodations; and (5) have overnight occupancy limited to 25 persons. A safe haven may also provide supportive services to eligible persons who are not residents, on a drop-in basis. A Safe Haven project that has the characteristics of the SHP/Permanent Housing component and requires participants to execute a lease agreement may now be classified as permanent supportive housing.

For many persons with mental illness who have been living on the streets, the transition to self-sufficiency is best made in stages, starting with a small, highly supportive environment where an individual can feel at ease, out of danger, and subject to no immediate service demands. Safe Havens do not require participation in services and referrals as a condition of occupancy. Rather, it is hoped that after a period of stabilization in a safe haven, residents will be more willing to participate in services and referrals, and will eventually be ready to move to more traditional forms of housing. Safe Havens can serve as an entry point to the service system and provide access to basic services such as food, clothing, bathing facilities, telephones, storage space, and mailing addresses.

Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) is now a separate component/type for new and renewal dedicated HMIS projects in the 2003 CoC competition. There is also a separate budget activity for specifying costs in dedicated HMIS projects and in SHP projects including HMIS costs as a share of their participation in an HMIS. SHP may be used to pay the costs of implementing and operating an HMIS. Eligible HMIS costs are: equipment, software, computer services, personnel to manage and operate the system, training, and staff that analyze the data and prepare reports for providers, the CoC, and HUD.

Innovative Supportive Housing enables the applicant to design a supportive housing project for homeless persons that is outside the scope of the other SHP components. A project is innovative when the particular approach is new to the area and can be replicated in other communities. The project must be determined by HUD to be innovative or it will be rejected from the competition. The project must also be for eligible SHP activities.

Project Definition

Under SHP, a "project" may be either for supportive housing, supportive services only or HMIS. For a supportive housing project, one project sponsor provides housing in one or more structures and delivers services, or arranges with other organizations to deliver services, to the residents. For a Supportive Services Only project, one sponsor delivers services to homeless persons, but the sponsor does not provide housing to the same persons receiving the services. Supportive services can be delivered from a structure(s) or they can be delivered independent of a structure(s), such as street outreach. The following are examples of SHP projects:

Example 1: Project sponsor Serenity House will provide 10 units of permanent housing to homeless persons with serious mental illness. The project sponsor is requesting funding for rehabilitation, supportive services, and operations. The supportive services will be provided by the local day treatment center. This is one project and is classified under the permanent housing component.

Example 2: Project sponsor Greenville Nonprofit proposes to acquire, rehabilitate, and operate a transitional housing facility for homeless women and children. Services will be coordinated by Greenville Nonprofit but delivered by a local charitable organization and a health clinic. This is one project and is classified under the transitional housing component.

Example 3: Project sponsor Health Care, Inc., currently owns a van from which it does outreach and provides health care services to homeless persons and families on the streets and in emergency shelters. Health Care proposes to expand its service level to serve more people and to provide immunizations and help refer homeless persons to appropriate housing. The expansion is one project and is classified under the supportive services only (SSO) component. SHP funds may be requested for the expansion only; the project sponsor would continue to provide funding for the current activities from other sources.

Example 4: Project sponsor Second Chance is part of a CoC which has decided to implement a community-wide Homeless Management Information System (HMIS). The CoC has determined that Second Chance will propose a dedicated HMIS project. The project's funds will be used to purchase HMIS software and computers and to pay the salary of HMIS staff. (See the "Question and Answer" supplement to the application for further information on funding for HMIS activities.)

SHP Guidance

Eligible and Ineligible Activities and Limitations. There are eight activities that can be funded under SHP. They are acquisition, rehabilitation, new construction, leasing, operating costs, supportive services, HMIS and administrative costs. This year, HMIS will be classified as its own eligible SHP activity rather than as a supportive service. See the "Questions and Answers" supplement to the application for additional discussion on this topic. Specific activities that are not eligible by law under the six program components/type include:

- Operating costs or new construction for supportive service only projects.
- Support for an existing project except as noted in section E of this exhibit and renewals.
- Support for permanent housing for non-disabled persons.
- Rehabilitation of a structure owned by a primarily religious organization, except in accordance with the requirements of 24 CFR 583.150(b)(2).
- New construction or rehabilitation of a structure prior to an executed grant agreement with HUD. Lack of an environmental clearance in such a case would necessitate withdrawal of HUD funds from the project.
- Acquisition and rehabilitation, or new construction that exceeds statutory funding limitations. (See section K of this exhibit for the specific limits.)
- Homeless prevention activities.
- Planning costs for HMIS.

Match. SHP funds provided for acquisition, rehabilitation, and new construction must be matched by the recipient with an equal amount of funds from other sources. In addition, any applicant requesting SHP funds for operating costs for supportive housing must provide a cash contribution of at least 25 percent of the total operating costs. Any applicant requesting SHP funds for supportive service activities funds must provide a cash contribution of at least 20 percent of the total supportive services costs. HMIS activities must also have a cash contribution of at least 20 percent of the total HMIS costs.

Relocation and Environmental Issues. SHP projects are subject to the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act and additional relocation requirements in Section 583.310 of the SHP regulations. In addition, the use of SHP funds for acquisition, rehabilitation, new construction and, in some cases, leasing triggers 24 CFR Part 58, Environmental Review Procedures for Entities Assuming HUD Environmental Responsibilities, for recipients who are private nonprofit organizations or public housing authorities. Projects are also subject to the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act and are, therefore, subject to 24 CFR Part 35. Because Lead-Based Paint requirements can be complex, please contact your local HUD Field Office for guidance during the planning stages of your project.

Renewal Projects

The purpose of renewal funding is to provide operating, leasing and supportive services for previously approved grantees in order to ensure continued assistance to homeless persons. Note: Only the current grantee (the entity that has executed the current grant agreement with HUD) can apply for renewal of its project, i.e., must be the applicant and submit a HUD-424.

A project may request one, two or three years of renewal funding if it previously received HUD McKinney-Vento Act funds under the Supportive Housing Program, including those previously renewed, and will expire during calendar year 2004. Since renewal projects may request renewal funds only for continuing a previously approved project at the same level of housing and/or services provided in the previous grant, renewal project budgets should be based upon the average of the term activities of the previous grant award. Renewal projects proposing both to renew the existing project and expand the number of units or number of participants receiving services must submit a new project proposal for the expansion portion of the project. HMIS activities being renewed should be included on the HMIS budget chart.

The details of your plan to ensure that all homeless clients will be individually assisted to identify, apply for and obtain benefits under each of the following mainstream health and social services programs for which they are eligible: SSI, TANF, Medicaid, Food Stamps, SCHIP, Food Stamps, Workforce Investment Act and Veterans Health Care programs.
 5. Accessing permanent housing. Describe specifically how participants will be assisted both to OBTAIN and REMAIN in PERMANENT HOUSING.

6. Self-sufficiency. Describe specifically how participants will be assisted both to increase their INCOMES and to maximize their ability to LIVE INDEPENDENTLY.
7. Homeless Management Information System. Describe the following:
- How the CoC's homeless needs will be assessed, resources allocated and services coordinated more efficiently and effectively through the introduction of a new or expanded CoC-wide HMIS.
 - For all dedicated HMIS projects (New, Expansion, and Updated) demonstrate that at least 50 percent of the beds (emergency, transitional and McKinney-Vento permanent housing) listed in the "Current Inventory in 2003" categories in the Fundamental Components in the CoC System – Housing Activity Chart will be included in the CoC-wide HMIS.
 - Name the lead agency designated to oversee the HMIS project.
 - Provide the timetable for implementing the new or expanded HMIS.
 - Demonstrate that no State or local government funds would be replaced with the funding being requested of HUD for this project.
8. Discharge Policy. For State and local government applicants who submitted a Discharge Policy certification within their 2001 or 2002 application, please describe any policies and protocols subsequently developed or implemented affecting the discharge of persons from publicly funded institutions or systems of care (e.g., health care facilities, foster care or other youth facilities, or corrections programs and institutions) in your jurisdiction. Indicate how these changes have or will prevent such discharges from immediately resulting in homelessness for such persons. (You may submit a single response for all projects for which you are the applicant. Be sure a copy is inserted with each project.)

Section B. Experience Narrative

Section B is a description of the experience of all the organizations involved in carrying out the project. (Refer to section V(A)(1) of the NOFA for the Applicant and Sponsor Eligibility and Capacity Standards.)

Please describe the following:

- The specific type and length of experience of all organizations involved in implementing the project, including the project sponsor, housing and supportive service organizations, and any key subcontractors. Describe experience directly related to carrying out the project and experience working with homeless people.
- If your project structure will be constructed or rehabilitated, please describe experience in these areas and/or experience in contracting for and overseeing the rehabilitation or construction of housing.
- List all HUD McKinney-Vento Act grants, other than ESG, received after 1997, including for each grant: the year awarded, grant number, grant amount, and amounts spent to date. Only list HUD-issued grant numbers. If you are unclear about the HUD grant number assigned to any project, please contact your HUD field office for assistance.

Year Awarded	Grant Number	Grant Amount	Amount Spent to Date
Example: 1999	CA16B900-060	$500,000	$375,412

- Please explain any delays in implementing any of the grants listed in (3) above which exceed the SHP timeliness standards described in Section IV (D) of the Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA).
- Identify any unresolved HUD findings, or outstanding audit findings related to any of the grants listed in (3).

Section C. Project Information (please type or print)

Project Name:	Project Priority No. (from project priority chart in Exhibit 1):
Project Address (street, city, state, & zip):
Project Sponsor's Name:	Proj. Congressional District(s):
Sponsor's Address (street, city, state, & zip):	Project 6-digit Geographic Code:
Authorized Representative of Project Sponsor (name, title, phone number, & fax):

Section D. Program Components/Type

Please check the box that best classifies the project for which you are requesting funding. Check only one box. The components/type are:

- Transitional Housing
- Permanent Housing for Persons with Disabilities
- Supportive Services Only
- Safe Havens Check here if your Safe Haven project has the characteristics of SHP/Permanent Housing (see page 18 of Exhibit 2) and will require participants to execute a lease agreement.
- HMIS
- Innovative Supportive Housing (check this box only if your project cannot be classified under any other component)

Section E. Existing Facilities and/or Activities Serving Homeless

Persons (To be completed for new projects only; renewal projects see Exhibit 2R.)

1. Will your proposed project use an existing homeless facility or incorporate activities that you are currently providing?
 - Yes (Check one or more of the activities below that describe your proposed project, then proceed to section F.)
 - No (Skip to section F.)

2. Facilities that you are currently operating and activities you are currently undertaking to serve homeless persons may only receive SHP funding for the four purposes listed below. SHP cannot be used to fund ongoing activities. My project will:
 - Increase the number of homeless persons served.
 - Provide additional supportive services for residents of supportive housing and/or homeless persons not residing in supportive housing.
 - Bring existing facilities up to a level that meets State and local government health and safety standards. Please explain.
 - Replace the loss of nonrenewable funding from private, Federal, or other sources (except from the State or local government), which will cease on or before the end of the current calendar year. By law, no SHP funds may be used to replace State or local government funds previously used, or designated for use, to assist homeless persons [see 24 CFR 583.150(a)].

If this box is checked, you must fully describe the following in order to be eligible for funding:

 - a. The source of the nonrenewable funding, indicating that it is not under the control of the State or local government.
 - b. Why it is nonrenewable.
 - c. When it will cease.
 - d. Document the specific steps you took to obtain other funding, why there are no other sources of funding and why, without the SHP assistance, the activity will cease.

Section F. Number of Beds, Participants, and Supportive Services

Section F is composed of three charts:

Chart 1 is for recording the number of beds/bedrooms in the project. Do not complete Chart 1 if the project is for supportive services only (SSO).

Chart 2 is for recording the number of participants to be served. Information on all projects should be entered in this section except for dedicated HMIS projects.

Chart 3 is for recording the supportive services proposed for your homeless clients. Do not include costs for HMIS activities as these costs should be included in Section G.

Complete Chart 1 and Chart 2 based on the following instructions.

1. In the first column, please enter the requested information for all items at a point in time (a given night). You should only fill out this column if you checked "Yes" in section E. If you checked "No" in section E enter "N/A" in this column.
2. In the second column, enter the new number of beds and persons served at a point in time if this project is funded. If this is a renewal project, enter "N/A" in this column.
3. In the third column, enter the projected level (columns 1 and 2 added together) that your project will attain at a point in time.
4. In the fourth column, enter the number of persons to be served over the grant term.

a. number of disabled individuals
b. number of other individuals

Note that, if your project is funded, you will be held responsible for achieving the numbers you enter in Section F.

Chart 3: Supportive Services

If your new project is requesting the use of SHP funds for any supportive services, please complete Chart 3 on the following page for your project's supportive services budget. If you need additional space for more services, you may reproduce this chart.

In the first column, the supportive service activity is given. Please enter the quantity for each supportive service that will be provided in your project (see example below). Any other eligible supportive service and quantity that will be paid for using SHP funding that is not listed on the chart may be added under "other service activity". For staff positions please include the job title and quantity (or FTE—full time equivalent); for supportive services (such as transportation services) please include the type (e.g., bus tokens) and quantity. Please ensure that the total SHP dollars requested match the amount you entered in the "SHP Request" column on Line 6, Supportive Services, in your Project Budget in Section K.

In the second column, enter the amount of SHP funding requested for each eligible supportive service that will be provided in your project.

In the third column, enter the estimated number of persons that will be served at a point in time.

Supportive services are designed to address the special needs of the homeless persons to be served by the project. Services may be provided directly by the project sponsor and/or through an arrangement with public or private service providers, including the grantee. By law, SHP funds may be used to pay for up to 80% of the total supportive services budget for each year of the grant term. This means that the grantee must make a cash payment for at least 20% of the project's total supportive services budget annually.

SHP supportive service funds may be used to pay for the actual costs of supportive services and other costs directly associated with providing such services (see the SHP Rule at Section 583.120). Eligible supportive services include, but are not limited to: child care, employment assistance, outreach, outpatient health services, case management, food, housing placement assistance, life skills, and other services. Transportation associated with the delivery of supportive services (e.g., money for bus tokens to go to mental health counseling; the purchase of a van to transport homeless children to daycare) is also an eligible supportive service cost.

If a project sponsor's staff will deliver a service, only the staff time directly related to the delivery of that service to the project is eligible for SHP supportive services funding. For example, the project sponsor, ABC, Inc., will use 25% of its substance abuse counselor's time for recovery planning for residents of its transitional housing program. The remainder of the counselor's time will be spent counseling persons in another program. Using this example, only 25% of the counselor's salary may be paid for with SHP supportive service funds.

Example:

Supportive Service Costs	SHP Dollars Requested (2 or 3 years)	Est. No. of Persons Served (point in time)
Service Activity: Case Management Quantity: 2 FTE @ $25,000 per year	$100,000	60

Section G. HMIS Budget for Dedicated and Shared HMIS Projects

Complete the entire HMIS Budget Chart for a dedicated HMIS project. A project for shared HMIS costs with other projects need only complete the "Total" lines of the chart. In the personnel section, the number of staff positions in Full-Time Equivalents (FTEs) should be present for each category, where appropriate.

Example:

Personnel	SHP Dollars Requested (1, 2, or 3 years)
Project Management /Coordination 1 – Staff x .5 FTE @ $56,000/annual x 3 years = $84,000	$84,000
Administrative Support Staff 1 – Staff x .5 FTE @ $16,000/annual x 3 years = $24,000	$24,000

Section H. Operations Budget

Complete the Chart on the following page for your new project's total operations budget. Please remember operating costs are ineligible for Supportive Services Only projects.

In the first column, the operating cost activity is given. You must enter the quantity (if applicable) for each operating item that will be paid for using SHP funds. Add any other eligible operating costs that will be paid for using SHP funding that is not listed on the chart. For staff positions, please include the job title, salary, % of time allocated for the position, and fringe benefits. Please ensure that the total SHP dollars requested match the amount you entered in the "SHP Request" column on Line 7, Operations, in your Project Budget in Section K.

In the second column, enter the amount of SHP funding requested (2 or 3 years) for each eligible operating cost that will be needed in your project.

Operating costs are those costs associated with the day-to-day operation of supportive housing. Operating costs differ from supportive service costs in that operating costs support the function and the operation of the housing project. Examples of SHP operating costs include utilities, maintenance, security and salaries of staff not delivering services, such as the project manager or executive director, and indirect operating costs that meet the standards of OMB Circulars A-87 and A-122.

If requesting SHP operating funds, only the portion of the costs directly related to the operation of the housing project are eligible. For example, if a project sponsor's executive director will spend 10% of his/her time providing management to the housing project, then (up to) 10% of his/her salary can be charged as an SHP operating expense. As another example, in cases of shared utilities, SHP operating funds may pay only for the portion of the utilities associated with the housing project based on the square footage of the project's space. If the housing project occupies 25% of the building's space, then (up to) 25% of the monthly utility bill can be paid for using SHP operating funds.

SHP operating funds may not be used to pay for the following costs:

- a. Operating costs of a supportive services only facility;
- b. Administrative expenses such as audits and preparing HUD reports;
- c. Rent of space for supportive housing and/or supportive services (see Real Property Leasing);
- d. The payment of principal and interest on a loan for a facility currently being used as supportive housing and/or for the delivery of services; and
- e. Depreciation, because it does not constitute an incurred cost that requires a cash outlay.

SHP funds can be used to pay up to 75% of the total operations budget for the housing project. This means that the project sponsor must make a cash payment for 25% of the project's operating budget annually.

Example:

Operating Costs	SHP Dollars Requested (2 or 3 years)
Utilities	$32,000
Maintenance Engineer (salary, % time, fringe benefits) $40,000/annually .20 x .15 fringe benefits x 2 years = $18,400	$18,400

Section I. Leasing

SHP funds may be used to lease space for supportive housing or supportive services. If you are requesting SHP leasing funds, fill out the appropriate tables that follow. Housing and service space may be in the form of scattered-site leased units, or within a structure. The structures to be leased may be structures currently configured for, or structures to be converted to provide, supportive housing and/or supportive services. Under no circumstances may SHP leasing funds be used to lease units or structures owned by the project sponsor, the selectee, or their parent organizations. This includes organizations which are members of a general partnership where the general partnership owns the structure.

A. Leased Unit(s) for Housing and/or Services

If you propose to lease units in more than one metropolitan or non-metropolitan area, fill in the appropriate number of tables for each area with a different FMR or actual rent. Please reproduce this Chart as needed to accommodate projects using more than one FMR or actual rent.

Enter the number of unit(s) by the bedroom size to be leased and the lower of the actual rent or the FMR as published in the Federal Register on September 30, 2002. (FMRs may be found using this WEB site: <http://www.huduser.org/datasets/fmr.html>) The space to be leased may be scattered-site (e.g., one-bedroom apartments in five different apartment complexes) or contained within a structure (e.g., a group home with six bedrooms).

Multiply the number of units by the FMR or actual rent, whichever is lower, by the length of the grant (# of units x FMR or actual rent x months based on grant term) and enter the result in the total column.

Please note that the FMR for a single room occupancy (SRO) unit is equal to 75% (0.75) of the 0-bedroom FMR. The FMRs for unit sizes larger than 4-bedrooms are calculated by adding 15% to the 4-bedroom FMR for each extra bedroom. For example, the FMR for a 5-bedroom unit is 1.15 times the 4-bedroom FMR, and the FMR for a 6-bedroom unit is 1.30 times the 4-bedroom FMR.

If your project has been approved for exception rents, use those amounts when completing these charts AND submit your current approval letter with this document.

Chart A should be filled out only if you will lease individual units or structures that are currently configured for housing and/or services and, therefore, an FMR or actual rent can be used. If you have negotiated an actual rent (s) which is lower than the FMR, please use that amount instead of the FMR. The actual rent may not exceed the FMR.

B. Leased Structure(s) for Housing and/or Services

If you will lease a structure or portion of a structure for housing and/or services, fill out Chart B below using a monthly leasing cost that is comparable to and no more than the rents being charged for similar space in the area. This applies to structures already configured for housing and for those that will be converted. If your project has more than one structure, reproduce Chart B and fill it out starting with structure 2.

Multiply the monthly leasing costs by the number of months requested for funding and enter the result in the total column.

Chart B should be filled out only if you will lease a structure or portion of a structure for which an FMR is not applicable.

Chart B:

Structure 1	Monthly Leasing Cost	Number of Months	Total

Section J. Homeless Veterans

1. Are veterans the primary target population?

Yes No

Section K. Budget

Section K consists of two budgets—a project budget and a structure budget. Please refer to the budgets for specific instructions.

When developing your budget(s), please keep in mind that each structure can receive the maximum amount of funds according to the following per-structure limits:

For acquisition and/or rehabilitation, the SHP request for these activities combined is limited by law to between $200,000 and $400,000 depending on whether the structure is in a HUD-identified high-cost area for acquisition and rehabilitation. Contact your local HUD Field Office to determine if your project is in a high-cost area, and, if so, which of the following percentages or limits apply:

- 100% to 119%, the limit is $200,000
- 120% to 139%, the limit is $250,000
- 140% to 159%, the limit is $300,000
- 160% to 174%, the limit is $350,000
- 175% and up, the limit is $400,000

For new construction, the SHP request is limited by law to $400,000 per structure, regardless of where the structure is located. If you propose to acquire land in tandem with new construction, the $400,000 limit applies to both activities combined. Please note that you can apply for funding to construct and/or operate supportive housing; however, by law you cannot request either of these activities for supportive services only projects.

If you request funds for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction, the law requires that you match the requested amount with an equal amount of cash for the activities. Documentation of matching funds is not required in this application; however, you will be asked to submit it at a later date.

Project Budget (complete all 3 columns)

Enter the amount of SHP funds requested by line item in the "SHP Request" column. Dedicated HMIS projects may request funding for either one, two, or three years. All other projects may be for a grant term of 2 or 3 years only. If the grant term is not provided, HUD will consider that the project has a three (3) year grant term. The term you select must be the same for leasing, supportive services, and operations. In the "Applicant Cash" column, enter the amount of other cash that will be contributed to the project. This amount plus the SHP request must equal the "Total Budget" amount for the project, as shown in the last column.

If your project contains one structure or no structures, this is the only budget you need to fill out. If your project contains multiple structures, please add up the SHP structure budgets on the next page and enter those totals below.

HUD will review this chart in relation to the proposed activities and the number of persons to be served to determine whether the project is cost-effective (which is a threshold criterion).

Part I. Indicate grant term. Please circle one: 1 2 3 year(s)

Part II. Complete the Project Budget

9. SHP Request (subtotal lines 4 through 8)
10. Administrative Costs (up to 5% of line 9)	****
11. Total SHP Request (total lines 9 and 10)

* By law, SHP funds can be no more than 50% of the total acquisition, rehabilitation, and new construction budget.

 By law, SHP funds can be no more than 80% of the total supportive services and HMIS budget.

 By law, SHP can pay no more than 75% of the total operating budget.

* Applicants may request up to 5% of each project award for administrative costs, such as accounting for the use of the grant funds, preparing HUD reports, obtaining audits, and other costs associated with administering the grant. State and local government applicants and project sponsors must work together to determine the plan for distributing administrative funds between applicant and project sponsor (if different). Please refer to Section IV (C) (3) of the NOFA. If selected for funding, all applicants will be required to submit a plan for distributing administrative funds as part of the technical submission.

NOTE: The total SHP Request on line 11 cannot exceed the dollar amount on the Priority Chart for the project.

Structure Budget for Projects With More Than One Structure

If your project contains only one structure or no structures, please fill out only the project budget on the previous page. If, however, your project contains more than one structure, fill out the information requested below for the number of structures your project proposes. Do not fill out structure budgets for scattered site leasing projects unless SHP funds for rehabilitation are being requested. For each structure budget, enter the amount of SHP funds requested by line item in the first column. For leasing, supportive services, and operations, the amounts you enter should be for two or three years, which is the SHP grant term. The term you select must be the same for leasing, supportive services, and operations. In the second column, enter the total cost for each line item, which is the SHP request plus all other funds needed to pay for each line item, again, for two or three years. For your convenience, four structure budgets are provided below. You may reproduce this page if your project will have five or more structures; however, please attach the additional structure budgets to this page and label them appropriately starting with structure E. Enter administrative costs only on the Project Budget.

Section L. Additional Information

HUD needs the following information to respond to public inquiries about program benefit. Your responses will not affect in any way the scoring of your submission.

1. Which of the following subpopulations will your project serve? (Check all that apply)
 - Chronically Homeless
 - Severely Mentally Ill
 - Chronic Substance Abusers
 - Dually Diagnosed
 - AIDS or Related Diseases
 - Victims of Domestic Violence

 - Yes
 - No

 3. Is the sponsor of the project a religious organization, or a religiously affiliated or motivated organization? (Note: This characterization of religious is broader than the standards used for defining a religious organization as "primarily religious" for purposes of applying HUD's church/state limitations. For example, while the YMCA is often not considered "primarily religious" under applicable church/state rules, it would likely be classified as a religiously motivated entity.)
 - Yes
 - No

 4. Will the proposed project be located in, or make use of, surplus military buildings or properties which are located on a military base that is covered by the provisions of the Base Closure Community Redevelopment and Homeless Assistance Act of 1994?

For staff positions, please include the job title and quantity (or FTE-full time equivalent); for supportive services, such as transportation, please include the type (e.g., bus tokens) and quantity. An example is provided below. In the year 1 column, enter the amount needed to pay for the service in the first year. If the grant is multi-year, enter the funds needed for Year 2, and if applicable, Year 3. In the last column, total the amount of funds needed for the full grant term.

By law, SHP funds may be used to pay for up to 80% of the total supportive services budget for each year of the grant term. This means that the grantee must make a cash payment for 20% of the project's supportive services budget annually. For Year 1 of your grant term, documentation of firm commitments of the cash resources will be required prior to grant execution. For Years 2 and 3, if applicable, a grantee needs only to certify that cash resources will also be provided. Please note that the match requirement for Year 2 and Year 3 must be met by the end of each of those years.

EXAMPLE:

Supportive Service Expense	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Total
Service Category: Transportation
Quantity:	$52,000	$14,500	$14,500	$81,000
1 - 15 Passenger Van @ $37,500
Gasoline/Maintenance/Repair
@ $3,000/annual x 3 years = $9,000
Supportive Services Van Driver .5 FTE
@ $20,000/annual x 3 years = $30,000
Staff Fringe/Benefits .5 FTE
@ $3,000/annual x 3 years = $4,500

Please note that percentages are used during the application process to project the estimated staff time associated with an SHP grant position(s). Applicants are reminded that all staff salary payments must be based on actual, incurred costs that are supported by signed and dated timesheets.

Section C. Operating Costs Chart Instructions

Please fill out the Operating Costs Renewal Chart and add to the chart as needed.

Operating costs are those costs associated with the day-to-day operation of supportive housing. Operating costs differ from supportive service costs in that operating costs support the function and the operation of the housing project. If requesting SHP operating funds, only the portion of the costs directly related to the operation of the housing project are eligible. For example, in cases of shared utilities, SHP operating funds may only pay for the portion of the utilities associated with the housing project based on the square footage of the project's space. If the housing project occupies 25% of the building's space, then (up to) 25% of the monthly utility bill can be paid for using SHP operating funds.

In the Year 1 column of the form, enter the total amount of funds to be used to pay for the first year expenses. If the grant is a multi-year grant, enter the total funds to be used for the second and third years, if applicable. In the last column, total the amount of funds needed to help pay for the identified operating expense for the grant term.

For Year 1 of your grant term, documentation of firm commitments of the cash resources will be required prior to grant execution. Please note that the match requirement for Year 2 and Year 3, if applicable, must be met by the end of each of those years.

EXAMPLE:

Operating Expense	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Total
Furnishings
10 - single beds @ $150 = $1,500	$3,000	$3,000		$6,000
10 - 3-drawer dressers @$300 = $3,000
10 - bed linens/blanket/pillows @$150 = $1,500

Please note that percentages are used during the application process to project the estimated staff time associated with SHP funded position(s). Applicants are reminded that all staff salary payments must be based on actual, incurred costs that are supported by signed and dated timesheets.

Section D. HMIS Budget Instructions – Dedicated Projects and Shared Costs

Complete the entire HMIS Budget Chart for a dedicated HMIS project. A project for shared HMIS costs with other projects need only complete the "Subtotal" lines of the chart. HMIS costs are those costs associated with the implementation of an HMIS. If requesting SHP HMIS funds, only the portion of the costs directly related to the HMIS is eligible. In the personnel section, the number of staff positions in Full-Time Equivalents (FTEs) should be present for each category, where appropriate.

EXAMPLE:

Personnel	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Total
Personnel
Project Management / Coordination	$43,000	$43,000	$43,000	$129,000
1- .5 FTE @$56,000/annual x 3 years =$84,000
Data Analysis
1- .25 FTE @$28,000/annual x 3 years=$21,000
Administrative Support Staff
1- .5 FTE @$16,000/annual x 3 years =$24,000

In the Year 1 column of the form, enter the total amount of funds to be used to pay for the first year expenses. If the grant is a multi-year grant, enter the total funds to be used for the second and third years, if applicable. In the last column, total the amount of funds needed to help pay for the identified operating expense for the grant term.

For Year 1 of your grant term, documentation of firm commitments of the cash resources will be required prior to grant execution. Please note that the match requirement for Year 2 and Year 3, if applicable, must be met by the end of each of those years.

Exhibit 3:

Shelter Plus Care Program (S+C) - New

This Exhibit 3 is for new Shelter Plus Care projects only. Eligible applicants for this program are States, units of local government and Public Housing Authorities. If you are requesting renewal funds for an existing S+C project, do not use Exhibit 3. You must complete Exhibit 3R instead.

Program Components

Shelter Plus Care (S+C) components were created by statute and designed to give applicants flexibility in devising appropriate housing and supportive services for homeless persons with disabilities. Assisted units may be of any type, from group homes to apartments to SRO units. You may design a program that has participants first living in a group setting with intensive supportive services, then moving to another setting but retaining the rental assistance during the term of the grant, as long as they stay within a S+C unit.

Participants in S+C units receive supportive services. These services may be provided by the applicant, funded by the applicant but provided by a third party, or both funded and provided by a third party. Rental assistance provided through the S+C program must be matched in the aggregate on a dollar for dollar basis by the recipient with supportive services.

Tenant-based Rental Assistance (TRA) provides rental assistance that permits participants to choose their own housing. Participants retain the rental assistance even if they move. To help you provide supportive services or for purposes of controlling housing costs, you may require participants to live in a particular structure for the first year of assistance or to live in a particular area for the entire rental assistance period.

Sponsor-based Rental Assistance (SRA) provides rental assistance through contract(s) between the grant recipient and nonprofit organization(s), called a sponsor. The nonprofit organization may be a private nonprofit organization or a community mental health center established as a public nonprofit organization. The assisted units must be owned or leased by the sponsor. After a grant is awarded, should the sponsor lose its capacity to own or lease the assisted units, the grantee must identify an alternate sponsor in order to continue to serve the original number of persons proposed to be served.

Project-based Rental Assistance (PRA) provides rental assistance through a contract with a building owner(s). An applicant must enter into a contract with the building owner(s) for the full five-or ten-year period of assistance. The building owner must agree to accept eligible S+C participants to live in an assisted unit for this time period. Under PRA, applicants may assist units that will be rehabilitated or existing units that do not need to be rehabilitated. If the units are rehabilitated to meet the requirements specified below, the applicant may request 10 years of rental assistance. Otherwise, assistance will be for a period of five years.

To qualify as a rehabilitated unit and be eligible for 10 years of assistance, the rehabilitation must:

- equal at least $3,000 per unit, including the prorated share of rehabilitated common areas;
- be necessary in order to make the unit decent, safe, and sanitary;
- be funded from other sources; and
- be completed within 12 months of grant award.

SRO-based Rental Assistance (SRO) provides rental assistance in an existing or reconfigured single room occupancy (SRO) setting. The units to be assisted must be in need of moderate rehabilitation. The rental assistance includes an allowance to pay for debt service to retire the cost of the moderate rehabilitation over the ten-year grant period. This component is designed to bring more standard SRO units into the local housing supply and to use those units to assist homeless persons with disabilities. The SRO units may be in a rundown hotel, a vacant motel, a YMCA, or even a large, abandoned house.

HUD enters into an annual contributions contract with the PHA recipient or subcontractor in connection with the moderate rehabilitation of SRO dwelling units. PHAs make Section 8 rental assistance payments to participating owners (i.e., landlords) on behalf of homeless, disabled individuals who rent the rehabilitated dwellings. The rental assistance payments cover the difference between the tenant contribution and the unit's rent, which must be within the fair market rent (FMR) established by HUD. To be eligible for assistance, a unit must receive a minimum of $3,000 of rehabilitation to meet housing quality standards (HQS), including the prorated share of work on common areas or systems.

Persons With Disabilities

To be eligible to participate in a Shelter Plus Care funded project, a person must be both homeless and disabled. In the case of a homeless family, at least one adult member must be considered disabled.

Persons with disabilities are those who have a disability that:

- Is expected to be of long-continued and indefinite duration;
- Substantially impedes his or her ability to live independently; and
- Is such a nature that the disability could be improved by more suitable housing conditions. The disability may be a physical, mental, or emotional impairment, including an impairment due solely to alcohol or drug abuse.

Several disabilities are specifically targeted by the S+C Program. These targeted disabilities are:

- Serious mental illness
- Chronic alcohol and/or other drug abuse
- AIDS or related diseases

The disability may also be developmental. A severe, chronic developmental disability is characterized as

- Being caused by mental or physical impairment;
- Manifested before the person is 22 years old;
- Likely to continue indefinitely;
- Reflecting a need for a combination and sequence of special, interdisciplinary, or generic care, treatment, or other services that are of lifelong or extended duration and are individually planned and coordinated; and
- Resulting in substantial functional limitations in at least three of the following areas: self-care, receptive and expressive language, learning, mobility, self-direction, capacity for independent living, and economic self-sufficiency.

S+C Tips

In developing your application, we want to help you avoid problems that could hamper your ability to qualify. Here are circumstances to avoid:

- If a structure you plan to use in your project is currently occupied, you should be aware of the complex relocation requirements that will apply. Contact your HUD Field Office Relocation Specialist or an experienced governmental relocation agency, in the planning stage of your project to ensure that you have addressed this issue properly.
- Environmental problems can be very expensive and time-consuming. Factors to consider are the presence of lead-based paint (particularly if you are proposing to serve families with children) and asbestos.
- Activities that are not eligible for assistance include:
 - Assistance for non-disabled participants
 - Assistance for transitional housing

F.1. Tenant-based Rental Assistance (TRA) Project Budget

Applicants requesting TRA must complete the chart below showing the number of units expected to be used in your program. Multiply the applicable existing fair market rents (FMRs) as published in the Federal Register (FR) on September 30, 2002, by the number of units of a given size by 60 months. [Please be advised that the actual FMRs used in calculating your grant will be those in effect at the time the grants are approved which may be higher than those found in the September 30, 2002, FR Notice.] The SRO FMR should be rounded to the nearest whole number before multiplying by the number of units and the number of months. The FMR for each single room occupancy SRO unit is equal to 75 percent of the 0-bedroom FMR.

Complete a separate chart for each jurisdiction that has a different FMR.

Name of metropolitan or nonmetropolitan area for the FMR used:

- Private nonprofit organizations must submit a copy of their IRS ruling, providing tax-exempt status under Section 501 C (3) of the IRS Code of 1986, as amended, or documentation of nonprofit status as described in the Glossary on page iv.
- Public nonprofit community mental health centers must attach a letter or other document acceptable to HUD from an authorized official stating that the organization is a public nonprofit organization.

B. Housing Description. Complete the chart below indicating the address of the specific structure(s) to be used, the number of units by bedroom size in each, and whether it is or will be owned or leased by the nonprofit entity.

Address (street, city, State & zip)	Number of Units by Size							Owned / Leased (check one)
	SRO	0	1	2	3	4	>4

Reminder: You may only have one sponsor per project.

C. Grant Amount. In the following chart, show the number of units by size expected to be owned or leased by the sponsor. Multiply the applicable existing FMRs as published in the Federal Register (FR) on September 30, 2002, by the number of units of a given size by 60 months. [Please be advised that the actual FMRs used in calculating your grant will be those in effect at the time the grants are approved which may be higher than those found in the September 30, 2002, FR Notice.]

The SRO FMR should be rounded to the nearest whole number before multiplying by the number of units and the number of months. The FMR for each SRO unit is equal to 75 percent of the 0-bedroom FMR. Complete a separate chart for each jurisdiction that has a different FMR.

Otherwise, complete chart 1.

The SRO FMR should be rounded to the nearest whole number before multiplying by the number of units and the number of months. The FMR for each SRO unit is equal to 75 percent of the 0-bedroom FMR.

Yes No

Section H. Chronically Homeless

Are chronically homeless persons among the homeless subpopulation(s) your project intends to serve?

Yes No

Section I. Additional Information

HUD needs the following information to respond to public inquiries about program benefit. Your responses will not affect in any way the scoring of your submission.

1. Will the proposed project be located in a rural area? (A project is considered to be in a rural area when the project will be primarily operated either (1) in an area outside of a Metropolitan Area, or (2) in an area outside of the urbanized areas within a Metropolitan Area.)

Yes
 No

2. Is the sponsor of the project a religious organization, or a religiously affiliated or motivated organization? (Note: This characterization of religious is broader than the standards used for defining a religious organization as "primarily religious" for purposes of applying HUD's church/state limitations. For example, while the YMCA is often not considered "primarily religious" under applicable church/state rules, it would likely be classified as a religiously motivated entity.)

Yes

Exhibit 3R: Shelter Plus Care Program (S+C) - Renewal

Renewal Eligibility and Process

This Exhibit 3R is for Shelter Plus Care (S+C) renewal projects only. If you are requesting funds for a new S+C project, do not use Exhibit 3R. You must complete Exhibit 3 instead. Submit a separate Exhibit 3R for each renewal project. (A renewal project may include no more than one component (i.e., TRA, SRA, PRA, and SRO) and may be carried out by no more than one project sponsor.)

The FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act permits the noncompetitive renewal of eligible S+C program grants for one-year terms. You are eligible to apply for renewal funding if your current Shelter Plus Care grant agreement is expiring in calendar year 2004 or if your grant has been extended beyond its original five-year term but you are projected to run out of funds in 2004. You may request up to the amount determined by multiplying the number of units under lease at the time of your application for renewal funding by the applicable current Fair Market Rent(s) by 12 months. However S+C grants that have been awarded one year of renewal funding in the FY 2002 competition, may only request for renewal this year the number of units funded in that competition. Upon renewal, the unspent balance of funds at the end of the previous grant period will be recaptured. The one-year term of non-competitively awarded S+C renewal projects awarded in 2001 and 2002 may not be extended.

Your S+C renewal application must be submitted to HUD in accordance with the NOFA requirements. Since these renewals must meet the expressed Congressional intent not to divorce S+C renewals from the accountability requirements that are needed to preserve the financial integrity of the projects, and to ensure that these projects continue to meet the needs of homeless people, all S+C renewals must be included as part of a community's Continuum of Care (CoC) submission. Therefore, S+C renewals must be given consideration as part of the local CoC planning process and, if approved for submission by the CoC, must be listed as the last entries on the CoC's Project Priority Chart.

Section A. Project Narrative

Section A is a description of the existing project that you are submitting for renewal. You should include any changes resulting from amendments made to the project.

Project summary. Please provide the following:

- a. Grantee Name
- b. Program component
- c. Total S+C request
- d. The type of housing and number of participants originally proposed and ultimately served
- e. The population to be served

Section B. Performance

1. Are there any significant changes in the project since the last funding approval: Yes No
If "yes" briefly describe the changes.

2. Are all units funded with S+C funds occupied? Yes No
If not, please explain the reasons.

3. Attach responses from most recent APR for Questions 11 (Monthly Income at Entry and at Exit) and 16 (Overall Program Goals). If little or no progress, provide an explanation and specific plans for improvement.

Section E. Renewal Grant Budget

Complete this budget section for the TRA, SRA, PRA or SRO project you are submitting for renewal. Remember that a separate Exhibit 3R must be submitted for each project.

1. Need for Renewal

To determine if a renewal grant is needed for your project, please complete the following chart (skip to Question 2 if awarded a one-year renewal in 2002):

A. S+C Funds Originally Awarded $ _____
 B. Expenditure projected through 2004 $ _____
 C. Difference (A minus B) $ _____

If balance remains after the funds projected to be spent by the end of calendar year 2004 ("B" above) are subtracted from the amount awarded for your existing grant ("A" above), a renewal grant is not needed at this time. Instead, a grant extension should be requested from the appropriate HUD Field Office.

2. Renewal Budget

The amount of rental assistance requested for a renewal may not exceed the number of S+C units currently under lease times the applicable current FMR(s) times 12 months, except that for S+C grants having been awarded one-year of renewal funding in 2002, the number of units requested for renewal this year may not exceed the number of units funded in 2002. If you received a one-year S+C renewal grant in 2002, please provide the number of units approved for funding that year: _____.

In the following chart for TRA, SRA or PRA renewals, show the number of units, by size, to be owned or leased during the one-year renewal period. Multiply the applicable existing FMRs as published in the Federal Register on September 30, 2002, by the number of units of a given size by 12 months. The SRO FMR should be rounded to the nearest whole number before multiplying by the number of units and the number of months. The FMR for each SRO unit is equal to 75 percent of the 0-bedroom FMR. [Please be advised that the actual FMRs used in calculating your grant will be those in effect at the time the grants are approved which may be higher than those found in the September 30, 2002, FR Notice.] Complete a separate chart for each jurisdiction that has a different FMR.

Requested subsidy cannot exceed current FMR unless an Exception Rent approval letter is attached.

Name of metropolitan or nonmetropolitan area for the FMR used: _____

In the following chart for S+C/SRO renewals, show the number of units to be owned during the one-year renewal period. Multiply the number of units by the current contract rent (at time of expiration) by 12 months.

2. If your answer to question #1 is yes, are veterans the primary target population of your proposed project?
 Yes No

Section G. Chronically Homeless

Are chronically homeless persons among the subpopulation(s) your project intends to serve?

- Yes No

Section H. Additional Information

HUD needs the following information to respond to public inquiries about program benefit. Your responses will not affect in any way the scoring of your submission.

 Yes No
2. The sponsor is a religious/faith-based organization:
 Yes No

Exhibit 4: Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy (SRO) Program

Eligible applicants for this program are non profit organizations and Public Housing Authorities.

Under the SRO Program, a "project" is a single site containing no more than 100 assisted units. A separate Exhibit 4 should be submitted for each new project. (Moderate Rehabilitation SROs will be renewed under a separate, non-competitive process.) In calculating your rental assistance amount, please use the Fair Market Rents (FMR) published in the Federal Register on September 30, 2002. You may obtain a copy of the applicable FMRs from your local HUD Field Office, which can also provide guidance on how to determine if your proposed project will be financially feasible. While housing providers should help residents to locate appropriate services, including services offered by the housing provider, to the extent possible, HUD encourages providers to develop housing programs which do not require participation in specific services as part of their tenancy requirements.

SRO Tips

In developing Exhibit 4, please avoid problems that could hamper your ability to qualify for SRO funding. Here are a few tips that may help:

- No single project may contain more than 100 assisted units. A separate Exhibit 4 should be submitted for each site.
- The structure to be assisted must require a minimum of $3,000 per unit of rehabilitation to meet Housing Quality Standards (HQS), including its prorated share of work on common areas or systems.
- For the FY 2003 competition, the per unit cost limitation for rehabilitation work is $19,000.
- If a structure you plan to use in your project currently has occupants, you need to be aware that there are relocation requirements. These occupants cannot return to units assisted by this project following rehabilitation. Because these requirements are complex, please contact your HUD Field Office Relocation Specialist or an experienced government relocation agency in the planning stage of your application.
- If you are a private nonprofit organization, you will need to subcontract with a PHA to administer the rental assistance.

Section A. Project Narrative

Questions and Answers
A Supplement to the 2003 Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance
NOFA and Application

To assist you in preparing your 2003 Continuum of Care (CoC) Homeless Assistance application, HUD developed the following questions and answers. For your convenience, they are grouped together by topic headings.

HUD Headquarters will hold satellite training conferences to answer other questions you may have. In addition, many HUD field offices will hold training sessions on the NOFA and the application. Please contact your local HUD field office to learn more about these training opportunities. A listing of the HUD Area and State Offices is provided as an appendix to the NOFA.

A. Major Changes for 2003

CONTINUUM OF CARE CHANGES: There have been modifications to the Exhibit 1 questions, and changes to the number of points assigned to various scoring factors:

- The “Gaps and Priorities” scoring has been reduced from 20 to 15 points.
- The “Housing Emphasis” scoring has been increased from 5 to 10 points.
- There will be no points added this year for EZ/ECs.
- Goals and System Development: This section requests information about your performance in reaching your chronic homelessness goals and other system goals. You are also required to describe your discharge planning policy and list your continuum’s unexecuted HUD grants.
- The definition for chronic homelessness is included in the application.
- Housing Activity Chart: This chart includes the information used in the 2002 competition with an update for this year’s competition to reflect the changes in your housing activities. You will also include geo codes and target population codes for each facility/program.
- Gaps Analysis: Last year’s Gaps Analysis Chart is now two separate charts. The first chart, Housing Gaps Analysis, shows the housing gaps reflecting your current inventory and the inventory under development for this year. The second chart is the “Homeless Populations and Subpopulations Chart.” For the first time, you will be showing an estimate of the chronic homelessness population for your community.
- Mainstream Program and Employment Chart: This new chart uses information collected from the Annual Progress Report (APR) of renewal grantees to show how homeless participants are accessing mainstream programs.
- Permanent Housing Bonus: In order to encourage the development of permanent housing units, the pro rata need bonus has been increased from $500,000 to a maximum of $750,000 for a number one priority project that qualifies as an eligible new project. Only the housing activities of the new project count toward the bonus. Housing activities include: rental assistance, acquisition, new construction, rehabilitation, leasing, and operating costs.
- The page limit has been increased to 30 pages for Exhibit 1: Continuum of Care.

PROJECT CHANGES:

- Term for New SHP Projects: Starting with this year's competition, the minimum term for new SHP projects must be two years.
- SHP Renewal Exhibit: A streamlined SHP Renewal exhibit is included in this year's application since most submitted projects are SHP renewals.
- HMIS Categorization: Dedicated HMIS projects should be classified as HMIS projects in the application where the type and component of the project is requested. This year, there is an HMIS budget line item for HMIS activities, separate from supportive services.
- HMIS Participation: All grantees receiving 2003 funds will be required to participate in a local HMIS system when such a system is implemented.
- Calculating SHP Renewal Budgets: Beginning in 2002, the limit for an SHP renewal request became the average annual amount of the term activities of the grant being renewed. Term activities are leasing, supportive services, and operations. Applicants may request up to 5% of each project award for administrative costs.

CHANGES IN APPLICATION DELIVERY PROCEDURES:

- Because of enhanced security procedures in the HUD Headquarters building, submission procedures have been changed. (See specific NOFA instructions.)

B. Common Mistakes1. What experiences can you share from past competitions to help me avoid making mistakes?

Here is a list of common errors. Please read carefully the application and the NOFA for further clarification, or contact your HUD field office. Common mistakes include:

EXHIBIT 1

- using prior application forms, which do not incorporate new requirements;
- not explaining the method for collecting the data in the Gaps Analysis chart;
- in preparing Exhibit 1, not ensuring that the individual sections are consistent with each other and complete;

EXHIBITS 2, 2R, 3, 3R, & 4

- inserting the wrong HUD-424 for the applicant, especially if your project is a renewal;
- the project budget request in the exhibit exceeds the Project Priorities chart amount;
- not describing the new portion of an existing homeless assistance project where funds are being requested for an expansion of the project;
- incorrect renewal grant numbers;
- incorrect renewal amount request;
- not directly responding to all applicable questions in the project narrative;
- not requesting an extension of the current grant term before renewal application submission to ensure the project being requested expires in 2004;
- not indicating the grant term;
- not filling out the budget section completely; for example: -- SHP budget lacks applicant cash match; mathematical mistakes; not reflecting statutory match requirements; incorrect FMRs used.

C. Eligible Persons to be Served

1. Who can receive assistance from the projects proposed in an application?

A person must be homeless in order to receive assistance under the SHP, S+C, and Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy (SRO) programs. Other restrictions may also apply, depending upon the program.

A person is considered homeless only when he/she resides in one of the places described below:

- a. in places not meant for human habitation, such as cars, parks, sidewalks, and abandoned buildings;
- b. in an emergency shelter;
- c. in transitional or supportive housing for homeless persons who originally came from the streets or emergency shelter;
- d. in any of the above places but is spending a short time (up to 30 consecutive days) in a hospital or other institution;
- e. is being evicted within a week from a private dwelling unit and no subsequent residence has been identified and the person lacks the resources and support networks needed to obtain housing; or
- f. is being discharged within a week from an institution in which the person has been a resident for more than 30 consecutive days and no subsequent residence has been identified and he/she lacks the resources and support networks needed to obtain housing.

2. Can a project serve persons at risk of becoming homeless?

No. By law, only those persons who are homeless may be served by the programs under the NOFA. If your organization wants to serve persons at risk of becoming homeless, persons who are "doubled up," or persons who are "near homelessness," it would need to use another source. HUD administers the Emergency Shelter Grants (ESG) program that can fund homelessness prevention activities. A variety of other programs, such as Section 8, Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and HOME, serve low-income persons who may be at risk of becoming homeless due to poor housing conditions, overcrowding or other reasons. Contact your local HUD field office for more information on these and other programs.

3. Can a project serve a person being discharged from a State mental health institution in a state that requires housing to be provided upon the person's release?

If your State has a policy requiring housing as part of a discharge plan, HUD does not consider those persons homeless since they will be placed in housing arranged by the State. Contact your State department of mental health or similar State agency for information on its discharge policy. If your State does not require housing as part of discharge planning, then those persons being discharged may be served as long as they will be homeless as described in Question #1 of this section.

As a condition for award in the competition, any governmental entity serving as an applicant must agree to develop and implement, to the maximum extent practicable and where appropriate, policies and protocols for the discharge of persons from publicly funded institutions or systems of care (such as health care facilities, foster care or other youth facilities, or correction programs and institutions) in order to prevent such discharge from immediately resulting in homelessness for such persons. This condition for award, in the form of a certification and required by law, is intended to emphasize that States and units of general local government are primarily responsible for the care of these individuals, and to forestall attempts to use scarce McKinney-Vento Act funds to assist such persons in lieu of State and local resources.

4. Can a project serve a homeless youth after he/she becomes a ward of the state, or serve runaway youths?

Project funding may not substitute for the assistance a State is required to provide a youth while in foster care. Project funding can, however, be used to supplement the State's assistance by providing a needed service that is not required to be provided by the State as part of its foster care system. Youth who run away from home are considered homeless if they are residing in those places listed under the criteria in Question #1 of this section, are without resources and support, and are not considered wards of the state.

5. Can a homeless person moving into permanent housing receive services under SHP for an extended period of time?

The person may receive supportive services for the term of the grant if he/she is living with a disability. If the person is not disabled, however, he/she may receive services for only up to six months after moving into permanent housing.

6. Who does HUD consider to be chronically homeless?

A chronically homeless person is an unaccompanied homeless individual with a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years. Disabling condition is defined as "a diagnosable substance use disorder, serious mental illness, developmental disability, or chronic physical illness or disability, including the co-occurrence of two or more of these conditions." To be considered chronically homeless, persons must have been sleeping in a place not meant for human habitation (e.g., living on the streets) or in an emergency homeless shelter during that time.

D. SHP Administrative Costs

1. What is the requirement regarding splitting SHP administrative costs?

This requirement is applicable only to States and units of general local governments who are the applicants for SHP funding for individual projects that will be operated by nonprofit organizations. If SHP funds for administrative costs are awarded to a State or unit of general local government where the projects will be operated by nonprofit organizations, some of these funds must be passed on to the nonprofit organization(s). As stated in the NOFA, this requirement is NOT applicable to the SRO and S+C programs, nor does it apply to applicants that are non-government entities.

2. How much of SHP administrative funds referred to in Question #1 of this section must be passed on to the nonprofit organization(s) who will operate the homeless assistance project(s)?

Administrative funds provided as part of the SHP grant should be split with the nonprofit organization(s) in proportion to the administrative burden borne by them for the SHP project(s). However, HUD will consider States or units of general local government that pass on at least 50 percent of the administrative funds as having met this Congressionally-mandated requirement.

E. Match Requirements

1. Under the SHP, what is the operating cost match requirement? Is this a cash match?

SHP funds may be used to pay for up to 75 percent of the total operating costs of supportive housing for all years of the grant term (this change is not applicable to grants awarded prior to calendar year 2000). For example, if the annual operating costs are $100,000, SHP funds may be used to pay up to $75,000, or 75 percent, of these costs in each year of the grant term and the grantee would be required to pay $25,000, or 25 percent, each year.

The operating costs match to be paid by the grantee is a cash match. Documentation of firm commitments of cash resources for the first year of the grant term and certification that cash resources will be provided in the second and third year of the grant term, if applicable, must be submitted as part of the technical submission application (the form and content requirements of the cash match documentation and certification are explained in the applicable exhibits of the SHP Technical Submission document). In addition, the cash match must be verified in the Annual Progress Report. Donated or in-kind contributions do not count toward meeting this match.

2. Is the SHP operating costs match requirement applicable to projects submitted for renewal funding?

Yes. Projects submitted for renewal are allowed to request up to 75 percent of the actual operating costs of supportive housing for all years of the grant term. However, renewal applicants may not request SHP funds to replace State or local government funds being used in the project.

3. What is the supportive services match requirement for SHP? Is this a cash match?

The 2003 HUD Appropriation Act specifies a 25 percent match of SHP supportive service funding (i.e., for every $100 in SHP funds, the applicant must provide $25 toward supportive services). Another way to look at this is that the SHP request can be no more than 80 percent of the total budget for the supportive services line item (i.e., 80% of the $125 (total budget) in the above example equals $100). If you do not indicate in your SHP application budget that you are supplying the full match required, your SHP request will be reduced so that it is no greater than 80 percent of your total supportive services budget.

The supportive services match to be paid by the grantee is a cash match. Documentation of firm commitments of cash resources for the first year of the grant term and certification that cash resources will be provided in the second and third year of the grant term, if applicable, must be submitted as part of the Technical Submission (the form and content requirements of the cash match documentation and certification are explained in the applicable exhibits of the SHP Technical Submission). In addition, the cash match must be verified in the Annual Progress Report. Donated or in-kind services do not count toward meeting this match.

4. What if we have a renewal project that is requesting supportive services funds? Do those funds need to be matched?

Yes. A renewal project requesting supportive services funds must also meet the match requirement as described in question #3 of this section.

F. Application

1. Is there a firm page limit for Exhibit 1, the CoC narrative?

Yes. Applicants must limit the number of pages in Exhibit 1 to 30 pages, including attachments. HUD will not review the pages exceeding the 30 page limit when rating Exhibit #1. In fairness to larger CoCs, and as noted in the application kit, only the first page of multiple page project priority and leveraging charts, and the first page of the response to items 2.D, 3.E, 3.F, 7.C, and 8.D will count toward the 30 page limit.

2. Is there a formatting requirement for the written commitments claimed on the Project Leveraging chart?

The written commitment must be documented on letterhead stationery, signed and dated by an authorized representative, and must, at a minimum, contain the following elements: the name of the organization providing the contribution; the type of contribution (e.g., cash, child care, case management, etc.); the value of the contribution; the name of the project and its sponsor organization to which the contribution will be given; and, the date the contribution will be available.

