The FEDERAL REGISTER is published daily, Monday through Friday, except official holidays, by the Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408, under the Federal Register Act (44 U.S.C. Ch. 15) and the regulations of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (1 CFR Ch. I). The Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402 is the exclusive distributor of the official edition.

The Federal Register provides a uniform system for making available to the public regulations and legal notices issued by Federal agencies. These include Presidential proclamations and Executive Orders, Federal agency documents having general applicability and legal effect, documents required to be published by act of Congress, and other Federal agency documents of public interest.

Documents are on file for public inspection in the Office of the Federal Register the day before they are published, unless the issuing agency requests earlier filing. For a list of documents currently on file for public inspection, see http://www.archives.gov/federal_register/.

The seal of the National Archives and Records Administration authenticates the Federal Register as the official serial publication established under the Federal Register Act. Under 44 U.S.C. 1507, the contents of the Federal Register shall be judicially noticed.

The Federal Register is published in paper and on 24x microfiche. It is also available online at no charge as one of the databases on GPO Access, a service of the U.S. Government Printing Office.

The online edition of the Federal Register is issued under the authority of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register as the official legal equivalent of the paper and microfiche editions (44 U.S.C. 4101 and 1 CFR 5.10). It is updated by 6 a.m. each day the Federal Register is published and it includes both text and graphics from Volume 59, Number 1 (January 2, 1994) forward.

GPO Access users can choose to retrieve online Federal Register documents as TEXT (ASCII text, graphics omitted), PDF (Adobe Portable Document Format, including full text and all graphics), or SUMMARY (abbreviated text) files. Users should carefully check retrieved material to ensure that documents were properly downloaded.

On the World Wide Web, connect to the Federal Register at <http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara>. Those without World Wide Web access can also connect with a local WAIS client, by Telnet to swais.access.gpo.gov, or by dialing (202) 512-1661 with a computer and modem. When using Telnet or modem, type swais, then log in as guest with no password.

For more information about GPO Access, contact the GPO Access User Support Team by E-mail at gpoaccess@gpo.gov; by fax at (202) 512-1262; or call (202) 512-1530 or 1-888-293-6498 (toll free) between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern time, Monday-Friday, except Federal holidays.

The annual subscription price for the Federal Register paper edition is $699, or $764 for a combined Federal Register, Federal Register Index and List of CFR Sections Affected (LSA) subscription; the microfiche edition of the Federal Register including the Federal Register Index and LSA is $264. Six month subscriptions are available for one-half the annual rate. The charge for individual copies in paper form is $10.00 for each issue, or $10.00 for each group of pages as actually bound; or $2.00 for each issue in microfiche form. All prices include regular domestic postage and handling. International customers please add 25% for foreign handling. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or charge to your GPO Deposit Account, VISA, MasterCard or Discover. Mail to: New Orders, Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954.

There are no restrictions on the republication of material appearing in the Federal Register.

Cottonseed Payment Program

AGENCY: Commodity Credit Corporation, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule implements the 2002-crop Cottonseed Payment Program authorized by section 206 of the Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003. Section 206 requires the Commodity Credit Corporation to provide assistance to producers and first-handlers of the 2002 crop of cottonseed. Other provisions of Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003 will be implemented under separate rules.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 24, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Gene Rosera at (202) 720-8481, or via electronic mail at gene_rosera@wdc.usda.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Notice and Comment

Section 217(b) of Title II of Division N of the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Public Law 108-7) provides that the regulations to implement that title, including those implemented in this notice, may be promulgated without regard to the notice and comment provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553, the Statement of Policy of the Secretary of Agriculture relating to notices of proposed rulemaking and public participation in rulemaking (36 FR 13804, July 24, 1971). Thus, this rule is final as published. Division N, Title II, of Public Law 108-7 is also known as the "Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003" ("2003 Act").

Executive Order 12866

This final rule has been determined to be not significant under Executive Order 12866 and has not been reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

Federal Assistance Programs

This final rule applies to the following Federal assistance programs, as found in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance: 10.073—Crop Disaster Program.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act does not apply to this rule because CCC is not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking with respect to the subject of this rule.

Environmental Assessment

The environmental impacts of this proposed rule have been considered in accordance with the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq., the regulations of the Council on Environmental Quality (40 CFR parts 1500-1508), and FSA's regulations for compliance with NEPA, 7 CFR part 799. To the extent these authorities may apply, CCC has concluded that this rule is categorically excluded from further environmental review as evidenced by the completion of an environmental evaluation. No extraordinary circumstances or other unforeseeable factors exist which would require preparation of an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement. A copy of the environmental evaluation is available for inspection and review upon request.

Executive Order 12988

The final rule has been reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12988. This final rule preempts State laws to the extent such laws are inconsistent with it. This rule is not retroactive. Before judicial action may be brought concerning this rule, all administrative remedies must be exhausted.

Executive Order 12372

This program is not subject to Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. See the notice related to 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V, published at 48 FR 29115 (June 24, 1983).

Unfunded Mandates

Title II of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (UMRA) does not apply to this rule because CCC is not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking for the subject of this rule. Further, this rule contains no unfunded mandates as defined in sections 202 and 205 of UMRA.

Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996

Section 217(c) of the 2003 Act requires CCC to use the authority in section 808 of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, Public Law 104-121 (SBREFA), to forgo the usual 60-day delay in the effective date of major final rules required by SBREFA (5 U.S.C. 801(a)(3)(A)(ii)). Also, this rule affects a number of persons who may have a strong need for the relief provided in this rule. For these reasons, the rule is made effective on publication in the Federal Register.

Paperwork Reduction Act

Section 217 of the Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003 requires that these regulations be promulgated and the programs administered without regard to 44 U.S.C. 35, the Paperwork Reduction Act. This means that the information to be collected from the public to implement these programs and the burden, in time and money, the collection of the information would have on the public do not have to be approved by the Office of Management and Budget or be subject to the 60-day public comment period required by 5 CFR 1320.8(d)(1).

Background

Section 206 of the 2003 Act directs the Secretary of Agriculture to use $50 million of funds of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to provide assistance to producers and first handlers of the 2002 crop of cottonseed. Previous 1999-crop and 2000-crop cottonseed programs were codified in 7 CFR part 1427. This rule follows the model set by those preceding programs.

The major provisions of this program are as follows. The CCC will announce a period during which U.S. cotton gins may apply for cottonseed payments. To participate, cotton gins must complete an application form including: (1) Applicant name, address, and a contact person and phone; (2) bank account information for payees electing to have payments made by direct account deposit; (3) the gin 5-digit identifying code; (4) the number of bales of cotton ginned from the 2002 cotton crop; and, (5) the weight (in pounds) of cotton lint of the reported bales for which payment is requested. CCC must receive the application within the announced application period.

Upon receipt of all payment applications from gins, CCC will estimate the national total quantity of cottonseed for payment based on the number of bales and the weight of cotton lint for which payment is requested. The payment rate per ton of cottonseed will be determined by dividing the available $50 million by the total quantity of cottonseed for payment. With the available funding, the resulting payments to individual cotton gins are not subject to any payment limitation.

CCC plans to provide all 2002-crop cottonseed payments to cotton gins and to require gins to share such payments with cotton producers to the extent that the effect of low cottonseed prices for the 2002 crop were borne by producers or to the extent that such sharing is consistent with the arrangements between the producer and the gins. This is as it was in previous cottonseed programs which appeared to work well. Presumably, Congress expected the old program to serve as the model for the program provided for in the new legislation as no dissatisfaction was expressed. Based on their contractual or marketing agreements, ginners and producers are best suited to know how to most equitably distribute the funds. A producer's recourse, for an unfavorable distribution, will be against the "first handler" or ginner that receives the payments. Other program provisions also remain as before except that changes have been made for clarity and to allow for greater program efficiency.

List of Subjects in 7 CFR Part 1427

Agriculture, Cottonseeds.

■ For the reasons set out in the preamble, 7 CFR part 1427 is amended as set forth below.

PART 1427—COTTON

■ 1. The authority citation for 7 CFR part 1427 is revised to read as follows:

Authority: 7 U.S.C. 7213–7237; 15 U.S.C. 714b, 714c; Pub. L. 108–7.

■ 2. Add subpart F to read as follows:

1427.1110	Payment calculation and form.
1427.1111	Liability of first handler.

Subpart F—2002-Crop Cottonseed Payment Program

§ 1427.1100 Applicability.

(a) This subpart sets forth the terms and conditions under which the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) shall provide payments under the cottonseed payment program for the 2002 crop of cottonseed. Additional terms and conditions may be set forth in the application or other forms which must be executed to participate in the cottonseed payment program.

(b) Payments shall be available only for cottonseed produced and ginned in the United States.

§ 1427.1101 Administration.

(a) The cottonseed payment program shall be administered by the Executive Vice President, CCC, or a designee and carried out by employees of the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

(b) Representatives and employees of FSA have no authority to modify or waive any of the provisions of the regulations of this subpart.

(c) The Executive Vice President, CCC, or a designee, may determine any question arising under the program or reverse or modify any determination made by any FSA official or employee.

(d) The Deputy Administrator for Farm Programs, FSA, may specify, waive or modify deadlines and other program requirements where lateness or failure to meet such other requirements do not affect adversely the operation of the cottonseed payment program.

(e) A representative of CCC may execute cottonseed payment program applications and related documents only under the terms and conditions determined and announced by CCC.

(f) Payment applications and related documents not executed in accordance with the terms and conditions determined and announced by CCC, including any purported execution outside of the dates authorized by CCC, shall be null and void except as otherwise provided in this part.

The definitions in this section shall apply to the cottonseed payment program provided for in this subpart. The terms defined in § 1427.3 of this part shall also be applicable to this subpart.

Application period means a period, as announced by CCC, during which applications for payments under the Cottonseed Payment Program must be received to be considered for payment.

Cottonseed means the seed from any varieties of upland cotton and extra long staple (ELS) cotton produced and ginned in the United States.

Gin means a person (i.e., an individual, partnership, association, corporation, cooperative marketing association, estate, trust, State or political subdivision or agency thereof, or other legal entity) that removes cotton seed from cotton lint in commercial quantities.

Lint means cotton lint as contained in bales of cotton ordinarily marketed as cotton and excludes any linters, raw motes, re-ginned motes, cleaned motes, and any other gin waste or byproduct not traditionally defined as cotton lint.

Number of ginned cotton bales means the number of ginned running bales of cotton based on individual bale weights unadjusted to a uniform bale weight.

Running bale means a bale of cotton lint that has a minimum weight of 425 pounds and is not a bale of motes, linters, gin waste, or other gin byproduct.

Ton means a unit of weight equal to 2,000 pounds avoirdupois (907.18 kilograms).

§ 1427.1103 Eligible cottonseed.

To be eligible for payments under this subpart, cottonseed must:

(a) Have been grown in the United States during the 2002-crop production period.

(b) Have been ginned by the applicant from 2002-crop cotton.

(c) Not have been destroyed or damaged by fire, flood, or other events such that its loss or damage was compensated by other local, State, or Federal government or private or public insurance or disaster relief payments.

§ 1427.1104 Eligible first handlers.

(a) For the purpose of this subpart, an eligible first handler of cottonseed shall be a gin that ginned 2002-crop cotton.

(b) Applicants must comply with the terms and conditions set forth in this subpart and instructions issued by CCC, and sign and submit an accurate, legible and complete Cottonseed Payment Program Application and Certification.

(c) Applicants signing the cottonseed payment application or receiving payment under this subpart must share any payment with the producer of the cotton that was the basis of the cottonseed payment to the extent that the effect of low cottonseed prices was borne by the producer rather than the gin. To the extent that such funds will be shared with the producer by the gin, those funds will be considered to have been received by the applicant on behalf of such producers.

§ 1427.1105 Payment application.

(a) Payments in accordance with this subpart shall be made available only to eligible first handlers of cottonseed based on information provided on a Cottonseed Payment Program Application and Certification.

(b) Payment applications must be received by the program application deadline announced by CCC. Applications received after such application deadline will not be accepted for payment.

(c) Cottonseed Payment Program Application and Certifications may be obtained from the CCC as announced by press release. In order to participate in the cottonseed payment program under this subpart, first handlers of cottonseed must execute and submit to CCC according to announced instructions the Cottonseed Payment Program Application and Certification.

§ 1427.1106 Available funds.

The total available program funds shall be $50 million for 2002-crop cottonseed.

§ 1427.1107 Applicant payment quantity.

The applicant's payment quantity of cottonseed will be determined by CCC based on the eligible number of ginned cotton bales and the cotton lint weight from those bales as submitted on the Cottonseed Payment Application and Certification and/or obtained by CCC, with the agreement of the applicant, from the Agricultural Marketing Service. The applicant's payment quantity of cottonseed shall be calculated by multiplying:

(a) The applicant's weight of eligible lint for which payment is requested, as approved by CCC, by;

(b) The national Olympic average of estimated pounds of cottonseed per pound of ginned cotton lint, as determined by CCC for the 5 years preceding the 2002 crop year.

The total quantity of 2002-crop cottonseed produced in the United States is potentially eligible for payment under this subpart. The total payment quantity of cottonseed will be the total of eligible quantities of cottonseed for which completed applications for payment are received within the application period announced by CCC. Eligible cottonseed for which no application is received according to announced application instructions shall not be included in the total payment quantity of cottonseed. The total payment quantity of cottonseed (ton-basis) shall be calculated by multiplying:

(a) The weight of cotton lint (ton-basis) for which payment is requested by all applicants, as approved by CCC, by

(b) The national Olympic average of estimated pounds of cottonseed per pound of ginned cotton lint, as determined by CCC for the 5 years preceding the crop year for which the cottonseed payments are provided.

§ 1427.1109 Payment rate.

The payment rate (dollars per ton) for the purpose of calculating payments made available in accordance with this subpart shall be determined by CCC by dividing the total available program funds by the total eligible payment quantity of cottonseed unless the calculation would provide an excess rate of payment in which case an alternative method will be used as determined appropriate by CCC.

§ 1427.1110 Payment calculation and form.

(a) Payments in accordance with this subpart shall be determined for individual applicants by multiplying:

(1) The payment rate, determined in accordance with § 1427.1109, by

(2) The eligible payment quantity of the applicant, determined in accordance with § 1427.1107 and other provisions of this subpart.

(b) After receipt of the application for payment, CCC will issue payments to the applicant by electronic funds transfer to the applicant's account except that applicants may request that payment be made by mailed check.

§ 1427.1111 Liability of first handler.

(a) If any person makes any erroneous or fraudulent representation in obtaining a cottonseed payment under this part, or in connection with such a payment engages in a scheme or device that tends to defeat the purposes of this program, the person shall be liable to CCC for the amount of the payment and interest on such payment as determined by CCC. Such remedy will be in addition to whatever additional remedies may be allowed by law.

(b) If more than one person executes a program payment application with CCC and payments are made thereunder, each such person shall be jointly and severally liable for any violation of the terms and conditions for any payment made to anyone under that application or for any refund due from any person signing that application. Such liability shall remain until payment in full is made of any such refund and its related charges.

(c) If a person receives a program payment in excess of the amount authorized by this subpart, that person shall refund to CCC an amount equal to the excess payment, plus interest thereon, as determined by CCC.

(d) From the date of the payment application until the earlier of 3 years after the date of the application or July 31, 2006, the applicant shall keep records, including records supporting the quantity of cottonseed for which payment was requested, and furnish such information and reports relating to the application to CCC as requested. Such records shall be available at all reasonable times for an audit or inspection by authorized representatives of CCC, United States Department of Agriculture, or the Comptroller General of the United States. Failure to keep, or make available, such records may result in refund to CCC of all payments received, plus interest thereon, as determined by CCC. In the event of a controversy concerning payments or questions involving the payments, records must be kept for such longer period as may be specified by CCC until such controversy is resolved.

Signed in Washington, DC, on April 9, 2003.

James R. Little,

Executive Vice President, Commodity Credit Corporation.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

[Docket No. 03-005-1]

Tuberculosis in Cattle and Bison; State Designations; California

AGENCY: Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, USDA.

ACTION: Interim rule and request for comments.

SUMMARY: We are amending the bovine tuberculosis regulations regarding State and zone classifications by removing California from the list of accredited-free States and adding it to the list of modified accredited advanced States. This action is necessary to help prevent the spread of tuberculosis because California no longer meets the requirements for accredited-free State status.

DATES: This interim rule is effective April 25, 2003.

Compliance Date: The date for complying with certain requirements of 9 CFR 77.10 for sexually intact heifers, steers, and spayed heifers moving interstate from the State of California is September 30, 2003 (see "Delay in Compliance" under SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION). The compliance date for all other provisions in 9 CFR 77 applicable to the interstate movement of cattle and bison from the State of California is April 25, 2003.

Comment Date: We will consider all comments that we receive on or before June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: You may submit comments by postal mail/commercial delivery or by e-mail. If you use postal mail/commercial delivery, please send four copies of your comment (an original and three copies) to: Docket No. 03-005-1, Regulatory Analysis and Development, PPD, APHIS, Station 3C71, 4700 River Road Unit 118, Riverdale, MD 20737-1238. Please state that your comment refers to Docket No. 03-005-1. If you use e-mail, address your comment to regulations@aphis.usda.gov. Your comment must be contained in the body of your message; do not send attached files. Please include your name and address in your message and "Docket No. 03-005-1" on the subject line.

You may read any comments that we receive on this docket in our reading room. The reading room is located in room 1141 of the USDA South Building, 14th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC. Normal reading room hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays. To be sure someone is there to help you, please call (202) 690-2817 before coming.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Bovine tuberculosis is a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease caused by Mycobacterium bovis. It affects cattle, bison, deer, elk, goats, and other species, including humans. Bovine tuberculosis in infected animals and humans manifests itself in lesions of the lung, bone, and other body parts, causes weight loss and general debilitation, and can be fatal.

At the beginning of the 20th century, bovine tuberculosis caused more losses of livestock than all other livestock diseases combined. This prompted the establishment of the National Cooperative State/Federal Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication Program for bovine tuberculosis in livestock.

Federal regulations implementing this program are contained in 9 CFR part 77, "Tuberculosis" (referred to below as the regulations), and in the "Uniform Methods and Rules—Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication" (UMR), which is incorporated by reference into the regulations. The regulations restrict the interstate movement of cattle, bison, and captive cervids to prevent the spread of bovine tuberculosis. Subpart B of the regulations contains requirements for the interstate movement of cattle and bison not known to be infected with or exposed to tuberculosis. The interstate movement requirements depend upon whether the animals are moved from an accredited-free State or zone, modified accredited advanced State or zone, modified accredited State or zone, accreditation preparatory State or zone, or nonaccredited State or zone.

The status of a State or zone is based on its freedom from evidence of tuberculosis in cattle and bison, the effectiveness of the State's tuberculosis eradication program, and the degree of the State's compliance with the standards for cattle and bison contained in the UMR. In an interim rule effective October 14, 1999, and published in the Federal Register on October 20, 1999 (64 FR 56399-56400, Docket No. 99-063-1), we raised the designation of California (as well as Pennsylvania and Puerto Rico) from modified accredited to accredited-free.

Recently, two tuberculosis-affected herds (two dairy herds in the spring and fall of 2002) were detected in Tulare County, CA. Under the regulations in § 77.7(c), if two or more affected herds are detected in an accredited-free State or zone within a 48-month period, the State or zone will be removed from the list of accredited-free States or zones and will be reclassified as modified accredited advanced. Therefore, we are amending the regulations by removing California from the list of accredited-free States or zones and adding it to the list of modified accredited advanced States or zones.

The two affected herds detected in the State have been depopulated or quarantined, and a complete epidemiological investigation into the potential sources of the disease has been conducted. In cooperation with the State, we have continuously tested area cattle for tuberculosis since the investigation began.

Under the regulations in § 77.10, cattle or bison that originate in a modified accredited advanced State or zone, and are not known to be infected with or exposed to tuberculosis, may be moved interstate only under one of the following conditions:

- The cattle or bison are moved directly to slaughter at an approved slaughtering establishment (§ 77.10(a));
- The cattle or bison are sexually intact heifers moved to an approved feedlot, or are steers or spayed heifers; and are either officially identified or identified by premises of origin identification (§ 77.10(b));
- The cattle or bison are from an accredited herd and are accompanied by a certificate stating that the accredited herd completed the testing necessary for accredited status with negative results within 1 year prior to the date of movement (§ 77.10(c)); or
- The cattle or bison are sexually intact animals, are not from an accredited herd, are officially identified, and are accompanied by a certificate stating that they were negative to an official tuberculin test conducted within 60 days prior to the date of movement (§ 77.10(d)).

Delay in Compliance

In an interim rule effective June 3, 2002, and published the Federal Register on June 6, 2002 (67 FR 38841-38844, Docket No. 02-021-1), we amended the regulations by classifying the State of Texas as modified accredited advanced. Given the size and complexity of the cattle industry in Texas, we have delayed the date for complying with certain identification and certification requirements in § 77.10 for sexually intact heifers, steers, and spayed heifers moving interstate from the State of Texas until September 30, 2003. In that interim rule, we also solicited comments on the current regulatory provisions of the domestic bovine tuberculosis eradication program, and we are currently considering proposing several changes to the regulations as a result of comments received regarding those provisions.

In the interests of equitable treatment for producers in California, we are similarly delaying the date of compliance with the following interstate movement requirements of § 77.10 for sexually intact heifers, steers, and spayed heifers moving interstate from the State of California until September 30, 2003:

- The identification of sexually intact heifers moving to approved feedlots and steers and spayed heifers (§ 77.10(b));
- The identification requirements for sexually intact heifers moving to feedlots that are not approved feedlots (§ 77.10(d));
- Because identification is required for certification, the certification requirements for sexually intact heifers moving to unapproved feedlots (§ 77.10(d)).

All other applicable provisions of the regulations will be in effect as of the effective date of this rule.

Emergency Action

This rulemaking is necessary on an emergency basis to prevent the spread of tuberculosis in the United States. Under these circumstances, the Administrator has determined that prior notice and opportunity for public comment are contrary to the public interest and that there is good cause under 5 U.S.C. 553 for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register.

We will consider comments we receive during the comment period for this interim rule (see DATES above). After the comment period closes, we will publish another document in the Federal Register. The document will include a discussion of any comments we receive and any amendments we are making to the rule.

Executive Order 12866 and Regulatory Flexibility Act

This rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12866. For this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived its review under Executive Order 12866.

Prior to this rule, the State of California was classified as an accredited-free State for cattle and bison. However, two infected herds have been discovered within a 48-month period. Under the regulations, if two or more affected herds are detected in an accredited-free State or zone within a 48-month period, the State or zone must be reclassified as modified accredited advanced. In keeping with that requirement, this interim rule removes California from the list of accredited-free States and adds it to the list of modified accredited advanced States.

As of January 2002, there were approximately 22,000 cattle and bison operations in California, totaling 5.2 million head. According to the National Agricultural Statistics Service, the total cash value of cattle in California was over $4.80 billion as of that year. Over 90 percent of California's cattle operations yield less than $750,000 annually and are, therefore, considered small entities under criteria established by the Small Business Administration.

This interim rule changes the status of California to modified accredited advanced, resulting in interstate movement restrictions where none existed previously. Specifically, as explained previously, § 77.10 requires that, for movement to certain destinations, animals must test negative to an official tuberculin test and/or be officially identified by premises of origin identification before interstate movement.

This rule will prove beneficial by preventing the spread of tuberculosis to other areas of the United States. However, the stricter requirements for interstate movement will have an economic effect on those producers involved in the interstate movement of cattle and bison from California. As such, this analysis will focus on the expenses incurred by those producers engaged in interstate movement and in determining whether those negative impacts are significant.

The cost of tuberculin testing and individual identification for an average-sized herd of 101 animals is about $396. The approximate per-animal testing cost is $3.76, and the cost of official identification (an eartag) and an applicator is about $0.16 per head plus the cost of labor to apply the eartags. On January 1, 2002, the average value per animal in California was estimated to be $930, which translates to an average value per 101-head herd of about $94,000. Thus, we believe that the added cost of the required tuberculin testing and identification is small relative to the average value of cattle and bison, representing less than 1 percent of the per-head value. Further, since this rule provides for a delay in date of compliance with the identification requirements in § 77.10(b) and (d), the identification costs for sexually intact heifers, steers, and spayed heifers moving interstate from the State of California will be deferred until at least September 30, 2003.

The expenses stemming from the testing and identification requirements are not expected to be substantial for cattle and bison owners in California.

The more a particular herd owner engages in interstate movement, the greater the resulting expense. Unfortunately, the exact number of herd owners involved in interstate movement is unknown. However, we believe that this change in status will not have an economically substantial effect on cattle and bison herd owners in California.

Under these circumstances, the Administrator of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Executive Order 12372

This program/activity is listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance under No. 10.025 and is subject to Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. (See 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V.)

Executive Order 12988

This rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform. This rule: (1) Preempts all State and local laws and regulations that are inconsistent with this rule; (2) has no retroactive effect; and (3) does not require administrative proceedings before parties may file suit in court challenging this rule.

Paperwork Reduction Act

In accordance with section 3507(j) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.), the information collection and recordkeeping requirements included in this interim rule have been submitted for emergency approval to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). OMB has assigned control number 0579-0220 to the information collection and recordkeeping requirements.

We plan to request continuation of that approval for 3 years. Please send written comments on the 3-year approval request to the following addresses: (1) Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, OMB, Attention: Desk Officer for APHIS, Washington, DC 20503; and (2) Docket No. 03-005-1, Regulatory Analysis and Development, PPD, APHIS, Station 3C71, 4700 River Road Unit 118, Riverdale, MD 20737-1238. Please state that your comments refer to Docket No. 03-005-1 and send your comments within 60 days of publication of this rule.

This interim rule removes California from the list of accredited-free States for bovine tuberculosis and adds it to the list of modified accredited advanced States. Cattle or bison that originate in a modified accredited advanced State or zone, and are not known to be infected with or exposed to tuberculosis, may be moved interstate only if the animals meet certain conditions with regards to transport, identification, and accreditation. These conditions are detailed in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION portion of this document as well as in § 77.10 of the regulations. As previously noted however, these requirements are suspended until September 30, 2003. We are soliciting comments from the public (as well as affected agencies) concerning our information collection and recordkeeping requirements. These comments will help us:

(1) Evaluate whether the information collection is necessary for the proper performance of our agency's functions, including whether the information will have practical utility;

(2) Evaluate the accuracy of our estimate of the burden of the information collection, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(3) Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and

(4) Minimize the burden of the information collection on those who are to respond (such as through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology; e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses).

Estimate of burden: Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 0.016 hours per response.

Respondents: Certain herd owners in California.

Estimated annual number of respondents: 600.

Estimated annual number of responses per respondent: 100.

Estimated annual number of responses: 60,000.

Estimated total annual burden on respondents: 960 hours. (Due to averaging, the total annual burden hours may not equal the product of the annual number of responses multiplied by the reporting burden per response.)

Copies of this information collection can be obtained from Mrs. Celeste Sickles, APHIS' Information Collection Coordinator, at (301) 734-7477.

Government Paperwork Elimination Act Compliance

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service is committed to compliance with the Government Paperwork Elimination Act (GPEA), which requires Government agencies in general to provide the public the option of submitting information or transacting business electronically to the maximum extent possible. For information pertinent to GPEA compliance related to this interim rule, please contact Mrs. Celeste Sickles, APHIS' Information Collection Coordinator, at (301) 734-7477.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Aviation Administration

14 CFR Part 39

[Docket No. 2003-NM-42-AD; Amendment 39-13127; AD 2003-08-14]

RIN 2120-AA64

Airworthiness Directives; McDonnell Douglas Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, MD-10-30F, MD-11, and MD-11F Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to certain McDonnell Douglas airplane models. This action requires revising the airplane flight manual (AFM) to include new operating limitations, installing placards to advise the flightcrew of certain minimum fuel levels to be maintained in the fuel tanks, and deactivating certain auxiliary fuel tanks. For fuel tanks that are not deactivated, this AD also requires replacement of certain existing fuel boost/transfer pumps with pumps inspected—and modified, if necessary—per certain procedures.

Accomplishment of this replacement will allow operators to remove the operating limitations from the AFM, remove the placards, and reactivate the auxiliary fuel tanks (if deactivated). This action is necessary to prevent electrical arcing in the connector for a fuel boost/transfer pump, which could result in a fire or explosion of a fuel tank. This action is intended to address the identified unsafe condition.

DATES: Effective May 12, 2003.

The incorporation by reference of certain publications listed in the regulations is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of May 12, 2003.

Comments for inclusion in the Rules Docket must be received on or before June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Submit comments in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Transport Airplane Directorate, ANM-114, Attention: Rules Docket No. 2003-NM-42-AD, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington 98055-4056. Comments may be inspected at this location between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays. Comments may be submitted via fax to (425) 227-1232. Comments may also be sent via the Internet using the following address: 9-anm-iarcomment@faa.gov. Comments sent via fax or the Internet must contain "Docket No. 2003-NM-42-AD" in the subject line and need not be submitted in triplicate. Comments sent via the Internet as attached electronic files must be formatted in Microsoft Word 97 for Windows or ASCII text.

The service information referenced in this AD may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Aircraft Group, Long Beach Division, 3855 Lakewood Boulevard, Long Beach, California 90846, Attention: Data and Service Management, Dept. C1-L5A (D800-

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Philip Kush, Aerospace Engineer, Propulsion Branch, ANM-140L, FAA, Los Angeles Aircraft Certification Office, 3960 Paramount Boulevard, Lakewood, California 90712-4137; telephone (562) 627-5263; fax (562) 627-5210.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FAA has received reports indicating that chafed stator lead wires have been found on certain fuel boost/transfer pumps installed on all McDonnell Douglas Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, MD-10-30F, MD-11, and MD-11F airplanes. Investigation has revealed that this chafing is due to improper routing of the lead wires connecting the pumping unit stator to the pump connector during assembly of the pump. This improper routing could cause chafing of the lead wires, which could lead to a short circuit and electrical arcing, and result in a fire or explosion of the fuel tank.

Other Relevant Rulemaking

The FAA previously issued AD 2000-22-21, amendment 39-11969 (65 FR 69658, November 20, 2000). That AD applies to the same airplanes as this AD and requires revising the airplane flight manual (AFM) to ensure that the flightcrew is advised of appropriate procedures for disabling certain fuel pump electrical circuits following failure of a fuel pump electrical connector. For certain airplanes, that AD also requires revising the AFM to prohibit resetting of tripped fuel pump circuit breakers. Those actions are intended to prevent continued arcing following a short circuit of a fuel pump electrical connector, which could damage the conduit that protects the power lead wire inside the fuel tank and result in the creation of a potential ignition source in the fuel tank.

We have also previously issued AD 2002-13-10, amendment 39-12798 (67 FR 45053, July 8, 2002), which applies to certain McDonnell Douglas Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, MD-10-30F, MD-11, and

MD-11F airplanes. That AD requires repetitive tests for electrical continuity and resistance; repetitive inspections to detect discrepancies of the fuel boost/transfer pump connectors; and corrective actions, if necessary. (Accomplishment of these actions necessitates removal of the fuel boost/transfer pumps from the airplane.) Those actions are intended to prevent arcing of connectors in the fuel boost/transfer pump circuit, which could result in a fire or explosion of the fuel tank. (We have also issued a separate notice of proposed rulemaking, Rules Docket No. 2002-NM-134-AD, that would require these same actions on one additional McDonnell Douglas Model DC-10-30 airplane that was omitted from the service information referred to in AD 2002-13-10.)

Explanation of Relevant Service Information

The FAA has reviewed and approved Boeing Alert Service Bulletins DC10-28A240 and MD11-28A121, both dated January 6, 2003. These service bulletins describe operating limitations relating to maintaining minimum fuel levels in the airplane's fuel tanks. These service bulletins also describe procedures for performing maintenance actions on the fuel boost/transfer pumps, installing placards to ensure that the flightcrew is informed of minimum fuel levels that must be maintained in the fuel tanks, and deactivating certain auxiliary fuel tanks.

These service bulletins also refer to a "terminating action" to be accomplished per Boeing Alert Service Bulletins DC10-28A239 or MD11-28A120, both dated December 3, 2002; as applicable. The terminating action described in these service bulletins involves removing the installed fuel boost/transfer pumps; performing a detailed inspection of the pumps to determine whether certain lead wires are routed improperly; modifying the fuel boost/transfer pumps if the wires are routed improperly; and installing inspected and, if necessary, modified pumps on the airplane. Accomplishing these actions eliminates the need for the operating limitations, placards, and deactivation of the fuel tanks described previously. Boeing Alert Service Bulletins DC10-28A239 and MD11-28A120 refer to Crane Hydro-Aire Service Bulletin 60-847-28-2, dated December 2, 2002, as the appropriate source of service information for accomplishing the inspection—and modification, if necessary—of the fuel boost/transfer pumps.

Explanation of the Requirements of the Rule

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other airplanes of the same type design, this AD is being issued to prevent electrical arcing in the connector for the fuel boost/transfer pump, which could result in a fire or explosion of the fuel tank. This AD requires accomplishment of the actions specified in the applicable service bulletins described previously, except as discussed below.

Differences Between Service Bulletins and This AD

While Boeing Alert Service Bulletins DC10-28A240 and MD11-28A121 contain procedures (under the heading "Fuel Tank Maintenance") for defueling the airplane prior to deactivating the fuel boost/transfer pumps, this AD does not require these procedures to be followed. We have determined that operators' standard procedures for such defueling will provide an acceptable level of safety.

Determination of Rule's Effective Date

Since a situation exists that requires the immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and opportunity for prior public comment hereon are impracticable, and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

Comments Invited

Although this action is in the form of a final rule that involves requirements affecting flight safety and, thus, was not preceded by notice and an opportunity for public comment, comments are invited on this rule. Interested persons are invited to comment on this rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications shall identify the Rules Docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the address specified under the caption ADDRESSES. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments will be considered, and this rule may be amended in light of the comments received. Factual information that supports the commenter's ideas and suggestions is extremely helpful in evaluating the effectiveness of the AD action and determining whether additional rulemaking action would be needed.

Submit comments using the following format:

- Organize comments issue-by-issue. For example, discuss a request to change the compliance time and a request to change the service bulletin reference as two separate issues.

- For each issue, state what specific change to the AD is being requested.
- Include justification (e.g., reasons or data) for each request.

Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the rule that might suggest a need to modify the rule. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report that summarizes each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this AD will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments submitted in response to this rule must submit a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket Number 2003-NM-42-AD." The postcard will be date stamped and returned to the commenter.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations adopted herein will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this final rule does not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft, and that it is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866. It has been determined further that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979). If it is determined that this emergency regulation otherwise would be significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures, a final regulatory evaluation will be prepared and placed in the Rules Docket. A copy of it, if filed, may be obtained from the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

Adoption of the Amendment

■ Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR part 39) as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

■ 1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

■ 2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Amendment 39-13127. Docket 2003-NM-42-AD.

Applicability: All Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, and MD-10-30F, MD-11 and MD-11F airplanes; certificated in any category.

Note 1: This AD applies to each airplane identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For airplanes that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (e) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To prevent electrical arcing in the connector for a fuel boost/transfer pump, which could result in a fire or explosion of a fuel tank, accomplish the following:

Compliance Time for Initial Action

(a) Do the actions specified in paragraph (a)(1) or (a)(2) of this AD.

Alternative 1: Airplane Flight Manual Revision, Placard Installation, and Fuel Tank Deactivation.

(1) Within 45 days after the effective date of this AD, do the actions specified in paragraphs (a)(1)(i), (a)(1)(ii), and (a)(1)(iii) of this AD, per the Accomplishment Instructions of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240, dated January 6, 2003 (for Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, and MD-10-30F airplanes); or Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121, dated January 6, 2003 (for Model MD-11 and MD-11F airplanes); as applicable.

(i) Revise the Operating Limitations section of the airplane flight manual (AFM) to include the applicable recommended operating limitations specified in section 3.B.1.a., 3.B.1.b., 3.B.1.c., 3.B.1.d. or 3.B.1.e. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240; or section 3.B.1.a. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121; as applicable.

(ii) Install placards to advise the flightcrew of certain minimum fuel levels that must be maintained in certain fuel tanks, as specified in section 3.B.1.f. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240 or section 3.B.1.b. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121, as applicable.

(iii) Deactivate the upper auxiliary fuel tank, lower auxiliary fuel tank, aft auxiliary fuel tank, tail (horizontal stabilizer) fuel tank, and ER forward auxiliary tank, as applicable, as specified in section 3.B.2. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240 or MD11-28A121, as applicable.

Alternative 2: Replacement of Pumps.

(2) Within 45 days after the effective date of this AD, do paragraph (c) of this AD.

Fuel Tank Deactivation: Resetting Circuit Breakers.

(b) Circuit breakers that are opened to deactivate a fuel tank per this AD may be reset without accomplishing the continuity and resistance test of the fuel pump connector required by AD 2002-13-10, amendment 39-12798, provided that there has been no reported problem with the fuel boost/transfer pump associated with the fuel tank.

Replacement of Pumps

(c) For any fuel tank that is not deactivated per section 3.B.2. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240 or Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121, both dated January 6, 2003, as applicable, as specified in paragraph (a)(1)(iii) of this AD: Within 90 days after the effective date of this AD, except as provided by paragraph (a)(2) of this AD, replace any fuel boost/transfer pump having Hydro-Aire part number 60-847-1A, 60-847-2, or 60-847-3, with a serviceable fuel boost/transfer pump that has been inspected and modified per Crane Hydro-Aire Service Bulletin 60-847-28-2, dated December 2, 2002. Do this replacement per Boeing Alert Service Bulletins DC10-28A239, dated December 3, 2002 (for Model DC-10-10, DC-10-10F, DC-10-15, DC-10-30, DC-10-30F, DC-10-30F (KC10A and KDC-10), DC-10-40, DC-10-40F, MD-10-10F, and MD-10-30F airplanes); or MD11-28A120, dated December 3, 2002 (for Model MD-11 and MD-11F airplanes); as applicable. Once the replacement has been accomplished, or once it has been determined that the fuel boost/transfer pump does not have an affected Hydro-Aire part number, as identified above, the AFM revisions and placards specified in paragraph (a)(1)(i) and (a)(1)(ii) of this AD may be removed, and the fuel tanks that were deactivated as specified in paragraph (a)(1)(iii) of this AD may be reactivated.

Parts Installation and Fuel Tank Reactivation

(d)(1) As of the effective date of this AD, no person may install a fuel boost/transfer pump having Hydro-Aire part number 60-847-1A, 60-847-2, or 60-847-3, unless it has been inspected and modified, as applicable, per Crane Hydro-Aire Service Bulletin 60-847-28-2, dated December 2, 2002.

(2) As of the effective date of this AD, no person may reactivate a fuel tank deactivated per section 3.B.2. of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240 or Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121, both dated January 6, 2003, as applicable, as specified in paragraph (a)(1)(iii) of this AD, unless paragraph (c) of this AD has been accomplished on the fuel boost/transfer pump for that tank.

Note 2: AD 2002-13-10, amendment 39-12798, requires repetitive tests for electrical continuity and resistance, and repetitive inspections to detect discrepancies of the fuel boost/transfer pump connectors, and any applicable corrective actions.

Accomplishment of these actions necessitates removal of the fuel boost/transfer pumps from the airplane. After the effective date of this AD, whenever the fuel boost/transfer pumps are removed from the airplane for accomplishment of the tests and inspections required by AD 2002-23-10, they must be inspected and found to have properly routed lead wires before reinstallation, as specified in paragraph (c) of this AD.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(e) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, Los Angeles Aircraft Certification Office (ACO), FAA. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance or Operations Inspector, as applicable, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, Los Angeles ACO.

Note 3: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Los Angeles ACO.

Special Flight Permits

(f) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with sections 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the airplane to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

Incorporation by Reference

(g) The actions shall be done in accordance with Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A239, dated December 3, 2002, and Boeing Alert Service Bulletin DC10-28A240, dated January 6, 2003; or Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A120, dated December 3, 2002, and Boeing Alert Service Bulletin MD11-28A121, dated January 6, 2003; as applicable. This incorporation by reference was approved by the Director of the Federal Register in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51. Copies may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Aircraft Group, Long Beach Division, 3855 Lakewood Boulevard, Long Beach, California 90846, Attention: Data and Service Management, Dept. C1-L5A (D800-0024). Capitol Street, NW., suite 700, Washington, DC.

Effective Date

(h) This amendment becomes effective on May 12, 2003.

Issued in Renton, Washington, on April 17, 2003.

Ali Bahrami,

Acting Manager, Transport Airplane Directorate, Aircraft Certification Service.

Airworthiness Directives; McDonnell Douglas Model MD-90-30 Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain McDonnell Douglas Model MD-90-30 airplanes, that requires a one-time inspection for chafing of the RDB wire bundle against the No. 2 automatic direction finder (ADF) receiver located at the aft end of the forward right radio rack; repair or replacement, if necessary; and modification of the wire bundle. The actions specified by this AD are intended to prevent chafing of the RDB wire bundle against the No. 2 ADF receiver, which could result in electrical arcing and consequent smoke and/or fire in the cockpit. This action is intended to address the identified unsafe condition.

DATES: Effective May 30, 2003.

The incorporation by reference of certain publications listed in the regulations is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of May 30, 2003.

ADDRESSES: The service information referenced in this AD may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Aircraft Group, Long Beach Division, 3855 Lakewood Boulevard, Long Beach, California 90846, Attention: Data and Service Management, Dept. C1-L5A (D800-0024). This information may be examined at the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Transport Airplane Directorate, Rules Docket, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington; or at the FAA, Los Angeles Aircraft Certification Office, 3960 Paramount Boulevard, Lakewood, California; or at the Office of the Federal Register, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Suite 700, Washington, DC.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: George Mabuni, Aerospace Engineer, Systems and Equipment Branch, ANM-130L, FAA, Los Angeles Aircraft Certification Office, 3960 Paramount Boulevard, Lakewood, California 90712-4137; telephone (562) 627-5341; fax (562) 627-5210.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR part 39) to include an airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to certain McDonnell Douglas MD-90-30 airplanes was published in the Federal Register on September 23, 2002 (67 FR 59481). That action proposed to require a one-time inspection for chafing of the RDB wire bundle against the automatic direction finder (ADF) receiver located at the aft end of the forward right radio rack; repair or replacement, if necessary; and modification of the wire bundle.

Comment

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. Due consideration has been given to the single comment received.

The commenter states that the unsafe condition corrected by the proposed AD only exists when the No. 2 ADF receiver is installed on the airplane, and asks that explicit relief be included in the proposed AD to preclude action if the operator does not use the No. 2 ADF receiver. The commenter notes that without the No. 2 ADF receiver installed, there is no unsafe condition.

The FAA agrees with the commenter, and notes that the referenced service bulletin specified that the chafing condition could exist only on airplanes equipped with the No. 2 ADF receiver. We have changed the applicability in this final rule to add that it is only applicable to airplanes equipped with the No. 2 ADF receiver. In addition, we have changed the term, "ADF receiver" to "No. 2 ADF receiver" throughout the final rule.

Explanation of Editorial Change

We have changed the service bulletin citation throughout this final rule to exclude the Evaluation Form. The form is intended to be completed by operators and submitted to the manufacturer to provide input on the quality of the service bulletin; however, this AD does not include such a requirement.

Conclusion

After careful review of the available data, including the comment and change noted above, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule with the changes previously described. The FAA has determined that these changes will neither increase the economic burden on any operator nor increase the scope of the AD.

Cost Impact

There are approximately 96 airplanes of the affected design in the worldwide fleet. The FAA estimates that 21 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD.

It will take approximately 1 work hour per airplane to accomplish the inspection, at an average labor rate of $60 per work hour. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the inspection required by this AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $1,260, or $60 per airplane.

It will take approximately 4 work hours per airplane to accomplish the modification of the RDB wire bundle, at an average labor rate of $60 per work hour. Parts cost is minimal. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the modification required by this AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $5,040, or $240 per airplane.

Should an operator be required to accomplish the repair or replacement of the wire bundle, it will take approximately 2 work hours per airplane to accomplish the actions, at an average labor rate of $60 per work hour. Parts cost is minimal. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the repair or replacement required by this AD is estimated to be $120 per airplane.

The cost impact figures discussed above are based on assumptions that no operator has yet accomplished any of the requirements of this AD action, and that no operator would accomplish those actions in the future if this AD were not adopted. The cost impact figures discussed in AD rulemaking actions represent only the time necessary to perform the specific actions actually required by the AD. These figures typically do not include incidental costs, such as the time required to gain access and close up, planning time, or time necessitated by other administrative actions.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations adopted herein will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this final rule does not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

For the reasons discussed above, I certify that this action (1) is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979); and (3) will not have a significant economic impact, positive or negative, on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act. A final evaluation has been prepared for this action and it is contained in the Rules Docket. A copy of it may be obtained from the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

Adoption of the Amendment

■ Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR part 39) as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

■ 1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

2003-08-16 McDonnell Douglas:

Amendment 39-13129. Docket 2001-NM-173-AD.

Applicability: Model MD-90-30 airplanes equipped with a No. 2 automatic direction finder (ADF) receiver, and listed in McDonnell Douglas Alert Service Bulletin MD90-24A051, Revision 02, dated August 14, 2002; certificated in any category.

Note 1: This AD applies to each airplane identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For airplanes that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (c) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To prevent chafing of the RDB wire bundle against the No. 2 ADF receiver, which could result in electrical arcing and consequent smoke and/or fire in the cockpit, accomplish the following:

Inspection/Repair or Replacement/Modification

(a) Within 6 months after the effective date of this AD, do the requirements specified in paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(2) of this AD, per McDonnell Douglas Alert Service Bulletin MD90-24A051, Revision 02, excluding Evaluation Form, dated August 14, 2002.

(1) Do a one-time general visual inspection for chafing of the RDB wire bundle against the No. 2 ADF receiver located at the aft end of the forward right radio rack. If any chafing is found, before further flight, repair or replace the affected wire bundle.

Note 2: For the purposes of this AD, a general visual inspection is defined as: "A visual examination of an interior or exterior area, installation, or assembly to detect obvious damage, failure, or irregularity. This level of inspection is made from within touching distance unless otherwise specified. A mirror may be necessary to enhance visual access to all exposed surfaces in the inspection area. This level of inspection is made under normally available lighting conditions such as daylight, hangar lighting, flashlight, or droplight and may require removal or opening of access panels or doors. Stands, ladders, or platforms may be required to gain proximity to the area being checked."

(2) Modify the RDB wire bundle (including installation of three new tie mounts using new screws and clip nuts, removal of the existing tie straps and splitting the wire bundle into two separate bundles, installation of six new straps, and verification of adequate clearance between the wire bundle and the ADF receiver), and do the return-to-service test.

(b) Accomplishment of the actions specified in paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(2) of this AD, per McDonnell Douglas Alert Service Bulletin MD90-24A051, dated October 28, 1999; or Revision 01, dated March 26, 2001; before the effective date of this AD, is considered acceptable for compliance with the requirements of this AD.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(c) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, Los Angeles Aircraft Certification Office (ACO), FAA. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, Los Angeles ACO.

Note 3: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Los Angeles ACO.

Special Flight Permits

(d) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with sections 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the airplane to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

Incorporation by Reference

(e) The actions shall be done in accordance with McDonnell Douglas Alert Service Bulletin MD90-24A051, Revision 02, excluding Evaluation Form, dated August 14, 2002. This incorporation by reference was approved by the Director of the Federal Register in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51. Copies may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Aircraft Group, Long Beach Division, 3855 Lakewood Boulevard, Long Beach, California 90846, Attention: Data and Service Management, Dept. C1-L5A (D800-0024). Effective Date

(f) This amendment becomes effective on May 30, 2003.

Issued in Renton, Washington, on April 18, 2003.

Airworthiness Directives; Boeing Model 737-200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to certain Boeing Model 737-200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 series airplanes. This action requires a one-time mid-frequency eddy current (MFEC), a low-frequency eddy current (LFEC), and a detailed inspection for damage or cracking of stringer S-4L and S-4R lap joints and stringer clips between body station (BS) 540 and BS 727, and follow-on inspections and repair if necessary. This action is necessary to find and fix cracking of the fuselage lap joints, which could result in sudden decompression of the airplane.

DATES: Effective May 12, 2003.

The incorporation by reference of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, as listed in the regulations, is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of May 12, 2003.

The incorporation by reference of Boeing Service Bulletin 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, as listed in the regulations, was approved previously by the Director of the Federal Register as of May 17, 2002 (67 FR 17917, April 12, 2002).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Related AD

On April 2, 2002, the FAA issued AD 2002-07-08, amendment 39-12702 (67 FR 17917, April 12, 2002), applicable to certain Boeing Model 737 series airplanes. That AD specifies Boeing Service Bulletin (SB) 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, as an appropriate source of service information for that AD. That AD requires repetitive inspections to find cracking of the lower skin at the lower row of fasteners in the lap joints of the fuselage, and repair of any cracking found. That AD also requires modification of the fuselage lap joints at certain locations, which constitutes terminating action for certain repetitive inspections of the modified areas. Additionally, that AD requires repetitive inspections and requires replacement of a certain preventive modification with an improved modification. That AD was prompted by our determination that, in light of crack findings, certain modifications of the fuselage lap joints do not provide an adequate level of safety. The actions specified by that AD are intended to find and fix cracking of the fuselage lap joints, which could result in sudden decompression of the airplane.

Since the Issuance of That AD

We have received a report indicating that, during a walk-around inspection on a Model 737-200 series airplane with 60,333 total flight cycles, a 23-inch-long crack was found in the lower row of the stringer S-4L lap joint between body station (BS) 616 and BS 639. The crack was noticed above the over-wing exit because the lower skin was pushed outward approximately 1 inch with the crack ends turning downward at the tear straps. The flight crew did not report any pressurization problems, and the passengers and cabin crew did not report any abnormal noise in that area. Further external and internal non-destructive testing methods for cracking of the lap joint revealed additional cracking. The possible extent of cracking both forward and aft of the 23-inch-long cracked section is a concern. Cracks were found in between the tear straps and in the skin locations common to the tear straps. The intact tear straps were able to turn the cracks as they were designed to do; however, due to the condition of the skin at the tear straps forward and aft of the 23-inch crack area, it is likely that similar crack link-up just forward in an area that had a higher percentage of cracked fastener holes could have resulted in an uncontained decompression. Of particular concern is the total number and length of cracks found at that particular lap joint. The damage found apparently exceeds all prior in-service crack findings and also exceeds the manufacturer's crack growth predictions based on test and analysis for an airplane with 60,000 total flight cycles.

Additionally, we received a report of significant cracking on stringer S-4R of the lap joint between BS 600 and BS 727 on a Model 737-300 series airplane having 52,400 total flight cycles. Although the individual cracks had not linked up, it was clear that, within a limited number of flights, the cracking could have linked up with a length of over 10 inches. Those cracks were detected by performing a low-frequency eddy current (LFEC) and a medium-frequency eddy current (MFEC) inspection. Such cracking, if not corrected, could result in sudden decompression of the airplane.

Explanation of Relevant Service Information

We have reviewed and approved Boeing Alert Service Bulletin (ASB) 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002. The ASB describes procedures for performing an internal detailed inspection, and MFEC and LFEC inspections for damage and cracking of the stringer S-4L and S-4R lap joints and stringer clips between BS 540 and BS 727. If no damage or cracking is found, the ASB advises operators to continue the lap joint repetitive inspections as specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001 (referenced in AD 2002-07-08 as an appropriate source of service information for that AD). Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 also describes procedures for performing an external sliding probe inspection or internal MFEC and LFEC inspections for cracking that is defined as "significant" in the ASB. Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 also describes an optional open hole non-destructive testing inspection that may be used in addition to the MFEC, LFEC, and detailed inspections to confirm crack indications. Additionally, Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 specifies that the repair of any cracked lap joints be done per Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001. Also, Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 describes procedures for replacing any broken or damaged stringer clips. Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 also requests that operators report certain information resulting from the inspection findings, such as the type of inspection method used and the inspection results, a description of any damage or cracking found, the airplane serial number, and the number of current flight cycles and flight hours on the airplane.

Explanation of the Requirements of the Rule

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other airplanes of the same type design, this AD is being issued to find and fix cracking of the fuselage lap joints, which could result in sudden decompression of the airplane. This AD requires accomplishment of the actions specified in the service bulletins described previously, except as discussed below.

Differences Between ASB and This AD

If cracking or damage is found per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, that ASB references Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, for procedures to repair any cracking or damage that may be found. Operators should note that this AD also will require repair of cracking or damage that is within the limits specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, per that service bulletin. However, this AD requires that, for any damage or cracking that is found to be outside the limits specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, repair must be accomplished per a method approved by the FAA, or per data meeting the type certification basis of the airplane approved by a Boeing Company Designated Engineering Representative who has been authorized by the FAA to make such findings.

In addition, Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, specifies that, if no cracking or damage is found, operators should repeat the lap joint inspections specified in Boeing ASB 737-53A1177. This AD, however, requires only the one-time inspections and, if no damage or cracking is found, operators need only to accomplish the reporting requirements of this AD. (Detailed inspections required by this AD do not replace, but are in addition to the repetitive inspections required by AD 2002-07-08, amendment 39-12702.)

Operators also should note that Boeing ASB 737-53A1255 does not recommend the internal mid-frequency MFEC, LFEC, or detailed inspections described in the ASB for airplanes with less than 45,000 total flight cycles. However, this AD requires those inspections (and repair if necessary) on airplanes prior to the accumulation of 45,000 total flight cycles or within 90 days after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs later. We consider that the identified unsafe condition must be addressed for all airplanes when 45,000 total flight cycles have been accumulated. Requiring a specific compliance time for those airplanes addresses that issue.

Interim Action

This is considered to be interim action. The inspection reports that are required by this AD will enable the manufacturer to obtain better insight into the nature, cause, and extent of the cracking, and eventually to develop final action to address the unsafe condition. Once final action has been identified, we may consider further rulemaking.

Determination of Rule's Effective Date

Since a situation exists that requires the immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and opportunity for prior public comment hereon are impracticable, and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

Comments Invited

Although this action is in the form of a final rule that involves requirements affecting flight safety and, thus, was not preceded by notice and an opportunity for public comment, comments are invited on this rule. Interested persons are invited to comment on this rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications shall identify the Rules Docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the address specified under the caption ADDRESSES. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments will be considered, and this rule may be amended in light of the comments received. Factual information that supports the commenter's ideas and suggestions is extremely helpful in evaluating the effectiveness of the AD action and determining whether additional rulemaking action would be needed.

Submit comments using the following format:

- Organize comments issue-by-issue. For example, discuss a request to change the compliance time and a request to change the service bulletin reference as two separate issues.
- For each issue, state what specific change to the AD is being requested.
- Include justification (e.g., reasons or data) for each request.

Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the rule that might suggest a need to modify the rule. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report that summarizes each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this AD will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments submitted in response to this rule must submit a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket Number 2002-NM-329-AD." The postcard will be date stamped and returned to the commenter.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations adopted herein will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this final rule does not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft, and that it is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866. It has been determined further that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979). If it is determined that this emergency regulation otherwise would be significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures, a final regulatory evaluation will be prepared and placed in the Rules Docket. A copy of it, if filed, may be obtained from the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

Adoption of the Amendment

■ Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR part 39) as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

■ 1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

■ 2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

2003-08-15 Boeing: Amendment 39-13128. Docket 2002-NM-329-AD.

Applicability: Model 737-200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 series airplanes, having line numbers 292 through 2552 inclusive, and on which the modification specified in Boeing Service Bulletin (SB) 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, has not been accomplished; certificated in any category.

Note 1: This AD applies to each airplane identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been otherwise modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For airplanes that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (h) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To find and fix cracking of the fuselage lap joints, which could result in sudden decompression of the airplane, accomplish the following:

Note 2: Detailed inspections required by this AD do not replace, but are in addition to the repetitive inspections required by AD 2002-07-08, amendment 39-12702.

One-Time Inspections

(a) With the exception of any area of any lap joints that are specified in this paragraph that have previously been repaired or modified per Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 4, dated September 2, 1999; Revision 5, dated February 15, 2001; and Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001: Perform an internal mid-frequency eddy current (MFEC), a low-frequency eddy current (LFEC), and a detailed inspection for damage or cracking on stringers S-4L and S-4R lap joints between body station (BS) 540 and BS 727; and perform a detailed inspection for damage of the stringer clips at all frame locations at stringers S-4L and S-4R between BS 540 and BS 727 at the applicable time specified in paragraph (a)(1), (a)(2), or (a)(3) of this AD; per the Accomplishment Instructions of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin (ASB) 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002. If no damage or cracking is found, no further action is required by this paragraph.

Note 3: For the purposes of this AD, a detailed inspection is defined as: "An intensive visual examination of a specific structural area, system, installation, or assembly to detect damage, failure, or irregularity. Available lighting is normally supplemented with a direct source of good lighting at intensity deemed appropriate by the inspector. Inspection aids such as mirror, magnifying lenses, etc., may be used. Surface cleaning and elaborate access procedures may be required."

(1) For airplanes that have accumulated less than 45,000 total flight cycles as of the effective date of this AD: Perform the inspections prior to the accumulation of 45,000 total flight cycles or within 90 days after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs later.

(2) For airplanes that have accumulated 45,000 total flight cycles but not more than 49,999 total flight cycles as of the effective date of this AD: Perform the inspections within 90 days after the effective date of this AD.

(3) For airplanes that have accumulated 50,000 total flight cycles or more as of the effective date of this AD: Perform the inspections within 45 days after the effective date of this AD.

(b) The optional accomplishment of an open-hole non-destructive testing (NDT) inspection per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, is acceptable as a method of verification of any cracking of the fastener holes found during the inspections required by paragraph (a) of this AD.

(c) If any damage or cracking is found during the inspections required by paragraph (a), (b), (d), or (e) of this AD that is not "significant," as defined in Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, repair per paragraph (c)(1) or (c)(2) of this AD, as applicable.

(1) For cracking that is within the limits specified by Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001: Before further flight, repair per the Accomplishment Instructions of Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001; and before further flight, replace any damaged stringer clips with a new part, per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002.

(2) For any cracking that exceeds the limits specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001: Before further flight, repair per a method approved by the Manager, Seattle Aircraft Certification Office (ACO), FAA; or per data meeting the type certification basis of the airplane approved by a Boeing Company Designated Engineering Representative (DER) who has been authorized by the Manager, Seattle ACO, to make such findings. For a repair method to be approved, the approval must specifically reference this AD.

(d) If any damage or cracking is found during the inspections required by paragraphs (a), (b), (d), or (e) of this AD that is "significant," as defined in Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002: Before further flight, accomplish the actions specified by paragraph (d)(1) or (d)(2) of this AD, per the Accomplishment Instructions of the ASB.

(1) With the exception of BS 540 through 727 inclusive: Perform an external sliding probe inspection for damage or cracking, per Figure 2 of Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, for each model (Model 737-200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 series airplanes) at the applicable locations specified in the Compliance Section of Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001.

(2) With the exception of BS 540 through 727 inclusive: Perform internal MFEC, LFEC, and detailed inspections for damage or cracking, per Figure 1 of Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, for each model (Model 737-200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 series airplanes) at the applicable locations specified in the Compliance Section of Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001.

(e) If any "significant" cracking, as defined in Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, is found in any lap joint during the external inspection required by paragraph (d) of this AD: Before further flight, accomplish the actions required by paragraphs (e)(1) and (e)(2) of this AD.

(1) Perform internal MFEC, LFEC, and detailed inspections for cracking of the entire affected section of the lap joint, specified in the Compliance Section and Inspection Zone Figures of Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001; per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002.

(2) Perform a detailed inspection for damage of the stringer clips and replace any damaged stringer clip with a new part, per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002.

(f) If any cracking, "significant" (as defined in Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002) or otherwise, is found during the inspections required by paragraphs (a), (b), (d), or (e) of this AD: Before further flight, accomplish the actions specified by paragraph (f)(1) or (f)(2) of this AD, as applicable.

(1) For cracking that is within the limits specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001: Repair per the Accomplishment Instructions of that ASB; and replace any damaged stringer clips with a new part per Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002.

(2) For any cracking that exceeds the limits specified in Boeing SB 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, repair per a method approved by the Manager, Seattle ACO; or per data meeting the type certification basis of the airplane approved by a Boeing Company DER who has been authorized by the Manager, Seattle ACO, to make such findings. For a repair method to be approved, the approval must specifically reference this AD.