Written commitments are not submitted at the time of application. However, they must be submitted for verification by HUD prior to grant agreement execution. Only the value of contributions to a project for which the applicant has a written commitment at the time of application will be counted toward points for leveraging of other resources.

An additional change you should be aware of when filling out the leveraging chart is that the instructions now say that the value of commitments of land, buildings and equipment are one-time only and cannot be claimed by more than one project. For example, the value of donated land buildings or equipment claimed in 2002 or before for a project cannot be claimed as leveraging by that project or any other project in subsequent competitions.

3. Each Exhibit 1, CoC, must be identical for each associated application under a continuum. Would HUD accept the associated applications from a given community if just one of the associated applications contained the entire Exhibit 1, with the other associated applications simply cross-referencing that exhibit?

Yes. HUD will accept associated applications in which Exhibit 1 has been submitted in this way. However, for the application containing the complete Exhibit 1, please state at the beginning of that exhibit: "This is an associated application. Exhibit 1: CoC is being submitted in its entirety only in this application. The applications of all other associated applicants for this same continuum, as listed below, will cross-reference and adopt this exhibit." (List the names of all other associated applicants.)

For each of the associated applications not containing the complete Exhibit 1, please state: "This is an associated application. By agreement between all associated applicants, Exhibit 1: CoC has been submitted in its entirety only in the application from (state applicant's name). We adopt that Exhibit 1 and agree to follow it if our application is selected for funding."

4. If my application is received at the HUD Field Office by the deadline, but not at HUD Headquarters in Washington, D.C., is my application considered "on time" and will it be considered for funding?

No. The determination of an "on time" application is made at HUD Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Your application must arrive by the deadline at HUD Headquarters in order for it to be considered for funding. HUD is constrained by the HUD Reform Act not to accept any applications that arrive after the deadline. (See NOFA for specific application delivery instructions.)

In addition, as stated in the NOFA, reviews will be based solely upon the contents of the application submitted to HUD Headquarters. Application materials submitted to the HUD Field Office and not to Headquarters, even if submitted prior to the deadline, will not be considered in the review of the CoC or of individual projects.

5. The NOFA says that HUD will perform a “threshold” review of my application. What does this mean? What should I be aware of when preparing my application?

HUD reviews your application to ensure that the applicant is eligible to apply for the program it selected and has the requisite capacity to carry it out. It also reviews the capacity of all other organizations involved with the proposed project. It is imperative, therefore, to demonstrate that applicants and any sponsors or other organizations involved have sufficient capacity. Be sure to answer all of the questions under the Experience Narrative section(s) of the program exhibit(s). It is also imperative that nonprofit applicants include documentation demonstrating their eligibility.

HUD also reviews your project exhibit to ensure that your project will only serve homeless people (see Section C, question #1, of this supplement), that what you propose is eligible, and, in the case of projects other than SHP renewals and S+C renewals, that your project meets threshold quality standards. You can help ensure that your project passes the quality review by completely answering all of the applicable Project Narrative questions in the program exhibit. These questions relate directly to the NOFA threshold standards so it is important that you address each and every applicable factor in the Project Narrative(s) and complete the charts for the program for which you are applying.

After consultations with HHS, the individual project quality threshold review criteria have been modified to obtain better information on the nature of the supportive services being proposed by the applicant (i.e., supportive service requests must be cost-effective). In addition, performance review standards have been included for renewal projects and can be used as the basis for rejecting poorly performing projects. Finally, all projects, including renewals (except S+C renewals), must submit a specific plan for ensuring that clients will individually be assisted to obtain the benefits of the mainstream assistance programs for which they are eligible.

Under SHP and S+C, renewal projects are considered to have met most of the threshold requirements through their previously approved grant applications. However, threshold reviews will be done on renewal projects to determine: (1) the eligibility of proposed activities; (2) the eligibility of the population to be served; and (3) the capacity of the applicant and project sponsor, including specific progress data contained in the APR.

G. Continuum of Care Geography

1. What options do communities have in deciding the area to be covered by a CoC?

The primary consideration is to design a system that will most effectively meet the needs of the homeless population. Remember, the single most important factor in receiving funding under this competition is the strength of the CoC as measured against the CoC criteria in the NOFA.

Organizations within any locality may decide to: (a) create a CoC system within its own local boundaries; (b) join nearby communities in creating a multi-county or regional CoC system that fully involves all the communities included and serves the territory of the combined communities; (c) join with the State government or a Statewide organization in creating a Statewide CoC system; or (d) join with the State government or a Statewide organization in developing a CoC system for a specific community and/or county, or an entire region.

Local communities are strongly discouraged from attempting to divide up the geographic area of a locality and developing separate CoC systems with separate applications for each portion of the locality. Such an approach undercuts the concept of CoC because your strategy should be community-wide, comprehensive and inclusive.

2. What options do State governments and Statewide organizations have in deciding the areas to be included in a CoC?

Statewide applicants may:

- a. include the entire area of the state not covered by local CoC strategies in a single application which describes the Statewide CoC system for that entire area;
- b. include a part of the area of the State not covered by local CoC systems in a single application which describes the CoC system for that area, which could include one or more counties not covered by local CoC systems; or,
- c. submit two or more applications, each representing a separate CoC system developed by the State or a Statewide organization and its local partners for different sub-State areas not covered by local CoC systems. Each sub-State area could cover a single county or multi-county area.

The area proposed by a State government or Statewide agency should only include those counties and communities that are fully involved in the development and implementation of the CoC strategy with the State. This involvement should be described in Exhibit 1 of the application.

3. How can a rural community maximize its opportunity for project funding under the NOFA?

Because of their small demographic numbers, rural areas generally will have small pro rata need amounts. In order to maximize its funding potential, a rural area may wish to form a regional CoC system encompassing several contiguous counties. A single pro rata need figure for the combined geography will be calculated by adding the pro rata need figures together for each county. However, all geographic areas included in the regional CoC system need to be actively involved in the development and implementation of the CoC system and this involvement must be described in the CoC narrative.

4. My community is involving the State in its CoC system. Should the community describe its coordination with the State in the community's Exhibit 1? What about the Statewide application, if there is one?

Both the community and the Statewide applications should describe the coordination that has occurred in their respective applications. State support of a local CoC system can be a factor in the success of the local system. However, neither application should include the other as a jurisdiction covered by the other's strategy when describing the geographic area covered by their respective systems.

5. What if a Statewide or regional applicant wants to propose a project in a locality covered by a separate CoC strategy?

When a Statewide or regional entity wants to carry out a project within an area covered by a separate CoC strategy, that project must be included in the application submitted by the local community with the Statewide or regional entity listed as project sponsor and/or applicant. Since such a project would be proposed to fill a gap in a community's strategy, it would be listed only in the local community's CoC priority listing (NOT the Statewide or regional organization's) and would receive a Need score based on the priority listing in that local community's strategy. However, a single HMIS project may cover the implementation of an HMIS across multiple CoCs.

H. Housing Gaps Analysis/Homeless Population and Subpopulations Charts

1. Why were changes made to the Gaps Analysis Chart?

Starting in 2001, HUD began streamlining the Gaps Analysis Chart in response to feedback from CoC planners concerning the burden and utility of the data being collected. We eliminated the priority levels and made the supportive services section optional. A recent Urban Institute study of the Continuum of Care process confirmed the burdens of collecting the needs data and reiterated local concerns about the usefulness of the data being collected and meaningfulness of several elements of the chart.

For 2003, we have limited the Gaps Analysis process to the housing components of the CoC. Summary data from the Fundamental Components of the CoC System (Housing Activity) are used to complete the Housing Gaps Analysis Chart and unmet shelter and housing needs are based upon the CoC's judgment.

To get better and more consistent data on the size and characteristics of the homeless population, we have integrated elements of the 2002 homeless count table and the homeless subpopulation Gap Analysis table into a new Homeless Population and Subpopulation Chart.

Your local or State government planning agencies have information on how to do a survey, as well as the benefits of various survey designs. In addition, HUD, through the Interagency Council on the Homeless, published the manual, Practical Methods for Counting Homeless People, which also describes data collection methods and sources. You may order a copy of this manual by contacting the Urban Institute's publications office on 202-261-5687. The cost is $13.50 and includes shipping and handling charges.

I. Project Priorities

1. Why is HUD asking communities to prioritize their projects on the Project Priority chart in Exhibit 1? Who sets the priorities in a community?

Prioritizing projects should be a logical outcome of the development of a community's CoC strategy and driven by the community's gaps analysis. This means that all organizations in the process have a voice in determining the community's priorities for funding. Priorities should be established through a fair and rational process using objective criteria. Selecting the entity (or entities) that facilitates or leads the selection process is completely up to the community. Different entities will take the lead in different communities.

As stated in the application and the NOFA, HUD expects your community's CoC strategy to be developed by and coordinated with an as inclusive group as possible. Organizations involved in this process should include nonprofit organizations as well as community and faith-based entities, government agencies, public housing authorities, housing developers and service providers, businesses and business associations, law enforcement agencies, hospitals, funding providers, and homeless and formerly homeless persons. These and other organizations should represent and address the specific needs of each homeless sub-population: the jobless, veterans, persons with serious mental illnesses, persons suffering from substance abuse, persons living with HIV/AIDS, victims of domestic violence, runaway youth and others.

2. What if our community decides it is unable to prioritize individual projects? Can we just submit one large request for funding and decide later how to divide the request into projects based on an RFP (Request for Proposals) or similar process?

No. The decision-making process for deciding the types of projects to include on the Project Priorities chart, and each project's priority for funding, must be completed prior to submission. A community cannot undertake an RFP or similar process after submission. If a Project Priorities chart is not submitted, all projects are likely to receive the lowest points for Need. Moreover, the CoC score will also be adversely affected by the absence of priorities.

3. What happens if the dollars requested on the Project Priorities chart do not match the dollars requested in the project budget?

If the project budget shows a higher dollar request than the Project Priorities chart, that amount will be reduced to match the Project Priorities chart. If the dollars requested in the project budget are lower than those shown on the Project Priorities chart, then the lower of the two amounts will be considered by HUD to be the requested amount.

4. What happens if the grant term requested on the Project Priorities Chart does not match the grant term requested in the project budget?

The grant term circled on the project budget will be used. Keep in mind that new SHP projects must have at least a two-year grant term.

J. Pro Rata Need and Need Scores

1. What is "pro rata need"?

Pro rata need is the term used to describe the relative portion of national homeless assistance need assigned to a community or group of communities in HUD's CoC competition. The "pro rata need amount" is the expression of relative homeless assistance need in dollar terms for use in scoring the "need" rating factor within a CoC competition.

2. How is the pro rata need amount determined for a community?

There are several steps HUD uses to reach the final pro rata need amount for each community, as described below:

Step 1 - Preliminary pro rata need: Prior to application submission, HUD calculates a "relative need index" for each CDBG-entitled city and county and each non-CDBG-entitled county in the country. HUD uses the same indices of need in computing each community's index that is used in determining the formula amounts under the CDBG and ESG programs. Each city's and county's need index is then applied against the total amount of funding available nationally in each year's CoC competition to determine the preliminary pro rata need amount for each geographic area.

Following application submission, HUD assigns each city and county identified as participating in a CoC system in all submitted applications its preliminary pro rata need amount. HUD then aggregates the preliminary pro rata need numbers for all the geographic components participating in each CoC.

Step 2 - Renewal-adjusted pro rata need: Each CoC system's preliminary pro rata need amount will then be compared to the SHP project renewal need identified by that CoC in its Project Priorities chart. Only SHP renewal projects eligible for submission in the competition will be counted for this purpose. Similarly, only that portion of submitted renewal requests that are for activities that may be renewed will be counted (i.e., a proposed expansion of a renewal project is not eligible as a renewal and must be presented as a new project and be shown separately on the Project Priorities chart).

When the total one-year renewal need amount of all eligible SHP renewals submitted in the competition exceeds the preliminary pro rata need amount for that CoC, an amount equal to the difference will be added to the CoC's preliminary pro rata need amount. The net effect of this will be that sufficient funds will be provided to every Continuum of Care so that all of their eligible SHP renewals can be funded for one year if they are successful in this year's funding round and if they are placed as top priorities in the application. However, if the total one year amount of eligible SHP renewals in a CoC is equal to or less than that CoC's preliminary pro rata need, no upward adjustment will be made to their pro rata need.

Note: If a Continuum of Care has a total one-year SHP renewal request greater than its preliminary pro rata need AND that CoC requests more than one year of assistance for one or more of its SHP renewals, this may likely result in at least one of their lower priority renewal requests not being funded due to insufficient pro rata need. If you are in this situation, you are urged to limit the term of your SHP renewal request(s) to one year.

No renewal adjustment will be made to a CoC's preliminary pro rata need amount for eligible S+C renewals being funded non-competitively for one year from the separate McKinney-Vento Act account set up for this purpose since their funding does not count against a CoC's pro rata need.

Step 3 - Permanent housing pro rata need bonus: Again this year, HUD will add a bonus amount on top of the renewal-adjusted pro rata need amount for any CoC system that identifies a new permanent housing project passing all threshold requirements as its number one priority project. In such instances, the full amount of such a project's eligible housing activities, up to the lesser of 100 percent of the CoC's preliminary pro rata need or $750,000, will be added to the renewal-adjusted pro rata need amount for that CoC system. Please see Section M, question #3, for examples of the application of the permanent housing bonus.

The dollar amount determined after application of each of these steps, as applicable, is referred to as the "final pro rata need amount."

3. Why does my CoC's final pro rata need amount vary from one year to the next?

As can be seen from the discussion above, final pro rata need is influenced by a number of variables that include: updated census data in the formula used to assign PRN; the total amount of dollars available for the competition nationally; the amount of eligible one-year SHP renewal need identified by your CoC system; and, whether or not your CoC system seeks a permanent housing bonus.

4. How is "pro rata need" used?

HUD takes each CoC community's final pro rata need amount and applies it against the requested amount (as adjusted where necessary) of each project on the community's Project Priority chart. Starting with project priority #1 and proceeding down the chart, skipping individual projects rejected during the threshold review, projects whose requested amounts fall fully within the applicant's CoC pro rata need amount, as adjusted ("first level"), or those where more than one-half the requested amount falls within this "first level" receive the full 40 points available for Need. Continuing down the list, those projects whose requested amounts fall fully within the "second level" (two times the pro rata need amount, as adjusted), or those where more than one-half the requested amount falls within the "second level" receive 15 points. Any remaining projects on the priority list each receive 10 points.

There are only two exceptions to the above procedures. The first exception will occur if the first non-rejected project on any CoC system's priority list fails to meet the criteria for receiving 40 points. In such instances, in order to achieve greater geographic diversity, the total requested amount for the first non-rejected priority project will be reduced to the applicant's CoC final pro rata need amount and assigned 40 points.

The second exception will occur if the total amount that would be awarded for "first level" projects in any CoC following the above procedures exceeds the final pro rata need amount for that CoC by more than $200,000. In such instances, the lowest priority "first level" project being selected will be reduced to the level necessary to ensure that the total amount being awarded for such projects does not exceed the final pro rata need amount by more than $200,000.

5. If five different cities/counties develop a single CoC system, will the pro rata need figures of the five jurisdictions be added together?

Yes. A single final pro rata need figure for the combined geography of the five jurisdictions will be calculated by adding the five separate Need figures. The combined figure will then be used to determine the number of projects on the single Project Priorities chart that will receive 40, 15 and 10 points for Need, as described above. To ensure that the full Pro Rata Need is received, be sure to include all the geography of participating cities/counties on the Application Summary.

6. Given the situation in the previous question, do the projects then have to be located in all five jurisdictions proportionally?

No. The projects do not have to be located in all five jurisdictions nor do they have to be located proportionally. However, the single CoC system must be designed to address the problem of homelessness in all five jurisdictions, and it must be clear in the application the various CoC organizations in all five jurisdictions are actively working together in planning and implementing the CoC. Otherwise, the very important CoC score, which represents up to 60 points, will be adversely affected.

K. Serving Veteran Needs

1. The NOFA mentions veterans groups. How should veterans organizations be involved in the CoC?

Your community process for developing and implementing a CoC system should be comprehensive and inclusive. This means the needs of all homeless sub-populations in your community should be represented in your CoC planning process and project implementation. Because studies show that a significant segment of the homeless population are veterans, it's especially important to involve veterans organizations so that the needs of homeless veterans are addressed appropriately and effectively.

2. Is there any guidance available on developing programs to address the needs of homeless veterans?

In 2002, HUD has released two new technical assistance resources addressing the needs of homeless veterans. The first report, A Place at the Table: Homeless Veterans and Local Homeless Assistance Planning Networks, is designed to help organizations serving homeless veterans to more effectively participate in the homeless assistance program planning networks in their communities and, in particular, to access resources through the Continuum of Care planning process.

The second report, Coordinating Resources and Developing Strategies to Address the Needs of Homeless Veterans, provides information on promising practices for effectively coordinating HUD funding with other resources in order to address the special needs of homeless veterans. Both reports can be found at the HUD homepage at <http://www.hud.gov/homeless/index.cfm> under homeless vets. Printed versions of these 2 reports will be available from Community Connections at 1-800-998-9999.

L. Projects

1. What is the extension policy for SHP grants?

For SHP grants expiring in a given calendar year, grantees that will have SHP or other funds to carry them beyond that calendar year have the option of extending their grant term for up to one year subject to HUD approval. Grant terms may be extended if:

- (1) the renewal project fails to receive funding in a competition and wants to become eligible to apply again in the next competition;
- (2) the grantee of a project currently eligible for renewal fails to apply in a competition but wants to be eligible to apply in the next competition; or
- (3) there is an overabundance of renewal requests in the community in a particular year.

Grant terms may not be extended for more than one year. In addition, extensions for less than a year are acceptable if an entire year is not needed to carry the term into the next calendar year. For example, if a grant term ends in November 2002, it need only be extended for 2 months to carry the grant term into January 2003.

To obtain an extension, grantees must request that their local HUD field office process a grant agreement amendment. Such requests must be submitted before the application deadline. With the request for an amendment, grantees must submit information to the field office demonstrating how they fit one of the criteria above and that they have the financial resources to carry out the project fully in accordance with all of the provisions of their grant agreement during the extension period. (See Section N, question #8, regarding funding sources that may be used to continue a project.)

Please note that if a project fails to be renewed in a competition, it would not be eligible to apply for renewal again in the next competition unless the grantee submits a request for and receives an extension of the project's term.

2. If my project has several structures and we are also providing supportive services, including outreach, how would I include the supportive service on the budget sheets?

New projects will be including a structure budget for each of the structures in your project. If supportive services are also included, then spread the services among the structure budgets so that the structure budgets add up to the total budget.

3. May SHP funds be used in public housing facilities?

Yes. An SHP project may use public housing units only after the PHA disposes of the units, through deed or lease, to the SHP grantee and obtains HUD approval of the disposition. After the disposition, these units can receive no public housing capital or operating subsidy.

4. In the 2003 HUD Appropriations Act, Congress has included a provision to ensure the timely implementation of projects awarded funding in the CoC competition. Does this affect my project?

Recipients conditionally awarded funds in the 2003 CoC funding round must have a fully executed grant agreement or, in the case of the Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation SRO Program, Annual Contributions Contract, by September 30, 2005. If a grant agreement or ACC is not executed by that date, the award will be withdrawn. These funds will remain available for expenditure for five years from that date.

5. If a grantee has money left over after the term of their SHP grant, can the grant be extended in order to spend the remaining money?

SHP projects cannot be extended merely to spend the remaining grant funds. However, if a grant is extended into the next calendar year so that it can become eligible to apply for renewal in the next competition, grant funds remaining from the current term may be used as a source of funding to continue the project during the extension.

6. In the application for SHP, under Section D of Exhibit 2, when would it be appropriate to use the "New" exhibit?

You would use the "new" SHP exhibit in the following situations:

- if you were proposing a brand new project that has not provided services or supportive housing for homeless persons;
- if you are making an addition to an existing non-SHP funded project (only the addition is considered eligible for funding);
- if you are making an addition to an existing SHP funded project (only the addition is considered eligible for funding; see Section N, question #4, regarding how to apply for renewal and expansion of the same project);
- if you are bringing your project up to code (only activities which are code-related are eligible);
- if you are replacing non-renewable Federal or private funds in an existing project; or
- if you are re-starting an SHP project which received SHP funding in the past, but the SHP funding ended when the project term expired, and the project did not continue to provide services or supportive housing for homeless persons.

7. Do new and renewal SHP project applicants use identical forms?

No. There are two exhibits for SHP projects this year. The new projects will use the first exhibit (2) and the renewals will use the second exhibit (2R).

8. Are there any new Lead-Based Paint or Environmental review requirements this year?

No. However, the changes made in 2001 were so important that they are worth repeating here.

The changes in the Lead-Based Paint regulations, which became effective for recipients of funding in the 2001 competition, are extensive. The regulations set hazard reduction requirements that give much greater emphasis than existing regulations on reducing lead in house dust. Scientific research has found that exposure to lead in dust is the most common way young children become lead poisoned. Therefore, the new regulation requires dust testing after paint is disturbed to make sure the home is lead-safe. Specific requirements depend on whether the housing is being disposed of or assisted by the Federal Government, and also on the type and amount of financial assistance, the age of the structure, and whether the dwelling is rental or owner-occupied. For additional information, contact your local Field Office.

In regard to environmental reviews, an important statutory change now provides that for recipients who are private nonprofit organizations or public housing authorities (PHA), the environmental review may be performed by responsible entities (units of general local government in whose jurisdiction the activity is located or States) in accordance with 24 CFR Part 58 - "Environmental Review Procedures for Entities Assuming HUD Environmental Responsibilities" whether or not the grantee is itself a unit of local government or State.

If a responsible entity is either unwilling or unable to perform an environmental review for grantees who are public housing agencies or private nonprofit organizations (Section 58.11), or if HUD determines that the responsible entity should not perform the environmental review on the basis of performance, timing or compatibility of objectives, HUD may designate another responsible entity to conduct the review under Part 58 or may itself conduct the environmental review based on Part 50.

- 9. State and local governments funded in previous competitions were required to certify that they would develop policies and protocols for people being discharged from publicly funded institutions. How do State and local grantees report on our efforts toward implementing the requirements of that certification?

Project applicants who are State or local governments awarded funds in previous competitions are asked in the Project Narrative, Section A, to provide a description of any policies and protocols they have developed/implemented regarding discharges from publicly funded institutions. They should also indicate how these changes have or will prevent such discharges from resulting in homelessness for discharged persons. A copy of the description should be placed in each submitted project.

- 10. Can Section 8 project-based assistance (PBA) or Section 8 tenant-based assistance (TBA) be used in a SHP funded transitional housing program?

No. HUD will not fund new projects mixing Section 8 assistance in SHP-funded transitional projects. Experience with such funding has resulted in many complex operating issues when the two subsidy streams are combined. Section 8 is intended to be a permanent housing resource and should be integrated into the CoC in that manner.

- 11. If my project is a new "Supportive Services Only" project, do I still have to answer all of the narrative questions in the Project Narrative, including the questions related to housing?

Applicants for the Supportive Services Only component of the SHP must answer all items in Exhibit 2, Section A, Project Narrative, except item #3 and #7.

M. Permanent Housing Requirement

- 1. What exactly is the 30 percent permanent housing requirement in this year's competition?

The FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act specifies that S+C renewal grants awarded this year shall be funded from the appropriation. The Act stipulates that after funding the S+C renewals, 30 percent must be awarded to permanent housing projects. The 30 percent requirement applies to the competition overall, not to individual applications. In other words, HUD is not requiring each community to submit 30 percent of its projects as permanent housing. However, in order to meet this statutory requirement, HUD may have to skip over higher scoring non-permanent housing projects in order to fund lower scoring permanent housing projects or, within a continuum, skip over higher priority non-permanent housing projects in order to fund lower priority permanent housing projects. In order to reduce the chances that one of your non-permanent housing projects will be skipped over for funding, every effort should be made to improve your CoC narrative.

Certain projects in the Safe Haven component of the Supportive Housing Program may now be included in the definition of permanent housing for the purpose of determining compliance with the 30 percent permanent housing requirement. Projects now meeting the definition of permanent housing for this purpose are projects under the following programs:

- S+C (new);
- Section 8 SRO; and
- the SHP/Permanent Housing component (new and renewal);
- Safe Haven projects which have the characteristics of the permanent housing component of SHP, including a lease with the resident.

You should be careful in your application to establish that your Safe Haven project qualifies as permanent housing.

2. If HUD finds that it must select for funding lower rated permanent housing projects and, consequently, must skip over non-permanent housing projects above the funding line to meet the 30 percent permanent housing requirement, how will it be done?

Should it be necessary to skip over non-permanent housing projects for funding in order to achieve the 30% requirement, HUD will first skip over new non-permanent housing projects when making project selections in order to meet the 30 percent requirement. If the 30 percent requirement has not been met after skipping over the new non-permanent housing projects, then HUD will skip over non-permanent housing renewal projects. In skipping over new non-permanent housing projects, HUD will begin with the lowest rated (eligible) fundable new non-permanent project at the projected funding line and continue up the rankings until the 30 percent requirement is met. If it is necessary to skip over non-permanent housing renewal projects, HUD will proceed in the same way.

If it becomes necessary to select for funding lower rated permanent housing projects below the funding line as to achieve the 30% permanent housing requirement, these permanent housing projects, in order to be eligible for funding for this purpose, must have been assigned at least 15 Need points and be submitted as part of either a "consolidated" or an "associated" Continuum of Care application that received at least 20 points under the Continuum of Care scoring factor. However, no Continuum of Care application may receive more than 30% above its final pro rata need amount, up to $3 million, for permanent housing projects assigned only 15 Need points ("second-level" projects) that are selected for funding under this procedure.

3. How does the "incentive" for first priority NEW permanent housing projects work?

To help ensure that the 30 percent permanent housing requirement is met and to promote permanent housing generally, an incentive is provided in this year's competition. If a CoC's number one priority project qualifies as an eligible, new permanent housing project, then the full amount of that project's eligible housing activities, up to the lesser of 100 percent of that CoC's preliminary pro rata need or $750,000, will be added to the renewal-adjusted pro rata need amount for the continuum. The project must be specified as the number one priority on the continuum's priority chart and it must be a new project, not a renewal. The project must also be found eligible by passing the project threshold review.

Example #1: A new S+C project is proposed as the number one priority with eligible activities totaling $800,000. The continuum has a preliminary pro rata need amount of $750,000. If this project passes threshold eligibility review, $750,000 of the $800,000 in eligible activity costs for this number one priority project will be added to the initial $750,000 pro rata need amount resulting in a final pro rata need for the continuum of $1,500,000.

Example #2: A new SHP permanent housing project is proposed as the number one priority with eligible housing activities totaling $350,000. The continuum has a preliminary pro rata need amount of $300,000. If it passes threshold eligibility review, one hundred percent of the CoC's preliminary pro rata need ($300,000) of the $350,000 in eligible housing activity costs for this number one priority project will be added to the initial $300,000 resulting in a final pro rata need amount for the continuum of $600,000.

Example #3: A new Safe Haven permanent housing project is proposed as the number one priority with an SHP request for $500,000. The project has a request for $250,000 in acquisition and rehabilitation, and $250,000 in supportive services. The pro rata need for this community is $800,000. In this case, only the eligible housing activity costs ($250,000) will be added to the pro rata need ($800,000) to give a final pro rata need of $1,050,000.

4. Since the law calls for 30 percent of the appropriation for the homeless assistance funds to be used for permanent housing, should our community rank the permanent housing projects at the top of the Project Priorities chart to ensure they are funded?

There is no mandate to adjust your priority list. However, non-permanent housing projects on your priority list may not receive funding if a lower ranked permanent housing project must be funded in order to comply with the statutory requirement.

N. Renewal Funding

1. What is a renewal grant?

A renewal grant is a grant that continues assistance to a project that received funding in the past. For the 2003 competition, a grantee may request renewal funding if it was previously funded under one of the following programs and its grant will expire in calendar year 2004. The following are eligible:

- a. SHP projects, including those renewed before, that are expiring in 2004;
- b. S+C projects expiring in 2004 that will have insufficient funds to continue operating throughout 2004, or S+C projects having been previously extended but which are projected to run out of funds in 2004.

2. Who can apply for a renewal?

Only the current grantee (the entity that has executed the grant agreement with HUD) can be an applicant for a renewal. In order to identify the current grantee as the applicant in this year's competition, a HUD-424 must be included as part of the application. If in doubt, please check with your local HUD field office. Please note that project sponsors and other entities that are not the grantee cannot apply for renewal. The law allows only the grantee to apply.

3. A current SHP grantee decides to add new activities or expand the level of an existing approved activity to its existing SHP funded project (i.e., expand the project) and submits an application requesting funding for these new activities. Would this be considered a renewal grant?

No. In order to be considered an SHP renewal, a project must not include either a new activity or an expansion of an existing activity. An expansion of an existing project is considered a new effort and would be submitted as a new project.

4. Do I have to submit separate project applications to both renew and expand my SHP project?

Yes. If a project is eligible for renewal and the grantee wants to apply for funds to both renew the existing project and to add new activities or expand existing activities to the same project, a separate Exhibit 2, Project Narrative, must be submitted for each. That is, an Exhibit 2 should be submitted requesting the renewal of the existing project and another Exhibit 2 should be submitted requesting funding for only the additional new or expanded activities. In addition, both projects should be listed as separate priorities on the Project Priorities chart in Exhibit 1.

5. How do I determine if my project is eligible for SHP renewal?

To be eligible for an SHP renewal, your current HUD grant must expire during calendar year 2004. A grant is expiring in calendar year 2004 if its term ends during that year. Many grants begin with acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction which must be completed before term activities can begin. Term activities are those that are funded for a period of time specified in the NOFA, grant agreement, or HUD renewal guidance under which the grant was funded – such as one, two or three years. Term activities are leasing, operations, and supportive services. Note: The term of a grant does not begin until the grantee begins to serve participants.

The term ends when the specified time period for the grant elapses. For example, a 1999 SHP grant was awarded a three-year term. The term ends three years from the time the grantee first serves participants and draws SHP funds for leasing, operations or supportive services, not three years from the first draw of SHP funds for any other approved activity.

However, if a grant term has been extended the term ends when the period of extension expires as indicated in the grant agreement amendment. If the grant whose term was extended is subsequently renewed, the renewal grant term begins when the extension period expires.

Contact your local HUD field office to confirm whether your project is eligible for renewal in this competition. Your discussions with the field office should clarify the terms of any extensions, as well as any amendments that have been executed. Any minor changes (less than 10% shift of funds from one activity to another) should be part of your discussion.

6. How much money can I request for my SHP renewal?

The amount an applicant may request for activities eligible for renewal in an existing project (i.e., leasing, operations, supportive services) is based on the average annual amount of the grant being renewed as approved by HUD for these activities in the existing grant's Technical Submission. Renewal funds can only be requested for continuing a previously approved project at the same level of housing and/or services provided in the previous grant. The amount requested for operations may not exceed 75 percent of the total operations budget and the amount requested for supportive services may not exceed 80 percent of the total supportive services budget (see Section E of this supplement regarding match requirements for these activities).

7. Are there any performance standards my renewal grant will have to meet in order to be funded?

Yes. Performance review standards have been included as part of the threshold review of all renewal projects. Renewal projects must evidence satisfactory performance for their existing grant, in HUD's opinion, based upon the substantial achievement of their program goals as reflected in their most recent Annual Progress Report. Renewal projects must also evidence, consistent with the certification required of them that they are coordinating and integrating their program with mainstream resources, that they have assisted clients to obtain the benefits of the mainstream health, social service, and employment programs for which they were eligible. The failure to achieve a satisfactory level of performance for either of these factors may be used as the basis for rejecting the project.

If an APR has not been submitted, a written response describing progress toward goals and coordination of mainstream resources may be submitted.

8. If my application for renewal of an SHP project is not funded in a competition, what sources of funds can I use to continue my project?

To continue an SHP project that was unsuccessful in seeking renewal in a prior competition, you may use any type of funds – Federal, State, local, or private funds – and still compete in the next competition. While normally the use of State or local government funds in a project would prevent future Federal funding, HUD does allow the use of State or local government funds as interim or emergency funding when they are used to continue an SHP project which was unsuccessful in seeking a renewal.

9. Are there any instances in which the scope of an SHP project may be reduced when it is renewed?

Yes. You may proportionately reduce or eliminate elements of the project and the SHP request. However, be aware that this project, as well as all projects, must meet all project threshold requirements as identified in the NOFA.

If the scope of a project is reduced, clearly indicate and fully describe in Section A, Project Narrative, in the application the following: Why it is necessary to reduce the scope of the project; which elements (housing units, services, etc.) of the project will remain and which will be reduced or eliminated; the number of persons served compared to the number in the original grant; and how the proportionate reduction in SHP funds was calculated.

10. Can a CoC decide not to request renewal funds for existing projects, or to give these projects a relatively low priority ranking?

Yes. The need for the continuation of previously funded projects should be considered in the local needs analysis process and a decision should be made locally on the priority to assign to the continuation of a project. HUD does not require that existing projects be renewed or given a higher priority than other projects. However, HUD is very concerned that the ongoing housing needs of persons currently being served by existing projects be taken into account as part of the decision-making process. The CoC should review each project at the time it seeks renewal to determine if the project is performing satisfactorily and is meeting the needs of persons it proposed to serve or whether local needs have changed and other subpopulations or types of assistance should be given preference.

11. What level of detail is needed to complete the Supportive Services and Operations Charts for renewal projects?

The charts enable you to include detailed information you already have available for renewal projects at the time of application, rather than at second submission. Requesting the detail normally included in the Technical Submission package streamlines your planning and eliminates duplication of effort following the conditional award.

12. How do I determine if my project is eligible for a S+C renewal?

Any S+C project whose grant term is expiring in calendar year 2004 and which is projected to run out of rental assistance funds in 2004 is eligible for renewal. (In addition, S+C grants that received an extension previously but which are projected to run out of funds in 2004 are also eligible.) The effective date of the grant (the date the agreement is executed by HUD) is the date used to determine whether the grant (including all of its TRA, PRA and SRA, and SRO component projects) is expiring.

It is entirely possible that within a single grant, one component project may have sufficient funds remaining to continue providing rental assistance beyond 2004 while another component project must be submitted for renewal. Therefore, the status of every S+C component project within an expiring grant should be analyzed separately to determine whether it can be extended or should be submitted for renewal.

HUD has developed procedures for extending the grant term for S+C projects expiring in calendar year 2004 with sufficient funds to carry the project into calendar year 2005. This extension process is independent from the CoC competition. In such a case, contact your HUD field office for information on seeking an extension of your project.

13. Is the special funding of Shelter Plus Care renewals going to continue in the 2003 competition and what will the requirements be for submission of these renewal applications?

Under the 2003 HUD Appropriations Act, eligible Shelter Plus Care Program grants whose terms are expiring in FY2004 and Shelter Plus Care Program grants that have been extended beyond their original five-year terms but which are projected to run out of funds in FY 2004 will be renewed for one-year provided that they are determined to be needed by the Continuum of Care and meet other programmatic and financial standards. In order to meet the Congressional intent that only Shelter Plus Care renewals determined to be needed by the Continuum of Care are funded, all Shelter Plus Care renewals must be submitted as part of a community's Continuum of Care submission and be included on the priority list. Therefore, S+C renewals must be given consideration as part of the local CoC planning process and, if approved for submission by the CoC, must be listed as the last entries on the CoC's Project Priority Chart. (Even though the selection for funding of eligible Shelter Plus Care projects is non-competitive, a Shelter Plus Care renewal application should be submitted by the deadline and in accordance with the other submission requirements described in the NOFA.)

Exhibit "3R" is for Shelter Plus Care renewal projects only. Submit a separate Exhibit 3R for each renewal project. (A renewal project may include no more than one component [i.e., TRA, SRA, PRA] and may be carried out by no more than one project sponsor.)

You may request up to the amount determined by multiplying the number of units under lease at the time of your application for renewal funding by the applicable current Fair Market Rent(s) by 12 months, except for Shelter Plus Care grants having been awarded one year of renewal funding in 2002, the number of units requested for renewal this year may not exceed the number of units funded in 2002. Upon renewal, the unspent balance of funds at the end of the previous grant period will be recaptured. The one-year term of non-competitively awarded Shelter Plus Care renewal projects may not be extended.

14. How much money can I request for my first S+C renewal or subsequent renewal?

For S+C projects seeking their first renewal in this year's competition, the renewal amount may not exceed the number of S+C units under lease at the time of application for renewal funding times the current Fair Market Rent (FMR as published in the Federal Register on September 30, 2002) times 12 months. (S+C renewal funding is now limited to one year by Congress.) However, for Shelter Plus Care grants having been awarded one-year of renewal funding in 2002, the number of units requested for renewal in 2003 may not exceed the number of units funded in 2002. (Please be advised that the actual FMRs used in calculating your grant will be those in effect at the time the grants are approved which may be higher than those found in the September 30, 2002 FR Notice.) The renewal of S+C/SRO projects is not based on the FMR, but on the contract rent.

15. For all S+C projects seeking renewal in 2003, how long must the renewal term be under the S+C program?

For 2003 S+C renewals, the grant term is fixed by law at one year.

16. How does a State apply to renew an SHP or S+C grant that is carried out in a location having a local Continuum of Care?

The State's renewal project would need to be part of the local CoC and entered on the local community's Project Priorities chart.

If the State grant is being carried out in various locations, a State may need to divide the renewal request among several CoC priority lists. For example, a State may have an expiring grant that is being carried out in three places—two cities with their own CoC strategies, and one area that is part of the State's CoC strategy. In that case, the first two projects would appear on those communities' Project Priority chart with the State as the applicant.

O. Homeless Management Information Systems (HMIS)

1. What is a Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) and how can communities use HUD competitive funds to develop them?

A number of communities and States have long-standing comprehensive HMISs that bring computer technology to client intake procedures and permit the tracking and reporting of a client's use of shelter and social services over time. Many other communities are in various stages of implementing such client-level systems. The 2001 HUD Appropriation established as a national goal that every jurisdiction collect unduplicated client-level HMIS data by 2004. In 2001, HMIS activities became eligible under SHP to help facilitate the implementation and operation of a CoC-wide HMIS. Beginning with the 2003 competition, all awarded projects must agree to participate in a local HMIS, when implemented. The HMIS match requirement applies to HMIS activities.

2. What elements of an HMIS are eligible for funding in the competition?

The law specifies that the costs of implementing and operating an HMIS are eligible. The three major eligible HMIS costs are: 1) purchasing HMIS software; 2) leasing or purchasing needed computer equipment for providers and the central server; and 3) staffing associated with operating the HMIS, including training providers, day-to-day administration of the HMIS, analyzing HMIS data and preparing reports for providers, the continuum and HUD using HMIS data.

3. What elements of an HMIS are not eligible?

Planning and development of HMIS systems are not eligible. Planning includes all costs incurred prior to implementation. In addition to planning activities, SHP funds may not be spent on the development of entirely new software systems. There are now sufficient vendors in the marketplace with quality software so that individual communities do not need to finance the development of new software. Finally, SHP funds may not be used to replace State and local government funding for an existing HMIS.

4. Is HMIS now a separate eligible funded activity?

Yes. HMIS projects are categorized as their own type or component, and they have a separate budget line item in the SHP project budget summary.

5. Will HMIS projects count against my housing total in the Continuum of Care exhibit when calculating the "Housing Emphasis" points?

No. HMIS is a line item this year that is separate and apart from supportive services. Only housing activities and supportive services are used in calculating the "Housing Emphasis" points. As such, HMIS requests will not be included in this calculation.

6. How can we use HUD McKinney-Vento competitive funds to implement and operate a community-wide HMIS?

HMIS projects can be shared or dedicated. If the costs of the HMIS implementation are shared, then the project is classified as the type of housing or activity that it is providing. For example, if a transitional housing facility is sharing the cost of the HMIS implementation with other providers, that project continues to be classified as TH.

New this year, however, is the classification of dedicated HMIS projects as their own component, or type in the project exhibit and Project Priorities Chart. In the past, HMIS projects were classified as SSO projects. In order to accurately portray the purpose of these projects, they will be categorized independently from SSO projects. If your project was funded as an SSO HMIS and you are requesting renewal funding, you should classify your project as an HMIS, not an SSO project.

7. What standards will be used for assessing the cost-effectiveness of a proposed new or expanded HMIS?

HUD has not placed any limits on the size of the grant to fund a new or expanded HMIS, given the different number and size of homeless providers, the size of the geography involved, and the varying administrative arrangements required for implementing and operating a CoC-wide HMIS. However, HUD will look at the scope and reasonableness of the proposed activities compared to other communities in the cost-effectiveness review.

P. Strategies for Accessing Mainstream Assistance Programs

1. Why is HUD emphasizing the use of mainstream assistance programs?

Significant resources are needed to address the various housing and supportive service needs of homeless persons nationwide. Congress appropriates several hundred billion dollars each year for mainstream assistance programs, such as Medicaid, TANF, Food Stamps and SSI. Homeless persons are typically eligible for one or more of these major assistance programs, which can provide many of the services that are currently funded by HUD's Supportive Housing Program (SHP). For a number of years, over half of all of HUD's competitive homeless assistance funds were used to provide supportive services, as opposed to housing. The 2001 Competition was the first time in six years that trend was reversed. As providers assist homeless persons in identifying and successfully accessing mainstream assistance programs, the need to use HUD homeless resources to provide supportive services will decline, allowing HUD's funds to be increasingly used to develop more needed housing.

Because of the important role played by these mainstream programs, the law requires applicants to certify that if their organization's project(s) are selected for funding as a result of this competition, they will coordinate and integrate their homeless program with other mainstream health, social services, and employment programs for which homeless populations may be eligible.

2. How can mainstream programs target the needs of people who are homeless?

Conditions of homelessness, such as transience, instability, and lack of basic resources often make it difficult for homeless individuals and families to apply for, retain, and use mainstream services. There are strategies that can be used to improve access and use of mainstream programs for homeless individuals and families. These strategies include but are not limited to:

- Improving integration and coordination of programs, where multiple needs can be addressed at the same time
- Making the process of applying easier or simultaneous for programs
- Improving outreach efforts about program benefits and eligibility requirements to the homeless and holding mainstream programs accountable for serving homeless people
- Training program personnel about the many issues unique to the homeless, such as lack of stable housing, transportation, and access to a permanent mailing address and phone

3. What are some examples of specific activities or coordination of mainstream programs?

Following are several examples some applicants in the FY 2002 competition provided to demonstrate how they were improving integration and coordination of mainstream programs. These are not all-inclusive, but represent a range of actions CoC's might consider.

- Provide case managers to accompany homeless persons to mainstream program offices and help in the eligibility process
- Develop a formal service agreement between homeless service providers and local mainstream program offices
- Create a single intake form to determine eligibility for all mainstream services
- Train mainstream program staff to conduct extensive outreach at area shelters
- Use a mobile support team for outreach and to bring clients in for mainstream services and case management and identify key contact persons to resolve barriers to services
- Distribute information and conduct presentations about mainstream programs at shelters, transitional housing, and places where homeless people congregate
- Place mental health, substance abuse, public housing and public assistance staff on-site at training or employment centers

Q. Strategies for Discharge Planning Policy1. What are some examples of specific discharge planning policies that communities can implement?

Following are several examples some applicants in the FY 2002 competition provided:

- Begin the process of discharge planning when a client enters the institution, not when he/she is ready to be released.
- Require all publicly funded institutions to secure all available entitlements for residents prior to discharge.
- Include all stakeholders in the planning of the policy, including professional representatives from varied disciplines (Justice Services, County Counselors Office, County Police Dept., Dept. of Human Services), municipalities, social service agencies, community organizations, and advocates. Also, these policies must be developed with input from clients. A team approach is the key to planning and implementing a successful discharge policy.

(These certified statements are required by law.)

A. For the Supportive Housing (SHP), Shelter Plus Care (S+C), and Single Room Occupancy (SRO) programs:

1. Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity.

Consolidated Plan Certification

HUD is required by law to obtain Consolidated Plan Certification for each proposed project.

A. Completing the Consolidated Plan Certification

Except as stated below, all projects must have a Consolidated Plan (which is hereafter called the Plan) certification from the applicable State or local government official responsible for submitting the appropriate Plan. States and units of general local government are required to certify both that the project is consistent with the Plan, but also that they are following their currently approved Consolidated Plan. The following instructions indicate the requirement for certification by applicant type for each program.

For SHP, S+C and SRO: Units of general local government that apply must have either an approved Plan or Abbreviated Plan, and therefore must submit a certification for projects located within its jurisdiction. If the application contains projects located outside of the jurisdiction, a Plan certification must be submitted from a jurisdiction with an approved Plan, or if no local Plan covers the project, from the State. A unit of general local government applicant which does not have a Plan should seek the assistance of the local HUD Field Office regarding the development of an Abbreviated Plan.

Insular Areas (America Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, U.S. Virgin Islands) are not required to have a Plan or Abbreviated Plan, and therefore applications submitted from these jurisdictions do not require a certification of consistency with a Plan.

For SHP and SRO: State government applicants must only submit a certification of consistency with the State Plan.

An applicant that is a private nonprofit organization, a community mental health organization that is a public nonprofit organization, or other governmental entity such as a public housing agency must provide a certification from each jurisdiction in which a project will be located. If the local jurisdiction in which the project will be located does not have a Plan or an Abbreviated Plan, then a certification from the State must be submitted. For example, if an application contained projects in jurisdiction A have a Plan and jurisdiction B not having a Plan, then the applicant would have to submit a certification from jurisdiction A and a certification from the State for jurisdiction B.

For SHP Only: Non-State applicants proposing activities which will occur in more than one jurisdiction, only need to obtain a certification from the jurisdiction in which the program is administered if they are proposing: (1) Services Only activities; or

(2) Scattered-Site Leasing where a participant selects the specific rental unit for which SHP rental assistance will be used. For other forms of leasing, submit a certification from each jurisdiction where units are located.

For S+C Only: State government applicants must submit a certification from both the State and the applicable local jurisdiction(s) where the proposed project will be located.

Public housing agencies must provide a certification from each jurisdiction in which a project will be located. If the local jurisdiction in which a project will be located does not have a Plan or an Abbreviated Plan, then a certification from the State must be submitted. For example, if an application contained projects in jurisdiction A having a Plan and jurisdiction B not having a Plan, then the applicant would have to submit a certification from jurisdiction A and a certification from the State for jurisdiction B.

B. Completing the Location Section

For SHP, S+C and SRO: Facility-Based. If the project involves acquisition, rehabilitation, new construction, or leasing (except scattered-site leasing of rental housing units), enter the city and county in which the site is located.

For SHP and S+C: Scattered-Site Leasing. Follow (1) or (2) depending on whether the project sponsor or the participant selects the units.

- (1) If the project involves scattered-site leasing of rental housing units where the project sponsor will select and lease the units, identify each city and county in which the rental units will be located.
- (2) If the project involves scattered-site leasing of rental housing units where the participant will select the rental units, enter the city and county in which the organization that will be administering the rental assistance is located.

For SHP Only: Services Only. If the project is a Services Only project (not expansions of existing projects with additional services), enter the city and county in which the organization that will be administering the project is located.

Please consult your local HUD Field Office for assistance in identifying jurisdictions with a Plan and the official authorized to provide certification. For each required certification, use the exact language as stated on the form. HUD recommends completing the form itself and submitting it as the certification, rather than retyping it.

Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan

- (2) You are updating a prior report as discussed below; or
- (3) You are submitting an application for assistance to an entity other than HUD, a State or local government if the application is required by statute or regulation to be submitted to HUD for approval or for any other purpose.

B. Update reports (filed by "Recipients" of HUD Assistance):

General. All recipients of covered assistance must submit update reports to the Department to reflect substantial changes to the initial applicant disclosure reports.

Line-by-Line Instructions.

Applicant/Recipient Information.

All applicants for HUD competitive assistance, must complete the information required in blocks 1-5 of form HUD-2880:

1. Enter the full name, address, city, State, zip code, and telephone number (including area code) of the applicant/recipient. Where the applicant/recipient is an individual, the last name, first name, and middle initial must be entered.
2. Entry of the applicant/recipient's SSN or EIN, as appropriate, is optional.
3. Applicants enter the HUD program name under which the assistance is being requested.
4. Applicants enter the amount of HUD assistance that is being requested. Recipients enter the amount of HUD assistance that has been provided and to which the update report relates. The amounts are those stated in the application or award documentation. NOTE: In the case of assistance that is provided pursuant to contract over a period of time (such as project-based assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937), the amount of assistance to be reported includes all amounts that are to be provided over the term of the contract, irrespective of when they are to be received.
5. Applicants enter the name and full address of the project or activity for which the HUD assistance is sought. Recipients enter the name and full address of the HUD-assisted project or activity to which the update report relates. The most appropriate government identifying number must be used (e.g., RFP No.; IFB No.; grant announcement No.; or contract, grant, or loan No.) Include prefixes.

Part I. Threshold Determinations - Applicants Only

Part I contains information to help the applicant determine whether the remainder of the form must be completed. Recipients filing Update Reports should not complete this Part.

If the answer to either questions 1 or 2 is No, the applicant need not complete Parts II and III of the report, but must sign the certification at the end of the form.

Part II. Other Government Assistance and Expected Sources and Uses of Funds.

A. Other Government Assistance. This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients for assistance and recipients filing update reports. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity for which assistance is sought. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity. Other government assistance is defined in note 4 on the last page. For purposes of this definition, other government assistance is expected to be made available if, based on an assessment of all the circumstances involved, there are reasonable grounds to anticipate that the assistance will be forthcoming.

Both applicant and recipient disclosures must include all other government assistance involved with the HUD assistance, as well as any other government assistance that was made available before the request, but that has continuing vitality at the time of the request. Examples of this latter category include tax credits that provide for a number of years of tax benefits, and grant assistance that continues to benefit the project at the time of the assistance request.

The following information must be provided:

1. Enter the name and address, city, State, and zip code of the government agency making the assistance available.
 2. State the type of other government assistance (e.g., loan, grant, loan insurance).
 3. Enter the dollar amount of the other government assistance that is, or is expected to be, made available with respect to the project or activities for which the HUD assistance is sought (applicants) or has been provided (recipients).
 4. Uses of funds. Each reportable use of funds must clearly identify the purpose to which they are to be put. Reasonable aggregations may be used, such as "total structure" to include a number of structural costs, such as roof, elevators, exterior masonry, etc.
- B. Non-Government Assistance. Note that the applicant and recipient disclosure report must specify all expected sources and uses of funds - both from HUD and any other source - that have been or are to be, made available for the project or activity. Non-government sources of funds typically include (but are not limited to) foundations and private contributors.

Part III. Interested Parties.

This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients filing update reports. Applicants must provide information on:

1. All developers, contractors, or consultants involved in the application for the assistance or in the planning, development, or implementation of the project or activity and
2. any other person who has a financial interest in the project or activity for which the assistance is sought that exceeds $50,000 or 10 percent of the assistance (whichever is lower).

Note: A financial interest means any financial involvement in the project or activity, including (but not limited to) situations in which an individual or entity has an equity interest in the project or activity, shares in any profit on resale or any distribution of surplus cash or other assets of the project or activity, or receives compensation for any goods or services provided in connection with the project or activity. Residency of an individual in housing for which assistance is being sought is not, by itself, considered a covered financial interest.

The information required below must be provided.

1. Enter the full names and addresses. If the person is an entity, the listing must include the full name and address of the entity as well as the CEO. Please list all names alphabetically.
2. Entry of the Social Security Number (SSN) or Employee Identification Number (EIN), as appropriate, for each person listed is optional.
3. Enter the type of participation in the project or activity for each person listed: i.e., the person's specific role in the project (e.g., contractor, consultant, planner, investor).
4. Enter the financial interest in the project or activity for each person listed. The interest must be expressed both as a dollar amount and as a percentage of the amount of the HUD assistance involved.

Note that if any of the source/use information required by this report has been provided elsewhere in this application package, the applicant need not repeat the information, but need only refer to the form and location to incorporate it into this report. (It is likely that some of the information required by this report has been provided on SF 424A, and on various budget forms accompanying the application.) If this report requires information beyond that provided elsewhere in the application package, the applicant must include in this report all the additional information required.

Recipients must submit an update report for any change in previously disclosed sources and uses of funds as provided in Section I.D.5., above.

Notes:

1. All citations are to 24 CFR Part 4, which was published in the Federal Register. [April 1, 1996, at 63 Fed. Reg. 14448.]
2. Assistance means any contract, grant, loan, cooperative agreement, or other form of assistance, including the insurance or guarantee of a loan or mortgage, that is provided with respect to a specific project or activity under a program administered by the Department. The term does not include contracts, such as procurements contracts, that are subject to the Fed. Acquisition Regulation (FAR) (48 CFR Chapter 1).
3. See 24 CFR §4.9 for detailed guidance on how the threshold is calculated.
4. "Other government assistance" is defined to include any loan, grant, guarantee, insurance, payment, rebate, subsidy, credit, tax benefit, or any other form of direct or indirect assistance from the Federal government (other than that requested from HUD in the application), a State, or a unit of general local government, or any agency or instrumentality thereof, that is, or is expected to be made, available with respect to the project or activities for which the assistance is sought.
5. For the purpose of this form and 24 CFR Part 4, "person" means an individual (including a consultant, lobbyist, or lawyer); corporation; company; association; authority; firm; partnership; society; State, unit of general local government, or other government entity, or agency thereof (including a public housing agency); Indian tribe; and any other organization or group of people.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under this program, please review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following sections of this Program Section. For more information on the program itself including eligible uses of funds, see the HOPWA program regulations at 24 CFR part 574 and the AIDS Housing Opportunity Act (42 U.S.C. 12901), which govern any information contained herein.

Part A: General Program Requirements

The following information provides general guidelines, policies, and requirements for applicants applying for HOPWA competitive funding under this Program Section. Unless otherwise noted, the following provisions apply to applicants of Parts B–D of this Program Section.

I. Available Funding and Additional Resources

(A) HOPWA FY 2003 Competitive Program. Through this Program Section, approximately $28,811,000 in FY 2003 funds is being made available for HOPWA awards. Additional funds may be awarded if funds are recaptured, deobligated, appropriated or otherwise made available during the fiscal year. Priority funding will be given to applicants applying, first, for renewal of expiring permanent supportive housing grants as outlined under Part B of this Program Section. Secondly, if funds remain, HUD will fund applicants for projects working on the collaborative study between HUD and the CDC on the connection of housing and HIV prevention and the progression of HIV Disease as outlined under Part C of this Program Section. Lastly, if funds remain, HUD will award funds for continuing or new projects, as outlined under Part D of this Program Section.

(B) Availability of FY 2003 Formula Allocations. You should consider seeking funds from the formula component of the HOPWA program and from other resources. Ninety (90) percent of the HOPWA program is allocated by formula to recipient states and cities. In FY2003, a total of $259,304,000 was allocated by formula to the qualifying cities for 75 eligible metropolitan statistical areas (EMSAs) and to states for 36 eligible areas outside of EMSAs. All HOPWA formula grants are available as part of the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan. Information on consolidated planning, including HOPWA formula programs and descriptions of previously awarded competitive grants, is available on the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

(C) Availability of National HOPWA Technical Assistance. To apply for HOPWA technical assistance funds, submit an application for funds under the Community Development Technical Assistance (CDTA) part of this notice, which is published elsewhere in this SuperNOFA. The CDTA notice makes available up to $1,987,000 in FY 2003 funds in HOPWA funds to organizations for technical assistance support on a national or regional basis.

II. Application, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

(A) Where to Send Your Application. For this Program Section, see the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures governing the form of application submission (e.g., mailed applications, express mail, or overnight delivery).

(B) Address for Submitting Applications. Your completed application consists of an original signed application and two copies. Submit the original application and one copy to: Department of Housing and Urban Development, Attn: HOPWA, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room 7251, Washington, DC 20410. Submit the additional one (1) copy of your application to the area CPD Field Office or Offices that serve the area in which activities are proposed. For multi-state efforts, you must submit the copy of your application to the Field Office that serves your main office. The list of addresses for area CPD Field Offices is provided as Appendix B of this Program Section of this SuperNOFA. If you propose nationwide activities, you must send all copies to the HUD Headquarters Office. When submitting your applications, please refer to HOPWA, and include your name, mailing address (including zip code), facsimile, email, and telephone number (including area code).

(C) For Applications. All information required to complete and return a valid application is included in the General Section and this Program Section of the SuperNOFA, including appendices. Copies of the General Section, this Program Section, and appendices, including the application, are available and may be downloaded from HUD's website at www.hud.gov. If you are unable to download any of the materials in this SuperNOFA, Program Section and its appendixes, please call the SuperNOFA Information Center at 1–800-HUD–8929 (1–800–483–8929) for a copy of the General Section and this Program Section of the SuperNOFA. Persons with hearing or speech challenges may access the above number via TTY (text telephone) by calling the Federal Information Relay Service at 1–800–877–8339 (this is a toll-free number).

(D) For Further Information and Technical Assistance (TA). You may call the HUD Field Office serving your area, at the telephone number shown in Appendix B, or you may contact the Office of HIV/AIDS Housing, HUD at (202) 708–1934. Persons with hearing or speech challenges may access the above number via TTY (text telephone) by calling the Federal Information Relay Service at 1–800–877–8339 (this is a toll-free number).

(E) Seeking Technical Assistance (TA) in Developing a HOPWA Application. HOPWA TA providers may not provide technical assistance in the drafting of responses to HUD's NOFA due to the unfair advantage such assistance gives to one organization over another. If HUD determines that HOPWA technical assistance has been used to draft a HOPWA application, HUD reserves that right to reject the application for funding. If, after your application has been selected for an award, HUD determines that HOPWA technical assistance was used to draft your application, the award will be withdrawn and you may be liable for any funds already spent.

(F) Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold information broadcasts via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of the application. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, you should consult the HUD Web site at www.hud.gov/grants.

III. Applicable Requirements of the General Section of the SuperNOFA

The provisions outlined within the General Section of the SuperNOFA apply to the HOPWA program unless otherwise stated within this Program Section. Specifically, you are encouraged to review:

(A) Section V: Requirements and Procedures Applicable to All Programs. The threshold requirements in the General Section of the SuperNOFA apply to the HOPWA program and applicants must meet all threshold requirements to receive funding.

(B) Section II: HUD's FY 2003 SuperNOFA Policy Priorities. HUD has identified policy priorities that applicants are encouraged to address in implementing programs funded under this notice. Applicable policy priorities for HOPWA applicants seeking funding under Part D of this Program Section are outlined in Part D, Section III: Policy Priorities. Applicants seeking funding under Parts B and C of this Program Section are not required to address HUD's policy priorities.

(C) Section XI: HUD Reform Act. The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this announcement are explained in the General Section of the FY 2003 SuperNOFA at Section XI (A).

IV. Corrections to Deficient Applications

See Section VIII: Corrections to Deficient Applications of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

V. Award Modifications

After reviewing each application, HUD reserves the right to take each of the following actions:

(A) Make Award Adjustments. HUD reserves the right to make award adjustments as outlined in Section VI (F), Adjustments to Funding, of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(B) Add Project Outcome Funding. HUD reserves the right to ensure that each grant receives up to $50,000 for collection of data on project outcomes. If an applicant fails to request this level of funding for this activity, HUD reserves the right to add such funding to the selected application.

(C) Not to Duplicate Continuum of Care Projects. HUD reserves the right to ensure that activities funded under the FY 2003 Continuum of Care will not duplicate new or continuing activities funded under this competition.

VI. Statutory Certifications

HOPWA applicants are not required to provide the forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of the SuperNOFA unless stated below. The following certifications must be included with your application. All certifications and forms, except those found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, are included in the appendixes to the HOPWA section of the NOFA.

(A) Certifications Found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA

(1) Consolidated Plan Certification (HUD-2991). Except as stated below, you must include a Consolidated Plan certification from the applicable state or local government official responsible for submitting the appropriate plan. If your project will be carried out on a national basis or will be located on a reservation of an Indian tribe, Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, or the Northern Mariana Islands, you are not required to include a Consolidated Plan certification with your application. The authorizing official from the state or local government must sign this certification.

VII. Program Requirements

(A) Nonprofit Organization Requirements. To be eligible as grantee or project sponsor, you must satisfy the requirements of 24 CFR 574.3. Your application must establish both that you are a nonprofit organization and that your organizational documents include a purpose of significant activities related to providing services or housing to persons with HIV/AIDS.

If you do not qualify as a nonprofit organization, you are not eligible to receive funds and serve as the grantee or as a project sponsor. However, you may collaborate with eligible nonprofit organizations or with a government agency that applies for the grant and assist them, for example, in planning for the proposed activities, identifying needs in your community and identifying eligible persons who will be assisted. In addition, you may do work under contract with a grantee for services funded by this grant.

(1) We will accept as evidence of your nonprofit status:

(a) A copy of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ruling providing tax-exempt status under Section 501(c) (3), (4), (6), (7), (9) or (19) of the IRS code; or

(b) A ruling from the Treasury Department of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico granting income tax exemption under section 101 of the Income Tax Act of 1954, as amended (13 LPRA 3101); or

(c) Documentation showing that the applicant is a certified United Way agency; or

(d) All of these:

(i) A certification by the appropriate official of the jurisdiction under whose laws the nonprofit was organized that your organization was so organized and is in good standing;

(ii) A certification from a designated official of the organization that no part of the net earnings of the organization inures to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or individual; that the organization has a voluntary board; and that the organization practices nondiscrimination in the provision of assistance; and

(iii) An opinion letter from a CPA that the nonprofit has a functioning accounting system that provides for each of these (the letter must mention all of them):

(1) Accurate, current, and complete disclosure of the financial results of each federally funded project;

(2) Records that identify adequately the source and application of funds for federally funded activities;

(3) Effective control over and accountability for all funds, property and other assets;

(4) Comparison of outlays with budget amounts;

(5) Written procedures to minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds to the recipient from the U.S. Treasury and the use of funds for program purposes;

(6) Written procedures for the determining the reasonableness, allocability and allowability of costs; and

(7) Accounting records including cost accounting records that are supported by source documentation.

(2) We will accept as evidence of your purpose, a certified copy of the organization's articles of incorporation and by-laws which includes in the organization's purposes significant activities related to providing services or housing to persons with HIV/AIDS.

(B) Performance Benchmark Requirements. All grantees receiving funds under this Program Section are expected to meet the following benchmark requirements. If a selected project does not meet the appropriate performance benchmark, HUD reserves the right to cancel or withdraw the grant funds.

(1) Execution of Grant Agreement. Selected applicants must execute grant agreements by the earlier of September 25, 2004 or the first anniversary of HUD's announcement of the awards. HOPWA grants are obligated upon grant execution and the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations Resolution ("FY 2003 Appropriations Act") requires HUD to obligate funds by September 30, 2004.

(2) Disbursement of Funds. Grantees receiving awards under this Program Section should fully expend their grants no later than three years following the effective date of the grant agreement. The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1991 requires expenditure of all HOPWA funds awarded under the FY 2003 Appropriations Act by September 30, 2009. After September 30, 2009, any unexpended funds (whether obligated or unobligated) shall be canceled and, thereafter, shall not be available for obligation or expenditure for any purpose.

(3) Site Control Through Acquisition or Lease. If you acquire or lease a site, you are required to gain site control within one year from the date your selection letter was signed by HUD.

(4) Rehabilitation or New Construction. If you propose to use HOPWA funds for rehabilitation or new construction activities, you must begin the rehabilitation or construction within 18 months, all rehabilitation or construction work must be complete within 3 years from the date your selection letter was signed by HUD.

(5) Project Operations. If funds are used for operating costs of existing housing facilities, these funds must be used within the three year use period for the operation of this award and such activities must start no later than 12 months from the date your selection letter was signed by HUD, and completed within 36 months from this date. If funds are to be used for operating costs, in connection with the new construction or substantial rehabilitation of housing facilities, the amount of funds designated for operating costs must be limited to the amount to be used during the portion of the three-year period for which the facility will be operational and assisting eligible persons. Delays in the project's development activities, such as the planned completion of the construction or rehabilitation activities, could result in the loss of funds designated for operating costs, if such funds remain in excess after the authorized use period for this award. For example, if your project expects to take two years to complete the rehabilitation of the facility, any operating costs could only be requested for use in the remaining one year of the three year operating period for this award.

(6) Six-Month Report. You must provide an initial report to the Field Office and HUD Headquarters on the startup of the planned activities within six months of your selection. Outline your accomplishments and identify any barriers or issues for which the Department may provide assistance.

(C) Program Guidance.

(1) Program Operating Year. Grants awarded through this Program Section must designate the 12-month operating year, which indicates the start and end dates of the term of the grant, at the signing of the grant agreement. The operating year may begin within four months of the signing of the grant agreement or as specified by HUD at the time of award. The operating period begins the day when participants begin to receive housing or supportive services, or for capital development activities at site control or the start of rehabilitation or new construction activities. The operating period is a 12-month period for which grantees report annual accomplishments. Grantees are required to submit annual progress reports to HUD within 90 days following the end of each operating year.

(2) Incorporation of Mainstream Resources. To the extent possible, HUD encourages projects to incorporate mainstream resources into their project plans to maximize the benefit of requested HOPWA funds. Mainstream resources may include private, other public, and mainstream services and housing programs that provide benefits to eligible persons. Applicants are encouraged to create community wide strategies to coordinate assistance to eligible persons through these mainstream programs. These mainstream programs include Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, Food Stamps, and services funded through the Mental Health Block Grant and Substance Abuse Block Grant, Workforce Investment Act and the Welfare-to-Work grant program. Under each part of this Program Section, as an applicant, you may be asked to address how your project is incorporating mainstream programs to benefit eligible persons.

VIII. Other Requirements

(A) Environmental Reviews. All HOPWA assistance is subject to the National Environmental Policy Act and applicable related federal environmental authorities. In accordance with Section 856(h) of the AIDS Housing Opportunities Act, environmental reviews for HOPWA activities are to be completed by responsible entities (including units of general local government, states, Indian tribes, and Alaska Native villages) in accordance with 24 CFR part 58. Applicants or grantees that are not states or units of general local government must request the unit of general local government to perform the environmental review. This statutory provision supersedes the environmental provisions in the HOPWA regulation at 24 CFR 574.510. HOPWA grantees and project sponsors may not commit or expend any grant or nonfederal funds on project activities until HUD has approved a Request for Release of Funds and environmental certification from the responsible entity (other than those listed in 24 CFR 58.22(c), 58.34 or 58.35 (b)). The expenditure or commitment of HOPWA or nonfederal funds for such activities prior to this HUD approval may result in the denial of assistance for the project under consideration.

(B) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. See Section V (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for the information on how to meet this requirement.

(C) Local Resident Employment (Section 3 Requirements). For grants in excess of $200,000, to the extent that grant funds are used for housing rehabilitation (including reduction and abatement of lead-based paint hazards, but excluding routine maintenance, repair, and replacement) or housing construction, then it is subject to Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 135. Section 3 requires that economic opportunities shall, to the greatest extent feasible, be given to low- and very low-income persons, particularly those who are recipients of government assistance for housing, and to businesses that provide economic opportunities for these persons (also see Section V(E) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA).

IX. Authority

This program is authorized under the AIDS Housing Opportunity Act (42 U.S.C. 12901). The regulations for HOPWA are found at 24 CFR part 574.

Part B. Renewal Projects

HUD will consider applications under this part that are renewals of expiring HOPWA competitive grants whose primary purpose is the provision of permanent supportive housing.

I. General Policies on Renewal of Permanent Supportive Housing Grant—Purpose

Under the provisions of the FY 2003 Appropriations Act, the Secretary is required to renew qualifying expiring contracts for permanent supportive housing on a priority basis. Grants funded under prior HOPWA competitions that meet the stated eligibility requirements below and meet all program requirements will be given priority renewal by HUD. Applications will be reviewed on a pass/fail threshold review system and are not required to address the departmental policy priorities described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. If you have an expiring grant, which is not for permanent supportive housing, you may apply for funding under Part D of this Program Section.

II. Eligibility of Applicants and Grants

To be eligible for priority renewal under this part, you must meet all of the following eligibility requirements:

(A) Eligible Permanent Supportive Housing Grants. To be eligible, your project must provide permanent supportive housing to eligible persons. Permanent supportive housing is housing in which the eligible person has a continuous legal right to remain in the unit and which provides the eligible person on-going supportive services through qualified providers. HUD will consider a grant to be providing permanent supportive housing if 51% or more of HOPWA program activity funds are used: (1) To provide permanent housing where on-going supportive services are made available through other resources; or (2) to provide supportive services where permanent housing is provided through other resources. To establish eligibility, provide documentation of the following:

(1) Certification of the Provision of Permanent Housing. You must certify that at least 51% of the HOPWA program activity funds awarded to your grant were and are being used to provide permanent supportive housing to eligible persons. To determine whether your grant meets this test, use the Permanent Supportive Housing Worksheet found in Appendix A and submit it with your certification. The test is based on the HOPWA funded program activity costs approved in the original application or, as amended by HUD, excluding administrative costs and project outcome funding. To be counted, the grant funds must be used to provide the housing or to provide supportive services to eligible persons living in permanent housing.

(2) Documentation of Other Resources. If your project relies on other state, local, federal, or private resources to provide the permanent housing or supportive services portion of your project, you must demonstrate that the other resources will continue to be available for that purpose throughout the term of the renewal grant. The continuing assistance must have been documented within the original application to HUD and be used in conjunction with requested HOPWA funds. Evidence of continuing assistance must be provided, as follows:

(a) Permanent Housing. Permanent housing provided through other resources must be documented in the renewal application through a leveraging letter. The leveraging letter must outline the amount of funds for the housing to be provided, the term the funds will be made available, and be signed by the organization providing such housing or funding for the housing. See Part D, Section V, Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources, for acceptable leveraging letter examples.

(b) Supportive Services. Supportive services provided through other resources must be documented through a commitment letter(s), which outline(s) the type of support that will be provided to eligible persons, the organizations providing such support, and the length of time such supportive services will be available. Supportive services must be available to eligible persons in permanent housing throughout the term of the renewal grant.

(3) Evidence of Permanent Client Occupancy. Except for funds used for short-term mortgage, rent and utility payments, you must show evidence that the client has a continuous legal right to remain in the unit or property and has access to on-going supportive services provided through qualified providers. You must include in your application a copy of the standard lease form used for residents of the project. It must be for a term of at least one year, be renewable by the tenant and may only be terminable by the landlord for cause.

(B) Eligible Expiring Grant. To be eligible, the HOPWA grant must be an expiring grant, which is defined as a grant that will not have sufficient funds to continue activities until September 30, 2004, if not awarded additional federal funds. The applicant must demonstrate to HUD that all funds awarded in the grant it seeks to renew will be expended within a three-year period (as measured by reimbursements filed with HUD under the financial system, PAS). HUD may deobligate any amount of HOPWA grants funds that have been renewed on this basis and have not been expended within three (3) years from the date of obligation.

(C) Eligible Prior Grants. To be eligible, prior grants must have been selected by HUD for funding under HUD's SuperNOFA process in 1999, 2000, or 2001 and must not have been renewed through a previous competition. Grants selected in 1998 were required to operate and complete activities before the end of fiscal year 2002. Grants funded in 1998 are not eligible for renewal, unless the grantee documents that HUD approved a grant extension of the project that would allow for its continued operations in the federal Fiscal Year 2003 or 2004.

(D) Eligibility based on Achieving Measurable Progress. To be eligible, prior grants must have operated with measurable progress, defined as not evidencing weak performance. Weak performance consists of sanctions or unresolved monitoring findings during the active competitive period, from the date of publication of this Program Section until the selection of applications, or other HUD knowledge of unresolved problems. Unresolved problems may include that planned activities remain delayed in their implementation, a significant number of units are vacant, annual progress reports were not filed with HUD by the application due date under this Program Section for renewals, or significant citizen complaints are unresolved or not responded to with justified reasons. Weak performance is also evident if more than 50% of grant funds remain unexpended on the first day of the month in which the application due date for renewals under this Program Section falls (as measured by reimbursements filed with HUD's financial system, PAS).

(E) Eligible Applicant for Renewals. You are eligible to apply for renewal of a prior HOPWA grant only if you have executed a grant agreement for the project directly with HUD. Project sponsors are not eligible to apply for renewal grants. The application for renewal must be submitted by the grantee. HUD will reject applications submitted by ineligible applicants. If you have questions about your eligibility to apply, contact the local HUD field office.

(F) Eligible Project Sponsors. The project should also continue with the same project sponsors, as documented in the prior HOPWA application or amendments to that application as approved by HUD. HUD will consider the merits for changing a project sponsor if the new sponsor evidences the capacity to enhance project operations or improve responsiveness to eligible persons. Such examples for changing a project sponsor may be that a new project sponsor has greater capacity to conduct program activities or a prior project sponsor is no longer in operation or has merged with another entity.

(G) Ineligible Grants and Projects. You are ineligible if any of the following apply:

(1) Expired Grants. Your grant expired in federal Fiscal Year 2002 or earlier, i.e. all funds were expended (as measured by PAS) by September 30, 2002, or only a residual amount that is less than one percent of the amount of the prior grant remains, are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under this notice.

(2) Prior Grants. Your grant was awarded under the 1992–1996 HOPWA competitions. These grants were required to complete activities within three years of executing the grant agreement.

(3) Non-Permanent Supportive Housing Projects. Projects primarily offering short-term, transitional, or emergency housing options are not eligible. Applicants with existing HOPWA projects that do not qualify for priority renewal under this part, may apply for continuing funding under Part D: New and Continuing Projects section of this Program Section.

III. Renewable Activities and Amount of Renewals

Eligible grants will receive renewal funding on approved eligible activities, as follows:

(A) Eligible Renewal Activities. The activities to be renewed must be on-going forms of support, such as rental assistance, short-term rent, mortgage and utility payments, operating costs for housing facilities, leasing of housing facilities, supportive service costs, housing information services, resource identification/technical assistance for community residences activities and administrative costs. Additionally, applicants must request up to $50,000 in project outcome funding as a part of their renewal budget request.

(B) Ineligible Renewal Activities. Funds for acquisition, new construction or for rehabilitation costs will not be renewed. These capital development activities are not on-going or available for additional sites. If you wish to undertake additional capital development activities or to add funding for new activities, such as operating costs and services, you must apply under Part D.

(C) Amount of Renewals. Renewal projects may only request renewal funds for continuing a previously approved project at the same level of housing and/or services provided in the previous grant. Proposals to expand or significantly alter a funded-project must apply under Part D for the new activities or the expanded part of the project.

(D) Project and Activity Funding. Renewal funding must not exceed 120% of the amount originally awarded for an activity, but may be less than the amount originally awarded, including any amendments affecting this amount that were approved by HUD prior to the publication of this Program Section. However, the total activity costs may not exceed $1,200,000. The limits on administrative costs, three (3) percent for grantees and seven (7) percent for project sponsors, continue to apply. In addition, renewal grantees must add up to $50,000 to the renewal award for the purpose of the collection of data on program outcomes.

(E) Annual Amounts. As an applicant for renewal funding, you must specify the annual amount needed to continue each activity and specify the number of years, up to three, for your request by completing the HOPWA Renewal Budget Form (Appendix A). You should describe your plan for continued operations in the Executive Summary section of your application, including any significant reduction to your prior award level.

IV. Selection Criteria and Process

(A) Selection Process. To the degree that funds are available, the Department will select for funding all renewal requests from applicants that meet program requirements and pass a threshold review for a need for renewal. In the case that the amount requested for renewal is less than the amount available under this notice, HUD will apply the remaining funds, first, to applicants under Part C and then, second, Part D. If the amount of the request for renewal activities is greater than the amount made available by this notice, HUD will select all of the approvable applications and allocate awards to each based on a pro rata reduction to the amount available under this notice to ensure that all eligible and performing renewal projects receive funding that allows their continued operation.

(B) Selection Criteria. HUD will conduct a threshold review of all renewal applications based on the following criteria:

(1) Eligibility. HUD will review your eligibility to apply for renewal funding under this program as described above under Part B, Section II of this Program Section, Eligibility of Applicants and Grants.

(2) Organizational Capacity. If a new project sponsor is added, HUD will review the project sponsor's capacity to conduct program activities.

(3) Provision of Permanent Supportive Housing. HUD will review whether your project provides permanent supportive housing.

(4) Need for Renewal. HUD will review your need for renewal, and how this project has operated with measurable progress, as described below in the Need for Renewal Narrative.

(5) Standard Eligibility Threshold Requirements. HUD will also review your application to ensure that your project meets the standard eligibility threshold requirements as described in Part A, Section III (A), above.

(C) Application Contents. Applicants are requested to submit the following information:

(1) Application for Federal Assistance (Form HUD-424). You should complete Items 1 through 23 with the following additions:

(a) Item 12—The applicable letters are “A” for state; “B, C, or D” for a unit of local government; or “N” for Nonprofit;

(b) Item 14—Enter U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development or HUD if not preprinted;

(c) Item 15—Enter 14–241 and the title “Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS Program” or “HOPWA” for the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance;

(d) Item 20—You must complete the budget on page 2 and the HOPWA Renewal Project Budget Form. Please make sure that both the Total Amount on page 2 and the “Total Budget” section on the HOPWA Renewal Project Budget Form are the same. In the event that the total budgets are in conflict, HUD will refer to the HOPWA Project Budget form.

(e) Item 21—Check “No”.

(2) Executive Summary and Synopsis. On no more than five (5) double spaced pages, please provide an Executive Summary of the renewal project, beginning with a two to three sentence synopsis of the focus of your project. In the Executive Summary, please provide the name of the grantee and any project sponsors, along with contact names, phone numbers, and e-mail address.

(3) Narrative Statements. Your application must include the following narrative statements:

(a) Organizational Capacity Narrative. If a new project sponsor(s) is added to the proposal, please describe the capacity of the project sponsor(s) to conduct program activities. Please provide this information on no more than two (2) double-spaced typed pages. If you are adding more than one project sponsor, you may add two (2) additional pages per project sponsor. Address the extent to which the project sponsor(s) have the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement your proposed activities in a timely manner. HUD will review the project sponsor’s ability to develop and operate your proposed program. With regard to new project sponsor(s), HUD will consider:

(i) Past experience and knowledge in serving persons with HIV/AIDS and their families;

(ii) Past experience and knowledge in programs similar to those proposed in your application;

(iii) Experience and knowledge in monitoring and evaluating program performance and disseminating information on project outcomes; and

(iv) Past experience as measured by expenditures and measurable progress in achieving the purpose for which funds were provided.

(b) In reviewing the elements of organizational capacity under paragraph (a), immediately above, HUD will consider the extent to which your proposal demonstrates:

(i) The knowledge and experience of the proposed project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants, and contractors in planning and managing the kind of activities for which you are requesting funds. The project sponsor will be reviewed in terms of recent, relevant, and successful experience of staff to undertake eligible program activities, including experience and knowledge in serving persons with HIV/AIDS and their families.

(ii) The project sponsor’s experience in managing complex interdisciplinary programs, especially those involving housing and community development programs directly relevant to the work activities proposed and carrying out grant management responsibilities.

(iii) If the project sponsor received funding in previous years in the program area for which you are currently seeking funding, the sponsor’s past experience will be reviewed in terms of its ability to attain demonstrated measurable progress in the implementation of the grant award. Measurable progress is defined as:

(1) Meeting performance benchmarks, as applicable, in program development and operation;

(2) Meeting project goals and objectives, such as, that the number of persons assisted was comparable to the number that was planned at the time of application;

(3) Submitting timely performance reports; and

(4) Expending prior funding as outlined in the prior proposal with no outstanding audit or monitoring issues.

(c) Provision of Permanent Supportive Housing Narrative. On no more than three (3) double-spaced pages, demonstrate how your project provides permanent supportive housing through HOPWA and other resources. Include the type of assistance and number of housing units being provided and a description of the supportive services provided. Additionally, your description should outline how HOPWA and other funding, if applicable, work together to provide permanent supportive housing. In addition, you must provide the following:

(i) Certification of the Provision of Permanent Housing. A certification, in the form provided in Appendix A, that at least 51% of the HOPWA funds awarded to the project were and will continue to be used to provide permanent supportive housing to eligible persons. To determine whether you can make this certification, complete the “Permanent Supportive Housing Worksheet” provided in Appendix A.

(ii) Documentation of Other Resources. If your project relies on other state, local, federal, or private resources to provide the housing or supportive services, you must document that such assistance will be provided throughout the term of the renewal grant. For information on acceptable forms of evidence, see Part B, Section II (A)(2).

(iii) Evidence of Permanent Housing. Except for funds used for short-term mortgage, rent and utility payments, you must provide a copy of the standard lease used for residents of the project. The lease must be for a term of at least one year, be renewable by the tenant and may be terminated by the landlord for cause.

(d) Need for Renewal Narrative. Please address the following on no more than three (3) double-spaced pages:

(i) Measurable Progress. Please demonstrate the need for renewal funding and how this project has operated with measurable progress. Measurable progress is defined as not failing or not evidencing weak performance in:

(1) Meeting performance benchmarks, as appropriate, in program development and operation;

(2) Meeting project goals and objectives, such as, that the number of persons assisted is comparable to the number that was planned at the time of the application;

(3) Submitting timely performance reports; and

(4) Expending over 50% of prior funding at the beginning of the month for the due date for renewals (as measured by reimbursements filed with HUD’s financial system, PAS.).

(ii) Need for Renewal Chart. Additionally, you should complete the HOPWA Need for Renewal Chart, which demonstrates that prior grant funds will expire by September 30, 2004. You must complete the HOPWA Need for Renewal Chart (Appendix A), as described below:

Line 1. Indicate the amount of the prior HOPWA award: _____

Line 2. Indicate the amount expended as of 9–30–02: _____

Line 3. Subtotal: subtract line 2 from line 1: _____

Line 4. Indicate the amount to be expended in FY2003: _____ (By September 30, 2003)

Line 5. Indicate the amount to be expended in FY2004: _____ (By September 30, 2004)

Line 6. Subtotal: subtract lines 4 and 5 from line 3: _____

Notes: If the subtotal on Line 6 is greater than zero, you are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under this notice. Also, note that continued use of prior funds may require that you file an extension request with the area CPD Field Office. Further, if the subtotal on Line 3 is zero or a residual amount that is less than one percent of the amount on Line 1, you are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under this notice. In reviewing the information that you provide in this chart, HUD will determine your eligibility for renewal funding based on financial records for reimbursement of expenditures that are filed under HUD's financial system (PAS).

(4) HOPWA Renewal Budget. Please complete the HOPWA Renewal Budget Form (Appendix A). See Part B, Section III, Renewable Activities and Amount of Renewals, for details on renewal funding.

(5) HOPWA Renewal Project Form (Appendix A). Complete the form including the following:

(a) Project Sponsor. You must identify any organization that will receive HOPWA funds as a project sponsor and the amount of funds to be received.

(b) Non-profit Status. If not previously submitted to HUD through the prior HOPWA application or if a change occurred in non-profit status, non-profit grantees or project sponsors must submit documentation verifying your non-profit status, as outlined under Part A, Section VII (A).

(c) Service Areas. Your application must identify the area(s) in which you are proposing to offer housing and other assistance.

(6) Statutory Certifications. The renewal application should include the required certifications as described under Part A, Section VI, Statutory Certifications. After your entire application is assembled, please mark each exhibit with an appropriately numbered tab and number every page of the application sequentially. Complete the HOPWA Renewal Application Checklist found in Appendix A to this Program Section of the SuperNOFA. Attach the HOPWA Renewal Application Checklist to the front of your application.

V. Additional Renewal Information

As an applicant of renewal funding, you are encouraged to read Part A: General Program Requirements at the beginning of this Program Section. This section outlines submission details, technical assistance, and statutory requirements for using HOPWA funds.

PART C: FEDERAL COLLABORATION WITH CDC TO STUDY THE CONNECTION OF HOUSING AND HIV

I. Purpose

This notice implements an initiative by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Study the Connection of Housing and HIV. The study will provide scientific insight into the housing and medical challenges of persons who are living with HIV/AIDS who are unstably housed. Under Part C of the HOPWA program notice, HUD is establishing our part of the collaboration with the CDC in a competitive award for Special Projects of National Significance (SPNS). Due to its innovative nature and potential for replication, the study is likely to serve as an effective model for analyzing the impact of tenant-based rental assistance on the progression of HIV disease in eligible persons that are homeless or unstably housed.

HUD's Office of Community Planning and Development, Office of HIV/AIDS Housing, and Office of Policy Development and Research will work with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for HIV/SDT/TB Prevention, Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention, on this research. The effort will study the effects of stable housing on the progression of HIV disease for persons with HIV/AIDS as well as its effects on the prevention of HIV infection on similar socio-economic populations. HUD and the CDC propose to coordinate the evaluation of project grants under HUD's Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA) Program and the CDC's HIV Prevention programs. Over a three-year period, the collaboration will systematically test the impact of providing housing for eligible persons on HIV risk behavior among HIV affected individuals. It will also test the impact of housing and prevention services on HIV negative family members residing with the HOPWA eligible persons as against an unhoused comparison group. The comparison group will receive referrals to case management and HIV prevention intervention funded by CDC or through access to related health care programs that provide HIV prevention services, treatment adherence programs and periodic health assessments, including the use of blood draws to measure HIV health status. Protocols for these activities and information on required client consent for participation will be available from CDC. Personal information on study participants will remain confidential, although related nonpersonal aggregated data will be used as part of the study. Study participants will not be subject to any experimental treatments under this study. A cost-benefit analysis will comprise one new and important aspect of the research.

HUD expects that the housing assistance provided to the participating eligible persons in this grant will be coordinated with resources from other sources, including the use of HOPWA formula and competitive projects or other federal, state and local, private funds, in conjunction with related health-care and other supportive services funded under the Ryan White CARE Act. Given the amount of housing assistance funds available under this award, HUD encouraged interested applicants to fund supportive services activities from non-HOPWA sources.

II. Eligible Applicants

To apply, you must:

- (A) Be a formula grantee;
- (B) be in good standing, as defined below at Section V(A)(2);
- (C) at the time of application and for a minimum period of two years prior, have administered formula funds for tenant-based rental assistance in compliance with 24 CFR 574.320;
- (D) have an unmet housing need of at least 500 eligible persons and at least 187 housing units available for those eligible persons within your jurisdiction; and
- (E) be able to provide a comparison group of at least 187 unhoused eligible persons for the CDC study throughout the study period. Note that members of the comparison group may not be required to remain unhoused in order to participate in this study. Comparison group members will be eligible to receive housing or supportive services as they become available within the jurisdiction.

III. Study Requirements

HUD has established the following requirements:

- (A) Housing placement will be carried out via an open enrollment method (e.g. lottery or random election process).
- (B) Under the supervision of the CDC or its contractor, grantees will facilitate and support collection of extensive outcome evaluation data, facilitate client involvement in HIV/AIDS prevention and treatment adherence programs, facilitate periodic client health assessment done by the CDC and research staff, participate in a multi-site collaboration, and facilitate eligible persons' awareness of the study and the option to participate for the clients who meet the research study eligibility criteria. In connection with any data collection activities, grantees will be required to obtain the eligible person's consent before disclosing to the CDC or its contractor any personally identifiable information about the person, including, but not limited to, medical, financial, or educational information.

(C) Study participants will be limited to HOPWA eligible persons who are homeless or at severe risk of homelessness. For the purpose of this study, "homeless" refers to eligible persons who are sleeping in emergency shelters or other facilities for homeless persons, or places not meant for human habitation, such as cars, parks, sidewalks, or abandoned buildings. This term also includes eligible persons who ordinarily live in such places but are in a hospital, or other institution on a short-term basis (30 consecutive days or less). For the purpose of this study, "at severe risk of homelessness" refers to eligible persons who are frequently relocated or who move between temporary housing situations, so that housing is neither appropriate nor stable.

(D) The applicant must either provide appropriate supportive services in connection with the rental assistance or ensure that appropriate services are provided from other sources.

(E) All persons receiving rental assistance under Part C will be advised that such rental assistance is connected to participation in the CDC study, and will be required to consent to such participation prior to receiving rental assistance. Participation in the CDC study will be voluntary. Refusal to participate in the CDC study will not affect a person's eligibility to receive housing or supportive services, as they may become available, under the grantee's HOPWA formula grant. Eligible persons may also apply for other available housing outside that provided under Part C.

IV. HUD Award

HUD will award:

(A) Up to $1,200,000 for tenant-based rental assistance and supportive services (with at least $800,000 to be used for long-term rental assistance);

(B) Up to three (3) percent of your total award for grantee administrative cost; and

(C) Up to seven (7) percent of the amount each project sponsor receives for project sponsor administrative cost.

HUD will not award funds for project-based rental assistance, new construction, acquisition, rehabilitation or conversion, lease or repair of facilities, short-term rent, mortgage and utility assistance, resource identification, operating costs, local evaluations or technical assistance.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Threshold Review.

The Department will conduct a threshold review of all applicants requesting funding under Part C. Applicants failing to meet the threshold review requirements will not be awarded project funding. Threshold review will consist of:

(1) Eligibility. You must be a HOPWA formula grantee.

(2) Good Standing Review. You must have no sanctions or unresolved monitoring findings during the active competitive period, from the date of this notice until the selection of grants, or other HUD knowledge of unresolved problems. Unresolved problems include that planned activities remain delayed in their implementation, a significant number of units are vacant, annual performance reports were not filed with HUD at the time of the due date for applications, or significant citizen complaints are unresolved or not responded to with justified reasons. Grants in default of the grant agreement or with unresolved management issues will not be awarded project funding.

(B) Application Selection Process and Procedures for the Rating of Applications.

HUD will rate all of the applications based on the factors listed below. The points awarded for the factors total 100. After rating, all applications will be placed in the rank order of their final score for selection.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Project Sponsors and Relevant Organizational Experience (30 Points)

You will be rated on the extent to which you and any project sponsor have the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed project over the three years of the project. HUD will award up to 30 points based on your and any project sponsor's ability to operate the proposed program. These activities include providing rental assistance for HOPWA eligible persons with appropriate management oversight, and that will provide adequate coordination with the planned study by the CDC over the three-year time period of this grant. Identify all relevant experience in undertaking projects similar to the HOPWA funded activities involved in this study.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

Up to 20 points will be awarded for this factor. Applicants must assure HUD that there are documented unmet housing needs of at least 500 HOPWA eligible individuals for rental assistance in this area. Applicants must demonstrate that with the rental assistance provided in this demonstration project and other related resources, the area housing market can provide available units for at least 187 new HOPWA eligible persons to be enrolled in the study and that a waiting list or comparison group of at least an equal number of persons with unmet housing needs is likely to continue in the area during the study period.

To receive the maximum points, the applicant must demonstrate that substantial housing and related service needs of eligible persons targeted by the project you propose are not being met in your area of service and that reliable statistics and data sources (i.e. Census, health department statistics, research, scientific studies, along with Needs Analysis of Consolidated Plan and/or Continuum of Care documentation) show this unmet need.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (20 Points)

This factor addresses the method by which your plan for housing, client outreach and selection, project management and data collection is consistent with the identified elements of the study. HUD will award up to 20 points based on the extent to which your plan evidences a sound approach for conducting the HOPWA activities in a manner that is responsive to eligible persons, and that your plan for project coordination will ensure that the housing component of this study are implemented in a clear and sound manner when compared to other applications.

You will be rated based on how well you will conduct outreach to unmet homeless or unstably housed persons who have a severe risk of homelessness and are living with HIV/AIDS. You will be rated on the extent to which you have coordinated your activities and the activities of your sponsors with other organizations to provide rental assistance in connection with access to appropriate health care and other supportive services for likely participants in this study. The highest rated applications will define a clear collaborative effort that you and your sponsors have taken with related programs including coordination with eligible persons, advocates, HOPWA and/or Ryan White CARE Act planning bodies, AIDS Drug Assistance Programs, homeless assistance programs, or other mainstream housing, health and human services efforts that assist persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families.

You will be rated on how well your management plan for this study clearly defines how you would manage the rental assistance and any related activities and the outreach and placement of eligible persons for this study using some type of open enrollment method (e.g., lottery or random method). You will also be rated on how well you will manage your housing assistance program in coordination with the research efforts by the CDC to help achieve the objectives of this study. You will be rated on how your management oversight of project sponsors is conducted and how well your plan to ensure that the requirements established by HUD and the CDC are followed.

Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points).

Up to 10 points will be awarded for this factor. You will be rated on the extent to which other resources will be committed for use in conjunction with these HOPWA funded demonstration activities, including cash resources and in-kind contributions, such as the value of services or materials provided by volunteers or by other individuals or organizations.

Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (20 Points).

Under this factor, HUD will award 20 points based on how well your application demonstrates a commitment to ensuring that your goals and your performance will be assessed in a clear and effective manner. HUD will analyze your plan to implement and manage the HUD/CDC demonstration project goals. These goals include: Facilitating and supporting the collection of outcome evaluation data; facilitating periodic client health assessments done by CDC research staff; participation in a multi-site collaboration; and facilitation of the potential eligible persons awareness of the study and their option to participate. Identify benchmarks and interim activities or performance indicators of your program that will facilitate you and your sponsors in obtaining these goals for the demonstration project. HUD will award the highest points to applications that demonstrate an evaluation plan that will objectively measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements and a model that provides for the dissemination of information from the lessons learned from your effort on this project.

VI. Selection

HUD reserves the right to select the highest rated applicants in ranking order. HUD may consult the CDC to determine the rating of applications. In the event of a tie between applications in a category of assistance, HUD reserves the right to break the tie based on the criteria found in Section V(C) of Part D of this NOFA. In the event that a selected applicant is unable to provide the required number of eligible households to participate in the CDC study within one year from the date of grant agreement execution, HUD reserves the right to deobligate any remaining grant funds.

VII. Application

To apply for funding you must submit the following:

(A) Application for Federal Assistance (Form HUD-424). You should complete Items 1 through 23 with the following additions:

(1) Item 12—The applicable letters are “A” for state; “B, C, or D” for a unit of local government;

(2) Item 14—Enter U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development or HUD if not preprinted;

(3) Item 15—Enter 14-241 and the title “Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS Program” or “HOPWA” for the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance;

(4) Item 20—You must complete the budget Funding Matrix on page 2.

(5) Item 21—Check “No”.

(B) Narrative of Rating Factors. Your response to the five (5) rating factors must be doubled-spaced, typed pages no more than approximately twenty-five pages in length.

(C) Executive Summary and Synopsis. On no more than three (3) double-spaced pages, please provide an Executive Summary of your organization and provide the name of the grantee and any project sponsors, along with contact names, phone numbers, and e-mail address.

Part D: New and Continuing Projects

I. Program Purpose

Funds under this part are to be used to support the Department’s national goal of increasing the availability of decent, safe, and affordable housing in American communities. The statutory purpose of the HOPWA program is meeting the housing needs of low-income persons with HIV/AIDS and their families. Projects selected for HOPWA awards will be funded to provide housing and related supportive services for eligible persons under two categories of assistance:

(A) Grants for Special Projects of National Significance (SPNS) that, due to their innovative nature or their potential for replication, are likely to serve as effective models in addressing the housing and related supportive service needs of low-income persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families; and

(B) Grants for projects that are part of Long-Term Comprehensive Strategies (Long-Term) which provide housing and related supportive services for low-income persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families in areas that are not eligible for HOPWA FY 2003 formula allocations found in Appendix C of this Program Section of this SuperNOFA.

II. Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Eligible Applicants and Project Sponsors

(1) States, units of general local government, and nonprofit organizations may apply for SPNS grants;

(2) States and units of general local government may apply for grants for projects under the Long-Term category of grants, if proposed activities will serve areas that were not eligible to receive HOPWA formula allocations in Fiscal Year 2003. Nonprofit organizations are not eligible to apply directly for the Long-Term grants, but may serve as a project sponsor for an eligible state or local government grantee.

(3) You must identify your project sponsors in your application. Project sponsors cannot be identified at a later date through such processes as an RFP or other selection process.

(B) Eligible Activities

(1) HOPWA Activities. Eligible activities with their standards and limitations may be found in the HOPWA regulations at 24 CFR part 574. A copy of the regulations may be downloaded from the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>. You are encouraged to review the HOPWA regulations before seeking funding.

(2) Additional Guidance on Use of Program Funds.

(a) Housing Assistance. To receive the maximum points under the rating criteria, your project must clearly address the housing needs of eligible persons. If you are proposing emergency or transitional housing assistance, your plan should include linkages to or the provision of permanent supportive housing.

(b) Supportive Services. Many of the eligible persons who will be served by HOPWA may need services in addition to housing. It is important that you design programs which enhance access to those needed services, including access to health-care, AIDS drug assistance, and other services funded through the Ryan White CARE Act or other federal, state, local or private funds. While HUD recognizes that there are many ways to ensure that eligible persons receive the services they need, to the extent possible, HUD encourages you to develop housing programs which do not require participation in services as a part of your or your project sponsor's tenancy requirements. Further, to help ensure that selected projects address housing related purposes, no more than 35 percent of the proposed budget for program activities can be designated for supportive services costs.

(c) Resource identification. HUD will not select under this notice an application that is solely directed at providing resource identification activities, since national HOPWA technical assistance funds are being made available under the Community Development Technical Assistance (CDTA) part of this Program Section for this purpose. You may propose a resource identification or technical assistance component in your application, if the amount of funds designated for these activities are less than 20 percent of the proposed program activity costs.

(d) Other Activities. As authorized by statute, you may propose other activities in your application, if approved by HUD. HUD will not approve proposals that depend on future decisions on how funds are to be used, for example, a proposal to establish a local request-for-proposal process to select activities or project sponsors.

(e) Project Outcome Funding. You must request funding to conduct data collection on project outcomes. The budget provides that up to $50,000 may be added to collect information and report to HUD on the outcomes of your service delivery model. You must propose data collection activities in your application. Project outcome activities include:

(i) Defining monitoring questions that will be addressed and examined during the project period;

(ii) Specifying outcome measures;

(iii) Developing instruments to assess project outcomes and systems outcomes;

(iv) Training project staff in the collection of data, including the preparation of the standard HOPWA Annual Progress Report to HUD;

(v) Monitoring data collection activities to assure that submissions are complete and accurate, including data coding and entry;

(vi) Summarizing data collected; and

(vii) Participating in HUD-sponsored collaborations and HUD-designated training events in order to prepare and disseminate the findings of reports on project accomplishments and lessons learned.

Applicants may include an expert third-party to conduct project outcome activities, but grantees are encouraged to train staff internally. Such training will increase the internal capacity of your organization and your partner organizations by learning how to make use of project outcome data in operating and adjusting assistance provided to eligible persons.

(3) Maximum Grant Amounts. The maximum amount that you may receive is $1,200,000 for program activities (e.g., activities that directly benefit eligible persons), irrespective of the number of applications that you submit. You may also add-on up to 3 percent of this program activities amount for grantee administrative costs and, if your program involves project sponsors, add-on up to 7 percent of the amount they receive for their administrative costs. In addition, you must add up to $50,000 for project outcome activities.

III. Policy Priorities

(A) Departmental Policy Priorities. As outlined in Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, HUD has identified policy priorities that applicants are encouraged to address through the proposed plans. HUD has identified two Departmental policy priorities as being applicable to the HOPWA program. Applications for HOPWA funding will receive a rating point for each applicable Departmental policy priority initiative addressed through the proposed program activities and performance goals and objectives. Applicants must demonstrate how these priorities will be addressed through the Soundness of Approach Section of the application as outlined under Rating Factor 3. One Rating Point will be awarded to each of the following addressed priorities:

(1) In accordance with Section II (C) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, for applicants seeking HOPWA funds for capital development activities, including rehabilitation or new construction, you are encouraged to:

(a) Institute visitability standards in these activities undertaken with HOPWA funds. Visitability standards allow a person with mobility impairments access into the home, but do not require that all features be made accessible.

(b) Incorporate universal design in the construction or rehabilitation of housing undertaken with HOPWA funds. Universal design provides housing that is usable by all without the need for adaptation or specialized design.

(2) For applications in which the grantee, project sponsor(s), or other collaborating organizations meets the definition of a faith-based, other community-based, or grassroots organization as defined in Section II (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Program Policies—Target Populations. The Department has been advised by persons living with HIV/AIDS, HIV/AIDS housing providers, and national organizations, of the continuing disparity in accessing housing, health-care, and HIV/AIDS treatment among underserved populations, as well as health-related disparities that result from limited access to health-care, treatment and other support for persons living with HIV/AIDS. Applications seeking to provide housing assistance and related supportive services to one or more of the following underserved populations will receive one point for each priority addressed in the application. To receive this consideration, you must demonstrate the need of the special population in your area under the Need/Extent of the Problem section of your application as outlined under Rating Factor 2, as well as, demonstrate your response to this need under the Soundness of Approach section of your application as outlined under Rating Factor 3.

HUD reserves the right to select the highest rated application (but not one that is rated at less than 75 points) that demonstrates that the planned HOPWA activities and activities supported by leveraged funds, will serve one of the following special populations of HOPWA eligible persons. If funds are insufficient to select one of each of these two special demonstration grants, HUD's selection priority will be in the order listed:

(1) Persons with HIV/AIDS and their families who are living in the Colonias. Primarily the southwest border area of the United States, the Colonias are home to persons living in extreme poverty and poor housing conditions. With the limited access to HIV/AIDS housing, services, healthcare, and treatment, persons living with HIV in the Colonias do not receive the necessary care and treatment. HUD is encouraging applications that strive to meet the needs of eligible persons living in the Colonias. Applicants seeking funding to serve persons with HIV/AIDS within the Colonias must propose a service area which meets the definition of Colonias found in the General Section II (E) of the SuperNOFA.

(2) Persons with HIV/AIDS experiencing chronic homelessness. A chronically homeless person is defined as: "an unaccompanied homeless individual with a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least 4 episodes of homelessness in the past 3 years." Persons who are infected with HIV are more likely to be able to follow complex treatment regimens if they have a reliable address where they can be reached by care providers, a safe place to keep medications, refrigeration for drugs that require it, and other necessities that many of us take for granted. HUD is encouraging applications that strive to create additional permanent housing for persons living with HIV/AIDS that are experiencing chronic homelessness. Applicants should work with their local Continuum of Care Plans to create this permanent housing for persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) Performance Measures and Project Goals and Objectives. You must use HUD's required performance measures, as detailed below, that will show your accomplishments in using HOPWA funds to expand the housing options that benefit eligible persons. You must also establish individual goals and objectives for your proposal. They should be specific, achievable and measured within set time periods. Your individual goals and objectives should result in possible findings on the successes and lessons learned in undertaking your activities that would be shared with other communities. In designing your proposal, please use the following:

(1) Required HOPWA national performance goal. Your proposed activities must increase the amount of housing assistance available to eligible persons to enable them to achieve housing stability and access to health-care and related supportive services. Your activities should also address the challenge of homelessness for person living with HIV/AIDS and their families by helping them move into permanent housing and strengthen community linkages for HOPWA eligible persons and their families to keep them from slipping back into homelessness (one extra priority point will be awarded—see above—Section III (B)).

(2) Measurements of Performance. After each year of operation, you must report on the number of housing units that were provided with HOPWA and other funding, and the number of additional persons served with related supportive services. HUD will measure your progress and achievements in evaluating your performance on your HOPWA grant.

(B) Descriptive Budget. You must provide a description of each of your requested budget items and how the funds will be used, including each amount of requested funding for you and your project sponsors, and a description of how each line item will relate to eligible HOPWA activities as defined in Part D, Section II (B) of this Program Section. You are expected to match requested funds to specific goals and objectives in your project. See Appendix D.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) HOPWA Application Threshold Reviews. HUD will review your HOPWA application to ensure that:

(1) Your application meets the threshold requirements found in Section V (B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(2) Your application contains all required certifications as outlined in Part A, Section VI (A) of this Program Section: Forms, Certifications, and Assurances.

(B) Procedures for the Rating of Applications. HUD will rate all HOPWA applications based on the factors listed below.

The points awarded for the factors total 100. In addition, bonus points for projects in RC/EZ/EC areas may be available under Section VI (C) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. After rating, all applications will be placed in the rank order of their final score for selection within the appropriate category of assistance.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Project Sponsors and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

Address the following factor on not more than five (5) double-spaced, typed pages. For each project sponsor, you may add two additional pages. This factor addresses the extent to which you and any project sponsor have the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement your proposed activities in a timely manner. If you will be using project sponsor(s) in your project, you must identify each project sponsor in your application. HUD will award up to 20 points based on your and any project sponsor's ability to develop and operate your proposed program in relation to which entity is carrying out an activity.

(a) With regard to both you and any project sponsor(s), HUD will consider:

(i) Past experience and knowledge in serving persons with HIV/AIDS and their families;

(ii) Past experience and knowledge in programs similar to those proposed in your application;

(iii) Experience and knowledge in monitoring and evaluating program performance and disseminating information on project outcomes; and

(iv) Past experience as measured by expenditures and measurable progress in achieving the purpose for which funds were provided.

(b) In reviewing the elements of paragraph (1), HUD will consider:

(i) The knowledge and experience of the proposed project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants, and contractors in planning and managing the kind of activities for which you are requesting funds. You and any project sponsor will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful experience of staff in undertaking eligible program activities;

(ii) Your and/or the project sponsor's experience in managing complex interdisciplinary programs, especially those involving housing and community development programs directly relevant to the work activities proposed and carrying out grant management responsibilities.

(iii) If you and/or the project sponsor received funding in previous years in the program area for which you are currently seeking funding, you and your project sponsor's past experience will be evaluated in terms of the ability to attain demonstrated measurable progress in the implementation of your grant awards. Measurable progress is defined as:

(1) Meeting applicable performance benchmarks in program development and operation;

(2) Meeting project goals and objectives, such as, that the number of persons assisted was comparable to the number that was planned at the time of application;

(3) Submitting timely performance reports; and

(4) Expending prior funding as outlined in the prior proposal with no outstanding audit or monitoring issues.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

Address this factor on not more than five (5) double-spaced, typed pages. Up to 20 points will be awarded for this factor.

(a) AIDS Cases. (5 Points) Up to five points will be determined by the relative numbers of AIDS cases and per capita AIDS incidence within your service area, in metropolitan areas of over 500,000 population and in areas of a state outside of these metropolitan areas, in the state for proposals involving state-wide activities, and in the nation for proposals involving nation-wide activities. Your application must define a planned service area. To determine these points, HUD will obtain AIDS surveillance information from the Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

(b) Description of Unmet Need. (5 Points) Up to five points will be awarded based on demonstration of need for funding eligible activities in the area to be served. To receive the maximum points, demonstrate that substantial housing and related service needs of eligible persons and/or the target population, as outlined in Part D, Section III (B), are not being met in the project area and that reliable statistics and data sources (i.e. Census, health department statistics, research, scientific studies, and Needs Analysis of Consolidated Plan and/or Continuum of Care documentation) show this unmet need. To receive the maximum points, show that your jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance plans (if homeless persons are to be served), and comprehensive HIV/AIDS housing plans are applicable to your project and identify the level of the problem and the urgency of the need.

(i) If you apply for a SPNS grant, you must describe a need that is not currently addressed by other projects or programs in the area. Also describe any unresolved or emerging issues and the need to provide new or alternative forms of assistance that, if provided, would enhance your area's programs for housing and related care for persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families; or

(ii) If you apply for a project that is part of a Long-Term Comprehensive Strategy in an area that does not receive a HOPWA formula allocation, you must describe the need that is not currently addressed by other projects or programs in the area. You must also describe any unresolved or emerging issues and/or the need to provide forms of assistance that enhance the community's strategy for providing housing and related services to eligible persons.

(iii) HUD will evaluate your presentation of statistics and data sources based on soundness, reliability, and the specificity of information to the target population and the area to be served. If you propose to serve a subpopulation of eligible persons on the basis that these persons have been traditionally and are currently underserved (e.g., persons with multiple disabilities including AIDS), your application must document the need for this targeted effort through statistics and data sources that support the need of this population in your service area.

(c) Need in Non-Formula Areas and Need for Renewals. (5 Points)

Under this criterion, HUD will award points under the following two circumstances:

(i) Five points will be awarded if your SPNS application proposes to serve eligible persons in an area that does not qualify for HOPWA formula allocation; or

(ii) Up to five points will be awarded, if you propose to continue the operations of HOPWA funded activities that have been supported by HOPWA competitive funds in years immediately prior to this application and that have operated with measurable success. To receive the maximum points, you must describe what unmet need would result if funding for the project was not renewed from this federal funding and describe your efforts to secure other sources of funding to continue this project. You must also show that you operated with measurable progress and your previous HOPWA-funded activities have been carried out and are nearing completion of the planned activities in a timely manner. Measurable progress is defined as:

(1) Meeting performance benchmarks, as appropriate, in program development and operation;

(2) Meeting project goals and objectives, such as, that the number of persons assisted is comparable to the number that was planned at the time of application;

(3) Submitting timely performance reports; and

(4) Expending 50% of prior funding by the application due date of this Program Section of the SuperNOFA.

(d) Highest Rated in a State or the Nation (for nationwide activities).

(5 Points) After rating of all other factors, HUD will award five points to help achieve greater geographic diversity in funding activities within a variety of states. Under this criterion, five points will be awarded to the highest rated SPNS and Long-Term applications in each state and to the highest rated SPNS application among the applications that propose nationwide activities.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach: Model Qualities and Responsiveness/Coordination/Sustainability (40 Points)

Address this factor on not more than twenty (20) double-spaced, typed pages. Include the HOPWA Budget Forms found in Appendix D. This factor addresses the method by which your plan meets your identified needs. HUD will award up to 40 points based on the extent to which your plan evidences a sound approach for conducting the HOPWA activities in a manner that is responsive to the needs of eligible persons and that your plan for project coordination, and its sustainability after the period of the award, will offer model qualities in providing supportive housing opportunities for eligible persons, when compared to other applications and projects funded under previous HOPWA competitions.

(a) Responsiveness/Coordination/Sustainability (20 Points). HUD will award up to 20 points (Responsiveness—10 Points, Coordination—5 Points, and Sustainability—5 Points) based on how well your project plans respond to the unmet needs in housing and related supportive services for the eligible population, including target populations outlined under Part D, Section III. You should demonstrate the extent to which you have coordinated your activities and the activities of your project sponsors with other organizations that are not directly participating in your proposed work activities. This involves organizations with which you share common goals and objectives in assisting eligible persons. You must demonstrate the extent to which your program exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on federal funding and relying more on state, local, and private funding so your activities can be continued after your grant award period is completed. In order to ensure that resources are used to their maximum effect within the community, it is important that you demonstrate involvement in other state, local, and private funding arenas.