Reporting Requirements

(g) Submit a report of inspection findings (both positive and negative) to the Boeing Commercial Airplane Group, P.O. Box 3707, Seattle, Washington 98124-2207, as specified in paragraph B.10 of the Accomplishment Instructions of Boeing ASB 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, at the applicable time specified by paragraph (g)(1) or (g)(2) of this AD. Information collection requirements contained in this AD have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.) and have been assigned OMB Control Number 2120-0056.

(1) For airplanes on which the inspection required by paragraph (a) of this AD is accomplished after the effective date of this AD: Submit the report within 10 days after performing the inspection required by paragraph (a) of this AD.

(2) For airplanes on which the inspection required by paragraph (a) of this AD has been accomplished prior to the effective date of this AD: Submit the report within 10 days after the effective date of this AD.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(h) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, ACO, FAA. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, Seattle ACO.

Note 4: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Seattle ACO.

Special Flight Permits

(i) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with sections 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the airplane to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

Incorporation by Reference

(j) Unless otherwise specified by this AD, the actions shall be done in accordance with Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002; and Boeing Service Bulletin 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001; as applicable.

(1) This incorporation by reference of Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 737-53A1255, dated October 17, 2002, is approved by the Director of the Federal Register in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51.

(2) The incorporation by reference of Boeing Service Bulletin 737-53A1177, Revision 6, dated May 31, 2001, was approved previously by the Director of the Federal Register as of May 17, 2002 (67 FR 17917, April 12, 2002).

(3) Copies may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Airplane Group, P.O. Box 3707, Seattle, Washington 98124-2207. Copies may be inspected at the FAA, Transport Airplane Directorate, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington; or at the Office of the Federal Register, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., suite 700, Washington, DC.

Effective Date

(k) This amendment becomes effective on May 12, 2003.

Issued in Renton, Washington, on April 18, 2003.

Anchorage Grounds and Security Zones; Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai, HI

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DHS.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is establishing permanent security zones in designated waters adjacent to the islands of Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai, HI. These security zones and a related amendment to regulations for anchorage grounds in Mamala Bay are necessary to protect personnel, vessels, and facilities from acts of sabotage or other subversive acts, accidents, or other causes of a similar nature during operations and will extend from the surface of the water to the ocean floor. Entries into the zones are prohibited unless authorized by the Coast Guard Captain of the Port Honolulu, HI.

DATES: This rule is effective April 19, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Comments and material received from the public, as well as documents indicated in this preamble as being available in the docket, are part of docket CGD14-03-001 and are available for inspection or copying at Coast Guard Marine Safety Office Honolulu, 433 Ala Moana Blvd., Honolulu, HI 96813 between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Lieutenant (Junior Grade) E. G. Cantwell, U.S. Coast Guard, Marine Safety Office Honolulu, Hawaii at (808) 522-8260.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Regulatory Information

On February 4, 2003, we published a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) entitled "Security Zones; Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai, HI" in the Federal Register (68 FR 5614). We received three public comments on the proposed rule. No public hearing was requested and none was held.

Under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register. Delaying the effective date of this rule would be contrary to the public interest since there is a continuing and immediate need to protect persons, vessels, and facilities in the various areas on the islands of Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai, HI. Under these circumstances, following the normal rulemaking procedures would be impracticable.

Background and Purpose

Terrorist attacks in New York City, New York and on the Pentagon Building in Arlington, Virginia, on September 11, 2001, have called for the implementation of additional measures to protect national security. National security and intelligence officials warn that future terrorist attacks against civilian targets may be anticipated. This rule is similar to a temporary rule published October 30, 2002, creating security zones in these areas until April 19, 2003 (67 FR 66049).

Discussion of Comments and Changes

The Coast Guard received three comments following the publication of the notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) in the Federal Register. The first commenter raised four issues.

The first issue focused on the requirements for recreational, commercial fishing and commercial tourism vessels to request permission to transit the various security zones. The commenter indicated that the requirement is burdensome for vessel operators that are not required to carry a VHF-FM marine radio. These vessel operators are unable to contact the Captain of the Port via radio to request permission to transit a security zone and they are unable to hear the Broadcast Notices to Mariners announcing the status of the temporary zones. In the absence of a VHF-FM radio, the vessel operators may contact the Command Center via telephone, but a long distance call to the Command Center from the Outer Islands was considered to be unreasonable.

The Coast Guard understands that all vessels are not required to carry a VHF-FM marine radio. For those vessels, operators have the option to contact the Coast Guard via telephone either locally at 541-2477 or toll free at (800) 552-6458. While the Broadcast Notice to Mariners are only transmitted over the VHF-FM marine radio, if a vessel operator calls the Coast Guard on the telephone, they will be able to find out the status of the security zones and if necessary ask permission to enter the zone. Additionally, all Broadcast Notices to Mariners may be viewed on the U.S. Coast Guard Navigation Center Web site at www.navcen.uscg.gov/lnm/d14. Due to the various options available to contact the Coast Guard, we do not believe it is an unreasonable burden to require the mariner to determine the status of the security zone before transiting the area. To provide additional options, the final rule includes the toll free number and also allows mariners to submit written requests by mail or fax.

The second issue concerns communications issues of recreational vessels complying with these regulations. The questions were raised as to how a recreational boater may obtain information about security zones, and what the penalties were for transiting a security zone without permission.

Current enforcement status information on security zones is reflected in the Broadcast Notice to Mariners, and on a website as stated in the response to comment number one. In addition, recreational boaters may contact the Command Center at VHF-FM channel 16, via the local telephone number 541-2477, or toll free at (800) 552-6458 for additional status information. Entering a security zone without the permission of the Captain of the Port is a violation of the Magnuson Act, 50 U.S.C. 191 and 33 CFR part 6. A violation of this section may result in a civil penalty of not more than $25,000 for each violation or a criminal penalty resulting in imprisonment of not more than ten years and a fine not more than $10,000. A reference to the penalty provision has been added to the final rule.

The third issue concerned possible impact on Small Entities. This comment was concerned that the small vessel operators lacking VHF-FM marine radios might be impeded in transiting security zones. Therefore, the commenter felt that this might constitute an economic impact on Small Entities.

The Coast Guard believes that the burden of requiring small vessels to contact the Captain of the Port prior to transiting the area is reasonable in relation to the security provided to the respective ports. All small vessel operators have had, and will continue to have, reasonable access to the navigable waters.

The fourth issue was a request that all the security zones be depicted on nautical charts. The commenter felt that this would improve awareness of and compliance with security zone regulations.

The Coast Guard has made arrangements for the zones to be published in both the Coast Pilot and on the applicable nautical charts once the proposed rule becomes final. The Coast Guard looks forward to working with the local harbor safety committee to increase the public awareness of these zones through various methods in addition to publication in the Coast Pilot and updated nautical charts.

The second commenter requested that commercial Tugboat and Marine Transportation Companies who provide frequent and routine delivery of freight and fuel to the Hawaiian Islands be exempt from the requirement of asking permission to enter a port where a security zone is in place. Their concern is that the burden of asking permission would tie up phone lines, distract watchstanders, and possibly delay deliveries of freight and fuel.

The Coast Guard believes that the requirement of asking permission to enter a security zone is the least restrictive means to maintain an adequate level of security and is not excessively burdensome to the commercial Tugboat and Marine Transportation Companies or to the Coast Guard to field these requests.

The third commenter stated that the distance between the furthest in-shore point of the security zone at the Tesoro and Chevron offshore moorings and the reef is too short to allow recreational traffic to safely pass.

The span of water between the furthest shoreward point of the security zone and the 3-fathom curve is approximately 200 yards. This span has an average depth of approximately 6 fathoms. The Coast Guard believes this span is adequate to allow safe passage of recreational traffic.

There are additional revisions to the final rule. The Authority list was amended to include more relevant federal statutes and to reflect the Coast Guard's transition from the Department of Transportation to the Department of Homeland Security. The definition for the term "voyage" was revised to provide a more accurate description of the term.

Regulatory Evaluation

This rule is not a "significant regulatory action" under section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review, and does not require an assessment of potential costs and benefits under section 6(a)(3) of that Order. The Office of Management and Budget has not reviewed it under that Order. It is not "significant" under the regulatory policies and procedures of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS).

The Coast Guard expects the economic impact of this rule to be so minimal that a full Regulatory Evaluation under the regulatory policies and procedures of DHS is unnecessary. This expectation is based on the fact that vessels will be able to freely transit the areas outside of any security zones. In addition, vessels can request the COTP allow their transit through the security zones.

Small Entities

Under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601–612), we have considered whether this rule would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The term “small entities” comprises small businesses, not-for-profit organizations that are independently owned and operated and are not dominant in their fields, and governmental jurisdictions with populations of less than 50,000.

The Coast Guard certifies under 5 U.S.C. 605(b) that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The Coast Guard received one comment indicating that the small vessel operators lacking VHF–FM marine radios might be impeded in transiting security zones. Therefore, the commenter felt that this might constitute an economic impact on Small Entities.

The Coast Guard believes that the burden of requiring small vessels to contact the Captain of the Port prior to transiting the area is reasonable in relation to the security provided to the respective ports. All small vessel operators have had, and will continue to have, reasonable access to the navigable waters.

Assistance for Small Entities

Small businesses may send comments on the actions of Federal employees who enforce, or otherwise determine compliance with, Federal regulations to the Small Business and Agriculture Regulatory Enforcement Ombudsman and the Regional Small Business Regulatory Fairness Boards. The Ombudsman evaluates these actions annually and rates each agency’s responsiveness to small business. If you wish to comment on actions by employees of the Coast Guard, call 1–888–REG–FAIR (1–888–734–3247).

This rule calls for no new collection of information under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520).

Federalism

A rule has implications for federalism under Executive Order 13132, Federalism, if it has a substantial direct effect on State or local governments and would either preempt State law or impose a substantial direct cost of compliance on them. We have analyzed this rule under that Order and have determined that it does not have implications for federalism.

Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

The Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (2 U.S.C. 1531–1538) requires Federal agencies to assess the effects of their discretionary regulatory actions. In particular, the Act addresses actions that may result in the expenditure by a State, local, or tribal government, in the aggregate, or by the private sector of $100,000,000 or more in any one year. Though this rule will not result in such expenditure, we do discuss the effects of this rule elsewhere in this preamble.

Taking of Private Property

This rule will not effect a taking of private property or otherwise have taking implications under Executive Order 12630, Governmental Actions and Interference with Constitutionally Protected Property Rights.

Civil Justice Reform

This rule meets applicable standards in sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform, to minimize litigation, eliminate ambiguity, and reduce burden.

Protection of Children

We have analyzed this rule under Executive Order 13045, Protection of Children from Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks. This rule is not an economically significant rule and does not create an environmental risk to health or risk to safety that may disproportionately affect children.

Indian Tribal Governments

This rule does not have tribal implications under Executive Order 13175, Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments, because it does not have a substantial direct effect on one or more Indian tribes, on the relationship between the Federal government and Indian tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal government and Indian tribes.

Energy Effects

We have analyzed this rule under Executive Order 13211, Actions Concerning Regulations That Significantly Affect Energy Supply, Distribution, or Use. We have determined that it is not a “significant energy action” under that order because it is not a “significant regulatory action” under Executive Order 12866 and is not likely to have a significant adverse effect on the supply, distribution, or use of energy. The Administrator of the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs has not designated it as a significant energy action. Therefore, it does not require a Statement of Energy Effects under Executive Order 13211.

Environment

We have analyzed this rule under Commandant Instruction M16475.ID, which guides the Coast Guard in complying with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA)(42 U.S.C. 4321–4370f), and have concluded that there are no factors in this case that would limit the use of a categorical exclusion under section 2.B.2 of the Instruction. Therefore, this rule is categorically excluded, under figure 2–1, paragraph (34)(g), of the Instruction, from further environmental documentation. A final “Environmental Analysis Check List” and a final “Categorical Exclusion Determination” are available in the docket where indicated under ADDRESSES.

■ 2. In § 110.235 add a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 110.235 Pacific Ocean (Mamala Bay), Honolulu Harbor, Hawaii (Datums: NAD 83).
* * * * *

(c) Before entering into the anchorage grounds in this section you must first obtain permission from the Captain of the Port Honolulu.

PART 165—REGULATED NAVIGATION AREAS AND LIMITED ACCESS AREAS

■ 3. The authority citation for part 165 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 33 U.S.C. 1221 through 1236; 50 U.S.C. 191; 33 CFR 1.05–1(g), 6.04–1, 6.04–6, and 160.5; Department of Homeland Security Delegation No. 0170.

■ 4. A new § 165.1407 is added to read as follows:

§ 165.1407 Security Zones; Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai, HI.

(a) Location. The following areas, from the surface of the water to the ocean floor, are security zones:

(1) All waters of Honolulu Harbor and entrance channel, Keehi Lagoon, and General Anchorages A, B, C, and D as defined in 33 CFR 110.235 that are shoreward of the following coordinates: The shoreline at 21°17.68' N, 157°52.0' W; thence due south to 21°16.0' N, 157°52.0' W; thence due west to 21°16.0' N, 157°55.58' W; thence due north to Honolulu International Airport Reef Runway at 21°18.25' N, 157°55.58' W.

(2) The waters around the Tesoro Single Point and the Chevron Conventional Buoy Moorings beginning at 21°16.43' N, 158°6.03' W; thence northeast to 21°17.35' N, 158°3.95' W; thence southeast to 21°16.47' N, 158°3.5' W; thence southwest to 21°15.53' N, 158°5.56' W; thence north to the beginning point.

(3) The Kahului Harbor and Entrance Channel, Maui, HI consisting of all waters shoreward of the COLREGS DEMARCATION line. (See 33 CFR 80.1460).

(4) All waters within the Nawiliwili Harbor, Kauai, HI shoreward of the COLREGS DEMARCATION line (See 33 CFR 80.1450).

(5) All waters of Port Allen Harbor, Kauai, HI shoreward of the COLREGS DEMARCATION line (See 33 CFR 80.1440).

(6) The waters within a 100-yard radius centered on each cruise ship in Hilo Harbor, Hawaii, HI and Entrance Channel shoreward of the COLREGS DEMARCATION (See 33 CFR 80.1480). This is a moving security zone when the cruise ship is in transit and becomes a fixed zone when the cruise ship is anchored or moored.

(7) The waters extending out 500 yards in all directions from cruise ships anchored or position keeping within 3 miles of:

(i) Lahaina Harbor, Maui, HI, between Makila Point and Puunoa Point.

(ii) Kailua-Kona Harbor, Hawaii, HI, between Keahulolu Point and Puapuaa Point.

(8) All waters contained within the Barbers Point Harbor, Oahu, HI, enclosed by a line drawn between Harbor Entrance Channel Light 6 and the jetty point day beacon at 21° 19.5' N, 158°07.3' W.

(b) Designated Representative: A designated representative of the Captain of the Port is any Coast Guard commissioned officer, warrant or petty officer that has been authorized by the Captain of the Port Honolulu to act on his behalf.

(c) Cruise ship: For the purposes of this section, the term “cruise ship” is defined as a passenger vessel over 100 gross tons, carrying more than 12 passengers for hire, making a voyage lasting more than 24 hours, any part of which is on the high seas, and for which passengers are embarked or disembarked in the United States or its territories. A “voyage” in this section means the cruise ship’s entire course of travel, from the first port at which the cruise ship embarks passengers until its return to its last port of call where the majority of passengers are disembarked.

(d) Regulations. (1) In accordance with § 165.33, entry into these zones is prohibited unless authorized by the Coast Guard Captain of the Port Honolulu, or his designated representatives. Section 165.33 also contains other general requirements.

(2) The existence or status of the security zones in this section will be announced periodically by Broadcast Notice to Mariners.

(3) Persons desiring to transit the areas of the security zones may contact the Captain of the Port by calling the Command Center at telephone numbers (808) 541–2477 or (800) 552–6458, or on VHF channel 16 (156.8 Mhz) to seek permission to transit the area. Written requests may be submitted to the Captain of the Port, Coast Guard Marine Safety Office Honolulu, 433 Ala Moana Blvd., Honolulu, HI 96813 or faxed to (808) 522–8270. If permission is granted, all persons and vessels shall comply with the instructions of the Captain of the Port or his designated representatives.

(4) Persons entering a security zone without authorization of the Captain of the Port may be subject to a civil penalty of not more than $25,000 for each violation or a criminal penalty resulting in imprisonment of not more than ten years and a fine not more than $10,000.

Dated: April 14, 2003.

Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Physicians’ Referrals to Health Care Entities With Which They Have Financial Relationships: Extension of Partial Delay of Effective Date

AGENCY: Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), DHHS.

ACTION: Final rule; extension of partial delay in effective date.

SUMMARY: This final rule further delays for 6 months, until January 7, 2004, the effective date of the last sentence of 42 CFR 411.354(d)(1). This section was promulgated in the final rule entitled “Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Physicians’ Referrals to Health Care Entities With Which They Have Financial Relationships,” published in the Federal Register on January 4, 2001. A 1-year delay of the effective date of the last sentence in this section was published in the Federal Register on December 3, 2001. An additional 6-month delay, until July 7, 2003, was published on November 22, 2002. This further extension of the delay in the effective date of that sentence will give us additional time to reconsider the definition of compensation that is “set in advance” as it relates to percentage compensation methodologies in order to avoid unnecessarily disrupting existing contractual arrangements for physician services. Accordingly, the last sentence of § 411.354(d)(1), which would have become effective July 7, 2003, will not become effective until January 7, 2004. We expect that the definition of “set in advance” will be addressed definitively before January 7, 2004 in a final rule with comment period, entitled “Medicare Program; Physicians’ Referrals to Health Care Entities With Which They Have Financial Relationships” (Phase II).

DATES: Effective date: The effective date of the last sentence in § 411.354(d)(1) of the final rule published in the Federal Register on January 4, 2001 (66 FR 856), is delayed to January 7, 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This Federal Register document is available from the Federal Register online database through GPO Access, a service of the U.S. Government Printing Office. The Web site address is: <http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/index.html>.

In addition, the information in this final rule will be available soon after publication in the Federal Register on our MEDLEARN Web site: <http://cms.hhs.gov/medlearn/refphys.asp>.

I. Background

The final rule, entitled "Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Physicians' Referrals to Health Care Entities With Which They Have Financial Relationships," published in the Federal Register on January 4, 2001 (66 FR 856), interpreted certain provisions of section 1877 of the Social Security Act (the Act). Under section 1877, if a physician or a member of a physician's immediate family has a financial relationship with a health care entity, the physician may not make referrals to that entity for the furnishing of designated health services (DHS) under the Medicare program, and the entity may not bill for the services, unless an exception applies. Many of the statutory and new regulatory exceptions that apply to compensation relationships require that the amount of compensation be "set in advance." Section 411.354(d)(1) of the final rule defines the term "set in advance."

The last sentence of § 411.354(d)(1) reads: "Percentage compensation arrangements do not constitute compensation that is 'set in advance' in which the percentage compensation is based on fluctuating or indeterminate measures or in which the arrangement results in the seller receiving different payment amounts for the same service from the same purchaser." Many of the comments we received regarding the January 4, 2001 physician self-referral final rule indicated that physicians are commonly paid for their professional services using a formula that takes into account a percentage of a fluctuating or indeterminate measure (for example, revenues billed or collected for physician services). According to the commenters, this compensation methodology is frequently used by hospitals, physician group practices, academic medical centers, and medical foundations. Several commenters pointed out that this aspect of the final rule, which is applicable to academic medical centers and medical foundations (among others), is inconsistent with the compensation methods permitted under the statute for many physician group practices and employed physicians (that is, neither section 1877(h)(4)(B)(i) of the Act nor section 1877(e)(2) of the Act contains the "set in advance" requirement). We understand that hospitals, academic medical centers, medical foundations and other health care entities would have to restructure or renegotiate thousands of physician contracts to comply with the language in § 411.354(d)(1) regarding percentage compensation arrangements.

Accordingly, we published a 1-year delay of the effective date of the last sentence in § 411.354(d)(1) in the Federal Register on December 3, 2001 (66 FR 60154), and an additional 6-month delay in the effective date on November 22, 2002 (67 FR 70322,) in order to reconsider the definition of compensation that is "set in advance" as it relates to percentage compensation methodologies.

II. Provisions of this Final Rule

To avoid any unnecessary disruption to existing contractual arrangements while we consider modifying this provision, we are further postponing, for an additional 6 months, until January 7, 2004, the effective date of the last sentence of § 411.354(d)(1). This delay is intended to avoid disruptions in the health care industry, and potential attendant problems for Medicare beneficiaries, which could be caused by allowing the last sentence of § 411.354(d)(1) to become effective on July 7, 2003. In the meantime, compensation that is required to be "set in advance" for purposes of compliance with section 1877 of the Act may continue to be based on percentage compensation methodologies, including those in which the compensation is based on a percentage of a fluctuating or indeterminate measure. We note that the remaining provisions of § 411.354(d)(1) will still apply and that all other requirements for exceptions must be satisfied (including, for example, the fair market value and "volume and value" requirements.)

III. Waiver of Proposed Rulemaking

We ordinarily publish a notice of proposed rulemaking and invite public comment on the proposed rule. This procedure can be waived, however, if an agency finds good cause that the notice and comment rulemaking procedure is impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest and if the agency incorporates in the rule a statement of such a finding and the reasons supporting that finding.

Our implementation of this action without opportunity for public comment is based on the good cause exception in 5 U.S.C. 553(b). We find that seeking public comment on this action would be impracticable and unnecessary. We believe public comment is unnecessary because we are implementing this additional delay of effective date as a result of our review of the public comments that we received on the January 4, 2001 physician self-referral final rule. As discussed above, we understand from those comments and the comments we received on the December 3, 2001 interim final rule that, unless we further delay the effective date of the last sentence of § 411.354(d)(1), hospitals, academic medical centers, and other entities will have to renegotiate numerous contracts for physician services, potentially causing significant disruption within the health care industry. We are concerned that the disruption could unnecessarily inconvenience Medicare beneficiaries or interfere with their medical care and treatment. We do not believe that it is necessary to offer yet another opportunity for public comment on the same issue in the limited context of whether to delay this sentence of the regulation. In addition, given the imminence of the July 7, 2003 effective date, we find that seeking public comment on this delay in effective date would be impracticable because it would generate uncertainty regarding an imminent effective date. This uncertainty could cause health care providers to renegotiate thousands of contracts with physicians in an effort to comply with the regulation by July 7, 2003 if the proposed delay is not finalized until after the opportunity for public comment. Thus, providing the opportunity for public comment could result in the very disruption that this delay of effective date is intended to avoid.

Medicare Program; Improvements to the Medicare+Choice Appeal and Grievance Procedures; CorrectionAGENCY: Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), HHS.ACTION: Correction of final rule with comment period.SUMMARY: This document corrects technical errors that appeared in the final rule with comment period published in the Federal Register on April 4, 2003, entitled "Medicare Program; Improvements to the Medicare+Choice Appeal and Grievance Procedures."EFFECTIVE DATE: This correction notice is effective May 5, 2003.FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Anthony Culotta, (410) 786-4661.SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*I. Background

In FR Doc. 03-8204 of April 4, 2003 (68 FR 16652-16669), there were a number of technical errors that are identified and corrected in the Correction of Errors section below. The provisions in this correction notice are effective as if they had been included in the document published April 4, 2003. Accordingly, the corrections are effective May 5, 2003.

The corrections clarify the effective date of several provisions of the final rule, and delete the reference to a provision mistakenly cited in the preamble. Further detail regarding these corrections is provided in the Correction of Errors section.

II. Correction of Errors

In FR Doc. 03-8204 of April 4, 2003 (68 FR 16652-16669), we make the following corrections:

1. On page 16652, in the first column; in the second paragraph, we revise the DATES section to read: Effective date: This final rule with comment period is effective May 5, 2003. However, new information collection requirements associated with the notices described in § 422.620, § 422.624, and § 422.626 are subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) and thus will not take effect until approval is obtained from the Office of Management and Budget. We will publish the effective dates of these new requirements in the Federal Register after these notices have been approved through the PRA process.

2. On page 16662, in the third column; in the section entitled, IV. Provisions of This Final Rule with Comment Period, in the second paragraph, we are deleting the bulleted entry that reads—New § 422.502(i)(3)(iv) specifies that M+C organization contracts with providers and other related entities entered into after (the effective date of this rule) must contain a provision specifying that these entities will comply with the applicable notice and appeal provisions in §§ 422.620, 422.624, and 422.626.

III. Waiver of Proposed Rulemaking

We ordinarily publish a notice of proposed rulemaking in the Federal Register to provide a period for public comment before the provisions of a notice take effect. We can waive this procedure, however, if we find good cause that notice and comment procedure is impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest and incorporate a statement of the finding and the reasons for it into the notice issued.

We find it unnecessary to undertake notice and comment rulemaking because this notice merely provides technical corrections to the regulations. Therefore, we find good cause to waive notice and comment procedures.

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

13 CFR Parts 121 and 124

RIN 3245-AF06

Size for Purposes of the Multiple Award Schedule and Other Multiple Award Contracts; Small Business Size Regulations; 8(a) Business Development/Small Disadvantaged Business Status Determinations AGENCY: U.S. Small Business Administration.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) proposes to amend its regulations to address the time at which size is determined for purposes of the General Services Administration's (GSA) Multiple Award Schedule (MAS) Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule (FSS), and other multiple award contracts, including Governmentwide Acquisition Contracts and multi-agency contracts. SBA also proposes to amend its 8(a) Business Development regulations to address when a business concern may receive orders as an 8(a) program participant under GSA's MAS Program, including the FSS, and other multiple award contracts.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Written comments should be addressed to Linda G. Williams, Associate Administrator, Office of Government Contracting, U.S. Small Business Administration, 409 3rd Street, SW., Washington, DC 20416, or by FAX to (202) 205-6390 or by e-mail to Linda.Williams@sba.gov. You may also submit comments electronically to <http://www.regulations.gov>.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The SBA's small business size regulations (13 CFR part 121) are used to determine eligibility for all SBA and Federal programs that require a concern to be a small business. Currently, SBA's regulations provide that SBA determines the size of a concern as of the date the concern submits a written self-certification that it is small to the procuring agency as part of its initial offer, including price. 13 CFR 121.404. Therefore, for a multiple award schedule (MAS), Federal Supply Schedule (FSS), multiple award, or Governmentwide Acquisition (GWAC) contract, size is determined as of the date of a concern's initial offer, including price. If a concern is small as of that date, agencies may place orders pursuant to the original contract and consider these orders as awards to a "small business" for the length of the MAS, FSS, multiple award contract or GWAC.

This has led to skewed and, in SBA's view, misleading results. Such contracts may have terms of five, ten, or twenty years, and can be amended to incorporate goods and services with varying size standards, and unlimited quantities. Therefore, orders to concerns receiving such contracts would be considered to be awards to small business even though a firm had grown to be large (either through natural growth or by merger or acquisition) during the term of the contract, and even though the firm is not (and may never have been) small with respect to the size standard corresponding to the work to be performed under a particular order.

For example, SBA has reviewed Federal Procurement Data System (FPDS) statistics as they relate to four business concerns that received contracts as small businesses under the GSA's MAS Program, but which have become other than small since that time. These four business concerns are continuing to receive orders issued pursuant to a MAS contract in which each certified that they were small at the time of the original MAS contract. In fiscal year 2000, these four business concerns received over $190 million in such orders. Because these concerns were considered small at the time of the original MAS contract, each of these 1,313 contracting actions, valued at over $190 million, could be counted as awards to small businesses. The figures for these same concerns in fiscal year 2001 are equally astounding—1,271 contracting actions amounting to over $200 million in awards to other than small businesses.

In addition, SBA's Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) recently decided a size appeal relating to an order issued pursuant to the FSS. In Size Appeals of SETA Corporation and Federal Emergency Management Agency, SBA No. SIZ-4477 (2002) (OHA decisions are available at www.sba.gov/oha/searchpage.html or by contacting OHA by e-mail at oha@sba.gov or by phone at 202-401-8200), OHA ruled that a request for quotations (RFQ) issued pursuant to a FSS contract was a new small business set-aside procurement. As such, OHA held that size should be determined as of the date of the firm's submission of its certification as an eligible small business with its price quotation in response to the RFQ, and not at the date of the firm's offer in response to the initial FSS solicitation.

Further, the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) weighed in on the issue in a recent bid protest. In CMS Information Services, Inc., B-290541 (Aug. 7, 2002) (available at <http://www.gao.gov> or contact the Government Printing Office at 202-512-1530), the procuring agency limited competition to small businesses and required businesses to certify their size at the time they submitted their quotations. The protester argued that this certification requirement was improper because the offerors had each certified their size at the time they submitted their initial offer to GSA for award of its FSS contract. GAO ruled that when an agency limits competition to small business vendors under a competitive RFQ issued pursuant to the FSS, the agency may properly require firms to certify as to their small business size status as of the time they submit their quotations.

In addition, GSA implemented a Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) deviation requiring contractors operating under the MAS Program or any other multiple award contract (such as the FAST program in GSA's Federal Technology Service), to recertify that the concern qualifies as a small business each time their contract is up for renewal. See GSA News Release # 9991 (November 15, 2002) (available at <http://www.gsa.gov/Portal/newsreleases.jsp>).

This evidence indicates that agencies may be counting orders issued pursuant to a MAS or other multiple award contract as awards to small businesses when, in reality, the order is actually made to an entity other than a small business. As a result, agencies, including GSA, are attempting to remedy the situation, as are administrative tribunals such as OHA and GAO. Consequently, SBA is proposing a regulation at 13 CFR 121.404(c) to specifically address size as it relates to awards issued pursuant to multiple award contracts, including specifically GSA's MAS Program.

Under the proposed rule, a firm that receives a MAS or other multiple award contract must certify annually on the anniversary date of the contract award that it continues to be a small business for a specified size standard. A concern that is small at the time of the initial offer for a MAS or other multiple award contract would be considered small for one year from the date of its certification. The concern would then have to re-certify its size each year, for the term of the contract. Under the proposed rule, procuring agencies would then publish a list of the re-certifications received, within 10 days of receipt, on their agency's Web site, in the Federal Register, or otherwise. The rule would permit any interested party to file a protest with the contracting officer challenging the size of the concern seeking re-certification. If the recertification is challenged, SBA would then perform a formal size determination with respect to the challenged firm. SBA specifically requests comments as to the best or most expedient way to post these re-certifications so as to ensure that interested parties may appropriately protest, but at the same time not imposing an undue burden on procuring agencies or on the small business concerns.

SBA also may review or request a formal size determination with respect to any re-certification. However, once a firm is recertified, the concern will be considered to be a small business with respect to any order it receives with a North American Industry Classification Code (NAICS) code having the same or higher size standard during that one year period. Each order issued pursuant to the contract could then be counted as an award to small business.

However, under the GAO decision in CMS cited above, a contracting officer would have the discretion to ask for size certifications for individual orders. This proposed rule does not seek to, and does not in fact, change such discretion.

The proposed rule is based on SBA's view that receiving a multiple award contract or getting on GSA's FSS is similar to being admitted to SBA's 8(a) Business Development (BD) or HUBZone programs, and orders issued under multiple award contracts or off the schedule are similar to the actual award of an 8(a) BD or HUBZone contract. In the 8(a) BD and HUBZone programs, a concern must be small (for its primary NAICS code) at the time it is admitted to the program, and it must be small for each 8(a) BD or HUBZone contract it is awarded. Although the proposed rule would not require a firm to certify its status as (and in fact be) a small business for each order it receives under a multiple award contract (as an 8(a) or HUBZone concern must do for individual contracts once admitted to either of those programs), its requirement for annual certification makes size relevant for orders.

SBA also recognizes, however, that an order issued pursuant to a multiple award contract is intended to be a simple, fast way to procure needed goods and services. SBA does not seek to delay the procurement process or make it more complicated.

SBA considered three other alternatives to the proposed rule. The first alternative would require that for an agency to count an award issued under a multiple award or schedule contract as an award to a small business, the concern must be small as of the date of each order (in addition to being small at the time of its self-certification for the multiple award or schedule contract). The second alternative would require a firm to re-certify its status as a small business at the time of any option on the multiple award or schedule contract. SBA believes that the first alternative might require size certifications too often (and could delay the procurement process), and that the second alternative would require them too infrequently (letting a firm that has been purchased by a large business immediately after receiving its multiple award or schedule contract, for example, to be considered a small business for almost five years after becoming large). The third alternative SBA considered is similar to that proposed, but would require annual recertification or notification for a MAS or other multiple award contract only where a firm's size status for the MAS or other multiple award contract at issue has changed. While this alternative would significantly reduce paperwork and have a minimal effect on the procurement process, SBA was concerned about timely compliance with such a requirement. For example, if a firm that has grown to be other than small is seeking a substantial order as a small business under a MAS or other multiple award contract, it might not notify the contracting officer of its changed status until after it received the order. SBA specifically requests comments on each of these three alternatives.

SBA also proposes to amend 13 CFR 121.1004(a)(3), regarding time limits for size protests in the case of multiple award and schedule procurements, including FSS contracts. The proposed regulation would authorize size protests challenging firms seeking re-certification of their status as small businesses for a MAS or other multiple award contract. In addition, it would specifically authorize size protests in connection with orders issued under those contracts. Since time of size for an order issued under a MAS or other multiple award contract is determined as of the date the concern submits a written self-certification that it is small to the procuring agency as part of its initial offer, including price (during the one-year period immediately following contract award) and as of the date the concern submits its re-certification (for the one-year period after any re-certification), a protest challenging the size of a concern for a specific order under a MAS or other multiple award contract relates to the date of the certification or re-certification, as applicable. Again, a contracting officer can request size certifications in connection with a specific order. In such a case, size would then be determined as of the date of the certification in connection with the order. Absent such a request by a contracting officer, the certification or re-certification date is the date at which SBA would determine a concern's size for a specific order.

SBA specifically requests comments on the appropriate time frame within which to require size protests relating to such orders. SBA recognizes that multiple award and schedule contracts are intended to be a fast, easy way for an agency to meet its procurement needs. However, SBA does not believe that a size protest would slow down the process or delay performance. A size protest in this context most probably would relate to whether an agency can count the award as an award to small business. Whether an award counts or does not count as a small business award has no bearing on whether the award can be made to a particular firm, or whether that firm can perform the award. Thus, the proposed rule would permit a protest to be made at any time prior to the expiration of the underlying multiple award or schedule contract.

Finally, the proposed rule would amend 13 CFR 124.503(h)(2) to ensure that size eligibility for 8(a) multiple award contracts is consistent with the changes made to the size regulations generally by this rule. A concern would be able to continue to receive orders as an 8(a) small business under an 8(a) MAS contract (including the Federal Supply Schedule (FSS)) or other multiple award contract (including a GWAC, with respect to any orders issued pursuant to the MAS or other multiple award contract having a NAICS code with the same or higher size standard as the one(s) under which it qualified for a period of one year from the date of its certification or recertification as a small business.

Compliance With Executive Orders 12612, 12988, and 12866, the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601–612), and the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. Ch. 35)

OMB has determined that this proposed rule constitutes a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866.

For purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act, 44 U.S.C. Ch. 35, SBA has determined that this rule, if adopted in final form, would impose a new reporting requirement but not a new recordkeeping requirement. The proposed rule provides that in order to be considered small for purposes of an order issued pursuant to a multiple award or schedule contract, a concern must qualify as small at the time it receives the initial contract and annually. SBA does not believe that this requirement imposes a new recordkeeping requirement. SBCs have always been required to keep records pertaining to their size and to certify as to their size status to receive Federal benefits. Firms have always had to certify their size status with respect to new solicitations/contracts. No new records would be required in order to meet this change regarding multiple award contracts. In addition, these records are those kept in the ordinary course of business, such as federal income tax returns.

However, the proposed regulation would require business concerns to certify annually as to their size, in addition to certifying at the time of the initial MAS or other multiple award contract. Thus, the proposed regulation imposes a new reporting requirement. SBA believes that this additional certification would not be a burden to small business. In fact, small businesses have contacted SBA requesting such an additional certification in order to ensure that those receiving awards as small businesses are in fact small. The following sets forth further detail about this information collection request and specifically requests comments on the issue.

A. Application

Title: Re-Certification of Size for Multiple Award Contracts.

Summary: This application, described in proposed 13 CFR 121.404(c)(i), would require each business concern that certifies as small at the time of award for purposes of the General Services Administration's Multiple Award Schedule Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule, and other multiple award contracts, including Governmentwide Acquisition Contracts and multi-agency contracts, to re-certify once each year to the procuring agency's contracting officer that it is still small for purposes of that contract and consequently for any orders issued pursuant to the MAS or other multiple award contract having a NAICS code with the same or higher size standard. The application information provided to the contracting officers and subsequently published on the agency's Web site, in the Federal Register, or otherwise will allow all parties to determine whether a business concern is small pursuant to SBA's size regulations.

Need and Purpose: Pursuant to SBA's current regulations, a concern's size status is determined as of the date that it submits its initial offer, including price, for MAS and other multiple award contracts. If a concern is small as of that date, it is deemed to be small for the life of the contract and all orders issued pursuant to that contract. Contracts issued pursuant to some multiple award schedules are being extended for ten or twenty years. Therefore, a business concern that certified as small to receive a schedule contract ten years ago may still be considered small for orders issued pursuant to the same contract even if the business concern is clearly no longer small. Agencies are then able to count these orders as awards to small business even though the firm may have grown to be other than small or has merged with or been acquired by a large business many years ago. Unfortunately, this means that Federal agencies that meet their SBC goals by counting awards to former SBCs do so at the expense of legitimately defined SBCs. The information submitted in the recertification will help determine whether or not these business concerns continue to be small and thus whether the orders issued pursuant to the initial schedule or other multiple award contract may be deemed an award to a small business concern.

Description of Respondents: All business concerns that certified as small for the initial MAS or other multiple award contract will be required to recertify each year as to the concern's size pursuant to this proposed rule. SBA estimates that approximately 6,000 SBCs receive MAS or other multiple award contracts each year. SBA estimates the burden of this collection of information as follows: A business concern will re-certify annually as to its size for each MAS or other multiple award contract it receives and to which it initially certified itself as small. SBA estimates the time needed to complete this collection will average at most a half hour. SBA estimates the cost to complete this collection will be approximately $30 per hour. The total estimated aggregated burden is 3,000 hours per annum costing an aggregated $45,000 for the year.

SBA invites comments on: (1) Whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of SBA's functions, including whether the information will have a practical utility; (2) the accuracy of SBA's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (3) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (4) ways to minimize the burden of the collection on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques, when appropriate, and other forms of information technology.

Please send comments about this information collection request by the closing date for this proposed rule to David Rostker, Office of Management and Budget, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, 725 17th Street, NW., Washington, DC 20503 and to Linda Williams, Associate Administrator for Government Contracting, Office of Government Contracting and Business Development, U.S. Small Business Administration, 409 Third Street, SW., Washington, DC 20416.

For purposes of Executive Order 12988, SBA has drafted this proposed rule, to the extent practicable, in accordance with the standards set forth in section 3 of that Order.

For purposes of Executive Order 13132, SBA has determined that this proposed rule has no federalism implications warranting the preparation of a Federalism Assessment.

SBA has determined that this proposed rule, if adopted in final form, could have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), 5 U.S.C. 601–612. Therefore, SBA has prepared an Initial Regulatory Flexibility Act (IRFA) analysis addressing the proposed regulation.

B. IRFA

The RFA provides that when preparing a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis, an agency shall address all of the following: the reasons, objectives, and legal basis for the proposed rule; the kind and number of small entities which may be affected; the projected recordkeeping, reporting, and other compliance requirements of the proposed rule, including an estimate of the classes of small entities which will be subject to the requirement and the type of professional skills necessary for preparation of the report or record; federal rules which may duplicate, overlap, or conflict with the proposed rule; and any significant alternatives to the proposed rule. This IRFA considers these points and the impact the proposed regulation concerning multiple award or schedule contracts may have on small entities.

(a) Reasons, Objectives and Legal Basis

Under the Small Business Act, SBA is authorized to specify detailed definitions and standards by which an entity may be determined to be a small business concern. 15 U.S.C. 632(a)(2). SBA's definitions and standards relating to SBCs are set forth in 13 CFR part 121.

Pursuant to SBA's current regulations, a concern's size status is determined as of the date that it submits its initial offer, including price, for the MAS or other multiple award contract. If a concern is small as of that date, it is deemed to be small for the life of the contract and for all orders issued pursuant to that contract. It is our understanding that contracts issued pursuant to some multiple award schedules are being extended for ten or twenty years. This means that a concern that certified as small to receive a schedule contract ten years ago, could still be considered small for orders issued pursuant to the same contract even if the business concern is clearly no longer small. Agencies are then able to count these orders as awards to small business even though the firm may have merged with or been acquired by a large business many years ago. Unfortunately, this means that Federal agencies that meet their SBC goals by counting awards to former SBCs do so at the expense of legitimately defined SBCs. Agencies may not seek other procurement opportunities with legitimate SBCs because they have met their SBC goal through schedule orders to firms that are no longer small. As a result of the increasing use of these schedules and other multiple award contracts, SBA believes it is necessary to amend its regulations and address these size eligibility issues for orders issued pursuant to MAS and other multiple award contracts.

(b) Description and Estimate of the Number of Small Entities to Which the Rule May Apply

The RFA directs agencies to provide a description of and, where feasible, an estimate of the number of small entities that may be affected by the proposed rules, if adopted. The RFA defines "small entity" to include "small businesses," "small organizations," and "small governmental jurisdictions." SBA's programs do not apply to "small organizations" or "small governmental jurisdictions" because they are non-profit or governmental entities and do not qualify as "business concerns" within the meaning of SBA's regulations. SBA's programs apply only to for-profit business concerns. Therefore, the proposed regulation (like the regulation currently in effect) will not impact small organizations or small governmental jurisdictions.

Small businesses that participate in federal government contracting are the specific group of small entities affected most by this proposed rule. While there is no precise estimate for the number of SBCs that will be affected by this proposed rule, SBA has reasoned the following. First, there are over 200,000 SBCs registered on PRO-Net. PRO-Net is a database containing profiles of SBCs that includes information from SBA's files and other available databases, as well as information inputted by SBCs. Second, in 2001, SBA approved over 48,000 loans. Thus, based on a simplistic review of PRO-Net, it may appear that the proposed rule could affect, at a minimum, at least 250,000 SBCs. SBA notes, however, that this rule would likely affect only those small businesses having a MAS or other multiple award contract that were small at the time of the initial schedule or multiple award contract, and are no longer small. The number of SBCs awarded a MAS or other multiple award contract are much less than the PRO-Net figure, and those that have grown to be other than small since the award of their MAS or other multiple award contract is even smaller than that. Therefore, this rule will not impact all of the "SBCs" with MAS or other multiple award contracts, but, as identified below, would impact at least 6–12 businesses each year.

According to the Federal Procurement Data System (FPDS), in fiscal year 2001, there were 241,581 orders issued pursuant to the FSS and 648,522 orders issued pursuant to other Federal schedules for prime contract actions of $25,000 or less. (Federal Procurement Report, Section III, Agency Views, <http://www.fpdc.gov/fpdc/fpr.htm>). Over $600 million of these FSS orders and over $180 million of the other Federal schedule orders were reported as orders to SBCs. For contract actions over $25,000, there were over 61,000 orders, or $13.8 billion in orders issued pursuant to the FSS, and over 47,000 or $15 billion in orders issued pursuant to MAS contracts. Id. For FSS contracts above $25,000, approximately $4 billion was reported as awarded to 2,610 small businesses. This means that the average of orders awarded to SBCs is about $1.5 million ($3,950,853,000/2610=1,513,737$).

In addition to examining FPDS data, SBA has examined the growth trends of businesses between the 1992 and 1997 Economic Censuses using the 1992 and 1997 Special Tabulation of the Economic Census for SBA. The data shows that the share of total businesses with 100 employees or more (an approximate average employment size of all size standards) increased by 0.2 percent. According to the Census data (www.census.gov), the share of total businesses with 100 employees or more increased by only 0.1 percent and according to SBA's Office of Advocacy data (see www.sba.gov/advo/stats/us88_99.pdf), the increase was 0.1 between 1992–1997 and about 0.15 percent between 1992–1999. Applying these general trends to the 6,000 small businesses SBA believes are participating in the GSA's MAS program, approximately 3 to 4 small businesses per year would outgrow their small business classification. SBA, however, expects the actual number of businesses that outgrow their small business classification would be two to three times higher (6 to 12 business concerns) than this estimate, since studies have shown businesses receiving Federal contracts tend to be stronger businesses. Therefore, SBA expects 6 to 12 business concerns each year that have a multiple award contract to become other than small during the year. SBA expects the number of concerns affected the first year to be greater because firms have not had to certify their size status annually since being awarded a multiple award contract, and firms may have received such contracts several years ago and could not recertify their small business status today.

SBA welcomes comments on the potential number of small businesses that would have to change their business designation and its implications as a result of this proposed provision.

This proposed rule could have a significant economic impact on SBCs. Using both the census and FPDS data discussed above, concerns that grow and no longer qualify as SBCs (about 6–12 a year) attain over $18 million a year in FSS awards (average of task order awards to SBCs is $1.5 million). Therefore, this rule could result in a corresponding increase in over $18 million in awards to those concerns that are actually small, although such a result is unlikely.

As an example, SBA has researched four actual business concerns that it believes are no longer small, and yet are still receiving orders issued pursuant to a MAS contract where each business certified itself as small on the original contract. The concerns, and the number of schedule orders received, as well as the total value of the awards, were obtained from FPDS data and are as follows:

	FY2000 # actions	Dollars ($000)	FY2001 # actions	Dollars ($000)
Business #1	1,019	154,321	902	124,063
Business #2	88	8,043	55	6,073
Business #3	28	18,217	0	0
Business #4	178	16,235	314	77,360

SBA notes that it is difficult to access FPDS data with only a business concern's name because concerns typically have many different variations of their name (i.e., divisions, sections, etc). Therefore, the total number of actions and dollar value may be higher for the four concerns listed above.

SBA also notes that some could argue that this rule provides a disincentive for contracting officers to select a small business. Contracting officers may fear that there will be a size protest that would ultimately slow down the contracting process.

SBA does not believe this rule would alter the decisions of contracting officers in any way. First, the procuring activity will select a concern for an order because it is the best value to the Federal Government. Second, SBA does not believe that the activity will refuse to issue the order, which results in the best value to the Government, because the concern has to certify its size and may no longer be small. SBA believes that the only consequence is that the procuring activity will not be able to count the award as one to a SBC.

SBA believes that this is similar to how orders issued pursuant to MAS contracts currently interact with the 8(a) BD program. Today, a contracting officer can consider an offer from an 8(a) BD program participant, a SBC, and a large business simultaneously. Under a Memorandum of Understanding between SBA and the GSA, if the contracting officer determines that the best value to the Government is the offer submitted by the 8(a) BD participant, the order to that firm may be counted as an 8(a) award and counted towards the agency's SDB goal. If the best value to the Government is the offer from the large business, the large business would receive the award and the order would not count toward any small business goal. It is SBA's view that the same would happen under the proposed rule where a schedule holder grows to be other than small. In that case, if a firm that is no longer small would provide the best value to the Government, SBA believes that the firm would still get the MAS or FSS order, but, as with an award to any other large business, the order could not count toward any small business goal.

Therefore, if implemented, SBA believes this rule will ultimately impact the data collected on orders issued to SBCs, rather than affect the number of orders received by business concerns who have grown to be other than small since they received a federal multiple award or schedule contract.

(c) Additional Reporting or Record Keeping Requirements on Small Businesses

This proposed rule would impose a new information collection requirement on small businesses. However, the information collection is the same as that small business concerns currently submit for Government contracts to receive a preference or for an agency to count the award as one to a small business.

SBA does not believe that this provision imposes any new recordkeeping requirements. SBCs have always been required to keep records pertaining to their size and to certify as to their size status to receive Federal benefits. In addition, these records are those kept in the ordinary course of businesses, such as federal income tax returns.

(d) Relevant Federal Rules That May Duplicate, Overlap or Conflict With This Rule

This rule does not duplicate, overlap, or conflict with any other Federal rules.

Under this proposed rule, SBCs would have to certify that they are small at the time they receive the MAS or other multiple award contract and then annually each year thereafter, so long as the MAS or other multiple award contract is still in effect, in order for the procuring activity to count the order as an award to a SBC. SBA does not believe this rule conflicts with any FAR rule. For example, according to FAR 19.804–6, separate offers and acceptances need not be made for individual orders under MAS or FSS contracts for the 8(a) BD Program. SBA's acceptance of the original multiple award or MAS contract is valid for the term of the contract. The same is set forth in 13 CFR 124.503(h) of SBA's regulations. The rule proposed does not conflict with this FAR regulation, which addresses offer and acceptance of a contract for the 8(a) BD Program.

In addition, typically, SBCs only certify their size on initial contracts and not annually, and therefore the FAR will need to be amended to address this rule, if promulgated as final. SBA does not believe this rule conflicts with FAR rules addressing multiple award or schedule orders and notes that SBA has exclusive statutory jurisdiction in establishing size definitions and standards. It is important to remember, however, that size eligibility generally, and in this case size for purposes of a multiple award or schedule order, falls within SBA's jurisdiction. The Small Business Act gives to SBA the exclusive authority to determine when and under what circumstances a business entity may be considered small.

(e) Alternatives That SBA Considered

SBA has proposed a new provision addressing orders issued pursuant to MAS and other multiple award contracts. Currently, size is determined as of the date of a concern's initial offer on the MAS or other multiple award contract, not for each order issued pursuant to that contract. If a concern is small on that date, orders may be placed and considered to be awards to "small business" for the length of the MAS or other multiple award contracts. SBA understands that such contracts may have terms of five, ten, or more years, and can be amended to incorporate goods and services with varying size standards and unlimited quantities. Orders to concerns issued pursuant to a MAS or other multiple award contract would be deemed awards to small businesses even if a concern had grown to be large many years ago and even though the concern is not small with respect to the size standard corresponding to the work to be performed under a particular task order.

In determining how to address this issue, SBA considered first not amending the current regulation. However, SBA believes that if it does not address this issue, then awards will continue to be made to concerns that are not small businesses, yet agencies will get credit for making an award to a small business. SBA believes that this would harm legitimate small business concerns by reducing the number of opportunities and additional awards to them, either through the MAS program or otherwise. In addition, SBA has been contacted by several legitimate small businesses complaining that MAS orders are going to firms clearly not small, but that such awards are being counted as awards to small business. These businesses believe that their opportunities of receiving orders are reduced because agencies can go to large businesses and count the orders as awards to small businesses.

SBA also considered that, instead of determining size eligibility annually for purposes of orders issued pursuant to a MAS or other multiple award contract, it would determine size as of the date that a firm certifies that it is small for a particular order. Although this approach is appealing to SBA, SBA believes that some procuring agencies would oppose it. They could argue that such an approach would delay the procurement process, which is contrary to the intent of the MAS program. SBA also considered a longer time period, such as five years (one contract year plus four option years), in which the concern could be considered small. SBA decided not to propose this approach because it would not adequately address the perceived problem (i.e., awards to other than small businesses would continue to be counted as small business awards for too long a period of time and too often, since agencies are increasingly using multiple award and schedule contracts). SBA believes that a process which requires a concern to self-certify annually that it continues to be small for orders issued pursuant to a MAS or other multiple award contract represents little or no burden to the SBC or to the procurement process.

SBA also proposes a rule regarding time limits for size protests in the case of MAS procurements, including FSS contracts. The proposed rule would specifically authorize protests in connection with awards and orders issued under those contracts as well as multiple award contracts. SBA proposes that a protest relating to an individual order is timely so long as it is received anytime before the expiration of the contract period. SBA considered the fact that multiple award and schedule contracts are intended to be a fast and easy way for an agency to contract. SBA does not believe that a size protest would slow down the contracting process or delay performance because a size protest, in this instance, would likely relate to whether an agency can count the award as an award to a SBC, not to whether award can or should be made to a particular business entity. SBA specifically requests comments as to other options for these time limits.

(f) Conclusion

Based upon the foregoing, SBA has determined that this proposed rule may have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the RFA. SBA requests comments addressing any of the issues raised in this IRFA, including comments on the economic effect this rule could have on small entities.

13 CFR Part 124

Administrative practice and procedure, Minority businesses, Reporting and recordkeeping requirements, Technical assistance.

For the reasons set forth in the preamble, SBA proposes to amend parts 121 and 124 of Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

PART 121—SMALL BUSINESS SIZE REGULATIONS

1. The authority citation for part 121 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 15 U.S.C. 632(a), 634(b)(6), 637(a), 644(c) and 662(5) and Sec. 304, Pub. L. 103–403, 108 Stat. 4175, 4188.

2. In § 121.404 add paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 121.404 When does SBA determine the size status of a business concern?

* * * * *

(c) In order to be considered small for purposes of the General Services Administration's Multiple Award Schedule (MAS) Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule, and other multiple award contracts, including Governmentwide Acquisition Contracts (GWAC) and multi-agency contracts, a concern must qualify as small as of the date it submits a written self-certification to the procuring agency as part of its initial offer including price. The concern will be considered small with respect to any orders issued under the MAS or other multiple award contract having a NAICS code with the same or higher size standard as the one(s) under which it qualified for a period of one year from the date of its certification.

(1) A business concern awarded a MAS or other multiple award contract must annually re-certify to the contracting officer on the anniversary date of the contract award that it continues to qualify as a small business for the contract. Contracting officers will publish a list of the re-certifications received, within 10 days of receipt, on their agency's website, and may also publish it in the Federal Register or otherwise. SBA may review or request a formal size determination with respect to that re-certification, and any interested party may protest that re-certification pursuant to § 121.1004(a)(3)(iii). The business concern may be considered small with respect to any orders issued pursuant to the MAS or other multiple award contract having a NAICS code with the same or higher size standard as the one(s) under which it re-certified for a period of one year from the date of its re-certification.

(2) The contracting officer must assign an appropriate NAICS code to each order issued under a MAS or other multiple award contract to assist in determining whether a concern is small for a particular order.

(3) Time of size for a specific order relates back to the date of the initial written self-certification that it is small to the procuring agency for the award of the MAS or other multiple award contract (during the one-year period immediately following contract award) and as of the date the concern submits its re-certification (for the one-year period after any re-certification).

3. Revise § 121.1004(a)(3) to read as follows:

§ 121.1004 What time limits apply to size protests?

(a) * * *

(3) Multiple Award Contracts. (i) Except as set forth in paragraph (a)(3)(ii) of this section, protests relating to the award of a MAS or other multiple award contract are considered timely if they meet the requirements of paragraphs (a)(1) or (a)(2) of this section.

(ii) Protests relating to the award of a contract under the General Services Administration's MAS Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule, are considered timely if received by the contracting officer within 10 days of a concern being listed on the multiple award schedule.

(iii) Protests relating to re-certifications issued pursuant to § 121.404(c) are considered timely if received by the contracting officer within 10 days of a concern being listed on an agency's website or published in the Federal Register or otherwise. Protests relating to individual awards or orders issued pursuant to the MAS Program or other multiple award contracts are considered timely if received by the contracting officer at any time prior to the expiration of the contract period (including renewals).

PART 124—8(A) BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT/SMALL DISADVANTAGED BUSINESS STATUS DETERMINATIONS

4. The authority citation for part 124 continues to read as follows:

5. Revise § 124.503(h)(2) to read as follows:

§ 124.503 How does SBA accept a procurement for award through the 8(a) BD program?

* * * * *

(h) * * *

(2)(i) A concern can continue to receive orders as an 8(a) small business under the General Services Administration's Multiple Award Schedule (MAS) Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule, and other multiple award contracts, including Governmentwide Acquisition Contracts (GWACs) and multi-agency contracts, with respect to any orders issued pursuant to the MAS or other multiple award contract having a NAICS code with the same or higher size standard as the one(s) under which it qualified for a period of one year from the date of its certification or re-certification as a small business.

(ii) A concern can continue to receive orders under the MAS Program, including the Federal Supply Schedule, and multiple award contracts, including GWACs and multi-agency contracts, even after it no longer meets the requirement of paragraph (h)(2)(i) of this section, but such award will not count as an award to an 8(a) small business.

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

16 CFR Part 1026

Standards of Conduct for Outside Attorneys Practicing Before the Consumer Product Safety Commission; Termination of Rulemaking AGENCY: Consumer Product Safety Commission.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In November 2000, the Consumer Product Safety Commission published a notice of proposed rulemaking to issue a new rule addressing the behavior of attorneys on matters before the Commission. 65 FR 66515. The Commission has now decided that such a new rule is not necessary, and has terminated this regulatory proceeding.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Melissa V. Hampshire, Office of the General Counsel, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207; (301) 504-7631; mhampshire@cpsc.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commission does not have rules governing the behavior of attorneys outside the context of a formal adjudication. The Commission conducts the majority of its business outside of such adjudications. In November 2000 the Commission proposed a new rule that would cover attorney conduct outside of formal adjudications.

The Commission received five comments opposing the proposal. These comments criticized the proposed rule on the following grounds: (1) The rule is unnecessary because there is no attorney misconduct problem at the Commission and existing state bar regulations are adequate to regulate any future attorney misconduct; (2) the "bad faith" standard set forth in the proposed rule is vague and overly broad; and (3) the procedures contained in the proposed rule are inadequate to protect the rights of the attorneys subject to it. The Commission received one comment endorsing the need for a new rule and favoring the standards and enforcement procedures contained in it.

The Commission has evaluated the comments and has decided the proposed attorney conduct rules are not necessary and, accordingly, the November 2000 notice of proposed rulemaking is withdrawn.

Revisions to the California State Implementation Plan, San Joaquin Valley Unified Air Pollution Control District, Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: EPA is proposing a limited approval and limited disapproval of revisions to the San Joaquin Valley Unified Air Pollution Control District (SJVUAPCD) and Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District (YSAQMD) portions of the California State Implementation Plan (SIP). These revisions concern volatile organic compound (VOC) emissions from industries storing, loading, and transferring organic liquids as part of their operations. We are proposing action on local rules regulating these emission sources under the Clean Air Act as amended in 1990 (CAA or the Act). We are taking comments on this proposal and plan to follow with a final action.

DATES: Any comments must arrive by May 27, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Mail comments to Andy Steckel, Rulemaking Office Chief (AIR-4), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region IX, 75 Hawthorne Street, San Francisco, CA 94105-3901.

You can inspect copies of the submitted SIP revision and EPA's technical support document (TSD) at our Region IX office during normal business hours. You may also see copies of the submitted SIP revisions at the following locations:

I. The State's Submittal

A. What Rules Did the State Submit?

Table 1 lists the rules addressed by this proposal with the dates they were adopted by the local air agency and submitted by the California Air Resources Board (CARB).

TABLE 1.—SUBMITTED RULES

Local agency	Rule #	Rule title	Adopted	Submitted
SJVUAPCD	4623	Storage of Organic Liquids	12/20/01	03/15/02
YSAQMD	2.21	Organic Liquid Loading	06/12/02	08/06/02

On May 7, 2002 and August 30, 2002, respectively, EPA found that the SJVUAPCD Rule 4623 and YSAQMD Rule 2.21 submittals met the completeness criteria in 40 CFR part 51, appendix V. These criteria must be met before formal EPA review can begin.

B. Are There Other Versions of These Rules?

We approved a version of SJVUAPCD Rule 4623 into the SIP on May 13, 1993 (see 58 FR 28354). Similarly, we approved a version of YSAQMD Rule 2.21 into the SIP on August 21, 1995 (see 60 FR 43383). CARB has made no subsequent submittals of these rules.

C. What Is the Purpose of the Rule Revisions?

To reduce VOC emissions at industrial sites storing and transferring organic liquids, Rule 4623 establishes vapor pressure containment and control requirements for organic liquid storage tanks. Tanks and systems of tanks must have a vapor recovery system that recovers at least 95% of ROC vapors by weight or combusts excess vapors. Rule 4623 also sets specific requirements for vapor loss control devices, closure devices, external floating roofs, and internal floating roofs.

SJVUAPCD's December 20, 2001 amendments to Rule 4623 included these significant changes to the 1991 version within the SIP.

- Rule applicability was changed from tanks that store organic liquids of 1.5 total vapor pressure (TVP) to tanks storing organic liquids of 0.5 TVP. Also, the rule applies to tanks with a design capacity of 1100 gallons or more.

- Twenty new definitions were added to the rule and several others were amended.

- Section 5.4 was deleted and replaced with an exemption for gasoline storage tanks with a capacity less than 19,800 gallons subject to SJVUAPCD Rule 4621-Gasoline Transfer Into Stationary Storage Container, Delivery Vessels and Bulk Plants.