(i) Responsiveness (10 Points). To receive the highest ratings in this element your application must address:

- The projected number of persons to be served through each activity for each year of your program;
- The projected number of housing units, by type, to be provided through your project, by year, over a 3-year period; and
- The specific organizations that will provide housing, supportive services, or other activities either through an agreement with your organization or through funding from your project.

Include a description of the roles, and responsibilities of your project sponsors and/or other organizations within your project plan and how these will be coordinated in conducting eligible activities. To receive the maximum points for your project plan, you must explain and describe the eligible activities you or your project sponsor intend to conduct, where these activities will take place (either on site or at another location), and how those activities will benefit eligible persons. Please describe:

(1) Housing Activities. You must demonstrate how the housing needs of eligible persons will be addressed through one or more of the HOPWA eligible activities or through other resources and how such activities are coordinated with other housing assistance. Your plan for housing assistance must include:

(a) Linkage to or the provision of permanent supportive housing. You must describe how eligible persons will access permanent housing options through your project or through specific commitments or other sustainable linkages with other community housing providers, even if the focus of your project is emergency or transitional assistance.

(b) Description of housing site. You must describe any appropriate site features, including accessibility, visitability, and access to other community amenities associated with your project.

(c) A development and operations plan. You must describe a development and/or operations plan for the housing assistance you are proposing to provide. For rental assistance programs, this will include your plan for providing rental assistance, proposed housing sites, and length of stay. If you are proposing to use HOPWA funds for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction activities, your plan must also document that you have secured funding sources (if applicable), identified a site(s), and must provide rehabilitation/construction timelines.

(d) Operational Procedures. Describe your outreach, intake, and assessment procedures, as well as how eligible persons will receive housing support with access to medical care and other supportive services. Describe the use of housing being funded from other sources, and how your project provides for on-going assessments of the benefits received by eligible persons. Include a description of how a client moves through the housing program from outreach, intake, client assessment, the delivery of housing services, the use of emergency, transitional or permanent housing, and, if appropriate, the outplacement to more self-sufficient independent housing.

(2) Supportive Services Activities. You must describe how the supportive service needs of eligible persons will be addressed from HOPWA or other sources by describing the type of supportive services that will be offered directly by the program and/or how services will be accessed and coordinated from other sources. Explain the connection of these services in helping eligible persons obtain and/or maintain housing. You are reminded that supportive service costs may represent no more than 35 percent of your program activity costs. In describing your supportive services delivery plan explain:

(a) How eligible persons will have access to mainstream programs that offer healthcare and other supportive services, as discussed in Part A, Section VII (C);

(b) How eligible persons will participate in decision making in the project operations and management;

(c) Your plan for delivering supportive services through a comprehensive plan that shows how eligible persons access medical care and other supportive services to address their needs.

(3) Additional Activities. You must describe your plan for utilizing other requested HOPWA funds (described at 24 CFR 574.300(b)). Explain how these activities will be integrated into your overall plan in the provision of housing and related supportive services to eligible persons.

(4) Other Activities. As authorized by statute and in addition to the activities at 24 CFR 574.300(b), you may propose other activities in your application, if approved by HUD. You must describe the reason of the other activities and the benefits likely to occur if authorized.

(ii) Coordination (5 Points). You should demonstrate the extent to which you have coordinated your activities and the activities of your project sponsors with other organizations that are not directly participating in your proposed work activities. This involves organizations for which you share common goals and objectives. You will be rated on the extent to which you demonstrate you have:

(1) Coordinated your proposed activities with those of other groups or organizations within the community or region prior to submission, to best complement, support, and coordinate all housing and supportive service activities;

(2) Developed your project through consultation with other organizations, groups, or consumers involved with area HIV/AIDS housing and service planning, including planning under the Ryan White CARE Act and other federal planning. The highest rated applicant will demonstrate that the project is integrated with HUD's planning processes, such as the jurisdiction's Consolidated Planning process or the community's Continuum of Care

Homeless Assistance planning process (if homeless persons are to be served by proposed activities);

(3) Coordination with other HUD-funded programs outside of the Consolidated Planning Process, for example accessing additional housing resources through a local public housing authority;

(4) Coordination with mainstream resources including private, other public, and mainstream services and housing programs. To achieve the maximum points, applicants must evidence explicit agency strategies to coordinate client assistance with mainstream health, social services and employment programs for which eligible persons may benefit.

(iii) Sustainability (5 Points). The goal of sustainability is to ensure that your activities can be continued after your grant award is complete. Demonstrate the extent to which your program exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on federal funding and relying more on state, local and private funding so your activities can be continued after your grant award period is completed. In order to ensure that resources are used to their maximum effect within the community, it is important that you demonstrate involvement in other state, local, and private funding arenas. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which you have:

(1) Developed linkages, or described specific steps you will take to develop linkages with other activities, programs or projects through meetings, information networks, planning processes, letters of participation or coordination, or other mechanisms, to coordinate your activities so solutions are holistic and comprehensively involved with other state, local, or private entities;

(2) Demonstrated how planned activities may be sustained through other resources in order to provide a comprehensive and responsive range of housing and related supportive services to meet the changing needs of persons with HIV/AIDS.

(b) Model Qualities (20 Points). HUD will award up to 20 points based on your service delivery plan and how well it will serve as a model with exemplary qualities to address the ongoing housing and supportive service needs of eligible persons within a replicable operational framework. To receive the maximum points, you must offer a housing plan that describes the following:

(i) Policy Priorities. If applicable to your application, describe how you will meet the Departmental policy priorities emphasized in Part D, Section III of this Program Section.

(ii) Project Management and Oversight. Describe your method for managing and overseeing activities, including those of your organization, your project sponsor, and any other organization. Identify staff members who are responsible for management and oversight of the project and activity implementation.

(iii) Evaluation Plan. Your evaluation plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes, and how you plan to share successes and lessons learned in undertaking your activities with other communities.

(iv) Innovative Qualities. If you propose a new program, or an alternative method of meeting the needs of your eligible persons, describe how the innovative qualities of your activities will become a benchmark for achieving greater housing opportunities and supportive services for persons living with HIV/AIDS. HUD will rate your applications higher if you provide strong evidence that your methods will yield qualities that will benefit or expand knowledge in serving eligible persons, when compared to other applications and HOPWA projects. In order to learn about innovative qualities of previously funded and on-going HOPWA projects, please review the HOPWA Executive Summaries for all HOPWA formula and competitive grantees at <http://www.hud.gov>.

(v) Other Exemplary Qualities. Demonstrate what exemplary qualities your project contains that will be beneficial to other projects in your area or in other areas across the country. Describe what activities you have undertaken that have been outstanding and that if duplicated would achieve greater housing opportunities for persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families.

(vi) Descriptive Budget. HUD will review your budget in describing:

(1) How each amount of requested funding for you and your project sponsors will be used;

(2) How each line item will relate to eligible HOPWA activities as defined in Part D, Section II (B), of this Program Section of the SuperNOFA; and

(3) A clear and complete statement of the planned activities for your project and demonstrate how these activities are matched with line items for both the grantee and sponsors. You must complete the HOPWA Project Budget Form as described in Part B, Section VI

(E). Please note that only the forms are required and an additional narrative under the Model Qualities Section is not required.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's funds to achieve program purposes. HUD will award up to 10 points based on the extent to which resources from other public or private sources have been committed at the time of application, to support your project. To receive the maximum points, you must provide evidence of commitments of leveraged resources that match or exceed the amount of HOPWA funds that are requested, but not including funds designated for data collection.

(a) In establishing leveraging, HUD will not consider other HOPWA-funded activities, entitlement benefits inuring to eligible persons, or conditioned commitments that depend on future fund-raising or actions. In assessing the use of acceptable leveraged resources, HUD will consider the likelihood that state and local resources will be available and continue during the operating period of your grant. In evaluating this factor, HUD will also consider:

(i) The extent to which you document leveraged resources, such as funding and/or in-kind services from governmental entities, private organizations, resident management organizations, educational institutions, or other entities to achieve the purposes of the project for which you are requesting HOPWA funds;

(ii) The extent to which the documented resources evidence that you have partnered with other entities to make more effective use of available public or private resources. Partnership arrangements may include funding or in-kind services from local governments or government agencies, nonprofit or for-profit entities, private organizations, educational institutions, or other entities that are willing to partner with you on proposed activities, or partnering with other program funding recipients to make more effective use of resources within the geographic area covered by your award.

(b) To receive highest leveraging points, you must document the cash value of leveraged resources pledged to your project(s). The commitment of resources will be evidenced by use of the appropriate language as described below:

(i) Applicant or Third Party Cash Resources. If this proposal is funded,

(applicant name or third party name) commits $(amount) (of its own funds, if applicant, or to applicant name, if third party) for (type of activity) to be made available to the HOPWA program. These funds will be available from (date) to (date). (Signature and Title of authorized representative and date.)

(ii) Non-Cash Resources. If this proposal is funded, (organization's name) commits to make available (type of resource) valued at $(amount) to the HOPWA program proposed by (applicant name). These resources will be made available to the HOPWA program from (date) to (date). (Signature and Title of authorized representative and date.) The donation of a third party professional service should be valued at the professional's customary charge. The value of materials to be contributed to the project by a third party or by the applicant may also be counted as leveraging.

(iii) Volunteer Time. If this proposal is funded, (name of the organization or of self), commits to provide (number of hours) of volunteer time from (date) to (date) to provide (type of activity) to the HOPWA program proposed by (applicant name). The total value of these services, based on $10.00 per hour, is $(amount). (Signature and Title, and date.) Time to be contributed to the project by volunteers should be valued at $10.00 per hour. In the case of individuals volunteering their time directly to the applicant, the applicant should list itself as the organization.

(iv) Contribution of a Building. If this proposal is funded, (applicant name) pledges the building at (site address) to the HOPWA program. The building has a fair market value of $(amount). A licensed independent real estate appraiser made this appraisal, which is based on comparable properties in the area. (Signature of applicant's authorized representative and date.) Ownership of a building or portion of a building to be used in the project may be counted as leveraging. The fair market value of the building or portion of the building being contributed may be counted. Do not send an appraisal to HUD, but keep documentation of fair market value on file. The contribution of land (as a leveraged resource for new construction) should be treated the same as contribution of a building. You will need to keep documentation of the fair market value on file, particularly if it is improved land and you wish to include the value of the improvements in the contribution.

(v) Contribution of a Building to be Acquired with HOPWA Funds. If this proposal is funded, (applicant name) commits the building at (site address) for the HOPWA program. The building has a fair market value of $(amount). A licensed independent real estate appraiser made this appraisal, which is based on comparable properties in the area. The HOPWA request for the building is $(amount). Therefore, the contribution is the difference between the fair market value and the HOPWA request, or $(amount). (Signature of applicant's authorized representative and date.) The difference between the documented fair market value and the portion paid for with HOPWA funds may be counted as leveraging. Maintain documentation of fair rental value on file.

(vi) Contribution of Leasehold Interest. If this proposal is funded, (applicant name) commits the leasehold interest at (site address) for the HOPWA program. The fair rental value of this site is $(amount) annually, and at constant value will amount to $(amount) over (term of the lease, up to three years). An appropriate independent third party made this appraisal, which is based on comparable properties in the area. The total leasing cost over the term of the lease to be paid with HOPWA funds is $(amount). Therefore, the contribution is the difference between the HOPWA leasing cost and the fair rental value, or $(amount). (Signature of applicant's authorized representative and date.) The difference between the fair rental value (for a term up to three years) and the cost of the lease to be paid for with HOPWA funds may be counted as leveraging.

Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (Maximum 10 Points)

Address this factor on not more than five (5) double-spaced, typed pages. Under this factor, HUD will award 10 points based on how well your application demonstrates a commitment to ensuring that the goals that you set forth and your performance will be assessed in a clear and effective manner. HUD will analyze how well you have clearly implemented the HOPWA program goals and identified the benefits or outcomes of your program including your activities, benchmarks, and interim activities or performance indicators. HUD will award the highest points to applications that demonstrate an evaluation plan that will objectively measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements.

Benchmarks or outputs that are identified in your application should be measurable indicators of actual achievements that help achieve the program outcome goals for the HOPWA Program. These outcome goals should include but are not limited to:

- (a) Increase the amount of housing assistance and related supportive services to eligible persons, to establish or maintain housing stability and reduce the risks of homelessness for eligible persons,
- (b) Increase the access to permanent housing for low-income eligible persons, to enable these households to become more self-sufficient,
- (c) Improve the housing conditions in which low-income and homeless eligible persons and their families live, to increase the number of persons living in housing that is safe, decent, and sanitary, and

(d) Address the challenge of homelessness for persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families by helping them move to permanent housing with appropriate support, with coordinated homeless assistance effort.

Program output measures for your application for the HOPWA Program must include but are not limited to:

- (a) The projected numbers of persons to be served through each activity during each project operating year, and
- (b) The projected number of housing units by type, to be provided to eligible households through your project during each project operating year,

Your application should also address your evaluation plan. Evaluation is defined as your method for collecting data on HUD program measures to evidence achievement of your project's goals and objectives. HUD will assess your method for reviewing this data and your basis for making relative adjustments in project implementation based on outcomes and lessons learned. Your evaluation plan must include how you propose to utilize the project outcome funding. HUD will award a greater number of points for projects that also provide for a plan for the dissemination of information from the lessons learned from your proposed activities. Three Program Evaluation Logic Models are given as examples on the following pages to illustrate planning for the use of resources, project activities, outputs, outcomes, and goals. Please use the Logic Model (Form HUD-96010-1) in the General Section of this notice to respond to this factor. In addition to using the required HOPWA output measures, applicants may create their own set of activities, other outputs, and project outcomes.

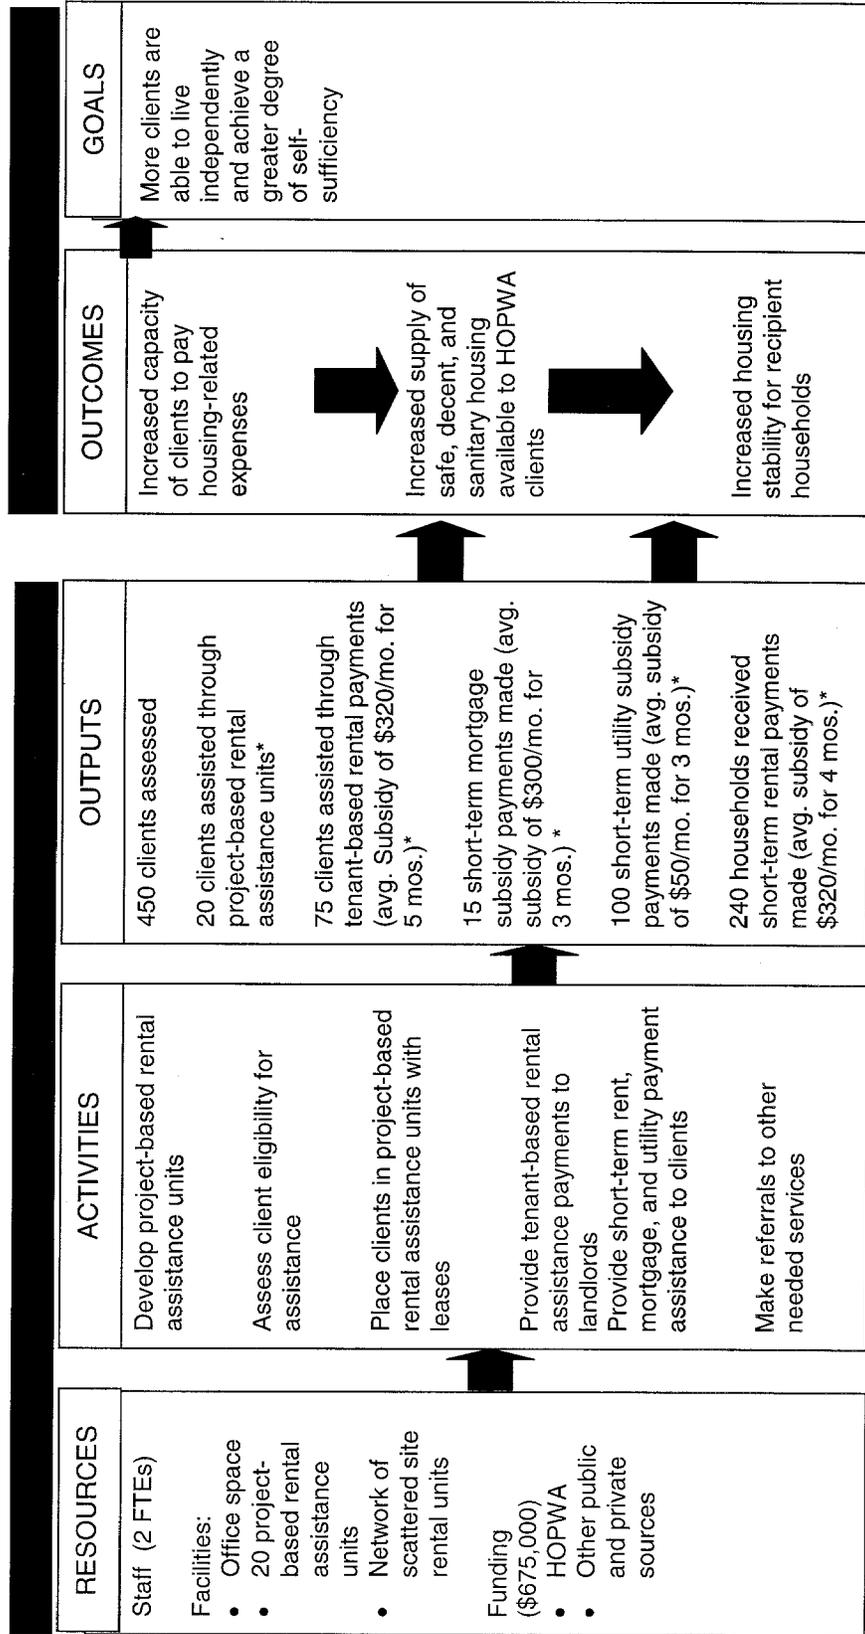

BILLING CODE 4210-32-P

PROGRAM EVALUATION LOGIC MODEL

EXAMPLE: Rental Assistance

Target Population: HIV/AIDS eligible persons and their families who live in project-based or scattered site housing units funded by HOPWA and who are in need of financial assistance in order to maintain housing.

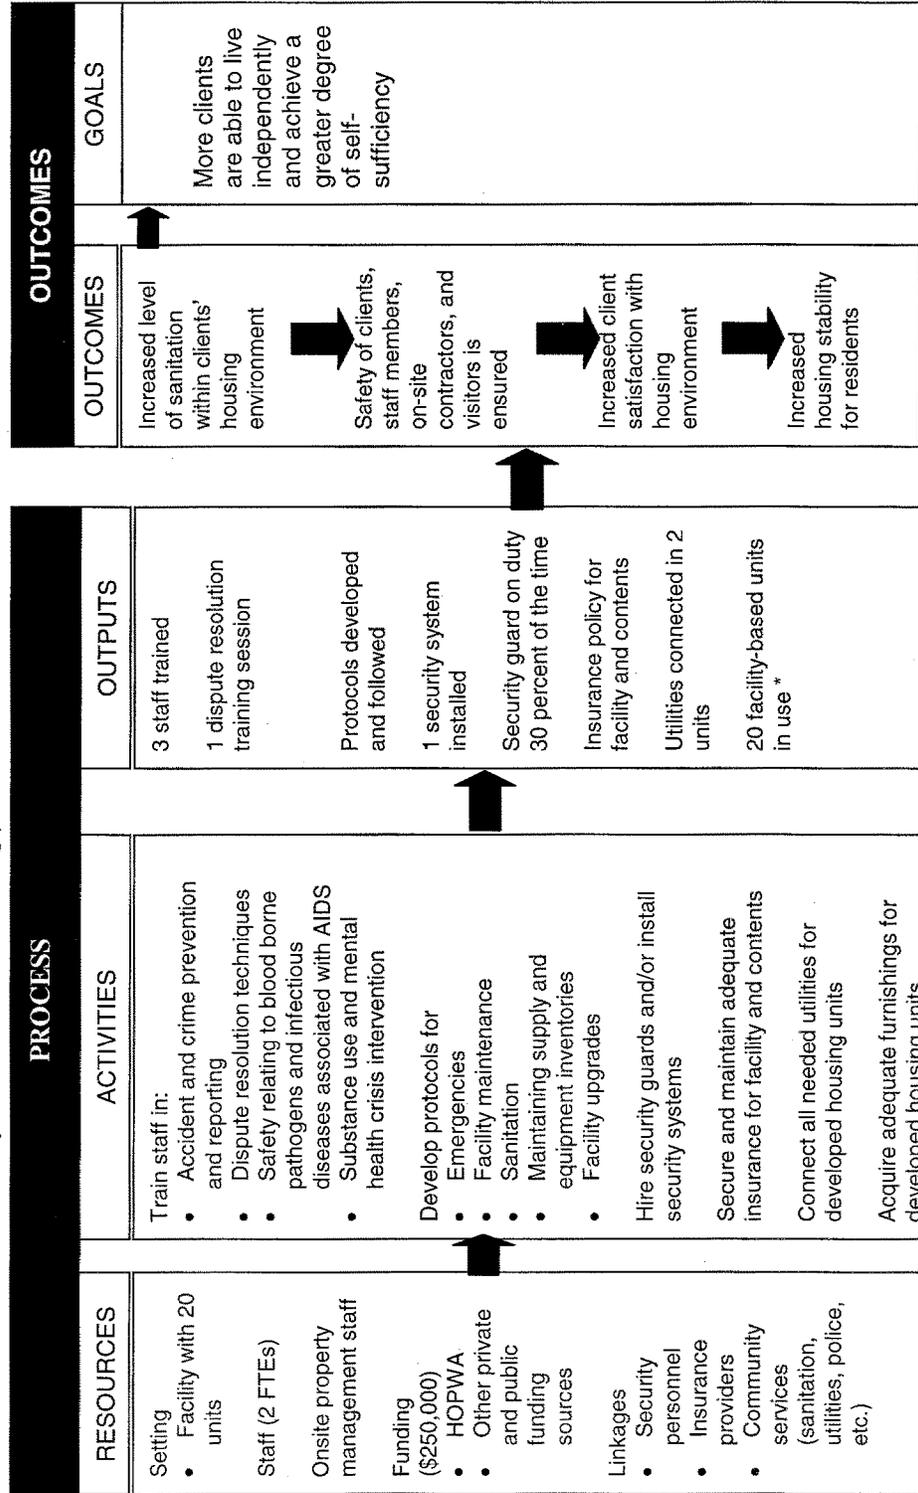

Program Theory: Providing direct financial resources will assist eligible persons in stabilizing their living situations and will increase the chances of their maintaining and achieving self-sufficiency, ultimately preventing homelessness.

* Required HOPWA output measures on the number of units of housing, by type, assisted during each project operating year.

PROGRAM EVALUATION LOGIC MODEL
EXAMPLE: Housing Operations

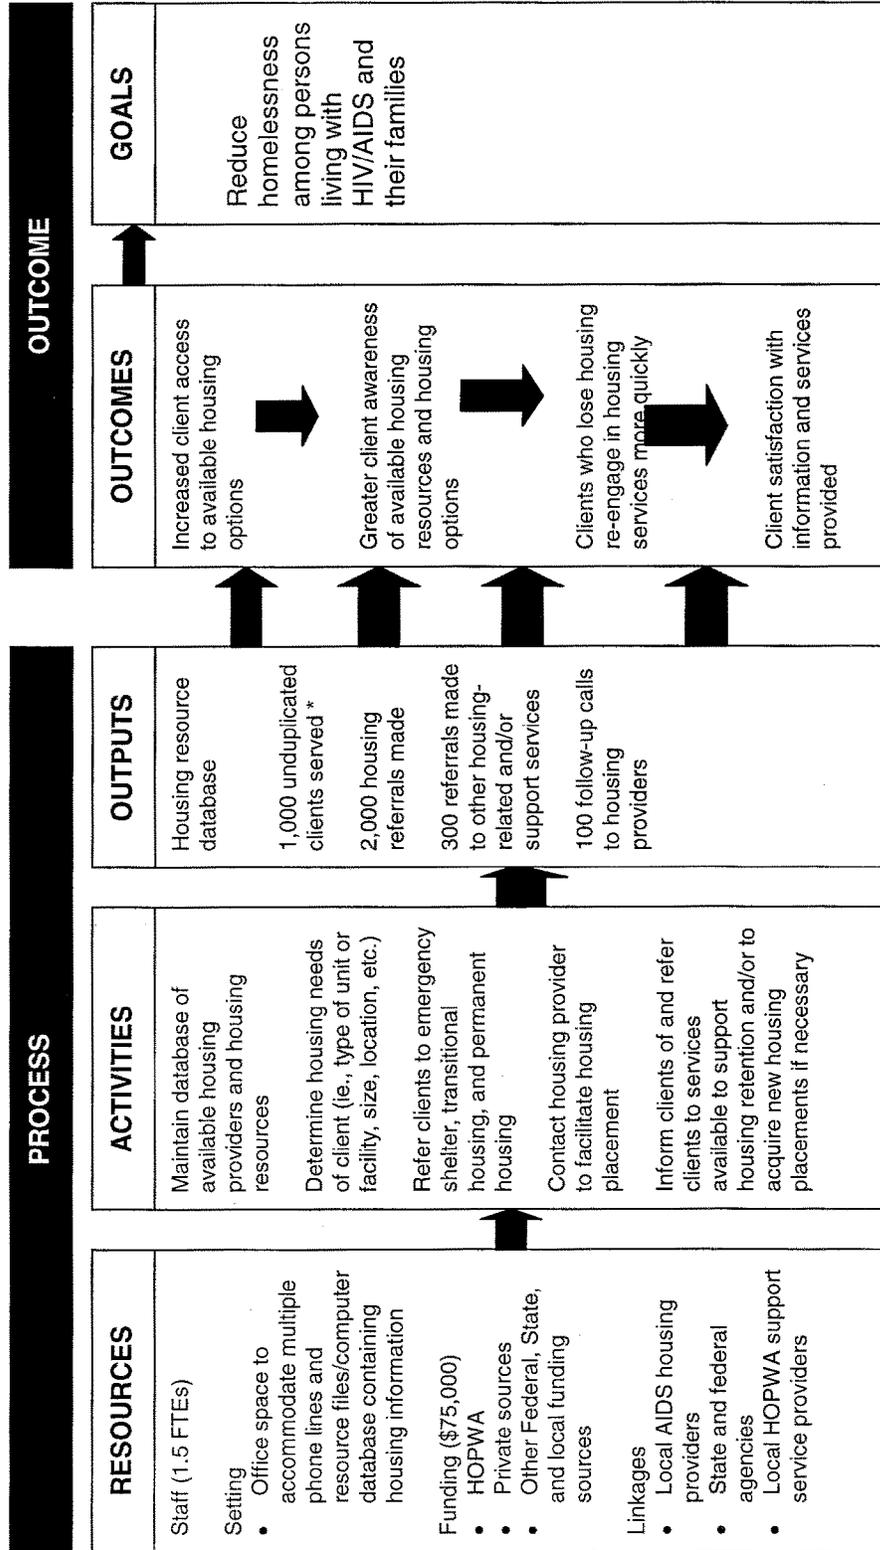

Target Population: Residents of HOPWA-funded housing facility, as well as those who work in and visit the facility.
Program Theory: A safe and sanitary housing environment helps to protect the physical and mental health of HIV/AIDS eligible persons; eligible persons who are satisfied with the safety, sanitation, and management of the housing facility are more likely to maintain the housing placement.

* Required HOPWA output measures on the number of units of housing, by type, assisted during each project operating year.

PROGRAM EVALUATION LOGIC MODEL EXAMPLE: Housing Information & Referral

Target Population: Homeless persons living with HIV/AIDS in the community and their families.
Program Theory: Providing information about available housing and timely referrals to AIDS housing providers will facilitate housing placements and decrease homelessness among persons living with HIV/AIDS applications within each of the two categories of assistance. HUD will select applications in rank order in each category of assistance to the extent that funds are available, except as outlined in Part D, Section III (B): Policy Priorities, where HUD reserves the right to select applications that target the priority eligible populations. In allocating amounts to the categories of assistance, HUD reserves the right to ensure that sufficient funds are available for the selection of at least one application with the highest ranking under each category of assistance. HUD will not select an application that is rated below 75 points.

In the event of a tie between applications in a category of assistance, HUD reserves the right to break the tie by selecting the proposal that was scored higher on a rating criterion in the following order: Soundness of Approach: Responsiveness and Model Qualities (Rating Factor 3); Comprehensiveness and Coordination (Rating Factor 5); the Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (Rating Factor 1); the Need/Extent of the Problem (Rating Factor 2); and Leveraging Resources (Rating Factor 4).

HUD will notify you in writing if you are conditionally selected. You may be notified subsequently of any modification made by HUD, the additional project information necessary for grant award, and the date of deadline for submission of the required information. In the event that a conditionally-selected applicant is unable to meet any conditions for fund award within the specified time, HUD reserves the right not to award funds to the applicant and to use those funds to make awards to the next highest rated applications in this competition; to restore amounts to a funding request that had been reduced in this competition; or to add amounts to funds available for the next competition.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

Your HOPWA application must contain the following items in the order shown below. The standard forms can be found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The remaining application items that are forms (i.e., excluding such items as narratives, letters) can be found as Appendix D to this Program Section of the SuperNOFA. The items are as follows:

HOPWA Need for Renewal Chart

Please complete the following chart and submit it with your Need for Renewal Narrative. HUD will review this chart and determine your eligibility for renewal funding based on financial records for reimbursement of expenditures that are filed under HUD's financial system (PAS).

To be eligible, the HOPWA grant must be an expiring grant, defined as a grant that will not have sufficient funds to continue activities until September 30, 2004, if not awarded additional Federal funds. The applicant must demonstrate to HUD that all funds awarded in the grant it seeks to renew will be expended before September 30, 2004 (as measured by reimbursements filed with HUD under the financial system, PAS). HUD may deobligate funding of HOPWA grants that have been renewed on this basis and fail to expend funding by the September 30, 2004.

In addition, if the grant expired in the Federal Fiscal Year 2002 or earlier, i.e. all funds were expended (as measured by PAS) by 9-30-02 or only a residual amount that is less than one percent of the amount of the prior grant remains, you are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under this notice.

Line 1	Indicated the amount of the prior HOPWA award.	$
Line 2	Indicate the amount expended as of 9-30-02.	$
Line 3	Subtotal: subtract Line 2 from Line 1. (See Item 1 below.)	$
Line 4	Indicate the amount to be expended in FY2003. (By September 30, 2003)	$
Line 5	Indicate the amount to be expended in FY2004. (By September 30, 2004)	$
Line 6	Subtotal: Subtract Lines 4 and 5 from Line 3. (See Item 2 below)	$

1. If the subtotal on Line 3 is zero or a residual amount that is less than one percent of the amount on Line 1, you are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under this notice.
2. If the subtotal on Line 6 is greater than zero, you are not eligible to apply for renewal funding under the HOPWA Renewal Section of HUD's SuperNOFA. Also note that continued use of prior funds may require that you file an extension request with the area CPD Field Office.

Public reporting burden for the collection of information is estimated to average one (1) hour per response. This includes the time for collecting, reviewing, and reporting the data. The information will be used for the ROSS grant. Response to this request for information is required in order to receive the benefits to be derived. This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

FY 2003 HOPWA Formula Allocations Including Non-Eligible Areas

On (date), HUD announced that $259.292 million, or 90 percent of the total FY2003 HOPWA appropriation of $290.102 million, was allocated under the statutory formula to 111 HOPWA grantees, including 75 cities for Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Areas (EMSA's) and 36 States. The grantee for these amounts is the State or, for the EMSA, the most populous city in that area, which is the jurisdiction noted below. The State of New Jersey will administer funds for the four New Jersey Counties that are in the Philadelphia Metropolitan Area. Each of the allocations are made available under the jurisdiction's consolidated plan.

Three new FY2003 grantees are noted as (*) in following metropolitan areas: Sarasota, Florida, and the states of Kansas and Colorado. In addition Wake County, NC was given authorization to administer the grant to the Raleigh Metropolitan Area.

For further information regarding HOPWA formula grantees visit the HOPWA website at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/cpd/aidshousing>.

Note: There is a separate application for service coordinator funds (which is necessary for those needing to enhance or add service coordination per Section IV (D)(13) of this NOFA).

II. Amount Allocated

This NOFA makes available approximately $64 million

(approximately $54 million for the physical conversion of eligible multifamily assisted housing projects or portions of projects to ALFs and approximately $10 million for the conversion of up to 2 unused or underutilized commercial properties to ALFs). The Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 funding of $25 million is in the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003. The $64 million includes $39 million in carryover funds. The allocation formula used for the ALCP to fair share the $64,000,000 reflects demographic characteristics of age and incidence of frailty that would be expected for program participants. The FY 2003 formula consists of one data element from the 2000 decennial census: The number of non-institutional elderly population aged 75 years or older with a disability.

A fair share factor for each state was developed by taking the sum of the persons aged 75 or older with a disability within each state as a percentage of the sum of the same number of persons for the total United States. The resulting percentage for each state was then adjusted to reflect the relative difference in the cost of providing housing among the states. The total of the grant funds available ($54 million) was multiplied by the adjusted fair share percentage for each state, and the resulting funds for each state were totaled for each Hub.

The ALCP grant funds fair share allocations, based on the formula above, to the 18 multifamily Hubs are as shown on the following chart:

III. Program Description: Eligible and Ineligible Applicants, Developments, and Activities

(A) Program Description. Assisted living facilities (ALFs) are designed to accommodate frail elderly persons and people with disabilities who need certain support services (e.g., assistance with eating, bathing, grooming, dressing and home management activities). ALFs must provide support services such as personal care, transportation, meals, housekeeping, and laundry. Frail elderly person means an individual 62 years of age or older who is unable to perform at least three activities of daily living (ADLs) as defined by the regulations for HUD's Section 202 Program (Supportive Housing for the Elderly) at 24 CFR 891.205. Assisted living is defined in section 232(b)(6) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1715w).

The ALCP provides funding for the physical costs of converting some or all of the units of an eligible multifamily development into an ALF, including unit configuration, common and services space and any necessary remodeling, consistent with HUD or the State's statute/regulations (whichever is more stringent). Typical funding will cover basic physical conversion of existing project units, as well as common and services space. There must be sufficient community space to accommodate a central kitchen or dining facility, lounges, recreation and other multiple-areas available to all residents of the project, or office/staff spaces in the ALF. When food is prepared at an off-site location, the preparation area of the facility must be of sufficient size to allow for the installation of a full kitchen, if necessary. You must provide supportive services for the residents either directly or through a third party. Your application must include a firm commitment for the supportive services to be offered within the ALF as part of the application. You may charge assisted living residents for meals and/or service fees. Residents may contract with third party agencies directly for nursing, therapy or other services not offered by the ALF.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Only private nonprofit owners of eligible multifamily assisted housing developments specified in section 683(2) (B), (C), (D), (E), and (F) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, approved October 28, 1992) and private nonprofit owners of an unused or underutilized commercial property are eligible for funding. To be eligible, project owners must meet the following criteria where applicable:

(1) Must be in compliance with your Loan Agreement, Capital Advance Agreement, Regulatory Agreement, Housing Assistance Payment contract, Project Rental Assistance Contract, Rent Supplement or LMSA contract, or any other HUD grant or contract document.

(2) Must be in compliance with all fair housing and civil rights laws, statutes, regulations, and executive orders as enumerated in 24 CFR 5.105(a). See Section V(B) (2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for further explanation.

Note: If your eligibility status changes during the course of the grant term, making it ineligible to receive the grant (e.g., prepayment of mortgage, sale/TPA of property, or opting out of a Section 8 Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) contract), HUD retains the right to terminate the grant and recover funds made available through this NOFA.

(C) Ineligible Applicants.

(1) Owners of developments designed specifically for people with disabilities.

(2) Owners of Section 232 developments.

(3) Property management companies and agents of property management companies.

(4) Limited dividend partnerships.

(5) Nonprofit Public Agencies.

(6) Owners of unused/underutilized hospitals or other health-related facility which are considered to be eleemosynary institutions rather than commercial enterprises.

(D) Eligible Developments.

(1) Eligible projects must be owned by a private, nonprofit entity and designated primarily for occupancy by elderly persons. Projects must have been in occupancy for at least 5 years from the date the HUD Form 92485, Permission to Occupy Project Mortgage, was approved by HUD's Construction Manager as Chief Architect, and have completed final closing. Additionally, eligible projects must meet one of the following criteria:

- Section 202 direct loan projects with or without Section 8 rental assistance,

- Section 202 capital advance projects receiving rental assistance under 202(C)(2),

- Section 515 rural housing receiving Section 8 rental assistance,
- Other projects receiving Section 8 project-based rental assistance,
- Projects subsidized with Section 221(d)(3) below-market interest mortgage,

- Projects assisted under Section 236 of the National Housing Act.

Your project must:

(a) Meet HUD's Uniform Physical Conditions Standards at 24 CFR part 5, subpart G. Meeting these standards as described, means that the project, based on the most recent Real Estate Assessment Center (REAC) physical inspection report and responses thereto, must have a "satisfactory" rating as evidenced by a score of 60 or better or a HUD-approved and on schedule repair plan for developments scoring less than 60. Additionally, the project must have no uncorrected and outstanding Exigent Health and Safety violations. Finally, the project must not have on file a management review with a rating of "minimally satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" with open and unresolved findings.

(b) Have a residual receipts account separate from the Reserve for Replacement account, or agree to establish this account as a condition for getting the award(s).

(2) Unused and underutilized commercial properties.

(E) Eligible Conversion Activities.

Eligible activities are:

(1) Retrofitting to meet Section 504 accessibility requirements, minimum property standards for accessibility and/or building codes and health and safety standards for ALFs in that jurisdiction. Examples are items such as addition of:

(a) Sprinkler systems;

(b) An elevator or upgrades thereto;

(c) Lighting upgrades;

(d) Major physical or mechanical systems of projects necessary to meet local code or assisted living requirements;

(e) Upgrading to accessible units for the ALF with moveable cabinetry, accessible appliances, sinks, bathroom and kitchen fixtures, closets, hardware and grab bars, widening of doors, etc.;

(f) Upgrades to safety and emergency alert systems;

(g) Addition of hallway railings; and,

(h) Medication storage and work stations;

(2) Retrofitting to add, modify and/or outfit common space, office or related space for ALF staff including a service coordinator and file security, and/or a central kitchen/dining facility to support the ALF function (e.g., outfit lounge/common space/dining furniture, kitchen equipment for cooking/serving and dishware).

(3) Retrofitting to upgrade a regular unit to an accessible unit for a person/family with disabilities who is being displaced from an accessible unit in the portion of the project that is being converted to the ALF, where another accessible unit is not available.

(4) Temporary relocation (not applicable to commercial property).

(5) Consultant, architectural and legal fees.

(6) Vacancy payments not more than 30 days after conversion to an ALF.

(F) Ineligible Activities. You may not use funds available through this NOFA to:

(1) Add additional dwelling units to the existing project (not applicable to commercial property);

(2) Pay the costs of any of the necessary direct supportive services needed to operate the ALF;

(3) Purchase or lease additional land;

(4) Rehabilitate (see definition at 24 CFR 891.105) the project for needs unrelated directly to the conversion of units and common space for assisted living;

(5) Use the ALCP to reduce the number of accessible units in the project that are not part of the ALF (not applicable to commercial property);

(6) Permanently relocate any resident out of the project; and,

(7) Increase the management fee.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, each applicant must comply with the following requirements:

(A) Statutory, Regulatory, and Other Program Requirements. You must comply with all applicable statutory requirements to the projects specified in Section 202(b) and statutory requirements under Section 232(b)(6). Please note that all ALCP projects must conform to the 500-year flood plain limitation (See Section VII of this NOFA.) Construction of ALCP units is considered a "critical action" for purposes of the flood plain requirement.

Excess Residual Receipts (over $500/unit) and Reserve for Replacement (R4R) funds (over $1000/unit) in Project Accounts that are not approved for another use at the time of application to HUD under this NOFA are considered available funds and must be applied towards the cost of conversion activities. Before making this determination, however, HUD staff will consider the extent of repair/replacement needs indicated in the most recent REAC physical inspection and not yet approved and any ongoing commitments such as non-grant-based service coordinator or other funding, where existing, deduct the estimated costs of such items from the R4R and residual receipts balances to determine the extent of available residual receipts and R4R funds for the ALCP. (This paragraph is not applicable to commercial properties.)

If funded, you must also file a HUD Form-2530 for all construction contractors, architects, consultants, and service provider organizations under direct contract with you that will be engaged under this NOFA and comply with all State and local licensing, zoning and building code requirements.

(B) Meals and Supportive Services. You must develop and submit a Supportive Services Plan (SSP) for the services and coordination of the supportive services which will be offered in the ALF to the appropriate state or local organization(s) which are expected to fund those supportive services. (See Section VI(B)(8) of this NOFA below, for the information which must be in the SSP.) You must submit one copy of your SSP to each appropriate State or local service funding organizations well in advance of the application deadline, for appropriate review. The State or local funding organization(s) must return the SSP to you with appropriate comments and an indication of the funding commitment, which you will then include with the application you submit to HUD.

You must ALSO submit the SSP to the appropriate organization(s) which license ALFs in your jurisdiction. The licensing agency(ies) must approve your plan, and must also certify that the ALF and the proposed supportive services identified in your SSP, are consistent with local statute and regulations and well designed to serve the needs of the frail elderly and people with disabilities who will reside in the ALF portion of your project.

Finally, you must also submit an agreement to pursue appropriate ALF licensing in a timely manner.

(C) Minimum Size Limits for an ALF. An ALF must be economically feasible. Consistent with HUD Handbook 4600.1, CHG-1, the minimum size for an ALF is five units.

(D) Program Requirements. The following program requirements apply: (Note: Program Requirements described in paragraphs 3, (8)(a) and (b), and (12) below are not applicable to applicants requesting funding to convert commercial facilities):

(1) Your ALF facility must be licensed and regulated by the state (or if there is no state law providing such licensing and regulation, by the municipality or other subdivision in which the facility is located). Each assisted living unit must include its own kitchen, bathroom, bedroom, living/dining area (1 bedroom unit) or kitchen, bathroom, bedroom/living/dining area (efficiency unit) and must meet the state and/or local licensing, building, zoning and other requirements for an ALF.

(2) Your ALF must be available to qualified elderly persons and persons with disabilities, consistent with the rules and payment plans of the State, who need and want the supportive services in order to remain independent and avoid premature institutionalization.

(3) Your ALF's residents must be tenants or residents of the multifamily project and must comply with the requirements applicable to the project. Thus, you cannot charge additional rent over what is charged to residents in the non-ALF portion of the project. All admissions to the ALF must be through the applicable project admissions office. However, persons accepted into the ALF also must sign an ALF admissions agreement which shall be an addendum to the applicable project lease.

(4) At a minimum, your ALF must provide room, board (as defined in Section IV(B)(6)(below) and continuous protective oversight (CPO). CPO involves a range of activities and services that may include such things as awareness by management and staff of the occupant's condition and location as well as an ability to intervene in a crisis for dependent and relatively independent occupants on a 24-hour basis. The two occupant groups in an ALF are:

(a) Independent Occupants: Awareness by management and staff of the occupant's condition and whereabouts as well as the availability of assistance for the occupants as needed.

(b) Dependent occupants: Supervision of nutrition, assistance with medication and continuous responsibility for the occupants' welfare.

(5) Anyone moving into an ALF unit must agree to accept as a condition of occupancy the board and services required for the purpose of complying with state and local law and regulation. However, occupancy in an ALF unit may not be conditioned on receipt of other services or board not required by state or local requirements.

(6) Your ALF must offer three meals per day to each resident.

(a) Residents whose apartments have kitchens must take at least the number of meals a day provided by the facility, per their mandatory meals requirement, or as required by state or local rules, if more stringent. If the facility does not have a mandatory meals plan, then state and local rules govern.

(b) Residents in projects which were originally constructed without kitchens in their units must take such meals as required by their mandatory meals agreement, or by the state's mandated requirements if more stringent (e.g., 2 meals, 2 snacks daily).

In either case, ALF management must coordinate meals requirements with the needs of residents who are out part of the day (e.g., in day care). The meals program may not be operated at a profit by the project owner.

(7) Your ALF's operation must be part of the project owner's management organization. Some or all of its functions may be contracted out. The ALF must predicate its budget on a two-tiered structure under which board and supportive service income and expenses must be maintained separately and independently from the regular income and expenses of the applicable project. The two components of ALF costs are:

(a) Charges/payment for board, which may be on a sliding scale or any other equitable fee system; and

(b) Charges/payment for necessary supportive services, which may include a combination of resident fees, Medicaid and/or other third party payments.

(8) Priority admissions for ALF units are as follows:

(a) Current residents desiring an ALF unit and meeting the program requirements (no resident can be required to accept an ALF unit).

(b) Qualified individuals or families needing ALF services who are already on the project's waiting list;

(c) Qualified individuals or families in the community needing ALF services wanting to be added to the project's waiting list; and

Note: Qualified disabled non-elderly persons needing assisted living services are eligible to occupy these units on the same basis as elderly persons, except for section 202 project rental assistance contracts (PRAC) projects and unused/underutilized commercial properties.

(9) The management of the project must set up a separate waiting list for ALF units. ALF units must be for eligible residents who meet the admissions/discharge requirements as established for assisted living by State and local licensing, or HUD frailty requirements under 24 CFR 891.205 if more stringent.

(10) Costs of meals and supportive services are not covered by this HUD grant. These items must be paid for through other sources (e.g., a mix of resident fees and/or third party providers). Evidence of third party commitment(s) must be included as part of the application. (See Section VI B(6) of this NOFA.) The assisted living supportive services program must promote independence and provide personal care assistance based on individual needs in a home-like environment. In accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and HUD's regulations at 24 CFR 8.4(d), the project must deliver services in the most integrated setting appropriate to the needs of qualified individuals with disabilities (see Section VI(B)(8)(b) through (c) of this NOFA).

(11) Upon receipt of a grant under this program, all project owners participating in the ALCP must provide a Declaration of Restrictive Covenants (DRC), which will be recorded with the land, to retain the low income character of the housing, and to maintain the project (including the ALF), as a moderate, low, or very low income facility (as appropriate) for at least 20 years beyond the current 40-to-50 year term of the mortgage loan or capital advance. Recipients of grant funds to convert unused or underutilized commercial property must provide a DRC for at least 20 years or for the term of the mortgage on the property whichever is longer.

(12) This program does not allow permanent displacement of any resident living in the project at the time the application was submitted to HUD. (HUD will only provide temporary relocation costs for current tenants if they must vacate their unit while conversion work is underway (normal temporary relocation costs include increases in rent, reconnection of telephones, moving costs and appropriate out-of-pocket expenses)).

(13) The ALCP requires service coordination responsible for linking the ALF to services in the community which are available to low-income persons. All projects funded under this NOFA must have sufficient service coordination in place, or request additional funds, if appropriate, to ensure that services meeting licensing requirements are available to ALF residents on an ongoing basis. Service coordination must be described in the application (see Section VI(B)(8)(b) through (c) of this NOFA). If you need to enhance an existing service coordination program or add one where it does not exist, you may apply for funding through the Service Coordinator NOFA, published elsewhere in this SuperNOFA, and attach a copy of the Form HUD 424 so indicating the request to the ALCP application. Alternatively, you may show evidence that funding for the enhanced service coordination is provided by other sources and indicate such funding on the HUD Form 424 which is exhibit 10(a) of your ALF application. If you are funded under this NOFA and requested new or enhanced service coordination you will be funded first under the service coordinator NOFA.

Note: If you are a Section 202 PRAC project owner or an owner with unused or underutilized commercial properties, you are NOT eligible to request funding under the service coordinator NOFA. Section 202 PRAC owners can pay for the service coordinator out of PRAC funds.

In addition to above requirements, the following applicable guidelines are stated:

(a) The ALF must be staffed either directly or through coordination with local agencies, depending on state regulations or local requirements. These may also serve non-ALF residents of the project on a time available and appropriate fee basis.

(b) The ALF may cater to the special needs of residents depending on their condition or diagnosis, such as Alzheimer's disease. If it does so, the design/environment of such facilities must accommodate those needs, e.g., dementia special care unit. However, the ALF cannot provide a service it is not licensed by the State or locality to provide.

Note 1: Owners of section 202/PRAC projects are reminded that they may include a PRAC payment of up to $15/unit/month not to exceed 15% of the total program cost, consistent with 24 CFR 891.225(b)(2) to cover part of the cost of meals and/or supportive services for frail elderly residents, including residents of the ALF.

Note 2: Training for ALF staff is an eligible project cost under existing operating procedures.

For further information on ALFs, please refer to Handbook 4600.1, CHG-1, "Mortgage Insurance for Residential Care Facilities," Chapter 13. This Handbook and recent ALF program Notices are accessible through HUDCLIPS on HUD's web site. The URL for the HUDCLIPS Database Selection Screen is <http://www.hudclips.org/subscriber/cgi/legis.cgi>. These notices are in the Handbooks and Notices—Housing Notices database. Enter only the number without the letter prefix (e.g., 99-16) in the "Document number" to retrieve the program notice.

For further guidance on service coordinators, please refer to Handbook 4381.5 REV-2, CHANGE-2, Chapter 8, "The Management Agent's Handbook," which is also available through the HUDCLIPS database.

(E) Compliance with Other Program Requirements: By the submission of the application for grant funds, the Owner is certifying to comply with the following program requirements:

(1) Establish a residual receipt account as soon as there is surplus cash available, if applicable.

(2) Apply for an ALF license with due diligence and in a timely fashion.

(3) Comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701u) and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 135, the affirmative fair housing marketing requirements of 24 CFR part 200, subpart M and the implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 108, which requires that the project be marketed to those least likely to apply including those who are not generally served by the agency administering the program, and other applicable Federal, State and local laws prohibiting discrimination and promoting equal opportunity including affirmatively furthering fair housing, and other certifications listed in the application.

(4) Comply with section 232 of the National Housing Act, as applicable, the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (24 CFR 40.7), section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 8, and the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 for all portions of the development physically affected by this proposal;

(5) Comply with the Davis-Bacon requirements and the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act as applied to this program. While it has been determined that Davis-Bacon does not apply statutorily to the ALCP, the Department has administratively determined that Davis-Bacon standards and overtime rates in accordance with the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act will be adhered to in any ALCP conversion grant in which the total cost of the physical conversion to an ALF (and including any additional renovation work undertaken at the same time) is $500,000 or more (this includes ALCP grant funds, owner funds, or any third party funds loaned or granted in support of the conversion or other renovation for the project associated with this grant), and in which the ALF portion of the project is 12 units or more.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Review for Curable Deficiencies. You should ensure that your application is complete before submitting it to HUD.

HUD will screen all applications received by the deadline for curable deficiencies. With respect to correction of deficient applications, HUD may not, after the application due date and consistent with HUD's regulations in 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, consider any unsolicited information an applicant may want to provide. HUD may contact an applicant to clarify an item in the application or to correct technical deficiencies. Please note, however, that HUD may not seek clarification of items or responses that improve the substantive quality of a response to any selection factors. In order not to unreasonably exclude applications from being rated and ranked, HUD may contact applicants to ensure proper completion of the application and will do so on a uniform basis for all applicants. Examples of curable (correctable) technical deficiencies include failure to submit the proper certifications or failure to submit an application that contains an original signature by an authorized official. In each case, under this NOFA, the appropriate HUD Multifamily Hub Office will notify you in writing by describing the clarification or technical deficiency. You must submit clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information provided by the Hub Office within 14 calendar days of the date of receipt of the HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday, your correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or Federal holiday.) If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete, and it will not be considered for funding. The following is a list of the deficiencies that will be considered curable in ALCP applications:

Exhibits

- (1) *(a) Articles of Incorporation, or certification of Articles of Incorporation.
- * (b) By-laws, or certification of by-laws.
- (3) Evidence of occupancy for at least five years (not applicable to commercial facilities).
- (5) (c) Original project plans.
- (h) Relocation (not applicable to commercial property).
- (7) Evidence of Permissive Zoning.
- (10) Certifications and Forms
 - (a) HUD Form 424, Application for Federal Assistance, including Federal Assistance Funding Matrix, and Compliance with Executive Order 12372.

(b) HUD Form 424B, Applicant Assurances and Certifications, Certification of a Drug-free Workplace, Certification to Influence Federal Transaction and Standard Form LLL, Disclosure of Lobbying Activities and Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension.

(c) Form HUD 2880, Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report including Social Security and Employment Identification numbers.

(d) Form HUD-2991, Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan (Plan), for the Jurisdiction in which the Proposed ALF will be located.

The appropriate Hub Office will notify you in writing if your application is missing any of the exhibits listed above and you will be given 14 days from the date of receipt of the HUD notification to submit the information required to cure the noted deficiencies. The exhibits identified by an asterisk (*) must be dated on or before the application deadline date. If not so dated the application will be rejected.

After the completeness review, HUD staff will review your application to determine whether the application meets the threshold requirements listed below. Only if your application meets all the threshold requirements is it eligible to be rated and ranked. Applications that do not pass threshold will be rejected.

(B) Threshold Review. In order to pass threshold, you must:

(1) Be in compliance with all fair housing and civil rights laws, statutes, regulations, and executive orders as enumerated in 24 CFR 5.105(a), and as noted earlier in this NOFA under Sections III(B)(2) and IV(E).

(2) Be an eligible applicant.

(3) Not request more funds than advertised.

(4) Additionally, HUD will also reject your application if the SSP and/or commitment and support letter(s) from the appropriate funding organizations and the appropriate licensing agency(ies):

(i) Are not submitted with your application;

(ii) Indicate that the ALF units, facilities, meals and supportive services to be provided are not designed to meet the special needs of the residents who will reside in the ALF as defined in this NOFA,

(iii) Do not show commitment for funding the meals and supportive services proposed; or

(iv) Indicate that the project as proposed will not meet the licensing requirements of the appropriate State/local agency(ies).

(C) Review Panels. The Office of Housing's Multifamily Hubs will establish panels to review all eligible applications that have passed threshold. The panels may include knowledgeable persons not currently employed by HUD.

(D) Rating of Applications (See paragraph below for selection of applications for commercial properties).

HUD staff teams will review and rate ALCP applications in accordance with the Ranking and Selection procedures (see Section V(F) of this NOFA). All applications will be either rated or technically rejected at the end of technical review. If your application meets all program eligibility requirements after completion of technical review, it will be rated according to the rating selection factors in Section V(G) of this NOFA. HUD reserves the right to reduce the amount requested in the application if any proposed components are ineligible or if the cost of items is not deemed reasonable. HUD will not reject an ALCP application based on technical review without notifying you of that rejection with all the reasons for the rejection, and providing you an opportunity to appeal. As discussed above, you will have 14 calendar days from the date of HUD's written notice to appeal a technical rejection to the Multifamily Hub where the applications were sent originally. HUD staff will make a determination on an appeal before finalizing selection recommendations.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. All requests for debriefing must be made in writing and submitted to the local Hub in which you applied for assistance. Materials provided to you during your debriefing will include the final scores you received for each rating factor, final evaluator comments for each rating factor, and the final assessment indicating the basis upon which assistance was provided or denied. Information regarding this procedure may be found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(F) Ranking and Selection Procedures. (Paragraphs (F)(1)–(4) are not applicable to applicants of commercial properties.)

Applications submitted in response to this NOFA that are eligible, pass threshold and have a total score of 75 points (or more) are eligible for ranking and selection. (Applications for the conversion of commercial properties with a score of at least 75 points will not be ranked but will be submitted to HUD Headquarters for selection.)

(1) Hub staff teams will be established for ALCP review in each Hub to do the application ratings (see Section V(D) above). See list of Hubs in Appendix A of this NOFA.

(2) From within rank order, Hub staff teams in each of the 18 Hubs will select the highest ranked applications from within that Hub in rank order, that can be funded from within the dollars available. Each Hub will select applications based on rank order up to and including the last application that can be funded out of each Hub's allocation. Hubs must not skip over any applications in order to select one based on the funds remaining.

(3) After making the initial selections, however, Hubs may use any residual funds to select the next rank-ordered application by reducing the dollars requested by no more than 10 percent (10%) and reducing the number of units proposed, but in no case reducing the number of units below the financial threshold feasibility of five ALF units.

(4) Funds remaining after these processes are completed will be returned to HUD Headquarters. HUD will use these funds first to fund Prentiss Jewish Federation of the HUD Detroit Hub, whose Fiscal Year 2002 ALCP application was not funded due to HUD error. Second, HUD Headquarters will use these funds to restore units to any project reduced as a result of using the residual grant funds in a Hub. Finally, HUD will use these funds for selecting one or more additional applications based on the Hubs rating and rankings, beginning with the highest rated application within the 18 Hubs. Only one application will be selected per Hub from the national residual amount. If there are no approvable applications in other Hubs, the process will begin again with the selection of the next highest rated application within the remaining Hubs. This process will continue until all approvable applications are selected using the available remaining funds. If there is a tie score between two or more applications, and there are insufficient residual funds to cover all tied applications, HUD Headquarters staff will choose the winning application(s) by lottery and/or reduction of grant requests consistent with the instructions above.

(5) Up to 2 applications will be selected using the $10 million set-aside to provide grant funds to nonprofit applicants proposing to convert unused or underutilized commercial properties into assisted living. HUD Multifamily Hubs will review applications for commercial properties for completeness and compliance with the eligibility criteria set forth in Section III of this NOFA. Hub staff will forward applications to Headquarters providing the application was received by the deadline date, meets all eligibility criteria, proposes reasonable costs for eligible activities, includes all technical corrections by the designated deadline date and must have received a score of 75 points or more. Headquarters will select no more than 2 applications on a first-come, first-served basis that can be funded within the $10,000,000 available.

Note: Only applications that can be fully funded will be selected. Any remaining funds after this selection process will be returned to the funds allocated for eligible multifamily assisted projects.

(G) Factors For Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications.

HUD will rate ALCP applications that successfully complete technical processing using the Rating Factors set forth below and in accordance with the application submission requirements identified in Section VI(B) of this NOFA, below. The maximum number of points an application may receive under this program is 100.

The Department encourages applicants to partner, fund or sub-contract with grassroots organizations, including faith-based and other community-based organizations in conducting their work programs. (See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for the definition of "grassroots organizations").

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (20 Points)

This factor addresses your capacity to carry out the conversion in a timely, cost-conscious and effective manner. It also reviews your experience with the supportive services which the ALF intends to provide to elderly residents, especially in such areas as meals, 24-hour staffing and on-site health care. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Sections VI(B)(5)(a), (8)(h), and of this NOFA.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which your application demonstrates your ability to carry out a successful conversion of the project and to implement the plan to deliver the supportive services on a long-term basis, considering the following:

(1) (9 points). The practicality of your plan and timetable to carry out the physical conversion of the development to the ALF.

(2) (10 points). Your past experience in providing or arranging for supportive services either on or off site for those who are frail. (If you are applying to convert an unused or underutilized commercial facility to assisted living and you do not own or operate a project with frail elderly residents, you must provide information on any past experience in providing or arranging supportive services for those who are frail.) Examples are: Meals delivered to apartment of resident or in a congregate setting (2 points), arranging for or providing personal care (3 points), providing 24-hour staffing (1 point), providing or making available on-site preventive health care (2 points) and other support services (2 points).

(3) (1 point). Your organization is a "grassroots" organization as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the conversion is needed by the categories of elderly persons and persons with disabilities that the ALF is intended to serve (very low income elderly persons and persons with disabilities who have limitations in three or more activities of daily living). The application must provide evidence of current needs among project residents (not applicable to applications proposing to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities) and needs of potential residents in the housing market area for such persons including economic and demographic information on very-low income frail elderly and persons with disabilities and information on current assisted living resources in the market area.

The factor also addresses your inability to fund the repairs or conversion activities from existing financial resources. In making this determination, HUD will consider project financial information or the organization's financial information for unused or underutilized commercial facilities. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Section VI(B)(4)(a) through (d), (2)(c) and (9)(a) through (c) of the NOFA. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider:

(1) (7 points). The need for assisted living among the elderly and disabled residents of the project taking into consideration those currently in need and the depth of future needs given aging in place. (Not applicable to applications to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities to assisted living.)

(2) (3 points (10 points for applications to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities to assisted living.)). The need for assisted living among very-low income elderly persons and persons with disabilities in the housing market area.

(3) (9 points). Insufficient funding for any needed conversion work, as evidenced by the project's financial statements and specifically the lack of excess reserve for replacement dollars (R4R) and residual receipts. If the available R4R and residual receipts are less than 10% of the total funds needed = 9 points; if the available R4R and residual receipts are 10–50% of need = 5 points; and, if the available R4R and residual receipts are 51% or more of the total funds needed = 0 points). For commercial properties, if the available working capital exceeds 10 percent of the total conversion = 5 points; if the working capital is less than 10 percent of the total conversion = 9 points.

(4) (1 point). The Department will provide one (1) point to those applications which establish a connection between the proposed ALF and the community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposal in addressing the proposed conversion, effectiveness of service coordination and management planning and the meals and supportive services which the ALF intends to provide and the extent to which you have evidenced general support for conversion by participating in your community's Consolidated Planning Process, involving the residents in the planning process (not applicable to applications proposing to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities). There must also be a relationship between the proposed activities, the project's and the community's needs and purposes of the program funding for your application to receive points for this factor. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Sections VI(B)(2)(a) through (c), VI(B)(5)(b) through (e) and (h) and (7 and VI(B)(8))(a) through (e) and (g) and (h) of this NOFA. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the following:

(1) (12 points). The extent to which the proposed ALF design will meet the special physical needs of frail elderly persons or persons with disabilities expected to be served at reasonable cost (consider the ALF design: meets needs = 12 points; ALF design partially meets needs = 6 points; and ALF design does not meet needs = 0 points).

(2) (12 points). The extent to which the ALF's proposed management and operational plan ensures that the provision of both meals and supportive services planned will be accomplished over time. (Consider ALF design/management plan: meets needs of management operations = 12 points; ALF design/management plan partially meets needs of management operations = 6 points; and ALF design/management plan does not meet needs of management operations = 0 points.)

(3) (7 points). The extent to which the proposed supportive services meet the anticipated needs of the frail elderly and disabled residents (does meet = 7 points; partially meets needs = 4 points; and, does not meet needs = 0 points); and

(4) (7 points). The extent to which the service coordination function is addressed and explained as onsite and sufficient, onsite and augmented or new, and addresses the ongoing procurement of needed services for the residents of the ALF (does meet = 7 points, partially meets = 4 points, does not meet = 0 points).

(5) (2 points). The extent to which you demonstrated that you have been actively involved (or if not currently active, the steps you will take to become actively involved) in your community's Consolidated Planning/AI processes to identify and address a need/problem that is related in whole or part, directly or indirectly to the proposed project.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other community resources which can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve program purposes. For the ALCP to succeed, you must generate local funding for the necessary supportive services to operate the ALF. HUD also encourages local funding for some of the necessary conversion work, or other work needed in the project (e.g., general modernization) which is not specifically linked to the ALF).

Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Section VI(B)(5)(f), (g), and (B)(6) and B(8)(f) of this NOFA.

(1) (5 points). The extent to which there are commitments for the funding needed for the meals and the supportive services planned for the ALF and that the total cost of the estimated budget of the ALF is covered. Consider 90% or more commitment for the total budget with no more than 10% general support = 5 points; 80–89.9% or more commitment for the total budget with no more than 20% general support = 4 points; 65–79.9% firm commitment with no more than 35% general support = 3 points; 40–64.9% firm commitment for the total budget with more than 60% general commitment = 2 points; less than 40% firm commitment for the total budget with no more than 60% general support = 0 points.

(2) (3 points). The extent of local organizations' support which is firmly committed to providing at least 50 percent of the total cost of ALF conversion (consider 50% or more = 3 points, 20–49.9% = 2 points, and under 20% = 0 points).

(3) (2 points). The extent of local organizational support which is firmly committed to providing funds for additional repair or retrofit necessary for the project NOT specifically directed to activities eligible under this NOFA (consider yes = 2 points, no = 0 points).

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensure that promises you made in the application are kept; and to ensure performance goals with outcomes are established and are met (see the General Section of this SuperNOFA for more detail). Outcomes may include the extent to which your project will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living and an improved living environment, as well as the extent to which the project will be viable absent HUD funds but rely more on state, local and private funds. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Section VI(B)5(a)–(g)(2)(d), (B)(8)(a)–(e) of this NOFA.

(1) (4 points). The extent to which your conversion timeframe reflect the length of time it will take to convert the units describing how residents will benefit from the conversion of the units; and how the converted units will result in ALF residents being able to age in place;

(2) (2 points). The extent to which your assisted living facility will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living and improved living environment.

(3) (2 points). The extent to which you demonstrate that the project will be viable absent HUD funds while relying more on state, local and private funds.

(4) (2 point). The extent to which there is an operating philosophy which promotes the autonomy and independence of the frail elderly persons it is intended to serve (is fully addressed = 2 points, no or not addressed = 0 points).

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Application—General. Your application must include all of the information, materials, forms, and exhibits listed in Section VI(B). In cases where your (i) articles of incorporation and (ii) by-laws have NOT changed since the project was originally approved by HUD, self-certification to that effect—that the documents on file with HUD are current—is sufficient. Items in Section VI(B) for which self-certification of currency is possible are denoted by a “”.

In addition to the relief of paperwork burden in preparing applications, you will not have to submit certain new/recent information and exhibits you have previously prepared. See individual item descriptions, below to identify such items. An example of such an item may be the FY 2002 Annual Financial Statement.

Note: If any of the relocation costs will be funded from sources other than the ALCP grant, you must provide evidence of a firm commitment of these funds. When evaluating applications, HUD will consider the total cost of proposals (i.e., cost of conversion, temporary relocation, service coordinator and other project costs).

(6) A description of any retrofit or renovation which will be done at the project (with third party funds) that is separate and distinct from the ALF conversion. With such description, attach firm commitment letters from third party organizations in specific dollar amounts which will cover the cost of any work outside the scope of this NOFA.

(8) A supportive services plan (SSP), a copy of which must be submitted to the appropriate state and/or local agency as instructed in Section IV(B) of this NOFA. For those applicants needing to contact state Medicaid offices, a list is provided on the Internet at www.hcfa.gov/medicaid/medicaid.htm. The SSP must include:

(b) A description of how you will provide the supportive services to those who are frail and have disabilities (i.e., on or off-site or combination of on or off-site), including an explanation of how the service coordination role will facilitate the adequate provision of such services to ALF residents, and how the services will meet the identified needs of the residents. Also indicate how you intend to fund the service coordinator role.

(e) List who will pay for the board and supportive services (e.g., $_____ for meals by sponsor, $_____ for housekeeping services by city government; $_____ for personal care by State Department of Health; $_____ for _____ by state _____ program; $_____ in fees by tenants; and, $_____ by _____).

The amounts and commitments from both tenants and/or providers must equal the estimated amounts necessary to cover the monthly rates for the number of people expected to be served. All amounts committed/collected must equal the annualized cost of the monthly rates calculated by the expected percentage of units filled.

(f) A support/commitment letter from each listed proposed funding source per paragraph (e), above, for the planned meals and supportive services listed in the application. The letter must cover the total planned annual commitment (and multiyear amount total, if different), length of time for the commitment, and the amounts payable for each service covered by the provider/paying organization. There must be a letter from EACH participating organization listed in Section VI(B)(8)(e) of this NOFA, above.

(g) A support letter from each governmental agency which provides licensing for ALFs in that jurisdiction.

(h) A description of your relevant experience in arranging for and/or delivering supportive services to frail residents. (b) A copy of the most recent Residual Receipts Account statement. Indicate any approvals for the use of such receipts from the field office for over $500/unit.

(c) Annual Financial Statement (AFS). If your FY 2003 AFS was due to REAC more than 120 days BEFORE the due date for this application, in the interest of reducing work burden, only include the date that it was sent to REAC. If the AFS was due to REAC 120 days or less from the due date of this application, you MUST include a paper copy. For commercial properties, the most recent financial statement or annual report.

(10) Forms and Certifications. The following exhibits, forms, certifications and assurances are required:

(a) Form HUD-424, Application for Federal Assistance, including Federal Assistance Matrix, and compliance with Executive Order 12372 (a certification that you have submitted a copy of your application, if required, to the State agency (Single Point of Contact) for State review in accordance with Executive Order 12372 (see the General Section of the SuperNOFA for instructions in submitting this form).

The certification must be made by the unit of general local government if it is required to have, or has, a complete Plan. Otherwise, the certification may be made by the State, or by the unit of general local government if the project will be located within the jurisdiction of the unit of general local government authorized to use an abbreviated strategy, and if it is willing to prepare such a Plan.

All certifications must be made by the public official responsible for submitting the plan to HUD. The certifications must be submitted as part of the application by the application submission deadline date set forth herein. The Plan regulations are published in 24 CFR part 91.

VII. Environmental Requirements

Your ALCP application is subject to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and applicable related Federal environmental authorities. (See 24 CFR part 50, as applicable.) An environmental review will be completed by HUD before the award of any grant under this program. Pursuant to 24 CFR part 55, ALCP projects are critical actions for purposes of floodplain management review.

VIII. Authority

RATING FACTORS

Below are the Rating Factors and the corresponding application Exhibits that will be reviewed to determine the ratings:

1. CAPACITY OF THE APPLICANT AND RELEVANT ORGANIZATIONAL STAFF
(Exhibit References: Exhibits 5(a), 8(h))

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the application demonstrates your ability to carry out a successful conversion of the project and the plan to deliver the supportive services on a long-term basis, considering the following: (20 points)

- (a) The practicality of your plan and timetable to carry out the physical conversion of the development to an ALF. (9 points)
- (b) Your past experience in providing or arranging for supportive services either on or off site for those who are frail. (If you are applying to convert an unused or underutilized commercial facility to assisted living and you do not own or operate a project with frail elderly residents, you must provide information on any past experience in providing or arranging supportive services for those who are frail.) (10 points)

Examples are: Meals delivered to apartment of resident or in a congregate setting (2 points), arranging for or providing personal care (3 points), providing 24-hour staffing (1 point), providing or making available on-site preventive health care (2 points), and other supportive services (2 points).

- (c) Your organization is a "grassroots" organization. (1 point)

2. NEED/EXTENT OF THE PROBLEM

(Exhibit References: Exhibits 4(a) through (d), 2(c), and 9(a) through (c))

In determining the extent to which the conversion is needed by the categories of elderly persons and persons with disabilities that the ALF is intended to serve (very low income elderly persons and persons with disabilities who have limitations in three or more activities of daily living), HUD will consider the evidence in your application of the current needs among project residents (not applicable to applications proposing to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities) and the needs of potential residents in the housing market area including economic and demographic information on very-low income frail elderly and persons with disabilities and information on current assisted living resources in the market area. In addition, HUD will consider your inability to fund the repairs or conversion activities from existing financial resources by examining project financial information or the organizations financial information for unused and underutilized commercial facilities. HUD will also consider your level of participation in your community's Consolidated Plain/AI, including your involvement with any faith-based organizations, associations, or any committees that support programs and activities that will enhance the project or the lives of the residents of the project. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the following: (20 points)

- (a) The need for assisted living among the elderly and disabled residents of the project taking into consideration those currently in need and the depth of future needs given aging in place. (Not applicable to applications to covert unused or underutilized commercial facilities to assisted living). (7 points)
- (b) The need for assisted living among very-low income elderly persons and persons with disabilities in the housing market area. (3 points (10 points for applications to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities to assisted living))
- (c) Insufficient funding for any needed conversion work, as evidenced by the project's financial statements and specifically the lack of excess reserve for replacement dollars (R4R) and residual receipts; for unused and underutilized commercial facilities, by the organization's annual financial statement or annual report. (9 points)

If reserves and residual receipts are less than 10% of the total funds needed (9 points); if reserves and residual receipts are 10-50% of need (5 points); and if reserves and residual receipts are 51% or more of the total funds needed (0 points).

For commercial properties, if the organization's available working capital exceeds 10 percent of the total conversion (5 points), if the working capital is less than 10 percent of the total conversion (9 points).

- (d) If the application establishes a connection between the proposed ALF and the Community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization. (1 point)

SOUNDNESS OF APPROACH

(Exhibit References: Exhibits 5(b) through (e) and (h), 7, and 8(a) through (e) and (g) and (h))

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposal in addressing the proposed conversion, effectiveness of service coordination and management planning and the meals and supportive services which the ALF intends to provide and the extent to which you have evidence general support for the conversion by participating in your community's Consolidated Planning Process, involving the residents in the planning process (not applicable to applicants proposing to convert unused or underutilized commercial facilities). There must be a relationship between the proposed activities, the project's and the community's needs and purposes of the program funding for your application to receive points for this factor.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the following:
(40 points)

- (a) The extent to which the proposed ALF design will meet the special physical needs of the frail elderly or persons with disabilities expected to be served at reasonable cost. (12 points)

(ALF design meets needs - 12 points) (ALF design partially meets needs - 6 points) (ALF design does not meet needs - 0 points)

- (b) The extent to which the ALF's proposed management and operational plan ensures that the provision of both meals and supportive services will be accomplished over time. (12 points)

(ALF design/management plan meets needs of management operations - 12 points; ALF design/management plan partially meets needs of management operations - 6 points; ALF design/management plan does not meet needs of management operations - 0 points)

- (c) The extent to which the proposed supportive services meet the needs of the anticipated frail elderly and disabled residents. (7 points)
- (services meet needs - 7 points; partially meet needs - 4 points; does not meet needs - 0 points)
- (d) The extent to which the service coordination function is addressed and explained as onsite and sufficient, onsite and augmented or new, and addresses the ongoing procurement of needed services for the residents of the ALF. (7 points)
- (fully addressed and explained - 7 points; partially addressed and explained - 4 points; not addressed and explained - 0 points)
- (e) The extent to which you have demonstrated that you have been actively involved (or if not currently active, the steps you will take to become actively involved) in your community's Consolidated Planning/AI process to identify and address a need/problem that is related in whole or part, directly or indirectly to the proposed project. (2 points)

4. LEVERAGING RESOURCES

(Exhibit References: 5(f) and (g), 6 and 8(f))

In determining your ability to secure other community resources which can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve program purposes, HUD will consider: (10 points)

- (a) The extent to which there are commitments for the funding needed for the meals and the supportive services planned for the ALF and that the total cost of the estimated budget of the ALF is covered. (5 points)
- (90% or more commitment for the total budget with no more than 10% general support - 5 points; 80 - 89.9% or more commitment for the total budget with no more than 20% general support - 4 points; 65 - 79.9% commitment with no more than 35% general support - 3 points; 40 - 64.9% firm commitment for the total budget with more than 60% general commitment - 2 points; less than 40% firm commitment for the total budget with no more than 60% general support - 0 points)

- (b) The extent of local organizations' support which is firmly committed to providing at least 50 percent of the total cost of ALF conversion. (3 points)

(support is 50% or more - 3 points; support is 20 - 49.9% - 2 points; support is under 20% - 0 points)

- (c) The extent of local organizational support which is firmly committed to providing funds for additional repair or retrofit necessary for the project NOT specifically directed to activities eligible under this NOFA. (2 points)

(support exists - 2 points; support does not exist - 0 points)

5. ACHIEVING RESULTS AND PROGRAM EVALUATION

(Exhibit References: Exhibits 5(a) and (b), and 8(a) through (e))

This factor address your intent to keep the promises made in the conversion timetable that will result in the timely conversion of your project; the extent to which you have indicated how the converted units will result in ALF residents being able to age in place; the extent to which the project will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living; and the extent to which the project will be viable absent HUD funds and relying more on state, local and private funds, HUD will consider:
(10 points)

- (a) The extent to which your conversion timetable reflects the length of time it will take to convert the units and describing how the converted units will benefit the residents as they age in place. (4 points)
- (b) The extent to which the assisted living facility will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living and improved living environment. (2 points)
- (c) The extent to which you demonstrate that the project will be viable absent HUD funds while relying more on state, local and private funds. (2 points)

- (d) The extent to which there is an operating philosophy which promotes the autonomy and independence of the frail elderly persons it is intended to serve. (2 points)

(operating philosophy addressed - 2 points; not addressed - 0 points)

PART IV

SUPPORTIVE SERVICES PLAN

EXHIBIT 8 - Supportive Services Plan

You must submit a copy of the SSP to each appropriate State or local service funding organization well in advance of the application deadline, for appropriate review. The State or local funding organization(s) must return the SSP to you with appropriate comments and indication of funding commitment, which you must include with this application.

You must also submit a copy of your application to the appropriate organization(s) which license ALFs in your jurisdiction. The licensing agency(ies) must approve your plan, and must also certify that the ALF and the proposed supportive services in your SSP are consistent with local statute and regulations and well designed to serve the needs of the frail elderly and people with disabilities who will reside in the ALF portion of your project.

- (a) Describe the supportive services needed for the frail elderly the ALF is expected to serve. This must include: (i) meals and such other supportive services required locally or by the State, and (ii) such optional services or care to be offered on an "as needed" basis.

Examples of both mandatory and optional services (which will vary from state to state) are: two meals and two snacks or three meals daily; 24-hour protective oversight; personal care; housekeeping services; personal counseling and transportation.

- (b) Describe how you will provide the supportive services to those who are frail and have disabilities (i.e., on or off-site or combination of the two), including an explanation of how the service coordination role will facilitate the adequate provision of such services to ALF residents and how it will be funded, and how the services will meet the identified needs of the residents.

EXHIBIT 8 (CONT'D)

- (c) Describe how the operation of your ALF will work, including:
- (i) general operating procedures;
 - (ii) ALF philosophy and how it will promote the autonomy and independence of the frail elderly and persons with disabilities;
 - (iii) what the service coordination function will do and the extent to which it is existing, augmented or new;
 - (iv) ALF staff training plans;
 - (v) the degree to which and how the ALF will relate to the day-to-day operations of the rest of the project.
- (d) The monthly individual rate for board and supportive services for the ALF listing the total fee and components of the total fee for the items required by State or local licensing AND list the appropriate rate for any optional services you plan to offer ALF residents. Provide an estimate of the total annual costs of the required board and supportive services you expect to provide and an estimate of the amount of optional services you expect to provide.
- (e) List who will pay for the board and supportive services, e.g., $___ for meals by sponsor, $___ for housekeeping services by city government; $___ for personal care by State Department of Health; $___ for ___ by State ___ program; $___ in fees by tenants; and, $___ by ___.

The amounts and commitments from both tenants and/or providers must equal the estimated amounts necessary to cover the monthly rates for the number of people expected to be served. If you include tenant fees in the proposal, list and show any proposed scaling mechanism. All amounts committed/collected must equal the annualized cost of the monthly rates calculated by the expected percentage of units filled.

- (f) Provide a support/commitment letter from EACH listed proposed funding source in (e) above, for the planned meals and supportive services. The letter must cover the total planned annual commitment (and multiyear amount total, if different), length of time for the commitment, and the amounts payable for each service covered by the provider/paying organization.
- (g) Provide a support letter from EACH governmental agency(ies) which provides licensing for ALFs in that jurisdiction.
- (h) Describe your relevant experience in arranging for and/or delivering supportive services to frail residents. The description should include any supportive services facilities owned/operated; your past or current involvement in any project-based programs that demonstrates your management capabilities. Include data on the facilities and specific meals and/or supportive services provided on a regular basis, the racial/ethnic composition of the populations served, if available, and information and testimonials from residents or community leaders on the quality of the services.

NOTE: If a request for funding under the Service Coordinators in Multifamily Housing NOFA for the ALF and/or the whole project (Section 202 projects with PRAC are not eligible for such funding because PRAC funds can cover the cost of service coordination) is included as part of this application, the Form HUD-424, indicating the dollars requested must be attached as Exhibit 10 (a). Do NOT attach the entire service coordinator application.

PART V
PROJECT RESOURCES

EXHIBIT 9 - A description of your project's resources. (Not applicable to commercial properties.)

- (b) Provide a copy of the most recent Residual Receipts Account statement. Indicate any approvals for the use of such receipts from the field office for over $500/unit.
- (c) Provide your annual financial statement (AFS). If your FY 2003 AFS was due to REAC more than 120 days BEFORE the due date for this application, in the interest of reducing work burden, only include the date that it was sent to REAC. If the AFS was due to REAC 120 days or less from the due date of this application, you MUST include a paper copy. For commercial properties, the most recent statement or annual report.

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 2.0 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number.

Privacy Act Statement. Except for Social Security Numbers (SSNs) and Employer Identification Numbers (EINs), the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is authorized to collect all the information required by this form under section 102 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989, 42 U.S.C. 3531. Disclosure of SSNs and EINs is optional. The SSN or EIN is used as a unique identifier. The information you provide will enable HUD to carry out its responsibilities under Sections 102(b), (c), and (d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989, Pub. L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989. These provisions will help ensure greater accountability and integrity in the provision of certain types of assistance administered by HUD. They will also help ensure that HUD assistance for a specific housing project under Section 102(d) is not more than is necessary to make the project feasible after taking account of other government assistance. HUD will make available to the public all applicant disclosure reports for five years in the case of applications for competitive assistance, and for generally three years in the case of other applications. Update reports will be made available along with the disclosure reports, but in no case for a period generally less than three years. All reports, both initial reports and update reports, will be made available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. §552) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 15. HUD will use the information in evaluating individual assistance applications and in performing internal administrative analyses to assist in the management of specific HUD programs. The information will also be used in making the determination under Section 102(d) whether HUD assistance for a specific housing project is more than is necessary to make the project feasible after taking account of other government assistance. You must provide all the required information. Failure to provide any required information may delay the processing of your application, and may result in sanctions and penalties, including imposition of the administrative and civil money penalties specified under 24 CFR §4.38.

Note: This form only covers assistance made available by the Department. States and units of general local government that carry out responsibilities under Sections 102(b) and (c) of the Reform Act must develop their own procedures for complying with the Act.

Part I. Threshold Determinations - Applicants Only

Part I contains information to help the applicant determine whether the remainder of the form must be completed. Recipients filing Update Reports should not complete this Part.

If the answer to either questions 1 or 2 is No, the applicant need not complete Parts II and III of the report, but must sign the certification at the end of the form.

Part II. Other Government Assistance and Expected Sources and Uses of Funds.

A. Other Government Assistance. This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients for assistance and recipients filing update reports. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity for which assistance is sought. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity. Other government assistance is defined in note 4 on the last page. For purposes of this definition, other government assistance is expected to be made available if, based on an assessment of all the circumstances involved, there are reasonable grounds to anticipate that the assistance will be forthcoming.

Both applicant and recipient disclosures must include all other government assistance involved with the HUD assistance, as well as any other government assistance that was made available before the request, but that has continuing vitality at the time of the request. Examples of this latter category include tax credits that provide for a number of years of tax benefits, and grant assistance that continues to benefit the project at the time of the assistance request.

The following information must be provided:

1. Enter the name and address, city, State, and zip code of the government agency making the assistance available.
 2. State the type of other government assistance (e.g., loan, grant, loan insurance).

- B. Non-Government Assistance. Note that the applicant and recipient disclosure report must specify all expected sources and uses of funds - both from HUD and any other source - that have been or are to be, made available for the project or activity. Non-government sources of funds typically include (but are not limited to) foundations and private contributors.

Part III. Interested Parties.

This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients filing update reports. Applicants must provide information on:

1. All developers, contractors, or consultants involved in the application for the assistance or in the planning, development, or implementation of the project or activity and

Note: A financial interest means any financial involvement in the project or activity, including (but not limited to) situations in which an individual or entity has an equity interest in the project or activity, shares in any profit on resale or any distribution of surplus cash or other assets of the project or activity, or receives compensation for any goods or services provided in connection with the project or activity. Residency of an individual in housing for which assistance is being sought is not, by itself, considered a covered financial interest.

The information required below must be provided.

1. Enter the full names and addresses. If the person is an entity, the listing must include the full name and address of the entity as well as the CEO. Please list all names alphabetically.
2. Entry of the Social Security Number (SSN) or Employee Identification Number (EIN), as appropriate, for each person listed is optional.

not repeat the information, but need only refer to the form and location to incorporate it into this report. (It is likely that some of the information required by this report has been provided on SF 424A, and on various budget forms accompanying the application.) If this report requires information beyond that provided elsewhere in the application package, the applicant must include in this report all the additional information required.

Funding Availability for Service Coordinators in Multifamily Housing

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of this Service Coordinator program is to allow multifamily housing owners to assist elderly individuals and people with disabilities living in HUD-assisted housing and in the surrounding area to obtain needed supportive services from the community, in order to enable them to continue living as independently as possible in their own homes.

Available Funds. Approximately $25 million, Fiscal Year 2003 funds.

Eligible Applicants. Only owners of eligible developments may apply for and become the recipient of grant funds. Property management companies may administer grant programs but are not eligible applicants. See Section III for more detailed eligibility criteria.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under this program, please review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date, Application, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. Your completed application (an original and two copies) is due on or before 3:30 p.m., local time, on July 10, 2003 at the address given below.

Application Delivery. You may not hand deliver applications. HUD will reject any hand-delivered applications.

You must submit your application to the Field Office that has jurisdiction for the housing developments included in your application.

You may send your application via any mail delivery service. However, HUD recommends that you send your application through the United States Postal Service, as access to HUD offices by other delivery services is not guaranteed.

If you mail your application to the wrong Field Office and it is not received by the Office designated for receipt by the due date and time, it will be deemed late and will not be considered for funding. HUD is not responsible for directing it to the appropriate Office. Also, see the General Section of this SuperNOFA for further discussion concerning the form of application submission.

Addresses for Submitting Applications. Appendix A to this program section contains a list of HUD Field Offices where you must send your application by the deadline. Please address your application to the Director, Multifamily Housing Hub or Program Center in your local HUD Field Office. You should not submit any copies of your application to HUD Headquarters.

For Applications. Please note that all information needed for the preparation and submission of your application is included in this program NOFA and in the General Section of the SUPERNOFA. However, for your convenience and ease of submission, an application is being provided as Appendix B to this NOFA. To obtain a printed application, please call the SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929. If you have a hearing or speech impairment, please call the Center's TTY number at 1-800-HUD-2209. II. Amount Allocated

(A) Available Funding. Of the estimated $50 million appropriated in the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations, approximately $25 million will be used to fund Service Coordinator Programs through this SuperNOFA. Additionally, approximately $25 million will be used to fund one-year extensions to expiring Service Coordinator and Congregate Housing Services Program (CHSP) grants.

(B) Maximum Grant Award. There is no maximum grant amount. The grant amount you request will be based on the Service Coordinator's salary and the number of hours worked each week by that Service Coordinator (and/or aide). You should base your determination of the appropriate number of weekly work hours on the number of people in the development who are frail, at-risk, or non-elderly people with disabilities. Under normal circumstances, a full-time Service Coordinator should be able to serve about 50-60 frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities on a continuing basis. Your proposed salary must also be supported by evidence of comparable salaries in your area. Gather data from programs near you to compare your estimates with the salaries and administrative costs of currently operating programs. Field staff can provide you with contacts at local program sites.

(C) Funding Process. Prior to the selection process, HUD will first fund the FY 2002 Service Coordinator application submitted by Prentis Jewish Federation Apartments, Oak Park, Michigan, in the amount of $207,350. This application was not funded in FY 2002 due to HUD error. HUD will then fund Service Coordinator applications submitted by FY 2003 Assisted Living Conversion Program (ALCP) applicants, whose ALCP applications are selected for funding under that program's NOFA. HUD estimates that approximately $1 million will be used to fund ALCP Service Coordinator applications. Any funds not used by the ALCP program to fund service coordinators will be added to the funds available for the National Lottery.

HUD will use remaining funds to make grant awards through the use of a national lottery. A computer program performs the lottery by randomly selecting eligible applications. HUD will fully fund as many applications as possible with the given amount of funds available. After all fully fundable applications have been selected by lottery, HUD may make an offer to partially fund the next application on the lottery's list, in order to use the entire amount of funds allocated. If the applicant selected for partial funding turns down the offer, HUD will make an offer to partially fund the following application. HUD will continue this process until an applicant accepts the partial funding offer.

(D) Reduction in Requested Grant Amount. HUD may make an award in an amount less than requested, if:

(1) HUD determines that some elements of your proposed program are ineligible for funding;

(2) There are insufficient funds available to make an offer to fully fund the application; or

(3) HUD determines that a reduced grant amount would prevent duplicative federal funding.

(E) Alternative Funding for Service Coordinators. If your development has available residual receipts or excess income, you must use these funds prior to receiving grant monies, as long as they are not already allocated for other critical development expenses. Owners may submit requests to use residual receipts, or Section 8 or Project Rental Assistance Contract (PRAC) operating funds following instructions in Housing's Management Agent Handbook 4381.5, REVISION-2, CHANGE-2, Chapter 8. Refer to Housing Notice H 02-14 for information on using Section 236 excess income to fund a Service Coordinator. HUD Field staff may approve use of these project funds at any time, consistent with current policy. You should discuss these alternative funding options with your Field Office staff prior to submitting a grant application.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The Service Coordinator Program provides funding for the employment and support of Service Coordinators in insured and assisted housing developments that were designed for the elderly and persons with disabilities and continue to operate as such. Service Coordinators help residents obtain supportive services from the community that are needed to enable independent living and aging in place.

A Service Coordinator is a social service staff person hired or contracted by the development's owner or management company. The Service Coordinator is responsible for assuring that elderly residents, especially those who are frail or at risk, and those non-elderly residents with disabilities are linked to the supportive services they need to continue living independently in their current homes. All services should meet the specific desires and needs of the residents themselves. The Service Coordinator may not require any elderly individual or person with a disability to accept any specific supportive service(s).

You may want to review the Management Agent Handbook 4381.5

REVISION-2, CHANGE-2, Chapter 8 for further guidance on service coordinators. This Handbook is accessible through HUDCLIPS on HUD's Web site at <http://www.hudclips.org>.

The Handbook is in the Handbooks and Notices—Housing Notices database. Enter the Handbook number in the "Document Number" field to retrieve the Handbook.

(B) Definition of Terms Used in this Program NOFA.

(1) "Activities of daily living (ADLs)" means eating, dressing, bathing, grooming, and household management activities, as further described below:

(a) Eating—May need assistance with cooking, preparing, or serving food, but must be able to feed self;

(b) Bathing—May need assistance in getting in and out of the shower or tub, but must be able to wash self;

(c) Grooming—May need assistance in washing hair, but must be able to take care of personal appearance;

(d) Dressing—Must be able to dress self, but may need occasional assistance; and

(e) Home management activities—May need assistance in doing housework, grocery shopping, laundry, or getting to and from activities such as going to the doctor and shopping, but must be mobile. The mobility requirement does not exclude persons in wheelchairs or those requiring mobility devices.

(2) "At-risk elderly person" is an individual 62 years of age or older who is unable to perform one or two ADLs, as defined in the above paragraph.

(3) "Frail elderly person" means an individual 62 years of age or older who is unable to perform at least three ADLs as defined in the above paragraph.

(4) "People with disabilities" means those individuals who:

(a) Have a disability as defined in Section 223 of the Social Security Act;

(b) Have a physical, mental, or emotional impairment expected to be of long, continued, and indefinite duration that impedes the individual's ability to live independently; or

(c) Have a developmental disability.

(5) "Reasonable costs" mean that costs are consistent with salaries and administrative costs of similar programs in your Field office's jurisdiction.

(C) Functions of a Service Coordinator. The major functions of the Service Coordinator include the following:

(1) Refer and link the residents of the development to supportive services provided by the general community. Such services may include case management, personal assistance, homemaker, meals-on-wheels, transportation, counseling, occasional visiting nurse, preventive health screening/wellness, and legal advocacy.

(2) Educate residents on service availability, application procedures, client rights, etc.

(3) Establish linkages with agencies and service providers in the community. Shop around to determine/develop the best "deals" in service pricing, to assure individualized, flexible, and creative services for the involved resident. Provide advocacy as appropriate.

(4) Provide case management when such service is not available through the general community. This might include evaluation of health, psychological and social needs, development of an individually tailored case plan for services, and periodic reassessment of the resident's situation and needs. Service Coordinators can also set up a Professional Assessment Committee (PAC) to assist in performing initial resident assessments. (See the guidance in the CHSP regulations at 24 CFR 700.135 (or 1944.258 for Rural Housing developments). Grantees cannot use grant funds to pay PAC members for their services.

(5) Monitor the ongoing provision of services from community agencies and keep the case management and provider agency current with the progress of the individual. Manage the provision of supportive services where appropriate.

(6) Help the residents build informal support networks with other residents, family and friends.

(7) Work and consult with tenant organizations and resident management corporations. Provide training to the development's residents in the obligations of tenancy or coordinate such training.

(8) Create a directory of providers for use by both development staff and residents.

(9) Educate other staff of the management team on issues related to aging in place and Service Coordination, to help them to better work with and assist the residents.

During work hours paid for by this grant, Service Coordinators may not perform the following activities:

(i) Act as a recreational or activities director;

(ii) Provide supportive services directly;

(iii) Assist with property management work; or

(iv) Act as a Neighborhood Networks program director or coordinator.

(D) Basic Qualifications of Service Coordinators and Aides.

(1) Service Coordinator Qualifications include the following:

(a) A Bachelor of Social Work or degree in Gerontology, Psychology or Counseling is preferable; a college degree is fully acceptable. You may also consider individuals who do not have a college degree, but who have appropriate work experience.

(b) Knowledge of the aging process, elder services, disability services, eligibility for and procedures of federal and applicable state entitlement programs, legal liability issues relating to providing Service Coordination, drug and alcohol use and abuse by the elderly, and mental health issues.

(c) Two to three years experience in social service delivery with senior citizens and people with disabilities. Some supervisory or management experience may be desirable if the Service Coordinator will work with aides.

(d) Demonstrated working knowledge of supportive services and other resources for senior citizens and non-elderly people with disabilities available in the local area.

(e) Demonstrated ability to advocate, organize, problem-solve, and provide results for the elderly and people with disabilities.

(2) Aides Working with a Service Coordinator. Aides should either have a college degree or appropriate experience in working with the elderly and/or people with disabilities. An example of an aide position could be an internship or work-study program with local colleges and universities to assist in carrying out some of the Service Coordinator's functions.

(E) Eligible Applicants and Developments. To be eligible for funding:

(1) You must meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of Sections V (B) and (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(2) You must be an owner of a development assisted under one of the following programs:

(a) Section 202 Direct Loan;

(b) Project-based Section 8 (including Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation); or

(c) Section 221(d)(3) below-market interest rate, and 236 developments that are insured or assisted.

(3) Additionally, developments listed in paragraph (2), above, are eligible only if they meet the following criteria:

(a) Have frail or at-risk elderly residents and/or non-elderly residents with disabilities who together total at least 25 percent of the building's residents. (For example, in a 52-unit development, at least 13 residents must be frail, at-risk, or non-elderly people with disabilities.)

(b) Were designed for the elderly or persons with disabilities and continue to operate as such. This includes any building within a mixed-use development that was designed for occupancy by elderly persons or persons with disabilities at its inception and continues to operate as such, or consistent with title VI, subtitle D of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550). If not so designed, a development in which the owner gives preferences in tenant selection (with HUD approval) to eligible elderly persons or persons with disabilities, for all units in that development.

(c) Are current in mortgage payments or are current under a workout agreement.

(d) Meet HUD's Uniform Physical Conditions Standards (codified in 24 CFR part 5, subpart G), based on the most recent physical inspection report and responses thereto, as evidenced by a score of 60 or better on the last physical inspection or by an approved plan for developments scoring less than 60.

(e) Are in compliance with their regulatory agreement, Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) Contract, and other outstanding directives.

(f) Have insufficient surplus cash available at the time of application that otherwise could be used to hire a Service Coordinator. HUD Field staff will make this determination based on the surplus cash statement of the development's last Annual Financial Statement.

(4) If your eligibility status changes during the course of the grant term, making you ineligible to receive a grant (e.g. due to prepayment of mortgage, sale of property, or opting out of a Section 8 HAP contract), HUD has the right to terminate your grant.

(F) Ineligible Applicants and Developments.

(1) Property management companies, area agencies on aging, and other like organizations are not eligible applicants for Service Coordinator funds. Such agents may prepare applications and sign application documents if they provide written authorization from the owner corporation as part of the application. In such cases, the owner corporation must be indicated on all forms and documents as the funding recipient.

(2) Developments not designed for the elderly or people with disabilities or those no longer operating as such.

(3) Section 221(d)(4) developments without project-based Section 8 assistance.

(4) Section 202 and 811 developments with a PRAC. Owners of Section 202 PRAC developments may obtain funding by requesting an increase in their PRAC payment consistent with Handbook 4381.5 REVISION-2, CHANGE-2, Chapter 8.

(G) Eligible Activities.

(1) Service Coordinator Program grant funds may be used to pay for the salary, fringe benefits, and related support costs of employing a service coordinator.

(2) You may use grant funds to pay for Quality Assurance (QA) in an amount that does not exceed five (5) percent of the Service Coordinator's salary. Eligible QA activities are those that evaluate your program, to assure that the position is effectively implemented. A qualified, objective third party must perform the program evaluation work and must have supervisory work experience and education in social or health care services. Your QA activities must include two program evaluation reviews during the first year of program operation and one review each successive year. The program evaluations must identify short and long term program outcomes and performance indicators that will help you measure your performance.

On-site housing management staff cannot perform QA and you may not augment current salaries of in-house staff for this purpose.

(3) You may propose reasonable costs associated with setting up a confidential office space for the Service Coordinator. Such expenses must be one-time only administrative start-up costs. Such costs may involve acquisition, leasing, rehabilitation, or conversion of space. HUD Field Office staff must approve both the proposed costs and activity and must perform an environmental assessment on such proposed work prior to grant award.

(4) You may use funds to augment a current Service Coordinator program, by increasing the hours of a currently employed Service Coordinator, or hiring an additional Service Coordinator or aide on a part- or full-time basis. Likewise, ALCP applicants may apply for new or augmented Service Coordinator costs to serve Assisted Living residents and/or all residents of the development.

(5) You may use funds to continue a Service Coordinator program that has previously been funded through other sources. In your application, you must provide evidence that this funding source has already ended or will discontinue within six months following the application deadline date and that no other funding mechanism is available to continue the program. This applies only to funding sources other than the subsidy awards and grants provided by the Department through program Notices beginning in FY 1992.

HUD currently provides one-year extensions to these subsidy awards and grants through a separate funding action.

(6) You may provide service coordination to low-income elderly individuals or people with disabilities living in the vicinity of an eligible development. Community residents should come to your housing development to meet with and receive service from the Service Coordinator. However, you must make reasonable accommodations for those individuals unable to travel to the housing site.

(H) Ineligible Activities.

(1) You may not use funds available through this NOFA to replace currently available funding from other sources for a Service Coordinator or for some other staff person who performs service coordinator functions.

(2) Owners with existing service coordinator subsidy awards or grants may not apply for renewal or extension of those programs under this NOFA.

(3) Congregate Housing Services Program (CHSP) grantees may not use these funds to meet statutory program match requirements and may not use these funds to replace current CHSP program funds to continue the employment of a service coordinator.

(4) The cost of application preparation is not eligible for reimbursement.

(5) Grant funds cannot be used to increase a project's management fee.

(6) You cannot hire an additional part or full-time Service Coordinator for the sole purpose of serving community residents.

IV. Program Requirements

To receive and administer a Service Coordinator grant, you must meet the requirements in Section IV of this program section of the SuperNOFA. These requirements apply to all activities, programs, and functions used to plan, budget, and evaluate the work funded under your program.

In addition to the requirements listed below, you must also meet the requirements of Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. (Please note that paragraphs E, G, and M of Section V do not apply to the Service Coordinator program.)

(A) You must make sufficient separate and private office space available for the Service Coordinator and/or aides, without adversely affecting normal activities.

(B) The Service Coordinator must maintain resident files in a secured location. Files must be accessible ONLY to the Service Coordinator, unless residents provide signed consent otherwise. These policies must be consistent with maintaining confidentiality of information related to any individual per the Privacy Act of 1974.

(C) Grantees must ensure that the Service Coordinator receives appropriate supervision, training, and ongoing continuing education requirements, consistent with statutory and HUD administrative policies. This includes 36 hours of training in age-related and disability issues during the first year of employment, if the Service Coordinator has not received recent training in these areas, and 12 hours of continuing education each year thereafter.

(D) Administrative Costs. The administrative costs of your program cannot exceed 10% of the program's cost.

(E) Reports. Grantees must submit semi-annual financial status and program performance reports. They must also provide information supporting program expenses at the time of receipt of grant funds for cost reimbursement. The objectives of the Service Coordinator program are to enhance a resident's quality of life and ability to live independently and age in place. The data that HUD collects on the performance report measures the grantee's success in meeting these intended program outcomes. The data reported include the numbers of residents served, their ages, frailty levels, and the range of services provided to them. In addition, the performance report assesses the Service Coordinator's efficiency in providing coordination, by reporting the number of hours worked, the amount of time spent doing administrative tasks, the types of professional training attended, and examples of problems encountered throughout the course of their work.

(F) As a condition of receiving a grant, Section 202 developments with project-based Section 8 must open a Residual Receipts account separate from the Reserve for Replacement account, if they do not already have such a separate account.

(G) Term of Funded Activities. The grant term is three years. HUD will renew grants subject to the availability of funds and acceptable program performance.

(H) Subgrants and Subcontracts. You may directly hire a Service Coordinator or you may contract with a qualified third party to provide this service.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) General. HUD will not award Service Coordinator Program grant funds through a rating and ranking process. Instead, the Department will hold one national lottery for all eligible applications forwarded from Multifamily HUB and Multifamily Program Centers (a list of these offices is found in Appendix A to this notice).

(B) Threshold Eligibility Review. HUD Multifamily Field Office staff will review applications for completeness and compliance with the eligibility criteria set forth in Section III of this NOFA. Field Office staff will forward application information to Headquarters for entry into the lottery if the application was received by the deadline date, meets all eligibility criteria, proposes reasonable costs for eligible activities, and includes all technical corrections by the designated deadline date.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Single Applications.

(1) You may submit one application for one or more developments that your corporation owns.

(2) You may submit more than one application to a single Field Office, if you wish to increase your chances of selection in the lottery. Each application must propose a separate, stand-alone program and the development(s) must all be located in the same Field Office jurisdiction.

(3) If you wish to apply on behalf of developments located in different Field Office jurisdictions, you must submit a separate application to each Field Office.

(B) Joint Applications. You may join with one or more other eligible owners to share a Service Coordinator and submit a joint application. In the past, joint applications have been used by small developments that joined together to hire and share a part or full-time Service Coordinator.

(C) Application Submission Requirements for ALCP Applicants. If you are an ALCP applicant and you request new or additional Service Coordinator costs specifically for your proposed Assisted Living Program, you must submit an application containing all required documents and information listed in this NOFA. Be sure to indicate the amount of grant funds you are requesting for both programs on your HUD-424 forms. HUD Field Office staff will review both applications simultaneously.

ALCP applicants must submit all the required items in the Service Coordinator application listed in Section VI.(E) of this NOFA. You may provide a copy of all standard forms in your Service Coordinator application. If you do not provide either an original or copy of these forms, your Service Coordinator application will be incomplete.

If you currently do not have a Service Coordinator working at the development proposed in your ALCP application and your ALCP application is selected to receive an award, HUD will fund a Service Coordinator to serve either ALCP residents only or all residents of the development dependent upon your request. If your development currently has a Service Coordinator, you may request additional hours for the Service Coordinator to serve the Assisted Living residents. If you request additional hours, you must specify the number of additional hours per week and provide an explanation based on the anticipated needs of the Assisted Living residents. Provide this explanation in your ALCP application as instructed in the ALCP NOFA.

If you request Service Coordinator funding to serve all residents of your development, your request can be entered into the national lottery if your ALCP application is not selected to receive an award.

Owners applying for ALCP grants may also submit separate Service Coordinator applications for entry into the lottery for other eligible developments they own and that are not included in their ALCP application.

(D) Your application must contain the items listed in this Section VI(D). These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of the SuperNOFA that are applicable to this funding (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms and other required forms can be found in the Application found in Appendix B to this NOFA. The items are as follows:

Standard Forms

- (1) Application for Federal Assistance (HUD-424)
- (2) Applicant Assurances and Certifications (HUD-424B)
- (3) If engaged in lobbying, the Disclosure Form Regarding Lobbying (SF-LLL)
- (4) Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report Form (HUD-2880)
- (5) Acknowledgment of Application Receipt (HUD-2993)
- (6) Client Comments and Suggestions (HUD-2994)

Other Application Items:

All applications for funding under the Service Coordinator Program must contain the following documents and information:

- (1) Service Coordinator Funding Request, forms HUD-91186 and HUD-91186-i.

- (2) If more than one owner is proposing to share a Service Coordinator, one agency must designate itself the "lead". This lead agency must submit a letter along with the completed application materials from each owner. The letter must be on organization letterhead and contain the number of developments, their names and addresses, and the dollar amount requested for each site. The legal signatory for the owner corporation must sign the letter, indicating agreement to administer grant funds for the housing developments listed in the letter.

- (3) Evidence of comparable salaries in your local area.

- (4) Narratives. (a) Explain your method of estimating how many residents of your development are frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities. Please document that individuals meeting these criteria make up at least 25% of your resident population. (Do not include elderly individuals or people with disabilities who do not live in the eligible developments included in your application.)

- (b) Explain how you will provide on-site private office space for the Service Coordinator, to allow for confidential meetings with residents.

- (c) If you include quality assurance in your proposed budget, provide a justification and explanation of who will perform this work, what responsibilities are involved, and how often the work will be done.

- (d) If you propose to serve community residents, present a description of your plan.

- (e) If you are applying for an ALCP grant: (i) Describe how the new or additional Service Coordinator hours will support your proposed assisted living program, by following the instruction provided in the ALCP NOFA; and (ii) indicate if you want your Service Coordinator application entered into the lottery if your ALCP application is not selected to receive an award.

- (5) If applicable, evidence that prior funding sources for your development's Service Coordinator program are no longer available or will expire within six months following the application deadline date.

- (6) A bank statement showing the current residual receipts or excess income balance in the development's account.

- (7) Applicant checklist.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

It is anticipated that most activities under this program are categorically excluded from NEPA and related environmental authorities under 24 CFR 50.19(b)(3), (4), (12), or (13). If grant funds will be used to cover the cost of any activities which are not exempted from environmental review requirements—such as acquisition, leasing, construction, or building rehabilitation, HUD will perform an environmental review to the extent required by 24 CFR part 50, prior to grant award.

IX. Authority

Section 808 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Pub. L. 101-625, approved November 28, 1990), as amended by sections 671, 674, 676, and 677 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, approved October 28, 1992), and section 851 of the American Homeownership and Economic Opportunity Act of 2000 (Pub. L. 106-569, approved December 27, 2000).

1. Introduction

This application package contains instructions and materials for Service Coordinator grants for multifamily assisted housing developments for the elderly and people with disabilities. Applicants will submit requests to their local Field Office. Field staff will review applications and will forward to HUD Headquarters funding request information for those applications that meet threshold eligibility criteria. HUD Headquarters staff will place all eligible applications in a national lottery. HUD will make three-year grants through this process and will award approximately $25 million. All grants are renewable in the future, subject to the availability of funds and acceptable program performance.

2. APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

2.1 Deadline Date: The Application deadline date is July 10, 2003. Applicants must submit applications to their local Field office as directed in the Service Coordinator Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) and in this application package.

2.2 Number of Copies. You must submit one original application and two copies to the appropriate Field Office.

2.3 Number of Applications

A. You may submit one application for one or more developments that your corporation owns.

OR

B. You may submit more than one application to a single Field Office, if you wish to increase your chances of selection in the lottery. Each application must propose a stand-alone program at separate sites and the development(s) must all be located in the same Field Office jurisdiction.

C. If you wish to apply on behalf of developments located in different Field Office jurisdictions, you must submit a separate application to each Field Office.

2.4 Applications With Multiple Developments and Joint Applications

2.4.1 Multiple Development Applications

You may propose to hire a Service Coordinator who will be shared among eligible developments that your corporation owns. You need submit only one transmittal letter and set of other required attachments. In your letter, be sure to list all developments that will share the coordinator and provide all pertinent development information.

2.4.2 Joint Applications

You may join with one or more owners to share a Service Coordinator and so submit a joint application. In the past, owners of small developments have joined together to submit one application for one Service Coordinator who will serve all sites.

One entity must act as the "lead applicant" and submit a transmittal letter covering all requests, (see sample letter format, Attachment 3). Send all owners' applications together, with the transmittal letter as the cover letter for the group of applications. This insures that all multiple requests are reviewed together.

The applicants must show the grant amount, and residual receipts/excess income, if appropriate, for EACH development. HUD will not award funds to one owner or a third party organization (e.g., a management agent) to be parceled out to the other owners.

2.5 Grant Amount

There is no maximum grant amount. The grant amount you request will be based on the Service Coordinator's salary and the number of hours worked each week by that Service Coordinator (and/or aide). You should base your determination of the appropriate number of weekly work hours on the number of people in the development who are frail, at-risk, or non-elderly people with disabilities. Under normal circumstances, a full-time Service Coordinator should be able to serve about 50-60 frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities on a continuing basis. Your proposed salary must also be supported by evidence of comparable salaries in your area. Gather data from programs near you to compare your estimates with the salaries and administrative costs of currently operating programs. Field staff can provide you with contacts at local program sites.

2.6 Applicant Checklist

Make sure that you have included all required components and information in your application. Use the Applicant Checklist (Attachment 1) to help you keep track of these items. Check off each item as you put your application together and include the checklist as part of your application package. Your application must include the below items:

- A. Service Coordinator Funding Request (forms HUD-91186 and HUD-91186-i)
- B. If more than one owner is proposing to share a Service Coordinator, one agency must designate itself the "lead". This lead agency must submit a letter along with the completed application materials from each owner. The letter must be on organization letterhead and contain the number of developments, their names and addresses, and the dollar amount requested for each site. The legal signatory for the owner corporation must sign the letter, indicating agreement to administer grant funds for the housing developments listed in the letter.
- C. Evidence of comparable salaries in your local area.
- D. Narratives
 - 1) Explain your method of estimating how many residents of your development are frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities. Please document that individuals meeting these criteria make up at least 25% of your resident population. (Do not include elderly individuals or people with disabilities who do not live in the eligible developments included in your application.)
 - 2) Explain how you will provide on-site private office space for the Service Coordinator, to allow for confidential meetings with residents.
 - 3) If you include quality assurance in your proposed budget, provide a justification and explanation of who will perform this work, what responsibilities are involved, and how often the work will be done.
 - 4) If you propose to serve community residents, present a description of your plan.
 - 5) If you are applying for an ALCP grant, (a) describe how the new or additional Service Coordinator hours will support your proposed assisted living program, by following the instruction provided in the ALCP NOFA and (b) indicate if you want your Service Coordinator application entered into the lottery if your ALCP application is not selected to receive an award.