- An exemption for tanks storing or processing "clean produced water" was added.

- An exemption was added for tanks used in wine fermentation and for the storage of resulting by-products, and spirits.

- The exemption for small producer's tanks with capacity of 2000 barrels (84,000 gallons) or less with a throughput of less than 150 barrels (6300 gallons) of oil per day will sunset by November 14, 2003. This exemption is replaced with one for small producer's tanks having a daily throughput of 50 barrels per tank.

- The rule's general VOC control system requirements are now based on the tank size and the TVP of the stored liquid.

- Requirements were added for when internal and external floating roofs are landed on their leg supports.

- Requirements were added for floating roof deck fittings, inspection of floating roof tanks, and submitting tank inspection plans and deviation inspection reports.

- A voluntary tank inspection, maintenance, and cleaning program was added.

- A requirement was added for initial and periodic TVP and/or API gravity testing of stored organic liquid in each uncontrolled fixed roof tank or a representative tank. Instead of periodic testing, an operator may install and operate the appropriate VOC control system.

- To complement the requirements listed above and to enhance rule effectiveness, several recordkeeping requirements were added.

- A "Test Method for Vapor Pressure of Reactive Organic Compounds for Heavy Crude Oil using Gas Chromatograph" for crude oil with an API gravity of 20 degrees or less was added, as was Test Method ASTM D 323-94 for determining the TVP of other organic liquids.

YSAQMD Rule 2.21 establishes vapor pressure containment and control requirements for organic liquid storage tanks, as well as specific requirements for external floating roofs, internal floating roofs, vapor recovery systems, deck fittings, mechanical shoe seal and secondary seal, resilient toroid or liquid mounted seals and secondary seals, terminal loading, bulk plant loading, transport vessels, switch loading operating practices, and storage tank cleaning. YSAQMD's June 12, 2002 amendments to Rule 2.21 listed below included these significant changes to the 1995 SIP version.

- YSAQMD deleted exemptions for low volume loading facilities, small gasoline storage containers, containers serviced by exempted delivery vessels, and implements of husbandry. Also, special circumstance exemptions for terminals were deleted.

- Thirty new definitions were added.
- A requirement was added that for storage tanks greater than 40,000 gallons using internal and external floating roofs that all new or replacement primary seal installations be a mechanical shoe or liquid mounted. Several other requirements were added for these tanks at sections 301.1–301.5.

- A lower explosive limit monitoring requirement was added for internal floating roof tanks.

- Deck fitting requirements were added for internal and external floating roof tanks.

- Annual emission testing requirements were added for external floating roof tanks, bulk plants and terminals.

- Periodic maintenance, monitoring, reporting, and record keeping requirements were added to storage tanks, bulk plants, and terminals.

The subject TSD has more information about these rules and their amendments.

II. EPA's Evaluation and Action

A. How Is EPA Evaluating the Rule?

Generally, SIP rules must be enforceable (see section 110(a) of the Act), must require Reasonably Available Control Technology (RACT) for major sources in nonattainment areas (see section 182(a)(2)(A)), and must not relax existing requirements (see sections 110(l) and 193). Both the SJVUAPCD and the YSAQMD regulate an ozone nonattainment area (see 40 CFR part 81), so both SJVUAPCD Rule 4623 and Rule YSAQMD Rule 2.21 must fulfill RACT.

Guidance and policy documents that we used to help evaluate specific enforceability and RACT requirements consistently include the following:

1. Portions of the proposed post-1987 ozone and carbon monoxide policy that concern RACT, 52 FR 45044, November 24, 1987;

2. "Issues Relating to VOC Regulation Cutpoints, Deficiencies, and Deviations," EPA, May 25, 1988 (the Bluebook);

3. "Guidance Document for Correcting Common VOC & Other Rule Deficiencies," EPA Region 9, August 21, 2001 (the Little Bluebook);

4. "Control of Volatile Organic Emissions from Petroleum Liquid Storage in External Floating Roof Tanks," EPA-450/2-78-047, USEPA, December 1978;

5. "Control of Volatile Organic Emissions from Storage of Petroleum Liquids in Fixed-Roof Tanks," EPA-450/2-77-036, USEPA, December 1977; and,

6. "Control of Volatile Organic Compound Leaks from Gasoline Tank Trucks and Vapor Collection Systems," EPA-450/2-78-051, USEPA, December 1978.

B. Do the Rules Meet the Evaluation Criteria?

Both SJVUAPCD Rule 4623 and YSAQMD 2.21 improve the SIP by establishing more stringent emission limits and monitoring and maintenance requirements, and eliminating exemptions. Each rule is largely consistent with the relevant policy and guidance regarding enforceability, RACT and SIP relaxations. However, within each rule there are provisions which do not meet the evaluation criteria. These provisions are summarized below and discussed further in the TSD.

C. What Are the Rule Deficiencies?

Within SJVUAPCD Rule 4623, the provisions discussed below conflict with section 110 of the Act and raise enforceability issues preventing EPA's full approval of the SIP revision.

- Section 5.6.1 is unclear on two points. First, it references requirements in section 6.4.6; these requirements are unclear in how they apply to section 5.6.1. For example, no VOC control requirement is clearly specified. Second, a typographical error exists in how section 5.6.1 references either section 6.4.6 or section 6.4.7.

- Section 7.1 has a missing compliance date and conflicting dates in its last sentence.

Within YSAQMD 2.21, the provisions discussed below conflict with section 110 of the Act and raise rule enforceability issues preventing EPA's full approval of the SIP revision. In part, Rule 2.21's deficiencies relate to an EPA policy described within a memorandum dated September 20, 1999, entitled "State Implementation Plans: Policy Regarding Excess Emissions During Malfunctions, Start-up, and Shutdown" (the Excess Emissions Policy).

Taken together Section 111 and Section 501 are inconsistent with the EPA policy on exemptions for excess emissions during malfunctions, start-up and shutdown. Furthermore, the Air Pollution Control Officer (APCO) discretion within section 111 for approving maintenance plans is a case of unbounded "director's discretion" as there are no criteria delimiting the APCO's authority for approving maintenance plans. These provisions violate EPA requirements concerning enforceability and rule relaxations.

D. EPA Recommendations To Further Improve the Rules

SJVUAPCD added an exemption to Rule 4623 for tanks used in wine fermentation and for storage of resulting products, by-products, and spirits. Formerly, these tanks were not subject to the SIP rule given the TVP of ethanol is less than 1.5 psia under the storage conditions assumed by the rule. Now, given the amendment of the rule to include tanks with a TVP of 0.5 psia, wine and spirit industry storage tanks may be subject to the rule depending upon their size. However, an examination of our guidance and the rule's regulatory history shows that Rule 4623 has been and is intended to regulate storage tanks containing organic liquids derived primarily from petroleum extraction, refining, and storage. Consequently, we have not listed the exemption for winery and spirit industry storage tanks as a rule deficiency.

What remains at issue is whether or not winery and spirit industry storage tanks represent a significant source of VOC emissions that must be reduced if the San Joaquin Valley is to meet CAA RACT and NAAQS requirements. Recently, the SJVUAPCD listed a winery rule as a potential control measure in their Reasonable Further Progress Planning Document. They estimated potential VOC emissions from the wine and spirit industries at 8.5 tons per day (page 4–11, Table 4–3: Tier II Control Measures, "Proposed 2003 and 2005 Rate of Progress Plan," 7/24/02).

We believe this level of VOC emissions to be significant and deserving of further study and analysis. SJVUAPCD should determine whether a regulation reducing VOC emissions from the winery and spirits industry in the San Joaquin Valley should be developed to meet CAA RACT and NAAQS attainment requirements. This determination should be done as part of demonstrating that their attainment plan to meet the ozone NAAQS contains all reasonably available control measures per section 172(c)(1) of the CAA.

E. Proposed Action and Public Comment

As authorized in sections 110(k)(3) and 301(a) of the Act, EPA is proposing a limited approval of these submitted rules to improve the SIP. If finalized, this action would incorporate the submitted rules into the SIP, including those provisions identified as deficient. This approval is limited because EPA is simultaneously proposing a limited disapproval of the rules under section 110(k)(3). If this disapproval is finalized, sanctions will be imposed under section 179 of the Act unless EPA approves subsequent SIP revisions that correct each rule's deficiencies within 18 months. These sanctions would be imposed according to 40 CFR 52.31. A final disapproval would also trigger the federal implementation plan (FIP) requirement under section 110(c). Note that the respective submitted rule has been adopted by the SJVUAPCD and YSAQMD. EPA's final limited disapproval would not prevent these local agencies from enforcing their rule.

We will accept comments from the public on the proposed limited approval and limited disapproval for the next 30 days.

III. Background Information

Why Were These Rules Submitted?

VOCs help produce ground-level ozone and smog, which harm human health and the environment. Section 110(a) of the CAA requires states to submit regulations that control VOC emissions. Table 2 lists some of the national milestones leading to the submittal of this local agency VOC rule.

May 15, 1991	Section 182(a)(2)(A) requires that ozone nonattainment areas correct deficient RACT rules by this date.

IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

A. Executive Order 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has exempted this regulatory action from Executive Order 12866, entitled "Regulatory Planning and Review."

B. Paperwork Reduction Act

This rule does not impose an information collection burden under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.).

C. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) generally requires an agency to conduct a regulatory flexibility analysis of any rule subject to notice and comment rulemaking requirements unless the agency certifies that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Small entities include small businesses, small not-for-profit enterprises, and small governmental jurisdictions.

This rule will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities because SIP approvals under section 110 and subchapter I, part D of the Clean Air Act do not create any new requirements but simply approve requirements that the State is already imposing. Therefore, because the Federal SIP approval does not create any new requirements, I certify that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Moreover, due to the nature of the Federal-State relationship under the Clean Air Act, preparation of flexibility analysis would constitute Federal inquiry into the economic reasonableness of state action. The Clean Air Act forbids EPA to base its actions concerning SIPs on such grounds. Union Electric Co., v. U.S. EPA, 427 U.S. 246, 255-66 (1976); 42 U.S.C. 7410(a)(2).

D. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

Under sections 202 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 ("Unfunded Mandates Act"), signed into law on March 22, 1995, EPA must prepare a budgetary impact statement to accompany any proposed or final rule that includes a Federal mandate that may result in estimated costs to State, local, or tribal governments in the aggregate; or to the private sector, of $100 million or more. Under section 205, EPA must select the most cost-effective and least burdensome alternative that achieves the objectives of the rule and is consistent with statutory requirements. Section 203 requires EPA to establish a plan for informing and advising any small governments that may be significantly or uniquely impacted by the rule.

EPA has determined that the partial approval action proposed does not include a Federal mandate that may result in estimated costs of $100 million or more to either State, local, or tribal governments in the aggregate, or to the private sector. This Federal action proposes to approve in part pre-existing requirements under State or local law, and imposes no new requirements. Accordingly, no additional costs to State, local, or tribal governments, or to the private sector, result from this action.

E. Executive Order 13132, Federalism

Federalism (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999) revokes and replaces Executive Orders 12612 (Federalism) and 12875 (Enhancing the Intergovernmental Partnership). Executive Order 13132 requires EPA to develop an accountable process to ensure "meaningful and timely input by State and local officials in the development of regulatory policies that have federalism implications." "Policies that have federalism implications" is defined in the Executive Order to include regulations that have "substantial direct effects on the States, on the relationship between the national government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government." Under Executive Order 13132, EPA may not issue a regulation that has federalism implications, that imposes substantial direct compliance costs, and that is not required by statute, unless the Federal government provides the funds necessary to pay the direct compliance costs incurred by State and local governments, or EPA consults with State and local officials early in the process of developing the proposed regulation. EPA also may not issue a regulation that has federalism implications and that preempts State law unless the Agency consults with State and local officials early in the process of developing the proposed regulation.

This rule will not have substantial direct effects on the States, on the relationship between the national government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government, as specified in Executive Order 13132, because it merely approves in part a state rule implementing a federal standard, and does not alter the relationship or the distribution of power and responsibilities established in the Clean Air Act. Thus, the requirements of section 6 of the Executive Order do not apply to this rule.

F. Executive Order 13175, Coordination With Indian Tribal Governments

Executive Order 13175, entitled "Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments" (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000), requires EPA to develop an accountable process to ensure "meaningful and timely input by tribal officials in the development of regulatory policies that have tribal implications." This proposed rule does not have tribal implications, as specified in Executive Order 13175. It will not have substantial direct effects on tribal governments, on the relationship between the Federal government and Indian tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal government and Indian tribes. Thus, Executive Order 13175 does not apply to this rule.

EPA specifically solicits additional comment on this proposed rule from tribal officials.

G. Executive Order 13045, Protection of Children From Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks

Protection of Children from Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks (62 FR 19885, April 23, 1997), applies to any rule that: (1) Is determined to be "economically significant" as defined under Executive Order 12866, and (2) concerns an environmental health or safety risk that EPA has reason to believe may have a disproportionate effect on children. If the regulatory action meets both criteria, the Agency must evaluate the environmental health or safety effects of the planned rule on children, and explain why the planned regulation is preferable to other potentially effective and reasonably feasible alternatives considered by the Agency.

This rule is not subject to Executive Order 13045 because it does not involve decisions intended to mitigate environmental health or safety risks.

H. Executive Order 13211, Actions That Significantly Affect Energy Supply, Distribution, or Use

This rule is not subject to Executive Order 13211, "Actions Concerning Regulations That Significantly Affect Energy Supply, Distribution, or Use" (66 FR 28355, May 22, 2001) because it is not a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866.

I. National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act

Section 12 of the National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act (NTTAA) of 1995 requires Federal agencies to evaluate existing technical standards when developing a new regulation. To comply with NTTAA, EPA must consider and use "voluntary consensus standards" (VCS) if available and applicable when developing programs and policies unless doing so would be inconsistent with applicable law or otherwise impractical.

The EPA believes that VCS are inapplicable to this action. Today's action does not require the public to perform activities conducive to the use of VCS.

Fisheries of the Exclusive Economic Zone Off Alaska; Amendment of Eligibility Criteria for the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Management Area Pacific Cod Hook-and-line and Pot Gear Fisheries

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Proposed rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: NMFS issues a proposed rule to amend eligibility criteria for Pacific cod endorsements to groundfish licenses issued under the License Limitation Program (LLP). These endorsements are necessary to participate in the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Management Area (BSAI) Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries with vessels greater than or equal to 60 feet (18.3 m) length overall (LOA). This action is necessary to allow additional participation in the BSAI Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries, as intended by the North Pacific Fishery Management Council (Council). The intended effect of this action is to prevent unnecessary restriction on participation in the BSAI Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries and to conserve and manage the Pacific cod resources in the BSAI in accordance with the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (Magnuson-Stevens Act).

DATES: Comments must be received by May 27, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Comments may be sent to Sue Salvesson, Assistant Regional Administrator for Sustainable Fisheries, Alaska Region, NMFS, P.O. Box 21668, Juneau, AK, 99802, Attn: Lori Durall, or delivered to room 401 of the Federal Building, 709 West 9th Street, Juneau, AK. Comments will not be accepted if submitted via e-mail or Internet. Copies of the Regulatory Impact Review/Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RIR/IRFA) prepared for this proposed action are available at the above NMFS address; telephone 907-586-7247. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: NMFS manages the groundfish fisheries in the exclusive economic zone off Alaska under the Fishery Management Plan for the Groundfish Fishery of the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Area (FMP). The Council prepared the FMP under the authority of the Magnuson-Stevens Act. Regulations governing U.S. fisheries and implementing this FMP appear at 50 CFR parts 600 and 679.

Background of Amendment 67

The Council recommended, and NMFS approved, the LLP to address concerns about excess fishing capacity in the groundfish and crab fisheries off Alaska. More information on the specifics of the LLP and the problems it was designed to resolve can be found in the final rule implementing the LLP (63 FR 52642, October 1, 1998). To address excess fishing capacity and to protect long-term participants with extensive catch histories in the BSAI Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries, the Council recommended Amendment 67 to the FMP. Amendment 67 authorized regulatory criteria for a Pacific cod endorsement to the LLP groundfish license. The endorsement is required for any vessel owner or operator to participate in the directed fishery for Pacific cod using hook-and-line or pot gear on a vessel greater than or equal to 60 feet (18.3 m) LOA in the BSAI. The details of Amendment 67 are provided in the proposed rule (66 FR 49908, October 1, 2001) and in the EA/RIR/IRFA for Amendment 67 (see ADDRESSES). This proposed action concerns the criteria applicable to harvests used by participants to establish their eligibility for an LLP groundfish license with a Pacific cod endorsement.

The final rule implementing Amendment 67 (67 FR 18129, April 15, 2002) specified eligibility criteria for a BSAI Pacific cod endorsement on an LLP groundfish license. In the final rule, § 679.4(k)(9)(iii)(F) specifies that harvests used to determine a person's eligibility to participate in the BSAI Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries must be made from the vessel that was used for the basis of eligibility for the person's LLP groundfish license.

In October 2002, the Council clarified the intended effect of Amendment 67 and recommended amending the regulations that implement the eligibility criteria for a Pacific cod endorsement for the hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries. Specifically, the Council recommended that a person be able to use BSAI Pacific cod harvests to meet these eligibility criteria under certain circumstances, even if the harvests were not made from the vessel used as the basis for the license holder's LLP groundfish licenses, as is currently required.

Hence, this proposed action would amend the regulatory language at § 679.4(k)(9)(iii)(F) to specify that a person who owns the qualifying harvests of Pacific cod from a different vessel, but who also owned an LLP-qualifying groundfish fishing history at the time the qualifying Pacific cod threshold harvests were made, is also eligible for the Pacific cod endorsement on the person's LLP groundfish license. To prevent an increase in the number of LLP groundfish licenses, the regulations would also be amended to restrict the LLP qualifying history and the Pacific cod qualifying history of any one vessel to no more than one LLP groundfish license endorsed for Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries. This amendment would limit the number of vessels allowed to participate in the Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries as intended by the LLP.

Classification

NOAA Fisheries prepared an IRFA to evaluate the impact of this action on small entities, in accordance with the provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, as modified by the Small Business Regulatory Fairness Act of 1996 (5 U.S.C. 603(b)). The purposes of this action were described earlier in the preamble to this proposed rule. The entities regulated by this action are those that did not qualify for a Pacific cod endorsement under the final rule published in April 2002 and that will qualify under the recommendations by the Council in October 2002. The six entities that may be affected by this proposed rule are: two hook-and-line catcher processors, one pot catcher-processor, and three pot catcher vessels. Because of the small numbers of vessels, confidentiality rules make it impossible to provide detailed information on these entities. All BSAI pot vessels are believed to be small entities, and 31 of 45 hook-and-line catcher processors are believed to be small entities. For the purposes of this analysis, these six entities have been treated as small entities. This action is not expected to have adverse impacts on these entities; each will be allowed to claim additional annual harvests to qualify for the BSAI Pacific cod endorsement.

This regulation does not impose new recordkeeping or reporting requirements on the regulated small entities.

This analysis did not reveal any Federal rules that duplicate, overlap or conflict with the proposed action.

The status quo was evaluated as an alternative to the proposed action. This alternative would have had adverse impacts on the regulated small entities, in contrast to the preferred alternative, because it would have prevented them from claiming the additional harvests required to qualify for the Pacific cod endorsement. Failure to qualify for the endorsement would preclude the operations from participating in the fishery as initial issuees.

This proposed rule has been determined to be not significant for purposes of E.O. 12866.

(F) Harvests within the BSAI will count toward eligibility amounts in the table at paragraph (k)(9)(ii) of this section if:

(1) Those harvests were made from the vessel that was used as the basis of eligibility for the license holder's LLP groundfish license, or

(2) Those harvests were made from a vessel that was not the vessel used as the basis of eligibility for the license holder's LLP groundfish license, provided that, at the time the endorsement-qualifying Pacific cod harvests were made by that vessel, the person who owned such endorsement-qualifying fishing history also owned the fishing history of a vessel that satisfied the requirements for the LLP groundfish license.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (k)(9)(iii)(F)(2) of this section, the LLP groundfish license qualifying history or the Pacific cod qualifying history of any one vessel may not be used to satisfy the requirements for issuance of more than one LLP groundfish license endorsed for the BSAI Pacific cod hook-and-line or pot gear fisheries.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

April 21, 2003.

The Department of Agriculture has submitted the following information collection requirement(s) to OMB for review and clearance under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, Public Law 104-13. Comments regarding (a) whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the agency's estimate of burden including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility and clarity of the information to be collected; (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology should be addressed to: Desk Officer for Agriculture, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget (OMB), Washington, DC 20503 and to Departmental Clearance Office, USDA, OCIO, Mail Stop 7602, Washington, DC 20250-7602. Comments regarding these information collections are best assured of having their full effect if received within 30 days of this notification. Copies of the submission(s) may be obtained by calling (202) 720-8681.

An agency may not conduct or sponsor a collection of information unless the collection of information displays a currently valid OMB control number and the agency informs potential persons who are to respond to the collection of information that such persons are not required to respond to the collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Rural Business-Cooperative Service

Title: National Rural Development Partnership.

OMB Control Number: 0570-0043.

Summary of Collection: The Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 authorized the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture to continue the National Rural Development Partnership (NRDP). The objective of the National Rural Development Partnership is to facilitate the establishment and recognition of one State Rural Development Council (SRDCs) per state. The statute requires that membership of the SRDC is responsible for the governance and operations of the SRDC and that the applicant has matching funds available, or in-kind goods and services to support the activities of the SRDC. SRDCs are members of the NRDP.

Need and Use of the Information: The information collected is used to confirm that an applicant meet the eligibility requirements. The following items: Description of Council, copies of organizational documents and rules of governance, membership list, policy statement regarding operations, summary profile of state, and evidence of matching funds are required in the application package and is necessary for USDA to verify eligibility. Without this information, USDA cannot assure that new or existing SRDCs meet the statutory requirements for eligibility.

Description of Respondents: Not-for-profit institutions; Business or other for-profit; Farms; Individuals or households; Federal Government; State, Local or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 50.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: Annually.

Total Burden Hours: 300.

Rural Utility Service

Title: 7 CFR part 1755, Telecommunications Standards and Specifications.

OMB Control Number: 0572-NEW.

Summary of Collection: 7 CFR part 1755 establishes Agency policy that materials and equipment purchased by Rural Utility Service (RUS) telecommunications borrowers or accepted as contractor-furnished material must conform to RUS standards and specifications where they have been established and, if included in RUS IP 344-02, "List of Materials Acceptable for Use on Telecommunications System of RUS Borrowers", must be selected from that list or must have received technical acceptance from RUS. To protect the security of loans it makes and to ensure that the telecommunications services provided to rural Americans are comparable to those offered in urban and suburban areas, RUS establishes the minimum acceptable performance criteria for materials and equipment to be employed on telecommunications system financed by RUS. Manufacturers wishing to sell their products to RUS borrowers, request RUS' consideration for acceptance of their products and submit data demonstrating their products' compliance with RUS specification.

Need and Use of the Information: RUS will evaluate the data to determine that the quality of the products is acceptable and that their use will not jeopardize loan security. The information is closely reviewed to be certain that test data, product dimensions and product material compositions fully comply with RUS technical standards and specifications that have been established for the particular product.

Description of the Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 60.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 2020.

Forest Service

Title: Urgent Removal of Timber.

OMB Control Number: 0596-0167.

Summary of Collection: Periodically, catastrophic events such as severe drought conditions, insect and disease outbreaks, wildfires, floods, and wind throw occur on forested lands within, or near, National Forest System lands. As a result of such catastrophic events, substantial amounts of private and other public timber may be severely damaged. The damaged timber must be harvested within a relatively short time period to avoid substantial losses in both the quantity and quality of the timber due to deterioration. The critical time period available for harvesting this damaged timber and avoiding substantial deterioration varies with the season of the year, the species of timber, the damaging agent, and the location of the damaged timber. The National Forest Management Act of 1976 (16 U.S.C. 472a) provides that timber sale contracts with an original term of 2 years or more may not be extended unless there is a finding that substantial overriding public interest justifies an extension.

Need and Use of the Information: The Forest Service (FS) will collect information to verify that: (a) A specific catastrophe occurred and identifies the particular geographic area which was affected for which urgent removal extensions may be granted; (b) there is a high risk that substantial timber quantities or values of the damaged non-National Forest System timber in the affected geographic area would deteriorate unless urgently removed; (c) the manufacturing facilities and/or logging equipment capacity available to purchasers are insufficient to provide for both the rapid harvest of damaged non-National Forest System timber in need of urgent removal and the continued harvest of undamaged National Forest System timber under contract with the FS; (d) failure to harvest the damaged non-National Forest System timber promptly may result in significant public or private resource loss, pose a threat to public safety, or create a threat of an insect and/or disease epidemic to National Forest System, other public, or private lands or resources.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Individuals or households; Federal Government; State, Local or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 25.

Rural Business Service

OMB Control Number: 0570-0016.

Summary of Collection: The Business and Industry (B&I) program was legislated in 1972 under section 310B of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended (the Act). The purpose of the B&I program, as authorized by the Act, is to improve economic and environmental climate in rural communities, including pollution abatement and control. This purpose is achieved through bolstering the existing private credit structure through the guaranteeing of quality loans, which will provide lasting community benefits. The B&I program is administered by the Rural Business Service (RBS) through Rural Development State and sub-State offices serving each State. RBS will collect information using various forms from the lender and the borrower. This information is vital for making prudent financial decisions.

Need and Use of the Information: RBS will collect information to monitor the guaranteed loan portfolio to ensure that the lenders are adequately servicing the loans. RBS through its respective Business Programs Divisions in Washington, DC and its 47 State Offices throughout the United States will be the primary users of the information collected. If the information is not collected, RBS would not be able to make prudent credit decisions nor would the Agency be able to effectively monitor the lender's servicing activities and thus minimize losses under the program.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; State, Local or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 12,430.

Rural Business Service

Title: 7 CFR 4279-B, Guaranteed Loan Making—Business and Industry Loans.

OMB Control Number: 0570-0017.

Summary of Collection: The Business and Industry (B&I) program was legislated in 1972 under section 310B of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended. The purpose of the program is to improve, develop, or finance businesses, industries, and employment and improve the economic and environmental climate in rural communities. This purpose is achieved through bolstering the existing private credit structure through the guaranteeing of quality loans made by lending institutions, thereby providing lasting community benefits. The B&I program is administered by the Rural Business Service (RBS) through Rural Development State and sub-State offices serving each State.

Need and Use of the Information: RBS will collect information to determine a lender and borrower eligibility and creditworthiness. The information is used by RBS loan officers and approval officials to determine program eligibility and for program monitoring.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; State, Local or Tribal Government; Farms; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 8,544.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 20,561.

Rural Business Service (RBS)

Title: 7 CFR 4279-A, Guaranteed Loanmaking General.

OMB Control Number: 0570-0018.

Summary of Collection: The Business and Industry (B&I) program was legislated in 1972 under Section 310B of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended. The purpose of the program is to improve, develop, or finance businesses, industries, and employment and improve the economic and environmental climate in rural communities. This purpose is achieved through bolstering the existing private credit structure through the guaranteeing of quality loans made by lending institutions, thereby providing lasting community benefits. The B&I program is administered by the RBS through Rural Development State and sub-State offices serving each state.

Need and Use of the Information: RBS will collect information to determine eligibility and credit worthiness for a lender or borrower. The information is used by Agency loan officers and approval officials to determine lender program eligibility and for program monitoring.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; State, Local or Tribal Government; Farms; Not-for-profit institutions.

Rural Utilities Service

Title: Financial and Statistical Report for Telephone Borrowers.

OMB Control Number: 0572-0031.

Summary of Collection: The Rural Utilities Service's (RUS) is a credit agency of the Department of Agriculture. The department makes mortgage loans and loan guarantees to finance electric, telecommunications and water and waste facilities in rural areas. In addition to providing loans and loan guarantees, one of RUS' main objectives is to safeguard loan security until the loan is repaid. The RE Act (7 U.S.C. 901 et seq) authorizes the Administrator to make loans for the purpose of providing telephone service to the widest practicable number of rural subscribers. The RE Act also authorizes the Administrator to make studies, investigations, and reports concerning the progress of borrowers' furnishing of adequate telephone service and publish and disseminate this information.

Need and Use of the Information: RUS will use Form 479, "Financial and Statistical Report for Telephone Borrowers". This form provides RUS with (1) vital financial information needed to ensure the maintenance and security of the Government's loans, and (2) statistical data that enables RUS to ensure the provision of quality telephone service as mandated by the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended (RE Act). In addition, RUS will collect information on toll revenues of telephone systems, loan feasibility to assure the loan can be repaid and use this data to compile the agency's Annual Statistical Report. These functions are essential to protect loan security and to achieve the objectives of the RE Act.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 725.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: Annually.

Total Burden Hours: 2,900.

Rural Utilities Service

Title: RUS Specification for quality control and Inspection of Timber Products.

OMB Control Number: 0572-0036.

Summary of Collection: The Rural Utilities Service (RUS) is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). It makes mortgage loans and loan guarantees to finance electric, telecommunications, and water and waste facilities in rural areas. Loan programs are managed in accordance with the Rural Electrification Act (RE Act) of 1936, 7 U.S.C. 901 et seq., as amended.

Need and Use of the Information: RUS will use the information in verifying acceptability of poles and crossarms purchased by RUS borrowers. Each year, RUS borrowers are required to submit an Annual Summary of Purchases that provides a list of plants from which it obtained poles or crossarms during the preceding calendar year and Treaters must provide notification that they will treat poles for the upcoming year. Test reports are needed so that the purchaser, the inspectors, and RUS will be able to spot-check the general accuracy of the tests.

Description of the Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 700.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 40,763.

Rural Utilities Service

Title: 7 CFR 1744-E, Borrower Investments—Telecommunications Loan Program.

OMB Control Number: 0572-0098.

Summary of Collection: The Rural Economic Development Act of 1990, Title XXIII of the Farm Bill, Pub. L. 101-624, authorized qualified Rural Utilities Service (RUS) borrowers to make investments in rural development projects without the prior approval of the RUS Administrator, provided, however that such investments do not cause the borrower to exceed its allowable qualified investment level as determined in accordance with the procedures set forth in 7 CFR part 1744, Subpart E. RUS requests that the borrower submit (1) a description of the rural development project and type of investment; (2) a reasonable estimate of the amount the borrower is committed to provide to the project including future expenditures; and (3) a pro forma balance sheet and cash flow statement for the period covering the borrower's future commitments to determine that the "excess" or proposed "excess" investments will not impair the borrower's ability to repay the loan or cause financial hardship.

Need and Use of the Information: RUS will collect information to consider whether or not to approve a borrower's request to make an investment in a rural development project when such an investment would cause the borrower to exceed its allowable investment level. If this information was not collected, RUS could not thoroughly assess the economic impact of such an investment.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 25.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 238.

Rural Housing Service

Title: 7 CFR 1944-I, "Self-Help Technical Assistance Grants".

OMB Control Number: 0575-0043.

Summary of Collection: This regulation prescribes policies and responsibilities, including the collection and use of information, necessary to administer the Section 523 Mutual and Self-Help housing (MSH) program. The MSH program affords low-income families the opportunity for home ownership by providing funds to non-profit organizations for supervisory and technical assistance to the homebuilding families. Rural Housing Service (RHS) will collect information from non-profit organizations that want to develop a Self-Help program in their area to increase the availability of affordable housing. The information is collected at the local, district and state levels. The information requested by RHS includes financial and organizational information about the non-profit organization.

Need and Use of the Information: RHS needs this information to determine if the organization is capable of successfully carrying out the requirements of the Self-Help program. The information is collected on an as requested or needed basis. RHS has reviewed the program's need for the collection of information versus the burden placed on the public.

Description of Respondents: State, Local or Tribal Government; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 160.

Frequency of Responses: Recordkeeping; Reporting: Monthly, Annually.

Rural Housing Service

Title: 7 CFR 1951-E, "Servicing of Community and Direct Business Programs Loans and Grants".

OMB Control Number: 0575-0066.

Summary of Collection: Rural Development (including Farm Credit Programs of the Farm Service Agency), hereinafter referred to as Agency, is the credit agency for agricultural and rural development for the Department of Agriculture. The Agency offers supervised credit to build and operate family farms, modest housing, water and sewer systems, essential community facilities, and business and industrial operations in rural areas. Section 331 and 335 of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended, authorize the Secretary of Agriculture, acting through the Agency, to establish provisions for security servicing policies for the loans and grants in questions. If there is a problem which exists, a recipient of the loan, grant, or loan guarantee must furnish financial information which is used to aid in resolving the problem through reamortization, sale, transfer, debt restructuring, liquidation, or other means provided in the regulations.

Need and Use of the Information: RHS will collect information to determine applicant/borrower eligibility and project feasibility for various servicing actions. The information enables field staff to ensure that borrowers operate on a sound basis and use loan and grant funds for authorized purposes.

Description of Respondents: State, Local or Tribal Government; Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 275.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Agricultural Marketing Service

Title: Application for Plant Variety Protection Certificate and Objective Description of Variety.

OMB Control Number: 0581-0055.

Summary of Collection: The Plant Variety Protection Act (PVPA), was approved December 24, 1970; 84 Stat. 1542, 7 U.S.C. 2321 et seq. was established to encourage the development of novel varieties of sexually-reproduced plants and make them available to the public, providing intellectual property rights (IPR) protection to those who breed, develop, or discover such novel varieties, and thereby promote progress in agriculture in the public interest. The PVPA is a voluntary user funded program that grants intellectual property ownership rights to breeders of new and novel seed- and tuber-reproduced plant varieties. To obtain these rights the applicant must provide information that shows the variety is eligible for protection and that it is indeed new, distinct, uniform, and stable, as the law requires. Applicants are provided with applications to identify the information that is required to issue a certificate of protection.

Need and Use of the Information: AMS will collect information from the applicant to determine if the variety is eligible for protection under the PVPA. If this information is not collected, applicants would not be able to obtain the protection that the PVPA is intended to provide.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Not-for-profit institutions; Federal Government.

Number of Respondents: 129.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 1,283.

Forest Service

Title: Forest Land Enhancement Program.

OMB Control Number: 0596-NEW.

Summary of Collection: The Forest Land Enhancement Program (FLEP) is authorized in the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (Public Law 107-711) through an amendment to the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act (16 U.S.C. 2103). The goals of FLEP are to: (1) Enhance the productivity of timber, fish and wildlife habitat, soil and water quality, wetland, recreational resources and aesthetic values of private non-industrial private forestland; and (2) establish, manage, maintain, enhance, and restore such forests. The act requires establishing a grants program to achieve sustainable forestry; assist owners of non-industrial private forestlands to more actively manage these lands and related resources; and encourage such owners to use State, Federal, and private sector resource management expertise, financial assistance and educational programs. Through FLEP, States can cost-share up to 75% to implement eligible forest management practices on non-industrial private forest ownerships. In order to be eligible for cost-share, landowners must have a forest management plan that has been approved by their State forester.

Need and Use of the Information: The Forest Service (FS) will collect information to describe how the program will be implemented in each State. The plans must (1) describe how the State will allocate FLEP funding among the four major categories of administration, resource management expertise, education, and financial assistance; (2) describe how cost-share funds shall be made available to eligible participants; (3) describe ownership and acreage limitations; (4) define what constitutes a forest management plan; (5) identify landowner payment limitations; (6) identify eligible cost-share practices; (7) describe how funds may be distributed to participants; and (8) describe program application and reimbursement processes. If these information collection requirements were not implemented, it would be virtually impossible to provide proper Federal oversight for the new program.

Description of Respondents: State, Local or Tribal Government; Individuals or households; Farms.

Number of Respondents: 8,418.

Frequency of Responses: Recordkeeping; Reporting: Semi-annually; Annually.

Plumas and Lassen National Forests; California, Administrative Study 4202-02-01

AGENCY: Forest Service, USDA.

ACTION: Cancellation of notice of intent.

SUMMARY: The Plumas and Lassen National Forests, in conjunction with the Pacific Southwest Research Station, hereby cancel the notice of intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for an administrative study, as published on December 4, 2002 (64 FR 72136-72138). The notice is cancelled because of the need to configure a different study proposal that accommodates the Forests' implementation of the HFQLG legislation and the National Fire Plan while simultaneously addressing concerns with the scientific design of the originally-proposed study. Based on issues and questions raised during scoping, the proposed study was determined to be unacceptable regarding these factors.

BILLING CODE 3410-11-M

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTUREForest Service*Diamond Lake Restoration Project, Umpqua National Forest, Douglas County, OR*AGENCY: Forest Service, USDA.ACTION: Notice of intent to prepare an environmental impact statement.

SUMMARY: The USDA Forest Service will prepare an environmental impact statement (EIS) for improvement of water quality and the recreational fishery at Diamond Lake in the Umpqua National Forest. Eradication or control of the existing tui chub (Gila bicolor) population, an introduced minnow species, is considered essential for accomplishing restoration objectives. Proposed actions include: canal reconstruction, lake draw down, mechanical fish removal and utilization, a September rotenone (fish toxicant) treatment, fish carcass removal and utilization, water management during lake refilling, monitoring, fish restocking, educational activities, and contingency measures for controlling tui chub if they are reintroduced to Diamond Lake in the future. The planning area is located approximately 61 miles east of Roseburg, Oregon and 11 miles north of Crater Lake. The project is expected to be implemented in 2004 through 2006. The agency gives notice of the full environmental analysis and decision-making process that will occur on the proposal so that interested and affected people may become aware of how they can participate in the process and contribute to the final decision.

DATES: Comments concerning the scope of the analysis should be received in writing, by May 30, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Send written comments and suggestions concerning this proposal to James A. Caplan, Forest Supervisor, Umpqua National Forest, 2900 NW Stewart Parkway, Roseburg, Oregon 97470.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION: Direct questions about the proposed action or EIS to Sherri L. Chambers, ID Team Leader, North Umpqua Ranger District, 18782 North Umpqua Highway, Glide, Oregon 97443, or (541) 496-3532.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The area being analyzed in the Diamond Lake Restoration Project EIS encompasses Diamond Lake proper, Lake Creek, Lemolo Lake, and the North Umpqua River. The project area is Diamond Lake proper, an approximately 3,031 acre lake located on National Forest System land on the Diamond Lake Ranger District. The project area is bounded to the North by the North Umpqua River, to the South by Crater Lake, to the East by Mt. Thielsen, and to the West by Mt. Bailey. The project area includes all or portions of sections 30 through 32, T27S, R6E; sections 25 and 36, T27S, R5E; sections 4 through 9 and sections 16 through 21, T28S, R51/2E; and sections 1 and 12, T28S, R5E Willamette Meridian, Douglas County, Oregon.

Purpose and Need for Action. The proposed action is based on the need for improvement of Diamond Lake's water quality and recreational fishery. Diamond Lake is included in the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality's (ODEQ) 303(d) list of water quality limited water bodies for the parameters of pH and algae. In the summers of 2001 and 2002, Diamond Lake experienced severe blooms of the blue-green "algae" Anabaena flos-aquae. This type of algae produces a neuro-toxin that in high concentrations is harmful to humans and other animals. To protect public health and safety, the Umpqua National Forest in cooperation with the Douglas County Health Department closed Diamond Lake to some public uses (wading, swimming, water skiing, and boating) during portions of both summers. Changes in lake ecology associated with overpopulation of the lake by tui chub are believed to be the primary factors influencing the development of toxic algae blooms at Diamond Lake.

For several decades, Diamond Lake has supported a large and popular recreational trout fishery of some importance to the local and regional economy. In recent years, the recreational fishery at Diamond Lake has declined dramatically from a high annual average harvest rate of about 270,000 trout during the 1963-1978 time period to a 1999 low annual harvest rate of 5,000 trout. Failure of the formerly successful recreational fishery is attributed largely to changes in lake ecology caused by overpopulation of the lake by tui chub.

Proposed Action. The proposed action is to eradicate tui chub from Diamond Lake as an essential step in improving water quality and the recreational fishery. Proposed activities are described below in the order in which they would be implemented.

—A blocked and debris-filled existing earthen canal that connects Diamond Lake to Lake Creek would be reconstructed to facilitate a lake draw down. The portion of the canal within Diamond Lake would be dredged to its original depth using a floating suction dredge. Dredge spoils would be used to expand an existing wetland. From the lakeshore to the canal outlet, the canal would be excavated to its original configuration and fitted with a new head-gate structure to control water flow. If necessary, new bridges or culverts would be constructed over the canal to maintain access to the bike trail and summer cabins using Forest Service Road 4795.

—Diamond Lake's water level would be lowered by eight feet from its normal summer level, by using both the reconstructed canal and Lake Creek for water transport. The lake draw down would begin on or around September 15 in the year prior to a chemical treatment. A gravity-driven draw down would occur at a discharge rate approximating a bankfull flow in Lake Creek.

—Several methods would be used to remove and utilize fish biomass from Diamond Lake prior to chemical treatment including: liberalizing catch limits on fishing at the lake; harvest of fish by individual crews using traps, nets and seines; and harvest of fish through commercial fishing operations. Harvested fish carcasses would be converted to an organic fish emulsion product on site (lake shore) or trucked to an off-site plant for utilization as fertilizer.

—The powdered formulation of the fish toxicant rotenone would be applied to Diamond Lake in September. This would happen when water temperature and chemistry reached conditions considered optimal for achieving a complete fish kill. Rotenone would be administered according to label instructions at the necessary amounts based on water volume, temperature, and chemistry in Diamond Lake at the time of application. Sections of Silent Creek and Lake Creek would also be treated with liquid rotenone.

—A commercial fishing or professional fish mortality recovery and recycling operation would be employed to collect fish carcasses following a chemical treatment of the lake. Fish carcasses would be converted to an organic fish emulsion product on site or trucked to an off-site plant for utilization as fertilizer.

—An active water management strategy would be implemented to limit the length of time that Lake Creek is reduced to no or very low flows. When water in Diamond Lake becomes suitable for release (about November), canal headgates would be opened to allow approximately 10 cubic feet per second (cfs) of water to flow into Lake Creek and through the North Umpqua River system.

—A variety of monitoring activities would be used to verify assumptions, evaluate project success, and formulate appropriate lake management strategies including: stream flows and water quality in Lake Creek; water quality in Diamond and Lemolo Lakes and the North Umpqua River; tui chub presence; and phytoplankton, zooplankton and benthic invertebrate and trout populations.

—Diamond Lake would be restocked with fish using an ecologically appropriate stocking strategy. The Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife would manage the lake for hatchery production under the basic yield alternative of Oregon's Trout Plan. However, ecological indices of lake health, existing data and knowledge, annual fish monitoring data and guidance provided in ODEQ's pending Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) publication would be used to determine appropriate numeric goals for annual fish stocking and harvest post-project.

—A number of educational activities would be considered to reduce the likelihood of tui chub reintroduction into Diamond Lake including: "angler stamps", interpretive signs and brochures, and boat inspections.

—Because it is recognized that tui chub may be illegally reintroduced, several actions designed to control tui chub populations would be implemented including: An extensive monitoring program to facilitate early detection of tui chub presence in the lake; stocking with predacious fish species following rotenone treatment and increasing the numbers of predacious fish if tui chub are detected; and using mechanical treatments such as netting and electro-shocking to limit tui chub population growth.

Alternatives. The alternatives to be considered include the No Action Alternative, the Proposed Action, and alternatives to the proposed action.

Issues. Preliminary issues, as identified to date by the Forest and by scoping, include the following: Potential effects of rotenone on non-target species in and around Diamond Lake; Potential effects of rotenone on non-target species in the North Umpqua River if treated water escaped Diamond Lake through Lake Creek or groundwater; potential effects of a lake draw down on the physical integrity of Lake Creek and on water quality in Lake Creek, Lemolo Lake, and the North Umpqua River; potential effects of added nutrients from decomposed fish on water quality in Lake Creek, Lemolo Lake, and the North Umpqua River; the ecologic and economic expense of the proposed action, if history repeated itself and another chemical treatment were needed to eliminate tui chub in the next several decades; the ability and effectiveness of the proposed action to improve water quality in Diamond Lake; and the concern that legislative action would be used to establish fish stocking goals if the proposed ecologically based fish stocking strategy failed to provide an adequate recreational fishery.

Scoping Process. The scoping effort is intended to identify issues, which may lead to the development of alternatives to the proposed action. One of the purposes of this notice of intent is to solicit input from the public as part of the overall scoping effort. In addition to this notice, the public will be notified of the EIS through the Umpqua National Forest's April 2003 Schedule of Proposed Actions.

Public Comments. Comments received in response to this notice and through scoping, including names and addresses of those who comment, will be considered part of the public record on this proposed action and will be available for public inspection. Comments submitted anonymously will be accepted and considered; however, those who submit anonymous comments will not have standing to appeal the subsequent decision under 36 CFR Parts 215. Additionally, pursuant to 7 CFR 1.27(d), any person may request the agency to withhold a submission from the public record by showing how the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) permits such confidentiality. Persons requesting such confidentiality should be aware that, under the FOIA, confidentiality may be granted in only very limited circumstances, such as to protect trade secrets. The Forest Service will inform the requester of the agency's decision regarding the request for confidentiality, and where the request is denied, the agency will return the submission and notify the requester that the comments may be resubmitted with or without name and address within a specified number of days.

Public comments are appreciated throughout the analysis process. The draft EIS is expected to be filed with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and be available for public review by February 2004. The comment period on the draft EIS will be 45 days from the date the EPA publishes the notice of availability in the Federal Register. The final EIS is scheduled to be available in May 2004.

The Forest Service believes it is important to give reviewers notice of this early stage of public participation and of several court rulings related to public participation in the environmental review process. First, reviewers of a draft EIS must structure their participation in the environmental review of the proposal so that it is meaningful and alerts an agency to the reviewer's position and contentions. Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. v. NRDC, 435 U.S. 519, 553 (1978). Also, environmental objections that could have been raised at the draft stage may be waived or dismissed by the court if not raised until after completion of the final EIS. City of Angoon v. Hodel, 803 F.2d 1016, 1022 (9th Cir, 1986) and Wisconsin Heritages, Inc. v. Harris, 490 F. Supp. 1334, 1338 (E.D. Wis. 1980). Because of these court rulings, it is very important that those interested in this proposed action participate by the close of the 45-day comment period so substantive comments and objections are made available to the Forest Service at a time when it can meaningfully consider and respond to them in the final EIS.

To assist the Forest Service in identifying and considering issues and concerns on the proposed action, comments on the draft EIS should be as specific as possible. It is also helpful if comments refer to specific pages or chapters of the draft statement. Comments may also address the adequacy of the draft EIS or the merits of the alternatives formulated and discussed in the statement. (Reviewers may wish to refer to the Council on Environmental Quality Regulations for implementing the procedural provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 40 CFR 1503.3 in addressing these points.)

In the final EIS, the Forest Service is required to respond to substantive comments and responses received during the comment period that pertain to the environmental consequences discussed in the draft EIS and applicable laws, regulations, and policies considered in making a decision regarding the proposal. The Responsible Official is Forest Supervisor of the Umpqua National Forest. The Responsible Official will document the Diamond Lake Restoration Project decision and rationale for the decision in a Record of Decision. The decision will be subject to review under Forest Service Appeal Regulations (36 CFR Part 215).

BILLING CODE 3410-11-MDEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE*Rural Utilities Service*Information Collection Activity; Comment Request*AGENCY: Rural Utilities Service, USDA.ACTION: Notice and request for comments.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. chapter 35, as amended), the Rural Utilities Service (RUS) invites comments on this information collection for which RUS intends to request approval from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

DATES: Comments on this notice must be received by June 24, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: F.

Lamont Heppe, Jr., Director, Program Development and Regulatory Analysis, Rural Utilities Service, 1400 Independence Ave., SW., STOP 1522, Room 4036 South Building, Washington, DC 20250-1522. Telephone: (202) 720-9550. FAX: (202) 720-4120.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) regulation (5 CFR part 1320) implementing provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104-13) requires that interested members of the public and affected agencies have an opportunity to comment on information collection and recordkeeping activities (see 5 CFR 1320.8(d)). This notice identifies an information collection that RUS is submitting to OMB for extension.

Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the Agency, including whether the information will have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the Agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology. Comments may be sent to: F. Lamont Heppe, Jr., Director, Program Development and Regulatory Analysis, Rural Utilities Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, STOP 1522, 1400 Independence Ave., SW., Washington, DC 20250-1522. FAX: (202) 720-4120.
Title: RUS Form 675, Certification of Authority.

OMB Control Number: 0572-0074.

Type of Request: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Abstract: The Rural Utilities Service (RUS) manages loan programs in accordance with the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended (7 U.S.C. 901 et seq.) (RE Act). A major factor in managing loan programs is controlling the advance of funds. One reason to control funds is so that the actual borrowers get their money. The use of RUS Form 675 allows this control to be achieved by providing a list of authorized signatures against which signatures requesting funds are compared. RUS Form 675 provides an effective control against the unauthorized release of funds by providing a list of authorized signatures. OMB Circular A-123, Management Accountability and Control, states that information should be maintained on a current basis and that cash should be protected from unauthorized use. Form 675 allows borrowers to keep RUS up-to-date of any changes in signature authority and controls the release funds only to authorized borrower representatives.

Estimate of Burden: Public reporting for this collection of information is estimated to average .10 hours per response.

Respondents: Business or other for profit; Not-for-profit institutions; and State, Local, or Tribal government.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 625.

Estimated Number of Responses per Respondent: 1.

Copies of this information collection can be obtained from Michele Brooks, Program Development and Regulatory Analysis, at (202) 690-1078. FAX: (202) 720-4120.

All responses to this notice will be summarized and included in the request for OMB approval. All comments will also become a matter of public record.

Dated: April 18, 2003.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Rural Utilities Service

Information Collection Activity; Comment Request

AGENCY: Rural Utilities Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice and request for comments.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. chapter 35, as amended), the Rural Utilities Service (RUS) invites comments on this information collection for which RUS intends to request approval from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

DATES: Comments on this notice must be received by June 24, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: F. Lamont Heppe, Jr., Director, Program

Development and Regulatory Analysis, Rural Utilities Service, 1400 Independence Ave., SW., STOP 1522, Room 4036 South Building, Washington, DC 20250-1522. Telephone: (202) 720-9550. FAX: (202) 720-4120.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) regulation (5 CFR part 1320) implementing provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104-13) requires that interested members of the public and affected agencies have an opportunity to comment on information collection and recordkeeping activities (see 5 CFR 1320.8(d)). This notice identifies an information collection that RUS is submitting to OMB for reinstatement.

Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the Agency, including whether the information will have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the Agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology. Title: 7 CFR 1717, Subpart Y, Settlement of Debt Owed by Electric Borrowers.

OMB Control Number: 0572-0116.

Type of Request: Extension of a currently approved information collection.

Abstract: The Rural Utilities Service (RUS) makes mortgage loans and loan guarantees to electric systems to provide and improve electric service in rural areas pursuant to the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended (7 U.S.C. 901 et seq.) (RE Act). This information collection requirement stems from passage of Pub. L. 104-127, on April 4, 1996, which amended section 331(b) of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 1921 et seq.) to extend to RUS the Secretary of Agriculture's authority to settle debts with respect to loans made or guaranteed by RUS. Only those electric borrowers that are unable to fully repay their debts to the government and who apply to RUS for relief will be affected by this information collection.

The collection will require only that information which is essential for determining: the need for debt settlement; the amount of relief that is needed; the amount of debt that can be repaid; the scheduling of debt repayment; and, the range of opportunities for enhancing the amount of debt that can be recovered. The information to be collected will be similar to that which any prudent lender would require to determine whether debt settlement is required and the amount of relief that is needed. Since the need for relief is expected to vary substantially from case to case, so will the required information collection.

Estimate of Burden: Public reporting burden for this collection is estimated to average 3,000 hours per response.

Respondents: Not-for-profit institutions; Business or other for-profit institutions.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 1.
Estimated Number of Responses per Respondent: 1.

Estimated Total Annual Burden on Respondents: 3,000 hours.

COMMITTEE FOR PURCHASE FROM PEOPLE WHO ARE BLIND OR SEVERELY DISABLED

Procurement List; Proposed Additions

AGENCY: Committee for Purchase From People Who Are Blind or Severely Disabled.

ACTION: Proposed additions to Procurement List.

SUMMARY: The Committee is proposing to add to the Procurement List services to be furnished by nonprofit agencies employing persons who are blind or have other severe disabilities.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before: May 25, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Sheryl D. Kennerly, (703) 603-7740.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice is published pursuant to 41 U.S.C. 47(a)(2) and 41 CFR 51-2.3. Its purpose is to provide interested persons an opportunity to submit comments of the proposed actions. If the Committee approves the proposed additions, the entities of the Federal government identified in the notice for each service will be required to procure the services listed below from nonprofit agencies employing persons who are blind or have other severe disabilities. I certify that the following action will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. The major factors considered for this certification were:

1. If approved, the action will not result in any additional reporting, recordkeeping or other compliance requirements for small entities other than the small organizations that will furnish the services to the government.

2. If approved, the action will result in authorizing small entities to furnish the services to the government.

3. There are no known regulatory alternatives which would accomplish the objectives of the Javits-Wagner-O'Day Act (41 U.S.C. 46-48c) in connection with the services proposed for addition to the Procurement List. Comments on this certification are invited.

Commenters should identify the statement(s) underlying the certification on which they are providing additional information.

The following services are proposed for addition to Procurement List for production by the nonprofit agencies listed:

Services

Service Type/Location: Custodial Service, Capt Alden D Allen AFRC, Horseheads, New York.

COMMITTEE FOR PURCHASE FROM PEOPLE WHO ARE BLIND OR SEVERELY DISABLED

Procurement List; Additions

AGENCY: Committee for Purchase From People Who Are Blind or Severely Disabled.

ACTION: Additions to Procurement List.

SUMMARY: This action adds to the Procurement List services to be furnished by nonprofit agencies employing persons who are blind or have other severe disabilities.

EFFECTIVE DATE: May 25, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Sheryl D. Kennerly, (703) 603-7740.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On October 11, 2002, January 10, January 17, and February 14, 2003, the Committee for Purchase From People Who Are Blind or Severely Disabled published notice (67 FR 63376, 68 FR 1434, 2498, and 7499) of proposed additions to the Procurement List. After consideration of the material presented to it concerning capability of qualified nonprofit agencies to provide the services and impact of the additions on the current or most recent contractors, the Committee has determined that the services listed below are suitable for procurement by the Federal government under 41 U.S.C. 46-48c and 41 CFR 51-2.4. I certify that the following action will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. The major factors considered for this certification were:

1. The action will not result in any additional reporting, recordkeeping or other compliance requirements for small entities other than the small organizations that will furnish the services to the government.

2. The action will result in authorizing small entities to furnish the services to the government.

3. There are no known regulatory alternatives which would accomplish the objectives of the Javits-Wagner-O'Day Act (41 U.S.C. 46-48c) in connection with the services proposed for addition to the Procurement List.

Accordingly, the following services are added to the Procurement List:

Services

Service Type/Location: Base Supply Center, Oceana Naval Air Station, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

NPA: Virginia Industries for the Blind, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Contract Activity: Fleet and Industries Supply Center, Norfolk, Virginia.

Service Type/Location: Base Supply Center, Space and Naval Warfare Systems Center, San Diego, California.

NPA: The Lighthouse for the Blind, Inc., Seattle, Washington.

Service Type/Location: Custodial Service, U.S. Customs Service, Aviation Hanger, 457 Sandau Road, Bldg #2, 447 Sandau Road, San Antonio, Texas.

NPA: Mavagi Enterprises, Inc., San Antonio, Texas.

Contract Activity: U.S. Customs Service, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Service Type/Location: Food Service Attendant, U.S. Navy Sub Base, Galley 446, Groton, Connecticut.

NPA: CW Resources, Inc., New Britain, Connecticut.

Contract Activity: Fleet Industrial Supply Center, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

This action does not affect current contracts awarded prior to the effective date of this addition or options that may be exercised under those contracts.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Bureau of Industry and Security

[Docket No. 02-BXA-09]

Action Affecting Export Privileges; FRANK CURIC, In the Matter of: Frank Curic, Bisce Polje, BB, 88104 Mostar, Bosnia Herzegovina, Respondent; Order

The Bureau of Industry and Security, United States Department of Commerce ("BIS"), having initiated an administrative proceeding against Frank Curic, ("Curic"), pursuant to section 13(c) of the Export Administration Act of 1979, as amended (50 U.S.C. app. §§ 2401-2420 (2000)) ("Act"),¹ and the Export Administration Regulations (currently codified at 15 CFR parts 730-774 (2002)) ("Regulations"),² based on the charging letter issued to Curic that alleged that Curic violated the Regulations on three occasions. Specially, the charges are:

1. One Violation of 15 CFR 764.2(c)—Attempting To Export a Shotgun Without the Required License: On or about July 31, 2000, Curic attempted to export a Mossberg shotgun with a barrel length of at least 18 inches but less than 24 inches (the "shotgun"), an item subject to the Regulations and covered by export control classification number 0A984, from the United States to Bosnia and Herzegovina without obtaining an export license from the Department of Commerce as required by Section 742.7(a) of the Regulations.

² The Regulations governing the violations at issue are found in the 2000 version of the Code of Federal Regulations (15 CFR parts 730-774 (2000)) and they are substantially the same as the 2002 version of the Regulations which govern the procedural aspects of this case.

2. One violation of 15 CFR 764.2(e)—Concealing a Shotgun with Knowledge that a Violation of the Regulations Was Intended to Occur: In connection with the attempted export referenced above, Curic concealed the shotgun knowing that the shotgun would be exported from the United States in violation of the Regulations. Pursuant to section 742.7(a) of the Regulations, an export license was required to export the shotgun, an item subject to the Regulations and covered by export control classification number 0A984, from the United States to Bosnia and Herzegovina. Curic knew that an export license was required from the Department of Commerce to export the shotgun to Bosnia and Herzegovina. However, Curic did not obtain a license to export the item.

3. One Violation of 15 CFR 764.2(g)(1)—Making a Material Misrepresentation on a Shipper's Export Declaration: In connection with the attempted export referenced above, Curic, through a freight forwarder, made a material misrepresentation to the United States Government by filing or causing to be filed a Shipper's Export Declaration³ that stated falsely that Curic's vehicle would be "unpacked," i.e., would not contain any personal belongings or other effects, when it was exported from the United States to Bosnia and Herzegovina and that license exception BAG authorized the export. In response to Curic's statement that his vehicle would be unpacked, the freight forwarder prepared and filed a Shipper's Export Declaration that stated "1 unpacked Lincoln Town Car" was being exported to Bosnia and Herzegovina under license exception BAG. These statements were false as Curic packed this vehicle with his belongings, including the shotgun, before attempting to export it. An export license was required for the export of the shotgun to Bosnia and Herzegovina.

BIS and Curic having entered into a Settlement Agreement pursuant to section 766.18(b) of the Regulations whereby they agreed to settle this matter in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth therein, and the terms of the Settlement Agreement having been approved by me;

It is therefore Ordered

First, that for a period of three years from the date of this Order, Curic, and when acting for or on behalf of Curic, his representatives, agents, assigns or employees ("denied person") may not, directly or indirectly, participate in any way in any transaction involving any commodity, software, or technology (hereinafter collectively referred to as "item") exported or to be exported from the United States that is subject to the Regulations, or in any other activity subject to the Regulations, including, but not limited to:

A. Applying for, obtaining, or using any license, License Exception, or export control document;

B. Carrying on negotiations concerning, or ordering, buying, receiving, using, selling, delivering, storing, disposing of, forwarding, transporting, financing, or otherwise servicing in any way, any transaction involving any item exported or to be exported from the United States that is subject to the regulations, or in any other activity subject to the Regulations; or

C. Benefitting in any way from any transaction involving any item exported or to be exported from the United States that is subject to the Regulations, or in any other activity subject to the Regulations.

Second, that no person may, directly or indirectly, do any of the following:

A. Export or reexport to or on behalf of the denied person any item subject to the Regulations;

B. Take any action that facilitates the acquisition or attempted acquisition by the denied person of the ownership, possession, or control of any item subject to the Regulations that has been or will be exported from the United States, including financing or other support activities related to a transaction whereby the denied person acquires or attempts to acquire such ownership, possession or control;

C. Take any action to acquire from or to facilitate the acquisition or attempted acquisition from the denied person of any item subject to the Regulations that has been exported from the United States;

D. Obtain from the denied person in the United States any item subject to the Regulations with knowledge or reason to know that the item will be, or is intended to be, exported from the United States; or

E. Engage in any transaction to service any item subject to the Regulations that has been or will be exported from the United States and which is owned, possessed or controlled by the denied person, or service any item, of whatever origin, that is owned, possessed or controlled by the denied person if such service involves the use of any item subject to the Regulations that has been or will be exported from the United States. For purposes of this paragraph, servicing means installation, maintenance, repair, modification or testing.

Third, that after notice and opportunity for comment as provided in Section 766.23 of the Regulations, any person, firm, corporation, or business organization related to Curic by affiliation, ownership, control, or position of responsibility in the conduct of trade or related services may also be subject to the provisions of this Order.

Fourth, that this Order does not prohibit any export, reexport, or other transaction subject to the Regulations where the only items involved that are subject to the Regulations are the foreign-produced direct product of U.S.-origin technology.

Fifth, that a copy of this Order shall be delivered to the United States Coast Guard ALJ Docketing Center, 40 Gay Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202-4022, notifying that office that this case is withdrawn from adjudication, as provided by Section 766.18 of the Regulations.

Sixth, that the charging letter, the Settlement Agreement, and this Order shall be made available to the public.

This Order, which constitutes the final agency action in this matter, is effective upon the date of its publication in the Federal Register.

Entered this 16th day of April 2003.

Bureau of Industry and Security

Sensors and Instrumentation, Technical Advisory Committee; Notice of Partially Closed Meeting

The Sensors and Instrumentation Technical Advisory Committee will meet on May 13, 2003, 9:30 a.m., in the Herbert C. Hoover Building, Room 3884, 14th Street between Constitution and Pennsylvania Avenues, NW., Washington, DC. The Committee advises the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Export Administration on technical questions that affect the level of export controls applicable to sensors and instrumentation equipment and technology.

Agenda

Public Session

1. Opening remarks and introductions.

2. Update on Bureau of Industry and Security initiatives.

3. Discussion on proposed measures of military utility for thermal imaging products.

4. Presentation on Office of Export Enforcement issues.

5. Presentation of papers and comments by the public.

Closed Session

6. Discussion of matters properly classified under Executive Order 12958, dealing with the U.S. export control program and strategic criteria related thereto.

A limited number of seats will be available during the public session of the meeting. Reservations are not accepted. To the extent that time permits, members of the public may present oral statements to the Committee. The public may submit written statements at any time before or after the meeting. However, to facilitate distribution of public presentation materials to the Committee members, the Committee suggests that presenters forward the public presentation materials prior to the meeting date to the following address: Ms. Lee Ann Carpenter, OSIES/EA/BIS MS: 3876, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th St. & Constitution Ave., NW., Washington, DC 20230.

The Assistant Secretary for Administration, with the concurrence of the General Counsel, formally determined on November 29, 2001, pursuant to section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, as amended, that the series of meetings of the Committee and of any Subcommittees thereof, dealing with the classified materials listed in 5 U.S.C. 552b(c)(1) shall be exempt from the provisions relating to public meetings found in section 10(a)(1) and 10(a)(3), of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. The remaining series of meetings or portions thereof will be open to the public.

Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts From the People's Republic of China

AGENCY: Import Administration, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of final determination of sales at less than fair value.

SUMMARY: We determine that lawn and garden steel fence posts (fence posts) from the People's Republic of China (PRC) are being sold, or are likely to be sold, in the United States at less than fair value (LTFV), as provided in section 735 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act). The estimated margins of sales at LTFV are shown in the Final Determination of Investigation section of this notice.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 25, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Salim Bhabhrawala or Chris Welty, Group II, Office 5, Import Administration, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482-1784, (202) 482-0186, respectively.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Case History

The preliminary determination in this investigation was published on December 4, 2002. See Notice of Preliminary Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Postponement of Final Determination: Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts from the People's Republic of China, 67 FR 72141 (December 4, 2002) (Preliminary Determination). Since the preliminary determination, the following events have occurred.

We conducted verification of the questionnaire responses of Shanghai BaoSteel International Economic and Trading Corporation, Ltd. (BaoSteel),¹ Hebei Metals and Minerals Import and Export Corporation (Hebei), and China Nanyang Import & Export Corporation (Nanyang),² from January 13 through

² Tianjin Shenyuan Steel Company, Ltd. and Tianjin Sunny Steel Products Company, Ltd. were the producers of the subject merchandise sold by Nanyang during the POI.

January 24, 2003. See Verification of Sales and Factors of Production Data Submitted by Shanghai BaoSteel International Economic and Trading Corporation, Ltd. (Feb. 20, 2003); Verification of Sales and Factors of Production Data Submitted by Hebei Metals and Minerals Import and Export Corporation and its Suppliers, (Mar. 4, 2003); and Verification of Sales and Factor of Production Data Submitted by China Nanyang Import & Export Co., Ltd. (Mar. 4, 2003).

On January 15, 2003, the petitioner³ submitted information to support its contention that the price of BaoSteel's market-economy supplied input should not be included in the calculation of normal value. See Issues and Decision Memorandum for the Final Determination of the Antidumping Duty Investigation of Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts from the People's Republic of China, from Holly A. Kuga, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary, Import Administration, to Joseph A. Spetrini, Acting Assistant Secretary for Import Administration (Decision Memorandum) dated April 18, 2003, at Comment 2.

Respondents Hebei and Nanyang filed surrogate value information and data on January 21, 2003.

On February 23, 2003, the Department of Commerce (the Department) issued a correction to the Preliminary Determination, correcting the scope of the investigation to be consistent with the International Trade Commission's preliminary determination. See Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts from China, 67 FR 42581 (June 24, 2002). No other changes were made to the Preliminary Determination. See Correction: Notice of Preliminary Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Postponement of Final Determination: Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts from the People's Republic of China, 68 FR 8737 (Feb. 25, 2003).

On March 13, 2003, Hebei, Nanyang, and the petitioner filed case briefs. BaoSteel did not file a case brief. On March 17, 2003, the Department filed a letter rejecting the petitioner's March 13, 2003, case brief because it contained untimely filed new information. We asked the petitioner to resubmit its case brief in compliance with the Department's specific redaction instructions contained within that letter. (See Letter from the Department to Steel City Corporation dated March 17, 2003). On March 18, 2003, the petitioner submitted a revised version of its case brief, complying with the Department's instructions in the Department's March 17, 2003, letter. The petitioner also filed its rebuttal brief on March 18, 2003. All three respondents filed rebuttal briefs on March 24, 2003.

No hearing was requested by the interested parties in this proceeding.

Scope of Investigation

For purposes of this investigation, the products covered consist of all "U" shaped or "hat" shaped lawn and garden fence posts made of steel and/or any other metal, weighing 1 pound or less per foot, and produced in the PRC. The fence posts included within the scope of this investigation weigh up to 1 pound per foot and are made of steel and/or any other metal. Imports of these products are classified under the following categories: fence posts, studded with corrugations, knobs, studs, notches or similar protrusions with or without anchor posts and exclude round or square tubing or pipes.

These posts are normally made in two different classes, light and heavy duty. Light duty lawn and garden fence posts are normally made of 14 gauge steel (0.068 inches—0.082 inches thick), 1.75 inches wide, in 3, 4, 5, or 6 foot lengths. These posts normally weigh approximately 0.45 pounds per foot and are packaged in mini-bundles of 10 posts and master bundles of 400 posts. Heavy duty lawn and garden steel fence posts are normally made of 13 gauge steel (0.082 inches—0.095 inches thick), 3 inches wide, in 5, 6, 7, and 8 foot lengths. Heavy duty posts normally weigh approximately 0.90 pounds per foot and are packaged in mini-bundles of 5 and master bundles of 200. Both light duty and heavy duty posts are included within the scope of the investigation.

Imports of these products are classified under the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS) subheading 7326.90.85.35. Fence posts classified under subheading 7308.90 are also included within the scope of the investigation if the fence posts are made of steel and/or metal.

Specifically excluded from the scope are other posts made of steel and/or other metal including "tee" posts, farm posts, and sign posts, regardless of weight.⁴ Although the HTSUS subheadings are provided for convenience and U.S. Customs Service (Customs) purposes, the written description of the merchandise under investigation is dispositive.

⁴ Tee posts are made by rolling red hot steel into a "T" shape. These posts do not have tabs or holes to help secure fencing to them and have primarily farm and industrial uses.

Period of Investigation

The POI is October 1, 2001, through March 31, 2002.

Analysis of Comments Received

All issues raised in the case and rebuttal briefs by parties to this proceeding and to which we have responded are listed in the Appendix to this notice and addressed in the Decision Memorandum, which is hereby adopted by this notice. Parties can find a complete discussion of the issues raised in this investigation and the corresponding recommendations in this public memorandum which is on file in the Central Records Unit (CRU), room B-099 of the main Department building. In addition, a complete version of the Decision Memorandum can be accessed directly on the internet at <http://ia.ita.doc.gov>. The paper copy and electronic version of the Decision Memorandum are identical in content.

Non-Market Economy

The Department has treated the PRC as a non-market economy (NME) country in all its past antidumping investigations. See e.g., Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Ferrovandium From the People's Republic of China, 67 FR 71137, 71138 (Nov. 29, 2002); and Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Circular Welded Carbon-Quality Steel Pipe From the People's Republic of China, 67 FR 36570, 36571 (May 24, 2002). An NME country designation remains in effect until it is revoked by the Department. See section 771(18)(C) of the Act. The respondents in this investigation have not requested revocation of the PRC's NME status. Therefore, we have continued to treat the PRC as an NME country in this investigation. For further details, see the Preliminary Determination.

Separate Rates

In our Preliminary Determination, we found that all three responding companies met the criteria for the application of separate, company-specific antidumping duty rates. We have not received any other information since the preliminary determination which would warrant reconsideration of our separate rates determination with respect to these companies. For a complete discussion of the Department's determination that the respondents are entitled to a separate rate, see the Preliminary Determination.

The PRC-Wide Rate

In the preliminary determination, we found that the use of adverse facts

available for the PRC-wide rate was appropriate for other exporters in the PRC based on our presumption that those respondents who failed to demonstrate entitlement to a separate rate constitute a single enterprise under common control by the Chinese government. The PRC-wide rate applies to all entries of the merchandise under investigation except for entries from Hebei, entries from Nanyang which were produced by Tianjin Shenyuan Steel Company, Ltd. or Tianjin Sunny Steel Products Company, Ltd., and entries from BaoSteel which were produced by Hangzhou Hongyuan Sporting Goods Company, Ltd.

When analyzing the petition for purposes of the initiation, the Department reviewed all of the data upon which the petitioners relied in calculating the estimated dumping margin and determined that the margin in the petition was appropriately calculated and supported by adequate evidence in accordance with the statutory requirements for initiation. In order to corroborate the petition margin for purposes of using it as adverse facts available, we examined the price and cost information provided in the petition in the context of our preliminary determination. For further details, see Memorandum from Christopher Smith to Gary Taverman, Corroboration of Secondary Information, dated November 27, 2002 (Preliminary Corroboration Memorandum). We received no comments on this decision and continue to find in this final determination that the rate contained in the petition, as recalculated, has probative value. We have continued to apply this rate in the final determination. For further discussion, see Preliminary Determination.

Since the preliminary determination, we have obtained new information regarding several surrogate values. In order to take into account the more recent information, we recalculated the petition margin using, where possible, revised surrogate values to value the petitioners' consumption rates. As a result of this recalculation, the PRC-wide rate is, for the final determination, 15.61 percent. See Memorandum from Christopher Smith to the File, Corroboration of Secondary Information, dated April 18, 2003.

Surrogate Country

For purposes of the final determination, we continue to find that India remains the appropriate surrogate country for the PRC. For further discussion and analysis regarding the surrogate country selection for the PRC, see the Preliminary Determination.

Verification

As provided in section 782(i) of the Act, we verified the information submitted by the respondents for use in our final determination. We used standard verification procedures including examination of relevant accounting and production records, and original source documents provided by the respondents. For changes from the Preliminary Determination as a result of verification, see the Changes Since the Preliminary Determination section below.

Changes Since the Preliminary Determination

Based on our findings at verification and on our analysis of the comments received, we have made the following adjustments to the calculation methodologies used in the preliminary determination. These adjustments are discussed in detail in the Decision Memorandum; Final Calculation of Antidumping Duty Investigation of Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts From the People's Republic of China for Shanghai BaoSteel International Economic and Trading Co., Ltd. (Apr. 18, 2003) (BaoSteel's Final Calculation Memorandum); Final Calculation of Antidumping Duty Investigation of Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts From the People's Republic of China for Hebei Metals and Minerals Import and Export Corporation (Apr. 18, 2003) (Hebei's Final Calculation Memorandum); and Final Calculation of Antidumping Duty Investigation of Lawn and Garden Steel Fence Posts From the People's Republic of China for China Nanyang Import & Export Corporation (Apr. 18, 2003) (Nanyang's Final Calculation Memorandum).

BaoSteel

1. We revised our calculation of freight costs for the factors of production to include the revised distances identified during verification. See BaoSteel's Final Calculation Memorandum.

2. We revised the calculations for the following packing materials for BaoSteel as a result of changes discovered at verification: packing labels, plastic hanging ties, and plastic ties. See id.

Hebei

1. Hebei omitted certain bank fees from its reporting of U.S. sales. Accordingly, we have included these verified fees as adjustments to U.S. price. See Hebei's Final Calculation Memorandum.

2. We removed non-subject "T-posts" from Hebei's U.S. sales database. See id.

3. We revised our calculation of freight costs for the factors of production to include the revised distances identified during verification. See id.

4. We revised certain packing material weights to account for remeasurements conducted at verification. See id.

5. We revised the electricity factor for one of Hebei's suppliers in accordance with our verification findings. See id.

Nanyang

1. As reported by Nanyang during the company's presentation of minor corrections at verification, the company omitted certain bank fees from its reporting of U.S. sales. Accordingly, we have included these verified fees as adjustments to U.S. price. See Nanyang's Final Calculation Memorandum.

2. At verification, certain differences were found between reported transportation distances and remeasured distances. We have revised the transportation distances previously used to reflect the remeasured amounts. See id.

3. We revised our calculation for certain rivet costs to reflect changes in weight, loss rate, and consumption rates discovered at verification. See id.

4. We revised our acid bath and phosphate acid calculations to reflect changes in input allocations discovered at verification. See id.

5. At verification, certain differences were found between reported packing material weights and remeasured weights. We have revised the packing material weights previously used to reflect the remeasured amounts. See id.

6. We revised certain electricity calculations to reflect changes in electricity consumption discovered as a result of verification. See id.

7. We revised certain labor calculations to reflect changes in labor allocations discovered as a result of verification. See id.

8. We revised certain calculations for steel coil scrap production to reflect changes in steel allocations discovered as a result of verification. See id.

Surrogate Values

1. We adjusted the surrogate value for steel coil to reflect updated surrogate data. See Decision Memorandum at Comment 3.

2. We adjusted the surrogate values for the following packing materials to reflect updated surrogate data: steel screws, nails, wood pallets, wood, plastic sheet/strips, foam, plastic twine, and steel pallets. See id.

3. We revised the surrogate value for hydrochloric acid to reflect less aberrational data. See Decision Memorandum at Comment 4.

4. We revised the surrogate value for brokerage and handling to include a more representative and contemporaneous source of surrogate data. See Decision Memorandum at Comment 5.

5. We revised the surrogate value for labor to reflect the Department's updated wage rate regression calculation. See Decision Memorandum at Comment 6.

Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation

In accordance with section 735(c)(1)(B)(ii) of the Act, we are directing the Customs Service to continue suspension liquidation of entries of subject merchandise from the PRC, with the exception of merchandise exported by Shanghai BaoSteel International Economic and Trading Co., Ltd. which was produced by Hangzhou Hongyuan Sporting Goods Company, Ltd., and merchandise exported by China Nanyang Import & Export corporation which was produced by Tianjin Shenyuan Steel Company, Ltd. or Tianjin Sunny Steel Products Company, Ltd., that are entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after December 4, 2002 (the date of publication of the Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register). We will instruct the Customs Service to require a cash deposit or the posting of a bond equal to the weighted-average amount by which NV exceeds the U.S. price, as indicated in the chart below. These suspension-of-liquidation instructions will remain in effect until further notice.

Final Determination

We determine that the following weighted-average percentage margins exist for the period October 1, 2001, through March 31, 2002:

Manufacturer/Exporter	Weighted-average margin (percent)
Shanghai BaoSteel International Economic and Trading Co., Ltd	0.00
Hebei Metals and Minerals Imports and Export Corporation	6.60
China Nanyang Import & Export Corporation	1.42
PRC-Wide Rate	15.61

The PRC-wide rate applies to all entries of the merchandise under investigation except for entries from Hebei, entries from Nanyang which were produced by Tianjin Shenyuan Steel company, Ltd. or Tianjin Sunny Steel Products Company, Ltd., and entries from BaoSteel which were produced by Hangzhou Hongyuan Sporting Goods Company, Ltd.

International Trade Commission Notification

In accordance with section 735(d) of the Act, we have notified the International Trade Commission (ITC) of our determination. As our final determination is affirmative, the ITC will determine, within 45 days, whether these imports are materially injuring, or threaten material injury to, the U.S. industry. If the ITC determines that material injury, or threat of material injury does not exist, the proceeding will be terminated and all securities posted will be refunded or cancelled. If the ITC determines that such injury does exist, the Department will issue an antidumping duty order directing Customs officials to assess antidumping duties on all imports of subject merchandise entered for consumption on or after the effective date of the suspension of liquidation.

Notification Regarding Administrative Protective Order (APO)

This notice also serves as a reminder to parties subject to APO of their responsibility concerning the disposition of proprietary information disclosed under APO in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305. Timely notification of return/destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and the terms of an APO is a sanctionable violation.

This determination is issued and published in accordance with sections 735(d) and 777(i)(1) of the Act.

Dated: April 18, 2003.

Joseph A. Spetrini,
Acting Assistant Secretary for Import Administration.

BILLING CODE 3510-DS-M

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

[I.D.041403I]

Endangered and Threatened Wildlife; Sea Turtle Conservation Requirements

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of Issuance of permit.

SUMMARY: Notice is hereby given that shrimp fishermen in the Gulf and Atlantic Areas have been issued a permit to use Turtle Excluder Devices (TEDs) in accordance with allowable configurations under a final rule amending the TED regulations February 21, 2003, prior to the final rule taking effect. The permit allows fishermen to use the new TEDs to maximize shrimp retention and eliminate operational difficulties and facilitates fishermen's transition to the new TED configurations.

ADDRESSES: The permit and related documents are available for review upon written request or by appointment in the following office:

Southeast Region, NMFS, 9721 Executive Center Drive North, St. Petersburg, FL 33702-2432; phone (727)570-5301; fax (727)570-5320.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: David Bernhart (david.bernhart@noaa.gov) or Robert Hoffman (robert.hoffman@noaa.gov), (727)570-5312.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On February 21, 2003, NMFS published a final rule (68 FR 8456) amending the TED regulations affecting shrimp trawl fishermen. The final rule takes effect April 15, 2003, in the Atlantic Area and August 21, 2003, in the Gulf Area. The primary element of the final rule is the requirement for fishermen to modify the openings of their TEDs to allow the escape of large sea turtles.

On March 14, 2003, the NMFS Southeast Region, received an application for a permit from Mr. Noah Saunders, Jr., on behalf of shrimp trawl fishermen in the Gulf and South Atlantic. The request was for fishermen to be allowed to use the gear configurations specified in the final rule amending the TED regulations, during the transition period before the final rule takes effect. NMFS, Southeast Region accepted the request as an application under 50 CFR 223.207(e)(2), which provides that NMFS may issue permits, subject to such conditions and restrictions as NMFS deems appropriate, authorizing public or private experimentation aimed at improving shrimp retention efficiency of existing approved TEDs and at developing additional TEDs. The authority to issue such permits has been delegated to the NMFS Southeast Regional Administrator.

The TED configurations that will be required when the final rule takes effect generally match or exceed the current regulatory standards for TEDs. Thus, fishermen who transition to the new TED configurations, in advance of the rule taking effect, would be in compliance with both the current and future regulatory requirements. The final rule does lift two restrictions on TED configurations under the current regulations. Specifically: (a) currently, accelerator funnels may not be used with the double cover TED. Under the final rule, double cover offshore TEDs may be used with an accelerator funnel. The inside horizontal opening of the funnel must be at least 71 inches (180 cm) in offshore waters and in the inshore waters of Georgia and South Carolina and at least 44 inches (112 cm) in all other inshore waters; and (b) currently, webbing flaps on bottom-opening TEDs in the Shrimp Fishery-Sea Turtle Conservation Areas (SFSTCAs) must be shortened to extend no further than the posterior edge of the TED grid. Under the final rule, the 71-inch (180 cm) offshore TED may be used with a webbing flap extending up to 24 inches (61 cm) behind the posterior edge of the grid on top- and bottom-opening TEDs, in all waters, including the Shrimp Fishery-Sea Turtle Conservation Areas (SFSTCAs).

Because the final rule did not contain any special provisions for the transition period between its publication and effective dates, the specific changes in the final rule that are more permissive than the current TED requirements are technically not approved changes until the final rule takes effect. NMFS, in issuing the final rule however, determined that the newly required 71-inch (180 cm) and double cover offshore TEDs are far more effective than the TEDs approved under the current regulations and that the new TEDs can be used effectively with these changes. Mr. Saunders' permit application requested that fishermen be allowed to use TED configurations, consistent with the final rule and including these more permissive changes, prior to the final rule taking effect.

Permit Issuance

On March 26, 2003, the Southeast Regional Administrator, NMFS, issued the requested permit, pursuant to 50 CFR 223.207(e)(2). Issuance of the permit is necessary to encourage the early transition by shrimp fishermen to the use of more effective TEDs, furthering NMFS' goal of sea turtle conservation. The newly required TEDs are more effective at releasing sea turtles than those currently required. The use of a funnel with the double cover offshore TED and a long flap with the 71-inch (180 cm) offshore TED have already been determined by NMFS to be effective modifications that may enhance shrimp retention on these highly effective TEDs. This permit will remove regulatory barriers to fishermen's transition to the newly required TEDs and will allow them to experiment with gear configurations to maximize their shrimp retention, prior to the final rule coming into effect.

10 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.—Convene the Shrimp Management Committee to discuss the provisions of Draft Shrimp Amendment 13 Options Paper and consider potential actions regarding Shrimp Amendment 10.

1 p.m. - 5:30 p.m.—Convene the Reef Fish Management Committee to hear presentations regarding the evaluation of the Madison/Swanson and Steamboat Lumps Marine Reserves and the results of a National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) trolling study. There will also be presentations by Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary (FKNMS) personnel on fish traps and by NMFS on vessel monitoring systems (VMS). The committee will review public comments and recommendations by the Scientific and Statistical Committee and Reef Fish Advisory Panel on Amendment 21 and make recommendations to be considered by the full Council on Wednesday afternoon.

8:30 a.m. - 10 a.m.—Convene the Administrative Policy Committee to discuss proposed revisions to the Council's Administrative Handbook.

10 a.m. - 12 noon—Convene the Law Enforcement Committee to discuss criminal penalties for managing game and fish resources and to approve the Enforcement Operations Plan. They will also hear a request by the Worldwide Water Foundation for fishing vessel designation.

1:30 p.m. - 3 p.m.—Convene a joint meeting of the Reef Fish, Mackerel, and Red Drum Management Committees to discuss the proposed scoping document on a generic aquaculture amendment.

3 p.m. - 5 p.m.—Convene the Mackerel Management Committee to review and comment on the final CMP Regulatory Amendment and to discuss a scoping document for Draft CMP Amendment 15.

Although non-emergency issues not contained in the agenda may come before the Council for discussion, in accordance with the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSFCMA), those issues may not be the subject of formal Council action during this meeting. Council action will be restricted to those issues specifically identified in this notice and any issues arising after publication of this notice that require emergency action under section 305 (c) of the MSFCMA, provided the public has been notified of the Council's intent to take final action to address the emergency. A copy of the Committee schedule and agenda can be obtained by calling (813) 228-2815.

Special Accommodations

These meetings are physically accessible to people with disabilities. Requests for sign language interpretation or other auxiliary aids should be directed to Anne Alford at the Council (see ADDRESSES) by May 5, 2003.

Dated: April 21, 2003.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

[I.D. 042103B]

South Atlantic Fishery Management Council; Technical Workshops

AGENCY: NOAA Fisheries (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of workshop series to address Essential Fish Habitat (EFH), Fishery Ecosystem Plans (FEP) and Ecosystem Models.

SUMMARY: The South Atlantic Fishery Management Council (Council) will hold a series of technical workshops involving selected members from its Habitat and Environmental Protection Advisory Panel, Coral Advisory Panel and invited scientists with background in specific habitat type or species utilization patterns.

DATES: The workshops will be held during the months of May, July, August, September and October. See SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION for specific dates and times.

ADDRESSES: The workshop series will be held in St. Petersburg, FL, Beaufort, NC, and Charleston, SC. See SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION for specific locations.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Kim Iverson, Public Information Officer, South Atlantic Fishery Management Council, One Southpark Circle, Suite 306, Charleston, SC, 29407; telephone: (843) 571-4366 or (866) SAFMC-10; fax: (843) 769-4520.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The workshops will take place: May 19-21, 2003, May 21-23, 2003, July 1-2, 2003, August 19-21, 2003, September 23-25, 2003 and October 20-22, 2003.

The workshop process will initiate development of a South Atlantic Council Fishery Ecosystem Plan (FEP) which presents fishery and resource information for fisheries in the South Atlantic Bight ecosystem in context. The workshop processes will integrate two directives in the Final Rule for Essential Fish Habitat: (1) Review and update Essential Fish Habitat information, and (2) Consider ecosystem-based management through development of a Fishery Ecosystem Plan for the South Atlantic Region.

The Council recognizes the scope of the significant task necessary to meet the new essential fish habitat mandates and directive to begin evaluating ecosystem-based management through the development of a Fishery Ecosystem Plan (FEP) and is again calling upon the Habitat Advisory Panel members and other technical experts involved in the previous Habitat Plan development process to serve as or identify appropriate experts to function on a quasi-plan development team for this task. The Habitat and Coral Advisory Panel are scheduled to meet this fall and will provide additional guidance on the workshop process and ecosystem management.

A Final EFH Rule was published on January 17, 2002 replacing the interim Final Rule of December 19, 1997 on which the original EFH and EFH-Habitat Area of Particular Concern (HAPC) designations were made. The Councils have, pursuant to the Final EFH Rule, been directed to update EFH and EFH-HAPC information and designations; in addition, pursuant to revisions to NOAA General Counsel interpretation of the National Environmental Policy Act the Councils will be required to update all Environmental Impact Statements for all Federal Fishery Management Plans under their jurisdiction. Information compiled during this process will further facilitate meeting both the EFH and the NEPA mandate. As was done with the original Habitat Plan, a series of technical workshops will be conducted by Council habitat staff, in cooperation with NOAA Beaufort Laboratory, NMFS Southeast Fishery Science Center Miami Laboratory, NMFS Southeast Regional Office personnel and invited participants. Workshops are intended to build on a review of existing information presented in the Habitat Plan, and focus on updating information pursuant to the new EFH Rule. This effort will begin the integration of comprehensive details of habitat distribution and characterization, the biology of managed species including their biological role in and the characteristics of the food web they exist in.

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

Denial of Commercial Availability Request Under the African Growth and Opportunity Act (AGOA) and the United States - Caribbean Basin Trade Partnership Act (CBTPA)

April 22, 2003.

AGENCY: Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements (CITA).

ACTION: Denial of the petition alleging that lastol elastic yarn, for use in apparel articles, cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner.

SUMMARY: On February 21, 2003, the Chairman of CITA received a request from the Dow Chemical Company alleging that lastol elastic yarn, classified under items 5402.49.9005 and 5404.10.8005 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS), cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner. It requested that apparel articles from such yarns, or from U.S.-formed fabric containing such yarns be eligible for preferential treatment under the AGOA and the CBTPA. Based on currently available information, CITA has determined that a substitutable product can be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner and therefore denies the request.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Janet E. Heinzen, International Trade Specialist, Office of Textiles and Apparel, U.S. Department of Commerce, (202) 482-3400.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Authority: Section 112 (b)(5)(B) of the AGOA, Section 213(b)(2)(A)(v)(II) of the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act, as added by Section 211(a) of the CBTPA; Sections 1 and 6 of Executive Order No. 13191 of January 17, 2001.

BACKGROUND:

The AGOA and the CBTPA provide for quota- and duty-free treatment for qualifying textile and apparel products. Such treatment is generally limited to products manufactured from yarns or fabrics formed in the United States or a beneficiary country. The AGOA and the CBTPA also provide for quota- and duty-free treatment for apparel articles that are both cut (or knit-to-shape) and sewn or otherwise assembled in one or more beneficiary countries from fabric or yarn that is not formed in the United States or a beneficiary country, if it has been determined that such fabric or yarn cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner. In Executive Order No. 13191, the President delegated to CITA the authority to determine whether yarns or fabrics cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner under the AGOA and the CBTPA. On March 6, 2001, CITA published procedures that it will follow in considering requests. (66 FR 13502).

On February 21, 2003, the Chairman of CITA received a request from the Dow Chemical Company alleging that lastol elastic yarn, which is a crosslinked, heat resistant elastic yarn having elevated temperature elasticity comprising a cured, irradiated or crosslinked ethylene polymer, classified under items 5402.49.9005 and 5404.10.8005 of the HTSUS, for use in apparel articles, cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner. It requested that apparel articles from such yarns, or from U.S.-formed fabric containing such yarns, that are both cut (or knit-to shape) and sewn or otherwise assembled in one or more beneficiary countries be eligible for preferential treatment under the AGOA or the CBTPA.

On March 3, 2003, CITA solicited public comments regarding this request (68 FR 9997), particularly with respect to whether these fabrics can be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner. On March 19, 2003, CITA and the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative offered to hold consultations with the relevant Congressional committees. We also requested the advice of the U.S. International Trade Commission and the relevant Industry Sector Advisory Committees.

CITA has determined that the domestic industry can supply a product substitutable for the lastol elastic yarn described in the petition in commercial quantities in a timely manner. On the basis of currently available information, including review of the request, public comment and advice received, and its understanding of the industry, CITA has determined that there is domestic capacity to supply a substitutable product in commercial quantities in a timely manner. The Dow Chemical Company's request is denied.

D. Michael Hutchinson,

Acting Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements.

BILLING CODE 3510-DR-S

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

Office of the Secretary

Record of Decision To Establish a Ground-Based Midcourse Defense Initial Defensive Operations Capability at Fort Greely, AK AGENCY: Missile Defense Agency, Department of Defense.

ACTION: Record of decision.

SUMMARY: The Missile Defense Agency (MDA) is issuing this Record of Decision (ROD) to establish an Initial Defensive Operations (IDO) capability at Fort Greely, Alaska. The Fort Greely IDO is a capability of the Ground-Based Midcourse Defense (GMD) element within the broader conceptual Ballistic Missile Defense System (BMDS). The Fort Greely IDO components will consist of up to 40 silos, equipped with Ground-Based Interceptor (GBI) missiles, In-Flight Interceptor Communications System (IFICS) Data Terminals (IDT), and support facilities and infrastructure. These IDO components and their support facilities at Fort Greely are a subset of the preferred alternative for a GBI site in the National Missile Defense (NMD) Deployment Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) (July 2000), which evaluated the environmental effects of deploying up to 100 GBI missiles with related facilities and infrastructure at alternative sites in Alaska (AK) and North Dakota (ND).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on the NMD Deployment EIS or this ROD contact: Ms. Julia Elliot, U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense Command, Attn: SMDC-EN-V, P.O. Box 1500, Huntsville, Alabama 35807-3801, (256) 955-4822. Public reading copies of the Final EIS and the ROD are available for review at the public libraries within the communities near proposed activities and at the MDA Internet site: <http://www.acq.osd.mil/bmdo/bmdolink/html/nmd.html>.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The MDA is issuing this ROD to establish an IDO capability at Fort Greely, AK. The Fort Greely IDO is a capability of the GMD element within the broader conceptual BMDS. The Fort Greely IDO components will consist of up to 40 silos, equipped with GBI missiles, IDTs, and support facilities and infrastructure at the existing Validation of Operational Concept (VOC) Test Site. These IDO components and their support facilities at Fort Greely are a subset of the preferred alternative for a GBI site in the NMD Deployment EIS (July 2000), which evaluated the environmental effects of deploying up to 100 GBI missiles with related facilities and infrastructure at alternative sites in AK and ND. Specific sites for the IDTs, as well as additional support infrastructure and security measures and Command and Control, Battle Management, and Communications facilities at Fort Greely, were further evaluated in the VOC Environmental Assessment (EA) (March 2002) and VOC Supplemental EA (January 2003).

The Fort Greely IDO components, when combined with existing GMD test assets, early warning radars, satellites, communications networks, and command and control facilities, will provide a capability to protect the United States from a limited ballistic missile attack. Additional GMD flight test assets, including a Sea-Based Test X-Band Radar (SBX) to be located in the Pacific region, are being evaluated in the GMD Extended Test Range (ETR) EIS. These assets, if selected and integrated into the test architecture, would complement the Fort Greely components and enhance the IDO capability.

As a separate action to be supported by independent National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) analysis, existing silos and other facilities and infrastructure at Vandenberg Air Force Base (VAFB) may be modified to accommodate GBIs. These proposed components, when combined with the existing GMD ETR test assets, would provide an IDO capability at VAFB that could be used independently of the Fort Greely IDO components and would provide additional protection for the United States (U.S.).

This decision is based on the President's determination that there is a ballistic missile threat to the U.S. The Secretary of Defense and MDA's Director have further determined that establishment of the IDO capability at Fort Greely, supported by existing test assets, is the best way to counter that threat initially. Other factors considered in reaching this decision to establish IDO components at Fort Greely, AK, include cost, technical maturity of the GMD element, and strategic arms reduction objectives.

This ROD has been prepared pursuant to the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) regulations implementing the NEPA (40 CFR parts 1500-1508), DoD Instruction 4715.9, and the applicable service environmental regulations that implement these laws and regulations. The U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, U.S. Navy, and the Federal Aviation Administration participated as cooperating agencies in preparing the NMD Deployment EIS. The Proposed Action described in the EIS was to deploy a NMD System at several locations consisting of GBIs, Battle Management Command and Control (BMC2), an X-Band Radar (XBR), IDTs, satellite detection system, Early Warning Radar (EWRs), and fiber optic cable (FOC).

Since the NMD Deployment EIS was completed, several events related to this ROD have occurred. In September 2000, President Clinton determined that the deployment decision should be deferred and more robust testing be conducted to gain greater confidence in the missile defense technologies under development.

On January 2, 2002, the Ballistic Missile Defense Organization was administratively re-aligned as MDA, with the objective of developing an integrated BMDS. The NMD system was renamed the GMD element, with the focus on more realistic testing. Two types of testing, ground testing of operational components and flight-testing of the GBI, were planned as independent parts of a GMD test bed.

To evaluate construction and ground testing of potential operational components in a realistic environment, as well as specific siting for IDTs and FOC, and communication lines not evaluated in the NMD Deployment EIS, the MDA prepared the VOC EA. Based on its Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) from the analysis in the VOC EA, the MDA decided to construct the VOC GBI test site at Fort Greely. MDA subsequently prepared the Supplemental VOC EA and resulting FONSI to evaluate security and other upgrades at the designated VOC GBI test site at Fort Greely. Concurrently, MDA began preparation of the ETR EIS to examine the effects of more realistic GBI flight-testing in the Pacific region.

On December 17, 2002, following a number of flight test successes, President Bush announced plans to build and field an IDO capability, building on the capabilities of existing and planned test components. This ROD implements that decision, with the main focus of this initial capability at the Fort Greely GBI VOC test site. An additional IDO capability at VAFB has been proposed, which could be used independently of the Fort Greely components. It would provide more protection for the U.S. as the BMDS develops and matures. Development of an IDO capability at VAFB was not part of the NMD Deployment EIS and would require additional NEPA analysis. That capability is not included in this ROD.

The NMD Deployment EIS preferred alternative examined the effects of deploying up to 100 GBI missiles and related facilities and infrastructure at Fort Greely. This ROD implements a limited subset of that alternative. Under this ROD, the Fort Greely portion of the GMD IDO capability selectively integrates existing and planned assets into a system that would provide a limited, operational missile defense capability as a first step to a more robust, future GMD deployment described and analyzed in the NMD Deployment EIS. As such, this ROD implements actions that are within the scope of the activities analyzed in the NMD Deployment EIS. The following existing and planned BMDS assets would be fielded and/or integrated to make up the Fort Greely GMD IDO capability:

- Six silos and GBI missiles, BMC2, Defense Satellite Communication System (DSCS), one IDT, support facilities and infrastructure, and FOC at Fort Greely, AK, which are part of the GMD VOC test bed currently under construction.

- Up to forty missile silos, equipped with GBI missiles, one additional IDT, supporting facilities (including backup power plant), infrastructure, and FOC communication links at Fort Greely, AK. MDA currently plans only a maximum of 20 GBI missiles at Fort Greely, but this ROD documents a total of 40 silos equipped with GBI missiles in order to provide maximum flexibility for maintenance and future operational needs.

- Upgrades to the EWRs at Beale AFB, CA and the Cobra Dane radar at Eareckson Air Station (AS) Shemya AK, and an IDT, DSCS, BMC2 and FOC at Eareckson AS, that are part of the GMD VOC test bed currently under construction.

- Existing GMD BMC2 nodes throughout the U.S., which are a part of the GMD VOC test bed. These nodes include Cheyenne Mountain Complex, CO; Shriever AFB, CO; and Peterson AFB, CO.

NEPA Process

The Notice of Intent (NOI) to prepare an EIS for the deployment of the NMD system was published in the Federal Register on November 17, 1998, initiating the public scoping process. Public scoping meetings were held in December 1998 in communities perceived to be affected by the NMD system. The Notice of Availability (NOA) of the NMD Deployment Draft EIS was published in the Federal Register on October 1, 1999. This initiated a public review and comment period for the Draft EIS. Seven public hearings were held from October 26 through November 9, 1999 in the same locations as the public scoping meetings. Subsequently, a supplement to the Draft EIS was prepared to evaluate the potential impacts of upgrading existing EWRs for use by the NMD system. A public hearing was held in Bourne, MA, for the Supplement. Comments on the Draft EIS and the Supplement to the Draft EIS were considered in the preparation of the Final EIS. The NOA for the Final EIS was published in the Federal Register on 21 July 2000, initiating an additional 30-day comment period. Comments were considered in the decision process, culminating in this ROD.

Alternatives Considered

No-Action Alternative

As required by the CEQ regulations, the NMD Deployment EIS evaluated a No-action Alternative. Under this alternative, the GMD deployment decision would be deferred, while development and testing of GMD technologies and architectures would continue. Since they are a subset of the proposed action, the activities that are described in this ROD would not be implemented under the No-action Alternative. Non-GMD activities currently occurring or planned at potential fielding sites would continue.

Proposed Action

The proposed action analyzed in the NMD Deployment EIS was to field a fixed, land-based, non-nuclear missile defense system with a land and space-based detection system capable of responding to limited strategic ballistic missile threats to the U.S. The NMD system analyzed in the Deployment EIS consisted of GBIs, BMC2, XBR, IDTs, satellite detection system, EWRs, and FOC. The initial space-based detection capability would be the existing Defense Support Program early-warning satellites to be replaced by Space-Based Infrared System (SBIRS) satellites currently being developed by the U.S. Air Force. Since the NMD Deployment EIS was completed, the NMD system architecture has evolved into the BMDS multi-layered approach that does not distinguish between national and theater threats. The BMDS consists of the same components, at the same preferred locations, as the NMD system analyzed in the NMD Deployment EIS. As noted, this ROD implements a subset of the activities in the proposed action described above.

Environmental Impacts of Alternatives

The NMD Deployment EIS analyzed the environment in terms of 15 resource areas including: air quality, airspace, biological resources, cultural resources, geology and soils, hazardous materials and wastes, health and safety, land use and aesthetics, noise, socioeconomics, transportation, utilities, water resources, environmental justice, and subsistence. Each resource area with a foreseeable impact at the respective alternative sites was addressed in the EIS. The analysis in the EIS was commensurate with the importance of the potential impacts. Where it was determined through initial evaluation that no impacts would occur to resources at certain sites, these resources were not analyzed in the EIS. The potential for cumulative impacts was also evaluated in the EIS.

No-Action Alternative—Environmental Impacts

Under the No-action Alternative described in the EIS, only the locations and environmental resources discussed below were anticipated to have environmental impacts from continued ongoing operations.

Eielson AFB. There would be potential impacts in the areas of land use and noise from continued U.S. Air Force operations. The presence of residential units in the community of Moose Creek within the Clear and Approach Zones at the end of the runway is considered an incompatible land use. Low density housing in the community of Moose Creek is subjected to noise levels that exceed the recommended day-night level of 65 decibels. The local government, Eielson AFB, and the community of Moose Creek are working to minimize future noise impacts.

Fort Greely. There would be impacts to geology and soils, socioeconomics, and water resources from continued activities at Fort Greely. These impacts could include some soil damage from vehicles, weapons, and fires. Some soil erosion with net soil loss and water quality impacts would occur near training activities. Localized long-term damage to permafrost could occur as a result of ground training and fire damage from training. The Army has developed mitigation measures to minimize these impacts. Training maneuvers, if conducted repeatedly in the same area, could result in cumulative impacts to water resources. The Army has implemented measures to minimize impacts to water resources.

Yukon Training Area. Impacts to geology and soils and water resources would be similar to those described for Fort Greely.

Preferred Alternative—Environmental Impacts

The Preferred Alternative identified in the NMD Deployment EIS was to deploy up to 100 GBI missiles in silos at Fort Greely, Alaska, to include supporting infrastructure and components with an XBR at Eareckson AS, Shemya, Alaska, and to upgrade existing EWRs. No locations for IDTs were identified in the EIS, but several IDT sites were subsequently evaluated in the GMD VOC EA. Environmental impacts expected to result from a deployment decision are summarized below. Building and fielding of an IDO capability at Fort Greely, as a subset of activities evaluated in the EIS, would have the same as or incrementally fewer impacts than those described in the EIS.

Fort Greely, Alaska. This was the preferred GBI siting alternative in the Final EIS and is the selected site for up to 40 GBI silos, BMC2, 1 additional IDT, supporting facilities (including backup power) and infrastructure, and FOC. The EIS concluded that deployment of the GBI at Fort Greely could result in impacts to health, safety, and socioeconomics. In the unlikely event of a liquid propellant leak from the GBI system, hazardous propellant gases could extend beyond the base boundary. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) Permissible Exposure Limit for nitrogen tetroxide could be exceeded up to 760 meters (2,493 feet) from the source of the leak, affecting less than 14 hectares (35 acres) of undeveloped land outside the base boundary and would not affect the Fort Greely Cantonment area. Exposure at these levels in the open-air conditions would be mildly irritating to the eyes and nose and could induce coughing. Given the small quantities of liquid propellant, multiple safety systems in system design, and the presence of an emergency response team, the overall risk to public health and safety would be low. Mutual aid agreements with local fire departments would need to be updated to inform them of the additional hazards and safety considerations of GBI deployment. To reduce the potential for forest fires affecting the GBI element site, the fire protection status for the proposed area would need to be changed from Full Protection to Critical Protection. Critical Protection status would give the highest level of fire fighting provided by the Bureau of Land Management Alaska Fire Service. The U.S. Army would need to coordinate this revision with the Alaska Fire Service. It is anticipated that construction and operation of the GBI element at Fort Greely would provide an economic benefit to the surrounding regions, partially offsetting the loss of jobs at the base as a result of previous Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) cutbacks.

Upgraded Early Warning Radars

Under the Preferred Alternative in the EIS, the EWRs at Beale AFB, CA; Clear AFS, AK; and Cape Cod AFS, MA would be upgraded. The VOC EA analyzed upgrades to the Beale EWR, with similar upgrades to the Cobra Dane radar at Eareckson AS. The upgrades would involve replacement of electronic hardware and computer software. The radiated peak and average power, radar antenna patterns, and operating bands of the radars would remain unchanged from current operations. Consequently, the public exposure to radio frequency radiation from the UEWRs over a 30-minute averaging period would be similar to that from the existing early warning radars and would be well within the most applicable criteria, the American National Standards Institute/Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers standard. The U.S. Air Force is in the process of preparing a supplement to their Atmospheric Interceptor Technology Program Environmental Assessment, 1979 to address maintenance and sustainment of operations for the early warning radars.

Alternatives Not Selected—Environmental Impacts

Several alternative locations for deployment of GBIs in the NMD Deployment EIS are not selected at this time. In addition, this ROD does not include a decision concerning construction or operation of an XBR. Potential environmental impacts at those sites not selected for IDO fielding of GBIs are summarized below. As with the preferred alternative, fielding of an IDO capability at any of these sites would have similar or incrementally fewer impacts than those described in the EIS.

GBI and BMC2 Locations

Clear AFS, Alaska. Deployment of the GBI at this location could result in impacts to biological resources, geology and soils, health and safety, and socioeconomics. Construction activities could cause impacts to approximately 2.7 hectares (6.6 acres) of wetlands under the GBI Alternative Site A or 55 hectares (135 acres) under the GBI Alternative Site B. The wetland permitting process would be coordinated with appropriate Federal and state agencies and would entail review of proposed activities and development of mitigation measures. There would be the potential to impact permafrost during construction on Clear AFS. Prior to final design and construction, a comprehensive geotechnical investigation would be conducted to determine the exact nature of the soils and ground-water levels in the area. The site layout would be adjusted to minimize any impacts in the unlikely event that unstable permafrost were encountered. Depending on the ground-water levels, missile silos might be slightly elevated to avoid water incursion during construction and operations. The potential health hazard from liquid propellant leaks at the GBI Alternative Site B would be similar to that at Fort Greely. However, OSHA exposure limits for nitrogen tetroxide could affect up to 122 hectares (302 acres) of undeveloped land outside of the base boundary and the on-base administrative and housing areas. It is anticipated that construction and operation of the GBI element at Clear AFS would provide an economic benefit to the surrounding regions.

Yukon Training Area (Fort Wainwright)/Eielson AFB, Alaska. Deployment of the GBI at this location could result in impacts to biological resources, cultural resources, geology and soils, and socioeconomics. Construction activities could impact approximately 46 hectares (113 acres) of wetlands. Potential impacts to these wetlands and mitigation measures would be similar to those described for Clear AFS. An archaeological site (Site FAI 157) is located approximately 262 meters (860 feet) west of the GBI site. If avoidance of this site were not feasible, adverse affects could be mitigated through data recovery. Building 3425 at Eielson AFB (a Cold War era warehouse) may be eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places and could be affected by modifications from the GBI deployment. Appropriate mitigation measures would be developed in consultation with the Alaska State Historic Preservation Officer (SHPO). Best Management Practices would be used to reduce the potential for soil erosion at the GBI site. Geotechnical investigations at the proposed site indicate the presence of permafrost on north facing slopes. Permafrost areas would be avoided if possible. It is anticipated that construction and operation of the GBI element at this location would provide an economic benefit to the surrounding regions.

Grand Forks AFB, North Dakota. Deployment of the GBI at this location could result in impacts to biological resources, geology and soils, health and safety, and socioeconomics. Construction activities could affect approximately 5 hectares (12 acres) of wetlands at the Ordnance Training-5 (OT-5) area site. The wetland permitting process would be coordinated with appropriate Federal and state agencies and would entail review of proposed activities and development of mitigation measures. Best Management Practices would be implemented to minimize wind erosion of soils during construction. The potential for health hazards from liquid propellant leaks and reporting requirements would be similar to that at Fort Greely. OSHA exposure limits for nitrogen tetroxide could be exceeded on up to 306 hectares (757 acres) outside of the base, including two residential units, three commercial units, and two churches, and on the alert apron and portions of the administration area on base. Given the small quantities of liquid propellant, multiple safety systems in system design, and the presence of an emergency response team, the overall risk to public health and safety would be low. Mutual aid agreements with local fire departments would need to be updated to inform them of the additional hazards and safety considerations of GBI deployment. It is anticipated that construction and operation of the GBI element at this location would provide an economic benefit to the surrounding regions.

Mitigation Measures and Monitoring

The applicable mitigation measures specified for each of the sites selected to build and field an IDO capability at Fort Greely will be implemented as part of the GMD IDO action. A Mitigation Monitoring Plan has been developed to assist in tracking and implementing these mitigation measures. With the implementation of the mitigation measures, all practicable means to avoid or minimize environmental harm from fielding of the GMD IDO at Fort Greely, AK considered in this ROD have been adopted.

Environmentally Preferred Alternative

The environmentally preferred alternative in the EIS is the No-action Alternative (not proceeding with GMD deployment) since there would be no construction and operation of GMD elements at any of the potential deployment sites. With the action in this ROD to field an IDO capability at Fort Greely, the No-action Alternative remains the environmentally preferred alternative. Continuation of current site operations at these locations would result in few additional environmental impacts.

Under the Proposed Action in the EIS, Fort Greely, AK is the environmentally preferred location for deployment of GBIs, with supporting facilities (including a backup power plant) and infrastructure, IDTs, and FOC. No sensitive habitats or wetlands would be affected; construction of the silos would not impact groundwater or permafrost; and Fort Greely is remote from any major population centers. Fort Greely remains the environmentally preferred alternative to field an IDO capability with up to 40 GBIs.

Conclusion

In accordance with NEPA, MDA has considered the information contained within the NMD Deployment EIS in deciding to field the GMD IDO capability as described above. The decision is to build and field up to 40 GBI silos, BMC2, 1 additional IDT, supporting facilities (including backup power plant), infrastructure, and FOC at Fort Greely, AK.

Availability for Non-Exclusive, Exclusive, or Partially Exclusive Licensing of U.S. Patent Application Concerning Prophylactic and Therapeutic Monoclonal Antibodies

AGENCY: Department of the Army, DoD.
ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In accordance with 35 U.S.C. 209 and 37 CFR part 404.6 and 404.7, announcement is made of the availability for licensing of the inventions set forth in the following U.S. Patent Applications:

(1) S.N.: 09/650,086 (filed: August 29, 2000).

Title: "Prophylactic and Therapeutic Monoclonal Antibodies."

Description: In this application are described Ebola GP monoclonal antibodies and epitopes recognized by these monoclonal antibodies. Also provided are mixtures of antibodies of the present invention, as well as methods of using individual antibodies or mixtures thereof for the detection, prevention, and/or therapeutical treatment of Ebola virus infections in vitro and in vivo.

(2) S.N.: 10/226,795 (filed: August 23, 2002).

Title: "Monoclonal Antibodies and Complementarity-Determining Regions Binding to Ebola Glycoprotein."

The United States Government, as represented by the Secretary of the Army, has rights in these inventions.

ADDRESSES: Commander, U.S. Army Medical Research and Materiel Command, ATTN: Command Judge Advocate, MCMR-JA, 504 Scott Street, Fort Detrick, Frederick, MD 21702-5012.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For patent issues, Ms. Elizabeth Arwine, Patent Attorney, (301) 619-7808. For licensing issues, Dr. Paul Mele, Office of Research & Technology Assessment, (301) 619-6664, both at telefax (301) 619-5034.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: None.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATIONInteragency Working Group on Assistive Technology Mobility Devices

AGENCY: Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, Department of Education.

ACTION: Notice of public meeting and request for written comments.

SUMMARY: On February 12, 2003, President George W. Bush signed an Executive Memorandum establishing the Interagency Working Group on Assistive Technology Mobility Devices. For definitional purposes in this Executive Memorandum, "Assistive Technology Mobility Devices" are limited to classification code 'F Mobility 502 Wheelchair,' of the 'National Classification System for Assistive Technology Devices and Services.' This includes: attendant-controlled wheelchairs, manual wheelchairs (rear or front wheel drive), lever-driven wheelchairs, single side-driven non-powered wheelchairs, foot driven wheelchairs, electric powered wheelchairs, combustion powered wheelchairs, travel wheelchairs and scooters, sport wheelchairs, standing wheelchairs, and wheelchair accessories (classification codes 502.1 through 502.12, subject to exclusions).

This working group is charged with: (a) Identifying existing Federal Government programs and resources that are designed to help individuals with disabilities obtain the assistive technology mobility devices that they need for education and employment; and (b) working with State, local, and tribal governments, as appropriate, to identify State, local, and tribal programs that are designed to help individuals with disabilities obtain assistive technology mobility devices for education and employment. As a result of the Working Group's work, a report will be presented to the President including the specific steps that each of the agencies represented on the Working Group will take to: (a) Improve coordination among their existing programs; (b) train vocational rehabilitation counselors, other service providers, and individuals with disabilities, as provided by law; and (c) inform individuals with disabilities about these opportunities. The report shall also include a description of how individuals with disabilities can pool funding from existing resources to obtain the assistive technology mobility devices that they need to pursue their educational and employment goals.

The Secretary of Education is Chair of the Working Group. The Secretary announces a public forum and invites written comments with respect to the above provisions of the Executive Memorandum. Agency representatives from the Departments of Education, Health and Human Services, Labor, and Veterans Affairs and the Social Security Administration along with representatives from other federal agencies will be present to hear your comments.

During the public meeting and through the submission of written comments, we encourage individuals with disabilities, particularly individuals and persons who represent service providers, assistive technology research and policy, and service provider organizations, and representatives of advocacy organizations with specialized knowledge and experience, to suggest specific ways to improve existing funding sources for individuals with disabilities. We are also interested in hearing from individuals concerning how well the existing federal programs and resources are coordinating assistive technology services for individuals with disabilities—especially any barriers that they suggest interfere with an individual's option of pooling funding to obtain the assistive technology mobility devices they need to pursue their educational and employment goals. If you have any suggestions or recommendations on how to improve the existing structure, such as specific regulatory change, method to improve coordination or issuance of policy guidance to key service providers, we are particularly interested in these issues. Your information will be used by this Working Group in our deliberations; however, we will not respond individually to your comments.

Public Forum

We will hold a public forum on May 21, 2003, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. ET at the U.S. Department of Education, Barnhard Auditorium, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Washington, DC.

Participants: Individuals who wish to present comments at the public forum must reserve time on the agenda by contacting the individual identified under Reservations and Additional Meeting Information. Reservations for presenting comments will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Given the expected number of individuals interested in providing comments at the forum, reservations for presenting comments should be made as soon as possible.

Participants will be allowed approximately 5 minutes to present their comments, depending upon the number of individuals who reserve time on the agenda. At the forum, participants also are strongly encouraged to submit two written copies of their comments, and other written or emailed information such as agency or organization policy statements, recommendations, research findings and research literature.

Reservations and Additional Meeting Information: All individuals attending the public forum, including those presenting comments, must make reservations by May 16, 2003 by contacting: Loretta Petty Chittum, Chair, Assistive Technology Mobility Devices Working Group, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Room 3006, Switzer Building, Washington, DC 20202, FAX: (202) 205-9252, PHONE: (202) 205-5465, E-MAIL: OSERS.AT@ED.GOV. If time permits, individuals who have not registered may be allowed to make comments.

In addition to making reservations, individuals attending the public forum, for security purposes, must be prepared to show photo identification in order to enter the meeting location.

Assistance to Individuals With Disabilities at the Public Forum

The meeting room and proceedings will be accessible to individuals with disabilities. In addition, when making reservations, anyone presenting comments at or attending the forum who needs special accommodations, such as sign language interpreters, Brailled materials, and communications access real-time transcription, should inform the previously listed individual of his or her specific accessibility needs. You should make requests for accommodations at least 10 working days prior to the scheduling meeting date. Although we will attempt to meet a request we receive after that date, we may not be able to make available the requested auxiliary aid or service because of insufficient time to arrange it.

Request for Comments

In addition to soliciting input during the public forum, we invite the public to submit written or electronically mailed comments on how well the existing federal programs and resources are serving individuals with disabilities—especially any barriers they suggest interfere with an individual's option of pooling funding to obtain the assistive technology mobility devices they need to pursue their educational and employment goals. If you have any suggestions or recommendations on how to improve the existing structure, such as regulatory change, suggestions to improve interagency coordination, or policy guidance, we are particularly interested in these issues.

DATES: We request your written and email comments to be provided no later than June 1, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Submit all comments to: Loretta Petty Chittum, Chair, Assistive Technology Mobility Devices Working Group, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Room 3006, Switzer Building, Washington, DC 20202, FAX: (202) 205-9252, PHONE: (202) 205-5465, E-MAIL: OSERS.AT@ED.GOV.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Loretta Petty Chittum, Chair, Assistive Technology Mobility Devices Working Group, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Room 3006, Switzer Building, Washington, DC 20202, FAX: (202) 205-9252, PHONE: (202) 205-5465, E-MAIL: OSERS.AT@ED.GOV. If you use a telecommunications device for the deaf, you may call (202) 205-5637 and select "public comments".

Individuals with disabilities may obtain a copy of this notice in an alternative format (e.g., Braille, large print, audiotape, or computer diskette) on request to the contact person listed in the previous paragraph.

Availability of Copies of the Executive Memorandum: You may obtain an electronic copy of the Executive Memorandum on the Internet at the following site: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2003/02/20030212-12.html>.

Availability of Copies of the National Classification System for Assistive Technology Devices and Services: You may obtain an electronic copy of this document on the Internet at the following site: http://www.ed.gov/offices/OSERS/NIDRR/Products/National_Classification_System.doc.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

Notice of a Final Determination for the Hillman Power Company, Hillman, MI

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of final action.

SUMMARY: This notice announces that, on July 31, 2002, the Environmental Appeals Board (EAB) of the United States Environmental Protection Agency dismissed petitions for review of a Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) permit issued under the Clean Air Act to Hillman Power Company, Hillman, Montmorency County, Michigan. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) issued the PSD permit.

DATES: The effective date for the decision is July 31, 2002. Judicial review of this permit decision, to the extent it is available pursuant to section 307(b)(1) of the Clean Air Act, may be sought by filing a petition for review in the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit within 60 days of today's date.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Hillman Power owns and operates a tire-derived fuel (TDF) and wood-fired boiler that produces steam for generating electricity which is sold on the electrical grid system. The existing power plant is located in the City of Hillman, Montmorency County, Michigan. The boiler is capable of burning fuels at a rated capacity of 300 million BTU per hour heat input. The net capacity of the power plant is approximately 18 megawatts. The plant was allowed to use wood and up to 3,149 pounds per hour TDF (approximately 6% of total fuel) as fuel.

MDEQ received the permit application from Hillman Power on September 27, 2001, seeking an increase in the use of TDF to be fired as a supplementary fuel for up to 5,000 pounds per hour (approximately 9% of total fuel). The application was subject to federal Prevention of the Significant Deterioration (PSD) review for sulfur dioxide (SO₂). In addition to the permit requirements (which include using the Best Available Control Technology (BACT)), the company agreed to make environmentally beneficial physical changes to its facility, including installation of a new stack, new air heater tube banks, and a new voltage regulator and excitation system. A spare transformer for the electrostatic precipitator used to control particulate matter (PM) emissions is available on-site, if any replacement is needed. Also, significant improvements to operational procedures and work practices related to boiler cleaning and start-up/shutdown conditions have been implemented to reduce emissions.

Pursuant to a delegation agreement between EPA and MDEQ, MDEQ is authorized to make PSD permitting decisions for new and modified stationary sources of air pollution in the State of Michigan. On March 13, 2002, the MDEQ issued Permit No. 687-86G to Hillman Power Company. Because MDEQ acts as EPA's delegatee under the PSD program, MDEQ's permits are considered EPA-issued permits, and appeals of MDEQ's PSD permit decisions are reviewed by the EAB pursuant to 40 CFR 124.19.

On April 16, 2002, the Michigan Environmental Council (MEC), Dr. Richard N. Olree, Jr., and Ms. Donna Baranyai filed petitions with the EAB for review of Hillman Power Company's modified PSD permit. The stated grounds for appeal were: failure to quantify the dioxin emissions; failure to determine whether dioxin would be adequately controlled; inappropriate BACT analysis; failure to address heavy metal fallout data; unjustifiable percentage of increased sulfur dioxide emissions as compared to tons of TDF burned; failure to consider data indicating the presence of heavy metals in fly ash in a local elementary school's air filters and playground soils; and failure to consider the facility's possible failure to comply with a permit provision prohibiting emissions causing a public nuisance.