- E. If applicable, Evidence that prior funding sources for your development's Service Coordinator program are no longer available or will expire within six months following the application deadline date.
- F. A bank statement showing the current residual receipts or excess income balance in the development's account.
- G. Applicant checklist

2.7 Application Submission

2.7.1 Submission Address

Send your application to the local HUD Field Office that serves the jurisdiction in which the development proposed for funding is located. Address your application to the Director, Multifamily Housing Hub or Program Center. See list of Field Offices in Appendix A to the NOFA. Do not send any copies of applications to HUD Headquarters.

2.7.2 Delivery Options

- A. You may not hand deliver applications. HUD will reject any hand-delivered applications.
- B. You may send your application via any mail delivery service. However, HUD recommends that you send your application through the United States Postal Service, as access to HUD offices by other delivery services is not guaranteed and access may be denied for security reasons.
- C. To be considered for funding, HUD must receive your mailed application no later than 3:30 PM local time on the application due date.

If you mail your application to the wrong Field Office and it is not received by the Office designated for receipt by the due date and time, it will be considered late and disqualified from funding. HUD is not responsible for directing it to the appropriate Office. Proof of timely submission to HUD field offices will be the Certificate of Mailing (USPS Form 3817). Please remember that mail to Federal facilities is screened prior to delivery, so please allow time for your package to be delivered. If an application does not meet the filing requirements it will not receive funding consideration. Also, see the General Section of the SuperNOFA for further discussion concerning the form of application submission.

2.8 Technical Assistance

Field Office staff may provide limited technical assistance to owners to assist them in completing their applications. Technical Assistance includes such activities as explaining and responding to questions about program regulations, defining terms in an application package, and providing other forms of technical guidance that may be described in a NOFA. It does not include advising the applicant how to make substantive improvements to an application. See Appendix A to the NOFA for a list of Field Offices.

You also may email questions to Carissa_L._Janis@hud.gov. Your message may be forwarded to your local HUD Field Office contact person, so be sure to include your city and state in your message so we can respond promptly.

2.9 To Obtain Copies of this Application and NOFAs

You may obtain additional copies of this grant application by calling the SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929. If you have a hearing or speech impairment, please call the Center's TTY number at 1-800-HUD-2209. When requesting an application, please refer to the Multifamily Housing Service Coordinator Program and provide your name, address (including zip code) and telephone number (including area code). Application materials also will be available on the Internet at <http://www.hud.gov>.

2.10 Other Funding Sources

Some owners may have available residual receipts, excess income, or Section 8 funds (through their Housing Assistance Payment [HAP] contract). If these excess funds are sufficient to cover the costs of employing a Service Coordinator, you should use these resources first, whenever financially feasible, before applying for a grant. You will find procedures for applying for and using these funds in Housing's Management Agent Handbook 4381.5, Revision-2, Change-2, Chapter 8, and Notice 99-28 "Calculating and Retaining Section 236 Excess Income", Section II.C(3). Field Office staff will approve such requests consistent with current Section 8 and housing management policy. To the extent possible, HUD wants Service Coordinators to become permanent members of the management team and so this budget-based mechanism is a preferable long-term approach.

3. ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

3.1 Eligible and Ineligible Applicants

Only owners of eligible multifamily assisted housing developments listed in Section 3.1, below, may request Service Coordinator funding. The owner entity must be the official applicant.

Property management companies, area agencies on aging, and other like organizations are not eligible applicants for Service Coordinator funds. However, such agents may prepare applications and sign application documents. To do so, the application must include evidence that the owner has given authority for the agent to apply for the funds and to sign the application documents on behalf of the owner corporation. A letter from the owner corporation stating this authority is acceptable evidence. In such cases, the owner corporation must be indicated on all forms and documents as the official funding recipient.

To be eligible for funding, you must meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of Section V(B) and (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and must be owners of developments assisted under the following programs:

- A. Section 202 Direct loan;
- B. Project-based Section 8 (including Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation), or
- C. Section 221(d)(3) below-market interest rate, and 236 developments that are insured or assisted.

If your eligibility status changes during the course of the grant term making you ineligible to receive a grant (e.g. due to prepayment of mortgage, sale of property, or opting out of a Section 8 Housing Assistance Payment (HAP) contract), HUD has the right to terminate your grant.

3.2 Eligible and Ineligible Developments

3.2.1 Eligible Developments

Developments listed in section 3.1, above, are eligible only if they meet the following criteria:

- A. Have frail or at-risk elderly residents and/or non-elderly residents with disabilities who together total at least 25 percent of the building's residents.

- B. Are designed for the elderly or persons with disabilities and continue to operate as such. This includes any building within a mixed-use development that was designed for occupancy by elderly persons or persons with disabilities at its inception and continues to operate as such, or consistent with title VI, subtitle D of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992. If not so designed, a development in which the owner gives preferences in tenant selection (with HUD approval) to eligible elderly persons or persons with disabilities, for all units in that development.
- C. Are current in mortgage payments or are current under a workout agreement.
- D. Meet HUD's Uniform Physical Conditions Standards (codified in 24 CFR part 5, subpart G), based on the most recent physical inspection report and responses thereto, as evidenced by a score of 60 or better or an approved plan for developments scoring less than 60.
- E. Are in compliance with their regulatory agreement, HAP Contract, and other outstanding directives.
- F. Have insufficient surplus cash available at the time of application that otherwise could be used to hire a Service Coordinator. HUD Field staff will make this determination based on the surplus cash statement of the development's last Annual Financial Statement.
- G. Please note that there is no minimum unit number eligibility criterion. This means, for example, an owner of a 20-unit development may submit an application for a Service Coordinator to serve only those 20 units. However, this development still must meet all eligibility criteria and the owner must carefully conform to the hiring guidelines presented in Section 5.3, below, in proposing salary and number of work hours.

3.2.2 Ineligible Developments

Ineligible developments include those that are:

- A. For primary residence by families (i.e. not designed for the elderly or disabled or no longer operating as such).
- B. Financed through Section 221(d)(4) and without project-based Section 8.

- C. Section 202 or 811 developments with a Project Rental Assistance Contract (PRAC). Owners of Section 202 PRAC developments may obtain funding by requesting an increase in their PRAC payment consistent with the Management Agent Handbook 4381.5 Revision-2, Change-2, Chapter 8. There is no statutory authority for Service Coordinators in Section 811 developments.
- D. Developments with project-based Section 8 vouchers are not eligible to receive Service Coordinator grants.

3.3 Eligible and Ineligible Activities

3.3.1 Eligible Activities

- A. Service Coordinator Program grant funds may be used to pay for the salary, fringe benefits, and related support costs for employing a Service Coordinator.
- B. You may use grant funds to pay for Quality Assurance (QA) in an amount that does not exceed five (5) percent of the Service Coordinator's salary. Eligible QA activities are those that evaluate your program, to assure that the position is effectively implemented. A qualified third party must perform the program evaluation work and must have supervisory work experience and education in social or health care services. Your QA activities must include two program evaluation reviews during the first year of program operation and one review each successive year. On-site housing management staff cannot perform QA and you may not augment current salaries of in-house staff for this purpose.
- C. You may propose reasonable costs associated with setting up a confidential office space for the Service Coordinator. Such expenses must be one-time only administrative start-up costs. Such costs may involve acquisition, leasing, rehabilitation, or conversion of space. HUD Field Office staff must approve both the proposed costs and activity and must perform an environmental assessment on such proposed work prior to grant award.
- D. You may use funds to augment a current Service Coordinator program, by increasing the hours of a currently employed Service Coordinator, or hiring an additional Service Coordinator or aide on a part- or full-time basis.
- E. You may use funds to continue a Service Coordinator program that has previously been funded through other sources. In your application, you must provide evidence that this funding source has already ended or will discontinue within six months following the application due date and that no other funding mechanism is available to continue the program.

This does not apply to the Service Coordinator grants previously awarded between 1992 and 1999. HUD will provide one-year extensions to these expiring grants through a separate funding action.

- F. You may provide service coordination to low-income elderly or disabled families living in the vicinity of an eligible development. Community residents should come to your housing development to meet with and receive service from the Service Coordinator. However, you must make reasonable accommodations for those individuals unable to travel to the housing site.

3.3.2 Ineligible Activities

- A. You may not use funds available through the Service Coordinator NOFA to replace currently available funding from other sources for a Service Coordinator or for some other staff person who performs Service Coordinator functions.
- B. Owners with existing Service Coordinator subsidy awards or grants may not apply for renewal or extension of those programs.
- C. Congregate Housing Services Program (CHSP) grantees may not use these funds to meet statutory program match requirements and may not use these funds to replace current CHSP program funds to continue the employment of a Service Coordinator.
- D. The cost of application preparation is not eligible.
- E. Grant funds cannot be used to increase a project's management fee.
- F. You cannot hire an additional part or full-time Service Coordinator for the sole purpose of serving low-income elderly or disabled families who live in the vicinity of your development.

4. SERVICE COORDINATION

4.1 General

A Service Coordinator is a social service staff person hired by the development owner or Management Company. The coordinator is responsible for linking elderly residents, especially those who are frail or at-risk, or non-elderly residents with disabilities to the supportive services they need to continue living independently.

Service coordination means the activity of linking a resident to needed supportive services or medical services which may be provided by private practitioners or agencies in the general community. Additionally, the term may cover case management, both formal and informal, in which the Service Coordinator assesses service needs; determines eligibility for public services, and makes resource allocation decisions.

4.2 Who Does Service Coordination?

Service coordination may be performed by:

- An on-site or off-site staff person hired by the development owner or management agent, or shared among these employers;
- An on-site or off-site staff person hired by a third party agency, and contracted to the development owner or management agent, or
- A staff person hired by a third party agency, who provides case management and service coordination for a development resident in concert with the distribution of that agency or another agency's funding.

4.3 Indications of Existing Service Coordination

If Service Coordination is currently in-place and paid for by HUD or resources other than HUD's, the costs may not be shifted to these grant funds. These services may often be performed by staff with job titles other than "Service Coordinator" or be performed on a part-time basis by other members of the management team. No part of this activity's cost, regardless of who performs the service, may be transferred to this grant program.

The following may be indicators of existing coordination arrangements:

- Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and/or Medicaid payments going directly to the development's management for rent and service costs;
- The management of the development coordinates the services (and possibly their payment);
- Third party staff persons are placed on the premises without charge to the current HUD budget for the development, and
- Any combination of the above.

Case managers, social workers, or Service Coordinators may provide these services. These staff may be employed by a development owner or Management Company, or a state/local government agency. Not all developments for people with disabilities have a Service Coordinator in place or can provide this service for their residents. Therefore, HUD will individually evaluate each application to determine whether it may qualify for funding under this program, regardless of the population served.

4.4 Functions of a Service Coordinator

The major functions of the Service Coordinator include the following:

- A. Provide general case management (including intake) and referral services to all residents needing such assistance.
- B. Provide formal case management (i.e., evaluation of health, psychological and social needs, development of an individually tailored case plan for services and periodic reassessment of the resident's situation and needs) for a resident when such service is not available through the general community.

There may be times when there will be difficulty in linking up residents with a community assessment agency in a timely manner. Therefore, the Service Coordinator may want to consider setting up a Professional Assessment Committee (PAC) to work with the Service Coordinator to perform initial assessments. (See the guidance in the CHSP regulations at 24 CFR 700.135 (or 1944.258 for Rural Housing developments). A PAC member shall NOT be paid for his/her services with grant funds.

- C. Establish linkages with agencies and service providers in the community; shop around to determine/develop the best "deals" in service pricing, to assure individualized, flexible, and creative services for the involved resident(s).
- D. Create a directory of providers for use by both development staff and residents.
- E. Refer and link the residents of the development to service providers in the general community. Examples are: Case management, personal assistance, homemaker, meals-on-wheels, transportation, counseling, occasional visiting nurse, preventive health screening/wellness and legal advocacy.
- F. Educate residents on service availability, application procedures, client rights, etc. Provide advocacy as appropriate.

- G. Monitor the ongoing provision of services from community agencies and keep the case manager and provider agency current with the progress of the individual. Manage the provision of supportive services where appropriate.
- H. Help the residents build informal support networks with other residents, family and friends.
- I. Set up volunteer support programs with service organizations in the community.
- J. Provide training to the development's residents in the obligations of tenancy or coordinate such training.
- K. Educate other staff of the management team on issues related to aging in place and Service Coordination, to help them to better work with and assist the residents.
- L. Develop case plans in coordination with community assessment services or with a PAC.
- M. Work and consult with tenant organizations and resident management corporations.

4.5 Ineligible Work Responsibilities

During work hours paid for by this grant, Service Coordinators may not perform the following activities:

- A. Act as a recreational or activities director;
- B. Provide supportive services directly;
- C. Assist with property management work, and
- D. Act as a Neighborhood Networks director or coordinator.

4.6 Basic Qualification Guidelines for Service Coordinators and Aides

4.6.1 Service Coordinator Qualifications

Qualifications include the following:

- A. A Bachelor of Social Work or degree in Gerontology, Psychology or Counseling is preferable; a college degree is fully acceptable. However, individuals without a degree, but with appropriate work experience, may be hired. Such situations must not be rejected out of hand.

- B. Training in the aging process, elder services, disability services, eligibility for and procedures of Federal and applicable State entitlement programs, legal liability issues relating to providing Service Coordination, drug and alcohol use and abuse by the elderly, and mental health issues.

This requirement is not a prerequisite for hiring. The owner must certify and put in the project files, that the training requirements, if not met at the point of hiring, will be satisfied within one year. See Housing's Management Agent Handbook 4381.5 Revision-2, Change-2, Chapter 8.

- C. Two to three years experience in social service delivery with senior citizens and people with disabilities. Some supervisory or management experience may be desirable.
- D. Demonstrated working knowledge of supportive services and other resources for senior citizens and non-elderly people with disabilities in the area served by the development.
- E. Demonstrated ability to advocate, organize, problem-solve, and provide results for the elderly and disabled served.

4.6.2 Aides Working with a Service Coordinator

- A. It is desirable, but not required, that aides have a college degree. They should, however, have appropriate experience in working with the elderly and/or people with disabilities.
- B. Options for structuring an "aide" situation:
- Set up an internship or work study program with local colleges and universities to assist in carrying out some of the functions noted under Section 4.4, above.
 - Use local college and university programs to provide planning guidance to development staff or provide program evaluation/assessment functions.

5. STAFFING CONSIDERATIONS

5.1 Contracting Out

The Service Coordinator functions may be contracted out by the owner if the contract is with a single individual or with a third party agency that commits the time of a single individual to do the necessary work. Such individual should meet the qualification guidelines stated previously in section 4.6.

5.2 Sharing a Coordinator

Owners of eligible developments may combine efforts to hire a part-time or full-time Service Coordinator. Sharing is especially encouraged for smaller buildings. Owners may join together to share a Service Coordinator and may submit a combined application as described below.

5.3 Guidelines for Work Time

Under normal circumstances, a full-time Service Coordinator should be able to serve about 50-60 frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities. However, the population of most developments will contain a significant number of residents who are not frail, at-risk, or disabled. Thus, the determination of whether or not a Service Coordinator is full time should be related to the number of people in the development who are frail, at-risk, or disabled, with less consideration given to the other residents of the development.

The requirement that 25 percent of the residents must be frail or at-risk elderly, and/or non-elderly people with disabilities means, for example, that in a 50-unit development, at least 13 residents must be frail, at-risk, or disabled.

Example 1: In a 50-unit development, 13 residents are frail and 15-20 others are at-risk. The development could justify a 1/2 time coordinator.

Example 2: In a 75-unit development, 20 residents are frail and 15-20 others are at-risk. This development could justify at least a 3/4 time Service Coordinator.

Example 3: In a 110-unit development, 40 residents are frail and 40 others are at-risk. This development could justify a full-time coordinator and possibly a part-time aide.

Example 4: Three developments of 20, 20 and 51 units (91 units, total) join forces. Among them, they have 10 frail residents and 15 others that are at-risk. These developments could justify at least a 3/4 time coordinator (after making allowances for travel time between sites).

Example 5: In a 80-unit development there are no frail individuals, but about 40 who are at-risk. This development could justify a 3/4 to full-time coordinator.

Example 6: In a 150 unit development, 45 residents are frail and another 60 are at-risk. This development could justify at least one full-time and an additional part-time Service Coordinator.

All above examples are guidelines that you should adapt to local situations. Non-elderly people with disabilities would factor the same in the above examples as either frail or at-risk elderly.

5.4 Quality Assurance

Management must assure that the Service Coordinator function is effectively implemented. Therefore, quality assurance (i.e. program evaluation) is an allowable program expense and HUD strongly encourages you to include this practice in your program. You may propose a cost of up to five (5) percent of the Service Coordinator salary to pay for on going program evaluation activities. Your QA activities must include two program evaluation reviews during the first year of program operation and one review each successive year.

In your application, provide a narrative description of your proposed QA activities and indicate the qualifications of potential consultants who you would use to evaluate your program. A qualified third party must perform the program evaluation work. Basic qualifications include supervisory experience and education in social or health care services. If you receive a Service Coordinator grant, you will be required to provide evidence of your consultant's qualifications and to maintain copies of your program evaluation reports in your grant files.

In-house and management staff may NOT perform this function and their salaries may not be augmented for this purpose.

6. FRAILTY CONSIDERATIONS

While a Service Coordinator may serve any resident of a development who needs assistance, priority must be given to frail or at-risk elderly or non-elderly people with disabilities.

Frailty is defined as being deficient in at least three Activities of Daily Living (ADL) (see below). An at-risk person will be deficient in 1-2 ADLs. The MINIMUM requirements necessary to qualify for an ADL deficiency are as follows:

- A. EATING: May need assistance with cooking, preparing or serving food, but must be able to feed self;
- B. DRESSING: Must be able to dress self, but may need occasional assistance.
- C. BATHING: May need assistance in getting in and out of the shower or tub, but must be able to wash self;
- D. GROOMING: May need assistance in washing hair, but must be able to take care of personal appearance;
- E. TRANSFERRING: May need assistance in getting in and out of bed and chairs, walking, going outdoors, using the toilet; and,
- F. HOME MANAGEMENT ACTIVITIES: May need assistance in doing housework or laundry or getting to and from one location to another, for activities such as going to the doctor or shopping, but must be mobile. The mobility requirement does not exclude persons in wheelchairs or those requiring mobility devices.

Each of the ADLs noted above includes a requirement that a person must be able to perform at a specified minimum level (e.g., to satisfy the eating ADL, the person must be able to feed him/herself). The determination of whether a person meets this minimal level of performance must include consideration of those services being performed by a spouse, relatives or other attendants to be provided by the individual. Take for example, a person who requires assistance with cooking, preparing, or serving food plus needs assistance in feeding him/herself. That individual meets the minimum performance level and thus satisfies the eating ADL if a spouse, relative or attendant provides assistance with feeding the person. Should such assistance become unavailable at any time, the owner is not obligated to provide individualized services beyond those offered to the resident population in general.

The ADL analysis is NOT used for a determination of eligibility for occupancy, or for determination of whom the Service Coordinator will assist. Rather, the owner must estimate the number of frail or at-risk elderly and/or non-elderly people with disabilities in the development and certify that this number is at least 25 percent of the total number of residents.

7. DETERMINING PROGRAM COSTS

7.1 Determining Program Costs

Be sure to carefully review the instructions to the Service Coordinator Funding Request (forms HUD-91186 and HUD-91186-i). It lists the eligible cost categories and indicates how costs should be presented on the budget part of the form. Please fill out all of the detailed information requested; if you do not, HUD may not clearly understand or approve your request. As with other application components, do not guess if you are unsure how to respond to the information requested. Please call your local HUD field Office staff for assistance.

HUD will approve your proposed program expenses if they are reasonable. Reasonable costs are generally those that are consistent with salaries and administrative costs of similar programs in your Field office's jurisdiction. Use the staffing guidelines in Section 5, above, to determine the appropriate number of work hours for your proposed program. Gather data from programs near you to compare your estimates with the salaries and administrative costs of currently operating programs. Field staff can provide you with contacts at local program sites.

Please note that you may base your estimated program costs for years two and three on an annual inflation factor of up to five percent. Any one-time, first-year start-up costs must be subtracted from the year 1 total before calculating the years two and three estimates.

7.2 Use of Residual Receipts or Excess Income

If your development has available residual receipts or excess income, you are strongly encouraged to use these funds prior to receiving grant monies. You should use these excess amounts as long as they are not already allocated for other critical development expenses. If you propose to use residual receipts to supplement grant funds, you must submit a copy of the residual receipts account statement to the Field office for verification. If your development does not have a residual receipts account or has insufficient funds to use for this program, so state.

Do not forget that your budget worksheet should reflect your estimated total program costs. If you will be using residual receipts or excess income in combination with grant funds, be sure to subtract this amount from the total cost, to determine the three-year grant amount to request.

Section 202/8 developments may use any residual receipts amount that exceeds $500 per unit.

8. Selection and Funding Process

8.1 Selection Process

HUD will not award Service Coordinator Program grant funds through a rating and ranking process. Instead, the Department will hold one national lottery for all eligible applications forwarded from Multifamily Hub and Multifamily Program Centers. (A list of these offices is an appendix to the NOFA.)

8.1.1 Threshold Eligibility Review. HUD Multifamily Field Office staff will review applications for completeness and compliance with the eligibility criteria set forth in Section III of the Service Coordinator NOFA and Section 3 of this application. Field Office staff will forward application information to Headquarters for entry into the lottery if the application was received by the deadline date; meets all eligibility criteria; proposes reasonable costs for eligible activities, and includes all technical corrections by the designated deadline date.

8.2 Funding Process

HUD will first fund Service Coordinator Costs in FY 2003 Assisted Living Conversion Program applications selected for funding under that program NOFA. HUD estimates that approximately $1 million will be used to fund ALCP Service Coordinator applications. Any funds not used by the ALCP program to fund service coordinators will be added to the funds available for the National Lottery.

HUD will use remaining funds to make grant awards through the use of a national lottery. A computer program performs the lottery by randomly selecting eligible applications. HUD will fully fund as many applications as possible with the given amount of funds available. After all fully fundable applications have been selected by lottery, HUD may make an offer to partially fund the next application on the lottery's list, in order to use the entire amount of funds allocated. HUD may make an award in an amount less than requested, if:

- A. HUD determines that some elements of your proposed program are ineligible for funding;
- B. There are insufficient funds available to make an offer to fully fund the application, or
- C. HUD determines that a reduced grant amount would prevent duplicative Federal funding.

9. Assisted Living Conversion Program Applicant's Information

9.1 General

Owners applying for an ALCP grant may also apply for Service Coordinator funding through the Service Coordinator NOFA. Owners may apply if they meet the following conditions:

- A. Do not currently have a Service Coordinator program. If your development does not have a program, you can apply for funds to serve ALCP residents and/or the other non-assisted living residents in the development.
- B. Have a Service Coordinator program, but need additional hours or staff to serve the assisted living residents.
- C. In either case described above, you do not have available residual receipts, excess income, or Section 8 funds to cover the cost of a new or augmented Service Coordinator program.

Describe in your Service Coordinator and ALCP applications how the new or additional Service Coordinator hours will support your proposed assisted living program. To do this, follow the instruction provided in the ALCP NOFA.

9.2 Application Requirements

You must submit all required components of this Service Coordinator application package. However, you will also submit the following forms as part of your ALCP application. Therefore, you may submit copies of these forms in your Service Coordinator application. HUD only needs one form with an original signature, but we do need a copy of the form to make each application complete:

- Application for Federal Assistance (HUD-424)
- Disclosure Form Regarding Lobbying (SF-LLL)
- Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report Form (HUD-2880)

Also, be sure to complete all relevant ALCP questions on the Request for Service Coordinator Funding (form HUD-91186).

10. Program Requirements

To receive and administer a Service Coordinator grant, you must meet the requirements of this Section and of Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. (Please note that paragraphs E, G, and M of Section V do not apply to the Service Coordinator program.) These requirements apply to all activities, programs, and functions used to plan, budget, and evaluate the work funded under your program.

- A. You must make sufficient separate and private office space available for the Service Coordinator and/or aides, without adversely affecting normal activities.
- B. The Service Coordinator must maintain resident files in a secured location. Files must be accessible ONLY to the Service Coordinator, unless residents provide signed consent otherwise. These policies must be consistent with maintaining confidentiality of information related to any individual per the Privacy Act of 1974.
- C. Grantees must ensure that the Service Coordinator receives appropriate supervision, training, and ongoing continuing education requirements, consistent with statutory and HUD administrative policies. This includes 36 hours of training in age-related and disability issues during the first year of employment, if the Service Coordinator has not received recent training in these areas, and 12 hours of continuing education each year thereafter.
- D. Administrative Costs. The administrative costs of your program cannot exceed 10% of the program's cost.
- E. Reports. Grantees must submit semi-annual financial status and program performance reports. They must also provide information supporting program expenses at the time of receipt of grant funds for cost reimbursement. The objectives of the Service Coordinator program are to enhance a resident's quality of life and ability to live independently and age in place. The data that HUD collects on the Performance Report measures the grantee's success in meeting these intended program outcomes. The data reported include the numbers of residents served, their ages, frailty levels, and the range of services provided to them. In addition, the Performance Report assesses the Service Coordinator's efficiency in providing coordination, by reporting the number of hours worked, the amount of time spent doing administrative tasks, the types of professional training attended, and examples of problems encountered throughout the course of their work.
- F. As a condition of receiving a grant, Section 202 developments with project-based Section 8 must open a Residual Receipts account separate from the Reserve for Replacement account, if they do not already have such a separate account.

G. Term of Funded Activities. The grant term is three years. HUD will renew grants subject to the availability of funds and acceptable program performance.

H. Subgrants and Subcontracts. You may directly hire a Service Coordinator or you may contract with a qualified third party to provide this service.

a. Personnel (Direct Labor)	This section should show the labor costs for The Service Coordinators and/or aides. Use the hourly labor cost for salaried employees (use 2080 hours per year or the value your organization uses to perform this calculation). Indicate if an individual is employed by a contractor or sub-grantee. Do not show fringe or other indirect costs in this section.
b. Fringe Benefits	Use the standard fringe rates used by your organization. You may use a single fringe rate (a percentage of the total direct labor) or list each of the individual fringe charges. Use the Total Direct Labor Cost as the base for the fringe calculation. If your organization calculates fringe benefits differently, use a different base and discuss how you calculate fringe as a comment.
c. Quality Assurance	Indicate the individuals you will use. Give the professional's title (e.g. MSW), the number of hours over the year you expect to use them, and their hourly rate. Remember that Quality Assurance is limited to program evaluation activities.
d. Construction of office space	List expenses associated with setting up a private office for the Service Coordinator. List each anticipated cost. You may incur These costs only during the first year of your program.
e. Office furniture and equipment	List start-up expenses related to furniture, computers, printers, and other office equipment. List the quantity and unit cost. These should be items you anticipate purchasing only in the first year of your program.
f. Administrative Costs (1) Direct Costs
a. Training	Give fees and rates for appropriate training programs, to the extent known. Otherwise estimate and provide basis for the anticipated cost.
b. Travel	Provide mileage and cost estimates for use of private vehicles or public transportation; show the estimated cost of airfare required to attend training programs, and list necessary per diem rates in accordance with your organization's policies. Give travel destinations if known.
c. Supplies and Materials	List the supplies you propose to purchase. You can use an anticipated consumption rate to estimate the cost of office or other common supplies, (e. g. 1 box paper clips every 3 months). Include replacement of office equipment. List items individually along with the quantity and their anticipated cost.

d. Other Direct Costs	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Include costs such as telephone and Internet Service, printing, postage, and maintenance of office equipment. When such costs are incurred solely for Service Coordinator program activities.
F(2) Indirect Costs	OMB Circular A87 defines indirect costs as those that have been incurred by multiple programs for common or joint purposes. Indirect costs are associated with the centralized services distributed throughout your agency and cannot be readily identified with one particular program. Additionally, the costs should not be otherwise treated as direct costs. If your organization already has an established indirect cost rate, use this rate and explain how it is calculated.
Total Administrative Costs	Sum costs in items f(1)(a through d) and f(2) to get the total administrative cost. This cost cannot exceed ten percent (10%) of the sum of lines "a" through "e".
g. Grand Total	Sum lines "a" through "f" for each year. Then add the annual totals together to get to the total 3-year amount.
h. Contracts (Sub-Grantees)	If you will contract with a public or private agency to provide the Service Coordinator or Quality Assurance, list the activities and costs included in the contract in this section.
i. Quality Assurance percent of Direct Labor Cost (line "a")	Quality Assurance costs cannot exceed five percent (5%) of your total direct labor cost. Calculate your percentage and include on this line, to ensure you are within the 5% cap.
j. Administrative costs percent of program costs (line "f" divided by sum of lines "a" through "e").	Administrative costs included in line f cannot exceed ten percent (10%) of the total amount of all other program costs. Figure the sum of lines "a" through "e". Divide this sum into the total amount of costs included in line "f". Make sure the result is no greater than 10%.
Section 3: Funding Sources and Time Periods
Housing owners can use any of the four funding sources to pay the costs of a Service Coordinator program. You may use these resources individually or in combination with each other. Indicate which funding sources you propose to use, by giving the dollar amount, the number of years and months during which you will use the funds, and the exact time period, (e.g. from May 1, 2003 to April 30, 2006). If you are applying for a grant, the dollar amount you give in the "Grant" line will be the application amount entered into the lottery.

Funding Availability for Mainstream Housing Opportunities for Persons With Disabilities (Mainstream Program)

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of this program is to provide vouchers under the Housing Choice Voucher Program to enable persons with disabilities (elderly and non-elderly) to access affordable private housing.

Available Funds. Approximately $53.6 million in five-year budget authority, derived from FY 2003 Section 811 funding, for approximately 1,800 vouchers is available to public housing agencies (PHAs) and nonprofit organizations.

See section II (A) of this funding announcement, which fully addresses the source of the $53.6 million in five-year budget authority appropriated by Congress for FY 2003 under Section 811 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (NAHA) (42 U.S.C. 12701 et seq.), available under this funding announcement. All future references in this funding announcement to five-year budget authority are based upon this funding source.

Eligible Applicants. PHAs and nonprofit organizations that provide services to disabled families are eligible to apply. PHAs or nonprofit organizations that fall into any of the categories in section VII (B)(2) of this announcement are ineligible to have an application funded under this announcement. Indian Housing Authorities (IHAs), Indian tribes and their tribally designated housing entities are not eligible to apply because the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act of 1996, (25 U.S.C. 4101 et seq.) does not allow HUD to enter into new housing choice voucher annual contributions contracts (ACC) with IHAs after September 30, 1997.

The vouchers that HUD will provide under this announcement must be made available to eligible disabled families regardless of their type of disability. (See the definition of disabled family in Section IV (E)(1) of this announcement.) The Mainstream Program vouchers must not be issued by the administering agency on the basis of any preference system favoring any particular type of disability over another, nor shall the vouchers be issued solely on the basis of an administering agency's waiting list which is based on that agency heretofore having served only certain types of disabled persons. The Housing Choice Voucher Program regulations provide at 24 CFR 982.207(b)(3) that a PHA may give preference for admission of families that include a person with disabilities; however, the PHA may not give preference for admission of persons with a specific disability. This regulatory requirement is also applicable to nonprofit organizations that receive funding under this announcement; as such organizations must comply with the regulatory requirements applicable to the Housing Choice Voucher Program.

Application Deadline. June 18, 2003.
Match. None

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under the Mainstream Program, please review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date, Application Kits, Further Information and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. Submit your completed application (an original and one copy) to HUD on or before midnight of June 18, 2003. This application deadline date is firm. In the interest of fairness to all competing PHAs and nonprofit organizations, HUD will not consider any application that is submitted after the application deadline. Applicants should take this practice into account and make early submission of their materials to avoid any risk of loss of eligibility brought about by unanticipated delays or other delivery-related problems. HUD will not accept, at any time during the competition under this funding announcement, application materials sent via facsimile (FAX) transmission. See the paragraph titled "ADDRESSES AND APPLICATION SUBMISSION PROCEDURES" in the General Section of the SuperNOFA regarding HUD's mailing, delivery and receipt procedures pertinent to the submission of your application.

Address for Submitting Applications. Your completed application consists of one original and one copy. Submit your original application and one copy to: Grants Management Center, Mail Stop: Mainstream Program, 2001 Jefferson Davis Hwy, Suite 703, Arlington, VA 22202.

The Grants Management Center (GMC) is the official place of receipt for all applications in response to this announcement of funding availability. Applications not submitted to the GMC will not be considered. A copy of the application is not required to be submitted to the local HUD Field Office. For ease of reference, the term "local HUD Field Office" will be used in this announcement to mean the local HUD Field Office Hub and the local HUD Field Office Program Center. A listing of HUD Field Offices is attached to the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Application Kits. An application kit is not necessary for submitting an application in response to this announcement. This announcement contains all the information necessary for the submission of your application for voucher funding for the Mainstream Program.

Further Information and Technical Assistance. Prior to the application due date, you may contact George C. Hendrickson, Housing Program Specialist, Room 4216, Office of Public Housing and Voucher Programs, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410; telephone (202) 708-0477, ext. 4064. Subsequent to application submission, you may contact the Grants Management Center at (202) 358-0221. (These are not toll-free numbers.) Persons with hearing or speech impairments may access these numbers via TTY (text telephone) by calling the Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (this is a toll-free number).

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of an application. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, you should consult the HUD web site at www.hud.gov.

II. Amount Allocated

(A) Available Funding for Mainstream Program. Approximately $53.6 million in five-year funding is available for approximately 1,800 vouchers. This allocation is consistent with the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, FY 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003), which provides that the Secretary of HUD may designate up to 25 percent of the amounts appropriated for supportive housing for persons with disabilities, under section 811 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (NAHA), for tenant-based assistance. The five-year budget authority made available to applicants under this Mainstream Program funding announcement does not exceed 25 percent of the $248,886,653 million (dollar amount after rescission action) made available for the section 811 Program under the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act. All of the approximately $53.6 million in Mainstream funding is for use in the housing of elderly and non-elderly disabled families.

(B) Funding for the Section 811 Program. The Section 811 Program of Supportive Housing for Persons With Disabilities, located elsewhere in the SuperNOFA, provides capital advances and project rental assistance in FY 2003. The Section 811 Program of Supportive Housing for Persons With Disabilities will provide funding to nonprofit organizations (sponsors) for the development and operation of small, scattered-site housing to enable adults with disabilities to live as independently as possible in the community. The capital advance does not need to be repaid as long as the housing is used for its intended purpose for at least 40 years. The project rental assistance funds cover the difference between the HUD-approved operating expenses of the housing and the tenant's contribution towards rent, which is 30 percent of adjusted income. The types of housing that are typically developed through the program are small group homes for no more than six persons, independent living projects containing individual apartment units for no more than 14 persons, and condominium units. Sponsors are required to ensure that residents have access to any necessary supportive services but cannot require the acceptance of such as a condition of occupancy.

(C) Housing Choice Voucher Funding

(1) Funding Methodology. HUD will select applications for funding that meet all of the application submission requirements in section VI of this NOFA and that score a sufficient number of points under the selection criteria listed in section V of this NOFA. Applications will be ranked from highest to lowest score in descending order, with the highest ranked application selected first for funding, and so forth. Where two or more applicants have exactly the same score under the selection criteria in section V (B) of this NOFA and insufficient funding remains to fund all of them, applicants will be funded in the order of the exact percentage of disabled persons at or below the poverty level that is in each applicant's primary market area. The applicant with the highest percentage will be funded first, etc.

HUD will limit the number of applications selected for funding from any State to 10 percent of the budget authority available for the Mainstream Program. If establishing this geographic limit would result, however, in unreserved budget authority, HUD may modify this limit to assure that all available funds are used.

When remaining budget authority is insufficient to fund the last selected application in full, the application will be funded to the extent of the funding available, unless the applicant indicates that it will only accept a higher number of units. In that event, the next selected application shall be the one indicating a willingness to accept the lesser amount of funding for the units available.

(2) Maximum Voucher Request. There is a limit on the number of vouchers that may be requested. An eligible applicant may apply for a maximum of 50 vouchers. No more than 50 vouchers will be awarded to any applicant under the FY 2003 Mainstream Program.

(3) Determination of Funding Amount for the Applicant's Requested Number of Vouchers. HUD will determine the amount of funding that an applicant will be awarded under this announcement based upon an actual annual per unit cost {except for Moving to Work (MTW) agencies in which the per unit cost will be calculated in accordance with the agency's MTW Agreement for MTW units}, using the following two-step process:

(a) HUD will extract the total expenditures for the PHA's housing choice voucher program and the unit months leased information from the most recent approved year-end statement (Form HUD-52681) that the PHA has filed with HUD. HUD will divide the total expenditures for the PHA's housing choice voucher program by the unit months leased to derive an average monthly per unit cost.

(b) HUD will multiply the monthly per unit cost by 12 (months) to obtain an annual per unit cost.

Note: Applicants who do not currently administer a housing choice voucher program shall have their voucher funding based upon the actual annual per unit costs of the PHA in their most immediate area administering a housing choice voucher program, using the two step process described immediately above.

(4) Preliminary Fee. A preliminary fee of up to $500 per unit for start-up expenses will be paid to applicants selected for funding under this announcement who have not previously administered their own housing choice voucher program. The preliminary fee will be provided to such applicants only in their first year of administering housing choice vouchers.

III. Program Description, Eligible Applicants and Eligible Participants

(A) Program Description. The Secretary has established a Mainstream Housing Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities Program (Mainstream Program) to provide vouchers to enable persons with disabilities to access affordable private housing of their choice.

The Mainstream Program will assist PHAs and nonprofit organizations in providing housing choice vouchers to a segment of the population recognized by HUD's housing research as having one of the worst housing needs of any group in the United States, i.e., very low-income households with adults with disabilities. In addition, the Mainstream Program will assist persons with disabilities who often face difficulties in locating suitable and accessible housing on the private market.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Public housing agencies (PHAs) and nonprofit organizations that provide services to the disabled (as defined in section IV(E) of this announcement) are eligible applicants for the five-year budget authority funding available under this funding announcement. PHAs or nonprofit organizations that fall into any of the categories in section VII(B)(2) of this announcement are ineligible to have an application funded under this announcement. Indian Housing Authorities (IHAs), Indian tribes and their tribally designated housing entities are not eligible to apply for new increments of housing choice voucher funding because the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act of 1996 does not allow HUD to enter into new housing choice voucher annual contributions contracts (ACC) with IHAs after September 30, 1997.

(1) PHAs.

(a) A PHA may submit only one application under this announcement. This one application per PHA limit applies regardless of whether or not the PHA is a State or regional PHA, except in those instances where such a PHA has more than one PHA code number due to its operating under the jurisdiction of more than one HUD Field Office. In such an instance, a separate application under each code shall be considered for funding, with the cumulative total of vouchers applied for under the applications not to exceed the maximum of 50 vouchers the PHA is eligible to apply for under Section II (C)(2) of this announcement, i.e., no more than the number of vouchers the same PHA would be eligible to apply for if it only had one PHA code number.

(b) PHAs are encouraged to involve nonprofit organizations that provide services to disabled families, as defined in Section III(B)(2) of this announcement, in the administration of the Mainstream Program's vouchers. In the past, such organizations have frequently demonstrated a capacity to assist disabled families, as well as have an in-depth knowledge of the disability community.

(i) A nonprofit organization could function as either a contract administrator for the PHA's Mainstream vouchers, or as a subcontractor responsible for providing case management services or assisting disabled families to locate suitable housing, gain access to supportive services, or identify private funding sources to cover the costs of unit modifications needed as a reasonable accommodation.

(ii) Such contractual arrangements must, however, ensure equal opportunity among the wide variety of disabled populations in the PHA's service area.

(c) In some cases an applicant currently administering the housing choice voucher program has, at the time of publication of this SuperNOFA, been designated by HUD as troubled under the Section 8 Management Assessment Program (SEMAP), has major program management findings from Inspector General audits that are unresolved, or has other significant program compliance problems. HUD will not accept an application from such an applicant as a contract administrator if, on the application due date, the troubled designation under SEMAP has not been removed by HUD, and the findings or other significant program compliance problems are not resolved. If the applicant wants to apply for funding under this announcement, it must submit an application that designates another contractor that is acceptable to HUD. The application must include an agreement by the other contractor to administer the new funding increment on behalf of the applicant, and (in the instance of an applicant with unresolved major program management findings or other significant program compliance problems) a statement that outlines the steps the applicant is taking to resolve the program findings or compliance problems.

Immediately after the publication of this SuperNOFA, the Office of Public Housing in the local HUD Field Office will notify, in writing, those PHAs and nonprofit organizations that have been designated by HUD as troubled under SEMAP, and those PHAs and nonprofit organizations with unresolved major program management findings or other significant program compliance problems that are not eligible to apply without such an agreement. Concurrently, the local HUD Field Office will provide a copy of each such written notification to the Director of the Grants Management Center. The applicant may appeal the decision, in writing, if HUD has mistakenly classified the applicant as having unresolved major program findings or other significant program compliance problems. The applicant may not appeal its designation as troubled under SEMAP. Any appeal with respect to unresolved major program management findings or other significant program compliance problems must be accompanied by conclusive evidence of HUD's error (i.e., documentation showing that the finding has been cleared or the program compliance problem has been resolved) and must be received prior to the application deadline. The appeal should be submitted to the local HUD Field Office where a final determination shall be made. Concurrently, the local HUD Field Office shall provide the Grants Management Center with a copy of the applicant's written appeal and the Field Office's written response to the appeal. Copies of all letters of ineligibility and matters that relate to PHA appeals referenced in this paragraph must be submitted to the GMC by the Field Office so as to be received by the GMC no later than 10 days after the application deadline date. Major program management findings, or significant program compliance problems, are those that would cast doubt on the capacity of the applicant to effectively administer any new housing choice voucher funding in accordance with applicable HUD regulatory and statutory requirements. (Note: If any additional PHAs or nonprofit disability organizations fall into the above category prior to HUD's announcement of awards under this NOFA, but subsequent to the local HUD Field Office's notification of the GMC addressed above, the Field Office shall immediately notify the GMC of the applicant's name and the category into which the applicant falls, i.e., designated as troubled under SEMAP, major unresolved OIG management findings, or other significant program compliance problems. As indicated in Section VII(B)(2) of this NOFA, an applicant must be eligible for funding at the time of the application due date, as well as at such subsequent time of HUD's selection of awardees. No PHA appeals, based upon Field Office letters of ineligibility issued after the application deadline date, shall be considered for purposes of eligibility for funding under this funding announcement.)

(2) Nonprofit Organization. A nonprofit organization may submit only one application under this announcement. For purposes of the Mainstream Program, a nonprofit organization shall be defined as an organization, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or individual, that provides services to persons with disabilities and has received a federal tax-exempt designation, under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

(a) The nonprofit entity must:

(i) Have a voluntary board;

(ii) Be authorized by its charter or State law to enter into a contract with the Federal Government to provide housing assistance to persons with disabilities;

(iii) Have a functioning accounting system that is operated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, or designate an entity that will maintain a functioning accounting system for the organization in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles;

(iv) Practice nondiscrimination in the provision of assistance; and

(v) Provide services to the disabled as part of its ongoing activities and responsibilities.

(b) A nonprofit organization meeting the definition of a nonprofit organization as defined in this section III(B)(2), and wishing to apply for the funding available under this announcement, must have the capacity to:

(i) Comply with the Section 8 Management Assessment Program (SEMAP) certification requirements under 24 CFR part 985.

(ii) Carry out such housing choice voucher and SEMAP-specific related activities as making determinations as to rent reasonableness, performing housing quality standards (HQS) inspections and enforcement, conducting annual reexaminations of participant families, as well as otherwise meeting housing choice voucher program requirements under 24 CFR part 982.

(iii) Manage the Mainstream Program vouchers in a manner equivalent to an overall performance rating under SEMAP (24 CFR part 985) of at least "standard" during the first fiscal year of its receiving Mainstream Program funding under this funding announcement.

(iv) Administer rental housing programs or manage rental housing, as demonstrated by a specific list of rental housing programs the nonprofit organization has administered or the rental housing the organization has managed (e.g., private rental housing, HUD or State-related housing programs, etc.).

Nonprofit organizations are encouraged to seek out PHAs in their geographic area to develop cooperative contractual relationships under the Mainstream Program, and to enhance services to disabled families. In addition to contacting local PHAs, nonprofit organizations may also wish to contact regional (multi-county), or statewide PHAs who may be applying for Mainstream Program funding.

(C) Eligible Participants. Only a disabled family that is income eligible under 24 CFR 982.201(b)(1), as well as otherwise eligible under the regulations at 24 CFR 982.201, may receive a voucher awarded under the Mainstream Program. Applicants with disabilities must be selected from the PHA's or nonprofit organization's housing choice voucher waiting list. Additional information on those families and individuals eligible to receive a voucher is located at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/pih/programs/hcv>.

IV. Program Requirements and Definitions

(A) Civil Rights and Fair Housing. To be eligible to receive funding under this funding announcement, the applicant must meet all the civil rights and fair housing requirements detailed in Sections V (B)(2), (C) and (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Certifications and Assurances. Each applicant is required to submit signed copies of Assurances and Certifications. The standard Assurances and Certifications are on Form HUD-52515, Funding Application, which includes the Equal Opportunity Certification, Certification Regarding Lobbying, and Certification Regarding Drug-Free Workplace Requirements.

(C) Voucher Assistance Requirements

(1) Housing Choice Voucher Program Regulations. Applicants must administer the Mainstream Program in accordance with HUD regulations and requirements governing the Housing Choice Voucher Program. The only exception to this requirement shall be for nonprofit organizations which shall not be required to comply with the requirements of 24 CFR part 903, subpart B concerning the requirement for a PHA Plan.

(2) Housing Choice Voucher Program Admission Requirements. Housing choice voucher assistance must be provided to eligible disabled families in conformity with regulations and requirements governing the Housing

Choice Voucher Program and the PHA's administrative plan.

(3) Turnover. When a voucher under this announcement becomes available for reissue (e.g., the family initially selected for the program drops out of the program or is unsuccessful in the search for a unit), the voucher may be used only for another family eligible for assistance under this announcement for five years for the five-year funding from the date the rental assistance is placed under an annual contributions contract (ACC). In addition, any renewal by HUD of the five-year voucher funding (where the source of the renewal funding is Section 811 derived) shall require the continued reissuance of the vouchers to disabled families.

If there is ever an insufficient pool of disabled families on the PHA's or nonprofit organization's housing choice voucher waiting list, the PHA or nonprofit organization shall conduct outreach to encourage eligible persons to apply for this special allocation of vouchers. Outreach may include contacting independent living centers, advocacy organizations for persons with disabilities, and medical, mental health, and social service providers for referrals of persons receiving such services who would benefit from housing choice voucher assistance. If the PHA's or nonprofit organization's housing choice voucher waiting list is closed, and if the PHA or nonprofit organization has insufficient applicants on its housing choice voucher waiting list to use all awarded vouchers under this announcement, the PHA or nonprofit disability organization should open the waiting list for applications from disabled families. PHAs and nonprofit organizations must take care to keep track of the number of disabled vouchers they have been awarded under this funding announcement versus the number of such vouchers that have actually been issued to disabled families.

(D) PHA and Nonprofit Organization Responsibilities. In addition to the responsibilities under the Housing Choice Voucher Program and HUD regulations concerning nondiscrimination based on disability (24 CFR 8.28) and to affirmatively further fair housing, PHAs and nonprofit organizations that receive voucher funding shall:

(1) Where requested by an individual, assist program participants to gain access to supportive services available within the community, but not require eligible applicants or participants to accept supportive services as a condition of participation or continued occupancy in the program.

(2) Identify public and private funding sources to assist participants in covering the costs of modifications that need to be made to their units as a reasonable accommodation for their disabilities.

(3) Not deny persons who qualify for rental assistance under this program other housing opportunities, or otherwise restrict access to PHA or nonprofit organization programs to eligible applicants who choose not to participate.

(4) Provide housing choice voucher search assistance.

(5) In accordance with regulatory guidance, provide higher rents to owners necessary for the provision of accessible units and structural modifications for persons with disabilities.

(6) Provide technical assistance to owners for making reasonable accommodations or making units accessible to persons with disabilities.

(E) Definitions. The following definitions apply to the approximately $53.6 million in five-year budget authority available under this funding announcement.

(1) Disabled Family. Disabled family means a family whose head, spouse, or sole member is a person with disabilities. It may include two or more persons with disabilities living together, or one or more persons with disabilities living with one or more live-in aides.

(2) Person with disabilities.

(a) Means a person who:

(i) Has a disability as defined in 42 U.S.C. 423;

(ii) Is determined, pursuant to HUD regulations, to have a physical, mental or emotional impairment that:

(A) Is expected to be of long-continued and indefinite duration;

(B) Substantially impedes his or her ability to live independently; and

(C) Is of such a nature that the ability to live independently could be improved by more suitable housing conditions;

(iii) Has a developmental disability as defined in 42 U.S.C. 6001;

(b) Does not exclude persons who have the disease of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome or any conditions arising from the etiologic agent for acquired immunodeficiency syndrome;

(c) For purposes of qualifying for low-income housing, does not include a person whose disability is based solely on any drug or alcohol dependence.

(3) Housing choice voucher search assistance. Assistance to increase access by program participants to housing units in a variety of neighborhoods (including areas with low poverty concentrations) and to locate and obtain units suited to their needs.

(F) Homeownership and Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS). Applicants are encouraged to establish or expand upon an existing housing choice voucher homeownership program, as well as complete the closing process on homeownership units. Applicants are also encouraged to fill slots under a mandatory FSS program and to establish a voluntary FSS program and fill slots thereunder where a mandatory FSS program is not required.

(G) Increasing the Participation of Faith-Based and Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation. HUD believes that grassroots organizations, e.g., faith communities, civic organizations, and other community-based organizations, have not been effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as assisting the homeless and preventing homelessness; counseling individuals and families on fair housing rights; providing elderly housing opportunities; developing first time homeownership programs; increasing homeownership and rental housing opportunities; developing affordable and accessible housing in neighborhoods across the country; and creating economic development programs. The goal of this policy priority is to make HUD's housing choice voucher program more effective, efficient, and accessible by expanding opportunities for faith-based and other community-based organizations to participate in developing solutions for their own neighborhoods. Applicants are encouraged to coordinate with and otherwise involve faith-based and other community-based organizations in those activities under the housing choice voucher program where their services, expertise and knowledge may be most effective.

(H) Conducting Business in Accordance With Core Values and Ethical Standards. To reflect core values, all PHAs shall develop and maintain a written code of conduct in the PHA administrative plan that (1) requires compliance with the conflict of interest requirements of the Housing Choice Voucher Program at 24 CFR 982.161, and (2) prohibits the solicitation or acceptance of gifts or gratuities, in excess of a nominal value, by any officer or employee of the PHA, or any contractor, subcontractor or agent of the PHA. The PHA's administrative plan shall state PHA policies concerning PHA administrative and disciplinary remedies for violation of the PHA code of conduct. The PHA shall inform all officers, employees and agents of its organization of the PHA's code of conduct.

(I) Pre-Award Accounting System Surveys. See Section V (B)(5) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA regarding those applicants that may be subject to HUD's arranging for a pre-award survey of an applicant's financial management system.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. After the Grants Management Center has screened and disapproved any applications found unacceptable for further processing, the Grants Management Center will review all acceptable applications to ensure that they are technically adequate and responsive to the requirements of this announcement. HUD Headquarters will fund all applications from PHAs and nonprofit organizations that are recommended for funding by the Grants Management Center unless HUD receives approvable applications for more funds than are available. HUD will select applicants to be funded based upon the methodology indicated in Section II (C)(1) of this NOFA. Applications meeting all the application submission requirements of Section VI of this NOFA will be rated and ranked on the basis of their score under the selection criteria in Section V (B) of this NOFA. The maximum score under the selection criteria is 100 points.

(B) Selection Criteria

(1) Selection Criterion 1, Disabled Persons at or Below the Poverty Level. (40 points)

(a) Description: This criterion assesses the number of disabled persons at or below the poverty level in the primary market area served by the applicant, as a percentage of such disabled persons on a national basis using 2000 census data. The primary market area is defined as the geographic area in which the applicant is legally authorized to operate and where the vouchers will be issued. (See section VI (I) of this NOFA regarding the description of the primary market area required to be included in each PHA's/nonprofit organization's application.) A table listing all the cities and counties with a population of 10,000 or more persons within the nation (States and territories) will be listed with this funding announcement at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/fundsavail.cfm>. Also indicated on the table will be the number of disabled persons/percentage of such disabled persons at or below the poverty level within each city or county, as a percentage of the number of disabled persons at or below the poverty level within the nation. An applicant (and the GMC during the review of applications) will use the table to determine the percentage of disabled persons at or below the poverty level that is in the applicant's primary market area. The percentage will determine the number of points that the applicant is eligible for under Selection Criterion 1.

(b) Rating and Assessment: Points will be assigned based upon the number of disabled persons at or below the poverty level in the applicant's primary market area, as a percentage of such persons within the nation. For each tenth of one percent (.001) within the applicant's primary market area the applicant will receive 5 points. Percentages of .0015, .0025, etc. or higher but less than the next whole tenth of one percent, i.e., .002, .003, etc. shall be rounded to the next whole tenth of a percentage point. An applicant having a primary market area with a population of 10,000 or fewer for which disability percentages are not listed on the table will receive 5 points under Selection Criterion 1. Likewise, an applicant having a primary market area comprised of more than one community with a population of 10,000 or fewer shall receive a total of 5 points for all such communities combined. A maximum of 40 points is available under Selection Criterion 1 regardless of how high a percentage of disabled persons at or below the poverty level is located within the applicant's primary market area.

(2) Selection Criterion 2, Lease-Up and Budget Authority Utilization. (25 points)

(a) Description: This criterion focuses on a PHA's and nonprofit organization's success in leasing its housing choice vouchers, and using the budget authority associated with its vouchers. While a PHA or nonprofit organization must have either a lease-up or budget authority utilization rate of at least 97 percent under section VII (B)(2)(c) of this NOFA in order to have an acceptable application, Selection Criterion 2 provides for the award of selection points to those PHAs having a voucher lease-up rate or a budget authority utilization rate of 99 percent or higher. The lease-up and budget authority utilization percentages for a PHA's or nonprofit organization's voucher program will be calculated by HUD based upon the methodology indicated in Appendix A of this NOFA, and shall cover fiscal years ending December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; and September 30, 2002.