The EAB found that the petitioners made no showing of clear error, the existence of an important policy matter or an abuse of discretion warranting review and denied review.

Dated: April 3, 2003.

Acting Regional Administrator, Region 5.

Environmental Impact Statements and Regulations; Availability of EPA Comments

Availability of EPA comments prepared pursuant to the Environmental Review Process (ERP), under section 309 of the Clean Air Act and section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act as amended. Requests for copies of EPA comments can be directed to the Office of Federal Activities at (202) 564-7167. An explanation of the ratings assigned to draft environmental impact statements (EISs) was published in the Federal Register dated April 1, 2003 (68 FR 16511).

Draft EISs

ERP No. D-AFS-F65037-MI Rating LO, Interior Wetlands Project, Timber Harvest, White Pine Trees Pruning, Growth System Adjustment, Wildlife Openings Creation and Maintenance and Transportation System Improvements, Hiawatha National Forest, Eastside Administrative Unit, Chippewa County, MI.

Summary: EPA did not identify any potential environmental impacts requiring substantive changes to the 2 main project alternatives. EPA believes that A5 would better accomplish old growth stand improvement and road conversion to forests and wetlands.

ERP No. D-AFS-J65371-WY Rating EC2, Medicine Bow National Forest Revised Draft Land and Resource Management Plan, Implementation, Albany, Carbon and Laramie Counties, WY.

Summary: EPA expressed environmental concerns that without specifically outlining the baseline by which future projects are tiered from this Plan, potential impacts to ecosystem processes, water and habitat quality may occur.

ERP No. D-AFS-K61158-CA Rating EC2, Silver Pearl Land Exchange Project, Proposal to Exchange 2,153 Acres of National Forest System (NFS) Land for up to 3,963 Acres of Sierra Pacific Industries (SPI) Land within the boundary of Eldorado National Forest, Eldorado and Placer Counties, CA.

Summary: EPA expressed environmental concerns and requested additional information regarding impacts to threatened and endangered species and Forest Service sensitive species. EPA also requested additional information on cumulative impacts.

ERP No. D-SFW-K99032-CA Rating EC2, Western Riverside County Multiple Species Habitat Conservation Plan (MSHCP), Implementation, Incidental Take Permits Issuance, Riverside and Orange County, CA.

Summary: EPA raised environmental concerns that information from other regional plans has not been fully integrated with the analysis and conclusions of the MSHCP. Other EPA concerns are the assumptions regarding the level of species protection provided by Public/Quasi-Public lands, the scientific basis of MSHCP assumptions and conclusions, enforcement, and consultation with and evaluation of potential impacts on Indian Tribes. EPA also recommended the Service provide future opportunities for public and agency input, and consult with Indian Tribes on a government-to-government basis.

ERP No. DS-COE-C36031-NY Rating LO, Irondequoit Creek at Panorama Valley Flood Damage Reduction Project, New Information concerning Resumption and Evaluation of a Flood Damage Reduction Project, Town of Penfield, Monroe County, NY.

Summary: EPA has no objections to the implementation of the proposed project.

ERP No. DS-DOE-L08055-WA Rating EC2, Kangley—Echo Lake Transmission Line Project, New 500 Kilovolt (kV) Transmission Line Construction, Updated Information concerning Re-evaluating Alternatives not Analyzed, U.S. Army COE Section 10 and 404 Permits Issuance, King County, WA.

Summary: EPA expressed environmental concerns with the lack of clearly defined mitigation measures to protect drinking water sources and ensure the integrity of the City of Seattle's Habitat Conservation Plan. EPA recommended that the EIS not be finalized until such mitigation has been determined. EPA also recommended that the final EIS more clearly identify the significance of predicted effects of the project.

Final EISs

ERP No. F-AFS-E65053-NC Croatan National Forest Revised Land and Resource Management Plan (1986), Implementation, Carteret Craven and Jones Counties, NC.

Summary: The final EIS is responsive to issues raised in the draft EIS and EPA has no objections to the proposed action.

ERP No. F-AFS-J82016-MT Bitterroot National Forest Noxious Weed Treatment Project, Ground and Aerial Herbicides Application, Mechanical, Biological and Cultural Weed Treatment and Public Awareness Measures, Implementation, Stevensville Ranger District, Bitterroot National Forest, Ravalli County, MT.

Summary: EPA's review has not identified potential environmental impacts requiring substantive changes to the proposal.

ERP No. F-AFS-L65403-WA Quartzite Watershed Management Project, Watershed Management Activities including Vegetation Management, Riparian/Wetland Management and Road Management, Colville National Forest, Thomason Sherwood-Cottonwood Creek, Three Rivers Ranger District, Stevens County, WA.

Summary: No formal comment letter was sent to the preparing agency.

ERP No. F-DOE-L08059-WA Schultz-Hanford Transmission Line Project, New 500 kilovolt (kV) Transmission Line Construction, Central Washington north of Hanford connecting to an existing line at the Schultz Substation, Kittitas, Yakima, Grant and Benton Counties, WA.

Summary: No formal comment letter was sent to the preparing agency.

Dated: April 22, 2003.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[FRL-7488-5]

National Advisory Council for Environmental Policy and Technology

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: Under the Federal Advisory Committee Act, Pub. L. 92463, EPA gives notice of a meeting of the National Advisory Council for Environmental Policy and Technology (NACEPT). NACEPT provides advice and recommendations to the Administrator of EPA on a broad range of environmental policy, technology, and management issues.

NACEPT consists of a representative cross-section of EPA's partners and principle constituents who provide advice and recommendations on policy issues and serve as a sounding board for new strategies that the Agency is developing. The Council is a proactive, strategic panel of experts that identifies emerging challenges facing EPA and responds to specific charges requested by the Administrator and the program office managers.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the NACEPT Council agenda for FY 03-04 and agree on appropriate venues to address the topics in a timely and efficient manner. NACEPT will discuss a number of issues, including agriculture, environmental technology, EPA's draft strategic plan, EPA's Report on the Environment, and emerging trends facing the agency. In addition, NACEPT will report on the work of its subcommittees.

DATES: NACEPT will hold a two day public meeting on Tuesday, May 6, 2003, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Wednesday, May 7, 2003, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Due to contractual issues, the Federal Register notice was delayed.

ADDRESSES: The meeting will be held at the Embassy Suites Hotel, 1250 22nd Street, NW. Washington, DC. The meeting is open to the public, with limited seating on a first-come, first-served basis.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Requests to make oral comments or provide written comments to the Council should be sent to Gwendolyn Whitt, Designated Federal Officer/NACEPT using the contact information below. The public is welcome to attend all portions of the meeting. Members of the public expecting to submit written comments and/or make brief oral statements (5-minute limit) during the public comment session are encouraged to contact Ms. Whitt by May 2, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Gwendolyn Whitt, Designated Federal Officer, whitt.gwen@epa.gov, (ph) (202) 233-0090, U.S. EPA, Office of Cooperative Environmental Management (1601E), 1200 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20460.

Meeting Access: Individuals requiring special accommodation at this meeting, including wheelchair access, should contact Gwendolyn Whitt at least five business days prior to the meeting so that appropriate arrangements can be made.

Dated: April 18, 2003.

Gwendolyn Whitt,

Designated Federal Officer.

Clean Water Act Section 303(d): Final Agency Action on 12 Modified Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs)

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: This notice announces final agency action modifying 12 established TMDLs prepared by EPA Region 6 for waters listed in Louisiana's Mermentau and Vermilion/Teche river basins, under section 303(d) of the Clean Water Act (CWA). The EPA evaluated these waters and prepared the 12 TMDLs in response to a consent decree entered in the lawsuit Sierra Club, et al. v. Clifford et al., No. 96-0527, (E.D. La.). Documents from the administrative record files for the 12 modified TMDLs, including TMDL calculations and responses to comments, may be viewed at <http://www.epa.gov/region6/water/tmdl.htm>.

ADDRESSES: The administrative record files may be obtained by writing or calling Ms. Ellen Caldwell, Environmental Protection Specialist, Water Quality Protection Division, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 6, 1445 Ross Ave., Dallas, TX 75202-2733. Please contact Ms. Caldwell to schedule an inspection.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In 1996, two Louisiana environmental groups, the Sierra Club and Louisiana Environmental Action Network (plaintiffs), filed a lawsuit in Federal Court against the EPA, styled Sierra Club, et al. v. Clifford et al., No. 96-0527, (E.D. La.). Among other claims, plaintiffs alleged that EPA failed to establish Louisiana TMDLs in a timely manner.

EPA Takes Final Agency Action on 12 Modified TMDLs

By this notice EPA is taking final agency action modifying the following 12 TMDLs for waters located within the Mermentau and Vermilion/Teche river basins:

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Public Workshop: Information Flows: The Costs and Benefits to Consumers and Businesses of the Collection and Use of Consumer Information AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.

ACTION: Notice of public workshop and opportunity for comment.

SUMMARY: The Federal Trade Commission ("FTC" or "Commission") announces a public workshop on "The Costs and Benefits to Consumers and Businesses of the Collection and Use of Consumer Information." The workshop will focus on how and why certain businesses collect, analyze, and use certain consumer information to facilitate commercial transactions with consumers and the associated costs and benefits to consumers and businesses of such practices. The workshop will be held at and administered by the FTC.

DATES: The workshop will take place on June 18, 2003, at the FTC's Satellite Building, now located at 601 New Jersey Avenue, NW., Washington, DC. The workshop is open to the public and attendance is free of charge. Pre-registration is not required. The workshop will be transcribed and placed on the public record.

Requests to Participate as a Panelist:

As discussed below, written requests to participate as a panelist in the workshop must be filed on or before May 9, 2003. Requests should be addressed to Donald S. Clark, Office of the Secretary, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20580 or via e-mail at infoflows@ftc.gov. Parties are asked to include in their requests a detailed statement setting forth their expertise in or knowledge of the issues and their contact information, including a telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address.

Using the following criteria, FTC staff will select a limited number of panelists to participate in the forum:

1. The party has expertise in or knowledge of the issues that are the focus of the forum.

2. The party's participation would promote a balance of interests being represented at the forum.

3. The party can present information or evidence that is highly relevant to the forum and not available from other parties.

Persons filing requests to participate as a panelist will be notified on or before May 21, 2003, if they have been selected to participate.

Written Comments: Whether or not selected to participate, any interested person may submit written comments responsive to any of the topics to be addressed; such comments should be submitted no later than the last panel of the workshop. Any written comments received also will be placed on the public record. Written comments should be submitted in both hard copy and electronic form. Six hard copies of each submission should be addressed to Donald S. Clark, Office of the Secretary, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20580. Submissions should be captioned "Comments regarding consumer information flows." Electronic submissions may be sent by electronic mail to infoflows@ftc.gov. Alternatively, electronic submissions may be filed on a 3½ inch computer disk with a label on the disk stating the name of the submitter and the name and version of the word processing program used to create the document.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Maureen Ohlhausen, (202) 326-2632, mko/infoflows@ftc.gov, Office of Policy Planning, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20580. A detailed agenda for the workshop will be available on the FTC Home Page (<http://www.ftc.gov>) and through Mildred Taylor, Staff Secretary, at (202) 326-2553.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Overview

Since 1995, the FTC has examined the consumer issues raised by the collection and use of consumer information. To gain a better understanding of these issues, the FTC has held workshops, conducted surveys, prepared reports, and met with numerous industry and consumer groups. Where the Commission determined that certain information practices were unlawful, it has also brought enforcement actions and issued educational materials to assist businesses and consumers in avoiding these practices. In approaching this issue, the FTC recognizes that the sharing and use of information can benefit consumers, but seeks to put a stop to unfair or deceptive information practices that harm consumers.

As part of this ongoing effort to examine how information practices affect consumers, the FTC is announcing a workshop to examine the various costs and benefits of collecting and using certain consumer information to facilitate commercial transactions. To permit a closer examination of the issues, the workshop will focus on the collection and use of consumer information for particular commercial purposes in the context of two or three case studies. Candidates for such case studies include consumer credit, fraud prevention, financial services, customer relations management, and direct and targeted marketing. The workshop will not focus on transactions or entities outside the FTC's jurisdiction. The FTC is particularly interested in learning about specific data or studies showing how the use of consumer information for these commercial purposes affects consumers. Although observers frequently cite the costs and benefits of these uses of consumer information, a more thorough examination of the empirical evidence should promote greater understanding of the issues.

Issues

Below is non-exhaustive list of issues to be addressed by the workshop. Written comments need not address all of these issues.

How do businesses measure the value of consumer trust?

What part do information practices play in this valuation?

How do businesses collect and aggregate information about consumers?

How do businesses use information about consumers in their operations?

How do businesses incorporate information practices to benefit consumers?

What types of information about consumers do businesses use?

What factors should be considered in evaluating the costs and benefits to consumers and businesses of the collection and usage of this information?

What are the benefits to consumers of the use of this information by businesses?

What are the costs to consumers of the use of this information by businesses?

The Commission welcomes suggestions for other questions that also should be addressed. Proposed questions, identified as such, may be sent by electronic mail to infoflows@ftc.gov.

By direction of the Commission, with Commissioner Anthony voting in the negative.

Donald S. Clark,
Secretary.

[Document No. JFMIP-SR-03-02]

Joint Financial Management Improvement Program (JFMIP)—Federal Financial Management System Requirements (FFMSR)

AGENCY: Joint Financial Management Improvement Program (JFMIP).

ACTION: Notice of document availability.

SUMMARY: The JFMIP is seeking public comment on an exposure draft entitled "Inventory, Supplies, and Materials System Requirements," dated April 2003. The draft is a re-write of the Federal Financial Management System Requirements (FFMSR) document that addresses standard financial requirements for Federal inventory systems. The document is intended to assist agencies when developing, improving or evaluating systems for inventory held for sale, operating supplies and materials, and stockpile materials. It provides the baseline functionality that agency systems must have to support agency missions and comply with laws and regulations. When issued in final, the document will augment the existing body of FFMSR that define financial system functional requirements which are used in evaluating compliance with the Federal Management Improvement Act (FFMIA) of 1996.

DATES: Comments are due by June 23, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the exposure draft have been transmitted to senior financial officials chief information officers, together with a transmittal memo listing items of interest for which JFMIP is soliciting feedback. The Exposure Draft and transmittal memo are available on the JFMIP Web site: <http://WWW.JFMIP.GOV>. Responses should be addressed to JFMIP, 1990 K Street, NW., Suite 430, Washington, DC 20006.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Elvon C. Lloyd, (202) 219-0532 or elvon.lloyd@gsa.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FFMIA of 1996 mandated that agencies implement and maintain systems that comply substantially with FFMSR, applicable Federal accounting standards, and the U.S. Government Standard General Ledger at the transaction level. The FFMIA statute codified the JFMIP financial system requirements documents as a key benchmark that agency systems must meet to substantially comply with systems requirements provisions under FFMIA. To support the provisions outlined in the FFMIA, the JFMIP is updating obsolete requirements documents and publishing additional requirements documents. Comments received will be reviewed and the exposure draft will be revised as necessary. Publication of the final document will be mailed to agency financial officials, chief information officers, and others, and will be available on the JFMIP Web site.

Karen Cleary Alderman.

Executive Director, Joint Financial Management Improvement Program.

Agency Information Collection Activities: Proposed Collection; Comment Request

AGENCY: Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, HHS.

In compliance with the requirement of section 3506(c)(2)(A) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) (formerly known as the Health Care Financing Administration (CMS)), Department of Health and Human Services, is publishing the following summary of proposed collections for public comment. Interested persons are invited to send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including any of the following subjects: (1) The necessity and utility of the proposed information collection for the proper performance of the agency's functions; (2) the accuracy of the estimated burden; (3) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (4) the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology to minimize the information collection burden.

1. Type of Information Collection
Request: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Title of Information Collection: Hospital Request for Certification in the Medicare/Medicaid Program.

Form No.: CMS-1514 (OMB# 0938-0380).

Use: Section 1861 of the Social Security Act requires hospitals and critical access hospitals to be certified to participate in the Medicare/Medicaid program. These providers must complete the "Hospital Request for Certification in the Medicare/Medicaid Program" form in order to be certified or recertified.

Frequency: Annually.

Affected Public: Business or other for-profit, Not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 6,300.

Total Annual Responses: 2,000.

Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Application by the Community Health Accreditation Program (CHAP) for Continued Approval of Deeming Authority for Hospices AGENCY: Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, HHS.

ACTION: Proposed notice.

SUMMARY: This proposed notice acknowledges the receipt of an application from the Community Health Accreditation Program (CHAP) for continued recognition as a national accreditation program for hospice facilities that wish to participate in the Medicare or Medicaid programs. Section 1865(b)(3)(A) of the Social Security Act (the Act) requires that within 60 days of receipt of an organization's complete application, we publish a notice that identifies the national accrediting body making the request, describes the nature of the request, and provides at least a 30-day public comment period.

DATES: We will consider comments if we receive them at the appropriate address, as provided below, no later than 5 p.m. on May 27, 2003.

ADDRESSES: In commenting, please refer to file code CMS-2182-PN. Due to staff and resource limitations, we cannot accept comments by facsimile (fax). Mail written comments (one original and three copies) to the following address: Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, Department of Health and Human Services, Attention: CMS-2182-PN, P.O. Box 8013, Baltimore, MD 21244-8013.

Please allow sufficient time for mailed comments to be received in the event of delivery delays.

If you prefer, you may deliver (by hand or courier) your written comments (one original and three copies) to one of the following addresses: Room 443-G, Hubert H. Humphrey (HHH) Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20201, or Room C5-14-03, 7500 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21244-1850.

(Because access to the interior of the HHH Building is not readily available to persons without Federal Government identification, commenters are encouraged to leave their comments in the CMS drop slots located in the main lobby of the building. A stamp-in clock is available for persons wishing to retain a proof of filing by stamping in and retaining an extra copy of the comments being filed.)

Comments mailed to the above addresses indicated as appropriate for hand or courier delivery may be delayed and received too late for us to consider them.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Cindy Melanson, (410) 785-0310.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Inspection of Public Comments: Comments received timely will be available for public inspection as they are received, generally beginning approximately 3 weeks after publication of a document, at the headquarters of the Centers of Medicare & Medicaid Services, 7500 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21244, Monday through Friday of each week from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Top schedule an appointment to view public comments, phone (410) 786-7195.

I. Background

Under the Medicare program, eligible beneficiaries may receive covered services in a hospice, provided certain requirements are met. Section 1861(dd) of the Social Security Act (the Act) establishes distinct criteria for facilities seeking designation as a hospice provider. Provider agreement regulations are located in 42 CFR part 489, and regulations pertaining to activities relating to the survey and certification of facilities are located in 42 CFR part 488. The regulations at 42 CFR part 418 specify the conditions that a hospice facility must meet in order to participate in the Medicare program, the scope of covered services, and the conditions for Medicare payment for hospice care. Section 1905(O)(1)(A) of the Act generally extends their requirements to payments for hospice services under the Medicaid program.

Generally, in order to enter into an agreement, a hospice facility must first be certified by a State survey agency as complying with the conditions or requirements set forth in part 418 of our regulations. Then, the hospice facility is subject to regular surveys by a State survey agency to determine whether it continues to meet these requirements. There is an alternate, however to surveys by State agencies.

Section 1865(b)(1) of the Act provides that, if a provider entity demonstrates through accreditation by an approved national accreditation organization that all applicable Medicare conditions are met or exceeded, we would "deem" those provider entities as having met the requirements. Accreditation by an accreditation organization is voluntary and is not required for Medicare participation.

If an accreditation organization is recognized by the Secretary as having standards for accreditation that meet or exceed Medicare requirements, any provider entity accredited by the national accrediting body's approved program would be deemed to meet the Medicare conditions. A national accreditation organization applying for approval of deeming authority under part 486, subpart A must provide us with reasonable assurance that the accreditation organization requires the accredited provider entities to meet requirements that are at least as stringent as the Medicare conditions. Our regulations concerning reapproval of accrediting organizations are set forth at § 488.4 and § 488.8(d)(3). The regulations at § 488.8(d)(3) require accreditation organizations to reapply for continued approval of deeming authority every 6 years or sooner as determined by us. The Community Health Accreditation Program's (CHAP's) term of approval as a recognized accreditation program for hospice facilities expires November 20, 2003.

II. Approval of Deeming Organizations

Section 1965(b)(2) of the Act and our regulations at § 488.8(a) require that our findings concerning review and reapproval of a national accrediting organization's requirements consider, among other factors, the reapplying accreditation organization's: Requirements for accreditation; survey procedures; resources for conducting required surveys; capacity to furnish information to use in enforcement activities; monitoring procedures for provider entities found not in compliance with the conditions or requirements; and ability to provide us with the necessary data for validation.

Section 1865(b)(3)(A) of the Act further requires that we publish, within 60 days of receipt of an accreditation organization's complete application, a notice identifying the national accreditation body making the request, describing the nature of the request, and providing at least a 30-day public comment period. In addition, we must publish a notice in the Federal Register or our approval or denial of the application within 210 days from the receipt of the application.

The purpose of this proposed notice is to inform the public of our consideration of CHAP's request for approval of continued deeming authority for hospice facilities. This notice also solicits public comment on whether CHAP requirements meet or exceed the Medicare conditions for participation for hospice facilities.

III. Evaluation of Deeming Authority Request

On February 21, 2003, CHAP submitted all the necessary materials to enable us to make a determination concerning its request for reapproval as a deeming organization for hospice facilities. Under section 1865(b)(2) of the Act and our regulations at § 488.8 (Federal review of accreditation organizations), our review and evaluation of CHAP will be conducted in accordance with, but not necessarily limited to, the following factors:

- The equivalency of CHAP standards for hospice care as compared with our comparable hospice conditions of participation.
- CHAP's survey process to determine the following:
 - The composition of the survey team, surveyor qualifications, and the ability of the organization to provide continuing surveyor training.
 - The comparability of CHAP processes to that of State agencies, including survey frequency, and the ability to investigate and respond appropriately to complaints against accredited facilities.

- CHAP's processes and procedures for monitoring providers or suppliers found out of compliance with CHAP program requirements. These monitoring procedures are used only when CHAP identifies noncompliance. If noncompliance is identified through validation reviews, the survey agency monitors corrections as specified at § 488.7(d).
- CHAP's capacity to report deficiencies to the surveyed facilities and respond to the facility's plan of correction in a timely manner.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 222 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 217a), as amended, grants to the Secretary the authority to establish an advisory panel if the Secretary finds the panel necessary and in the public interest. The Secretary signed the charter establishing this Panel on January 21, 1999 (64 FR 7849) and approved the renewal of the charter on January 21, 2003. The Panel advises and makes recommendations to the Secretary and the Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services on opportunities to enhance the effectiveness of consumer education strategies concerning the Medicare program.

The goals of the Panel are as follows:

- To develop and implement a national Medicare education program that describes the options for selecting a health plan under Medicare.
- To enhance the Federal government's effectiveness in informing the Medicare consumer, including the appropriate use of public-private partnerships.
- To expand outreach to vulnerable and underserved communities, including racial and ethnic minorities, in the context of a national Medicare education program.
- To assemble an information base of best practices for helping consumers evaluate health plan options and build a community infrastructure for information, counseling, and assistance.

The current members of the Panel are:

Dr. Jane Delgado, Chief Executive Officer, National Alliance for Hispanic Health; Joyce Dubow, Senior Policy Advisor, Public Policy Institute, AARP; Clayton Fong, President and Chief Executive Officer, National Asian Pacific Center on Aging; Timothy Fuller, Executive Director, National Gray Panthers; John Graham IV, Chief Executive Officer, American Diabetes Association; Dr. William Haggett, Senior Vice President, Government Programs, Independence Blue Cross; Thomas Hall, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Cardio-Kinetics, Inc.; David Knutson, Director, Health System Studies, Park Nicollet Institute for Research and Education; Brian Lindberg, Executive Director, Consumer Coalition for Quality Health Care; Katherine Metzger, Director, Medicare and Medicaid Programs, Fallon Community Health Plan; Dr. Laurie Powers, Co-Director, Center on Self-Determination, Oregon Health Sciences University; Dr. Marlon Priest, Professor of Emergency Medicine, University of Alabama at Birmingham; Dr. Susan Reinhard, Co-Director, Center for State Health Policy, Rutgers University and Chairperson of the Advisory Panel on Medicare Education; Dr. Everard Rutledge, Vice President of Community Health, Bon Secours Health Systems, Inc.; Jay Sackman, Executive Vice President, 1199 Service Employees International Union; Dallas Salisbury, President and Chief Executive Officer, Employee Benefit Research Institute; Rosemarie Sweeney, Vice President, Socioeconomic Affairs and Policy Analysis, American Academy of Family Physicians; and Bruce Taylor, Director, Employee Benefit Policy and Plans, Verizon Communications.

The agenda for the May 21, 2003 meeting will include the following:

- Recap of the previous (November 19, 2002) meeting.
- Center for Beneficiary Choices Update.
- Promoting the Use of Medicare Preventive Benefits.
- Eliminating Disparities in the Use of Medicare Preventive Benefits.
- 2003/2004 Medicare Multi-Media Education Campaign.
- Update on Home Health Quality Initiative.
- Public Comment.
- Listening Session with CMS Leadership.
- Next Steps.

Individuals or organizations that wish to make a 5-minute oral presentation on an agenda topic should contact Ms. Johnson by 12 noon, May 14, 2003. A written copy of the oral presentation should also be submitted to Ms. Johnson by 12 noon, May 14, 2003. The number of oral presentations may be limited by the time available. Individuals not wishing to make a presentation may submit written comments to Ms. Johnson by 12 noon, May 14, 2003. Medicare Program; Meeting of the Practicing Physicians Advisory Council—May 19, 2003 AGENCY: Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), HHS.

ACTION: Notice of meeting.

SUMMARY: In accordance with section 10(a) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, this notice announces a meeting of the Practicing Physicians Advisory Council (the Council), and the swearing in of four new Council members. The Council will be meeting to discuss certain proposed changes in regulations and carrier manual instructions related to physicians' services, as identified by the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services. The meeting is open to the public.

DATES: The meeting is scheduled for May 19, 2003, from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. e.d.t.

ADDRESSES: The meeting will be held in Room 800, 8th floor, at Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20201.

Meeting Registration: Persons wishing to attend this meeting must contact Diana Motsiopoulos, The Council Administrative Coordinator, at dmotsiopoulos@cms.hhs.gov or (410) 786-3379, at least 72 hours in advance to register. Persons not registered in advance, will not be permitted into the Humphrey building and will not be permitted to attend the meeting. Persons attending the meeting will be required to show a photographic identification, preferably a valid driver's license, before entering the building.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Paul Rudolf, M.D., J.D., Executive Director, Practicing Physicians Advisory Council, 7500 Security Blvd., Mail Stop C5-17-14, Baltimore, MD 21244-1850, 410-786-6960. News media representatives should contact the CMS Press Office, (202) 690-6145. Please refer to the CMS Advisory Committees Information Line (1-877-449-5659 toll free)/(410-786-9379 local) or the Internet at <http://www.cms.hhs.gov/faca/ppac/default.asp> for additional information and updates on committee activities.

Background Information: The Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (the Secretary) is mandated by section 1868 of the Social Security Act (the Act) to appoint Practicing Physicians Advisory Council (the Council) members based on nominations submitted by medical organizations representing physicians. The Council meets quarterly to discuss certain proposed changes in regulations and carrier manual instructions related to physicians' services, as identified by the Secretary. To the extent feasible and consistent with statutory deadlines, the consultation must occur before publication of the proposed changes. The Council submits an annual report on its recommendations to the Secretary and the Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services not later than December 31 of each year.

The Council consists of 15 physicians, each of whom must have submitted at least 250 claims for physicians' services under Title XVIII in the previous year. Members must include both participating and nonparticipating physicians, and physicians practicing in rural and under served urban areas. At least 11 members of the Council must be physicians as described in section 1861(r)(1) (that is, M.D. or D.O.). The remaining 4 members may include dentists, podiatrists, optometrists and chiropractors. Members serve for overlapping 4-year terms; terms of more than 2 years are contingent upon the renewal of the Council by appropriate action prior to its termination. Section 1868(a) of the Act provides that nominations to the Secretary for Council membership must be made by medical organizations representing physicians.

The Council held its first meeting on May 11, 1992. The current members are: James Bergeron, M.D.; Ronald Castallanos, M.D.; Rebecca Gaughan, M.D.; Carlos R. Hamilton, M.D.; Joseph Heyman, M.D.; Dennis K. Iglar, M.D.; Christopher Leggett, M.D.; Joe Johnson, D.O.; Barbara McAneny, M.D.; Angelyn L. Moultrie-Lizana, D.O.; Laura B. Powers, M.D.; Michael T. Rapp, M.D.; Amilu Rothhammer, M.D.; Robert L. Urata, M.D. and Douglas L. Wood, M.D.

The meeting will commence with a Council update on the status of prior recommendations, followed by discussion and comment on the following agenda topics:

- Physician's Regulatory Issues Team (PRIT)
- Stark II—CMS-1810-FC
- Office of the Actuary—Volume Performance
- Measures/Volume Intensity Adjustments
- HIPAA Privacy Rule—Cell phone communications
- Access to physicians services

For additional information and clarification on these topics, contact the Executive Director, listed under the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section of this notice. Individual physicians or medical organizations that represent physicians wishing to make a 5-minute oral presentation on agenda issues should contact the Executive Director by 12 noon, May 5, 2003, to be scheduled. Testimony is limited to agenda topics only. The number of oral presentations may be limited by the time available. A written copy of the presenter's oral remarks must be submitted to Diana Motsiopoulos, Administrative Coordinator no later than 12 noon, May 5, 2003, for distribution to Council members for review prior to the meeting.

Physicians and medical organizations not scheduled to speak may also submit written comments to the Administrative Coordinator for distribution. The meeting is open to the public, but attendance is limited to the space available. Individuals requiring sign language interpretation for the hearing impaired or other special accommodation should contact Diana Motsiopoulos at dmotsiopoulos@cms.hhs.gov or (410) 786-3379 at least 10 days before the meeting.

Authority: Section 1868 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ee) and section 10(a) of Public Law 92-463 (5 U.S.C. App. 2, section 10(a)).

Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration

Agency Information Collection Activities: Proposed Collection; Comment Request

In compliance with section 3506(c)(2)(A) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 concerning opportunity for public comment on proposed collections of information, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration will publish periodic summaries of proposed projects. To request more information on the proposed projects or to obtain a copy of the information collection plans, call the SAMHSA Reports Clearance Officer on (301) 443-7978.

Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the proposed collections of information are necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information shall have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

Proposed Project: 2004 National Survey on Drug Use and Health—(OMB No. 0930-0110, Revision)—The National Survey on Drug Use and Health (NSDUH), formerly the National Household Survey on Drug Abuse (NHSDA), is a survey of the civilian, noninstitutionalized population of the United States 12 years old and older. The data are used to determine the prevalence of use of tobacco products, alcohol, illicit substances, and illicit use of prescription drugs. The results are used by SAMHSA, ONDCP, Federal government agencies, and other organizations and researchers to establish policy, direct program activities, and better allocate resources.

As with all NSDUH/NHSDA surveys conducted since 1999, the sample size of the survey for 2004 will be sufficient to permit prevalence estimates for each of the fifty states and the District of Columbia. No questionnaire changes are planned for the 2004 NSDUH. The total annual burden estimate is shown below:

	No. of responses	Responses per respondent	Average burden per response (hr.)	Total burden (hrs)
Household Screening	182,250	1	0.083	15,127
Interview	67,500	1	1.0	67,500
Screening Verification	5,559	1	0.067	372
Interview Verification	10,125	1	0.067	678
Total	182,259	83,677

Send comments to Nancy Pearce, SAMHSA Reports Clearance Officer, Room 16-105, Parklawn Building, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857. Written comments should be received within 60 days of this notice.

Dated: April 21, 2003.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Bureau of Customs and Border Protection

Quarterly IRS Interest Rates Used in Calculating Interest on Overdue Accounts and Refunds on Customs Duties

AGENCY: Customs and Border Protection, Homeland Security.

ACTION: General notice.

SUMMARY: This notice advises the public of the quarterly Internal Revenue Service interest rates used to calculate interest on overdue accounts (underpayments) and refunds (overpayments) of Customs duties. For the calendar quarter beginning April 1, 2003, the interest rates for overpayments will be 4 percent for corporations and 5 percent for non-corporations, and the interest rate for underpayments will be 5 percent. This notice is published for the convenience of the importing public and Customs personnel.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 1, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ronald Wyman, Accounting Services

Division, Accounts Receivable Group, 6026 Lakeside Boulevard, Indianapolis, Indiana 46278; telephone 317/298-1200, extension 1349.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. 1505 and Treasury Decision 85-93, published in the Federal Register on May 29, 1985 (50 FR 21832), the interest rate paid on applicable overpayments or underpayments of Customs duties must be in accordance with the Internal Revenue Code rate established under 26 U.S.C. 6621 and 6622. Section 6621 was amended (at paragraph (a)(1)(B) by the Internal Revenue Service Restructuring and Reform Act of 1998, Pub. L. 105-206, 112 Stat. 685) to provide different interest rates applicable to overpayments: one for corporations and one for non-corporations.

The interest rates are based on the Federal short-term rate and determined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on behalf of the Secretary of the Treasury on a quarterly basis. The rates effective for a quarter are determined during the first-month period of the previous quarter.

In Revenue Ruling 2003-30 (see, 2003-13 IRB 659, dated March 31, 2003), the IRS determined the rates of interest for the calendar quarter beginning April 1, 2003, and ending June 30, 2003. The interest rate paid to the Treasury for underpayments will be the Federal short-term rate (2%) plus three percentage points (3%) for a total of five percent (5%). For corporate overpayments, the rate is the Federal short-term rate (2%) plus two percentage points (2%) for a total of four percent (4%). For overpayments made by non-corporations, the rate is the Federal short-term rate (2%) plus three percentage points (3%) for a total of five percent (5%). These interest rates are subject to change for the calendar quarter beginning July 1, 2003, and ending September 30, 2003.

For the convenience of the importing public and Customs personnel the following list of IRS interest rates used, covering the period from before July of 1974 to date, to calculate interest on overdue accounts and refunds of Customs duties, is published in summary format.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Agency Information Collection Activities: Submission for OMB Review; Comment Request

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency
Preparedness and Response Directorate, Homeland Security.

ACTION: Notice and request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Federal Emergency Management Agency has submitted the following proposed information collection to the Office of Management and Budget for review and clearance in accordance with the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44
U.S.C. 3507).

Title: National Defense Executive
Reserve Personal Qualifications
Statement.

Type of Information Collection:
Extension of a currently approved collection.

OMB Number: 1660-0001.

Abstract: The National Defense
Executive Reserve (NDER) is a Federal government program coordinated by FEMA. To become a member of the NDER, individuals with the requisite qualifications must complete FEMA Form 85-3, National Defense Executive
Reserve Personal Qualifications
Statement. FEMA Form 85-3 is an application form that is used by Federal departments and agencies to fill NDER vacancies and to ensure that individuals are qualified to perform in the assigned emergency positions. FEMA reviews the application form to ensure that the candidate meets all basic membership qualifications for the Executive Reserve; ensures that the applicant is not already serving in a Federal department or agency sponsored unit; and, in some cases, determines the Federal department or agency best suited for the applicant.

Affected Public: Individuals or Households.

Number of Respondents: 50.

Estimated Time per Respondent: 30 minutes.

Estimated Total Annual Burden

Hours: 25 hours.

Frequency of Response: On occasion.

Comments: Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the proposed information collection to the Desk Officer for the Federal Emergency Management Agency,
Emergency Preparedness and Response
Directorate, Department of Homeland Security, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503 within 30 days of the date of this notice.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
Requests for additional information or copies of the information collection should be made to Muriel B. Anderson,
Chief, Records Management Branch,
Information Resources Management Division, Information Technology

Services Directorate, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate, Department of Homeland Security, 500 C Street, SW., Room 316, Washington, DC 20472, at (202) 646-2625, facsimile number (202) 646-3347, or e-mail address InformationCollections@fema.gov.

Dated: April 16, 2003.

BILLING CODE 6718-01-P

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Agency Information Collection Activities: Proposed Collection; Comment Request

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate, Homeland Security.

ACTION: Notice and request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Federal Emergency Management Agency, as part of its continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent burden, invites the general public and other Federal agencies to take this opportunity to comment on proposed revised information collections. In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)), this notice seeks comments concerning registration intake for the Disaster Assistance Registration information collection.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The legal basis for the collection of information in support of the applicant as well as administrative policy is contained in the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, Public Law 93-288, as amended, and 44 Code of Federal Regulations (44 CFR) part 206. In support of disaster victims, it is the policy of FEMA to provide an orderly and continuing means of assistance by the Federal Government to State and local governments, in carrying out their responsibilities to alleviate the suffering and damage that result from major disasters and emergencies. In addition FEMA complies with the provisions of Title IV of the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, Title 8 United States Code, sections 1601 et seq., with respect to determination of eligibility or disaster assistance for applicants who are not U.S. citizens.

Collection of Information

Title: Disaster Assistance Registration.

Type of Information Collection: Revision of a currently approved collection.

OMB Number: 1660-0002.

Form Numbers: FEMA Forms 90-69 (English), 90-69A (Spanish), Application Registration for Disaster Assistance, and FEMA Forms 90-69B (English), 90-69C (Spanish), Declaration and Release.

Abstract: The information serves as the application for FEMA's Individuals and Households Program with regard to Housing Assistance and Other Needs Assistance and is relayed to other Federal and State agencies administering disaster relief programs appropriate to the applicants needs. Without this information, eligibility for disaster assistance cannot be determined. The information is obtained by telephone calls to the Teleregistration Center or from a face-to-face interview. Applicants are provided a statement regarding the privacy act and they sign a statement certifying the accuracy of their information.

Affected Public: Individuals or Households; Federal Government; State, Local or Tribal Governments; Business or Other For-Profit; Not-For-Profit Institutions; Farms.

Estimated Total Annual Burden Hours:

FEMA forms	No. of respondents (A)	Frequency of response (B)	Hours per response (C)	Annual burden hours (A x B x C)
90-69, 90-96A	482,584	1	19 min.	152,818
90-69B, 90-69C	308,884 (65% of responses are inspected)	1	2 min.	10,295
Total	482,584	21 min.	163,113

Estimated Cost: The total estimated annual cost to the applicant for FEMA Forms 90-69, 90-69A, 90-69B, and 90-69C is $978,678. The cost is determined by the average hourly rate of $6.00 per respondent times the estimated 163,113 burden hours.

Cost to the Federal Government regarding the forms pertain to three main activities: (1) Cost for Contract Inspectors to obtain signatures on the 90-69B, Declaration and Release, form. Cost estimates are computed by using the Contractor hourly rate of $45 times the average of two minutes to obtain the signature from the applicant times the projected number of respondents who actually receive an inspection (308,854) for an estimated total annual cost of $463,275. (2) Cost to take the electronic registrations in NEMIS computed by using the Registrar's hourly rate of GS 5/1, $12.50 plus the cost estimate for NEMIS per hour of $5.29 = $17.79 times the projected annual burden hours for ninety-five percent of the projected annual respondents (145,177), for an estimated total annual cost of $2,582,699. (3) Cost to enter paper applications into NEMIS are computed by using the Registrar's hourly rate of GS 5/1, $12.50 plus the cost estimate for NEMIS per hour of $5.29 = $17.79 times the projected annual burden hours for five percent of the projected annual paper form respondents (3,217), for an estimated total annual cost of $57,230.

Comments: Written comments are solicited to (a) evaluate whether the proposed data collection is necessary for the proper performance of the agency, including whether the information shall have practical utility; (b) evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses. Comments should be received within 60 days of the date of this notice.

ADDRESSES: Interested persons should submit written comments to Muriel B. Anderson, Chief, Records Management Branch, Information Resources Management Division, Information Technology Services Directorate, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate, Department of Homeland Security, 500 C Street, SW., Room 316, Washington, DC 20472.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Kathy Fields, Chief, National Processing Service Center, Recovery Division, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate, Department of Homeland Security at (940) 891-8501 for additional information. You may contact Ms. Anderson for copies of the proposed collection of information at (202) 646-2625, facsimile number (202) 646-3347, or e-mail address: InformationCollections@fema.gov.

Notice of Availability of Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Desolation Flats Natural Gas Field Development Project.

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of availability of Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Desolation Flats Natural Gas Field Development Project.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) announces the availability of the Desolation Flats Natural Gas Field Development Project Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) which analyzes the environmental consequences of the proposed Desolation Flats natural gas development and production operation. Expansion of natural gas exploration and development is proposed in and adjacent to other oil and gas developments in the Willow Reservoir, Wedge, Mulligan Draw, Powder Mountain, Desolation Flats, Ruger, Dripping Rock, Cedar Chest, Triton, Lookout Wash Units, and the surrounding areas, collectively referred to as the Desolation Flats Area. The 233,542 acre Desolation Flats project area is located within the administrative jurisdictions of the BLM Rawlins and Rock Springs Field Offices, approximately 21 miles south of Wamsutter, Wyoming, and 14 miles west of Baggs, Wyoming, in Townships 13-16 North, Ranges 93-96 West, Sixth Principal Meridian, Sweetwater and Carbon Counties, Wyoming. Surface owners of the project area lands are: Federal Government, 96 percent; private, 3 percent; and the State of Wyoming, less than 1 percent. Currently, there are approximately 63 oil and gas wells drilled within the proposed project area. If approved, up to 592 additional wells could be drilled over the next 20 years.

DATES: Written comments on the DEIS will be accepted for 60 days following the date the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) publishes its Notice of Availability of the DEIS in the Federal Register.

Two formal hearings are scheduled to obtain public comments on the proposed project and the DEIS at the BLM Rock Springs Field Office, Rock Springs, Wyoming; and at the BLM Rawlins Field Office, Rawlins, Wyoming. All meetings or hearings and any other public involvement activities will be announced at least 15 days in advance through public notices, media news releases, and/or mailings.

ADDRESSES: If you wish to comment, you may submit your comments by any one of several methods. You may send written comments to: John Spehar, Project Manager, Rawlins Field Office, Bureau of Land Management, 1300 N. Third Street, P.O. Box 2407, Rawlins, Wyoming 82301. You may also comment via the Internet to: rawlins_wymail@blm.gov. Please submit Internet comments as an ASCII file avoiding the use of special characters and any form of encryption.

Please also include: "Attn: Desolation Flats Project Manager" and your name and return address in your Internet message. If you do not receive a confirmation from the system that we have received your Internet message, contact us directly at the BLM Rawlins Field Office, John Spehar, 307-328-4264. You may hand-deliver comments to Rawlins Field Office, Bureau of Land Management, 1300 N. Third Street, Rawlins, Wyoming, between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding Federal holidays.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information including public meeting times, dates, and locations or to obtain a copy of the DEIS, contact John Spehar, telephone 307-328-4264 or you may view or download an electronic version of the document from our BLM State Web site at <http://www.wy.blm.gov>.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Marathon Oil Company, EOG Resources, Inc., Tom Brown, Inc., Basin Exploration, Inc., Yates Petroleum Corporation, Questar Exploration and Production Company, Merit Energy Company, Santa Fe Snyder Corporation and other companies (Operators) have submitted a proposal to drill up to 592 wells in the Desolation Flats area. Over the next 20 years, the Operators propose to explore and develop the oil and gas resources held through their existing leases within the Desolation Flats Project Area. Well density would range from two wells per 640 acres to four wells per 640 acres, depending on geologic conditions.

The Desolation Flats DEIS analyzes the impacts of the Proposed Action: economic field development of 385 natural gas wells at 361 well locations and associated access roads (approximately 542 miles of new or upgraded), pipelines (approximately 361 miles), and other ancillary facilities (one gas processing plant, four compressor stations, water disposal sites, etc.). The DEIS also analyzes Alternative A, which is similar to the Proposed Action but would expand well development into the economically marginal areas of the leases and increase the density of wells. Alternative A proposes to increase the number of wells to approximately 592 wells at 555 locations with a proportional increase of access roads (approximately 833 of new or upgraded), pipelines (555 miles) and other ancillary facilities (two gas processing plants, six compressor stations, water disposal sites etc.).

Alternative B is the No Action Alternative. This alternative would deny the proposal as submitted but would allow consideration of individual APDs on Federal lands on a case-by-case basis through individual project and site-specific environmental analysis. No Action would allow drilling and development of 23 additional wells in the Mulligan Draw project area, and drilling and development of 34 additional wells in the Dripping Rock/Cedar Breaks project area. Drilling outside the Mulligan Draw and Dripping Rock/Cedar Break project areas but within the DFPA project area could continue on a case-by-case basis until BLM made a determination that further drilling activity would result in field development.

Based upon issues and concerns identified during the scoping process, the DEIS focuses on the impacts to air quality, biological and physical resources, transportation, and socio-economic environment and their cumulative effects. In compliance with Section 7(c) of the Endangered Species Act as amended, this DEIS includes the Biological Assessment that identifies endangered or threatened species that would potentially be affected by the Proposed Action.

The proposed Desolation Flats Natural Gas Field Development activities are in conformance with the Great Divide Resource Management Plan (USDI-BLM 1990), and Green River Resources Management Plan (USDI-BLM 1997).

Our practice is to make comments, including the names and street addresses of each respondent, available for public review at the BLM offices listed above during regular business hours (7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.), Monday through Friday, except for Federal holidays. Your comments may be published as part of the EIS process. Individual respondents may request confidentiality. If you wish to withhold your name and/or street address from public review or from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act, you must state this prominently at the beginning of your written comment. Such requests will be honored to the extent allowed by law. However, we will not consider anonymous comments. All submissions from organizations or businesses, and from individuals identifying themselves as representatives or officials of organizations or businesses, will be made available for public inspection in their entirety.

Notice of Public Meeting, Roseburg Resource Advisory Committee Meeting

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Meeting notices for the Roseburg District Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Resource Advisory Committee under Section 205 of the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self Determination Act of 2000 (Pub. L. 106-393).

SUMMARY: This notice is published in accordance with Section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. Meeting notice is hereby given for the Roseburg District BLM Resource Advisory Committee pursuant to section 205 of the Secure Rural School and Community Self Determination Act of 2000, Public Law 106-393 (the Act). Topics to be discussed by the Roseburg District BLM Resource Advisory Committee include specific information of specific projects and/or decisions on specific projects.

DATES: The Roseburg Resource Advisory Committee will meet at the BLM Roseburg District Office, 777 NW., Gargen Valley Boulevard, Roseburg, Oregon 97470 on June 16, June 30, July 14, July 21, July 28, and August 4, 2003. The meeting on June 16 will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., while the rest of the meetings will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to the Act, five Resource Advisory Committees have been formed for western Oregon BLM district that contain Oregon & California (O&C) Grant Lands and Coos Bay Wagon Road lands. The Act establishes a six-year payment schedule to local counties in lieu of funds derived from the harvest of timber on federal lands, which have dropped dramatically over the past 10 years.

The Act creates a new mechanism for local community collaboration with federal land management activities in the selection of projects to be conducted on federal lands or that will benefit resources on federal lands using funds Title II of the Act. The Roseburg District BLM Resource Advisory Committee consists of 15 local citizens (plus 6 alternates) representing a wide array of interests.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Additional information concerning the Roseburg District BLM Resource Advisory Committee may be obtained from E. Lynn Burkett, Public Affairs Officer, Roseburg District Office, 777 NW., Garden Valley Blvd., Roseburg, Oregon 97470 or elynnburkett@blm.gov, or on the Web at <http://www.or.blm.gov>.

April 16, 2003.

1. The plats of survey of the following described land were officially filed in the Arizona State Office, Phoenix, Arizona, on the dates indicated:

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the south boundary and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the subdivision of section 35, Township 9 1/2 North, Range 2 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted August 28, 2002 and officially filed September 5, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Phoenix Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the subdivisional lines and the subdivision of section 18 and 19, Township 9 North, Range 3 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted August 28, 2002 and officially filed September 5, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Phoenix Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of the south and west boundaries and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the survey of a portion of the subdivisional lines, Township 28 North, Range 16 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted July 22, 2002 and officially filed July 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Western Regional Office.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of the Fourth Guide Meridian East through Township 27 North, the South and East boundaries and the subdivisional lines, Township 27 North, Range 17 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted July 15, 2002 and officially filed July 18, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Western Regional Office.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the south and east boundaries and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the survey of a portion of the subdivisional lines, Township 27 North, Range 18 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted October 28, 2002 and officially filed November 1, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Western Regional Office.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of the east and north boundaries and subdivisional lines, Township 29 North, Range 18 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted July 22, 2002 and officially filed July 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Western Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the south, east, west, and north boundaries, and the subdivisional lines, Township 31 North, Range 22 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted January 27, 2003 and officially filed January 30, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Eighth Standard Parallel North, (south boundary), Township 33 North, Range 23 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted January 14, 2003 and officially filed January 22, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Sixth Guide Meridian East, (west boundary), the east and north boundaries, and the subdivisional lines, Township 37 North, Range 25 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted September 16, 2002 and officially filed September 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Sixth Guide Meridian East, (west boundary), the east and north boundaries, and the subdivisional lines, Township 38 North, Range 25 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted September 16, 2002 and officially filed September 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Tenth Standard Parallel North, (south boundary), Township 41 North, Range 26 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted February 26, 2003 and officially filed March 6, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the south, east and west boundaries, and the subdivisional lines, Township 40 North, Range 27 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted August 26, 2002 and officially filed August 30, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of the Tenth Standard Parallel North, (south boundary), Township 41 North, Range 27 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted August 26, 2002 and officially filed August 30, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Seventh Guide Meridian East, (west boundary), a portion of the north boundary, and a portion of the subdivisional lines, Township 34 North, Range 29 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted September 9, 2002 and officially filed September 18, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the survey of the Seventh Guide Meridian East, (west boundary), a portion of the north boundary, and a portion of the subdivisional lines, Township 35 North, Range 29 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted January 9, 2003 and officially filed January 16, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the west boundary and a portion of the subdivisional lines, the subdivision of sections 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18 and the metes-and-bounds survey of the Arrastra Mountain Wilderness Area Boundary, Township 11 North, Range 11 West of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted July 24, 2002 and officially filed July 30, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Kingman Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of portions of the south and west boundaries and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the subdivision of sections 20 and 29, Township 11 South, Range 10 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted October 21, 2002 and officially filed October 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Tucson Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the south and west boundaries, and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the subdivision of section 18, Township 12 South, Range 10 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted October 21, 2002 and officially filed October 25, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Tucson Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the east and north boundaries and a portion of the subdivisional lines, the subdivision of section 14 and the metes-and-bounds survey of the Aravaipa Canyon Wilderness Area Boundary, Township 7 South, Range 18 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted February 10, 2003 and officially filed February 13, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Safford Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the south and west boundaries and a portion of the subdivisional lines, the subdivision of section 19 and the metes-and-bounds survey of the Aravaipa Canyon Wilderness Area Boundary, Township 6 South, Range 19 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted January 31, 2003 and officially filed February 6, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Safford Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the metes-and-bounds survey of the Aravaipa Canyon Wilderness Area Boundary, Township 7 South, Range 19 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted February 10, 2003 and officially filed February 13, 2003.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Safford Field Office, Bureau of Land Management.

A plat representing the dependent resurvey of a portion of the east boundary and a portion of the subdivisional lines and the subdivision of section 24, Township 17 South, Range 23 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, accepted August 22, 2002 and officially filed August 27, 2002.

This plat was prepared at the request of the Coronado National Forest, United States Forest Service.

2. The corrective survey (field notes only) of the ¼ section corner of section 1 only, on the Seventh Standard Parallel North, Township 28 North, Range 30 East of the Gila and Salt River Meridian, Arizona, were approved January 1, 2003.

These field notes were prepared at the request of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Navajo Regional Office.

3. All inquiries relating to these lands should be sent to the Arizona State Office, Bureau of Land Management, 222 N. Central Avenue, P.O. Box 1552, Phoenix, Arizona 85001-1552.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

National Park Service

Notice of Inventory Completion: U.S. Department of Defense, Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District, Portland, OR AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is here given in accordance with the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 25 U.S.C. 3003, of the completion of an inventory of human remains and associated funerary objects in the possession of the U.S. Department of Defense, Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District, Portland, OR. The human remains and associated funerary objects were removed from the Old Town Umatilla site (35 UM 1/35 UM 35), Umatilla County, OR.

This notice is published as part of the National Park Service's administrative responsibilities under NAGPRA, 25 U.S.C. 3003(d)(3). The determinations within this notice are the sole responsibility of the museum, institution, or Federal agency that has control of the Native American human remains and associated funerary objects. The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations within this notice.

A detailed assessment of the human remains and associated funerary objects was made by the Army Corps of Engineers staff and the Cultural Resources Protection Program of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon in consultation with representatives of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon. The Old Town Umatilla site is located in Umatilla County, OR, on the south shoreline of the Columbia River, upstream from its confluence with the Umatilla River. The site is also in the project area of the John Day Dam, which is located in north-central Oregon and south-central Washington. John Day Dam project lands extend from the confluence of the Columbia River and the John Day River upstream to Umatilla, OR.

The Old Town Umatilla site (35 UM 1/35 UM 35) was first occupied in 470 B.C. and is considered to be a prehistoric and historic Umatilla village. The site served as a major winter village of the Umatilla Indians during late prehistoric times, and includes a cemetery that dates from approximately 500 B.C. to A.D. 1700. The site lies within the traditional lands of the present-day Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon. The Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon was established by an 1855 treaty, and consists of three tribes: Cayuse, Umatilla, and Walla Walla. All three tribes belong to the Sahaptin language group, each tribe's speaking a separate dialect of Sahaptin. Historically, these tribes occupied over 6 million acres of land in southeastern Washington and northeastern Oregon. The Umatilla reservation and ceded lands roughly include the area bounded by the Columbia and Snake Rivers on the north to Willow Creek on the west to Tucannon River on the east.

The Old Town Umatilla site has a long excavation history. In 1948, the Smithsonian River Basin Surveys first recorded the late prehistoric cemetery and early historic site as 35 UM 1. The site was excavated in 1965 by the University of Oregon in conjunction with reservoir salvage for the John Day Dam, and was redesignated as 35 UM 35, the Old Town Umatilla site. The site was excavated by the Mid-Columbia Archaeological Society and the University of Idaho from 1970 through 1975, Wildesen and Associates in 1984, Heritage Research Associates in 1986, and the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon in preparation for construction of a wastewater treatment facility in 1998.

The excavations removed over 230 human burials and approximately 38,000 associated funerary objects. In 1976, at the request of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon, the Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District reinterred approximately 230 human burials and associated funerary objects in a cemetery near Mission, OR. The human remains and associated funerary objects were among those excavated by the Mid-Columbia Archaeological Society and University of Idaho in the 1970s. In June 2000, the remains of two individuals and two associated funerary objects removed during the 1965 University of Oregon excavation were repatriated to the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon by the University of Oregon Museum of Natural History. Human remains from the 1998 Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon investigation were reburied on-site when encountered.

In 1999, the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon requested that the Mid-Columbia Archaeological Society collections from 35 UM 1/35 UM 35 excavated during the 1970s be placed in the tribe's facility so that tribal staff could analyze the materials to identify human remains. In 2001, Cultural Resources Protection Program staff of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon examined faunal remains and artifacts from 35 UM 1/35 UM 35. Their analysis identified approximately 111 human bones, representing a minimum of one individual and one additional partial human burial among the faunal collections. Based on associated artifacts these individuals have been determined to be Native American. Also, 20,697 artifacts are identified as associated funerary objects based on their proximity to the skeletal remains as described in available records. The associated funerary objects are 4,452 stone tools; 4,129 shells; 2 bottles of uncrowned dentalium shells; 3,997 cobble choppers, hammerstones, and pecking stones; 2,805 projectile points; 2,075 flakes and cores; 784 shell beads; 456 bone beads, bangles, and pendants; 285 elk tooth beads; 247 bone punches, awls, and needles; 227 fragments of worked bone; 168 basalt projectile points; 163 net weights, sinkers, and anchors; 155 obsidian projectile points; 70 animal teeth; 94 pestles, metates, mauls, and milling stones; 55 stone beads and pendants; 53 ochre fragments; 47 antler or bone wedges; 47 bone harpoon points or guards; 31 bird talons or animal claws; 37 arrow shaft smoothers or abraders; 27 bone pieces; 25 antlers; 22 hopper mortars; 19 obsidian nose pieces and crescents; 13 gaming balls and bola stones; 9 raw mineral fragments (mica, concretion, sandstone, graphite, and copper); 8 slate whetstones; 4 charcoal fragments; 3 carved stone effigies; 3 worked historic glass tools; 3 pipe bowls or stems; 3 smoothing stones; 2 horn digging tools or digging stick handles; 2 stone bowl fragments; 1 celt; 1 steatite ring fragment; 1 incised pumice paint pot; 1 bird bone whistle; 1 coprolite; 1 nutshell; and 169 unidentified tools. The human remains and associated funerary objects have been cataloged under various catalog and box numbers, and are currently on loan to the Cultural Resources Protection Program of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon.

Officials of the Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001, the human remains described above represent the physical remains of a minimum number of two individuals of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District also have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001, the 20,697 objects described above are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony. Lastly, officials of the Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001, there is a relationship of shared group identity that can be reasonably traced between the Native American human remains and associated funerary objects and the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon.

Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with the human remains and associated funerary objects should contact Ms. Gail Celmer, NAGPRA Coordinator, Environmental Resources Branch, U.S. Department of Defense, Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District, P. O. Box 2946, Portland, OR 97208-2946, telephone (503) 808-4762, before May 27, 2003. Repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects to the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon may proceed after this date if no additional claimants come forward.

The Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District, is responsible for notifying the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Oregon that this notice has been published.

Dated: March 27, 2003

Assistant Director, Cultural Resources.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

National Park Service

Notice of Inventory Completion: University of California, Riverside, Riverside, CA

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 25 U.S.C. 3003, of the completion of an inventory of human remains in the possession of the University of California, Riverside, Riverside, CA. The human remains were removed from a site in Riverside County, CA.

This notice is published as part of the National Park Service's administrative responsibilities under NAGPRA, 25 U.S.C. 3003(d)(3). The determinations within this notice are the sole responsibility of the museum, institution, or Federal agency that has control of the Native American human remains. The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations within this notice.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by professional staff of the University of California, Riverside in consultation with the Luiseño Intertribal NAGPRA Coalition, representing the interests of the La Jolla Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the La Jolla Reservation, California; Pala Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pala Reservation, California; Pauma Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pauma & Yuima Reservation, California; Pechanga Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pechanga Reservation, California; Rincon Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Rincon Reservation, California; and Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians, California.

In 1987, human remains representing one individual were excavated by the University of California, Riverside from site CA-RIV-333, Riverside County, CA. The human remains are a distal fragment of a middle phalanx. No known individual was identified. No associated funerary objects are present. Archaeological evidence from site CA-RIV-333 indicates that it was occupied during the Late Prehistoric period (A.D. 1500-1770). The human remains are believed to have been interred during the Late Prehistoric period occupation of site CA-RIV-333.

Archaeological evidence indicates a cultural continuity between the Late Prehistoric and Historic period occupants of Riverside County, CA. The Luiseño tribe is known to have occupied the Riverside County area during the Historic period. The Luiseño tribe is currently represented by the La Jolla Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the La Jolla Reservation, California; Pala Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pala Reservation, California; Pauma Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pauma & Yuima Reservation, California; Pechanga Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pechanga Reservation, California; Rincon Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Rincon Reservation, California; and Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians, California. Some individuals of Luiseño descent may also be members of the Campo Band of Diegueño Mission Indians of the Campo Indian Reservation, California, and San Pasqual Band of Diegueño Mission Indians of California.

Officials of the University of California, Riverside have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (9-10), the human remains described above represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry. Officials of the University of California, Riverside also have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (2), there is a relationship of shared group identity that can be reasonably traced between the Native American human remains and the La Jolla Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the La Jolla Reservation, California; Pala Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pala Reservation, California; Pauma Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pauma & Yuima Reservation, California; Pechanga Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pechanga Reservation, California; Rincon Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Rincon Reservation, California; and Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians, California.

Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with the human remains should contact Philip J. Wilke, Department of Anthropology, 1334 Watkins Hall, University of California, Riverside, Riverside, CA 92521-0418, telephone (909) 787-5524, before May 27, 2003. Repatriation of the human remains to the Luiseño Intertribal NAGPRA Coalition, representing the interests of the La Jolla Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the La Jolla Reservation, California; Pala Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pala Reservation, California; Pauma Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pauma & Yuima Reservation, California; Pechanga Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Pechanga Reservation, California; Rincon Band of Luiseño Mission Indians of the Rincon Reservation, California; and Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians, California may proceed after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Employment and Training Administration

Proposed Collection of the ETA 538, Advance Weekly Initial and Continued Claims Report and the ETA 539, Weekly Claims and Extended Benefits Trigger Data; Comment Request

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Department of Labor, as part of its continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent burden conducts a preclearance consultation program to provide the general public and Federal agencies with an opportunity to comment on proposed and/or continuing collections of information in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA95) [44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)]. This program helps to ensure that requested data can be provided in the desired format, reporting burden (time and financial resources) is minimized, collection instruments are clearly understood, and the impact of collection requirements on respondents can be properly assessed. Currently, the Employment and Training Administration, Office of Workforce Security is soliciting comments concerning the proposed extension of the collection of the ETA 538, Advance Weekly Initial and Continued Claims Report and the ETA 539, Weekly Claims and Extended Benefits Trigger.

A copy of the proposed information collection request (ICR) can be obtained by contacting the office listed below in the addressee section of this notice.

DATES: Written comments must be submitted to the office listed in the addressee's section below on or before June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Thomas Stengle, U.S. Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration, Room S-4231, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20210, Phone: 202-693-2991, Fax: 202-693-3229, e-mail: stengle.thomas@dol.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The ETA 538 and ETA 539 reports are weekly reports which contain information on initial claims and continued weeks claimed. These figures are important economic indicators. The ETA 538 provides information that allows national unemployment claims information to be released to the public five days after the close of the reference period. The ETA 539 contains more refined weekly claims detail and the state's 13-week insured unemployment rate, which is used to determine eligibility for the Extended Benefits program.

II. Review Focus

The Department of Labor is particularly interested in comments which:

- Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;
- Evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submissions of responses.

III. Current Actions

The ETA 538 and ETA 539 continue to be needed as they provide both timely economic indicators as well as the information needed to track the data that triggers states "on" and "off" the Extended Benefits program.

Type of Review: Extension without change.

Title: ETA 538, Advance Weekly Initial and Continued Claims Report and the ETA 539, Weekly Claims and Extended Benefits Trigger Data.

OMB Number: 1205-0028.

Agency Number: ETA 538 and ETA 539.

Recordkeeping: Respondent is expected to maintain data which support the reported data for three years.

Affected Public: State governments.

Estimated Total Burden Hours:

	Hours
ETA 538 53 States × 52 reports × 30 min. =	1378
ETA 539 53 States × 52 reports × 50 min. =	2297
Total Burden	3675

Total Burden Cost (operating/maintaining): $0.

Comments submitted in response to this comment request will be summarized and/or included in the request for Office of Management and Budget approval of the information collection request; they will also become a matter of public record.

Dated: April 18, 2003.

Cheryl Atkinson,

Administrator, Office of Workforce Security.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Employment Standards Administration; Wage and Hour Division

Minimum Wages for Federal and Federally Assisted Construction; General Wage Determination Decisions

General wage determination decisions of the Secretary of Labor are issued in accordance with applicable law and are based on the information obtained by the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and data made available from other sources. They specify the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefits which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed on construction projects of a similar character and in the localities specified therein.

The determinations in these decisions of prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made in accordance with 29 CFR part 1, by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR part 1, Appendix, as well as such additional statutes as may from time to time be enacted containing provisions for the payment of wages determined to be prevailing by the Secretary of Labor in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act. The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and Federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged on contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public comment procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 and not providing for delay in the effective date as prescribed in that section, because the necessity to issue current construction industry wage determinations frequently and in large volume causes procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest.

General wage determination decisions, and modifications and supersedeas decisions thereto, contain no expiration dates and are effective from their date of notice in the Federal Register, or on the date written notice is received by the agency, whichever is earlier. These decisions are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR parts 1 and 5. Accordingly, the applicable decision, together with any modifications issued, must be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR part 5. The wage rates and fringe benefits, notice of which is published herein, and which are contained in the Government Printing Office (GPO) document entitled "General Wage Determinations Issued Under The Davis-Bacon And Related Acts," shall be the minimum paid by contractors and subcontractors to laborers and mechanics.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the rates determined as prevailing is encouraged to submit wage rate and fringe benefit information for consideration by the Department.

Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Wage and Hour Division, Division of Wage Determinations, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Room S-3014, Washington, DC 20210.

Modification to General Wage Determination Decisions

The number of the decisions listed to the Government Printing Office document entitled "General Wage Determinations Issued Under the Davis-Bacon and related Acts" being modified are listed by Volume and State. General Wage Determination Publication General wage determinations issued under the Davis-Bacon and related Acts, including those noted above, may be found in the Government Printing Office (GPO) document entitled "General Wage Determinations Issued Under the Davis-Bacon And Related Acts". This publication is available at each of the 50 Regional Government Depository Libraries and many of the 1,400 Government Depository Libraries across the country.

General wage determinations issued under the Davis-Bacon and related Acts are available electronically at no cost on the Government Printing Office site at www.access.gpo.gov/davisbacon. They are also available electronically by subscription to the Davis-Bacon Online Service (<http://davisbacon.fedworld.gov>) of the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) of the U.S. Department of Commerce at 1-800-363-2068. This subscription offers value-added features such as electronic delivery of modified wage decisions directly to the user's desktop, the ability to access prior wage decisions issued during the year, extensive Help desk Support, etc.

Hard-copy subscriptions may be purchased from: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402. (202) 512-1800.

When ordering hard-copy subscription(s), be sure to specify the State(s) of interest, since subscriptions may be ordered for any or all of the six separate Volumes, arranged by State. Subscriptions include an annual edition (issued in January or February) which includes all current general wage determinations for the States covered by each volume. Throughout the remainder of the year, regular weekly updates will be distributed to subscribers.

Signed in Washington, DC this 17th day of April, 2003.

National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities

Submission for OMB Review; Comment Request

AGENCY: National Endowment for the Humanities.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) has submitted the following public information collection request (ICR) to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review and approval as required by the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104-13, 44 U.S.C. chapter 35). Copies of this ICR, with applicable supporting documentation, may be obtained by calling Susan G. Daisey, Director, Office of Grant Management, the National Endowment for the Humanities (202-606-8494) or may be requested by email to sdaisey@neh.gov. Comments should be sent to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Attn: OMB Desk Officer for the National Endowment for the Humanities, Office of Management and Budget, Room 10235, Washington, DC 20503 (202-395-7316), within 30 days from the date of this publication in the Federal Register.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is particularly interested in comments which: (1) Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility; (2) evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (3) enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (4) minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submissions of responses.

AGENCY: National Endowment for the Humanities.

Title of Proposal: Generic Clearance Authority for the National Endowment for the Humanities.

OMB Number: 3136-0134.

Frequency of Collection: On occasion.
Affected Public: Applicants to NEH grant programs, reviewers of NEH grant applications, and NEH grantees.

Total Respondents: 10,670.

Average Time per Response: Varied according to type of information collection.

Estimated Total Burden Hours: 91,412 hours.

Total Annualized Capital/Startup Costs: 0.

Total Annual Costs (Operating/Maintaining Systems or Purchasing Services): 0.

Description: This submission requests approval from OMB for a three year extension of NEH's currently approved generic clearance authority for all NEH information collections other than one-time evaluations, questionnaires and surveys. NATIONAL FOUNDATION ON THE ARTS AND THE HUMANITIES

Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities; Arts and Artifacts Indemnity Panel, Advisory Committee; Notice of Meeting

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463 as amended) notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Arts and Artifacts Indemnity Panel of the Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities will be held at 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20506, in Room 730, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., on Monday, May 12, 2003.

The purpose of the meeting is to review applications for Certificates of Indemnity submitted to the Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities for exhibitions beginning after July 1, 2003.

Because the proposed meeting will consider financial and commercial data and because it is important to keep values of objects, methods of transportation and security measures confidential, pursuant to the authority granted me by the Chairman's Delegation of Authority to Close Advisory Committee Meetings, dated July 19, 1993, I have determined that the meeting would fall within exemption (4) of 5 U.S.C. 552(b) and that it is essential to close the meeting to protect the free exchange of views and to avoid interference with the operations of the Committee.

It is suggested that those desiring more specific information contact the Advisory Committee Management Officer, Daniel Schneider, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20506, or call 202/606-8322.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

Agency Information Collection Activities: Proposed Collection; Comment Request

AGENCY: U. S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

ACTION: Notice of pending NRC action to submit an information collection request to OMB and solicitation of public comment.

SUMMARY: The NRC is preparing a submittal to OMB for review of continued approval of information collections under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. Chapter 35).

Information pertaining to the requirement to be submitted:

1. The title of the information collection: NRC Form 531, Request for Taxpayer Identification Number.

2. Current OMB approval number: OMB No. 3150-0188.

3. How often the collection is required: One time from each applicant or individual to enable the Department of the Treasury to process electronic payments or collect debts owed to the Government.

4. Who is required or asked to report: All individuals doing business with the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, including contractors and recipients of credit, licenses, permits, and benefits.

5. The number of annual respondents: 300.

6. The number of hours needed annually to complete the requirement or request: 25 hours (5 minutes per response.)

7. Abstract: The Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 requires that agencies collect taxpayer identification numbers (TINs) from individuals who do business with the Government, including contractors and recipients of credit, licenses, permits, and benefits. The TIN will be used to process all electronic payments (refunds) made to licensees by electronic funds transfer by the Department of the Treasury. The Department of the Treasury will use the TIN to determine whether the refund can be used to administratively offset any delinquent debts reported to the Treasury by other government agencies. In addition, the TIN will be used to collect and report to the Department of the Treasury any delinquent indebtedness arising out of the licensee's or applicant's relationship with the NRC.

Submit, by June 24, 2003, comments that address the following questions:

1. Is the proposed collection of information necessary for the NRC to properly perform its functions? Does the information have practical utility?

2. Is the burden estimate accurate?

3. Is there a way to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected?

4. How can the burden of the information collection be minimized, including the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology?

A copy of the draft supporting statement may be viewed free of charge at the NRC Public Document Room, One White Flint North, 11555 Rockville Pike, Room O-1 F21, Rockville, MD 20852. OMB clearance requests are available at the NRC worldwide Web site: <http://www.nrc.gov/public-involve/doc-comment/omb/index.html>. The document will be available on the NRC home page site for 60 days after the signature date of this notice.

Comments and questions about the information collection requirements may be directed to the NRC Clearance Officer, Brenda Jo. Shelton, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, T-6 E6, Washington, DC 20555-0001, by telephone at 301-415-7233, or by Internet electronic mail to infocollects@nrc.gov.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. 50-272 AND 50-311]

PSEG Nuclear, LLC; Salem Nuclear Generating Station, Unit Nos. 1 and 2; Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is considering the issuance of amendments to Facility Operating License Nos. DPR-70 and DPR-75, issued to PSEG Nuclear, LLC (the licensee), for operation of the Salem Nuclear Generating Station (Salem), Unit Nos. 1 and 2, located in Salem County, New Jersey. Therefore, as required by Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR) section 51.21, the NRC is issuing this environmental assessment and finding of no significant impact.

Environmental Assessment

Identification of the Proposed Action

The proposed action would allow the licensee to make various administrative and editorial changes to the Salem Technical Specifications (TSs) in accordance with the licensee's application dated January 29, 2003.

The Need for the Proposed Action

The proposed action would correct administrative and editorial errors to the Salem TSs.

Environmental Impacts of the Proposed Action

The NRC has completed its evaluation of the proposed action and concludes, as set forth below, that there are no significant environmental impacts associated with the administrative and editorial changes to the Salem TSs.

The proposed action will not significantly increase the probability or consequences of accidents, no changes are being made in the types of effluents that may be released off site, and there is no significant increase in occupational or public radiation exposure. Therefore, there are no significant radiological environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

With regard to potential nonradiological impacts, the proposed action does not have a potential to affect any historic sites. It does not affect nonradiological plant effluents and has no other environmental impact. Therefore, there are no significant nonradiological environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

Accordingly, the NRC concludes that there are no significant environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

Environmental Impacts of the Alternatives to the Proposed Action

As an alternative to the proposed action, the staff considered denial of the proposed action (i.e., the "no-action" alternative). Denial of the application would result in no change in current environmental impacts. The environmental impacts of the proposed action and the alternative action are similar.

Alternative Use of Resources

The action does not involve the use of any different resource than those previously considered in the Final Environmental Statement related to operation of Salem Nuclear Generating Station, Units 1 and 2, dated April 1973.

Agencies and Persons Consulted

On March 26, 2003, the staff consulted with the New Jersey State official, Mr. Dennis Zannoni of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, regarding the environmental impact of the proposed action. The State official had no comments.

Finding of No Significant Impact

On the basis of the environmental assessment, the NRC concludes that the proposed action will not have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. Accordingly, the NRC has determined not to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed action.

For further details with respect to the proposed action, see the licensee's letter dated January 29, 2003. Documents may be examined, and/or copied for a fee, at the NRC's Public Document Room (PDR), located at One White Flint North, Public File Area O1 F21, 11555 Rockville Pike (first floor), Rockville, Maryland. Publicly available records will be accessible electronically from the Agencywide Documents Access and Management System (ADAMS) Public Electronic Reading Room on the Internet at the NRC Web site, <http://www.nrc.gov/reading-rm/adams.html>. Persons who do not have access to ADAMS or who encounter problems in accessing the documents located in ADAMS, should contact the NRC's PDR reference staff by telephone at 1-800-397-4209 or 301-415-4737, or by e-mail to pdr@nrc.gov.

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 17th day of April, 2003.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

Issuer Delisting; Notice of Application of Surge Components, Inc. To Withdraw Its Common Stock, $.001 Par Value, and Purchase Warrants, $.001 Par Value, From Listing and Registration on the Boston Stock Exchange, Inc. File No. 1-14188

April 21, 2003.

Surge Components, Inc., a New York corporation ("Issuer"), has filed an application with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to section 12(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act")¹ and rule 12d2-2(d) thereunder,² to withdraw its common stock, $.001 par value, and purchase warrants, $.001 par value ("Securities"), from listing and registration on the Boston Stock Exchange, Inc. ("BSE" or "Exchange").

On February 11, 2003, the Board of Directors of the Issuer approved a resolution to withdraw the Securities from listing and registration on the BSE. The Issuer states that the following reasons factored into the Board's decision to withdraw the Securities: the trading volume for the Securities is very low and the Issuer cannot maintain the minimum public float requirements of the BSE. The Issuer states that its common stock is currently traded on the Pink Sheets. The Issuer believes the Common Stock will continue to trade on the Pink Sheets.

The Issuer states in its application that it has complied with BSE procedures for delisting by complying with all applicable laws in effect in the State of New York, the State in which it is incorporated. The Issuer's application relates solely to the Securities' withdrawal from listing on the BSE and from registration under section 12(b) of the Act³ and shall not affect its obligation to be registered under section 12(g) of the Act.⁴

Any interested person may, on or before May 14, 2003, submit by letter to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549-0609, facts bearing upon whether the application has been made in accordance with the rules of the BSE and what terms, if any, should be imposed by the Commission for the protection of investors. The Commission, based on the information submitted to it, will issue an order granting the application after the date mentioned above, unless the Commission determines to order a hearing on the matter.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.⁵

("NASD" or "Association"), through its subsidiary, The Nasdaq Stock Market, Inc. ("Nasdaq"), filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission" or "SEC") the proposed rule change as described in items I and II below, which items have been prepared by Nasdaq. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change, from interested persons and is approving the proposal on an accelerated basis.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

Nasdaq proposes to list and trade Market Recovery NotesSM Linked to the PHLX Semiconductor SectorSM ("Notes") issued by Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. ("Merrill Lynch").

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item III below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Nasdaq proposes to list and trade notes, the return on which is based upon the PHLX Semiconductor Sector ("Index").³

Description of the Notes

The Notes are a series of senior non-convertible debt securities of Merrill Lynch that will not be secured by collateral. The Notes will have a term of not less than one and not more than ten years. The Notes will be issued in denomination of whole units ("Unit"), with each Unit representing a single Note. The original public offering price is expected to be $10 per Unit. The Notes will not pay interest and are not subject to redemption by Merrill Lynch or at the option of any beneficial owner before maturity.⁴

At maturity, if the value of the Index has increased, a beneficial owner will be entitled to receive a payment on the Notes based on triple the amount of that percentage increase, not to exceed a maximum payment per Unit (the "Capped Value").⁵ Thus, the Notes provide investors the opportunity to obtain leveraged returns based on the Index. Unlike ordinary debt securities, the Notes do not guarantee any return of principal at maturity. Therefore, if the value of the Index has declined at maturity, a beneficial owner will receive less, and possibly significantly less, than the original public offering price of $10 per Unit.⁶

The payment that a beneficial owner will be entitled to receive (the "Redemption Amount") depends entirely on the relation of the average of the values of the Index at the close of the market on five business days shortly before the maturity of the Notes (the "Ending Value") and the closing value of the Index on the date the Notes are priced for initial sale to the public (the "Starting Value").

If the Ending Value is less than or equal to the Starting Value, the ³ The Commission's approval of the listing and trading of this product does not address whether a licensing agreement issue exists. See In the Matter of the American Stock Exchange, Inc., Securities Exchange Act Release No. 42312 (January 4, 2000).

⁴ The actual maturity date will be determined at the time on the day the Notes are priced for initial sale to the public.

⁵ The actual Capped Value will be determined at the time of issuance of the Notes.

⁶ Any amount the beneficial owner would receive at maturity (which is less than the original offering price) would correspond to any decline in the value of the Index.

Redemption Amount per Unit will equal:

If the Ending Value is greater than the Starting Value, the Redemption Amount per Unit will equal:

provided, however, the Redemption Amount cannot exceed the Capped Value.

The Notes are cash-settled in U.S. dollars and do not give the holder any right to receive a portfolio security, dividend payments or any other ownership right or interest in the portfolio or index of securities comprising the Index. The Notes are designed for investors who want to participate or gain exposure to the Index, subject to a cap, and who are willing to forego market interest payments on the Notes during such term. The Commission has previously approved the listing of options on the Index.⁷ The Commission has also previously approved the listing of securities with a structure identical to that of the Notes.⁸

The Index is currently composed of 17 U.S. companies primarily involved in the design, distribution, manufacture, and sale of semiconductors.⁹ The Index was set to an initial value of 200 on December 1, 1993 and was split two-for-one on July 24, 1995. The Index is maintained by the Philadelphia Stock Exchange ("PHLX"). The PHLX may change the composition of the Index at any time, subject to compliance with the maintenance criteria discussed herein, to reflect the conditions in the semiconductor industry. If it becomes necessary to replace a security in the Index, the PHLX will replace the security with a stock which the PHLX, in its discretion, believes would be compatible with the intended market character of the Index.¹⁰ In making replacement determinations, the PHLX will also take into account a security's capitalization, liquidity, volatility, and name recognition of the proposed replacement. Further, securities may be replaced in the event of certain corporate events, such as takeovers or mergers that change the nature of the security. If, however, the PHLX determines to increase the number of Index component securities to greater than 21 or reduce the number of Index component securities to fewer than 11, the PHLX will submit a rule filing with the Commission pursuant to section 19(b) of the Act. In addition, in choosing replacement securities for the Index, the PHLX will be required to ensure that at least 90% of the weight of the Index continues to be made up of stocks that are eligible for standardized options trading.

The Index is a price-weighted index and reflects changes in the prices of the component securities relative to the Index's base date of December 1, 1993. Specifically, the Index value is calculated by adding the prices of the component stocks, dividing this summation by a divisor that is equal to the number of the components of the Index to get the average price, and multiplying the resulting number by 100. To maintain the continuity of the Index, the divisor will be adjusted to reflect non-market changes in the prices of the component securities as well as changes in the composition of the Index. Changes that may result in divisor adjustments include, but are not limited to, stock splits and dividends, spin-offs, certain rights issuances, and mergers and acquisitions.

As of March 24, 2003, the market capitalization of the portfolio of securities representing the Index ranged from a high of $118.1 billion to a low of $893.9 million. The average daily trading volume for the last six months, as of March 17, 2003, ranged from a high of 53.6 million shares to a low of 2.2 million shares.

Nasdaq states that, the PHLX has represented that the Index value will be updated at least once every 15 seconds during the trading day.¹¹ The updated Index values will be disseminated and displayed by means of primary market prints reported by the Consolidated Tape Association. Merrill Lynch also represented that it will maintain and disseminate the updated Index values every 15 seconds through a third-party provider if PHLX ceases to maintain and disseminate the updated Index values every 15 seconds.¹² If Merrill Lynch, however, fails to maintain and disseminate the updated Index values according to the above representation, Nasdaq represented that it will delist the Notes.¹³

Under NASD rule 4420(f), Nasdaq may approve for listing and trading innovative securities, which cannot be readily categorized under traditional listing guidelines.¹⁴ Nasdaq proposes to list for trading notes based on the Index under NASD rule 4420(f).

Criteria for Initial and Continued Listing

The Notes, which will be registered under section 12 of the Act, will initially be subject to Nasdaq's listing criteria for other securities under NASD rule 4420(f). Specifically, under NASD rule 4420(f)(1):

(A) The issuer shall have assets in excess of $100 million and stockholders' equity of at least $10 million.¹⁵ In the case of an issuer which is unable to satisfy the income criteria set forth in paragraph (a)(1), Nasdaq generally will require the issuer to have the following: (i) assets in excess of $200 million and stockholders' equity of at least $10 million; or (ii) assets in excess of $100 million and stockholders' equity of at least $20 million;

¹⁰ The PHLX has represented that any replacement or additional component securities will be listed and traded on either the New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE"), the American Stock Exchange LLC ("Amex") or quoted on and traded through the Nasdaq National Market. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 34546 (August 18, 1994), 59 FR 43881 (August 25, 1994) (SR-PHLX-94-02).

(B) There must be a minimum of 400 holders of the security, provided, however, that if the instrument is traded in $1,000 denominations, there must be a minimum of 100 holders;

(C) For equity securities designated pursuant to this paragraph, there must be a minimum public distribution of 1,000,000 trading units;

(D) The aggregate market value/principal amount of the security will be at least $4 million.

In addition, Nasdaq states that Merrill Lynch satisfies the listed marketplace requirement set forth in NASD rule 4420(f)(2).¹⁶ Lastly, pursuant to NASD rule 4420(f)(3), prior to the commencement of trading of the Notes, Nasdaq will distribute a circular to members providing guidance regarding compliance responsibilities and requirements, including suitability recommendations, and highlighting the special risks and characteristics of the Notes. In particular, Nasdaq will advise members recommending a transaction in the Notes to: (1) Determine that such transaction is suitable for the customer; and (2) have a reasonable basis for believing that the customer can evaluate the special characteristics of, and is able to bear the financial risks of, such transaction.

The Notes will be subject to Nasdaq's continued listing criterion for other securities pursuant to NASD rule 4450(c). Under this criterion, the aggregate market value or principal amount of publicly-held units must be at least $1 million. The Notes also must have at least two registered and active market makers as required by NASD rule 4310(c)(1). Nasdaq will also consider prohibiting the continued listing of the Notes if Merrill Lynch is not able to meet its obligations on the Notes.

Rules Applicable to the Trading of the Notes

Since the Notes will be deemed equity securities for the purpose of NASD rule 4420(f), the NASD and Nasdaq's existing equity trading rules will apply to the ¹⁶ NASD rule 4420(f)(2) requires issuers of securities designated pursuant to this paragraph to be listed on The Nasdaq National Market or the NYSE or be an affiliate of a company listed on The Nasdaq National Market or the NYSE; provided, however, that the provisions of NASD rule 4450 will be applied to sovereign issuers of "other" securities on a case-by-case basis.

Notes. First, pursuant to NASD rule 2310, "Recommendations to Customers (Suitability)" and NASD IM-2310-2, "Fair Dealing with Customers," NASD members must have reasonable grounds for believing that a recommendation to a customer regarding the purchase, sale or exchange of any security is suitable for such customer upon the basis of the facts, if any, disclosed by such customer as to his other security holdings and as to his financial situation and needs.¹⁷ In addition, as previously mentioned, Nasdaq will distribute a circular to members and employees thereof providing guidance regarding compliance responsibilities and requirements, including suitability recommendations, and highlighting the special risks and characteristics of the Notes to, among other things, have a reasonable basis for believing that the customer can evaluate the special characteristics of, and is able to bear the financial risks of, such transaction. Second, the Notes will be subject to the equity margin rules. Lastly, the regular equity trading hours of 9:30 am to 4:00 pm will apply to transactions in the Notes.

Nasdaq represents that NASD's surveillance procedures are adequate to properly monitor the trading of the Notes. Specifically, NASD will rely on its current surveillance procedures governing equity securities, and will include additional monitoring on key pricing dates.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of section 15A of the Act,¹⁸ in general, and with section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,¹⁹ in particular, in that the proposal is designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act. Persons making written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW, Washington, DC 20549-0609. Copies of the submission, all subsequent amendments, all written statements with respect to the proposed rule change that are filed with the Commission, and all written communications relating to the proposed rule change between the Commission and any person, other than those that may be withheld from the public in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552, will be available for inspection and copying in the Commission's Public Reference Room. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the NASD. All submissions should refer to file number SR-NASD-2003-70 and should be submitted by May 16, 2003.

I. Commission's Findings and Order Granting Accelerated Approval of Proposed Rule Change

Nasdaq has asked the Commission to approve the proposal, on an accelerated basis to accommodate the timetable for listing the Notes. The Commission notes that it has previously approved the listing of options on, and securities the performance of which have been linked to or based on, the PHLX Semiconductor Index.²⁰ The Commission has also previously approved the listing of securities with a structure identical to that of the Notes.²¹

After careful consideration, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder, applicable to a national securities association, and, in particular, with the requirements of section 15A(b)(6) of the Act²² in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.²³ The Commission believes that the Notes will provide investors with a means to participate in any percentage increase in the Index that exist at the maturity of the Notes, subject to the Capped Value.

²¹ See note 8, supra.

Specifically, as described more fully above, if the value of the PHLX Semiconductor Sector Index has increased, a beneficial owner will be entitled to receive at maturity a payment of the Notes based on triple the amount of any percentage increase in the Index, not to exceed the Capped Value.

The Notes are leveraged debts instruments whose price will be derived from and based upon the value of the Index. In addition, as discussed more fully above, the Notes do not guarantee any return of principal at maturity. Thus, if the Index has declined at maturity, a beneficial owner may receive significantly less than the original public offering price of the Notes.²⁴ Accordingly, the level of risk involved in the purchase or sale of the Notes is similar to the risk involved in the purchase or sale of traditional common stock. Because the final rate of return on the Notes is derivatively priced and based upon the performance of an index of securities, because the Notes are debt instruments that do not guarantee a return of principal, and because investors' potential return is limited by the Capped Value, there are several issues regarding trading of this type of product. For the reasons discussed below, the Commission believes that Nasdaq's proposal adequately addresses the concerns raised by this type of product.

First, the Commission notes that the protections of NASD rule 4420(f) were designed to address the concerns attendant to the trading of hybrid securities like the Notes.²⁵ In particular, by imposing the hybrid listing standards, heightened suitability for recommendations,²⁶ and compliance requirements, noted above, the Commission believes that Nasdaq has adequately addressed the potential problems that could arise from the hybrid nature of the Notes. The Commission notes that Nasdaq will distribute a circular to its membership that provides guidance regarding member firm compliance responsibilities and requirements, including suitability recommendations, and highlights the special risks and characteristics associated with the Notes. Specifically, among other things, the circular will indicate that the Notes do not guarantee any return of principal at maturity, that the maximum return on the Notes is limited to the Capped Value,²⁷ that the Notes will not pay interest, and that the Notes will provide exposure in the Index. Distribution of the circular should help to ensure that only customers with an understanding of the risks attendant to the trading of the Notes and who are able to bear the financial risks associated with transactions in the Notes will trade the Notes.

Second, the Commission notes that the final rate of return on the Notes depends, in part, upon the individual credit of the issuer, Merrill Lynch. To some extent this credit risk is minimized by the NASD's listing standards in NASD Rule 4420(f), which provide that only issuers satisfying substantial asset and equity requirements may issue these types of hybrid securities. In addition, the NASD's hybrid listing standards further require that the Notes have at least $4 million in market value. Financial information regarding Merrill Lynch, in addition to information concerning the issuers of the securities comprising the Index, will be publicly available.²⁸

Third, the Notes will be registered under section 12 of the Act. As noted above, the NASD's and Nasdaq's existing equity trading rules will apply to the Notes, which will be subject to equity margin rules and will trade during the regular equity trading hours of 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. NASD Regulation's surveillance procedures for the Notes will be the same as its current surveillance procedures for equity securities, and will include additional monitoring on key pricing dates.²⁹

Fourth, the Commission has a systemic concern that a broker-dealer, such as Merrill Lynch, or a subsidiary providing a hedge for the issuer will incur position exposure. However, as the Commission has concluded in previous approval orders for the hybrid instruments issued by broker-dealers,³⁰ the Commission believes that this concern is minimal given the size of the Notes issuance in relation to the net worth of Merrill Lynch.

Finally, the Commission believes that the listing and trading of the proposed Notes should not unduly impact the market for the securities underlying the Index or raise manipulative concerns. In approving the product, the Commission recognizes that the Index is a price-weighted index currently composed of 17 U.S. companies listed on Nasdaq, the NYSE and the AMEX. The Commission notes that the Index is determined, composed, and calculated by PHLX. The Commission notes that Merrill Lynch will maintain and disseminate the updated Index values every 15 seconds through a third-party provider if PHLX ceases to do so. If Merrill Lynch, however, fails to maintain and disseminate the updated Index values, the Commission notes that Nasdaq will delist the Notes. As of March 24, 2003, the market capitalization of the portfolio of securities representing the Index ranged in capitalization from a high of $118.1 billion to a low of $893.3 million. In addition, the average trading volume for the last six months, as of March 17, 2003, ranged from a high of 53.6 million shares to a low of 2.2 million shares. Given the large capitalization, and liquid markets, the Commission continues to believe, as it has concluded previously, that the listing and trading of securities that are linked to the Index, should not unduly impact the market for the underlying securities comprising the Index or raise manipulative concerns. Moreover, the issuers of the underlying securities comprising the PHLX Semiconductor Sector Index, are subject to reporting requirements under the Act, and all of the component stocks are with listed on Nasdaq, the NYSE, or the Amex.

²³ In approving the proposed rule, the Commission has considered the proposed rule's impact on efficiency, competition, and capital formation. 15 U.S.C. 78c(f).

²⁵ See 1993 Order, supra note 14.

²⁷ The actual Capped Value will be determined at the time of issuance of the Notes.

²⁸ The companies comprising the Index are reporting companies under the Act.

The Commission finds good cause for approving the proposed rule change, prior to the thirtieth day after the date of publication of notice of filing thereof in the Federal Register. The Commission believes that the Notes will provide investors with an additional investment choice and that accelerated approval of the proposal will allow investors to begin trading the Notes promptly. In addition, the Commission notes that it has previously approved the listing and trading of similar Notes and other hybrid securities based on the Index.³¹ Accordingly, the Commission believes that there is good cause, consistent with sections (6)(b)(5) and 19(b)(2) of the Act,³² to approve the proposal, on an accelerated basis.

V. Conclusion

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act,³³ that the proposed rule change (SR-NASD-2003-70) is hereby approved on an accelerated basis.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.³⁴

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-47707; File No. SR-OCC-2002-04]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; The Options Clearing Corporation; Notice of Filing and Order Granting Accelerated Approval of a Proposed Rule Change, as Amended, Relating to Money Market Funds as Margin Collateral

April 21, 2003.

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"),¹ notice is hereby given that on January 29, 2002, the Options Clearing Corporation ("OCC") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") proposed rule change SR-OCC-2002-04. Notice of the proposal was published in the Federal Register on January 16, 2003.² No comment letters were received. The Commission granted approval of the proposed rule change on March 31, 2003.³

OCC filed Amendment I to the proposed rule change on November 19, 2002. The changes made by Amendment I were inadvertently omitted from the notice and order approving the proposed rule change. Accordingly, the Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on Amendment I from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

Amendment I modified SR-OCC-2002-04 which expanded the acceptable forms of margin collateral to include shares of money market funds meeting specified criteria.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, OCC included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in item IV below. OCC has prepared summaries, set forth in sections (A), (B), and (C) below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.⁴

(A) Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

OCC filed Amendment I after discussions with its clearing members and fund issuers caused OCC to identify several areas in which SR-OCC-2002-04 needed to be clarified or modified. Amendment I made the following changes to SR-OCC-2002-04:

- Notification of Noncompliance with Requirements. SR-OCC-2002-04 as originally filed required a fund to immediately notify OCC of any noncompliance with the requirements of rule 604(b)(3)(i). Amendment I amended the filing to provide additional details as to when, to whom, and how such notice should be given. This additional detail will help ensure that OCC receives appropriate and timely notice of noncompliance in order to take such action as it deems necessary to respond to the event causing the noncompliance.

- Valuation of Deposited Shares. SR-OCC-2002-04 as originally filed provided that money market fund shares would be valued at 98% of current net asset value unless a lower valuation was prescribed by OCC's Membership/Margin Committee. While the funds that will qualify for deposit under rule 604 are designed to maintain a stable net asset value of $1.00, net asset value at any point in time may be slightly greater or less than $1.00. Accordingly, OCC filed Amendment I to provide that deposited shares would be valued at 98% of current market value. In addition, Amendment I provided that OCC may prescribe a lower valuation in the event OCC receives notice from a fund that it no longer meets the qualification standards applicable to accept the fund's shares.

- Concentration Requirements. SR-OCC-2002-04 as originally filed required that no single registered shareholder have an interest of 10% or more in a fund. This standard was intended to limit the possibility that a redemption decision by a single shareholder could adversely affect the fund's ability to redeem shares in an orderly manner. Fund sponsors have advised OCC that this requirement may severely restrict their ability to construct a fund tailored to meet OCC's qualification standards as it requires a minimum of at least 10 registered shareholders before the fund meets OCC's eligibility standards. As a result, in Amendment I OCC revised its concentration restriction to provide that no more than 5% of the total number of outstanding shares of any one fund may be deposited by a single clearing member with OCC. OCC believes that this standard reasonably addresses concentration concerns because it limits OCC's exposure to a single fund on the default of the depositing clearing member.

- Compliance with CFTC Regulation 1.25. SR-OCC-2002-04 as originally filed required a fund to comply with CFTC Regulation 1.25, which sets forth the terms and conditions applicable to a futures commission merchant's or a derivatives clearing organization's investment of futures customer funds in permitted instruments. CFTC Regulation 1.25(c) specifies requirements for investments in money market mutual funds. This requirement was intended to ensure that shares in all approved funds could be deposited by clearing members registered as FCMs in their segregated futures account at OCC to the extent such shares were acquired with futures customer funds. CFTC Regulation 1.25(c), however, would not apply to money market fund shares deposited as margin for OCC accounts other than for segregated futures accounts, and OCC decided not to require fund compliance with CFTC Regulation 1.25. However, as a reminder to clearing members, Amendment I modified rule 604(b)(3)(v) to provide that the deposit of money market fund shares with respect to a segregated futures account constitutes a clearing member's representation that the fund meets the requirements of CFTC Regulation 1.25.

- Redemption. SR-OCC-2002-04 as originally filed required a fund to waive any right it may otherwise have to postpone the payment of redemption proceeds and the right to redeem shares in kind and to agree to redeem shares in cash not later than the business day following a redemption request by OCC except when redemptions could not be effected due to unscheduled closings of the Federal Reserve Banks or the New York Stock Exchange or other specified emergency condition. OCC has concluded that the phrase other specified emergency condition is unclear and has determined to delete it. OCC believes that, as amended, this clause of the rule will be more consistent with OCC's original intentions with respect to permitted exceptions to redemption requests.

As well as the above changes, Amendment I makes a minor modification to rule 604 in order to distinguish money market funds from fund shares as proposed in File No. SR-OCC-2002-22.⁵

(B) Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

OCC does not believe that Amendment I would have an impact on or impose a burden on competition.

(C) Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments relating to Amendment I have been solicited or received. OCC will notify the Commission of any written comments received by OCC.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The Commission finds that Amendment I is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder and particularly with the requirements of section 17A(b)(3)(F).⁶ Section 17A(b)(3)(F) requires that the rules of a clearing agency be designed to assure the safeguarding of securities and funds which are in the custody or control of the clearing agency or for which it is responsible. The Commission has already determined that the proposed rule change in SR-OCC-2002-04 meets the requirements in section 17A(b)(3)(F). Accordingly, the Commission finds that the changes made to SR-OCC-2002-04 by Amendment I have been designed so that they also should enable OCC to ensure that it is able to safeguard the securities and funds that are within its custody or control or for which it is responsible.

The Commission finds good cause for approving SR-OCC-2002-04, as amended by Amendment I, prior to the thirtieth day after publication of notice because by so approving, OCC will be able to implement SR-OCC-2002-04, which was previously approved by the Commission, with the changes made by Amendment I.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether Amendment I is consistent with the Act. Persons making written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549-0609. Comments may also be submitted electronically at the following e-mail address: rule-comments@sec.gov. All comment letters should refer to File No. SR-OCC-2002-04. This file number should be included on the subject line if e-mail is used. To help us process and review comments more efficiently, comments should be sent in hardcopy or by e-mail but not by both methods. Copies of the submission, all subsequent amendments, all written statements with respect to the proposed rule change that are filed with the Commission, and all written communications relating to the proposed rule change between the Commission and any person, other than those that may be withheld from the public in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552, will be available for inspection and copying in the Commission's Public Reference Section, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of OCC. All submissions should refer to the File No. SR-OCC-2002-04 and should be submitted by May 16, 2003.

V. Conclusion

On the basis of the foregoing, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and in particular with the requirements of section 17A of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change as amended (File No. SR-OCC-2002-04) be, and hereby is, approved.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.⁷

Jill M. Peterson,

Assistant Secretary.

BILLING CODE 8010-01-P

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

[Program Announcement No. SSA-ORES-03-01]

Retirement Research Consortium Request for Applications (RFA)

AGENCY: Social Security Administration (SSA).

ACTION: Request for applications for a cooperative agreement to re-compete a Retirement Research Consortium (RRC).

SUMMARY: The American population is growing older, with profound long-term effects on Social Security and related programs. The Board of Trustees has found that Social Security is financially unsustainable over the long-term at present payroll tax and scheduled benefit levels. The Social Security Administration (SSA) is committed, through education and research efforts, to support reforms to ensure sustainable solvency and more responsive programs.

As authorized under section 1110 of the Social Security Act, SSA announces the solicitation of applications for a cooperative agreement to create a Retirement Research Consortium to help inform the public and policymakers about Social Security issues. Initially, the Consortium will be composed of one or more Centers. The Centers will have a combined annual budget of up to $5 million a year. SSA expects to fund the Centers for a period of 5 years, contingent on an annual review process and continued availability of funds.

Purpose

This announcement seeks applications in support of the RRC that will continue to serve as a national resource fostering high quality research, communication, and education. The Consortium's program purpose is to benefit the public through three tasks:

⁵ Securities Exchange Act Release No. 46914 (November 26, 2002), 67 FR 72261 (December 4, 2002).

(1) Research, evaluation, and data development. The RRC will be expected to plan, initiate, and maintain a research program of high caliber. While Consortium research should broadly cover retirement and Social Security program issues, there will be special emphasis on system reform and program solvency. A portion of the research effort can focus on the development of research data sources and facilitating the use of Social Security Administrative data for retirement research purposes under secure conditions.

(2) Dissemination. The RRC will disseminate policy research findings using a variety of mediums to inform the academic community, policymakers, and the public.

(3) Training and education. The RRC will train and provide funding support for graduate students and postgraduates to conduct research on retirement policy.

DATES: The closing date for submitting applications under this announcement is July 15, 2003.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The application kit is available at www.ssa.gov/oag/. To request an application kit for those without internet access, and for nonprogrammatic information regarding the announcement or application package contact: David Allshouse, Grants Management Officer, SSA, Office of Acquisition and Grants, Grants Management Team, 1-E-4 Gwynn Oak Building, 1710 Gwynn Oak Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21207-5279. Part I—Supplementary Information

A. Eligible Applicants

SSA seeks applications from domestic institutions.

No cooperative agreement funds may be paid as profit to any cooperative agreement recipient. Profit is considered as any amount in excess of the allowable costs of the award recipient.

In accordance with an amendment to the Lobbying Disclosure Act, popularly known as the Simpson-Craig Amendment, those entities organized under section 501(c)4 of the Internal Revenue Code that engage in lobbying are prohibited from receiving Federal cooperative agreement awards.

B. Type of Award

All awards made under this program will be made in the form of cooperative agreements. A cooperative agreement, as distinct from a grant, anticipates substantial involvement between SSA and the awardee during the performance of the project. A comprehensive annual review process will allow SSA to evaluate, recommend changes, and approve each Center's activities. This involvement may include collaboration or participation by SSA in the activities of the Centers as determined at the time of award. The terms of award are in addition to, not in lieu of, otherwise applicable guidelines and procedures.

C. Availability and Duration of Funding

1. Up to $5 million will be available to fund the initial 12-month budget period of a proposed five-year cooperative agreement(s) pursuant to the announcement. Up to $250,000 of the available $5 million in funds will be set aside for collaborative research projects with SSA staff (see Part II A.b.1). Further, the Center budgets should include $20,000 in provisional funds for Quick Turnaround projects (see Part II B.1).

2. Applicants must include separate budget estimates for each of the five years.

3. The amount of funds available for the cooperative agreement in future years has not been established. Legislative support for continued funding of the Consortium cannot be guaranteed and funding is subject to future appropriations and budgetary approval. SSA expects, however, that the Consortium will be supported during future fiscal years at an annual level of up to $5 million.

4. Nothing in this announcement precludes the possibility that the annual funds will be divided disproportionately between the Centers. However, each Center should prepare a five-year proposal with a maximum budget of $12.5 million.

5. Additional funds may become available from SSA or other Federal agencies in support of Consortium projects.

6. Initial awards, pursuant to this announcement, will be made on or about September 15, 2003.

7. SSA will not provide a Center's entire funding. Recipients of an SSA cooperative agreement are required to contribute a non-Federal match of at least 5 percent toward the total approved cost of each Center. The total approved cost of the project is the sum of the Federal share (maximum of 95 percent) and the non-Federal share (minimum of 5 percent). The non-Federal share may be cash or in-kind (property or services) contributions.

Although two awards are anticipated, nothing in this announcement restricts SSA's ability to make more (or less) than two awards, to make an award of lesser amount, or to add additional Centers to the RRC in the future. Further, SSA is not required to fund all proposed Consortium activities in any year. SSA will review all proposed activities annually and award up to $2.5 million per Center per year.

D. Letter of Intent

Prospective applicants are asked to submit by June 2, 2003, a letter of intent that includes (1) this program announcement number and title; (2) a brief description of the proposed Center; (3) the name, postal and e-mail addresses, and the telephone and fax numbers of the Center Director; and (4) the identities of the key personnel and participating institutions. The letter of intent is not required, is not binding, and does not enter into the review process of a subsequent application. The sole purpose of the letter of intent is to allow SSA staff to estimate the potential review workload and avoid conflicts of interest in the review. The letter of intent should be sent to: RRC Letter of Intent, Division of Policy Evaluation, Office of Research, Evaluation and Statistics, Social Security Administration, 500 E St., SW., ITC Room 936, Washington, DC 20254-0001.

Part II—Establishment of a Research Consortium—Responsibilities of the Center and the Federal Government

A. Center Responsibilities

a. Priority Research Areas (PRAs)

The successful applicant shall develop and conduct a research and evaluation program that also appropriately balances training and dissemination activities directed toward understanding retirement policy. SSA has identified six priority research areas within the realm of retirement income policy on which applicants should focus and applications will be scored. Reviewers will score applications that feature high quality research projects addressing solvency and reform across the priority areas favorably. The priority research areas are:

1. Social Security and Retirement: This area focuses on how Social Security's programs influence the nature and timing of retirement and the claiming of benefits. It also includes how changes in Social Security program rules affect Trust Fund solvency. Examples of research topics for this area include the labor supply and Trust Fund implications of changes in the Social Security retirement ages or implementation of Personal Accounts.

2. Macroeconomic Analyses of Social Security: This area covers the macroeconomic and financial effects of Social Security and changes in policy on national saving, investment, and economic growth. It includes, but is not limited to, the intertemporal effects on capital formation, retirement savings, and the unified budget.

3. Wealth and Retirement Income: This area considers the role of Social Security in retirement income and wealth accumulation. It also includes analyses of other sources of retirement income and private savings such as employer-provided pensions, individual assets, earnings from continued employment, etc. Examples of research topics from this area include the impact of matching rates on 401(k) contributions and the distribution of retirement income sources among subgroups of interest.

4. Program Interactions: This area covers interactions between Social Security and other public or private programs. It includes the impact of Social Security reform on public programs like the Disability Insurance, Supplemental Security Income, and Medicare, as well as private pension plans and personal saving. Examples of research topics from this area include analyses of the effect implementation of Personal Accounts on contributions to 401(k) accounts or how changes in the Social Security retirement ages might influence applications to the DI or SSI programs.

5. International Research: This area includes cross-country comparisons of social, demographic, and institutional differences and highlights the lessons to be learned from other countries' social insurance experiences. Examples of topics include cross-national comparisons of social security reform and well being in retirement.

6. Demographic Research: This area includes changes in mortality, fertility, marital status, immigration, health, and labor force participation and their implications for retirement policy.

Each Center will develop a strategy to disseminate its findings on these issues. SSA realizes competent analysis of all priority research areas may be beyond the capacity of any one Center and thus each Center may wish to focus their individual resources and expertise on a subset of the areas listed above. Similarly, a Center may choose to concentrate on a few aspects of the priority research areas more strongly than others. The goal of the Consortium is to find Centers that, as a whole, will address the range of objectives discussed above without compromising the overall quality of research in the separate priority areas.

b. Tasks

Each Center will perform the following tasks:

1. Research, evaluation, and data development. Each Center will be expected to plan, initiate, and maintain a research program of high caliber. It must meet the tests of social science rigor and objectivity. The research will use state-of-the-art research methodology and have practical application to timely retirement policy issues.

The research program should include supporting the work of members of the RRC staff and other affiliated researchers. Joint research between Consortium and SSA researchers is encouraged, as is collaboration with other organizations interested in retirement income policy. SSA will consider and fund up to $250,000 of worthwhile collaborations annually. Federal employees can not receive any funding support for collaborations. Planning and execution of the research program shall always consider the policy implications of research findings. However, it also is appropriate, for example, to engage in activities to make advances in research techniques, where they are needed for or related to primary objectives of the Consortium.

SSA recognizes the value of high quality comprehensive microdata for conducting policy research. The RRC should work to facilitate the development of microdata sources as well as provide researchers with opportunities to use SSA administrative records for research purposes under secure conditions. Such efforts must adhere to clear privacy protection requirements. Examples of data improvement efforts include improving the quality of existing data sources and their documentation; aiding researchers in obtaining administrative extracts for policy relevant research projects; developing sophisticated statistical techniques to mask micro data; and developing new sources of data for retirement policy analysis. In addition, it is SSA's goal to increase the sites at which outside researchers can use administrative data. The Centers are expected to work in conjunction with SSA and other Federal agencies and appropriate organizations to help develop mechanisms that enable researchers, who agree to specific privacy regulations, access to restricted-use data files.

In order to insure the policy relevance, utility, and scope of the Centers' research, evaluation, and data development goals, a group of nationally recognized scholars and practitioners (See Part II, Joint Responsibilities) shall periodically review the Center's activities.

2. Dissemination. Making knowledge and information available to the academic and policy communities as well as the public is another important feature of each Center's responsibilities. The RRC will facilitate the process of translating basic behavioral and social research theories and findings into practical policy alternatives. The Centers will be expected to maintain a dissemination system of quarterly newsletters, research papers, and policy briefs. These products should be accessible to the public via the Internet on a Center maintained Web site. In addition, the Centers will be expected to organize conferences, workshops, lectures, seminars, or other ways of sharing current research activities, and findings. The Consortium will hold an annual conference on issues related to retirement income policy, with organizational responsibility rotating between the Centers. The centers will work with SSA to produce a conference agenda. The conference will be held in Washington, DC. The hosting Center will also have the responsibility for publishing a book of papers delivered at the annual conference.

Applicants are encouraged to propose use of creative methods of disseminating data and information. Applications should show sensitivity to alternative dissemination strategies that may be appropriate for different audiences—such as policymakers, practitioners, the public, advocates, and academics. The research and dissemination will be nonpartisan and of value to all levels of policymaking. SSA reserves the right to review all publications created using Consortium funding.

3. Training and education. The RRC is expected to both train new scholars and educate academics and practitioners on new techniques and research findings on issues of retirement policy. Each Center is expected to develop and expand a diverse corps of scholars/researchers who focus their analytical skills on research and policy issues central to the Consortium's mission.

The Centers are expected to financially support the training and research of young scholars. Funding should be allocated to support graduate students through dissertation fellowships; postdoctoral researchers should receive support through mentored postdoctoral fellowships or a small research grant for junior scholars. Though SSA expects graduate students to work with RRC researchers on funded projects as research assistants, those awards will be included in the research budget, not in the training budget. The Centers will conduct educational seminars for government analysts and policymakers on the Consortium's research findings and methodological advancements.

To assure the quality of its research, dissemination, and training, each Center should establish and maintain a formal tie with a university, including links with appropriate departments within that university. Each Center must have a major presence at a single site; however, alternative arrangements among entities and with individual scholars are encouraged and may be proposed.

4. Reporting. Every three months during the award period, the grantee will produce a quarterly report of progress. The grantee's quarterly progress reports should provide a concise summary of the progress being made toward completion of activities in the annual workplan. Particular attention should be given to achieving any milestones set forth in the workplan, delays in achieving milestones and the impact of delays on the final product. Details regarding the format of quarterly progress reports will be provided in the RRC Terms and Conditions at the time of award.

B. Cooperative Agreement Responsibilities

1. Center Responsibilities: The Centers have the primary and lead responsibility to define objectives and approaches; to plan research, conduct studies, and analyze data; and publish results, interpretations, and conclusions of their work.

Occasionally, SSA will request Quick Turnaround projects from the RRC. Quick Turnaround projects include commenting on SSA research plans, providing critical commentary on research products, composing policy briefs, performing statistical policy analyses, and other activities designed to inform SSA's research, evaluation, and policy analysis function. Funding for these as well as other related activities should be included in the budget narrative at a level of $20,000 (Part III, Section A-8). The agency can raise the ceiling above $20,000 for quick turnaround projects if both need and funds exist.

2. SSA Responsibilities: SSA will be involved with the Consortium in jointly establishing research priorities, planning strategies, and deliverable dates to accomplish the objectives of this announcement. SSA, or its representatives, will provide the following types of support to the Consortium:

a. Consultation and technical assistance in planning, operating and evaluating the Consortium's program activities.

b. Information about SSA programs, policies, and research priorities.

c. Assistance in identifying SSA information and technical assistance resources pertinent to the Centers' success.

d. Review of Consortium activities and collegial feedback to ensure that objectives and award conditions are being met.

e. SSA may suspend or terminate any cooperative agreement in whole or in part at any time before the date of expiration, if the awardee materially fails to comply with the terms and conditions of the cooperative agreement, if technical performance requirements are not met, or if the project is no longer relevant to the Agency. SSA will promptly notify the awardee in writing of the determination and the reasons for suspension or termination together with the effective date.

f. SSA reserves the right to suspend funding for individual projects in process or in previously approved research areas or tasks after awards have been granted.

3. Joint Responsibilities: Jointly with SSA, each Center will select approximately six nationally recognized scholars and practitioners who are unaffiliated with either Center to provide assistance in formulating the Center's research agenda and advice on implementation. Each Center shall select three scholars/practitioners, and SSA will select three scholars/practitioners. Efforts will be made in selecting the scholars/practitioners to assure a broad range of academic disciplines and political viewpoints. Funded under this agreement, the scholars/practitioners must meet once a year at the RRC Annual Conference in Washington, DC. On occasion, both Centers' scholars/practitioners will meet jointly to evaluate Consortium objectives and progress. Further, the Centers may contact the scholars/practitioners throughout the year for suggestions regarding Center activities. The SSA Project Officer will participate in all meetings.

C. Special Requirements

Each Center Director must have a demonstrated capability to organize, administer, and direct the Center. The Director will be responsible for the organization and operation of the Center and for communication with SSA on scientific and operational matters. The Director must also have a minimum time commitment of 25 percent to the Consortium Cooperative Agreement. Racial/ethnic minority individuals, women, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply as Directors. A list of previous grants and cooperative agreements held by the Director shall be submitted including the names and contact information of each grant's and cooperative agreement's administrator. In addition to the Director, skilled personnel and institutional resources capable of providing a strong research and evaluation base in the priority areas specified must be available. The institution must show a strong commitment to the Consortium's support. Such commitment may be provided as dedicated space, salary support for investigators or key personnel, dedicated equipment or other financial support for the proposed Center.

Each Center need not be limited by geographical boundaries. A research team may consist of investigators or institutions that are geographically distant, to the extent that the research design requires and accommodates such arrangements. Nothing in this announcement precludes non-academic entities from being affiliated with an applicant.

Part III—Application Preparation and Evaluation Criteria

This part contains information on the preparation of an application for submission under this announcement, the forms necessary for submission, and the evaluation criteria under which the applications will be reviewed. Potential applicants should read this part carefully in conjunction with the information provided in Part II.

In general, SSA seeks organizations with demonstrated capacity for providing quality policy research, training, and working with government policymakers. In the program narrative section of the application, applicants should reflect on how they will be able to fulfill the responsibilities and the requirements described in the announcement. The application should specify in detail how administrative arrangements would be made to minimize start-up and transition delays. Applications that do not address all four major tasks discussed in Center Responsibilities in Part II will not be considered for an award.

It is anticipated that the applicant will have access to additional sources of funding for some projects and arrangements with other organizations and institutions. The applicant (including the Center Director and other key personnel) shall make all current and anticipated related funding arrangements (including contact information for grant/contract/cooperative agreement administrators) explicit in an attachment to the application (Part IV, Section B-12). As part of the annual review process, this information will be updated and reviewed to limit duplicative funding for Center projects.

A. Content and Organization of Technical Application (See "Components of a Complete Application," Part IV, Section B)

The application must begin with the required application forms and a three-page (double-spaced) overview and summary of the application. Staff resumes should be included in a separate appendix. The core of the application must contain seven sections, presented in the following order:

(1) A brief (not more than 10 pages) background analysis of the key retirement policy issues and trends with a focus on the primary research themes of the proposed Center. The analysis should discuss concisely, but comprehensively, important priority research issues and demonstrate the applicant's grasp of the policy and research significance of recent and future social, economic, political, and demographic trends.

(2) A research and evaluation prospectus for a five-year research agenda, outlining the major research themes to be investigated over the next five years. In particular, the prospectus will describe the activities planned for the priority research areas and other additional research topics proposed by the applicant. The prospectus should discuss the kind of research activities that are needed to both address current Social Security reform issues and anticipate future policy debates. The prospectus should follow from the background analysis section. It may, of course, also discuss research areas and issues that were not mentioned in the analysis if the author(s) of the application feel there have been gaps in past research, or that new factors have begun to affect or soon will begin to affect national retirement policy. If a Center intends to enhance data for retirement research purposes, they should include a discussion of the technical expertise of Center staff and proposed mechanisms to facilitate the sharing of data.

The prospectus shall include detailed descriptions of individual research projects that will be expected in the Center's first year of operation. The special instructions attachment of the application kit provides guidelines for project proposals. It also should be specific about long-term research themes and projects. The lines of research described in the prospectus should be concrete enough that project descriptions in subsequent research plan amendments can be viewed as articulating a research theme discussed in the prospectus. An application that contains an ad hoc categorization of an unstructured set of research projects, rather than a set of projects that strike a coherent theme, will be judged unfavorably.

Note: Once a successful RRC applicant has been selected, SSA will review the RRC research agenda and determine research priorities. This may include the addition, modification, or removal of proposed research projects. After review, each Center will submit to SSA a revised research plan and budget. The research plan will be periodically reviewed and revised as necessary. The application should discuss how the Centers select research projects to propose, including involvement of the outside scholars/practitioners, SSA, and other advisors and participants in the Consortium.

(3) A prospectus for dissemination, including ways to reach a broad audience of researchers, policymakers, and the public. Dissemination plans should detail proposed publications and conferences.

(4) A prospectus for training and education, including proposed training and educational strategies to meet the goals described in Part II, Section A, Task 3.

(5) A staffing and organization proposal for the Center, including an analysis of the types of background needed among staff members, the Center's organizational structure, and linkages with the host institution and other organizations. In this section, the applicant should specify how it will assure an effective approach to research, and where appropriate, identify the necessary links to university departments, other organizations and scholars engaged in research and government policy making.

The applicant should identify the Center Director and key senior research staff. Full resumes of proposed staff members must be included as a separate appendix to the application. The time commitment to the Center and other commitments for each proposed staff member shall be indicated. Note that once the cooperative agreement has been awarded, changes in key staff will require prior approval from SSA. The kinds of administrative and tenure arrangements, if any, the Center proposes to make should also be discussed in this section. In addition, the authors of the application and the role that they will play in the proposed Center must be specified.

This section shall discuss the financial arrangements for supporting research assistants, dissertation fellowships, affiliates, resident scholars, etc. The discussion should include the expected number and type of scholars to be supported and the level of support anticipated.

If the applicant envisions an arrangement of several universities or entities, this section should describe the specifics of the relationships, including leadership, management, and administration. It should pay particular attention to discussing how a focal point for research, training, and scholarship will be maintained given the arrangement proposed.

The application also should discuss the role, selection procedure, and expected contribution of the outside scholars/practitioners (See Part II, Joint Responsibilities).

(6) An organizational experience summary of past work at the institution proposed as the location (or the host) of the Center that relates directly or indirectly to the research priorities of this request. This discussion should include more than a listing of the individual projects completed by the individuals who are included in the application. It should provide a sense of institutional commitment to policy research on issues involving retirement policy. The application must list in an appendix appropriate recent or current research projects, with a brief research summary, contact person references, and address and telephone numbers of references. This section should also discuss the experience of the research staff in working with the government agencies and their demonstrated capacity to provide policy relevant support to these agencies.

(7) A budget narrative that links the research, training, dissemination, and administration to the Center's funding level. The special instructions attachment of the application kit provides information on the distribution and presentation of budget data. Though SSA believes that all three of the stated goals and objectives are important, it is expected that the substantial majority of funds will support Research, Evaluation, and Data Development. Funding should also be allocated to address occasional SSA requested activities (described in Part II, Section B-1). This section should also discuss how the five-year budget supports proposed research, training, dissemination, and administrative activities and should link the first year of funding to a five-year plan. The discussion should include the appropriateness of the level and distribution of funds to the successful completion of the research, training, dissemination, and administrative plans.

The availability, potential availability or expectation of other funds (from the host institution, universities, foundations, other Federal agencies, etc.) and the uses to which they would be put, should be documented in this section. When additional funding is contemplated, applicants shall note whether the funding is being donated by the host institution, is in-hand from another funding source, or will be applied for from another funding source. Formal commitments for the 5 percent, non-federal, minimum budget share should be highlighted in this section.

Seeking additional support from other sources is encouraged. However, funds pertaining to this announcement must not duplicate those received from other funding sources.

B. Review Process and Funding

In addition to any other reviews, a review panel consisting of at least three qualified persons will be formed. Each panelist will objectively review and score the cooperative agreement applications using the evaluation criteria listed in Part III, Section C below. The panel will recommend Centers based on (1) the application scores; (2) the feasibility and adequacy of the project plan and methodology; and (3) how the Centers would jointly meet the objectives of the Consortium. The Agency will consider the panel's recommendations when awarding the cooperative agreements. Although the results from the review panel are the primary factor used in making funding decisions, they are not the sole basis for making awards. The Agency will consider other factors as well (such as duplication of internal and external research effort) when making funding decisions.

All applicants must use the guidelines provided in the SSA application kit for preparing applications requesting funding under this cooperative agreement announcement. These guidelines describe the minimum amount of required project information. However, when completing Part III—Program Narrative, Form SSA-96-BK, please follow the guidelines under Part III, Section A, above. Disregard instructions provided on pages 3, 4, and 5 of the SSA Federal Assistance Application Form SSA-96-BK.