Lease-up or budget authority utilization rates of a half or more of one percentage point will be rounded to the next highest percentage point for purposes of qualifying for the points available under Selection Criterion 2 (for example, 98.5 percent will be rounded up to 99 percent). PHAs or nonprofit organizations that meet either the 97 percent lease-up or budget authority utilization threshold requirement in section VII(B)(2)(c) of this NOFA, or that have a 99 percent or higher lease-up or budget authority utilization rate and qualify for the points available under Selection Criterion 2 will be listed with this funding announcement at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/fundsavail.cfm>. A PHA or nonprofit organization not listed may submit information with its application, following the methodology of Appendix B and using the format of Appendix C which includes a completed example and the blank form format to be filled out and submitted with the PHA's or nonprofit organization's application, for its fiscal year December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; September 30, 2002 or subsequent fiscal year not yet processed by HUD but certified by the applicant.

See Section VI (G) of this NOFA regarding the certification requirement applicable to MTW PHAs in connection with qualifying for the points available under Selection Criterion 2.

(b) Rating and Assessment: The GMC will assign point values as follows:

- 25 points: The PHA or nonprofit organization has a lease-up or budget authority utilization rate for its voucher program of 99 percent.

Note: PHAs or nonprofit organizations without a voucher program or whose total voucher program is excluded (annual budget authority associated with new funding increments obligated during the applicant's last fiscal year and annual budget authority for litigation) from the lease-up/budget authority utilization calculation as per the methodology in Appendix A of this funding announcement may also be eligible to receive 25 points under Selection Criterion 2. In order to get the 25 points, the PHA or nonprofit organization will be required to submit a certification statement with its application certifying that it will lease all vouchers it is awarded under this NOFA within 180 days of the award of funding.

(3) Selection Criterion 3, Area-Wide Housing Opportunities (15 Points)

(a) Description: This criterion addresses the voluntary efforts that an applicant may take to provide area-wide housing opportunities for families. The efforts described in response to this criterion must be beyond those required by federal law or regulation such as the portability provisions of the Housing Choice Voucher Program. Applicants should take note that the difference between being eligible for 15 points versus 10 points under this selection criterion requires undertaking efforts to end chronic homelessness on the part of disabled families.

(b) Rating and Assessment: The GMC will assign point values as follows:

- 15 points: The applicant provides information indicating that it will provide housing counseling for disabled families that want to move to low-poverty or non-minority areas, or the applicant has established a contractual relationship with a PHA, nonprofit agency or local governmental entity to provide housing counseling for disabled families that want to move to low-poverty or non-minority areas. In addition, the applicant must target not less than 10 percent of the vouchers awarded under this funding announcement to assisting those disabled families that are chronically homeless as defined in section II (H) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, and as part of the counseling provided to such families undertake two or more of the activities listed in that section. (The five PHAs approved for the FY 1993 Moving to Opportunity (MTO) for Fair Housing Demonstration, the 11 PHAs approved under the Housing Search Assistance Program (HSAP), and any other PHAs that receive housing counseling funds from HUD (e.g., in settlement of litigation involving the desegregation or demolition of public housing, regional opportunity counseling, or mixed population projects) may qualify for points under this assessment, but these PHAs must identify all activities to be undertaken, other than those funded by HUD, to expand housing opportunities.)

- 10 points: The applicant provides information indicating that it will provide housing counseling for disabled families that want to move to low-poverty or non-minority areas, or the applicant has established a contractual relationship with a PHA, nonprofit agency or local governmental entity to provide housing counseling for disabled families that want to move to low-poverty or non-minority areas. (The five PHAs approved for the FY 1993 Moving to Opportunity (MTO) for Fair Housing Demonstration, the 11 PHAs approved under the Housing Search Assistance Program (HSAP), and any other PHAs that receive housing counseling funds from HUD (e.g., in settlement of litigation involving the desegregation or demolition of public housing, regional opportunity counseling, or mixed population projects) may qualify for points under this assessment, but these PHAs must identify all activities to be undertaken, other than those funded by HUD, to expand housing opportunities.)

- 5 points: The applicant provides information indicating that it has implemented other initiatives that have resulted, and will continue to result, in expanding housing opportunities for disabled families in areas that do not have undue concentrations of poverty or minority families.

(4) Selection Criterion 4, Commitments From Outside Agencies (10 Points)

(a) Description: The applicant documents that it has entered into agreements with one or more organizations to assist disabled families with moving costs, security deposits, utility hook-up fees, utility deposits, medical care, transportation, educational opportunities, employment and child care.

(b) Rating and Assessment: The GMC will assign points as follows:

- 10 points: The applicant provides copies of the agreements that it has entered into with three or more organizations to assist disabled families with moving costs, security deposits, utility hook-up fees, utility deposits, medical care, transportation, educational opportunities, employment and child care. The applicant must also provide information indicating it has taken one or more of the activities to promote the participation of grass-roots and other community-based organizations indicated in Section II (6) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, as relates to the aforementioned agreements. The applicant's provision of the former, but not the latter information, shall result in the application receiving no more than 8 points under this Selection Criterion 4, as indicated below.

- 8 points: The applicant provides copies of the agreements that it has entered into with three or more organizations to assist disabled families with moving costs, security deposits, utility hook-up fees, utility deposits, medical care, transportation, educational opportunities, employment and child care.

- 5 points: The applicant provides copies of the agreements it has entered into with two organizations to assist disabled families with moving costs, security deposits, utility hook-up fees, utility deposits, medical care, transportation, educational opportunities, employment and child care.

- 3 points: The applicant provides copies of the agreements it has entered into with one organization to assist disabled families with moving costs, security deposits, utility hook-up fees, utility deposits, medical care, transportation, educational opportunities, employment and child care.

(5) Selection Criterion 5, Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

(a) Description: This criterion emphasizes HUD's determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and assess their performance in meeting performance goals. HUD requires Mainstream Program applicants to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented monitoring and evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that goals have been met. The plan must include interim products or activities that lead to the ultimate achievement of the applicant's goals. Performance indicators must also be developed by the applicant to measure performance. Performance indicators must be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against planned achievements. The applicant's evaluation and monitoring plan must identify what it is going to measure, how it will be measured, and the steps that will be taken to make adjustments to the plan if performance targets are not met within established deadlines.

An example of a goal is that the applicant will have 100 percent of the Mainstream vouchers under lease by disabled families within 180 days of the effective date of the Annual Contributions Contract (ACC) for the funding increment. Examples of interim activities to achieve such a goal might include assisting disabled families with transportation to rental properties, efforts to identify and provide lists of accessible units, approval of exception payment standards, or use of special housing types. An example of related performance indicators might include assisting disabled families with transportation needs within 24 hours of a disabled family's request to visit a potential rental unit, and that 50 percent of all the Mainstream vouchers are to be under lease within 90 days of the ultimate goal of having all vouchers under lease within 180 days.

Examples of other areas in which applicants may wish to consider establishing goals are with respect to Selection Criterion 3, Selection Criterion 4, any one or more of the areas to be addressed in the applicant's Mainstream Program Operating Plan (see Section IV (D) of this NOFA), etc.

(b) Rating and Assessment: The GMC will assign points as follows:

- 10 points: The applicant submits a monitoring and evaluation plan meeting the descriptive requirements outlined immediately above.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

Applicants are requested to read this section very carefully, as it addresses the specific information that must be in the applications submitted to HUD under this NOFA. Applications failing to provide this information will be determined either ineligible for processing, or in the instance of an application having a curable (correctable) technical deficiency (see the General Section of the SuperNOFA), the applicant will be requested to submit additional information.

Those application submission items identified below in this Section VI as "not curable" shall mean that any item, e.g., Mainstream Program Operating Plan, for which the applicant does not provide all the requested information shall result in the application being determined ineligible for processing. The turnaround times established by HUD in the instance of curable technical deficiencies are relatively brief, so the initial submission of a carefully prepared and complete application is extremely important. Applicants should also carefully review sections VII (B)(2)(b) and (c) of this funding announcement to determine if their SEMAP designation, OIG status, existence of significant program compliance problems, or voucher lease-up/budget authority utilization rate will require the submission of additional information with their application.

(A) Form HUD-52515. All applicants must complete and submit Form HUD-52515, Funding Application, for the Housing Choice Voucher Program. This form includes all necessary certifications for Fair Housing, Drug Free Workplace, and Lobbying Activities. Applicants are required to enter their housing authority code number (for example, CT002), telephone number, facsimile number and electronic mail address in the same space at the top of the form where they also are to enter the applicant's name and mailing address. Section C of the form should be left blank. The form must be completed in its entirety, with the exception of Section C, signed and dated. A copy of Form HUD-52515 is included in the forms found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Copies of the form may also be downloaded from the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov>. (On the HUD web site click on "handbooks and forms," then click on "forms," then click on "HUD-5" and click on "HUD-52515." In addition, the Form HUD-52515 will also be posted with the Mainstream funding announcement at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/fundsavail.cfm>.)

In the instance of a nonprofit organization that does not currently manage a housing choice voucher program, the nonprofit organization shall fill in Section B, Proposed Assisted Dwelling Units, on the form by either using numbers based on information requested from the nearest public housing agency, based upon its housing choice voucher waiting list, or based upon information from local advocacy groups and local public and private service agencies familiar with the needs of elderly and non-elderly persons with disabilities, census data, and pertinent information from the Consolidated Plan applicable to the applicant's jurisdiction. Section C, Average Monthly Adjusted Income, should be left blank. Section F, New HA Information, requires information on Financial and Administrative Capability and Qualification as a HA. For Financial and Administrative Capability, a nonprofit organization may reference that part of its application addressing the requirements of Section VI (E) of this announcement. For Qualification as an HA, the nonprofit organization must submit information validating its qualifications as a nonprofit organization as defined in section III (B)(2) of this announcement. The submission of enabling legislation is not required to accomplish this purpose, but a legal opinion supportive of the applicant's status as a nonprofit organization, as defined in the first sentence of section III (B)(2)(a) of this announcement is required.

The Form HUD-52515 must be signed and dated by the applicant. The signature and date shall signify that the information provided on the form is complete and accurate, and that all other information provided by the applicant in its application (including any certifications) are complete and accurate.

(B) Letter of Intent and Narrative. The applicant must state in its cover letter to the application whether it is a PHA applying for five-year funding, or a nonprofit organization applying for five-year funding. The applicant also must indicate the number of vouchers being requested, whether it will accept a reduction in the number of vouchers, and the minimum number of vouchers the applicant will accept, since the funding is limited and HUD may only have enough funds to approve an amount smaller than the number of vouchers requested. The maximum number of vouchers that an applicant may apply for under this announcement is limited to 50.

The letter of intent and narrative should also include information addressing how the applicant meets the selection criteria in section V (B) of this NOFA. Failure of the applicant to provide information in connection with selection criteria 1 and 2 shall result in the GMC scoring the applicant solely on the basis of information HUD already has on-hand. Failure of the applicant to provide the information called for under selection criteria 3, 4 and 5 shall be considered not curable, but shall not make the application ineligible for processing. Failure to provide the information shall simply mean that the applicant is ineligible for the points under the categories for which it failed to provide the information requested in this funding announcement.

PHAs and nonprofit organizations that do not currently administer a housing choice voucher program must identify the nearest PHA (including the full name, address, and telephone no.) that does administer a housing choice voucher program. This information will be necessary for HUD to calculate annual per unit costs for voucher funding awarded under this funding announcement for such PHAs and nonprofit organizations (see section II (C)(3) of this funding announcement).

(C) Description of Need for Mainstream Program Vouchers. The PHA's and nonprofit organization's application must demonstrate a need for Mainstream Program vouchers by providing information documenting that the demand for housing for non-elderly and elderly persons with disabilities in connection with a request for five-year funding under this announcement would equal or exceed the requested number of vouchers. The applicant must assess and document the housing need for elderly and non-elderly persons with disabilities using a range of sources including, but not limited to: census data, information from the applicant's waiting list (both public housing and housing choice voucher), statistics on recent public housing admissions and housing choice voucher use, data from local advocacy groups and local public and private service agencies familiar with the housing needs of elderly and non-elderly persons with disabilities, and pertinent information from the Consolidated Plan [including the

Failure of the applicant to provide the information required under this section (C) shall be determined not curable and the application deemed ineligible for processing.

(D) Mainstream Program Operating Plan. The application must include a description of an adequate plan for operating a program to serve eligible disabled families, including:

(1) A description of how the applicant will carry out its responsibilities under 24 CFR 8.28 to assist recipients in locating units with needed accessibility features; and

(2) A description of how the applicant will identify private or public funding sources to help participants cover the costs of modifications that need to be made to their units as reasonable accommodations to their disabilities.

(3) A description of how the applicant will use a nonprofit organization or PHA (if any) under a contract to administer the Mainstream Program vouchers, or to otherwise provide services.

Failure of the applicant to provide the information required under this section (D) shall be determined not curable and the application deemed ineligible for processing.

(E) Certification Applicable to Nonprofit Organizations. A nonprofit organization applying for funding available under this announcement must provide a certification stating that the applicant can meet the capacity requirements applicable to a nonprofit organization delineated in section III (B)(2)(b) of this announcement. The certification must specifically list the four capacity requirements from that paragraph, and must specifically list the rental housing programs the nonprofit organization has administered or the rental housing the nonprofit organization has managed.

Failure of the applicant to provide the information required under this section (E) shall be determined not curable and the application deemed ineligible for processing.

(F) Statement Regarding the Steps the PHA and Nonprofit Organization Will Take to Affirmatively Further Fair Housing. The statement must include specific steps to address the categories outlined in sections V (D)(1), (2) and (3) in the General Section of the HUD SuperNOFA.

(G) Moving to Work (MTW) PHA Certification. MTW agencies required to report under SEMAP, as well as those MTW agencies not required to report under SEMAP, shall be required to meet the 97 percent lease-up and budget authority utilization requirement addressed in Section VII (B)(2)(c) of this funding announcement. MTW agencies must submit a certification with their application certifying as to their voucher lease-up and budget authority utilization percentages. Submission of Appendix B information by MTW PHAs is not required.

Failure of the applicant to provide the certification required under this section (G) shall be determined not curable and the application deemed ineligible for processing.

(H) Form HUD-2993. All applicants must complete and submit Form HUD-2993, Acknowledgement of Application Receipt. In addition to the applicant's entering its name and address on the form, the full title of the program under which the applicant is seeking funding must also be entered. This form is located in the General Section of the SuperNOFA and is also available at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov>. On this web site click on "handbooks and forms."

(I) Identification of Primary Market Area. Each applicant must specify in the application its primary market area, i.e., the geographic area in which it is legally authorized to operate and where the vouchers will be issued. This information may be different from that entered by such an applicant on the Form HUD-52515, as the form calls for the applicant to identify its "legal area of operation" which may be far more geographically expansive than the specific city, county, or area within a State where a PHA (particularly a regional or State PHA), or nonprofit organization intends to issue the vouchers. This information is critical because, as indicated in section V (B)(1)(a) of this funding announcement, the geographic area in which the vouchers are intended to be issued and in which the applicant is legally authorized to operate a Housing Choice Voucher Program will be used by the applicant (and subsequently by the GMC during the review of applications) to determine the percentage of the nation's housing needs for disabled persons at or below the poverty level that are within the applicant's primary market area. For example, although an applicant may be legally authorized to operate throughout the entire county in which it is located, if the vouchers will be issued only in two cities within that county then the primary market area is those two cities and not the entire county. Conversely, if the applicant is planning to issue vouchers to all cities within a county, then the applicant must list the county only and not list the individual cities within that county (the county is the sum of all housing needs for cities within a county). If, in addition to the county, there are individual cities outside the county where the applicant also will be issuing vouchers, the PHA then also must list these cities. A State PHA or nonprofit organization legally authorized to operate throughout the entire State, but which intends to issue the fair share vouchers in only one county, must list solely that county as its primary market area. In addition, the primary market area shall not include a geographic area in which the applicant is issuing vouchers, outside its normal, legally authorized area of operation, based upon an agreement with another agency/PHA to issue vouchers in the other agency's/PHA's jurisdiction.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

(A) Acceptable Applications. The application must include all of the information specified in Section VI, Application Submission Requirements, of this announcement. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications. {Note: The submission by applicants of clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies under this funding announcement must be provided to HUD within 7 calendar days (not the 14 calendar days indicated in the General Section of the SuperNOFA) of receipt of the HUD notification.}

(B) Unacceptable Applications. (1) After the 7-calendar day technical deficiency correction period, the Grants Management Center will disapprove all applications from PHAs and nonprofit organizations that the Grants Management Center determines are not acceptable for processing. The Grants Management Center's notification of rejection letter must state the basis for the decision. The applicant may request an applicant debriefing. Beginning not less than 30 days after the awards for assistance are announced in the Federal Register, and for not longer than 120 days, HUD will, upon receiving a written request from the applicant, provide a debriefing to the requesting applicant. (See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for additional information regarding a debriefing.) Applicants requesting to be debriefed must send a written request to Michael Diggs, Director, Grants Management Center, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 501 School Street, SW., Suite 800, Washington, DC 20024.

(2) Applications from PHAs or nonprofit organizations that fall into any of the following categories will not be processed:

(a) PHAs or nonprofit organizations that do not meet the fair housing and civil rights compliance threshold requirements of sections V(B)(2), (C) and (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(b) The applicant is designated as troubled by HUD under SEMAP, or has major program management findings in an Inspector General audit for its voucher program that are unresolved, or has other significant program compliance problems that are not resolved. Major program management findings, or significant program compliance problems, are those that would cast doubt on the capacity of the applicant to effectively administer any new housing choice voucher funding in accordance with applicable HUD regulatory and statutory requirements. The only exception to this category is if the applicant has been identified under the policy established in section III (B)(1)(c) of this announcement and the applicant makes application with a designated contract administrator.

(c) The PHA or nonprofit organization has failed to achieve a lease-up or budget authority utilization rate of 97 percent for its voucher units under contract for its fiscal year ending on either December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; or September 30, 2002. Applicants that have been determined by HUD to have passed either the 97 percent lease-up, or 97 percent budget authority utilization requirement for their fiscal year ending on December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; or September 30, 2002, will be listed with the Mainstream funding announcement at the following HUD Web site: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/fundsavail.cfm>. An applicant not listed may submit monthly lease-up and budget authority utilization information (following the methodology of Appendix A of this announcement and using the format in Appendix B, which also includes a blank version of the format) as part of its application supportive of its contention that it should have been included among those potential applicants HUD listed on the HUD Web site as having achieved either a 97 percent lease-up rate or 97 percent budget authority utilization rate for fiscal years ending on December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; September 30, 2002; or subsequent full fiscal year not yet processed by HUD but certified by the applicant. Applicants not listed on the aforementioned HUD

Web site must submit utilization information using the blank form in Appendix B, as the application will otherwise be determined ineligible for funding under this announcement.

Note: The lease-up and budget authority utilization requirement shall not apply to applicants not currently administering a voucher program, or to new units associated with funding increments obligated during the applicant's last fiscal year and units obligated for litigation. In addition, lease-up or budget authority utilization rates of 96.5 percent but less than 97 percent shall be rounded up to 97 percent.)

See section VI (G) of this funding announcement which addresses the certification to be submitted by MTW agencies in connection with the 97 percent lease-up and budget authority utilization requirements referenced above.

(d) The PHA or nonprofit organization is involved in litigation and HUD determines that the litigation may seriously impede the ability of the applicant to administer the vouchers.

(e) An application that does not comply with the requirements of 24 CFR 982.103 and this program section after the expiration of the 7-calendar day technical deficiency correction period will be rejected from processing.

(f) The application was submitted after the application due date.

(g) The application was not submitted to the official place of receipt as indicated in the paragraph entitled "Address for Submitting Applications" at the beginning of this announcement.

(h) The applicant has been debarred or otherwise disqualified from providing assistance under the program.

(i) The PHA did not have its PHA plans approved by HUD for the FY 2001 plan cycle on the application due date for this funding announcement. (This category of ineligibility does not apply to nonprofit organizations whose housing choice voucher program is based solely upon previously approved housing choice vouchers under the Mainstream Program.)

VIII. Environmental Requirements

In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(11) and 58.35(b)(1) of the HUD regulations, tenant-based rental activities under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities. Activities under the homeownership option of this program are categorically excluded from NEPA requirements and excluded from other environmental requirements under 24 CFR 58.5 in accordance with 24 CFR 58.35(b)(5), but PHAs and nonprofit organizations are responsible for the environmental requirements in 24 CFR 982.626(c).

IX. Authority

Authority for this program is found in the Consolidated Appropriations

Resolution, FY 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003).

APPENDIX AMETHODOLOGY FOR DETERMINING LEASE-UP AND BUDGET AUTHORITY UTILIZATION PERCENTAGE RATES

Using data from the HUDCAPS system, HUD determined which PHAs and nonprofit organizations met the 97% budget authority utilization or 97% lease-up requirement addressed in section VII (B)(2)(c) of this NOFA. The data used in the determination were based on PHA and nonprofit organization fiscal years ending December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; and September 30, 2002. The budget authority utilization and lease-up rates were determined based upon the methodology indicated below

Budget Authority Utilization

Percentage of budget authority utilization was determined by comparing the total contributions required to the annual budget authority (ABA) available for the PHA or nonprofit organization fiscal year ending December 31, 2001; March 31, 2002; June 30, 2002; or September 30, 2002, for the PHA's or nonprofit organization's voucher program. Annual budget authority associated with new funding increments obligated during the last PHA or nonprofit organization fiscal year and annual budget authority for litigation were excluded.

Total contributions required were determined based on the combined actual costs approved by HUD on the form HUD-52681, Year End Settlement Statement. The components that make up the total contributions required are the total of housing assistance payments, ongoing administrative fees earned, hard to house fees earned, and IPA audit costs. From this total any interest earned on administrative fees is subtracted. The net amount is the total contributions required.

ABA is the prorated portion applicable to the PHA/nonprofit organization year for each funding increment that had an active contract term during all or a portion of the PHA/nonprofit organization year. ABA is adjusted for new funding increments obligated during the last PHA/nonprofit organization fiscal year and for litigation funding increments.

Units associated with new funding increments obligated during the last PHA/nonprofit organization fiscal year and units obligated for litigation were excluded from the reserved units.

HUD encourages minority organizations and grassroots organizations (e.g., civic organizations, faith-communities and grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations) to participate in this program and strongly recommends that prospective applicants attend the local HUD Office workshop. At the workshops, HUD will explain application procedures and requirements as well as address concerns such as local market conditions, building codes and accessibility requirements, historic preservation, floodplain management, other environmental requirements, displacement and relocation, zoning, and housing costs. If you are interested in attending the workshop, make sure that your name, address and telephone number are on the appropriate HUD Office's mailing list so that you will be informed of the date, time and place of the workshop. Persons with disabilities should call the appropriate HUD Office to ensure that any necessary arrangements can be made to enable their attendance and participation in the workshop.

If you cannot attend the workshop, call the appropriate HUD Office if you have any questions concerning the submission of applications to that particular office and to request any materials distributed at the workshop.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of the application. It is strongly recommended that potential applicants, especially those who may be applying for section 202 funding for the first time, tune in to this broadcast, if at all possible. Copies of the broadcast tapes are also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, you should consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

II. Amount Allocated

For FY 2003, $473,750,170 is available for capital advances for the supportive housing for the elderly program. The Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7), approved February 20, 2003, (FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations) provides $683,286,000 for capital advances, including amendments to capital advance contracts, for supportive housing for the elderly as authorized by section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 (12 U.S.C. 1701q), as amended by section 801 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Pub. L. 101-625, approved November 28, 1990), and for project rental assistance, and amendments to contracts for project rental assistance, and renewal of expiring contracts for such assistance for up to a one-year term, for supportive housing for the elderly under section 202(c)(2) of the Housing Act of 1959.

Additionally, the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations provide $25 million for predevelopment grants to private nonprofit organizations and consumer cooperatives in connection with the development of housing under the section 202 program. The announcement of the availability of these funds will be addressed in a separate NOFA to be issued in the future.

In accordance with the waiver authority provided in the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations, the Secretary is waiving the following statutory and regulatory provision: the term of the project rental assistance contract is reduced from 20 years to 5 years. HUD anticipates that at the end of the contract terms, renewals will be approved subject to the availability of funds. In addition to this provision, HUD will reserve project rental assistance contract funds based on 75 percent rather than on 100 percent of the current operating cost standards for approved units in order to take into account the average tenant contribution toward rent.

The allocation formula used for section 202 reflects the "relevant characteristics of prospective program participants," as specified in 24 CFR 791.402(a). The FY 2003 formula consists of two data elements from the 2000 Census: (1) Number of elderly renter households of all sizes (householder age 65 and older) and (2) number of elderly households (householder age 60 and older) living alone with incomes below the poverty level.

Under section 202, 85 percent of the total capital advance amount is allocated to metropolitan areas and 15 percent to nonmetropolitan areas. In addition, each HUD Office jurisdiction receives sufficient capital advance funds for a minimum of 20 units in metropolitan areas and 5 units in nonmetropolitan areas. The total amount of capital advance funds to support these minimum set-asides are subtracted from the respective (metropolitan or nonmetropolitan) total capital advance amounts available. The remainder is fair shared to each HUD Office jurisdiction whose fair share exceeds the minimum set-aside based on the allocation formula fair share factors described below.

Note: The allocations for metropolitan and nonmetropolitan portions of the Multifamily Hub or Program Center jurisdictions reflect the most current definitions of metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

A fair share factor is developed for each metropolitan and nonmetropolitan portion of each local HUD Office jurisdiction by dividing the number of elderly renter households in the respective metropolitan and nonmetropolitan portion of the jurisdiction by the total number of elderly rental households in the metropolitan and nonmetropolitan portions of the United States. The resulting percentage for each local HUD Office jurisdiction is then adjusted to reflect the relative cost of providing housing among the HUD Office jurisdictions. The adjusted needs percentage for the applicable metropolitan or nonmetropolitan portion of each jurisdiction is then multiplied by the respective total remaining capital advance funds available nationwide. Based on the allocation formula, HUD has allocated the available capital advance funds as shown on the following chart:

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. HUD provides capital advances and contracts for project rental assistance in accordance with 24 CFR part 891. Capital advances may be used for the construction or rehabilitation of a structure, or acquisition of a structure with or without rehabilitation (including structures from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)). Capital advance funds bear no interest and are based on development cost limits published in Section IV(D). Repayment of the capital advance is not required as long as the housing remains available for occupancy by very low-income elderly persons for at least 40 years.

Project rental assistance contract (PRAC) funds are used to cover the difference between the tenants' contributions toward rent (30 percent of adjusted income) and the HUD-approved expense to operate the project. PRAC funds may also be used to provide supportive services and to hire a service coordinator in those projects serving frail elderly residents. The supportive services must be appropriate to the category or categories of frail elderly residents to be served.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Private nonprofit organizations and nonprofit consumer cooperatives who meet the threshold requirements contained in section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA are the only eligible applicants under this section 202 Program. Neither a public body nor an instrumentality of a public body is eligible to participate in the program. See section IV(B) regarding limits on the total number of units and projects that an applicant may request.

(C) Eligible Activities. Section 202 capital advance funds must be used to finance the development of housing through new construction, rehabilitation, or acquisition of housing with or without rehabilitation. Capital advance funds may also be used in combination with other non-Section 202 funding sources to develop additional units for a mixed-finance project. Project rental assistance funds are provided to cover the difference between the HUD-approved operating costs and the amount the residents pay (each resident pays 30 percent of adjusted income) as well as to provide supportive services to frail elderly residents.

Note: For purposes of approving section 202 capital advances, HUD will consider proposals involving mixed-financing for additional units. However, you must obtain funds to assist the additional units with other than PRAC funds. HUD will not provide PRAC funds for non-section 202 units.

(D) Ineligible Activities. Section 202 funds may not be used for nursing homes, infirmaries, medical facilities, mobile home projects, community centers, headquarters for organizations for the elderly, nonhousekeeping accommodations, or refinancing of sponsor-owned facilities without rehabilitation.

Note: You may propose to rehabilitate an existing currently owned or leased structure that may or may not already serve elderly persons, except that the refinancing of any Federally funded or assisted project or project insured or guaranteed by a Federal agency is not permissible under this section 202 NOFA. HUD does not consider it appropriate to utilize scarce program resources to refinance projects that have already received some form of assistance under a Federal program. (For example, section 202 or section 202/8 direct loan projects cannot be refinanced with capital advances and project rental assistance.)

IV. Program Requirements

By signing Form HUD-92015-CA, Application for section 202 Capital Advance, you are certifying that you will comply with all program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA as well as the following requirements:

(A) Statutory and Regulatory Requirements. In addition to the statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, you must comply with all statutory and regulatory requirements listed in sections III, IV and IX of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Application Unit/Project Limits. A Sponsor or Co-sponsor may not apply for more than 200 units of housing for the elderly in a single Hub or more than 10 percent of the total units allocated to all HUD Offices. Also, no single application may propose more than the number of units allocated to a HUD Office or 125 units, whichever is less. Reservations for projects will not be approved for fewer than 5 units. If the proposed project will be a scattered-site development, the 5-unit minimum requirement will apply to each site. Affiliated entities that submit separate applications are considered to be a single entity for the purpose of these limits.

(C) HUD/RHS Agreement. HUD and the Rural Housing Service (RHS) have an agreement to coordinate the administration of the agencies' respective rental assistance programs. As a result, HUD is required to notify RHS of applications for housing assistance it receives. This notification gives RHS the opportunity to comment if it has concerns about the demand for additional assisted housing and possible harm to existing projects in the same housing market area. HUD will consider RHS' comments in its review and application selection process.

(D) Development Cost Limits. (1) The following development cost limits, adjusted by locality as described in section IV(D)(2) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, below, will be used to determine the capital advance amount to be reserved for projects for the elderly:

(a) The total development cost of the property or project attributable to dwelling use (less the incremental development cost and the capitalized operating costs associated with any excess amenities and design features you must pay for) may not exceed:

Nonelevator Structures

$41,238 per family unit without a bedroom;
$47,548 per family unit with one bedroom;
$57,344 per family unit with two bedrooms;

For Elevator Structures

$43,398 per family unit without a bedroom;
$49,748 per family unit with one bedroom;
$60,493 per family unit with two bedrooms.

(b) These cost limits reflect those costs reasonable and necessary to develop a project of modest design that complies with HUD minimum property standards; the accessibility requirements of § 891.120(b); and the project design and cost standards of § 891.120 and § 891.210.

(2) Increased development cost limits.

(a) HUD may increase the development cost limits set forth in Section IV(D)(1) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, above, by up to 140 percent in any geographic area where the cost levels require, and may increase the development cost limits by up to 160 percent on a project-by-project basis. This increase may include covering additional costs to make dwelling units accessible through rehabilitation.

(b) If HUD finds that high construction costs in Alaska, Guam, the Virgin Islands, or Hawaii make it infeasible to construct dwellings, without the sacrifice of sound standards of construction, design, and livability, within the development cost limits provided in Section IV(D)(1) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, above, the amount of the capital advances may be increased to compensate for such costs. The increase may not exceed the limits established under this section (including any high cost area adjustment) by more than 50 percent.

(E) Minimum Capital Investment. Selected nonprofit organizations must provide a minimum capital investment of one-half of one percent of the HUD-approved capital advance amount, not to exceed $10,000 in accordance with § 891.145, with the following exception. If you, as Sponsor or Co-Sponsor, have one or more Section 202 or one or more Section 811 project(s) under reservation, construction, or management in two or more different HUD geographical regions (Hubs), the minimum capital investment shall be one half of one percent of the HUD-approved capital advance amount, not to exceed $25,000.

(F) Accessibility. Your project must meet accessibility requirements published at 24 CFR 891.120, 24 CFR 891.210, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and, if new construction, the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100. In addition, 24 CFR 8.4(b)(5) prohibits the selection of a site or location which has the purpose or effect of excluding persons with disabilities from the Federally assisted program or activity. HUD will award higher points to applications that add accessible design features beyond those required under civil rights laws and regulations. (See section II of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.)

(G) Conducting Business in Accordance with HUD Core Values and Ethical Standards. Section 202 Sponsors are not subject to the requirements of 24 CFR parts 84 and 85 as outlined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA. However, Sponsors are still subject to the core values and ethical standards as they relate to the conflict of interest provisions in 24 CFR 891.130. To ensure compliance with the program's conflict of interest provisions, you are required to sign a Conflict of Interest Resolution and include it in your Section 202 application. Further, if awarded a section 202 fund reservation, the officers, directors, board members, trustees, stockholders and authorized agents of the section 202 Sponsor and Owner entities will be required to submit to HUD individual certifications regarding compliance with HUD's conflict of interest requirements.

(H) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged

Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. Although the section 202 program is not subject to the provisions of 24 CFR 85.36(e) as described in the corresponding paragraph in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, you are required to comply with Executive Order 12432, Minority Business Enterprise Development and Executive Order 11625, Prescribing Additional Arrangements for Developing and Coordinating a National Program for Minority Business Enterprise as they relate to the encouragement of HUD grantees to utilize minority business enterprises.

(I) Fair Housing Requirements. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(J) Economic Opportunities for Low and Very Low-Income Persons (Section 3). See section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(K) Design and Cost Standards. You must comply with HUD's Section 202 design and cost standards (24 CFR 891.120 and 891.210), the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (24 CFR 40.7), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 8, and for covered multifamily dwellings designed and constructed for first occupancy after March 13, 1991, the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100, and, where applicable, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

(L) Acquisition and Relocation. You must comply with the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, as amended (49 CFR part 24, and 24 CFR 891.155(e)) (URA) which covers the acquisition of sites, with or without, existing structures and with 24 CFR 8.4(b)(5) of the Section 504 regulations which prohibits discrimination based on disability in determining the site or location of a Federally-assisted facility. However, you are exempt from complying with the site acquisition requirements of the URA if you do not have the power of eminent domain and prior to entering into a contract of sale, option to purchase or any other method of obtaining site control, you inform the seller of the land (1) that you do not have the power of eminent domain and, therefore, you will not acquire the property if negotiations fail to result in an amicable agreement, and (2) of the estimate of the fair market value of the property. An appraisal is not required to meet this requirement, however, your files must include an explanation (with reasonable evidence) of the basis for the estimate.

(M) Formation of Owner Corporation. You must form an Owner (in accordance with 24 CFR 891.205) after issuance of the capital advance, must cause the Owner to file a request for determination of eligibility and a request for capital advance, and must provide sufficient resources to the Owner to ensure the development and long-term operation of the project, including capitalizing the Owner at firm commitment processing in an amount sufficient to meet its obligations in connection with the project.

(N) Supportive Services. You must not require residents to accept any supportive services as a condition of occupancy.

(O) Davis-Bacon. You must comply with the Davis-Bacon requirements and the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act.

(P) Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 and Coastal Barrier Resources Act. You must comply with the requirements under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (42 U.S.C. 4001–4128) and the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3601).

(Q) National Environmental Policy Act. You must comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321) and applicable related environmental authorities at 24 CFR 50.4, HUD's programmatic implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 50 and 24 CFR 891.155(b), especially but not limited to the provision of information to HUD at 24 CFR 50.31(b) and you must comply with any environmental "conditions and safeguards" at 24 CFR 50.3(c).

(R) Sites. (1) Site Control. You must provide evidence of site control as described in this program section of the SuperNOFA and Exhibit 4(d) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of this SuperNOFA.

(2) Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA). You must submit a Phase I ESA in accordance with the American Society for Testing and Material (ASTM) Standards E 1527–97, as amended, completed or updated no earlier than six months prior to the application deadline date. Therefore, it is important that you start the Phase I ESA process as soon after publication of this SuperNOFA as possible. Documents providing guidance in choosing an environmentally safe site, entitled "Choosing an Environmentally Safe Site" and the "Supplemental Guidance, Environmental Information", are available on HUD's Web site at <http://www.HUD.gov>.

(a) For a project that involves demolition and/or rehabilitation of structures built before 1978, the Phase I

ESA must include the following: (i) An asbestos report that identifies the location and condition of any asbestos and (ii) a certification that any asbestos identified in the asbestos report that is in friable condition will be abated, that any non-friable asbestos that has been identified in the asbestos report and that will be affected by the demolition/rehabilitation will be abated, and that any asbestos to be abated have been included within the project costs.

(b) For a project that does not involve demolition and/or rehabilitation of structures built before 1978, the Phase I ESA must include a certification to the same.

If the Phase I ESA indicates the possible presence of contamination and/or hazards, you must decide whether to continue with this site or choose another site. Should you choose another site, the same Phase I ESA process identified above must be followed for the new site.

Note: If the property is to be acquired from the FDIC, include a copy of the FDIC prepared Transaction Screen Checklist or Phase I ESA, and applicable documentation, per the FDIC Environmental Guidelines.

(3) Phase II ESA. If you choose to continue with the original site on which the Phase I ESA indicated contamination or hazards, you must undertake a detailed Phase II ESA by an appropriate professional. If the Phase II ESA reveals site contamination, the extent of the contamination and a plan for clean-up of the site must be submitted to the local HUD Office.

The plan for clean-up must include a contract for remediation of the problem(s) and an approval letter from the applicable Federal, State, and/or local agency with jurisdiction over the site.

In order for the application to be considered for review under this FY 2003 funding competition, you must submit this information to the local HUD Office on or before July 14, 2003.

Note: This could be an expensive undertaking. You must pay for the cost of any clean-up and/or remediation.

(S) Delinquent Federal Debt. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(T). Commercial Facilities. A commercial facility for the benefit of the residents may be located and operated in the section 202 project. However, the commercial facility cannot be funded with the use of section 202 capital advance or PRAC funds. The maximum amount of space permitted for a commercial facility and other community space cannot exceed 10 percent of the total project cost. An exception to this 10 percent limitation is if the project involves acquisition or rehabilitation and the additional space was incorporated in the existing structure at the time the proposal was submitted to HUD. Commercial facilities are considered public accommodations under Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), and thus must comply with all the accessibility requirements of the ADA.

(U) False Statements. See section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(V) Expiration of Section 202 Funds. The FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations require HUD to obligate all Section 202 funds appropriated for FY 2003 by September 30, 2006. Under 31 U.S.C. Section 1551, no funds can be disbursed from the account after September 30, 2011. Under Section 202, obligation of funds occurs for both capital advances and project rental assistance upon fund reservation and acceptance. If all funds are not disbursed by HUD and expended by the project Owner by September 30, 2011, the funds, even though obligated, will expire and no further disbursements can be made from this account. In submitting an application you need to carefully consider whether your proposed project can be completed through final capital advance closing no later than September 30, 2011. Furthermore, all unexpended balances, including any remaining balance on PRAC contracts, will be cancelled as of October 1, 2011. Amounts needed to maintain PRAC payments for any remaining term on the affected contracts beyond that date will have to be funded from other current appropriations.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Review for Curable Deficiencies. You should ensure that your application is complete and that you have an original and four copies before submitting it to the appropriate HUD Office. HUD will screen all applications received by the deadline for curable deficiencies. A curable deficiency is a missing Exhibit or portion of an Exhibit that will not affect the rating of the application. The following is a list of the deficiencies that will be considered curable in a Section 202 application:

The HUD Office will notify you in writing if your application is missing any of the above exhibits or portions of exhibits and you will be given 14 days from the date of the HUD notification to submit the information required to cure the noted deficiencies. The items identified by an asterisk (*) must be dated on or before the application deadline date.

(B) Rating. HUD will review and rate your application in accordance with the Application Selection Process in the General Section of this SuperNOFA with the following exception. HUD will not reject your application based on technical review without notifying you of that rejection with all the reasons for rejection, and providing you an opportunity to appeal. You will have 14 calendar days from the date of HUD's written notice to appeal a technical rejection to the HUD Office.

Your application will be either rated or technically rejected at the end of technical review. If your application meets all program eligibility requirements after completion of technical review, including HUD approval of you, the section 202 applicant, based on HUD's evaluation of the applicant's previous participation activities as reported on Form HUD-2530, Previous Participation Certification, it will be rated according to the rating factors in Section V(D) below. The HUD Office will make a determination on any appeals before making its selection recommendations.

If an Exhibit or portion of an Exhibit listed above as curable is not discovered as a missing item until technical processing, HUD will provide you with 14 calendar days in which to cure the deficiency.

(C) Ranking and Selection Procedures. Applications submitted in response to the advertised metropolitan allocations or nonmetropolitan allocations that have a total base score (without the addition of RC/EC/EZ bonus points) of 75 points or more and meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of section V(B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA will be eligible for selection, and HUD will place them in rank order per metropolitan or nonmetropolitan allocation. These applications, after adding any bonus points for RC/EC/EZ, will be selected based on rank order, up to and including the last application that can be funded out of each HUD Program Center Office's metropolitan or nonmetropolitan allocation. HUD Program Center Offices will not skip over any applications in order to select one based on the funds remaining. After making the initial selections in each allocation area, however, HUD Program Center Offices may use any residual funds to select the next rank-ordered application by reducing the number of units by no more than 10 percent, rounded to the nearest whole number, provided the reduction will not render the project infeasible. For this purpose, however, HUD will not reduce the number of units in projects of five units or less.

Once this process has been completed, HUD Program Center Offices may combine their unused metropolitan and nonmetropolitan funds in order to select the next ranked application in either category, using the unit reduction policy described above, if necessary.

After the HUD Program Center Offices have funded all possible projects based on the process above, combined metropolitan and nonmetropolitan residual funds from all HUD Program Center Offices within each Multifamily Hub will be combined. First, these funds will be used to restore units to projects reduced by HUD Program Center Offices based on the above instructions. Second, additional applications within each Multifamily Hub will be selected in rank order with only one application selected per HUD Program Center Office. More than one application may be selected per HUD Program Center Office if there are no approvable applications in other HUD Program Center Offices within the Multifamily Hub. This process will continue until there are no more approvable applications within the Multifamily Hub that can be selected with the remaining funds. Applications may not be skipped over to select one based on funds remaining. However, the HUD Multifamily Hub may use any remaining residual funds to select the next rank-ordered application by reducing the number of units by no more than 10 percent rounded to the nearest whole number, provided the reduction will not render the project infeasible or result in the project being less than five units.

Funds remaining after the Multifamily Hub selection process is completed will be returned to Headquarters. HUD Headquarters will use these residual funds first to restore units to projects reduced by HUD Program Center or Multifamily Hub Offices as a result of the instructions for using their residual funds. Second, HUD Headquarters will use these funds for selecting applications based on HUD Program Center Offices' rankings, beginning with the highest rated application nationwide. However, after restoring units to projects where necessary, priority will be given to those applications for projects in non-metropolitan areas, if necessary to meet the statutory requirement pertaining to section 202 funding in nonmetropolitan areas. Only one application will be selected per HUD Program Center Office from the national residual amount. If there are no approvable applications in other HUD Program Center Offices, the process will begin again with the selection of the next highest rated application nationwide. This process will continue until all approvable applications are selected using the available remaining funds. In order to use as much of the available remaining funds as possible, HUD Headquarters may skip over a higher-rated application.

(D) Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications. HUD will rate applications that successfully complete technical processing using the Rating Factors set forth below and in accordance with the application submission requirements identified in Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA. The maximum number of points an application may receive under this program is 102. This includes two RC/EC/EZ bonus points, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (25 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which you have the organizational resources to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 2, 3(a), 3(b), 3(e) and 6 of Appendix A of the Section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which your application demonstrates your ability to develop and operate the proposed housing on a long-term basis, considering the following:

(a) (15 points). The scope, extent, and quality of your experience in providing housing or related services to those proposed to be served by the project and the scope of the proposed project (i.e., number of units, services, relocation costs, development, and operation) in relationship to your demonstrated development and management capacity as well as your financial management capability;

(b)(i) (5 points). The scope, extent, and quality of your experience in providing housing or related services to minority persons or families.

(b)(ii) (5 points). The scope, extent, and quality of your ties to the community at large and to the minority and elderly communities in particular.

For the purpose of this program section of the SuperNOFA, the term "minority" encompasses the basic racial and ethnic categories for Federal statistics and administrative reporting, as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA in the section entitled "Race and Ethnicity."

To earn the maximum number of points under this subcriteria, you must describe both your relationships over time with the minority community and significant previous experience in providing housing and/or supportive services to minorities generally and to minority elderly in particular. For the purpose of this competition, "significant previous experience" means that the previous housing assistance or related services to minorities, i.e., the percentage of minorities being provided housing or related services in your current developments, was equal to or greater than the percentage of minorities in the jurisdiction where the previous housing or services occurred.

(c) (-2 to -4 points). HUD will deduct (except if the delay was beyond your control) 2 points if a fund reservation you received under either the section 202 Program of Supportive Housing for the Elderly or the section 811 Program of Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities has been extended beyond 24 months, 3 points if beyond 36 months, and 4 points if beyond 48 months. Examples of such delays include, but are not limited to, initial closing delays that are: (1) Directly attributable to HUD, (2) directly attributable to third party opposition, including litigation, and (3) due to a disaster, as declared by the President of the United States.

(d) (- 1 point). HUD will deduct 1 point if amendment money was required as a result of the delay (except if the delay was beyond your control).

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed activities to address a documented problem in the target area. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 4(a) and 4(b) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA. HUD will take into consideration the following in evaluating this factor:

The extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office. In making this determination, HUD will consider your evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic, and housing market data available to the HUD Office. The data should include a general assessment of the current conditions in the market for the type of housing proposed, an estimate of the demand for additional housing of the type proposed in the applicable housing market area; as well as, information on the numbers and types of existing comparable Federally assisted housing units for the elderly (HUD and RHS), current occupancy in such housing and recent market experience, comparable assisted housing for the elderly under construction or for which fund reservations have been issued, and, in accordance with an agreement between HUD and RHS, comments from RHS on the demand for additional comparable subsidized housing and the possible harm to existing projects in the same housing market areas. The Department will also review more favorably those applications which establish a connection between the proposed project and the community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization. You must show how your proposed project will address an impediment to fair housing choice described in the AI or meet a need identified in the other type of planning document.

In evaluating this Factor, HUD will rate your application as follows:

(a) (12 points). The extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office, taking into consideration the Sponsor's evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic and housing market data available to HUD.

(b) (3 points). The extent that a connection has been established between the project and the community's Consolidated Plan, Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (45 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposal and the extent to which you involve elderly persons, including elderly minority persons, in the development and operation of the project. There must be a clear relationship between your proposed design, proposed activities, the community's needs and purposes of the program funding for your application to receive points for this factor. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 3(f), 4(c), 4(d) and 5 of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the following:

(a)(i) (15 points). The proximity or accessibility of the site to shopping, medical facilities, transportation, places of worship, recreational facilities, places of employment, and other necessary services to the intended occupants; adequacy of utilities and streets; freedom of the site from adverse environmental conditions; compliance with site and neighborhood standards (24 CFR 891.125(a), (d) and (e));

(a)(ii) (- 1 point). The site(s) is not already permissively zoned for the intended use.

(b) (10 points). The suitability of the site from the standpoints of promoting a greater choice of housing opportunities for minority elderly persons/families, and affirmatively furthering fair housing. In reviewing this criterion, HUD will assess whether the site meets the site and neighborhood standards at 24 CFR 891.125(b) and (c) by examining relevant data in your application or in the HUD Office. Where appropriate, HUD may visit the site.

(i) The site will be deemed acceptable if it increases housing choice and opportunity by:

—Expanding housing opportunities in non-minority neighborhoods (if located in such a neighborhood). The term "nonminority area" is defined as one in which the minority population is lower than 10 percent; or

—Contributing to the revitalization of and reinvestment in minority neighborhoods, including improvement of the level, quality and affordability of services furnished to minority elderly. You should refer to the Site and Neighborhood Standards provisions of the regulations governing the section 202 Supportive Housing for the Elderly program (24 CFR 891.125(b) and (c)) when considering sites for your project.

(ii) For the purpose of this competition, the term "minority neighborhood (area of minority concentration)" is defined as one where any one of the following statistical conditions exists:

—The percentage of persons of a particular racial or ethnic minority is at least 20 points higher than the minority's or combination of minorities' percentage in the housing market as a whole; or,

—The neighborhood's total percentage of minority persons is at least 20 points higher than the total percentage of minorities for the housing market as a whole; or,

—In the case of a metropolitan area, the neighborhood's total percentage of minority persons exceeds 50 percent of its population.

(c) (4 points). The extent to which your proposed design will meet the special physical needs of elderly persons;

(d) (3 points). The extent to which the proposed size and unit mix of the housing will enable you to manage and operate the housing efficiently and ensure that the provision of supportive services will be accomplished in an economical fashion;

(e) (3 points). The extent to which the proposed design of the housing will accommodate the provision of supportive services that are expected to be needed, initially and over the useful life of the housing, by the category or categories of elderly persons the housing is intended to serve;

(f) (3 points). The extent to which the proposed supportive services meet the identified needs of the anticipated residents; and

(g) (3 points). The extent to which you demonstrate that the identified supportive services will be provided on a consistent, long-term basis.

(h) (1 point). The proposed design incorporates visitability standards and universal design in the construction or rehabilitation of the project.

(i) (3 points) Your involvement of elderly persons, particularly minority elderly persons, in the development of the application and your intent to involve elderly persons, particularly minority elderly persons, in the development and operation of the project.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other community resources which can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve program purposes. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 3(c) and 3(d) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA.

(a) (2 points). The extent of local government support (including financial assistance, donation of land, provision of services, etc.) for the project; and

(b) (3 points). The extent of your activities in the community, including previous experience in serving the area where the project is to be located, and your demonstrated ability to enlist volunteers and raise local funds.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability and, as such, emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that you keep the promises made in your application. This factor requires that you clearly identify the benefits or outcomes of your project and develop an evaluation plan to measure performance, which includes what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you will have in place to make adjustments to your project development timeline should you not be able to achieve any of the major milestones. This Factor addresses the extent to which your project will implement practical solutions that result in residents achieving independent living, educational opportunities, and improved living environments. Finally, this factor addresses the extent to which the long-term viability of your project will be sustained for the duration of the 40-year capital advance period. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 3(g), 3(h), and 3(i) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA.

(a) (5 points). The extent to which your project development timeline is indicative of your full understanding of the development process and will, therefore, result in the timely development of your project.

(b) (2 points). The extent to which your project will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living, educational opportunities, and improved living environments; and (c) (3 points). The extent to which you demonstrated that your project will remain viable as housing with the availability of supportive services for very low-income elderly persons for the 40-year capital advance period.

Bonus Points

(2 bonus points) Location of proposed site in an RC/EZ/EC area, as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Submit the information responding to the bonus points in accordance with the Application Submission Requirements in Exhibit 8(h) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. You may request a debriefing on your application in accordance with the General Section of this SuperNOFA, with the exception that the request must be made to the Director of Multifamily Housing in the HUD Field Office to which you sent your application.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

The application submission requirements are contained in Appendix A of the section 811 program section of this SuperNOFA. Your application must include all of the information, materials, forms, and exhibits listed in Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA (unless you were selected for a section 202 fund reservation within the last three funding cycles). If you qualify for this exception, you are not required to submit the information described in Exhibits 2(a), (b), and (c) of Appendix A of the section 811 program section of the SuperNOFA, which are the articles of incorporation, (or other organizational documents), by-laws, and the IRS tax exemption, respectively. If there has been a change in any of these documents since your previous HUD approval, you must submit the updated information in your application. The HUD Office will verify your indication of previous HUD approval by checking the project number and approval status with the appropriate HUD Office based on the information submitted.

In addition to this relief of paperwork burden in preparing applications, you will be able to submit information and exhibits you have previously prepared for prior applications under section 202, section 811, or other funding programs. Examples of exhibits that may be readily adapted or amended to decrease the burden of application preparation include, among others, those on previous participation in the section 202 or section 811 Programs, your experience in the provision of housing and services, supportive services plans, community ties, and experience serving minorities.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Formation of Owner Corporation for Development of Section 202 Projects and for Section 202 Projects Involving Mixed-Financing

Applicant eligibility for purposes of applying for a section 202 fund reservation under this NOFA has not changed; i.e., all section 202 Sponsors and Co-Sponsors must be private nonprofit organizations and nonprofit consumer cooperatives. However, the Owner corporation, when later formed by the Sponsor, may be (1) a single-purpose private nonprofit organization that has tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(3) or section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, (2) nonprofit consumer cooperative, OR (3) for purposes of developing a mixed-finance project for developing additional units over and above the section 202 units, a for-profit limited partnership with a nonprofit entity as the sole general partner.

IX. Authority

The Section 202 Supportive Housing for the Elderly Program is authorized by section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 (12 U.S.C. 1701q), as amended by section 801 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Pub. L. 101-625; approved November 28, 1990); the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550; approved October 28, 1992), the Rescissions Act (Pub. L. 104-19; enacted on July 27, 1995); the American Homeownership and Economic Opportunity Act of 2000 (Pub. L. 106-569; approved December 27, 2000); and the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003).

If you cannot attend the workshop, call the appropriate HUD Office if you have any questions regarding the submission of applications to that particular office and to request any materials distributed at the workshop.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and preparation of the application. It is strongly recommended that potential applicants, especially those who may be applying for section 811 funding for the first time, tune in to this broadcast, if at all possible. Copies of the broadcast tapes are also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, you should consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

II. Amount Allocated

For FY 2003, $116,810,724 for capital advances is available for the Section 811 Program of Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities. The Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003) (FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations) provides $250,515,000 for capital advances, including amendments to capital advance contracts for supportive housing for persons with disabilities, as authorized by section 811 of the National Affordable Housing Act of 1990 (NAHA); and for project rental assistance for supportive housing for persons with disabilities under section 811 of the NAHA, including amendments to contracts for such assistance and renewal of expiring contracts for such assistance for up to a 1-year term and for tenant-based rental assistance contracts and renewal of expiring contracts for such assistance entered into pursuant to section 811 of the NAHA.

$53.6 million (25% of the appropriated amount remaining after the deductions for project rental assistance (PRAC) renewals, renewals of expiring contracts for tenant-based assistance, and the amount to be transferred to the Working Capital Fund) is available for tenant-based rental assistance for persons with disabilities. These funds are administered through public housing agencies (PHAs) and nonprofit organizations under the Mainstream Housing Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities Program that is found elsewhere in this SuperNOFA.

In accordance with the waiver authority provided in the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations, the Secretary is waiving the following statutory and regulatory provision: The term of the project rental assistance contract is reduced from 20 years to 5 years. HUD anticipates that at the end of the contract terms, renewals will be approved subject to the availability of funds. In addition to this provision, HUD will reserve project rental assistance contract funds based on 75 percent rather than on 100 percent of the current operating cost standards for approved units in order to take into account the average tenant contribution toward rent.

The allocation formula used for section 811 reflects the "relevant characteristics of prospective program participants," as specified in 24 CFR 791.402(a). The FY 2003 formula consists of the following data element from the 2000 Census: The number of non-institutionalized persons age 16 to 64 with a disability. The data on disability status were derived from answers to a two-part question that asked about the existence of the following long-lasting conditions: (a) Blindness, deafness, or a severe vision or hearing impairment (sensory disability) and (b) a condition that substantially limits one or more basic physical activities, such as walking, climbing stairs, reaching, lifting, or carrying (physical disability); and a four-part question that asked if the individual had a physical, mental, or emotional condition lasting 6 months or more that made it difficult to perform certain activities. The four activity categories were: (a) Learning, remembering, or concentrating (mental disability); (b) dressing, bathing, or getting around inside the home (self-care disability); (c) going outside the home alone to shop or visit a doctor's office (going outside the home disability); and (d) working at a job or business (employment disability). Under the Section 811 Program, each HUD Office jurisdiction receives sufficient capital advance funds for a minimum of 10 units. The total amount of capital advance funds to support this minimum set-aside is then subtracted from the total capital advance available. The remainder is fair shared to each HUD Office jurisdiction whose fair share would exceed the set-aside based on the allocation formula fair share factors described below.