All awardees must adhere to SSA's Privacy and Confidentiality Regulations (20 CFR part 401) as well as provide specific safeguards surrounding client information sharing, paper/computer records/data, and other issues potentially arising from administrative data. SSA reserves the option to discuss applications with other Federal or State staff, specialists, knowledgeable persons, and the general public. Comments from these sources, along with those of the reviewers, will be kept from inappropriate disclosure and may be considered in making an award decision.

C. Selection Process and Evaluation Criteria

The evaluation criteria correspond to the outline for the development of the Program Narrative Statement of the application described in Part III, Section A, above. The application should be prepared in the format indicated by the outline described in The Components of a Complete Application (Part IV, Section B).

Selection of the successful applicants will be based on the technical and financial criteria laid out in this announcement. Reviewers will determine the strengths and weaknesses of each application in terms of the evaluation criteria listed below.

The point value following each criterion heading indicates the maximum numerical relative weight that each section will be given in the review process. An unacceptable rating on any individual criterion may render the application unacceptable. Consequently, applicants should take care that all criteria are fully addressed in the applications. Applications will be reviewed as follows:

(a) Quality of the background analysis. (See Part III, Section A-1) (10 points)

Applications will be judged on whether they provide a thoughtful and coherent discussion of political, economic, social, and demographic issues influencing retirement and solvency. Reviewers will judge applicants' abilities to discuss the past, present, and future role of government programs and policies which affect these trends. Applications should tie the trends and influences discussed to their proposed research agenda.

(b) Quality of the research and evaluation prospectus. (See Part III, Section A-2) (40 points)

Reviewers will judge this section on whether the research agenda is scientifically sound and policy relevant. They also will consider whether the applicant is likely to produce significant contributions to their proposed research areas and how closely the proposed projects fit the objectives for which the applications were solicited.

The application will be judged on the breadth and depth of the applicant's commitment to research and evaluation of the priority research areas described in Part II, Section A. Again, extra weight will be given to quality projects that focus on solvency and reform. The discussion and research proposed must address at least three priority research areas. Applicants will generally receive higher scores for addressing more than three priority research areas. However, a strong proposal focusing on three areas will outscore one that is broad and weakly defined. Applicants with additional insightful research proposals will also score higher. Concise plans for research projects in the near term (one or two years) as well as a five-year agenda are important.

Reviewers will rate applications on the contents of the plans to conduct policy relevant research. In addition, they will be judged on their relevance to Agency activities. Reviewers will also take into consideration SSA priorities and funded or anticipated projects. SSA is particularly interested in research on issues related to Social Security solvency and reform.

(c) Dissemination; training and education. (See Part III, Section A-3, A-4, and A-5) (20 points)

Reviewers will evaluate strategies for dissemination of research and other related information to a broad and disparate set of academic, research, and policy communities as well as to the public. Reviewers will also evaluate whether the appropriate dissemination method is being proposed for targeted audiences of academics and researchers, policymakers, and the public. Proposed strategies that increase dissemination across Centers and other organizations conducting retirement research will also receive higher ratings.

The evaluation of the training and evaluation prospectus will include an assessment of plans to enhance the training of graduate students and young scholars through direct financial support as well as exposure to policy research. In addition, reviewers will evaluate proposed strategies for educating and training policymakers and practitioners on issues of retirement.

(d) Quality of the staffing proposal and proposed administration. (See Part III, Section A-6 and A-7) (20 points)

Reviewers will judge the applicant's Center Director and staff on research experience, demonstrated research skills, administrative skills, public administration experience, and relevant policy making skills. An additional criterion will be the Center's demonstrated potential to act as a conduit between basic and applied behavioral and social science research and policy analysis/evaluation. Both the evidence of past involvement in related research and the specific plans for seeking applied outcomes described in the application shall be considered part of that potential. Reviewers may consider references from grant/cooperative agreement administrators on previous grants and cooperative agreements held by the proposed Center Director or other key personnel. Director and staff time commitments to the Center also will be a factor in evaluation. Whether the applicant can maintain a single location for research, teaching, and scholarship is an important consideration. Reviewers will evaluate the affiliations of proposed key personnel to ensure the required multi-disciplinary nature of the Consortium is being fulfilled.

Applicants will be judged on the nature and extent of the organizational support for research, mentoring scholars, dissemination, and in areas related to the Center's central priorities and this request. Reviewers will evaluate the commitment of the host institution (and the proposed institutional unit that will contain the Center) to assess its ability to support all three of the Center's major activities: (1) Research, evaluation, and data development; (2) dissemination; (3) education and training. Reviewers also will evaluate the applicant's demonstrated capacity to work with a range of government agencies.

(e) Appropriateness of the budget for carrying out the planned staffing and activities. See Part III, (Section A-8) (10 points)

Reviewers will consider whether (1) the budget assures an efficient and effective allocation of funds to achieve the objectives of this solicitation, and (2) the applicant has additional funding from other sources, in particular, the host institution. Applications which show funding from other sources that supplement funds from this cooperative agreement will be given higher marks than those without financial support. Awardees are required to contribute a minimum of 5 percent cost share of total project costs.

Panel Recommendations. Once each application is scored and ranked, the panel will then review the top applicants and recommend Centers that together best address the range of responsibilities described in Part II.

Part IV—Application Forms, Completion and Submission

A. Availability of Application Forms

The application kit, which contains the prescribed forms for funding projects under this announcement, is available at www.ssa.gov/oag/. To request an application kit for those without Internet access, contact: David Allhouse, Grants Management Officer, SSA, Office of Acquisition and Grants, Grants Management Team, 1-E-4 Gwynn Oak Building, 1710 Gwynn Oak Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21207-5279. The fax number is (410) 966-9310. The telephone number for David Allhouse is (410) 965-9262 (e-mail: dave.allhouse@ssa.gov).

When requesting an application kit, the applicant should refer to the program announcement number SSA-ORES-03-01 and the date of this announcement to ensure receipt of the proper application kit.

B. Components of a Complete Application

A complete application package consists of one original, signed and dated application, plus at least two copies, which include the following items in order:

1. Cover Sheet;
2. Project Abstract/Summary (not to exceed three pages);
3. Table of Contents;
4. Part I (Face Sheet)—Application for Federal Assistance (Standard Form 424);
5. Part II—Budget Information—Sections A through G (Form SSA-96-BK);
6. Budget Justification for Section B—Budget Categories;
7. Proof of non-profit status, if applicable;
8. Copy of the applicant's approved indirect cost rate agreement, if appropriate;
9. Part III—Project (Program) Narrative. Please disregard instructions provided on pages 3, 4, and 5 of the SSA Federal Assistance Application Form SSA-96-BK. The program narrative should be organized in six sections:
 - (a) Background Analysis,
 - (b) Research, Evaluation, and Data Development Prospectus,
 - (c) Dissemination Prospectus,
 - (d) Training and Education Prospectus,
 - (e) Staffing Proposal Including Staff Utilization, Staff Background, and Organizational Experience,
 - (f) Budget Narrative.
10. Part IV—Assurances;
11. Required Certifications;
12. Any appendices/attachments; and
13. Supplement to Section II—Key Personnel.

Staple each copy of the application securely (front and back if necessary) in the upper left corner. Please DO NOT use or include separate covers, binders, clips, tabs, plastic inserts, books, brochures, videos, or any other items that cannot be readily photocopied.

C. Application Submission

These guidelines should be followed in submitting applications:

—All applications requesting SSA funds for cooperative agreement projects under this announcement must be submitted on the standard forms provided in the application kit.

NOTE: Facsimile copies will not be accepted.

—The application shall be executed by an individual authorized to act for the applicant organization and to assume for the applicant organization the obligations imposed by the terms and conditions of the cooperative agreement award.

—Number of copies: The package should contain one original, signed and dated application plus at least two copies. Ten additional copies are optional and will expedite processing of the application. A disk copy of the Abstract and the Program Narrative (in MSWord format) would also be helpful to SSA.

—Length: Applications should be brief and concise as possible, but assure successful communication of the applicant's proposal to the reviewers. The Project Narrative portion of the application (Part III) may not exceed 150 double spaced pages (excluding the resume and outside funding appendices), typewritten on one side using standard (8½" × 11") size paper and 12 point font. Attachments that support the project narrative count within the 150 page limit.

Attachments not applicable to the project narrative do not count toward this page limit.

—Attachments/Appendices, when included should be used only to provide supporting documentation. Brochures, videos, etc., should not be included because they are not easily reproduced and are therefore inaccessible to reviewers.

—In item 11 of the Face Sheet (SF 424), the applicant must clearly indicate the application submitted is in response to this announcement (SSA-ORES-03-01). The applicant also is encouraged to select a SHORT descriptive project title.

—On all applications developed by more than one organization, the application must identify only one institution as the lead organization and the official applicant. The other(s) can be included as subgrantees or subcontractors.

Applications must be mailed or hand delivered to: Grants Management Team, Office of Acquisition and Grants, DCFAM, Social Security Administration, Attention: SSA-ORES-03-01, 1-E-4 Gwynn Oak Building, 1710 Gwynn Oak Avenue, Baltimore, MD 21207-5279.

Hand delivered applications are accepted between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. An application will be considered as meeting the deadline if it is either:

1. Received at the above address on or before the deadline date; or

2. Mailed through the U.S. Postal Service or sent by commercial carrier on or before the deadline date and received in time to be considered during the competitive review and evaluation process.

Packages must be postmarked by July 15, 2003. Applicants are cautioned to request a legibly dated U.S. Postal Service postmark or to obtain a legibly dated receipt from a commercial carrier as evidence of timely mailing.

Applications that do not meet the above criteria will be considered late applications. SSA will not waive or extend the deadline for any applicant unless the deadline is waived or extended for all applicants. SSA will notify each late applicant that its application will not be considered.

D. Notification

SSA will use Form SSA-3966 PC (a double postcard) to acknowledge receipt of applications. Please complete the top and bottom parts of the double postcard that is included in the application kit and, on the franked sided of the postcard, enter the name and address of the person to whom the acknowledgment is to be sent. Include Form SSA-3966 PC with the original copy of the application forms. If you do not receive acknowledgment of your application within eight weeks after the deadline date, please notify SSA.

Paperwork Reduction Act

The information is collected using form SSA-96-BK, Instructions for Completion of Federal Assistance Application has already been approved under Office of Management and Budget (OMB) control number 0960-0184. This is important in that persons are not required to respond to an information collection unless it displays a valid OMB control number.

In addition, the collection of information from ten or more members of the public by cooperative agreement awardees during research and study activities will require clearance from OMB if the information is in response to identical questions.

Executive Order 12372 and 12416—Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs

This program is not covered by the requirements of Executive Order 12372, as amended by Executive Order 12416, relating to the Federal policy for consulting with State and local elected officials on proposed Federal financial assistance.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Highway Administration

Environmental Impact Statement: Seattle, WA

AGENCY: Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for replacing the Magnolia Bridge (Seattle, Washington).

SUMMARY: The FHWA is issuing this notice to advise the public, Tribes, and agencies that an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) will be prepared for a proposed transportation improvement project in Seattle, King County, Washington.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Elizabeth Healy, Area Engineer, Federal Highway Administration, 711 S. Capitol Way, Suite 501, Olympia, WA 98501, Telephone (360) 753-9480 and Kirk T. Jones, Seattle Department of Transportation Project Manager, 700 Fifth Ave., Seattle 98104, (206) 615-0862 or e-mail kirkt.jones@seattle.gov. The Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) TDD number is 206-615-0476. Written comments should be sent to Kirk T. Jones, Seattle Department of Transportation, Key Tower, Suite 3900, 700-5th Avenue, Seattle, Washington 98104-5043.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FHWA, the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT), and the City of Seattle will prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) for a transportation improvement project to replace the Magnolia Bridge which spans from the intersection of 15th Avenue West and West Garfield Street to the intersection of West Galer Street and Dartmouth Avenue West in Seattle, Washington. The EIS will be prepared to satisfy both NEPA and the Washington State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA).

The project proposes to replace the Magnolia Bridge, which has been damaged in recent years by landslides and an earthquake. The City of Seattle has determined that performing ongoing retrofit and maintenance work on the existing bridge would approach the cost of building a new bridge, and is therefore proposing to build a new facility. The EIS will explore several alternatives, including a No Action alternative, to identify a preferred alternative that provides vehicular linkage to Magnolia from the greater Seattle area; remedies ongoing seismic safety, landslide, and maintenance concerns; and minimizes impacts to the human and natural environment.

The existing Magnolia Bridge, an approximately 3,000-foot structure, connects the 15th Avenue West/Elliott Avenue West corridor to Magnolia along the extended alignment of West Garfield Street, serving as one of three transportation routes to Magnolia that cross the Burlington Northern-Santa Fe (BNSF) railroad tracks. Access to the bridge is provided via the West Galer Street Flyover on the east, and from West Galer Street on the west.

Currently four alternatives are being evaluated for inclusion in the EIS, including three different alignment alternatives and a No-Action alternative. The No-Action Alternative will provide the basis for comparison of the build alternatives. The No-Action Alternative would preserve the existing Magnolia Bridge and include necessary maintenance and retrofit projects to meet seismic standards. Alternative A replaces the Magnolia Bridge with a similar facility just south of the existing bridge, using the same connection points and creating a structure approximately 3,000 feet in length. Alternative D maintains the same endpoints as currently exist for the Magnolia Bridge, but arcs the alignment to the north, creating a longer bridge structure than the existing bridge. Alternative H provides two access routes between 15th Avenue West and Magnolia, one similar to that described for Alternative D, the other a northern bridge connecting Wheeler Street and Armory Way to Thorndyke Avenue at 23rd Avenue West. Each alternative would include some method of connection (e.g., ramps or surface-level intersections) to Port of Seattle property currently spanned by the bridge.

The NEPA scoping process is designed to identify important issues to be studied in the EIS. FHWA and the City of Seattle invite all interested parties to submit comments on the scope of the proposed project. Public and agency scoping will continue until the Draft EIS is completed. Comments can be submitted by mail, e-mail, via the project Web site, or in person at public and agency scoping meetings. A packet on the proposed project, project alternatives, and the scoping process may be obtained from Seattle Department of Transportation. The information may also be obtained through a public Web site for the project, www.seattle.gov/transportation/magbridgereplace.htm.

Letters soliciting comments on the scope of the EIS and describing the purpose, need, and potential alternatives will be sent to appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies, Tribes, and to organizations and citizens who have previously expressed or are known to have interest in this proposal. A Public Open House/Scoping Meeting will be held on May 22, 2003, from 5:30 pm to 8:30 pm PDT, at the Blaine K-8 School Cafeteria, 2550 34th Avenue West, Seattle, Washington. An Agency Scoping Meeting for Federal, State, and local agencies and Tribes will be held from 10:30 am to 12:30 pm PDT at the Alaska Building, Elliott Bay Room, 2nd Avenue and Cherry Street, Seattle, Washington. In addition, a public and agency hearing will be held following circulation of the Draft EIS. All meeting locations are accessible to persons with disabilities. Any individual with a disability who requires special assistance at upcoming meetings, such as a sign language interpreter, should contact Marybeth Turner at (206) 684-8548 or e-mail marybeth.turner@seattle.gov at least 48-hours in advance of the meeting in order for SDOT to make necessary arrangements.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Railroad Administration

Proposed Agency Information Collection Activities; Comment Request

AGENCY: Federal Railroad Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 and its implementing regulations, the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) hereby announces that it is seeking renewal of the following currently approved information collection activities. Before submitting these information collection requirements for clearance by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), FRA is soliciting public comment on specific aspects of the activities identified below.

DATES: Comments must be received no later than June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Submit written comments on any or all of the following proposed activities by mail to either: Mr. Robert Brogan, Office of Safety, Planning and Evaluation Division, RRS-21, Federal Railroad Administration, 1120 Vermont Ave., NW., Mail Stop 17, Washington, DC 20590, or Ms. Debra Steward, Office of Information Technology and Productivity Improvement, RAD-20, Federal Railroad Administration, 1120 Vermont Ave., NW., Mail Stop 35, Washington, DC 20590. Commenters requesting FRA to acknowledge receipt of their respective comments must include a self-addressed stamped postcard stating, "Comments on OMB control number _____. Alternatively, comments may be transmitted via facsimile to (202) 493-6230 or (202) 493-6170, or E-mail to Mr. Brogan at robert.brogan@fra.dot.gov, or to Ms. Steward at debra.steward@fra.dot.gov. Please refer to the assigned OMB control number in any correspondence submitted. FRA will summarize comments received in response to this notice in a subsequent notice and include them in its information collection submission to OMB for approval.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert Brogan, Office of Planning and Evaluation Division, RRS-21, Federal Railroad Administration, 1120 Vermont Ave., NW., Mail Stop 17, Washington, DC 20590 (telephone: (202) 493-6292) or Debra Steward, Office of Information Technology and Productivity Improvement, RAD-20, Federal Railroad Administration, 1120 Vermont Ave., NW., Mail Stop 35, Washington, DC 20590 (telephone: (202) 493-6139). (These telephone numbers are not toll-free.)

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA), Pub. L. No. 104-13, §2, 109 Stat. 163 (1995) (codified as revised at 44 U.S.C. 3501-3520), and its implementing regulations, 5 CFR part 1320, require Federal agencies to provide 60-days notice to the public for comment on information collection activities before seeking approval for reinstatement or renewal by OMB. 44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A); 5 CFR 1320.8(d)(1), 1320.10(e)(1), 1320.12(a). Specifically, FRA invites interested respondents to comment on the following summary of proposed information collection activities regarding (i) whether the information collection activities are necessary for FRA to properly execute its functions, including whether the activities will have practical utility; (ii) the accuracy of FRA's estimates of the burden of the information collection activities, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used to determine the estimates; (iii) ways for FRA to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information being collected; and (iv) ways for FRA to minimize the burden of information collection activities on the public by automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology (e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses). See 44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)(I)-(iv); 5 CFR 1320.8(d)(1)(I)-(iv). FRA believes that soliciting public comment will promote its efforts to reduce the administrative and paperwork burdens associated with the collection of information mandated by Federal regulations. In summary, FRA reasons that comments received will advance three objectives: (i) Reduce reporting burdens; (ii) ensure that it organizes information collection requirements in a "user friendly" format to improve the use of such information; and (iii) accurately assess the resources expended to retrieve and produce information requested. See 44 U.S.C. 3501.

Below are brief summaries of three currently approved information collection activities that FRA will submit for clearance by OMB as required under the PRA:

Title: Rear-End Marking Devices.

OMB Control Number: 2130-0523.

Type of Request: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Affected Public: Businesses.

Form Number(s): N/A.

Abstract: The collection of information is set forth under 49 CFR part 221 which requires railroads to furnish a detailed description of the type of marking device to be used for the trailing end of rear cars in order to ensure rear cars meet minimum standards for visibility and display. Railroads are required to furnish a certification that the device has been tested in accordance with current "Guidelines for Testing of Rear End Marking Devices." Additionally, railroads are required to furnish detailed test records which include the testing organizations, description of tests, number of samples tested, and the test results in order to demonstrate compliance with the performance standard.

Respondent Universe: 685 railroads.

Frequency of Submission: On occasion.

Total Responses: 2.

Estimated Annual Burden: 4 hours.

Status: Regular Review.

Title: Bridge Worker Safety Rules.

OMB Control Number: 2130-0535.

Type of Request: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Affected Public: Businesses.

Form Number(s): N/A.

Abstract: Section 20139 of Title 49 of the United States Code required FRA to issue rules, regulations, orders, and standards for the safety of maintenance-of-way employees on railroad bridges, including for "bridge safety equipment" such as nets, walkways, handrails, and safety lines, and requirements for the use of vessels when work is performed on bridges located over bodies of water.

FRA has added 49 CFR part 214 to establish minimum workplace safety standards for railroad employees as they apply to railroad bridges. Specifically, section 214.15(c) establishes standards and practices for safety net systems. Safety nets and net installations are to be drop-tested at the job site after initial installation and before being used as a fall-protection system; after major repairs; and at six-month intervals if left at one site. If a drop-test is not feasible and is not performed, then a written certification must be made by the railroad or railroad contractor, or a designated certified person, that the net does comply with the safety standards of this section. FRA and State inspectors use the information to enforce Federal regulations. The information that is maintained at the job site promotes safe bridge worker practices.

Frequency of Submission: On occasion.

Total Responses: 6.

Estimated Annual Burden: 2 hours.

Status: Regular Review.

Title: Railroad Operating Rules.

OMB Control Number: 2130-0035.

Type of Request: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Affected Public: Businesses.

Form Number(s): N/A.

Abstract: The collection of information is due to the railroad operating rules set forth in 49 CFR part 217 which require Class I and Class II railroads to file with FRA copies of their operating rules, timetables, and timetable special instructions, and subsequent amendments thereto. Class III railroads are required to retain copies of these documents at their systems headquarters. Also, 49 CFR 220.21(b) prescribes the collection of information which requires railroads to retain one copy of their current operating rules with respect to radio communications and one copy of each subsequent amendment thereto. These documents must be made available to FRA upon request.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[U.S. DOT Docket Number NHTSA–2003–14375]

Reports, Forms, and Recordkeeping Requirements

AGENCY: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), Department of Transportation (DOT).
ACTION: Request for public comment on proposed collection of information.

SUMMARY: Before a Federal agency can collect certain information from the public, it must receive approval from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). Under procedures established by the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, before seeking OMB approval, Federal agencies must solicit public comment on proposed information collections, including extensions and reinstatements of previously approved collections. This document describes one collection of information for which NHTSA intends to seek OMB approval.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before June 24, 2003.

ADDRESSES: Comments must refer to the docket notice numbers cited at the beginning of this notice and be submitted to Docket Management, Room PL–401, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590. Please identify the proposed collection of information for which a comment is provided, by referencing its OMB clearance number. It is requested, but not required that two (2) copies of the comment be provided. The Docket Section is open on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Marvin M. Levy, Ph.D., NHTSA 400 Seventh Street, SW., Room 5119, NTI–131 Washington, DC 20590. Dr. Levy’s telephone number is (202) 366–5597.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, before a Federal agency submits a proposed collection of information to OMB for approval, it must first publish a document in the Federal Register providing for a 60-day comment period and otherwise consult members of the public and affected agencies concerning each proposed collection of information. The OMB has promulgated regulations describing what must be included in such a document. Under OMB’s regulations (at 5 CFR 1320.8(d)), an agency must ask for public comment on the following:

- (i) Whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;
- (ii) The accuracy of the agency’s estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methods and assumptions used;
- (iii) How to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- (iv) How to minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

In response to these requirements, NHTSA asks for public comment on the following proposed collection of information:

Title: Characteristics of Motorcycle Operators.

OMB Clearance Number: None.

Affected Public: Under this proposed collection, personal interviews will be administered to motorcycle operators from the general public. The survey will be administered by face-to-face interviews conducted at sponsored events, races, and recognized motorcyclist gathering sites throughout the United States. In addition, survey data also will be collected at smaller and more localized events such as motorcycle club meetings and popular riding locations. States currently being considered for inclusion are California, Maryland, Michigan, New York, Texas, Virginia, and Florida.

Form Number: This collection of information uses no standard forms.

Abstract: The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) has a central role in the national effort to reduce motor vehicle-related traffic injuries and deaths. U.S. motorcycle-related deaths dropped consistently from 1980 to 1997, but over the past few years this downward trend reversed and injuries and deaths are increasing. The number of fatalities among motorcycle operators rose from 2,116 in 1997 to 3,181 in 2001. Data from NHTSA’s National Center for Statistics and Analysis indicate that this increase is associated with older riders, use of larger motorcycles, and frequent use of alcohol, especially among older riders.

NHTSA is committed to developing effective programs that can reduce the incidence of these crashes. Recently, NHTSA jointly sponsored an effort to assess future needs regarding motorcycle safety. Recommendations from the National Agenda for Motorcycle Safety (National Agenda) indicated that additional rider research is needed to determine rider characteristics and factors leading to motorcycle crashes. This study supports the National Agenda and future efforts to reduce motorcycle injuries and deaths by providing updated information about rider operator characteristics, attitudes, and behaviors. Of particular interest will be comparisons of the training, experience, attitudes, and behaviors of those operators who have been involved in crashes versus those who have not.

Preliminary work was conducted to explore the possibility of obtaining a random sample of motorcycle operators using computer-assisted telephone interviewing technology. Unfortunately, only two percent of the U.S. population aged 16 and older ride a motorcycle; thus, standard, nationally based, telephone survey techniques would not be cost effective. Further, contacts with specific States indicated that it is not feasible to obtain a representative sample of motorcycle owners and operators given the limitations of data available from motor-vehicle departments. Therefore, an in-person survey using a convenience sample selected from various venues across broad geographic areas was chosen as the most practical approach.

The survey will be administered using face-to-face interview. Motorcycle operators, both licensed and non-licensed will be included, with a special emphasis on riders over 40 years of age. Participation by respondents will be strictly voluntary. The basic interview will vary from 8–10 minutes; whereas for crash involved operators, an additional 5 minutes of questions will be administered. The average interview should last approximately 12 minutes. The requested expiration date of approval is June 30, 2005.

Trained interviews will use specially developed survey forms with multiple-choice responses where possible to reduce survey administration time and to minimize data collection errors. To further reduce survey administration time and to minimize data collection errors, the trained interviewers will be current motorcyclists where possible. A Spanish-language questionnaire and bilingual interviewer will be used to reduce language barriers to participation. Confidentiality will be assured by conformance to procedures described in CIPSEA 2002.

The findings from this proposed survey will assist NHTSA in addressing the problem of motorcycle operator safety. NHTSA will use the findings to help focus current programs and activities to achieve the greatest benefit, to develop new programs, to decrease the likelihood of such crashes, and to provide informational support to states, localities, law enforcement agencies, and motorcyclists that will aid them in their efforts to reduce motorcyclist crashes, injuries and fatalities.

Estimate of the Total Annual Burden Resulting From the Collection of Information

NHTSA estimates that respondents in the sample would require an average of 12 minutes to complete the personal interview. Thus, estimated reporting burden on the general public would be a total of 400 hours per year for 2 years. The respondents would not incur any reporting or recordkeeping cost from the information collection.

Number of Respondents: It is anticipated that the number of respondents will be 4,000 motorcycle operators during the course of this study.

Comments are invited on: whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of NHTSA, including whether the information will have practical utility; the accuracy of NHTSA's estimate of the burden of the proposed information collection; ways to enhance the quality, utility and clarity of the information to be collected; and ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on respondents, including the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

Part II

Department of Housing and Urban Development

Super Notice of Funding Availability
(SuperNOFA) for HUD's Discretionary Programs for Fiscal Year 2003; Notice

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

[Docket No. FR-4800-N-01]

Super Notice of Funding Availability
(SuperNOFA) for HUD's Discretionary Programs for Fiscal Year 2003

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, HUD.

ACTION: Super Notice of Funding Availability (SuperNOFA) for HUD Discretionary Programs.

SUMMARY: This Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 SuperNOFA announces the availability of approximately $2.3 billion in HUD program funds covering 43 funding opportunities within programs operated and administered by HUD offices. This General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the application procedures and requirements that are applicable to all the programs in this SuperNOFA unless otherwise stated in the Program NOFA. The Program Section of this SuperNOFA provides a description of the specific programs for which funding is made available and describes any additional procedures and requirements that are applicable to a specific program. Please be sure you read both the General Section and the Program Section(s) of this SuperNOFA to ensure you respond to all the requirements for all programs you will be seeking funding.

APPLICATION DUE DATES: The information in this APPLICATION DUE DATES section applies to all programs that are part of this SuperNOFA. You, the applicant, must submit a completed application to HUD on or before the respective program's application due date. Application due dates can be found in the HUD FY 2003 SuperNOFA Funding Chart located in this General Section. Information for each program is reiterated in the appropriate Program Section of this SuperNOFA.

ADDRESSES AND APPLICATION SUBMISSION PROCEDURES:

Mailing and Receipt Procedures. The following procedures apply to the delivery and receipt of applications in HUD Headquarters, the Grants Management Center (GMC), and field offices. Please read the following instructions carefully and completely as failure to comply with these procedures may disqualify your application. HUD's delivery and receipt policies are:

- No hand deliveries will be accepted;
- HUD will not accept any applications sent by facsimile;
- Applications sent to the Robert C. Weaver HUD Headquarters Building or the Public and Indian Housing Grants Management Center (GMC) may be shipped using DHL, Falcon Carrier, Federal Express (FedEx), United Parcel Service (UPS), or the United States Postal Service (USPS), as access by other delivery services is not guaranteed. HUD strongly suggests applicants use the delivery options listed above because no other delivery services are allowed unescorted entry to the HUD Headquarters Building and therefore deliveries by other services are often turned away;

- HUD strongly suggests applications submitted to HUD field offices be sent via USPS, as access by other delivery services is not guaranteed;

- With the exception of the Rural Housing and Economic Development NOFA, all mailed applications must be postmarked on or before midnight of their due date and received within fifteen (15) days of the due date.

- Applications for the Rural Housing and Economic Development NOFA must be received by the deadline date.

Application received after the deadline date will not be considered.

Proof of Timely submission. Except for the Rural Housing and Economic Development NOFA, proof of timely submission of an application in accordance with these requirements consists of the Certificate of Mailing (USPS Form 3817) provided by the United States Post Office showing timely mailing of the application on or before the application due date. In the case of packages submitted to HUD via DHL, Falcon Carrier, FedEx, or UPS, documentary proof of timely submission will be the delivery service receipt indicating the application was submitted to the delivery service on or before the application due date and, through no fault of the applicant, delivery was not in time to meet the filing deadline. Receipts from other than DHL, Falcon Carrier, FedEx, or UPS, delivery services will not be accepted, as HUD cannot guarantee delivery due to its Security procedures. Proof of timely submission to HUD field offices will be the Certificate of Mailing (USPS Form 3817).

Proof of receipt for the Rural and Economic Development NOFA is the date HUD receives the application.

Please remember that mail to federal facilities is screened prior to delivery, so please allow time for your package to be delivered. If an application does not meet the filing requirements it will not receive funding consideration. If you mail your application to the wrong location and the office designated for receipt in accordance with these submission requirements does not receive it, your application will be considered late and not be considered for funding. HUD will not be responsible for directing it to the appropriate office.

Addresses. You, the applicant, must submit a complete application and the required number of copies to the locations identified in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA. When submitting your application, you must refer to the name of the program for which you are seeking funding and include the correct room number to ensure that your application is properly directed. Addresses for HUD Headquarters and the Public and Indian Housing Grants Management Center (GMC) are in the HUD 2003 SuperNOFA Funding Chart. Addresses for field offices are listed in Appendix A-3 of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. For applications directed to the Office of Native American Programs Field Offices, please be sure to use the addresses provided in Appendix A-2, Office of Native American Programs Address Listing. Please refer to the Funding Chart or pertinent Program Section of the SuperNOFA for room location or other additional information regarding address requirements for your application submission. Please make sure that you note the correct room number to ensure your application is not misdirected.

Copies of Applications. The Program Section of this SuperNOFA may specify that to facilitate the processing and review of your application, one or more copies of the application also must be sent to an additional HUD location (for example, a copy to the HUD field office and the original application to HUD Headquarters). If you are required to submit applications to HUD Headquarters (or the GMC) and field offices, the determination that your application was received on time will be made solely on receipt of the application at HUD Headquarters or the GMC, as applicable. If an application received on time at HUD Headquarters or GMC is not complete, but a complete copy was submitted and received on time at a HUD field office, HUD may conduct its review using the field office copy. See the information in Mailing and Receipt Procedures and Proof of Timely Submission above for additional information. If you do not submit the required number of copies HUD may request that you provide the additional copies to the appropriate HUD office(s) in accordance with the procedures described in Section VIII, Corrections to Deficient Applications.

Consolidated Application Submissions. If you, the applicant, are applying for funding under more than one program in this SuperNOFA, you need to submit only one original HUD-424, "Application for Federal Assistance," which includes the HUD-424B, "Applicant Assurances and Certifications." Page 2 of the HUD-424 allows you to list all the programs for which you are seeking funding. Once you have submitted one original set of forms, certifications, and assurances, you may send copies of these standard items with any additional application you submit. Make sure to specify the correct program on each copy of the HUD-424 application form and indicate the program to which you have submitted the original signature forms for the standard assurances and certifications. Additionally, the Program Section may specify additional forms, certifications, assurances, or other information that may be required for a particular program in this SuperNOFA.

FOR APPLICATION FORMS, FURTHER INFORMATION, AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE:

The information in this section is applicable to all programs that are part of this SuperNOFA. This section describes how you may obtain application forms, additional information about the SuperNOFA, and technical assistance. Copies of all documents related to the SuperNOFA may be downloaded from HUD's Web site, www.hud.gov or you may call HUD's SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 or for the hearing-impaired, 1-800-HUD-2209. Copies of all materials may also be ordered online from HUD's Web site.

Application Kits. In response to concerns about the length of time it takes for the publication and dissemination of application kits, HUD has made an effort to improve the readability of our NOFAs and publish all required forms and formats for application submission in the Federal Register. As a result of this effort, you will not have to wait for an application kit to begin to prepare your application for funding. Our goal is to have all required forms and information needed to apply for funding available to the public within the NOFA document itself and available immediately upon publication of the NOFA and downloadable from HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>. HUD is continuing to streamline our programs and application submission requirements and encourages the applicant community to offer additional suggestions. Please pay attention to the submission requirements and format for submission specified in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA to ensure that you have submitted all required elements of your application.

The published Federal Register document is the official document that HUD uses to evaluate applications. Therefore, if there is a discrepancy between any materials published by HUD in its Federal Register publication and other information provided in hard copy or on HUD's Web site, the Federal Register publication of the SuperNOFA prevails. Therefore, please be sure to review your application submission against the requirements in the Federal Register file of the SuperNOFA. A PDF copy of the General Section and Program Section for each program in the SuperNOFA is available on HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov> and hard copies of these documents can be obtained from the SuperNOFA Information Center by calling 1-800-HUD-8929 or for the hearing-impaired, 1-800-HUD-2209.

Guidebook and Further Information. A guidebook to HUD programs titled "Connecting with Communities: A User's Guide to HUD Programs and the 2003 SuperNOFA Process" is available from the SuperNOFA Information Center and the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>. The guidebook provides a brief description of all HUD programs, a description of the SuperNOFA programs, eligible applicants for these programs, and examples of how programs can work in combination to serve local community needs. To obtain a guidebook, application kit, or print copy of the General Section or program NOFA, call the SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 (TTY).

You may request general information, copies of the General Section and Program Section of the SuperNOFA, and applications from the SuperNOFA Information Center (1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 (TTY)) between the hours of 9:00 AM and 8:00 PM (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday, except on federal holidays. When requesting information, please refer to the name of the program you are interested in. Be sure to provide your name, address (including zip code), and telephone number (including area code). To ensure sufficient time to prepare your application, requests for copies of this SuperNOFA can be made immediately following publication of the SuperNOFA. The SuperNOFA Information Center opens for business simultaneously with the publication of the SuperNOFA. You can also obtain information on this SuperNOFA and download application information for this SuperNOFA through the HUD Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

For Technical Assistance. Before the application due date, HUD staff will be available to provide you with general guidance and technical assistance about this SuperNOFA. However, HUD staff is not permitted to assist in preparing your application. Following selection of applicants, but before awards are made, HUD staff are available to assist in clarifying or confirming information that is a prerequisite to the offer of an award or Annual Contributions Contract (ACC) by HUD.

FEDERAL E-GRANTS INFORMATION

Streamlining Federal Financial Assistance. The Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act of 1999 (Pub. L. 106-107) directs each federal agency to develop and implement a plan that, among other things, streamlines and simplifies the application, administrative, and reporting procedures for federal financial assistance programs administered by the agency. This law also requires the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to direct, coordinate, and assist federal agencies in establishing (1) a common application and reporting system and, (2) an interagency process for addressing ways to streamline and simplify federal financial assistance application and administrative procedures and reporting requirements for program applicants.

This law also requires OMB to consult with the grantee community as it works with the federal agencies to develop and implement the course of action that would be undertaken by the federal agencies to establish an electronic site for accessing funding information and applications. Over the last two years, HUD has used its website to provide information to the public about HUD's participation in Interagency efforts to streamline grant and other financial assistance requirements and to seek your input as the federal agencies work together to achieve implementation. To find out about the work being done by the federal agencies to streamline and consolidate the application and reporting requirements, please go to <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/pl-106107/pl106-107.cfm> eGrants Initiative. HUD is working with the 26 federal grant-making agencies on President George W. Bush's eGrants Initiative. This Initiative is an effort by federal agencies to develop a common electronic application and reporting system for federal financial assistance. This system will provide "one-stop shopping" for funding opportunities for all federal programs. This system is being developed in response to concerns that it is difficult for organizations to know all the funding available from the federal government and how to apply for funding. It also is an effort by the federal government to develop common application requirements, further streamlining the application process, making it easier for you, our customers, to apply for funding. The first segment of the eGrants Initiative focuses on allowing the public to easily find funding opportunities and then apply via eGrants. Funding decisions would still be under the control of the federal agency sponsoring the program funding opportunity. To find out more about the eGrants vision and implementation schedule, please visit our website at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/egrants/egrants.cfm>

I. INTRODUCTION TO THE FY 2003 SUPERNOFA

Background

This SuperNOFA is designed to make it easier to find and apply for funding under a wide variety of HUD programs. The SuperNOFA provides a "menu" of HUD funding opportunities. From this menu, communities are made aware of funding available for their jurisdictions. By providing access to information about available funding at one time, HUD believes applicants are better able to coordinate services within communities, avoid duplication, and more efficiently serve those most in need of assistance. Public housing agencies, local and state governments, tribal governments and tribally-designated housing entities, veterans service organizations, non-profit organizations, including grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations, and others will be able to identify the programs for which they are eligible.

Organization of the SuperNOFA

The SuperNOFA is divided into two major sections, the General Section and the Program Section. The General Section of the SuperNOFA describes the procedures and requirements applicable to all applications. For each funding opportunity, the Program Section describes the eligible applicants, eligible activities, factors for award, and any additional requirements or limitations. Please read both sections carefully to be sure your application is complete. Your attention to the sections will ensure that you apply for funding for which your organization is eligible and that you fulfill all the requirements for application submission.

As part of the simplification of this funding process and to avoid duplication of effort, the SuperNOFA provides for consolidated notices and applications for several of the programs that are part of this SuperNOFA. The funding chart in this introductory section of the SuperNOFA identifies the programs that have been consolidated and for which a consolidated application is made available to eligible applicants.

HUD provides copies of all required forms in this publication. Standard forms, certifications, and assurances applicable to all programs are published in the General Section, Appendix B. The forms and any additional certifications and assurances unique to an individual program follow that program's section of the SuperNOFA.

The specific statutory and regulatory requirements of the programs that are part of this SuperNOFA continue to apply to each program. Each SuperNOFA Program Section identifies, where necessary, the statutory requirements and other unique requirements applicable to each specific program. Please pay careful attention to the specific submission requirements that are identified for each funding opportunity. Not all applicants are eligible to receive assistance under all funding opportunities identified in this SuperNOFA.

II. HUD'S FY 2003 SUPERNOFA PROCESS

HUD's Strategic Goals

Implementing HUD's Strategic Framework and Demonstrating Results. HUD is committed to ensuring that programs result in the achievement of HUD's strategic mission. To support this effort, grant applications submitted for HUD programs will be rated on how well they tie proposed outcomes to HUD's policy priorities and Annual Goals and Objectives, and the quality of proposed Evaluation and Monitoring Plans. HUD's Strategic Framework establishes the following Goals and Objectives for the Department:

1. Increase Homeownership Opportunities
 - Expand national homeownership opportunities.
 - Increase minority homeownership.
 - Make the home buying process less complicated and less expensive.
 - Fight practices that permit predatory lending.
 - Help HUD-assisted renters become homeowners.
 - Keep existing homeowners from losing their homes.
2. Promote Decent Affordable Housing
 - Expand access to affordable rental housing.

- Improve the physical quality and management accountability of public and assisted housing.
- Increase housing opportunities for the elderly and persons with disabilities.
- Help HUD-assisted renters make progress toward self-sufficiency.

3. Strengthen Communities

- Improve economic conditions in distressed communities.
- Make communities more livable.
- End chronic homelessness.
- Mitigate housing conditions that threaten health.

4. Ensure Equal Opportunity in Housing

- Resolve discrimination complaints on a timely basis.
- Promote public awareness of Fair Housing laws.
- Improve housing accessibility for persons with disabilities.

5. Embrace High Standards of Ethics, Management, and Accountability

- Rebuild HUD's human capital and further diversify its workforce.
- Improve HUD's management, internal controls and systems, and resolve audit issues.
- Improve accountability, service delivery, and customer service of HUD and our partners.
- Ensure program compliance.

6. Promote Participation of Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations

- Reduce regulatory barriers to participation by grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations.
- Conduct outreach to inform potential partners of HUD opportunities.
- Expand technical assistance resources deployed to grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations.
- Encourage partnerships between grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations and HUD's traditional grantees.

You can find out about HUD's Strategic Framework and Annual Performance Plans at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/cfo/reports/cforept.cfm>.

Policy Priorities. HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals for FY 2004, when the majority of funding recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievements. Applicants who include work activities that specifically address one or more of these policy priorities will receive higher rating scores than applicants who do not address these HUD priorities. Each NOFA in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA will specify which priorities relate to a particular program and how many points will be awarded for addressing those priorities.

(A) Providing Increased

Homeownership and Rental Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency. Too often, these individuals and families are shut out of the housing market through no fault of their own. Often developers of housing, housing counseling agencies, and other organizations engaged in the housing industry must work aggressively to open up the realm of homeownership and rental opportunities to low- and moderate-income persons, persons with disabilities, the elderly, minorities, or families with limited English proficiency. Many of these families are anxious to have a home of their own but are not aware of the programs and assistance that is available. Applicants are encouraged to address the housing, housing counseling, and other related supportive services needs of these individuals and coordinate their proposed activities with funding available through HUD's affordable housing programs and home loan programs. Proposed activities support strategic goals 1, 2, and 4.

(B) Improving our Nation's

Communities. HUD wants to improve the quality of life for those living in distressed communities. Applicants are encouraged to include activities which:

(1) Bring private capital into distressed communities to:

- Finance business investments to grow new businesses;
- Maintain and expand existing businesses;
- Create a pool of funds for new small and minority-owned businesses;
- Create decent jobs for low-income persons.

(2) Improve the environmental health and safety of families living in public and privately-owned housing by including activities which:

- Coordinate lead hazard reduction programs with weatherization activities funded by state and local governments, and the federal government;
- Reduce or eliminate health related hazards in the home caused by toxic agents such as molds and other allergens, carbon monoxide and other hazardous agents and conditions.

(3) Make communities more livable.

- Provide public and social services.

• Improve infrastructure and community facilities.

Activities support strategic goals 2, 3, and 4.

(C) Encouraging Accessible Design Features. As described in Section V, applicants must comply with applicable civil rights laws including the Fair Housing Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act. These laws, and regulations implementing them, provide for nondiscrimination based on disability and require housing and other facilities to incorporate certain features intended to provide for their use and enjoyment by persons with disabilities. HUD is encouraging applicants to add accessible design features beyond those required under civil rights laws and regulations. These features would eliminate many other barriers limiting the access of persons with disabilities to housing and other facilities. Copies of the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS) are available from the SuperNOFA Information Center (1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 (TTY)) and also from the Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Room 5230, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20410-2000; 202-755-5404 or 1-800-877 8399 (TTY Federal Information Relay Service).

Accessible design features are intended to promote visitability and incorporate features of universal design as described below:

(1) Visitability in New Construction and Substantial Rehabilitation.

Applicants are encouraged to incorporate visitability standards where feasible in new construction and substantial rehabilitation projects. Visitability standards allow a person with mobility impairments access into the home, but do not require that all features be made accessible. Visitability means that there is at least one entrance at grade (no steps), approached by an accessible route such as a sidewalk; and that the entrance door and all interior passage doors are at least 2 feet 10 inches wide, allowing 32 inches of clear passage space. A visitable home also serves persons without disabilities, such as a mother pushing a stroller or a person delivering a large appliance. More information about visitability is available at <http://www.concretechange.org>.

Activities support strategic goals 2, 3, and 4.

(2) Universal Design. Applicants are encouraged to incorporate universal design in the construction or rehabilitation of housing, retail establishments, and community facilities funded with HUD assistance. Universal design is the design of products and environments to be usable by all people to the greatest extent possible, without the need for adaptation or specialized design. The intent of universal design is to simplify life for everyone by making products, communications, and the built environment more usable by as many people as possible at little or no extra cost. Universal design benefits people of all ages and abilities. In addition to any applicable required accessibility features under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 or the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act, the Department encourages applicants to incorporate the principles of universal design when developing housing, community facilities, and electronic communication mechanisms, or when communicating with community residents at public meetings or events. HUD believes that by creating housing that is accessible to all, it can increase the supply of affordable housing for all, regardless of ability or age. Likewise, creating places where people work, train, and interact which are useable and open to all residents increases opportunities for economic and personal self-sufficiency. More information on Universal Design is available from the Center for Universal Design, at <http://www.design.ncsu.edu:8120/cud/> or the Resource Center on Accessible Housing and Universal Design, at http://www.abledata.com/Site_2/accessib.htm.

(D) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation.

(1) HUD encourages non-profit organizations, including grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, to participate in the vast array of programs for which funding is available through this SuperNOFA. HUD also encourages states, units of local government, universities, and colleges and other organizations to partner with grassroots organizations, e.g., civic organizations, faith-communities, and grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations that have not been effectively utilized. These grassroots organizations have a strong history of providing vital community services such as assisting the homeless and preventing homelessness, counseling individuals and families on fair housing rights, providing elderly housing opportunities, developing first-time homeownership programs, increasing homeownership and rental housing opportunities in neighborhoods of choice, developing affordable and accessible housing in neighborhoods across the country, creating economic development programs, and supporting the residents of public housing facilities. HUD wants to make its programs more effective, efficient, and accessible by expanding opportunities for grassroots organizations to participate in developing solutions for their own neighborhoods. Additionally, HUD encourages applicants to include these grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations in their workplans. Applicants, their partners, and participants must review the Program Section of this SuperNOFA to determine whether they are eligible to apply for funding directly or whether they must establish a working relationship with an eligible applicant in order to participate in a HUD funding opportunity. Grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, and applicants who currently or propose to partner, fund, subgrant, or subcontract with grassroots organizations (including grassroots faith-based or other community-based non-profits eligible under applicable program regulations) in conducting their work programs will receive higher rating points as specified in the program section of this SuperNOFA.

(2) Definition of Grassroots Organizations.

(a) HUD will consider an organization a "grassroots organization" if the organization is headquartered in the local community to which it provides services; and,

(i) Has a social services budget of $300,000 or less, or

(ii) Has six or fewer full-time equivalent employees.

(b) Local affiliates of national organizations are not considered "grassroots." Local affiliates of national organizations are encouraged, however, to partner with grassroots organizations but must demonstrate that they are currently working with a grassroots organization (e.g., having a faith community or civic organization, or other charitable organization provide volunteers).

(c) The cap provided in paragraph (2)(a)(i) above includes only that portion of an organization's budget allocated to providing social services. It does not include other portions of the budget such as salaries and expenses not directly expended in the provision of social services.

Activities support strategic goal 6.

(E) Colonias. The Department of Housing and Urban Development is seeking to improve housing conditions for families living in Colonias. Colonias means any identifiable, rural community that:

- Is located in Arizona, California, New Mexico, or Texas;
- Is within 150 miles of the border between the United States and Mexico; and
- Is determined to be a colonia on the basis of objective need criteria, including lack of potable water supply, lack of adequate sewage systems, and lack of decent, safe, sanitary, and accessible housing.

Applicants proposing to create affordable housing and provide services to the Colonias will receive higher rating points.

Activities support strategic goals 1, 2, 3, and 4.

(F) Participation of Minority-Serving Institutions in HUD Programs. Pursuant to Executive Orders 13256 President's Board of Advisors on Historically Black Colleges and Universities, 13230 President's Advisory Commission on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans, 13216 Increasing Participation of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in Federal Programs, and 13270 Tribal Colleges and Universities, HUD is strongly committed to broadening the participation of Minority-Serving Institutions (MSIs) in its programs. HUD is interested in increasing the participation of MSIs in order to advance the development of human potential, strengthen the nation's capacity to provide high quality education, and increase opportunities for MSIs to participate and benefit from federal financial assistance programs. HUD encourages all applicants and recipients to include meaningful participation of MSIs in their work programs. A listing of MSIs can be found on the Department of Education Web site at <http://www.ed.gov/offices/OCR/minorityinst.html> or HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

Activities support strategic goals 3 and 4.

(G) Participation in Energy Star. The Department of Housing and Urban Development has adopted a wide-ranging energy action plan for improving energy efficiency in all program areas. As a first step in implementing the energy plan, HUD, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Department of Energy (DoE) have signed a joint partnership to promote energy efficiency in HUD's affordable housing efforts and programs. The purpose of the Energy Star partnership is to promote energy efficiency of the affordable housing stock, but also to help protect the environment. Applicants constructing, rehabilitating, or maintaining housing or community facilities are encouraged to promote energy efficiency in design and operations. They are urged especially to purchase and use Energy Star labeled products. Applicants providing housing assistance or counseling services are encouraged to promote Energy Star building by homebuyers and renters. Program activities can include developing Energy Star promotional and information materials, outreach to low- and moderate-income renters and buyers on the benefits and savings when using Energy Star products and appliances, and promoting the designation of community buildings and homes as Energy Star compliant. For further information about Energy Star see <http://www.energystar.gov> or call 1-888-STAR-YES (1-888-782-7937) or for the hearing-impaired, 1-888-588-9920 TTY.

Activities support strategic goals 1 and 2.

(H) Ending Chronic Homelessness within Ten Years. President Bush has set a national goal to end chronic homelessness within ten years. Secretary Mel Martinez has embraced this goal and has pledged that HUD's grant programs will be used to support the President's goal and more adequately meet the needs of chronically homeless individuals. A person experiencing chronic homelessness is defined as an unaccompanied individual with a disabling condition who has been continuously homeless for a year or more or has experienced four or more episodes of homelessness over the last three years. In this year's SuperNOFA, applicants are encouraged to target assistance to chronically homeless persons by undertaking activities that will result in:

- Creation of affordable group homes or rental housing units;
- Establishing a set-aside of units of affordable housing for the chronically homeless;
- Substance abuse treatment programs targeted to homeless population;
- Job training programs which will provide opportunities for economic self-sufficiency;
- Counseling programs that assist homeless persons in finding housing, financial management, anger management, and building interpersonal relationships;
- Supportive services, such as health care assistance that will permit homeless individuals to become productive members of society;

- Provision of Service Coordinators or One Stop Assistance Centers that will ensure that chronically homeless persons have access to a variety of social services.

Activities support Strategic Goals 2 and 3.

Changes in the FY 2003 SuperNOFA Process

New Rating Factor 5. For FY 2003, rating Factor 5 has been changed to "Achieving Results and Program Evaluation." This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their application and assess their performance to ensure performance goals are met.

Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual against planned achievements. Your Evaluation and Monitoring Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how it will be measured, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes. HUD has included a new form, Logic Model, to help you complete your response to Rating Factor 5. The form is included in Appendix B, with other forms applicable to most or all of the programs in this SuperNOFA.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability.

Higher Minimum Score for Fundable Applications. For FY 2003, an application for any of the programs offered by this SuperNOFA must receive at least 75 points to be funded. Please take note of this scoring threshold and be sure to read the SuperNOFA carefully to ensure that you respond to the Factors for Award. A careful reading of the NOFA can help you improve your rating score.

Use of HUD 424 Forms. HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

New form HUD 424 replaces SF 424 and HUD 424 M.

HUD 424 C and CB replace SF 424 A and C.

The HUD 424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet to replace various budget worksheets used throughout the Department. These forms are available on HUD's Web Site at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/fundsavail.cfm>.

Race and Ethnicity. OMB published revised standards for collecting racial data on October 30, 1997. All agencies were required to be in compliance with the 1997 standards by January 1, 2003. These standards allow HUD and the other Federal agencies to acknowledge the growing diversity of the U.S. population. Under this policy, HUD and its business partners must offer individuals who are responding to agency data requests for race, the option of selecting one or more of five racial categories. HUD must also treat ethnicity as a separate category from race and change terminology for certain racial and ethnic groups. These definitions have been standardized across the Federal government and are provided below.

The two ethnic categories as revised by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) are defined below:

- Hispanic or Latino. A person of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South, or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race. The term "Spanish origin," can be used in addition to "Hispanic" or "Latino."

- Not Hispanic or Latino. A person not of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

The five racial categories as revised by the Office of Management and Budget are defined as follows:

- American Indian or Alaska Native. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America), and who maintains tribal affiliation or community attachment.

- Asian. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian subcontinent including, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, and Vietnam.

- Black or African American. A person having origins in any of the black racial groups of Africa. Terms such as "Haitian" or "Negro" can be used in addition to "Black" or "African American".

- Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands.

- White. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, the Middle East, or North Africa.

Self-reporting or self-identification, rather than observer identification is the preferred method for collecting race and ethnicity data. Self-identification means that responses are based on self-perception. If you are required to provide HUD with race and ethnicity data, you must collect the data asking separate questions for race and for ethnicity. Furthermore, when collecting data the ethnicity question should precede the question about race. The Office of Management and Budget has recommended this sequence because pre-tests conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau found that placing ethnicity before race significantly reduced the non-response rate to the ethnicity question.

Thus, when collecting data from respondents it should be collected using the following two-question approach:

Ethnicity: (Select only one)

Hispanic or Latino

Not Hispanic or Latino

Race: (Select one or more):

American Indian or Alaskan Native

Asian

Black or African American

Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander

White

Once data is collected using the method above, it can be analyzed and aggregated when reporting ethnicity and race data to HUD. You should use the categories listed in the template below to report the aggregate information. If any multiple race category not included in the template exceeds one percent of the population, you should identify the category, the actual count, and its percentage of population. In addition, you should identify the total number of all racial categories reported that do not fit the list of categories below, and do not equate to one percent of the total population being reported including, the total number of all such racial and ethnic categories. Finally, you should indicate the aggregate totals of all the information you have gathered including the total of all racial categories and the total of all the ethnic categories.

For grantees that are currently collecting data, you may need to compare data collected under both standards. Guidance on bridging data periods will be available in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA and HUD's SuperNOFA Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>. A copy of this reporting form can be found in Appendix B of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Below is the standard format for reporting this information.

Racial Categories	Total Number of Racial Categories Reported	Total Number of Ethnic Category Responses (Hispanic or Latino)
American Indian or Alaska Native
Asian
Black or African American
Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander
White
American Indian or Alaska Native and White
Asian and White
Black or African American and White
American Indian or Alaska Native and Black African American
* Other multi-racial categories: [Per the form instructions, write in a description using the box on the right]
Balance of individuals reporting more than one race
Total:
*If the aggregate count of any reported multi-racial category that is not listed above exceeds 1% of the population being reported, you should separately indicate each such category here. Also indicate the total number of such other multi-racial categories reported, the population percentage, and the total number of positive ethnic category responses.

Executive Order 13166, Improving Access to Persons With Limited English Proficiency (LEP). Executive Order 13166 seeks to improve access to persons with limited English proficiency by providing materials and information in languages other than English.

Executive Order 13279 Equal Protection of the Laws for Faith-Based and Community Organizations. HUD is committed to full implementation of Executive Order 13279 and has undertaken a review of all policies and regulations that have implications for faith-based and community organizations, and has established a policy priority to provide full and equal access to grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations in HUD program implementation.

New Programs and Changes to Programs. The FY 2003 SuperNOFA includes the following funding opportunities, which were not included in FY2002:

- COPC Community Futures Awards;
- Housing Counseling—Predatory Lending;
- Housing Counseling—Section 8 Homeownership;
- Lead Outreach Grants;
- Lead Elimination Action Program;
- Community Development Work-Study;
- ROSS for Resident Services Delivery Model—Elderly;

- ROSS for Resident Services Delivery Model—Family.

Not Available for FY 2003. Funding opportunities that were part of the FY 2002 SuperNOFA but are not available in FY 2003 are:

- ROSS for Resident Management and Business Development;
- ROSS for Capacity Building;
- Rental Assistance for Non-elderly Persons with Disabilities Related to Certain Types of Section 8 Project-Based Development and Section 202, 221(d) and 236 Developments;
- Rental Assistance for Non-elderly Persons with Disabilities in Support of Designated Housing Plans.

Funding will be announced later in the year for:

- Permanent Housing and Special Efforts for Subpopulations Technical Assistance (PHASES-TA);
- Revitalization of Severely Distressed Public Housing (HOPE VI);
- Lead Hazard Reduction Demonstration Program;
- Community Development Block Grants for Indian Tribes and Alaska Native Villages (ICDBG);
- Urban Scholars Postdoctoral Fellowships;
- Research Studies on Homeownership and Affordable Lending;
- 202 Supportive Housing for the Elderly, Planning Grants.

Funding Notices Issued Prior to the SuperNOFA. Due to statutory deadlines for the obligation of funds or for other reasons, there are several programs for which notices of funding availability have been issued prior to the SuperNOFA. These include:

- Collaborative Initiative to Help End Chronic Homelessness;
- Capacity Building for Community Development and Affordable Housing, and;
- Hope VI Demolition Grants;
- Research on the Socio-Economic Change in Cities.

Information on these programs is available on the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

III. The Programs of This SUPERNOFA and the Amount of Funds Allocated

The funding opportunities that are part of this SuperNOFA are identified in the following chart. The amount of funds available is based on funds appropriated in FY 2003 and funds recaptured from prior years' appropriations. In the event that HUD recaptures program funds or other funds become available for a program, HUD reserves the right to increase the available funding by these additional amounts.

The chart also includes the application due date, the OMB approval number for the information collection requirements, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) number for each funding opportunity.

Paperwork Reduction Act Statement. The information collection requirements in this SuperNOFA have been approved by OMB under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520). The preceding chart provides the OMB approval number for each program that is part of this SuperNOFA. Where the chart notes that an OMB number is pending, this means that HUD has submitted the information to OMB to obtain an approval number and HUD's request for the number is pending. As soon as HUD receives the approval number, the number will be published in the Federal Register and provided to the SuperNOFA Information Center. Under the Paperwork Reduction Act, an agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless the collection displays a valid control number.

IV. Authority, Funding Amounts, and Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Authority. HUD's authority for making funding available under this SuperNOFA is Division K, Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, Public Law 108–7, approved February 20, 2003 (FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations). Generally, this statement of authority is not repeated in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA. The authority provision in the Program Section identifies additional statutes and regulations that authorize the requirements listed for the funding competitions that make up this SuperNOFA.

(B) Funding Available. As noted in Section III of this General Section of the SuperNOFA, the HUD programs in this SuperNOFA are allocated amounts based on appropriated funds. If HUD recaptures funds in any program, HUD reserves the right to increase the available funding by those amounts.

(C) Eligible Applicants and Eligible Activities. The Program Section of the SuperNOFA describes the eligible applicants and eligible activities for each program.

V. Requirements and Procedures Applicable to All Programs

Except as may be modified in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA, the requirements, procedures and principles listed below apply to all programs that are part of this SuperNOFA. Please read the Program Section of the SuperNOFA for additional requirements or information.

(A) Statutory and Regulatory Requirements. To be eligible for funding under this SuperNOFA, you, the applicant, must meet all statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the program or programs for which you seek funding. If you need copies of the program regulations, they are available from the SuperNOFA Information Center or through the HUD Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>. See the Program Section for instructions on how HUD will respond to proposed activities that are ineligible. With the exception of the Section 202 and Section 811 programs, HUD may also eliminate the ineligible activities from funding consideration and reduce funding amounts accordingly. Because of the competitive demand for Section 202 and Section 811 funds, applications to these two programs that include ineligible activities will be rejected and will not be rated and ranked.

(B) Threshold Requirements.

(1) Ineligible Applicants. HUD will not consider an application from an ineligible applicant.

(2) Compliance with Fair Housing and Civil Rights Laws.

(a) With the exception of federally recognized Indian tribes and their instrumentalities, all applicants and their subrecipients must comply with all Fair Housing and Civil Rights laws, statutes, regulations, and Executive Orders as enumerated in 24 CFR 5.105(a), as applicable. If you are a federally recognized Indian tribe, you must comply with the non-discrimination provisions enumerated at 24 CFR 1000.12, as applicable. In addition to these requirements, there may be program-specific threshold requirements identified in the Program Sections of the SuperNOFA.