The fair share factors were developed by taking the count of disabilities in the data element for each state, or state portion, of each local HUD Office jurisdiction as a percent of the data element from the 2000 Census, described above, for the total United States. The resulting percentage for each local HUD Office is then adjusted to reflect the relative cost of providing housing among the local HUD Office jurisdictions. The adjusted needs percentage for each local HUD Office is then multiplied by the total amount of capital advance funds available nationwide.

The section 811 capital advance funds have been allocated, based on the formula above, to 51 local HUD Offices as shown on the following chart:

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. HUD provides capital advances and contracts for project rental assistance in accordance with 24 CFR part 891. Capital advances may be used to construct, rehabilitate, or acquire structures (including structures from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)), to be developed into a variety of housing options described in section III(C) below. Capital advance funds bear no interest and are based on development cost limits in section IV(E) below. Repayment of the capital advance is not required as long as the housing remains available for at least 40 years for occupancy by very low-income persons with disabilities. PRAC funds are used to cover the difference between the tenants' contributions toward rent (30 percent of adjusted income) and the HUD-approved cost to operate the project.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Nonprofit organizations with a section 501(c)(3) tax exemption from the Internal Revenue Service and who meet the threshold requirements contained in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA are the only eligible applicants for this program. See section IV(B) regarding limits on the total number of units and projects that an applicant may request.

(C) Eligible Activities. Section 811 capital advance funds must be used to finance the development of housing through new construction, rehabilitation, or acquisition with or without rehabilitation. Capital advance funds may also be used in combination with other non-Section 811 funding sources to develop additional units for a mixed-finance project. Project rental assistance funds are provided to cover the difference between the HUD-approved operating costs and the amount the residents pay (each resident pays 30 percent of adjusted income). The types of housing that can be developed with Section 811 capital advance funds include independent living projects, dwelling units in multifamily housing developments, condominium and cooperative housing and small group homes.

Note: For purposes of approving Section 811 capital advances, HUD will consider a proposal involving mixed-financing for additional units if you have legal control of an approvable site and the additional units do not cause the project, as a whole, to exceed the project size limits if the additional units will also house persons with disabilities. However, you must obtain funds to assist the additional units with other than PRAC funds. HUD will not provide PRAC funds for non-Section 811 units.

(D) Ineligible Activities. Section 811 funds may not be used for any of the following:

- (1) Nursing homes, infirmaries and medical facilities;
- (2) Transitional housing;
- (3) Manufactured housing;
- (4) Intermediate care facilities;
- (5) Community centers, with or without special components for use by persons with disabilities;
- (6) Sheltered workshops and centers for persons with disabilities;
- (7) Headquarters for organizations for persons with disabilities; and
- (8) Refinancing of Sponsor-owned facilities without rehabilitation.

Note: You may propose to rehabilitate an existing currently-owned or leased structure that may or may not already serve persons with disabilities, except that the refinancing of any federally funded or assisted project or project insured or guaranteed by a federal agency is not permissible under this Section 811 NOFA. HUD does not consider it appropriate to utilize scarce program resources to refinance projects that have already received some form of assistance under a federal program. (For example, section 202, section 202/8 or section 202/PAC direct loan projects cannot be refinanced with capital advances and project rental assistance.)

IV. Program Requirements

By signing Form HUD-92016-CA, Application for a Section 811 Capital Advance, you are certifying that you will comply with the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA as well as the following requirements:

(A) Statutory and Regulatory Requirements. In addition to the statutory, regulatory, threshold and public policy requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, you must comply with all statutory and regulatory requirements listed in Sections III, IV and IX of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Application Unit/Project Limits. A Sponsor or Co-Sponsor may not apply for more than 70 units of housing or 4 projects (whichever is less) for persons with disabilities in a single Hub. In addition, a Sponsor or Co-Sponsor may not apply for more units in a given HUD Office than allocated for the section 811 program in that HUD Office, or for more than 10 percent of the total units allocated in all HUD Offices. If the proposed project will be an independent living project, your application must request at least five units, not necessarily in one structure. If your proposed project will be a group home, you must request at least two units per group home. If your proposed project will be a combination of an independent living project and a group home, your application must request at least the minimum number of units for each project type (i.e., 5 units for an independent living project and 2 units for a group home). Affiliated entities that submit separate applications are considered a single entity for the purpose of these limits.

(C) Project Size Limits. (1) Independent living project. The minimum number of units that can be applied for in one application is five. All of the units are not required to be in one structure and they may be on scattered sites. The maximum number of persons with disabilities that can be housed in an independent living project is 14 plus one additional one or two bedroom unit for a resident manager, if necessary. However, if the proposed independent living project will be located on the same site or on an adjacent site containing existing housing for persons with disabilities, the total persons with disabilities housed in both the existing and the proposed project cannot exceed 14.

(2) If you are submitting an application for an independent living project with site control, you may request an exception to the above project size limit by providing the information required in Exhibit 4(d)(ix) in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(3) Group home. The minimum number of persons with disabilities that can reside in a group home is two, and the maximum number is six. An additional one-bedroom unit can be provided for a resident manager. Only one person per bedroom is allowed, unless two residents choose to share one bedroom or a resident determines he/she needs another person to share his/her bedroom.

(D) HUD/RHS Agreement. HUD and the Rural Housing Service (RHS) have an agreement to coordinate the administration of the agencies' respective rental assistance programs. As a result, HUD is required to notify RHS of applications for housing assistance it receives. This notification gives RHS the opportunity to comment if it has concerns about the demand for additional assisted housing and possible harm to existing projects in the same housing market area. HUD will consider RHS comments in its review and application selection process.

(E) Development Cost Limits. (1) The following development cost limits, adjusted by locality as described in Section IV(E)(2) below, must be used to determine the capital advance amount reserved for projects for persons with disabilities:

(a) For independent living projects and dwelling units in multifamily housing developments, condominium and cooperative housing: The total development cost of the project attributable to dwelling use (less the incremental development cost and the capitalized operating costs associated with any excess amenities and design features you will pay for) may not exceed:

Non-Elevator Structures:

- $41,238 per family unit without a bedroom;
- $47,548 per family unit with one bedroom;
- $57,344 per family unit with two bedrooms;
- $73,400 per family unit with three bedrooms;
- $81,770 per family unit with four bedrooms.

For Elevator Structures:

- $43,398 per family unit without a bedroom;
- $49,748 per family unit with one bedroom;
- $60,493 per family unit with two bedrooms;
- $78,257 per family unit with three bedrooms;
- $85,902 per family unit with four bedrooms.

(b) For group homes only:

TYPE OF DISABILITY

Residents	Physical/developmental	Chronic mental illness
2	$166,022	$160,262
3	178,533	172,340
4	191,045	183,069
5	203,556	193,798
6	216,054	204,527

(c) These cost limits reflect those costs reasonable and necessary to develop a project of modest design that complies with HUD minimum property standards; the minimum group home requirements of 24 CFR 891.310(a) (if applicable); the accessibility requirements of 24 CFR 891.120(b) and 891.310(b); and the project design and cost standards of 24 CFR 891.120.

(2) Increased Development Cost Limits

(a) HUD may increase the development cost limits set forth in Section IV(E)(1) of this program section of the SuperNOFA by up to 140 percent in any geographic area where the cost levels require, and may increase the development cost limits by up to 160 percent on a project-by-project basis. This increase may include covering additional costs to make dwelling units accessible through rehabilitation.

(b) If HUD finds that high construction costs in Alaska, Guam, the Virgin Islands or Hawaii make it infeasible to construct dwellings, without the sacrifice of sound standards of construction, design, and livability, within the development cost limits provided in Section IV(E)(1) of this program section of the SuperNOFA, the amount of capital advances may be increased to compensate for such costs. The increase may not exceed the limits established under this section (including any high cost area adjustment) by more than 50 percent.

(c) For group homes only, HUD Offices may approve increases in the development cost limits in Section IV(E)(1)(b), above, in areas where you can provide sufficient documentation that high land costs limit or prohibit project feasibility. An example of acceptable documentation is evidence of at least three land sales that have actually taken place (listed prices for land are not acceptable) within the last two years in the area where your project is to be built. The average cost of the documented sales must exceed ten percent of the development cost limit for your project in order for an increase to be considered.

(F) Minimum Capital Investment. Selected nonprofit organizations must provide a minimum capital investment of one-half of one percent of the HUD-approved capital advance amount not to exceed a maximum of $10,000 in accordance with 24 CFR 891.145.

(G) Accessibility. Your project must meet accessibility requirements published at 24 CFR 891.120, 24 CFR 891.310 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and, if new construction, the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100. In addition, 24 CFR 8.4(b)(5) prohibits the selection of a site or location which has the purpose or effect of excluding persons with disabilities from the federally assisted program or activity. HUD will award higher points to applications that add accessible design features beyond those required under civil rights laws and regulations. See Section II (C) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(H) Conducting Business in Accordance With Core Values and Ethical Standards. Section 811 Sponsors are not subject to the requirements of 24 CFR parts 84 and 85 as outlined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA. However, Sponsors are still subject to the core values and ethical standards as they relate to the conflict of interest provisions in 24 CFR 891.130. To ensure compliance with the program's conflict of interest provisions, you are required to submit a signed Conflict of Interest Resolution and include it in your Section 811 application. Further, if awarded a Section 811 fund reservation, the officers, directors, board members, trustees, stockholders and authorized agents of the Section 811 Sponsor and Owner entities will be required to submit to HUD individual certifications regarding compliance with HUD's conflict of interest requirements.

(I) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. Although the Section 811 program is not subject to the provisions of 24 CFR 85.36(e) as described in the corresponding paragraph in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, you are required to comply with Executive Order 12432, Minority Business Enterprise Development and Executive Order 11625, Prescribing Additional Arrangements for Developing and Coordinating a National Program for Minority Business Enterprise as they relate to the encouragement of HUD grantees to utilize minority business enterprises.

(J) Fair Housing Requirements. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(K) Economic Opportunities for Low and Very Low Income Persons. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(L) Design and Cost Standards. You must comply with HUD's Section 811 project design and cost standards (24 CFR 891.120 and 891.310), the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (24 CFR 40.7), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 8, and for covered multifamily dwellings designed and constructed for first occupancy after March 13, 1991, the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, where applicable.

(M) Acquisition and Relocation. You must comply with the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, as amended (49 CFR part 24 and 24 CFR part 891.155(e)) (URA), which covers the acquisition of sites, with or without existing structures and with 24 CFR 8.4(b)(5) of the Section 504 regulations which prohibits discrimination based on disability in determining the site or location of a federally-assisted facility. However, you are exempt from complying with the site acquisition requirements of the URA if you do not have the power of eminent domain and prior to entering into a contract of sale, option to purchase or any other method of obtaining site control, you inform the seller of the land: (1) That you do not have the power of eminent domain and, therefore, you will not acquire the property if negotiations fail to result in an amicable agreement, and (2) of the estimate of the fair market value of the property. An appraisal is not required to meet this requirement, however, your files must include an explanation, with reasonable evidence of the basis for the estimate.

(N) Formation of Owner Corporation. You must form an "Owner" in accordance with 24 CFR 891.305 after issuance of the capital advance; cause the Owner to file a request for determination of eligibility and a request for capital advance, and provide sufficient resources to the Owner to ensure the development and long-term operation of the project, including capitalizing the Owner at firm commitment processing in an amount sufficient to meet its obligations in connection with the project.

(O) Supportive Services. You are required to include a Supportive Services Plan and a certification from the appropriate state or local agency that the provision of services identified in your Supportive Services Plan is well designed to address the individual health, mental health and other needs of persons with disabilities who will live in your proposed project. Exhibit 5 in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA, below, outlines the information that must be in the Supportive Services Plan. You must submit one copy of your Supportive Services Plan to the appropriate state or local agency well in advance of the application submission deadline date for the state or local agency to review your Supportive Services Plan and complete the Supportive Services Certification and return it to you so that you can include it in the application you submit to HUD.

(1) HUD will reject your application if the supportive services certification:

(a) Is not submitted with your application and is not submitted to HUD within the 14-day cure period; or
 (b) Indicates that the provision of supportive services is not well designed to address the individual health, mental health and other needs of persons with disabilities who will live in your project; or

(c) Indicates that the provision of supportive services will not enhance independent living success or promote the dignity of the persons with disabilities who will live in your proposed project.

(2) In addition, if the agency completing the certification will be a major funding or referral source for your proposed project or be responsible for licensing the project, HUD will reject your application if either the agency's supportive services certification indicates—or, where the agency fails to complete item 3 or 4 of the certification, HUD determines that:

(a) You failed to demonstrate that supportive services will be available on a consistent long-term basis; and/or

(b) The proposed housing is not consistent with state or local agency plans/policies addressing the housing needs of people with disabilities.

Any prospective resident of a Section 811 project who believes he/she needs supportive services must be given the choice to be responsible for acquiring his/her own services or to take part in your Supportive Services Plan which must be designed to meet the individual needs of each resident.

You must not require residents to accept any supportive services as a condition of occupancy or admission.

(P) Davis-Bacon. You must comply with the Davis-Bacon Requirements and the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act.

(Q) Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 and Coastal Barriers Resources Act. You must comply with the requirements under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (42 U.S.C. 4001–4128) and the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3601).

(R) National Environmental Policy Act. You must comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA)(42 U.S.C. 4321) and applicable related environmental authorities at 24 CFR 50.4 and HUD's programmatic implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 50 and 24 CFR 891.155(b), especially, but not limited to, the provision of information to HUD at 24 CFR 50.31(b) and you must comply with any environmental conditions and safeguards at 24 CFR 50.3(c).

(S) Sites. (1) Site Control or Site Identification. In your application, you must provide either:

(a) Evidence of Site Control—If you have control of a site at the time you submit your application, you must include evidence of such as described in Exhibit 4(d)(i) in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA relative to site control.

or

(b) Site Identification—If you do not have site control of one or more of your sites, you must provide the information required in Exhibit 4(d)(x) in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA under "site identified" for any site not under control as a reasonable assurance that site control will be obtained within six months of fund reservation notification.

(2) Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA)—If you have control of the site(s) at the time you submit your application, you must submit a Phase I ESA, in accordance with the American Society for Testing and Material (ASTM) Standards E 1527–97, as amended, completed or updated no earlier than six months prior to the application deadline date, in order for the application to be considered as an application with site control. The Phase I ESA must be completed and submitted with the application. The Phase I study is not a curable deficiency for the Section 811 Program. Therefore, it is important that you start the Phase I ESA process as soon after publication of this SuperNOFA as possible. Documents providing guidance in choosing an environmentally safe site, entitled "Choosing An Environmentally Safe Site" and the "Supplemental Guidance Environmental Information", are available on HUD's Web site at www.hud.gov.

(a) For a project that will involve demolition and/or rehabilitation of a structure(s) built before 1978, the Phase I must include the following: (i) an asbestos report that identifies the location and condition of any asbestos, and (ii) a certification that any asbestos identified in the asbestos report that is in friable condition will be abated, that any non-friable asbestos that has been identified in the asbestos report and that will be affected by the demolition/rehabilitation will be abated, and that any asbestos to be abated have been included within the project costs.

(b) For a project that does not involve demolition/rehabilitation of a structure(s) built before 1978, the Phase I must include a certification to the same.

If the Phase I ESA indicates the possible presence of contamination and/or hazards, you must decide whether to continue with this site or choose another site. Should you choose another site, the same Phase I ESA process identified above must be followed for the new site.

Note: If the property is to be acquired from the FDIC, include a copy of the FDIC prepared Transaction Screen Checklist or Phase I ESA, and applicable documentation, per the FDIC Environmental Guidelines.

(3) Phase II ESA—If you choose to continue with the original site on which the Phase I ESA indicated contamination or hazards, you must undertake a detailed Phase II ESA by an appropriate professional. If the Phase II ESA reveals site contamination, the extent of the contamination and a plan for clean-up of the site must be submitted to the local HUD Office. The plan for clean-up must include a contract for remediation of the problem(s) and an approval letter from the applicable federal, state, and/or local agency with jurisdiction over the site.

In order for your application to be considered as an application with site control you must submit this information to the local HUD Office on or before July 14, 2003.

Note: This could be an expensive undertaking. You must pay for the cost of any clean-up and/or remediation.

(4) If your application contains evidence of site control where either the evidence or the site is not approvable, your application will not be rejected provided you indicate in your application that you are willing to seek an alternate site and provide an assurance that site control will be obtained within six months of fund reservation notification.

(T) Lead-Based Paint. You must comply with the requirements of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act (42 U.S.C. 4821–4846) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 35.

(U) Delinquent Federal Debt. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(V) Commercial Facilities. A commercial facility for the benefit of the residents may be located and operated in the Section 811 project. However, the commercial facility cannot be funded with the use of Section 811 capital advance or PRAC funds. The maximum amount of space permitted for a commercial facility and other community space cannot exceed 10 percent of the total project cost. An exception to this 10 percent limitation is if the project involves acquisition or rehabilitation and the additional space was incorporated in the existing structure at the time the proposal was submitted to HUD. Commercial facilities are considered public accommodations under Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), and thus must comply with all the accessibility requirements of the ADA.

(W) False Statements. See Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(X) Expiration of Section 811 Funds. The FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations requires HUD to obligate all Section 811 funds appropriated for FY 2003 by September 30, 2006. Under 31 U.S.C. 1551, no funds can be disbursed from this account after September 30, 2011. Under Section 811, obligation of funds occurs for both capital advances and project rental assistance upon fund reservation and acceptance. If all funds are not disbursed by HUD and expended by the project Owner by September 30, 2011, the funds, even though obligated, will expire and no further disbursements can be made from this account. In submitting an application, you need to carefully consider whether your proposed project can be completed through final capital advance closing no later than September 30, 2011. Furthermore, all unexpended balances, including any remaining balance on PRAC contracts, will be cancelled as of October 1, 2011. Amounts needed to maintain PRAC payments for any remaining term on the affected contracts beyond that date will have to be funded from other current appropriations.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Review for Curable Deficiencies. You should ensure that your application is complete and that you have an original and four copies before submitting it to the appropriate HUD office. HUD will screen all applications received by the deadline to determine if there are any curable deficiencies. A curable deficiency is a missing Exhibit or portion of an Exhibit that will not affect the rating of your application. The following is a list of the only deficiencies that will be considered curable in a Section 811 application:

Exhibits

- (1) Form 92016–CA (Application Form)*
- (2) (a) Articles of Incorporation*
- (b) By-laws*
- (c) IRS tax exemption ruling*
- (4) (c)(ii) Energy efficiency
- (d)(vii) Letter from the State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO)
- (d)(viii) Seek alternate site
- (5) Supportive Services Plan
- (7) Relocation
- (8) (a) Form HUD–424, Application for Federal Assistance
- (b) Standard Form LLL, Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (if applicable)
- (c) Form HUD–424B, Applicant Assurances and Certifications
- (d) Form HUD–2880, Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report
- (e) Form HUD–2991, Certification of Consistency with Consolidated Plan

(f) Form HUD–92041, Sponsor's Conflict of Interest Resolution

(g) Form HUD–92042, Sponsor's Resolution for Commitment to Project*

(i) Form HUD–2530, Previous Participation Certification

(j) Form HUD–92043, Supportive Services Certification

The HUD Office will notify you in writing if your application is missing any of the above exhibits or portions of exhibits and will give you 14 days from the date of the HUD notification to submit the information required to cure the noted deficiencies. The items identified by an asterisk (*) must be dated on or before the application deadline date.

(B) Rating. HUD will review and rate your application in accordance with the Application Selection Process in the General Section of this SuperNOFA with the following exception. HUD will not reject your application based on technical review without notifying you of the rejection with all the reasons for rejection and providing you an opportunity to appeal. You will have 14 calendar days from the date of HUD's written notice to appeal a technical rejection to the HUD Office.

Your application(s) will be either rated or technically rejected at the end of technical review. If your application meets all program eligibility requirements after completion of technical review, including HUD approval of you, the Section 811 applicant, based on HUD's evaluation of your previous participation activities as reported on Form HUD–2530, Previous Participation Certification, your application will be rated according to the Rating Factors in Section V(D) below. The HUD Office will make a determination on any appeals before making its selection recommendations.

If an Exhibit or portion of an Exhibit listed above as curable is not discovered as missing until technical processing, HUD will provide you with 14 calendar days in which to cure the deficiency.

(C) Ranking and Selection Procedures. Applications that have a total base score of 75 points or more (without the addition of RC/EC/EZ bonus points) and meet all of the applicable threshold requirements of Section V(B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA will be eligible for selection and will be placed in rank order. HUD will select applications, after adding any bonus points for RC/EC/EZ, based on rank order, up to and including the last application that can be funded out of each HUD Program Center Office's allocation. HUD Program Center Offices will not skip over any applications in order to select one based on the funds remaining. After making the initial selections, however, HUD Program Center Offices may use any residual funds to select the next rank-ordered application by reducing the number of units by no more than 10 percent, rounded to the nearest whole number, provided the reduction will not render the project infeasible. For this purpose, however, HUD will not reduce the number of units in projects of five units or less.

After the HUD Program Center Offices have funded all possible projects based on the process above, residual funds from all HUD Program Center Offices within each Multifamily Hub will be combined. First, these funds will be used to restore units to projects reduced by HUD Program Center Offices based on the above instructions. Second, additional applications within each Multifamily Hub will be selected in rank order with only one application selected per HUD Program Center Office. More than one application may be selected per HUD Program Center Office if there are no approvable applications in other HUD Program Center Offices within the Multifamily Hub. This process will continue until there are no more approvable applications within the Multifamily Hub that can be selected with the remaining funds. Applications may not be skipped over to select one based on funds remaining. However, the HUD Multifamily Hub may use any remaining residual funds to select the next rank-ordered application by reducing the number of units by no more than 10 percent rounded to the nearest whole number, provided the reduction will not render the project infeasible or result in the project being less than 5 units.

Funds remaining after the Multifamily Hub selection process is completed will be returned to Headquarters. HUD Headquarters will use these funds first to restore units to projects reduced by HUD Program Center or Multifamily Hub Offices as a result of the instructions for using their residual funds. Second, HUD Headquarters will use these funds for selecting applications based on HUD Program Center Offices' rankings, beginning with the highest rated application nationwide. Only one application will be selected per HUD Program Center Office from the national residual amount. If there are no approvable applications in other HUD Program Center Offices, the process will begin again with the selection of the next highest rated application nationwide. This process will continue until all approvable applications are selected using the available remaining funds.

Headquarters may skip over a higher rated application in order to use as much of the available remaining funds as possible.

(D) Factors For Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications. HUD will rate applications that successfully complete technical processing using the Rating Factors set forth below and in accordance with the application submission requirements in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA. The maximum number of points an application may receive under this program is 102. This includes two (2) RC/EZ/EC bonus points, as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (30 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which you have the organizational resources to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 2, 3(a), 3(b), 3(e), and 6 of Appendix A to this program section of the SuperNOFA.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which your application demonstrates your ability to develop and operate the proposed housing on a long-term basis, considering the following:

(a) (15 points) The scope, extent, and quality of your experience in providing housing or related services to those proposed to be served by the project and the scope of the proposed project (i.e., number of units, services, relocation costs, development, and operation) in relationship to your demonstrated development and management capacity as well as your financial management capability;

(b)(i) (5 points) The scope, extent, and quality of your experience in providing housing or related services to minority persons or families.

(b)(ii) (5 points) The scope, extent, and quality of your ties to the community at large and to the minority and disability communities in particular.

For the purpose of this program section of the SuperNOFA, the term "minority" encompasses the basic racial and ethnic categories for federal statistics and administrative reporting, as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA in the section entitled "Race and Ethnicity."

To earn the maximum number of points under this subcriteria, you must describe both your relationships over time with the minority community and significant previous experience in providing housing and/or supportive services to minorities generally and to minority persons with disabilities, in particular. For the purpose of this competition, "significant previous experience" means that the previous housing assistance or related services to minorities, i.e., the percentage of minorities being provided housing or related services in your current developments, was equal to or greater than the percentage of minorities in the jurisdiction where the previous housing or services occurred.

(c) (-2 to -4 points) HUD will deduct (except if the delay was beyond your control) 2 points if a fund reservation you received under either the Section 811 program of Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities or the Section 202 program of Supportive Housing for the Elderly has been extended beyond 24 months, 3 points if beyond 36 months, and 4 points if beyond 48 months. Examples of delays beyond your control include, but are not limited to, initial closing delays that are: (1) Directly attributable to HUD, (2) directly attributable to third party opposition, including litigation, and (3) due to a disaster, as declared by the President of the United States.

(d) (-1 point) HUD will deduct 1 point if amendment money was required as a result of the delay (except if the delay was beyond your control).

(e) (5 points) You have experience in developing integrated housing (e.g., condominium units scattered within one or more buildings or non-contiguous independent living units on scattered sites) and/or the proposed project will be an integrated housing model.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed activities to address a documented problem in the target area. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 4(a) and 4(b) of Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA. HUD will consider the following in evaluating this factor:

The extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office. In making this determination, HUD will consider your evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic, and housing market data available to the HUD Office. The data should include a general assessment of the current conditions in the market for the type of housing proposed, an estimate of the demand for additional housing of the type proposed in the applicable housing market area; as well as, information on the numbers and types of existing comparable subsidized housing for persons with disabilities, current occupancy in such housing and recent market experience, comparable subsidized housing for persons with disabilities under construction or for which fund reservations have been issued, and, in accordance with an agreement between HUD and RHS, comments from RHS on the demand for additional comparable subsidized housing and the possible harm to existing projects in the same housing market area. The Department also will review more favorably those applications which establish a connection between the proposed project and the community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization. You must show how the proposed project will address an impediment to fair housing choice described in the AI or meet a need identified in the other type of planning document.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will rate your application as follows:

(a) (12 points) The extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office, taking into consideration the Sponsor's evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic and housing market data available to HUD.

(b) (3 points) The extent that a connection has been established between the project and the community's Consolidated Plan, Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposal, the extent to which you involved persons with disabilities, including minority persons with disabilities in the development of the application and will involve them in the development and operation of the project, and the extent to which you coordinated your application with other organizations, including local independent living centers, with which you share common goals and objectives and are working toward meeting these objectives in a holistic and comprehensive manner.

There must be a clear relationship between the proposed activities, the community's needs and purposes of the program funding for your application to receive points for this factor. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 2(d), 3(f), 3(j), 4(c), 4(d), and 5 of Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the following:

(a)(i) (10 points) Site approvability—The proximity or accessibility of the site to shopping, medical facilities, transportation, places of worship, recreational facilities, places of employment, and other necessary services to the intended tenants; adequacy of utilities and streets, and freedom of the site from adverse environmental conditions (based on site visit for site control projects only); and compliance with site and neighborhood standards in 24 CFR 891.125(a), (d), and (e). Sites where amenities are accessible other than by project residence or private vehicle will be rated more favorably;

(a)(ii) (5 points) Site control—If your application contains legally acceptable site control for all proposed sites and all of the proposed sites are approvable (i.e., receive a score of 1 or higher on Criterion (a)(i)), your application will receive 5 points for site control.

(a)(iii) (–1 point) One or more of your proposed sites is not permissively zoned for the intended use.

(b) (10 points) The suitability of the site from the standpoints of promoting a greater choice of housing opportunities for minorities and persons with disabilities and affirmatively furthering fair housing. In reviewing this criterion, HUD will assess whether the site meets the site and neighborhood standards at 24 CFR 891.125(b) and (c) by examining relevant data in your application or in the HUD Office. If appropriate, HUD may visit the site.

(i) The site will be deemed acceptable if it increases housing choice and opportunity by:

—Expanding housing opportunities in non-minority neighborhoods if located in such a neighborhood. ("Nonminority area" is defined as one in which the minority population is lower than 10 percent); or

—Contributing to the revitalization of and reinvestment in minority neighborhoods, including improvement of the level, quality and affordability of services furnished to minority persons with disabilities. You should refer to the Site and Neighborhood Standards provisions of the regulations governing the Section 811 Supportive Housing Program (24 CFR 891.125(b) and (c)) when considering sites for your projects.

(ii) For the purpose of this competition, the term "minority neighborhood (area of minority concentration)" is defined as one where any one of the following statistical conditions exists:

—The percentage of persons of a particular racial or ethnic minority is at least 20 points higher than the minority's or combination of minorities' percentage in the housing market as a whole; or,

—The neighborhood's total percentage of minority persons is at least 20 points higher than the total percentage of minorities for the housing market area as a whole; or —In the case of a metropolitan area, the neighborhood's total percentage of minority persons exceeds 50 percent of its population.

(c)(i) (4 points) The extent to which the proposed design of the project (exterior and interior) and its placement in the neighborhood will meet the individual needs of the residents and will facilitate their integration into the surrounding community and promote their ability to live as independently as possible;

(c)(ii) (1 point) The proposed design incorporates visitability standards and universal design in the construction or rehabilitation of the project.

(d) (5 points) At least 51% of your board members are persons with disabilities.

(e) (3 points) You involved persons with disabilities (including minority persons with disabilities) in the development of the application, and will involve persons with disabilities (including minority persons with disabilities) in the development and operation of the project;

(f) (2 points) The extent to which you coordinated your application with other organizations (including local independent living centers; a list of such can be obtained from the local HUD Office) that will not be directly participating in your project, but with which you share common goals and objectives and are working toward meeting these goals and objectives in a holistic and comprehensive manner;

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other community resources that can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve program purposes. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application

Submission Requirements in Exhibits 3(c) and (d) of Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(a) (2 points) The extent of local government support (including financial assistance, donation of land, provision of services, etc.) for the project; and

(b) (3 points) The extent of your activities in the community, including previous experience in serving the area where the project is to be located and your demonstrated ability to enlist volunteers and raise local funds.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability and, as such, emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that you keep the promises made in your application. This factor requires that you clearly identify the benefits or outcomes of your project and develop an evaluation plan to measure performance, which includes what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it and the steps you will have in place to make adjustments to your project development timeline should you not be able to achieve any of the major milestones. This factor addresses the extent to which your project will implement practical solutions that result in residents achieving independent living, economic empowerment, educational opportunities and improved living environments. Finally, this factor addresses the extent to which the long-term viability of your project will be sustained for the duration of the 40-year capital advance period. Submit information responding to this factor in accordance with Application Submission Requirements in Exhibits 3(g), 3(h), and 3(i), in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(a) (5 points) The extent to which your project development timeline is indicative of your full understanding of the development process and will, therefore, result in the timely development of your project.

(b) (2 points) The extent to which your project will implement practical solutions that will result in assisting residents in achieving independent living, economic empowerment, educational opportunities, and improved living environments (e.g., activities that will improve computer access, literacy and employment opportunities).

(c) (3 points) The extent to which you demonstrated that your project will remain viable as housing with the availability of supportive services for very low income persons with disabilities for the 40-year capital advance period.

Bonus Points

(2 bonus points) Location of proposed site in an RC/EZ/EC area, as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Submit the information responding to the bonus points in accordance with the Application Submission Requirements in Exhibit 8(h) in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. You may request a debriefing on your application in accordance with the General Section of this SuperNOFA, with the exception that the request must be made to the Director of Multifamily Housing in the HUD Field Office to which you sent your application.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

The application submission requirements are contained in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA. Your application must include all of the information, materials, forms, and exhibits listed in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA (unless you were selected for a Section 811 fund reservation within the last three funding cycles). If you qualify for this exception, you are not required to submit the information described in Exhibit 2(a), (b), and (c), in Appendix A of this program section of the SuperNOFA, which are the articles of incorporation (or other organizational documents), by-laws, and the IRS tax exemption, respectively. If there has been a change in any of these documents since your previous HUD approval, you must submit the updated information in your application. The HUD Office will verify your indication of previous HUD approval by checking the project number and approval status with the appropriate HUD Office based on information submitted.

In addition to this relief of paperwork burden in preparing applications, you are able to use information and exhibits previously prepared for prior applications under Section 811, Section 202, or other funding programs. Examples of exhibits that may be readily adapted or amended to decrease the burden of application preparation include, among others, those on previous participation in the Section 202 or Section 811 programs, your experience in the provision of housing and services, supportive services plans, community ties, and experience serving minorities.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Formation of Owner Corporation for Development of Section 811 Projects and for Section 811 Projects Involving Mixed-Financing

Applicant eligibility for purposes of applying for a Section 811 fund reservation under this NOFA has not changed; i.e., all Section 811 Sponsors and Co-Sponsors must be nonprofit organizations. However, the Owner corporation, when later formed by the Sponsor, may be (1) a single-purpose nonprofit organization that has tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, or (2) for purposes of developing a mixed-finance project for developing additional units over and above the Section 811 units, a for-profit limited partnership with the nonprofit entity as the sole general partner.

IX. Authority

Section 811 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Pub. L. 101-625, approved November 28, 1990), as amended by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, approved October 28, 1992); the Rescissions Act (Pub. L. 104-19, approved July 27, 1995); the American Homeownership and Economic Opportunity Act of 2000 (Pub. L. 106-569, approved December 27, 2000) and the Fiscal Year 2003 Consolidated Appropriations (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003) authorized a new supportive housing program for persons with disabilities, and replaced assistance for persons with disabilities previously covered by section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 (section 202 continues, as amended by section 801 of the NAHA, and the HCD Act of 1992, to authorize supportive housing for the elderly).

2. NEED/EXTENT OF THE PROBLEM

(Exhibit References: Exhibits 4(a) and 4(b))

In determining the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed supportive housing project to address a documented problem in the target area, HUD will consider the extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office. This determination will be made by considering your evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic, and housing market data available to the HUD Office. HUD will also view more favorably those applications which establish a connection between the proposed project and the Community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or other planning document that analyzes fair housing issues and is prepared by a local planning or similar organization. (15 points)

(a) The extent of the need for the project in the area based on a determination by the HUD Office, taking into consideration your evidence of need in the area, as well as other economic, demographic and housing market data available to HUD. (12 points)

- (b) A description of your ties to the community in which your project will be located and to the minority and elderly (202) or disability (811) communities in particular, including a description of the specific geographic area(s) in which you have served.
- (c) A description of local government support for the project (including financial assistance, donation of land, provision of services, etc.).
- (d) Letters of support for your organization and for the proposed project from organizations familiar with the housing and supportive services needs of the target population (elderly (202) or persons with disabilities ((811) e.g., the local center for independent living, the Statewide Independent Living Council) that you expect to serve in the proposed project.
- (e) A description of your housing and/or supportive services experience. The description should include any rental housing projects (including any integrated housing developments if applying for Section 811) and/or supportive services facilities that you sponsored, own and/or operate, your past or current involvement in any programs other than housing that demonstrates your management capabilities (including financial management) and experience, your experience in serving the target population (the elderly, including elderly persons with disabilities, and/or families and minorities (202), or persons with disabilities and minorities (811)); and the reasons for receiving any increases in fund reservations for developing and/or operating previously funded Section 202 or Section 811 projects.

The description should include data on the facilities and services provided, the racial/ethnic composition of the populations served, if available, and information and testimonials from residents or community leaders on the quality of the activities. Examples of activities that could be described include housing counseling, nutrition and food services, special housing referral, screening and information projects.

- (f) A description of your efforts to involve members of the target population (elderly persons, including minority elderly persons (202), or person with disabilities including minority persons with disabilities and persons with disabilities similar to those of the prospective residents (811)) in the development of the application as well as your intent to involve the target population in the development and operation of the project.

(g) 202

A description of the practical solutions you will implement which will enable residents of your project to achieve independent living. In addition, describe the educational opportunities you will provide for the residents and how you will provide them. This description should include any activities that will enhance the quality of life for the residents. And, finally, describe how your proposed project will be an improved living environment for the residents when compared to their previous place of residence.

811

A description of the practical solutions you will implement which will enable residents of your project to achieve independent living and economic empowerment. In addition, describe the educational opportunities you will provide for the residents and how you will provide them. This description should include the activities you will undertake to improve computer access, literacy and employment opportunities (e.g., provide programs that can teach residents how to use computers to become educated as well as achieve economic self-sufficiency through job training and placement). And, finally, describe how your proposed project will be an improved living environment for the residents when compared to their previous place of residence.

- (h) Describe your plan for completing the proposed project. Include a project development timeline which lists the major development stages for the project with associated dates that must be met in order to get the project to initial closing and start of construction within the 18-month fund reservation period as well as the full completion of the project, including final closing.
- (i) Describe how you will ensure that your proposed project will remain viable as housing with the availability of supportive services for the target population for the 40-year capital advance period. This description should address the measures you would take should any of the following occur:
  - (i) funding for any of the needed supportive services becomes depleted;
  - (ii) if, for any state funded services for your project, the state changes its policy regarding the provision of supportive services to projects such as the one you propose; or
  - (iii) if the need for housing for the population you will be serving wanes over time, causing vacancies in your project.
- (j) A description of the steps you took to coordinate your application with other organizations (e.g., the local center for independent living) that will not be directly involved in your project but with which you share common goals and objectives, to complement and/or support the proposed project so that the project will provide a comprehensive and holistic solution to the needs of persons with disabilities. (811 Only)

PART III

THE NEED FOR SUPPORTIVE HOUSING FOR THE TARGET POPULATION, SITE CONTROL (AND/OR IDENTIFICATION OF SITE IF 811) AND SUITABILITY OF SITE

ADEQUACY OF THE PROVISION OF SUPPORTIVE SERVICES AND OF THE PROPOSED PROJECT

EXHIBIT 4 - Need and Project Information

- (a) Evidence of need for supportive housing.

202

Include a description of the category or categories of elderly persons the housing is intended to serve and evidence demonstrating sustained effective demand for supportive housing for that population in the market area to be served, taking into consideration the occupancy and vacancy conditions in existing Federally assisted housing for the elderly (HUD and the Rural Housing Service (RHS)) e.g., public housing), State or local data on the limitations in activities of daily living among the elderly in the area; aging in place in existing assisted rentals; trends in demographic changes in elderly population and households; the numbers of income eligible elderly households by size, tenure and housing condition; the types of supportive services arrangements currently available in the area; and the use of such services as evidenced by data from local social service agencies or agencies on aging. Also, a description of how information in the community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice was used in documenting the need for the project.

Include a description of the proposed population and evidence demonstrating sustained effective demand for supportive housing for the proposed population in the market area to be served, taking into consideration the occupancy and vacancy conditions in existing comparable subsidized housing for persons with disabilities, State or local needs assessments of persons with disabilities in the area, the types of supportive services arrangements currently available in the area, and the use of such services as evidenced by data from local social service agencies. Also, a description of how information in the community's Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice was used in documenting the need for the project.

(EXHIBIT 4 Cont'd)

(b) A description of how the proposed project will benefit the target population and the community in which it will be located.

(c) Description of the project.

(i) 202

Narrative description of the building design including a description of the number of units with bedroom distribution, any special design features including any features that incorporate visitability standards and universal design, amenities, and/or community space, and how this design will facilitate the delivery of services in an economical fashion and accommodate the changing needs of the residents over the next 10-20 years.

811

Narrative description of the building(s) including the number and type of structure(s), number of units with bedroom distribution if independent living units (including dwelling units in multifamily housing developments, condominiums and cooperatives), number of bedrooms if group home, number of residents with disabilities, and any resident manager per structure; identification of all community spaces, amenities or features planned for the housing and a description of how the spaces, amenities, or features will be used, and the extent to which they are necessary to accommodate the needs of the proposed residents. A narrative description of the building design (both interior and exterior), including any special design features, as well as any features that incorporate visitability standards and universal design. Also include a description of how the design of the proposed project will facilitate the integration of the residents into the surrounding community and promote the ability of the residents to live as independently as possible.

NOTE: (202 and 811) If the community spaces, amenities, or features do not comply with the project design and cost standards of 24 CFR 891.120 and the special project standards of 24 CFR 891.210 (202) or 891.310 (811), you must demonstrate your ability and willingness to contribute both the incremental development cost and continuing operating cost associated with the community spaces, amenities, or features;

- (ii) Describe whether and how the project will promote energy efficiency, including any plans to incorporate energy efficiency features in the operation of the project through the use of Energy Star labeled products and appliances and, if applicable, innovative construction or rehabilitation methods or technologies to be used that will promote efficient construction.
- (iii) For site control applications, if applicable, a description of any plans and actions you have taken to create a mixed-finance project by developing additional units (i.e., in addition to the 202 or 811 units, whichever is applicable) with the use of 202 or 811 capital advance funds, whichever is applicable, in combination with other funding sources. Provide copies of any letters you have sent seeking outside funding for the non-202 or non-811 units and any responses thereto. You must also demonstrate your ability to proceed with the development of a 202 or 811 project that will not involve mixed-financing, as proposed in your application, in the event you are later unable to obtain the necessary outside funding or HUD disapproves your proposal for a mixed-finance project.

(EXHIBIT 4 Cont'd)

NOTES: 1) Approval of the Section 202 or Section 811 capital advance will not necessarily be approval of the mixed-finance proposal. If approved for a reservation of capital advance funds, you will be required to submit, after reservation of capital advance funds, a detailed proposal outlining how you will fund both development and operation of the additional units in accordance with HUD instructions that will be issued later. Based on the strength of your organization and HUD's prior experience with your projects, as well as your outline of your intentions, at the time of making the fund reservation, HUD will determine whether you will be permitted to submit a mixed-finance proposal at a later time. Only those Sponsors that indicate in their application for a fund reservation an intention to propose additional units will be eligible to submit, at a later time, a mixed-finance proposal for additional units. (A mixed-finance project does not include the development of Section 202 or Section 811 units using secondary/supplementary financing or the development of a mixed-use project in which the Section 202 or Section 811 units are mortgaged separately from the other uses of the structure). 2) For a Section 811 mixed-finance project, the additional units cannot cause the project to exceed the project size limit for the type of project proposed, unless the additional units will house people who do not have a disability.

- (d) Evidence of site control and permissive zoning.

NOTE: If you are applying for Section 811 without control of any or all of your proposed sites, you must provide the information under Identification of a Site below for any site you are submitting without evidence of control of that site.

(EXHIBIT 4 Cont'd)

- (i) Acceptable evidence of site control is limited to any one of the following:
- (A) Deed or long-term leasehold which evidences that you have title to or a leasehold interest in the site. If a leasehold, the term of the lease must be at least 75 years;
  - (B) Contract of sale for the site which is free of any limitations affecting ability to deliver ownership to you after you receive and accept a notice of Section 202 or Section 811 capital advance. (The only condition for closing on the sale can be your receipt and acceptance of the capital advance.) The contract of sale cannot require closing earlier than the Section 202 or Section 811 closing (whichever is applicable);
  - (C) Option to purchase or for a long-term leasehold which must remain in effect for six months from the date on which the applications are due, must state a firm price binding on the seller, and be renewable at the end of the six month option period. The only condition on which the option may be terminated is if you are not awarded a fund reservation;
  - (D) If the site is covered by a mortgage under a HUD program, (e.g., a previously funded Section 202 or Section 811 project or an FHA-insured mortgage) you must submit evidence that consent to release of the site from the mortgage has been obtained or is being requested from HUD and from the mortgagee, if other than HUD; or

- (E) For sites to be acquired from a public body, evidence is needed that the public body possesses clear title to the site and has entered into a legally binding agreement to lease or convey the site to you after you receive and accept a notice of Section 202 or Section 811 capital advance. Where HUD determines that time constraints of the funding round will not permit you to obtain all of the required official actions (e.g., approval of Community Planning Boards) that are necessary to convey publicly-owned sites, you may include in your application a letter from the mayor or director of the appropriate local agency indicating that conveyance or leasing of the site is acceptable without imposition of additional covenants or restrictions, and only contingent on the necessary approval action. Such a letter of commitment will be considered sufficient evidence of site control.
- (ii) Whether you have title to the site, a contract of sale, an option to purchase, or are acquiring a site from a public body, you must provide evidence (a title policy or other acceptable evidence) that the site is free of any limitations, restrictions, or reverters which could adversely affect the use of the site for the proposed project for the 40-year capital advance period under HUD's regulations and requirements (e.g., reversion to seller if title is transferred). If the title evidence contains restrictions or covenants, copies of the restrictions or covenants must be submitted with the application. If the site is subject to any such limitations, restrictions, or reverters, the application will be rejected if it's a 202 or the site will be rejected if it is an 811. Purchase money mortgages that will be satisfied from capital advance funds are not considered to be limitations or restrictions that would adversely affect the use of the site. If the contract of sale or option agreement contains provisions that allow a Sponsor not to purchase the property for reasons such as environmental problems, failure of the site to pass inspection, or the appraisal is less than the purchase price, then such provisions are not objectionable and a Sponsor is allowed to terminate the contract of sale or the option agreement.

NOTE: A proposed project site may not be acquired or optioned from a general contractor (or its affiliate) that will construct the Section 202 or Section 811 project or from any other development team member.

(iii) Evidence that the project as proposed is permissible under applicable zoning ordinances or regulations or a statement of the proposed action required to make the proposed project permissible and the basis for the belief that the proposed action will be completed successfully before the submission of the firm commitment application (e.g., a summary of the results of any requests for rezoning and/or the procedures for obtaining special or conditional use permits on land in similar zoning classifications and the time required for such rezoning, or preliminary indications of acceptability from zoning bodies, etc.).

NOTE: If applying for Section 811, you should be aware that under certain circumstances the Fair Housing Act requires localities to make reasonable accommodations to their zoning ordinances or regulations to offer persons with disabilities an opportunity to live in an area of their choice. If you are relying upon a theory of reasonable accommodation to satisfy the zoning requirement, then you must clearly articulate the basis for your reasonable accommodation theory.

- (iv) Narrative topographical and demographic description of the suitability of the site and area (as well as a description of the characteristics of the neighborhood (811 only)), how the site will promote greater housing opportunities for minority elderly and elderly persons with disabilities (202) or minority persons with disabilities (811), thereby affirmatively furthering fair housing.

NOTE: You can best demonstrate your commitment to affirmatively furthering fair housing by describing how your proposed activities will assist the jurisdiction in overcoming impediments to fair housing choice identified in the applicable jurisdiction's Analysis of Impediments (AI) to Fair Housing Choice, which is a component of the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan or any other planning document that addresses fair housing issues. The applicable Consolidated Plan and AI may be the Community's, the County's, or the State's, to which input should have been provided by local community organizations, agencies in the community and residents of the community. Alternatively, a document that addresses fair housing issues and remedies to barriers to fair housing in the community that was previously prepared by a local planning, or similar organization, may be used. For Section 202, applicable impediments could include the need for improved housing quality and services for elderly minority families, lack of affirmative marketing and outreach to minority elderly persons, and the need for quality eldercare services within areas of minority concentration when compared with the type and quality of similar services and housing in nonminority areas. For Section 811, applicable impediments could include a lack of units that are accessible to persons with disabilities, a lack of transportation services or other assistance that would serve persons with disabilities, or the need for improved quality and services for all persons with disabilities.

- (v) A map showing the location of the site, the racial composition of the neighborhood, and any areas of racial concentration.

NOTE: For this competition, when determining the racial and ethnic composition of the neighborhood surrounding the proposed site, you should use the racial and ethnic data categories stated in the general Section of the SuperNOFA in the section entitled "Race and Ethnicity", and data from the 2000 Census of Population. Data from the 2000 Census may be found at www.factfinder.census.gov/servlet/BasicFactsServlet.

- (vi) A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA), in accordance with the American Society for Testing and Material (ASTM) Standards E 1527-97, as amended, must be completed and submitted with the application. In order for the Phase I ESA to be acceptable, it must have been completed or updated no earlier than six months prior to the application deadline date. For the Section 811 program only, it is NOT a curable deficiency. Therefore, it is important to start the site assessment process as soon after the publication of the NOFA as possible.

For a project that will involve demolition and/or rehabilitation of a structure(s) built before 1978, the Phase I must include the following: (1) an asbestos report that identifies the location and condition of asbestos, and (2) a certification that any asbestos identified in the asbestos report that is in friable condition will be abated, that any non-friable asbestos that has been identified in the asbestos report and that will be affected by the demolition/rehabilitation will be abated, and that any asbestos to be abated have been included within the project costs. For a project that does not involve demolition/rehabilitation of a structure(s) built before 1978, the Phase I must include a certification to the same.

If the Phase I ESA indicates the possible presence of contamination and/or hazards, you must decide whether to continue with this site or choose another site. Should you choose another site, the same Phase I ESA process identified above must be followed for the new site. If the property is to be acquired from the FDIC/RTC, include a copy of the FDIC/RTC prepared Transaction Screen Checklist or Phase I ESA and applicable documentation, per the FDIC/RTC Environmental Guidelines. If you choose to continue with the original site on which the Phase I ESA indicated contamination or hazards, you must undertake a detailed Phase II ESA by an appropriate professional.

If the Phase II Assessment reveals site contamination, you must submit the extent of the contamination and a plan for clean-up of the site including a contract for remediation of the problem(s) and an approval letter from the applicable Federal, State and/or local agency with jurisdiction over the site to the local HUD Office. The Phase II and any necessary plan for clean-up does not have to be submitted with the application but must be submitted to the local HUD office by July 14, 2003. If it is not submitted by that date, the application will be rejected if it is a 202 application and the site will be rejected if it is an 811 application.

NOTE: You must pay for the cost of any clean-up or remediation which can be very expensive.

- (vii) The letter you sent to the State/Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO/THPO) initiating consultation with their office and requesting their review of your determinations and findings with respect to the historical significance of your proposed project. A sample letter is included in Attachment 1 to this Application.

Also include the SHPO/THPO response to your letter.

(viii) through (xiv) apply to Section 811 only

- (viii) A statement that you are willing to seek a different site if the preferred site is unapprovable and that site control will be obtained within six months of notification of fund reservation.
(Section 811 only)

- (ix) If an exception to the project size limits is being requested, describe why the site was selected and demonstrate the following: (Only for Section 811 applications for independent living projects [not group homes] with site control)

- (A) People with disabilities have indicated their acceptance or preference to live in housing with as many units/people as proposed for the project.

(EXHIBIT 4 Cont'd)

- (B) The increased number of units/people is warranted by the market conditions in the area in which the project will be located.
- (C) Your project is compatible with other residential development and the population density of the area in which the project is to be located.
- (D) The increased number of people will not prohibit their successful integration into the community.
- (E) The project is marketable in the community.
- (F) The size of the project is consistent with State and/or local policies governing similar housing for the proposed population.
- (G) A statement that you are willing to have your application processed at the project size limit should HUD not approve the exception.

Identification of a Site

If you have identified a site, but do not have it under control, you must submit the following information: (Section 811 only)

NOTE: If a Section 811 application is submitted without evidence of site control and does not provide a specific street address for the identified site(s) (e.g., only an indication that the project will be developed in a particular part of town but a site(s) has not been chosen) the application will be rejected.

- (x) A description of the location of the site, including its street address, its unit number (if condominium), neighborhood/community characteristics (to include racial and ethnic data), amenities, adjacent housing and/or facilities, how the site will promote greater housing opportunities for minority persons with disabilities and affirmatively further fair housing.

You can best demonstrate your commitment to affirmatively furthering fair housing by describing how your proposed activities will assist the jurisdiction in overcoming impediments to fair housing choice identified in the community's AI or any other planning document that addresses fair housing issues. Examples of the applicable impediments include the need for improved housing quality and services for minority persons with disabilities and the need for quality services for persons with disabilities within the type and quality of similar services and housing in minority areas.

- (xi) A description of the activities undertaken to identify the site, as well as what actions must be taken to obtain control of the site, if approved for funding.
- (xii) An indication as to whether the site is properly zoned. If it is not, an indication of the actions necessary for proper zoning and whether these can be accomplished within six months of fund reservation award, if approved for funding.
- (xiii) A status of the sale of the site.
- (xiv) An indication as to whether the site would involve relocation.

(EXHIBIT 5)*EXHIBIT 5 - Supportive Services Plan

- 202 Provision of supportive services in the proposed facility.
- (a) A detailed description of the supportive services proposed to be provided to the anticipated occupancy.
  - (b) A description of public or private sources of assistance that reasonably could be expected to fund the proposed services.
  - (c) The manner in which such services will be provided to such persons (i.e., on or off-site), including whether a service coordinator will facilitate the adequate provision of such services, and how the services will meet the identified needs of the residents.

NOTE: You may not require residents, as a condition of occupancy, to accept any supportive services.

- 811 A supportive services plan that includes:

NOTE: Your supportive services plan and the supportive services certification (Exhibit 8(j)) must be sent to the appropriate State or local agency (identified by the HUD Office) far enough in advance of the application deadline date so that the agency can review the plan, complete the certification and return both to you for inclusion in your application to HUD.

- (a) A detailed description of whether the housing is expected to serve persons with physical disabilities, developmental disabilities, or chronic mental illness or any combination of the three. Include how and from whom/where persons will be referred and admitted for occupancy in the project. You may, with the approval of the Secretary, limit occupancy within housing developed under this SuperNOFA to persons with disabilities who have similar disabilities and require a similar set of supportive services in a supportive housing environment. However, the Owner must permit occupancy by any qualified person with a disability who could benefit from the housing and/or services provided, regardless of the person's disability.

- (b) If requesting approval to limit occupancy, also submit the following:
  - (i) A description of the population of persons with disabilities to which occupancy will be limited.
  - (ii) An explanation of why it is necessary to limit occupancy of the proposed project(s) to the population described in (i) above, including the following:
    - (A) An explanation of how limiting occupancy to a subcategory of persons with disabilities promotes the goals of the Section 811 program.
    - (B) An explanation of why the housing and/or service needs of this population cannot be met in a more integrated setting.
  - (iii) A description of your experience in providing housing and/or supportive services to proposed occupants.
  - (iv) A description of how you will ensure that occupants of the proposed project will be integrated into the neighborhood and community.
- (c) A detailed description of the supportive service needs of the persons with disabilities that the housing is expected to serve.

- (d) A list of community service providers, (including consumer-controlled providers), including letters of intent to provide services to proposed residents from as many potential providers as possible.
- (e) The evidence of each service provider's capability and experience in providing such supportive services (even if you will be the service provider).
- (f) Identification of the extent of State and/or local agency involvement in the project (i.e., funding for the provision of supportive services, referral of residents, or licensing the project). If there will be any State or local agency involvement, a description of the State/local agency's philosophy/policy concerning housing for the population to be served and a demonstration that your application is consistent with State and/or local agency plans and policies governing the development and operation of housing for persons with disabilities.
- (g) If you will be making any supportive services available to the residents or will be coordinating the availability of any supportive services, a letter providing:
  - (i) A description of the supportive services that you will make available to the residents or, if you will be coordinating the availability of any supportive services, a description of the supportive service(s) and how the coordination will be implemented;
  - (ii) An assurance that any supportive services that you will make available to the residents will be based on their individual needs;

and

- (iii) A commitment to make the supportive services available or coordinate their availability for the life of the project.
- (h) A description of how the residents will be afforded opportunities for employment.
- (i) An indication as to whether the project will include a unit for a resident manager.
- (j) A statement that you will not condition occupancy on the resident's acceptance of any supportive services.

PART IV

GENERAL APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS,
CERTIFICATIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

EXHIBIT 6: A list of the applications, if any, you have submitted or are planning to submit to any other HUD Office in response to the Section 202 or Section 811 NOFA. Indicate by HUD Office, the proposed location by city and State and the number of units requested for each application. Include a list of all FY 2002 and prior year Section 202 and Section 811 capital advance projects to which you are a party. Identify each by project number and HUD Office and include the following information:

- (a) whether the project has initially closed and, if so, when;