(b) If you, the applicant:

(i) Have been charged with a systemic violation of the Fair Housing Act alleging ongoing discrimination;

(ii) Are a defendant in a Fair Housing Act lawsuit filed by the Department of Justice alleging an on-going pattern or practice of discrimination; or

(iii) Have received a letter of non-compliance findings, identifying on-going or systemic noncompliance, under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, or Section 109 of the Housing and Community Development Act; and if the charge, lawsuit, or letter of findings has not been resolved to HUD's satisfaction before the application deadline stated in the individual program NOFA, you may not apply for assistance under this SuperNOFA. HUD will not rate and rank your application. HUD's decision regarding whether a charge, lawsuit, or a letter of findings has been satisfactorily resolved will be based upon whether appropriate actions have been taken to address allegations of ongoing discrimination in the policies or practices involved in the charge, lawsuit, or letter of findings.

Examples of actions that may be taken prior to the application deadline to resolve the charge, lawsuit, or letter of findings, include but are not limited to a:

(i) Voluntary compliance agreement signed by all parties in response to the letter of findings;

(ii) HUD-approved conciliation agreement signed by all parties;

(iii) Consent order or consent decree;

or

(iv) Judicial ruling or a HUD Administrative Law Judge's decision that exonerates the respondent of any allegations of discrimination.

(3) Conducting Business In Accordance with Core Values and Ethical Standards. Entities subject to 24 CFR parts 84 and 85 (most non-profit organizations and state, local and tribal governments or government agencies or instrumentalities who receive federal awards of financial assistance) are required to develop and maintain a written code of conduct (see §§ 84.42 and 85.36(b)(3)). Consistent with regulations governing specific programs, your code of conduct must: prohibit real and apparent conflicts of interest that may arise among officers, employees, or agents; prohibit the solicitation and acceptance of gifts or gratuities by your officers, employees, and agents for their personal benefit in excess of minimal value; and, outline administrative and disciplinary actions available to remedy violations of such standards. If awarded assistance under this SuperNOFA, you will be required, prior to entering into an agreement with HUD, to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees, and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct. Failure to meet the requirement for a code of conduct will prohibit you from receiving an award of funds from HUD.

(4) Delinquent Federal Debts.

Consistent with the purpose and intent of 31 U.S.C. 3720B and 28 U.S.C. 3201(e), no award of federal funds shall be made to an applicant who has an outstanding delinquent federal debt until: (a) The delinquent account is paid in full; (b) a negotiated repayment schedule is established and at least one payment is received; or (c) other arrangements satisfactory to the Department of Housing and Urban Development are made prior to the deadline submission date.

(5) Pre-Award Accounting System Surveys. HUD may arrange for a pre-award survey of the applicant's financial management system in cases where the recommended applicant has no prior federal support, the program area has reason to question whether the applicant's financial management system meets federal financial management standards, or the applicant is considered a high risk based upon past performance or financial management findings. HUD will not make an award to any applicant who does not have a financial management system that meets federal standards.

(6) Other Threshold Requirements. The Program Section for the funding for which you are applying may specify other threshold requirements. Additional threshold requirements may be identified in the discussion of "eligibility" requirements in the Program Section.

(C) Additional Non-discrimination Requirements. You, the applicant, and your subrecipients must comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 1201 et seq.) and Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 (20 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.)

(D) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. Under Section 808(e)(5) of the Fair Housing Act, HUD is obliged to affirmatively further fair housing. HUD requires the same of its funding recipients. If you are a successful applicant, you will have a duty to affirmatively further fair housing opportunities for classes protected under the Fair Housing Act. Protected classes are race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability, and familial status. Unless otherwise instructed in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA, your application must include specific steps to:

(1) Overcome the effects of impediments to fair housing choice that were identified in the jurisdiction's Analysis of Impediments (AI) to Fair Housing Choice;

(2) Remedy discrimination in housing; and/or

(3) Promote fair housing rights and fair housing choice.

Further, you, the applicant, have a duty to carry out the specific activities provided in your responses to the SuperNOFA rating factors that address affirmatively furthering fair housing. Please see the Program Section of this SuperNOFA for additional information.

The requirements to affirmatively further fair housing apply to:

- Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities (AN/NHIAC);
- Assisted Living Conversion Program (ALCP) for Eligible Multifamily Housing Projects;

- Brownfields Economic Development Initiative (BEDI);
- Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC);
- Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Programs (SHP, Shelter Plus Care, Section 8 Moderate Rehab);
- Fair Housing Initiatives Program (FHIP);
- Funding Availability for Rental Certificate/Housing Choice Voucher Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Program;
- Healthy Homes Demonstration Program;
- Healthy Homes Initiative and Lead Technical Studies;
- Hispanic-Serving Institutions Assisting Communities (HSIAC);
- Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Program;
- Housing Counseling;
- Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA);
- Lead Hazard Control Program;
- Mainstream Housing Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities;
- Public Housing Resident Opportunities and Self-Sufficiency (ROSS) Program;
- Rental Assistance for Non-Elderly Persons with Disabilities in Support of Designated Housing Plans;
- Rental Assistance for Non-Elderly Persons with Disabilities Related to Certain Developments;
- Resident Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency (ROSS) for Homeownership Supportive Services;
- Rural Housing and Economic Development (RHED);
- Section 202 Supportive Housing for Elderly Persons;
- Section 811 Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities;
- Self-Help Homeownership Opportunity Program (SHOP);
- Service Coordinators in Multifamily Housing; and
- Youthbuild Program.

(E) Economic Opportunities for Low- and Very Low-Income Persons (Section 3). Certain programs in this SuperNOFA require recipients of assistance to comply with Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Section 3), 12 U.S.C. 1701u (Economic Opportunities for Low- and Very Low-Income Persons in Connection with Assisted Projects) and the HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 135, including the reporting requirements at subpart E. Section 3 requires recipients to ensure that, to the greatest extent feasible, training, employment, and other economic opportunities will be directed to low- and very-low income persons, particularly those who are recipients of government assistance for housing, and business concerns which provide economic opportunities to low- and very low-income persons. As noted in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA, Section 3 is applicable to the following programs:

- Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities (AN/NHIAC);
- Assisted Living Conversion Program (ALCP);
- Brownfields Economic Development Initiative (BEDI);
- Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Programs;
- Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies;
- Healthy Homes Demonstration Program;
- Hispanic-Serving Institutions Assisting Communities (HSIAC);
- Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Program;
- Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA);
- Lead Hazard Control;
- Lead Elimination Action Program (LEAP);
- Resident Opportunities and Self-Sufficiency Program (ROSS);
- Rural Housing and Economic Development (RHED);
- Section 202 Supportive Housing for the Elderly Program;
- Section 811 Supportive Housing for Persons with Disabilities Program;
- Self-Help Homeownership Opportunity Program (SHOP); and
- Youthbuild Program.

(F) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. HUD is committed to ensuring that small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses, and women-owned businesses participate fully in HUD's direct contracting and in contracting opportunities generated by HUD financial assistance. Too often, these businesses still experience difficulty accessing information and successfully bidding on federal contracts. State, local, and tribal governments are required by 24 CFR 85.36(e) and non-profit recipients of assistance (grantees and sub-grantees) by 24 CFR 84.44(b), to take all necessary affirmative steps in contracting for purchase of goods or services to assure that minority firms, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible, or as specified in the Program Section.

(G) Relocation. The relocation requirements of the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, as amended, and the implementing government-wide regulation at 49 CFR part 24 cover any person who moves permanently from real property or moves personal property from real property directly because of acquisition, rehabilitation, or demolition for an activity undertaken with HUD assistance. Some HUD program regulations also cover persons who are temporarily relocated. See, e.g., 24 CFR 570.606(b)(2)(i)(D)(1)–(3), providing guidance on temporary relocation for CDBG. Applicants should review the regulations for the programs for which they are applying when planning their project.

(H) Forms, Certifications, and Assurances. You, the applicant, are required to submit signed copies of the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in this section, unless the requirements in the Program Section specify otherwise. In addition, the Program Section may specify additional forms, certifications, assurances, or other information that may be required for a particular program in this SuperNOFA. As part of HUD's continuing efforts to improve the SuperNOFA process, several of the required standard forms have been simplified this year. The HUD standard forms, certifications, and assurances are:

- Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (SF–LLL);
- Application for Federal Assistance (HUD–424);
- Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs (HUD–424C);
- Applicant Assurances and Certifications (HUD–424B);
- Grant Application Detailed Budget (HUD–424–CB);
- Grant Application Detailed Budget Worksheet (HUD–424–CBW);
- Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report (HUD–2880);
- Certification of Consistency with RC/EZ/EC Strategic Plan (HUD–2990) if applicable;
- Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan (HUD–2991) if applicable;
- Acknowledgment of Application Receipt (HUD–2993);
- Client Comments and Suggestions (HUD 2994) (Optional);
- Survey on Ensuring Equal Opportunity for Applicants (HUD–23004);
- Race and Ethnic Data Reporting Form (HUD–27061);
- Program Outcome Logic Model (HUD–96010–I).

Copies of these standard forms and the Funding Application for the Housing Choice Voucher Program (HUD 52515) follow this General Section of the SuperNOFA. Copies of forms that are particular to an individual program follow the funding information for that program.

(I) Name Check Review. Applicants are subject to a name check review process. Name checks are intended to reveal matters that significantly reflect on the applicant's management and financial integrity, or if any key individuals have been convicted or are presently facing criminal charges. If the name check reveals significant adverse findings that reflect on the business integrity or responsibility of the recipient and/or key individual, HUD reserves the right to: (a) Deny funding or consider suspension/termination of an award immediately for cause; (b) require the removal of any key individual from association with management of and/or implementation of the award; and (c) make appropriate provisions or revisions with respect to the method of payment and/or financial reporting requirements.

(J) False Statements. A false statement in an application is grounds for denial or termination of an award and grounds for possible punishment as provided in 18 U.S.C. 1001.

(K) OMB Circulars and Government-wide Regulations Applicable to Financial Assistance Programs. Certain OMB circulars also apply to programs in this SuperNOFA. The policies, guidance, and requirements of OMB Circular A–87 (Cost Principles Applicable to Grants, Contracts and Other Agreements with State and Local Governments), OMB Circular A–21 (Cost Principles for Education Institutions), OMB A–122 (Cost Principles for Nonprofit Organizations), OMB Circular A–133 (Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations), and the regulations in 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and other Non-Profit Organizations), and 24 CFR part 85 (Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State, Local, and Federally recognized Indian tribal governments), may apply to the award, acceptance, and use of assistance under the programs of this SuperNOFA, and to the remedies for non-compliance, except when inconsistent with the provisions of the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations, other federal statutes or regulations, or the provisions of this SuperNOFA. Compliance with additional OMB Circulars or government-wide regulations may be specified for a particular program in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA. Copies of the OMB Circulars may be obtained from EOP Publications, Room 2200, New Executive Office Building, Washington, DC 20503, telephone (202) 395–3080 (this is not a toll-free number) or 1–800–877 8399 (TTY Federal Information Relay Service); or, from the Web site, <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html>.

(L) Environmental Requirements. If you become a recipient under one of the programs in this SuperNOFA that assist physical development activities or property acquisition, you are generally prohibited from acquiring, rehabilitating, converting, demolishing, leasing, repairing or constructing property, or committing or expending HUD or non-HUD funds for these types of program activities, until one of the following has occurred:

- (1) HUD has completed an environmental review in accordance with 24 CFR part 50; or
- (2) For programs subject to 24 CFR part 58, HUD has approved a recipient's Request for Release of Funds (Form HUD 7015.15) following a Responsible Entity's completion of an environmental review.

You, the applicant, should consult the Program Section of the SuperNOFA for the applicable program to determine the procedures for, timing of, and any exclusions from environmental review under a particular program. For applicants applying for funding under the Sections 202 or 811 Programs, please note the environmental review requirements for these programs.

(M) Conflicts of Interest. If you are a consultant or expert who is assisting HUD in rating and ranking applicants for funding under this SuperNOFA, you are subject to 18 U.S.C. 208, the federal criminal conflict of interest statute, and the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch regulation published at 5 CFR part 2635. As a result, if you have assisted or plan to assist applicants with preparing applications for this SuperNOFA, you may not serve on a selection panel and you may not serve as a technical advisor to HUD for this SuperNOFA. All individuals involved in rating and ranking this SuperNOFA, including experts and consultants, must avoid conflicts of interest or the appearance of conflicts. Individuals involved in the rating and ranking of applications must disclose to HUD's General Counsel or HUD's Ethics Law Division the following information, if applicable: how the selection or non-selection of any applicant under this SuperNOFA will affect the individual's financial interests, as provided in 18 U.S.C. 208; or, how the application process involves a party with whom the individual has a covered relationship under 5 CFR 2635.502. The individual must disclose this information prior to participating in any matter regarding this SuperNOFA. If you have questions regarding these provisions or if you have questions concerning a conflict of interest, you may call the Office of General Counsel, Ethics Law Division, at (202) 708-3815.

(N) Prohibition Against Lobbying Activities. You, the applicant, are subject to the provisions of Section 319 of the Department of Interior and Related Agencies Appropriation Act for Fiscal Year 1991, 31 U.S.C. 1352 (the Byrd Amendment), which prohibits recipients of federal contracts, grants, or loans from using appropriated funds for lobbying the executive or legislative branches of the federal government in connection with a specific contract, grant, or loan. When you sign Form HUD-424, Application for Federal Assistance, you certify, to the best of your knowledge and belief, that no federal appropriated funds have been paid, or will be paid, by or on behalf of the applicant, to any person for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of an agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an employee of a Member of Congress, in connection with the awarding of this federal grant or its extension, renewal, amendment, or modification. In addition, you must disclose, using Standard Form LLL "Disclosure of Lobbying Activities," any funds, other than federally appropriated funds, that will be or have been used to influence federal employees, Members of Congress, and congressional staff regarding specific grants or contracts. Federally recognized Indian tribes and tribally designated housing entities (TDHEs) established by federally recognized Indian tribes as a result of the exercise of the tribe's sovereign power are excluded from coverage of the Byrd Amendment, but state-recognized Indian tribes and TDHEs established under state law must comply with this requirement.

(O) Accessible Technology. The Rehabilitation Act Amendments of 1998 (the Act) apply to all electronic information technology (EIT) used by a recipient for transmitting, receiving, using, or storing information to carry out the responsibilities of any federal funds awarded. The Act's coverage includes, but is not limited to, computers (hardware, software, word-processing, email, and web pages), facsimile machines, copiers, and telephones. When developing, procuring, maintaining, or using EIT, funding recipients must ensure that the EIT allows employees with disabilities and members of the public with disabilities to have access to and use of information and data that is comparable to the access and use of information and data by employees and members of the public who do not have disabilities. If these standards impose a hardship on a funding recipient, a recipient may provide an alternative means to allow the individual to use the information and data. However, no recipient will be required to provide information services to a person with disabilities at any location other than the location at which the information services is generally provided.

(P) Procurement of Recovered Materials. State agencies and agencies of a political subdivision of a state that are using assistance under this SuperNOFA for procurement, and any person contracting with such an agency with respect to work performed under an assisted contract, must comply with the requirements of Section 6002 of the Solid Waste Disposal Act, as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. In accordance with Section 6002, these agencies and persons must procure items designated in guidelines of the Environmental Protection Agency at 40 CFR part 247 that contain the highest percentage of recovered materials practicable, consistent with maintaining a satisfactory level of competition, where the purchase price of the item exceeds $10,000 or the quantity acquired in the preceding fiscal year exceeded $10,000; must procure solid waste management services in a manner that maximizes energy and resource recovery; and must have established an affirmative procurement program for procurement of recovered materials identified in the EPA guidelines.

(Q) Participation in HUD-Sponsored Program Evaluation. As a condition of the receipt of financial assistance under this SuperNOFA all successful applicants will be required to cooperate with all HUD staff or contractors performing HUD-funded research and evaluation studies.

(R) Executive Order 13202, Preservation of Open Competition and Government Neutrality Towards Government Contractors' Labor Relations on Federal and Federally Funded Construction Projects. Consistent with Executive Order 13202, "Preservation of Open Competition and Government Neutrality Towards Government Contractors' Labor Relations on Federal and Federally Funded Construction Projects," as amended, it is a condition of receipt of assistance under this SuperNOFA that neither you nor any subrecipient or program beneficiary receiving funds under an award granted under this SuperNOFA, nor any construction manager acting on behalf of you or any such subrecipient or program beneficiary, may require bidders, offerors, contractors, or subcontractors to enter into or adhere to any agreement with any labor organization on any construction project funded in whole or in part by such award or on any related federally funded construction project; or prohibit bidders, offerors, contractors, or subcontractors from entering into or adhering to any such agreement on any such construction project; or otherwise discriminate against bidders, offerors, contractors, or subcontractors on any such construction project because they become or refuse to become or remain signatories or otherwise to adhere to any such agreements. Contractors and subcontractors are not prohibited from voluntarily entering into such agreements. A recipient or its construction manager may apply to HUD under Section 5(c) of the Executive Order for an exemption from these requirements for a project where a construction contract on the project had been awarded as of February 17, 2001, and was subject to requirements that are prohibited under the Executive Order.

(S) Executive Order 13166, Improving Access to Persons With Limited English Proficiency (LEP). Consistent with Executive Order 13166, "Improving Access to Persons With Limited English Proficiency (LEP)" issued on August 11, 2000, all HUD recipients should take reasonable steps to provide certain materials and information available in languages other than English. The determination as to what materials, languages, and modes of translation/interpretation services should be used shall be based upon: (a) The specific needs and capabilities of the LEP populations among the award recipient's program beneficiaries and potential beneficiaries of assistance (e.g. tenants, community residents, counselees, trainees, etc.); (b) the recipient's primary and major program purposes; (c) resources of the recipient and size of the program; and (d) local housing, demographic, and community conditions and needs. Further guidance may be found at <http://www.lep.gov>.

(T) Executive Order 13279 Equal Protection of the Laws for Faith-Based and Community Organizations. HUD is committed to full implementation of 13279 and has undertaken a review of all policies and regulations that have implications for faith-based and community organizations, and has established a policy priority to provide full and equal access to grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations in HUD program implementation. As part of HUD's efforts to support the Administration's Initiative, HUD has included Form HUD-23004, Survey on Ensuring Equal Opportunity for Applicants, with the standard forms in Appendix B of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. HUD asks that applicants complete this form to help HUD assess the extent of participation by grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations.

(U) Salary Limitation for Consultants. FY 2003 funds may not be used to pay or to provide reimbursement for payment of the salary of a consultant at more than the daily equivalent of the rate paid for level IV of the Executive Schedule, unless specifically authorized by law.

VI. Application Selection Process

(A) Threshold Compliance. Only applications that meet all of the threshold requirements will be eligible to be rated and ranked.

(B) Rating Panels. To review and rate applications, HUD may establish panels which may include persons not currently employed by HUD. HUD may include these non-HUD employees to obtain certain expertise and outside points of view, including views from other federal agencies.

Rating. HUD will evaluate and rate all applications for funding that meet the threshold requirements.

- Past Performance. In evaluating applications for funding HUD will take into account applicants' past performance in managing funds, including the ability to account for funds appropriately; timely use of funds received either from HUD or other federal, state, or local programs; meeting performance targets for completion of activities and receipt of promised matching or leveraged funds; and, number of persons to be served or targeted for assistance. HUD may consider information available from HUD's records or available from public sources such as, but not limited to, newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, and/or hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit.

- Deducting Points for Poor Performance. In evaluating past performance, HUD may elect to deduct points from the rating score or establish threshold levels as specified under the Factors for Award in the Program Section of this SuperNOFA.

Ranking. HUD will rank applicants within each program or, for Continuum of Care applicants, across the three programs identified in the Continuum of Care section of this SuperNOFA. HUD will rank applicants only against those applying for the same program funding.

Where there are set-asides within a program competition, you, the applicant, will compete against only those applicants in the same set-aside competition.

(C) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. For each program that is part of this SuperNOFA, the points awarded for the rating factors total 100. Depending upon the program for which you, the applicant, are seeking funding, the funding opportunity may provide for up to four bonus points as provided in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this Section VI(C).

(1) RC/EZ/EC. The SuperNOFA provides for the award of two bonus points for eligible activities/projects that the applicant proposes to be located in federally designated Empowerment Zones (EZs), Enterprise Communities (ECs), Urban Enhanced Enterprise Communities (EECs), Strategic Planning Communities, or Renewal Communities (RCs), that serve the residents of these areas, and are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan. (For ease of reference in the SuperNOFA, all these federally designated areas are collectively referred to as "RC/EZ/ECs" and residents of any of these federally designated areas as "RC/EZ/EC residents.") The individual funding announcement will indicate if the bonus points are available for that funding. The SuperNOFA contains a certification that must be completed for the applicant to be considered for RC/EZ/EC bonus points. A list of RCs, EZs, ECs, EECs, and Strategic Planning Communities is attached to this General Section of the SuperNOFA as Appendix A-2 and is also available from the SuperNOFA Information Center, and the HUD Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

(2) Brownfields Show Case Communities: In the BEDI competition, two bonus points are available for federally designated Brownfields Show Case Communities. (Please see BEDI section of this SuperNOFA for additional information.) A list of the federally designated RCs, EZs, ECs, Enhanced ECs, and Brownfields Show Case Communities is available from the SuperNOFA Information Center or through the HUD Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>.

(D) The Five Standard Rating Factors for FY 2003. The majority of programs in this SuperNOFA use the five rating factors described below. Additional details about the five rating factors and the maximum points for each factor are provided in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA. You, the applicant, should carefully read the factors for award as described in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA. HUD has established these five factors as the basic factors for award in every program that is part of this SuperNOFA. For a specific funding opportunity, however, HUD may modify these factors to take into account specific program needs or statutory or regulatory limitations imposed on a program. The standard factors for award, except as modified in the program area section, are:

Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff

Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem

Factor 3: Soundness of Approach

Factor 4: Leveraging Resources

Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation

The Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance Program has only two factors that receive points: Need and Continuum of Care.

(E) Negotiation. After HUD has rated and ranked all applications and made selections, HUD may require, depending upon the program, that all selected applicants participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of the funding agreement and budget. In cases where HUD cannot successfully conclude negotiations with a selected applicant or a selected applicant fails to provide HUD with requested information, an award will not be made to that applicant. In this instance, HUD may offer an award, and proceed with negotiations with the next highest-ranking applicant.

(F) Adjustments to Funding.

(1) HUD reserves the right to fund less than the full amount requested in your application to ensure the fair distribution of funds and ensure that the purposes or requirements of a specific program are met.

(2) HUD will not fund any portion of your application that: is not eligible for funding under specific program statutory or regulatory requirements; does not meet the requirements of this SuperNOFA; or may be duplicative of other funded programs or activities from prior year awards or other selected applicants. Only the eligible portions of your application (including non-duplicative portions) may be funded.

(3) If funds remain after funding the highest-ranking applications, HUD may fund all or part of the next highest-ranking application in a given program. If you, the applicant, turn down an award offer, HUD will make an offer of funding to the next highest-ranking application. If funds remain after all selections have been made, remaining funds may be available for other competitions for each program where there is a balance of funds.

(4) In the event HUD commits an error that, when corrected, would result in selection of an otherwise eligible applicant during the funding round of this SuperNOFA, HUD may select that applicant when sufficient funds become available.

(G) Performance and Compliance Actions of Funding Recipients. HUD will measure and address the performance and compliance actions of funding recipients in accordance with the applicable standards and sanctions of their respective programs.

VII. Application Submission Requirements

Be sure to read and follow the application submission requirements published in the Program Section for which you are applying. As noted above, once you have submitted one signed, original set of forms, certifications and assurances, you may send copies of these standard items with each additional application you submit.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

After the application due date, HUD may not, consistent with its regulations in 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, consider any unsolicited information you, the applicant, may want to provide. HUD may contact you to clarify an item in your application or to correct technical deficiencies. HUD may not seek clarification of items or responses that improve the substantive quality of your response to any rating factors. In order not to unreasonably exclude applications from being rated and ranked, HUD may contact applicants to ensure proper completion of the application and will do so on a uniform basis for all applicants. Examples of curable (correctable) technical deficiencies include failure to submit the proper certifications or failure to submit an application that contains an original signature by an authorized official or failure to submit the requested number of copies. In each case, HUD will notify you in writing by describing the clarification or technical deficiency. HUD will notify applicants by facsimile or by USPS, return receipt requested. Clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information provided by HUD must be submitted within 14 calendar days of the date of receipt of the HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or federal holiday, your correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or federal holiday.) If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete and it will not be considered for funding. (Sections 202 and 811 Programs provide for appeal of rejection of an application on technical deficiency. Please see the Program Section for these programs for additional information and instructions.)

IX. Findings and Certifications

Environmental Impact. A Finding of No Significant Impact with respect to the environment has been made in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 50 that implement Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332). The Finding of No Significant Impact is available for public inspection between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. in the Office of the General Counsel, Regulations Division, Room 10276, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410-0500.

X. Executive Orders and Congressional Intent

(A) Executive Order 13132, Federalism. Executive Order 13132 prohibits, to the extent practicable and permitted by law, an agency from promulgating policies that have federalism implications and either impose substantial direct compliance costs on state and local governments and are not required by statute, or preempt state law, unless the relevant requirements of Section 6 of the Executive Order are met. This SuperNOFA does not have federalism implications and does not impose substantial direct compliance costs on state and local governments or preempt state law within the meaning of the Executive Order.

(B) Executive Order 12372, Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs. Executive Order 12372 was issued to foster intergovernmental partnership and strengthen federalism by relying on state and local processes for the coordination and review of federal financial assistance and direct federal development. HUD implementing regulations are published in 24 CFR part 52. The Order allows each state to designate an entity to perform a state review function. The official listing of State Points of Contact (SPOC) for this review process can be found at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/grants/spoc.html>. States not listed on the website have chosen not to participate in the intergovernmental review process and, therefore, do not have a SPOC. If your state has a SPOC, you should contact them to see if they are interested in reviewing your application prior to submission to HUD. Please make sure that you allow ample time for this review process when developing and submitting your applications. If your state does not have a SPOC, you may send applications directly to HUD.

(C) Sense of Congress. It is the sense of Congress, as published in section 409(a) of the Conference Report of HJR 2, that, to the greatest extent practicable, all equipment and products purchased with funds made available in this Act should be American-made.

XI. Public Access, Documentation and Disclosure

(A) Section 102 of the HUD Reform Act, Documentation and Public Access Requirements. Section 102 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3545) (HUD Reform Act) and the regulations codified in 24 CFR part 4, subpart A, contain a number of provisions that are designed to ensure greater accountability and integrity in the provision of certain types of assistance administered by HUD. On January 14, 1992, HUD published a notice that also provides information on the implementation of Section 102 (57 FR 1942). The documentation, public access, and disclosure requirements of Section 102 apply to assistance awarded under this SuperNOFA as follows:

(1) Documentation, public access, and disclosure requirements. HUD will ensure that documentation and other information regarding each application submitted pursuant to this SuperNOFA are sufficient to indicate the basis upon which assistance was provided or denied. This material, including any letters of support, will be made available for public inspection for a five-year period beginning not less than 30 days after the award of the assistance. Material will be made available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and HUD's implementing regulations (24 CFR part 15).

(2) HUD Form 2880. HUD will also make available to the public for five years all applicant disclosure reports (HUD Form 2880) submitted in connection with this SuperNOFA. Update reports (also reported on HUD Form 2880) will be made available along with the applicant disclosure reports, but in no case for a period of less than three years. All reports, both applicant disclosures and updates, will be made available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and HUD's implementing regulations (24 CFR part 5).

(3) Publication of Recipients of HUD Funding. HUD's regulations at 24 CFR part 4 provide that HUD will publish a notice in the Federal Register to notify the public of all decisions made by the Department to provide:

(i) Assistance subject to Section 102(a) of the HUD Reform Act; and/or

(ii) Assistance provided through grants or cooperative agreements on a discretionary (non-formula, non-demand) basis, but that is not provided on the basis of a competition.

(4) Debriefing. Beginning 30 days after the awards for assistance are publicly announced and for at least 120 days after awards for assistance are publicly announced, HUD will provide a debriefing to any applicant requesting one on their application. All debriefing requests must be made in writing or by email by the authorized official whose signature appears on the SF-424 or his or her successor in office, and submitted to the person or organization identified as the Contact under the section entitled "Further Information and Technical Assistance" in the Program Section of the SuperNOFA under which you applied for assistance. Information provided during a debriefing will include, at a minimum, the final score you received for each rating factor, final evaluator comments for each rating factor, and the final assessment indicating the basis upon which assistance was provided or denied.

(B) Section 103 of the HUD Reform Act. HUD's regulations implementing Section 103 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3537a), codified in 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, section 4.26(2)(c) et. seq. and 4.28 apply to this funding competition. The regulations continue to apply until the announcement of the selection of successful applicants. HUD employees involved in the review of applications and in the making of funding decisions are limited by the regulations from providing advance information to any person (other than an authorized employee of HUD) concerning funding decisions or from otherwise giving any applicant an unfair competitive advantage. Persons who apply for assistance in this competition should confine their inquiries to the subject areas permitted under 24 CFR part 4.

Applicants or employees who have ethics related questions should contact the HUD Ethics Law Division at 202-708-3815. (This is not a toll-free number.) HUD employees who have specific program questions should contact the appropriate field office counsel or Headquarters counsel for the program to which the question pertains.

XII. The FY 2003 SUPERNOFA Process and Future HUD Funding Processes

was revised based upon comments received during the FY 2002 funding process. HUD continues to welcome comments and feedback from applicants and other members of the public on how HUD may further improve its competitive funding process. In FY 2004, as part of Public Law 106-107 streamlining efforts and the interagency eGrants Initiative, HUD anticipates making considerable changes to the format and presentation of its funding notices. We are continually striving to ensure effective communication with our program funding recipients and potential funding recipients. HUD has been posting pertinent documents related to these efforts on its website. HUD encourages you to visit our website on an ongoing basis to keep abreast of the latest developments. Our website address for information on the eGrants Initiative is <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/egrants/egrants.cfm>. Information on Grant streamlining activities can be found on <http://www.hud.gov/offices/adm/grants/pl-106107/pl106-107.cfm>.

The description of programs for which funding is available under this SuperNOFA follows this General Section and its appendices.

Dated: April 15, 2003.

Mel Martinez,
Secretary.

Appendix B

This appendix to the General Section of the SuperNOFA contains the standard forms, certifications, and assurances used by the majority if not all the programs that are part of the SuperNOFA.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETION OF SF-LLL, DISCLOSURE OF LOBBYING ACTIVITIES

This disclosure form shall be completed by the reporting entity, whether subawardee or prime Federal recipient, at the initiation or receipt of a covered Federal action, or a material change to a previous filing, pursuant to title 31 U.S.C. section 1352. The filing of a form is required for each payment or agreement to make payment to any lobbying entity for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of any agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an employee of a Member of Congress in connection with a covered Federal action. Complete all items that apply for both the initial filing and material change report. Refer to the implementing guidance published by the Office of Management and Budget for additional information.

1. Identify the type of covered Federal action for which lobbying activity is and/or has been secured to influence the outcome of a covered Federal action.
2. Identify the status of the covered Federal action.
3. Identify the appropriate classification of this report. If this is a followup report caused by a material change to the information previously reported, enter the year and quarter in which the change occurred. Enter the date of the last previously submitted report by this reporting entity for this covered Federal action.
4. Enter the full name, address, city, State and zip code of the reporting entity. Include Congressional District, if known. Check the appropriate classification of the reporting entity that designates if it is, or expects to be, a prime or subaward recipient. Identify the tier of the subawardee, e.g., the first subawardee of the prime is the 1st tier. Subawards include but are not limited to subcontracts, subgrants and contract awards under grants.
5. If the organization filing the report in item 4 checks "Subawardee," then enter the full name, address, city, State and zip code of the prime Federal recipient. Include Congressional District, if known.
6. Enter the name of the Federal agency making the award or loan commitment. Include at least one organizational level below agency name, if known. For example, Department of Transportation, United States Coast Guard.
7. Enter the Federal program name or description for the covered Federal action (item 1). If known, enter the full Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) number for grants, cooperative agreements, loans, and loan commitments.
8. Enter the most appropriate Federal identifying number available for the Federal action identified in item 1 (e.g., Request for Proposal (RFP) number; Invitation for Bid (IFB) number; grant announcement number; the contract, grant, or loan award number; the application/proposal control number assigned by the Federal agency). Include prefixes, e.g., "RFP-DE-90-001."
9. For a covered Federal action where there has been an award or loan commitment by the Federal agency, enter the Federal amount of the award/loan commitment for the prime entity identified in item 4 or 5.
10. (a) Enter the full name, address, city, State and zip code of the lobbying registrant under the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995 engaged by the reporting entity identified in item 4 to influence the covered Federal action.

(b) Enter the full names of the individual(s) performing services, and include full address if different from 10 (a). Enter Last Name, First Name, and Middle Initial (MI).
11. The certifying official shall sign and date the form, print his/her name, title, and telephone number.

According to the Paperwork Reduction Act, as amended, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB Control Number. The valid OMB control number for this information collection is OMB No. 0348-0046. Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 10 minutes per response, including time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. Send comments regarding the burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (0348-0046), Washington, DC 20503.

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 3 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form, unless it displays a currently valid OMB Control Number.

General Instructions

This form consolidates OMB's Standard Form 424-A (Budget Summary - Non-Construction Programs) and Standard Form 424-C (Budget Summary Construction Programs) into a single Summary Budget for use with HUD competitive program applications.

This form is designed so that an application can be made for any of HUD's grant programs. In preparing the budget, adhere to any existing HUD requirements which prescribe how and whether budgeted amounts should be separately shown for different functions or activities within the program. For some programs, HUD may require budgets be separately shown by function or activity.

Your budget information should show the entire cost of your proposed program of activities. If you are not doing construction as part of your program, you do not have to complete that information.

NOTE: Not all budget categories on this form are eligible for funding under all programs. Please see eligible activities under the specific program for which you are seeking funding.

Section A. Budget Categories

For each budget category (personnel, fringe benefits, travel, etc.) you should complete the amount of funding you plan on using in your grant program. You should complete each column as follows:

- Column 1 - Identify the amount of funds that you will need from the HUD grant program for which you are seeking funding.
- Column 2 - Identify any matching funds that you are required to include in your proposed program in order to be eligible for assistance.
- Column 3 - Identify any other HUD funds that you will be adding to this program either through your formula or competitive grant programs.
- Column 4 - Identify any other Federal funds that you will be adding to this program either through your formula or competitive grant programs.
- Column 5 - Identify any State funds that you will be adding to this program.
- Column 6 - Identify any Local or Tribal Government funds that you will be adding to this program.
- Column 7 - Identify any additional funds not previously identified in Columns 1 - 6, that you intend to use for your proposed program.
- Column 8 - Identify any program income that you expect to generate under this program.
- Column 9 - Add columns 1 - 6 across and place the total in Column 9.

Instructions for the HUD Grant Application Detailed Budget Form

Public reporting Burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 3 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form, unless it displays a currently valid OMB Control Number.

General Instructions

This form is designed so that an application can be made for any of HUD's grant programs. Space is provided for 3 separate program years.

In preparing the budget, adhere to any existing HUD requirements which prescribe how and whether budgeted amounts should be separately shown for different functions or activities within the program. For some programs, HUD may require budgets to be shown separately by function or activity.

Your budget information should show the entire cost of your proposed program of activities per year. If you are not using funds in any of the line item categories, you should leave the item blank. Pages may be duplicated to show budget data for individual programs, projects or activities.

NOTE: Not all budget categories on this form are eligible for funding under all programs. Please see eligible activities under the specific program for which you are seeking funding.

Budget Categories

The budget categories identifies how your program funds will be allocated by type of use, e.g., funds going for salaries, travel, contracts, etc. Each of these line items should be broken out under each applicable column.

Instructions for Completing the Grant Application Detailed Budget Worksheet

Item	Discussion
	This form is to be used to provide detailed budget information regarding your proposed program. If your program requires you to provide program activity information you should use a separate HUD-424-CBW to provide information related to each program activity. The detailed information provided on this form should be summarized on either the HUD-424-C or HUD-424-CB forms depending on whether you are requesting funding for a one year period or a multi year period of performance.
1 - Personnel (Direct Labor)	This section should show the labor costs for all individuals supporting the grant program effort (regardless of the source of their salaries). The hours and costs are for the full life of the grant. If an individual is employed by a contractor or sub-grantee, their labor costs should not be shown here. Please include all labor costs which are associated with the proposed grant program, including those costs which will be paid for with in-kind or matching funds. Do not show fringe or other indirect costs in this section. Please use the hourly labor cost for salaried employees (use 2080 hours per year or the value your organization uses to perform this calculation). An employee working less than full time on the grant should show the numbers of hours they will work on the grant.
2 - Fringe Benefits	Use the standard fringe rates used by your organization. You may use a single fringe rate (a percentage of the total direct labor) or list each of the individual fringe charges. The spreadsheet is set up to use the Total Direct Labor Cost as the base for the fringe calculation. If your organization calculates fringe benefits differently, please use a different base and discuss how you calculate fringe as a comment.
3 - Travel
3a - Transportation - Local Private Vehicle	If you plan on reimbursing staff for the use of privately owned vehicles or if you are required to reimburse your organization for mileage charges, show your mileage and cost estimates in this section.
3b - Transportation - Airfare	Show the estimated cost of airfare required to support the grant program effort. Show the destination and the purpose of the travel as well as the estimated cost of the tickets. Each program NOFA discusses the travel requirements which should be listed here.
3c - Transportation - Other	If you or are charged monthly by your organization for a vehicle for use by the grant program, indicate those costs in this section. Provide estimates for other transportation costs which may be incurred (metro, etc.).

form HUD-424-CBW-1 (1/2003)

3d - Per Diem or Subsistence	For travel which will require the payment of subsistence or per diem in accordance with your organization's policies. Indicate the location of the travel. Each program NOFA discusses the travel requirements which should be listed here.
4 - Equipment	Equipment is defined by HUD regulations as tangible, nonexpendable, personal property having a useful life of more than one year and an acquisition cost of $5,000 or more per unit. Each program NOFA describes what equipment may be purchased using grant funding.
5 - Supplies and Materials	Supplies and materials are consumable and non-consumable items which have a depreciated unit value of less than $5,000. Please list the proposed supplies and materials as either Consumable Supplies or as Non-Consumable Materials.
5a - Consumable Supplies	List the consumable supplies you propose to purchase. General office or other common supplies may be estimated using an anticipated consumption rate.
5b - Non-consumable materials	List furniture, computers, printers, and other items which will not be consumed in use. Please list the quantity and unit cost.
6 - Consultants	Please indicate the consultants you will use. Indicate the type of consultant (skills), the number of days you expect to use them, and their daily rate.
7 - Contracts and Sub-Grantees	List the contractors and sub-grantees which will help accomplish the grant effort. Examples of contracts which should be shown here include contracts with Community Based Organizations; liability insurance; and training and certification for contractors and workers. If any contractor, sub-contractor, or sub-grantee is expected to receive over 10% of the total Federal amount requested, a separate Grant Application Detailed Budget (Worksheet) should be developed for that contractor or sub-grantee and the total amount of their proposed effort should be shown as a single entry in this section. Unless your proposed program will perform the primary grant effort with in-house employees (which should be listed in section I), the costs of performing the primary grant activities should be shown in this section. Types of activities which should be shown in this section: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Contracts for all services • Training for individuals not on staff • Contracts with Community Based Organizations or Other Governmental Organizations (note the 10% requirement discussed above) • Insurance if your program will procure it separately Please provide a short description of the activity the contractor or subgrantee will perform, if not evident

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 2.0 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number.

Privacy Act Statement. Except for Social Security Numbers (SSNs) and Employer Identification Numbers (EINs), the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is authorized to collect all the information required by this form under section 102 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989, 42 U.S.C. 3531. Disclosure of SSNs and EINs is optional. The SSN or EIN is used as a unique identifier. The information you provide will enable HUD to carry out its responsibilities under Sections 102(b), (c), and (d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989, Pub. L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989. These provisions will help ensure greater accountability and integrity in the provision of certain types of assistance administered by HUD. They will also help ensure that HUD assistance for a specific housing project under Section 102(d) is not more than is necessary to make the project feasible after taking account of other government assistance. HUD will make available to the public all applicant disclosure reports for five years in the case of applications for competitive assistance, and for generally three years in the case of other applications. Update reports will be made available along with the disclosure reports, but in no case for a period generally less than three years. All reports, both initial reports and update reports, will be made available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. §552) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR Part 15. HUD will use the information in evaluating individual assistance applications and in performing internal administrative analyses to assist in the management of specific HUD programs. The information will also be used in making the determination under Section 102(d) whether HUD assistance for a specific housing project is more than is necessary to make the project feasible after taking account of other government assistance. You must provide all the required information. Failure to provide any required information may delay the processing of your application, and may result in sanctions and penalties, including imposition of the administrative and civil money penalties specified under 24 CFR §4.38.

Note: This form only covers assistance made available by the Department. States and units of general local government that carry out responsibilities under Sections 102(b) and (c) of the Reform Act must develop their own procedures for complying with the Act.

Instructions

Overview.

A. Coverage. You must complete this report if:

- (1) You are applying for assistance from HUD for a specific project or activity and you have received, or expect to receive, assistance from HUD in excess of $200,000 during the fiscal year;
- (2) You are updating a prior report as discussed below; or
- (3) You are submitting an application for assistance to an entity other than HUD, a State or local government if the application is required by statute or regulation to be submitted to HUD for approval or for any other purpose.

B. Update reports (filed by "Recipients" of HUD Assistance):

General. All recipients of covered assistance must submit update reports to the Department to reflect substantial changes to the initial applicant disclosure reports.

Line-by-Line Instructions.

Applicant/Recipient Information.

All applicants for HUD competitive assistance, must complete the information required in blocks 1-5 of form HUD-2880:

1. Enter the full name, address, city, State, zip code, and telephone number (including area code) of the applicant/recipient. Where the applicant/recipient is an individual, the last name, first name, and middle initial must be entered.
2. Entry of the applicant/recipient's SSN or EIN, as appropriate, is optional.
3. Applicants enter the HUD program name under which the assistance is being requested.
4. Applicants enter the amount of HUD assistance that is being requested. Recipients enter the amount of HUD assistance that has been provided and to which the update report relates. The amounts are those stated in the application or award documentation. NOTE: In the case of assistance that is provided pursuant to contract over a period of time (such as project-based assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937), the amount of assistance to be reported includes all amounts that are to be provided over the term of the contract, irrespective of when they are to be received.
5. Applicants enter the name and full address of the project or activity for which the HUD assistance is sought. Recipients enter the name and full address of the HUD-assisted project or activity to which the update report relates. The most appropriate government identifying number must be used (e.g., RFP No.; IFB No.; grant announcement No.; or contract, grant, or loan No.) Include prefixes.

Part I. Threshold Determinations - Applicants Only

Part I contains information to help the applicant determine whether the remainder of the form must be completed. Recipients filing Update Reports should not complete this Part.

If the answer to either questions 1 or 2 is No, the applicant need not complete Parts II and III of the report, but must sign the certification at the end of the form.

Part II. Other Government Assistance and Expected Sources and Uses of Funds.

A. Other Government Assistance. This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients for assistance and recipients filing update reports. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity for which assistance is sought. Applicants and recipients must report any other government assistance involved in the project or activity. Other government assistance is defined in note 4 on the last page. For purposes of this definition, other government assistance is expected to be made available if, based on an assessment of all the circumstances involved, there are reasonable grounds to anticipate that the assistance will be forthcoming.

Both applicant and recipient disclosures must include all other government assistance involved with the HUD assistance, as well as any other government assistance that was made available before the request, but that has continuing vitality at the time of the request. Examples of this latter category include tax credits that provide for a number of years of tax benefits, and grant assistance that continues to benefit the project at the time of the assistance request.

The following information must be provided:

1. Enter the name and address, city, State, and zip code of the government agency making the assistance available.
2. State the type of other government assistance (e.g., loan, grant, loan insurance).
3. Enter the dollar amount of the other government assistance that is, or is expected to be, made available with respect to the project or activities for which the HUD assistance is sought (applicants) or has been provided (recipients).
4. Uses of funds. Each reportable use of funds must clearly identify the purpose to which they are to be put. Reasonable aggregations may be used, such as "total structure" to include a number of structural costs, such as roof, elevators, exterior masonry, etc.

B. Non-Government Assistance. Note that the applicant and recipient disclosure report must specify all expected sources and uses of funds - both from HUD and any other source - that have been or are to be, made available for the project or activity. Non-government sources of funds typically include (but are not limited to) foundations and private contributors.

Part III. Interested Parties.

This Part is to be completed by both applicants and recipients filing update reports. Applicants must provide information on:

1. All developers, contractors, or consultants involved in the application for the assistance or in the planning, development, or implementation of the project or activity and
2. any other person who has a financial interest in the project or activity for which the assistance is sought that exceeds $50,000 or 10 percent of the assistance (whichever is lower).

Note: A financial interest means any financial involvement in the project or activity, including (but not limited to) situations in which an individual or entity has an equity interest in the project or activity, shares in any profit on resale or any distribution of surplus cash or other assets of the project or activity, or receives compensation for any goods or services provided in connection with the project or activity. Residency of an individual in housing for which assistance is being sought is not, by itself, considered a covered financial interest.

The information required below must be provided.

1. Enter the full names and addresses. If the person is an entity, the listing must include the full name and address of the entity as well as the CEO. Please list all names alphabetically.
2. Entry of the Social Security Number (SSN) or Employee Identification Number (EIN), as appropriate, for each person listed is optional.
3. Enter the type of participation in the project or activity for each person listed: i.e., the person's specific role in the project (e.g., contractor, consultant, planner, investor).
4. Enter the financial interest in the project or activity for each person listed. The interest must be expressed both as a dollar amount and as a percentage of the amount of the HUD assistance involved.

Note that if any of the source/use information required by this report has been provided elsewhere in this application package, the applicant need not repeat the information, but need only refer to the form and location to incorporate it into this report. (It is likely that some of the information required by this report has been provided on SF 424A, and on various budget forms accompanying the application.) If this report requires information beyond that provided elsewhere in the application package, the applicant must include in this report all the additional information required.

Recipients must submit an update report for any change in previously disclosed sources and uses of funds as provided in Section I.D.5., above.

Notes:

1. All citations are to 24 CFR Part 4, which was published in the Federal Register. [April 1, 1996, at 63 Fed. Reg. 14448.]
2. Assistance means any contract, grant, loan, cooperative agreement, or other form of assistance, including the insurance or guarantee of a loan or mortgage, that is provided with respect to a specific project or activity under a program administered by the Department. The term does not include contracts, such as procurements contracts, that are subject to the Fed. Acquisition Regulation (FAR) (48 CFR Chapter 1).
3. See 24 CFR §4.9 for detailed guidance on how the threshold is calculated.
4. "Other government assistance" is defined to include any loan, grant, guarantee, insurance, payment, rebate, subsidy, credit, tax benefit, or any other form of direct or indirect assistance from the Federal government (other than that requested from HUD in the application), a State, or a unit of general local government, or any agency or instrumentality thereof, that is, or is expected to be made, available with respect to the project or activities for which the assistance is sought.
5. For the purpose of this form and 24 CFR Part 4, "person" means an individual (including a consultant, lobbyist, or lawyer); corporation; company; association; authority; firm; partnership; society; State, unit of general local government, or other government entity, or agency thereof (including a public housing agency); Indian tribe; and any other organization or group of people.

Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

Certification A: Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, and Other Responsibility Matters - Primary Covered Transactions

1. The prospective primary participant certifies to the best of its knowledge and belief that its principals;

a. Are not presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from covered transactions by any Federal debarment or agency;

b. Have not within a three-year period preceding this proposal, been convicted of or had a civil judgment rendered against them for commission of fraud or a criminal offense in connection with obtaining, attempting to obtain, or performing a public (Federal, State, or local) transaction or contract under a public transaction; violation of Federal or State antitrust statutes or commission of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bribery, falsification or destruction of records, making false statements, or receiving stolen property;

c. Are not presently indicted for or otherwise criminally or civilly charged by a governmental entity (Federal, State, or local) with commission of any of the offenses enumerated in paragraph (1)(b) of this certification; and

d. Have not within a three-year period preceding this application/proposal had one or more public transactions (Federal, State, or local) terminated for cause or default.

2. Where the prospective primary participant is unable to certify to any of the statements in this certification, such prospective participant shall attach an explanation to this proposal.

Instructions for Certification (A)

1. By signing and submitting this proposal, the prospective primary participant is providing the certification set out below.

2. The inability of a person to provide the certification required below will not necessarily result in denial of participation in this covered transaction. The prospective participant shall submit an explanation of why it cannot provide the certification set out below. The certification or explanation will be considered in connection with the department or agency's determination whether to enter into this transaction. However, failure of the prospective primary participant to furnish a certification or an explanation shall disqualify such person from participation in this transaction.

3. The certification in this clause is a material representation of fact upon which reliance was placed when the department or agency determined to enter into this transaction. If it is later determined that the prospective primary participant knowingly rendered an erroneous certification, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency may terminate this transaction for cause of default.

4. The prospective primary participant shall provide immediate written notice to the department or agency to whom this proposal is submitted if at any time the prospective primary participant learns that its certification was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances.

5. The terms covered transaction, debarred, suspended, ineligible, lower tier covered transaction, participant, person, primary covered transaction, principal, proposal, and voluntarily excluded, as used in this clause, have the meanings set out in the Definitions and Coverage sections of the rules implementing Executive Order 12549. You may contact the department or agency to which this proposal is being submitted for assistance in obtaining a copy of these regulations.

6. The prospective primary participant agrees by submitting this proposal that, should the proposed covered transaction be entered into, it shall not knowingly enter into any lower tier covered transaction with a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the department or agency entering into this transaction.

7. The prospective primary participant further agrees by submitting this proposal that it will include the clause titled "Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion - Lower Tier Covered Transaction," provided by the department or agency entering into this covered transaction, without modification, in all lower tier covered transactions and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions.

8. A participant in a covered transaction may rely upon a certification of a prospective participant in a lower tier covered transaction that it is not debarred, suspended, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from the covered transaction, unless it knows that the certification is erroneous. A participant may decide the method and frequency by which it determines this eligibility of its principals. Each participant may, but is not required to, check the Nonprocurement List.

9. Nothing contained in the foregoing shall be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render in good faith the certification required by this clause. The knowledge and information of a participant is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealings.

10. Except for transactions authorized under paragraph (6) of these instructions, if a participant in a covered transaction knowingly enters into a lower tier covered transaction with a person who is suspended, debarred, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency may terminate this transaction for cause of default.

Certification B: Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion - Lower Tier Covered Transactions

1. The prospective lower tier participant certifies, by submission of this proposal, that neither it nor its principals is presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction by any Federal department or agency.

2. Where the prospective lower tier participant is unable to certify to any of the statements in this certification, such prospective participant shall attach an explanation to this proposal.

Instructions for Certification (B)

1. By signing and submitting this proposal, the prospective lower tier participant is providing the certification set out below.

2. The certification in this clause is a material representation of fact upon which reliance was placed when this transaction was entered into. If it is later determined that the prospective lower tier participant knowingly rendered an erroneous certification, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency with which this transaction originated may pursue available remedies, including suspension and/or debarment.

3. The prospective lower tier participant shall provide immediate written notice to the person to which this proposal is submitted if at any time the prospective lower tier participant learns that its certification was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances.

4. The terms covered transaction, debarred, suspended, ineligible, lower tier covered transaction, participant, person, primary covered transaction, principal, proposal, and voluntarily excluded, as used in this clause, have the meanings set out in the Definitions and Coverage sections of rules implementing Executive Order 12549. You may contact the person to which this proposal is submitted for assistance in obtaining a copy of these regulations.

5. The prospective lower tier participant agrees by submitting this proposal that, should the proposed covered transaction be entered into, it shall not knowingly enter into any lower tier covered transaction with a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the department or agency with which this transaction originated.

6. The prospective lower tier participant further agrees by submitting this proposal that it will include this clause titled "Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion - Lower Tier Covered Transaction," without modification, in all lower tier covered transactions and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions.

7. A participant in a covered transaction may rely upon a certification of a prospective participant in a lower tier covered transaction that it is not debarred, suspended, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from the covered transaction, unless it knows that the certification is erroneous. A participant may decide the method and frequency by which it determines the eligibility of its principals. Each participant may, but is not required to, check the Nonprocurement List.

8. Nothing contained in the foregoing shall be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render in good faith the certification required by this clause. The knowledge and information of a participant is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealings.

9. Except for transactions authorized under paragraph (5) of these instructions, if a participant in a lower covered transaction knowingly enters into a lower tier covered transaction with a person who is suspended, debarred, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency with which this transaction originated may pursue available remedies including suspension and/or debarment.

Survey Instructions on Ensuring Equal Opportunity for Applicants

1. 501(c)(3) status is a legal designation provided on application to the Internal Revenue Service by eligible organizations. Some grant programs may require nonprofit applicants to have 501(c)(3) status. Other grant programs do not.
2. For example, two part-time employees who each work half-time equal one full-time equivalent employee. If the applicant is a local affiliate of a national organization, the responses to survey questions 2 and 3 should reflect the staff and budget size of the local affiliate.
3. Annual budget means the amount of money your organization spends each year on all of its activities.
4. Self-identify.
5. An organization is considered a community-based organization if its headquarters/service location shares the same zip code as the clients you serve.
6. An "intermediary" is an organization that enables a group of small organizations to receive and manage government funds by administering the grant on their behalf.
7. Self-explanatory.
8. Self-explanatory

Paperwork Burden Statement

According to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless such collection displays a valid OMB control number. The valid OMB control number for this information collection is 1890-0014. The time required to complete this information collection is estimated to average five (5) minutes per response, including the time to review instructions, search existing data resources, gather the data needed, and complete and review the information collection. This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Public reporting burden for this collection is estimated to average 1.15 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering the data needed, and completing and reviewing the information collection instrument. HUD may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Instructions for the Race and Ethnic Data Reporting form (HUD-27061)

A. General Instructions:

This form is intended to be used by two categories of respondents: (1) applicants requesting funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD); and (2) organizations who receive HUD Federal financial assistance that are required to report race and ethnic information.

In compliance with OMB direction to revise the standards for collection of racial data, HUD has revised its standards as depicted on this form. The revised standards are designed to acknowledge the growing diversity of the U.S. population. Using the revised standards, HUD offers organizations that are responding to HUD data requests for racial information, the option of selecting one or more of nine racial categories to identify the racial demographics of the individuals and/or the communities they serve, or are proposing to serve. HUD's collection of racial data treats ethnicity as a separate category from race and has changed the terminology for certain racial and ethnic groups from the way it has been requested in the past using two distinct ethnic categories. The revised definitions of ethnicity and race have been standardized across the Federal government and are provided below.

1. The two ethnic categories as revised by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) are defined below.

Hispanic or Latino. A person of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race. The term "Spanish origin" can be used in addition to "Hispanic" or "Latino."

Not Hispanic or Latino. A person not of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

2. The five racial categories as revised by the Office of Management and Budget are defined below:

American Indian or Alaska Native. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America), and who maintains tribal affiliation or community attachment.

Asian. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian subcontinent including, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, and Vietnam.

Black or African American. A person having origins in any of the black racial groups of Africa. Terms such as "Haitian" or "Negro" can be used in addition to "Black" or "African American."

Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands.

White. A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, the Middle East or North Africa.

Note: The information required to be reported may be collected and submitted to HUD via the use of this form or by other means, such as summary reports or via electronic reporting mechanisms. The primary goal to be achieved is the provision of the summary racial and ethnic data of the population(s) proposed to be served or that is being served by your organization in a consistent manner across all HUD programs.

B. Specific Instructions for Completing the Form:

Organizations using this form should collect the individual responses from the community of individuals you intend to serve or those that you are serving, as applicable. After the individual collections are gathered, you should report (via this form or by the use of other means such as electronic reports that provide the summary data required by this form) the aggregate totals of the racial and ethnic data that you collect via the applicable categories as described below:

Total Number of Racial Categories Reported: Under this column you should indicate the total number of responses collected in the blocks next to the applicable categories.

Total Number of Ethnic Category Responses (Hispanic or Latino): Under this column you should indicate the total number of responses collected in the blocks next to the applicable racial categories (e.g., you would enter the total number of Asian respondents that indicated they are Hispanic or Latino). When collecting this information from beneficiaries of the Federal financial assistance all respondents should be required to indicate their ethnic category, which requires either a “yes” or “no” response.

Other multi-racial categories: Next to this racial category, indicate all racial categories (if any) identified by respondents that do not fit the nine racial categories above, and which have a total count that exceeds one percent of the total population being reported. You must identify each such racial category, including the actual count, the percentage of the total population (in parenthesis), and the actual count for the ethnic categories.

For example, if you obtain data that indicates that the total population being served is 200 and includes 10 Cajun Americans and 12 Creole Americans, and those numbers of Cajun and Creole Americans each equates to more than one percent of the total population being served, and 2 of the Cajun Americans indicate they belong to the Hispanic/Latino ethnic category and 3 of the Creole Americans indicate they belong to the Hispanic/Latino ethnic category, you should complete the form as follows:

Racial Categories	Total Number of Racial Categories Reported	Total Number of Ethnic Category Responses (Hispanic or Latino)
* Other multi-racial categories: [Per the form instruction, write in a description using the box on the right]	Cajun American 10 (5%) Creole American 12 (6%)	2 3

How the percentage should be applied will vary by program depending on whether the program is required to provide data on the total community, or on the beneficiaries/individuals that are being served or that are proposed to be served.

Balance of individuals reporting more than one race: This block is intended to capture the balance of any racial categories that are not included in the list of nine above, and are not included under “Other multi-racial categories.” Indicate the total number of all racial categories reported that do not fit the nine racial categories above, and do not equate to one percent of the total population being reported. Be sure to also indicate the total number of all such ethnic categories.

Total: On the last row of the form you should indicate the aggregate totals of all the information you have gathered including the total of all racial categories and the total of all the ethnic categories.

G. Certifications. The following certifications are incorporated as a part of this application form. The signature on the last page of this application of the HA representative authorized to sign the application signifies compliance with the terms of these certifications.Equal Opportunity Certification

The Housing Agency (HA) certifies that:

- (1) The HA will comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (24 CFR Part 1) which state that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity for which the applicant receives financial assistance; and will take any measures necessary to effectuate this agreement.
- (2) The HA will comply with the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601-19) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (24 CFR Part 100) which prohibit discrimination in housing on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin, and administer its programs and activities relating to housing in a manner to affirmatively further fair housing.
- (3) The HA will comply with Executive Order 11063 on Equal Opportunity in Housing which prohibits discrimination because of race, color, creed, or national origin in housing and related facilities provided with Federal financial assistance and HUD regulations (24 CFR Part 107).
- (4) The HA will comply with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 794) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (24 CFR Part 8) which state that no otherwise qualified individual with handicaps in the United States shall solely by reason of the handicap be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.
- (5) The HA will comply with the provisions of the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (42 U.S.C. 6101-07) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (24 CFR Part 146) which state that no person in the United States shall on the basis of age be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under a program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.
- (6) The Housing Agency will comply with the provisions of Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act (42 U.S.C. 12131) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (28 CFR Part 35) which state that subject to the provisions of Title II, no qualified individual with a disability shall, by reason of such disability, be excluded from participation in or be denied the benefits of the services, programs or activities of a public entity, or be subjected to discrimination by any such entity.

The following provisions apply only to housing assisted with Project-Based Certificates:

- (7) The HA will comply with Executive Order 11246 and all regulations pursuant thereto (41 CFR Chapter 60-1) which state that no person shall be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, religion, sex or national origin in all phases of employment during the performance of Federal contracts and shall take affirmative action to ensure equal employment opportunity.
- (8) The HA will comply with Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, as amended (12 U.S.C. 1701u) and regulations issued pursuant thereto (24 CFR Part 135), which require that, to the greatest extent feasible, opportunities for training and employment be given to low-income persons residing within the unit of local government for metropolitan area (or non-metropolitan county) in which the project is located.

Certification Regarding Lobbying

The undersigned certifies, to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, that:

- (1) No Federal appropriated funds have been paid or will be paid, by or on behalf of the undersigned, to any person for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of an agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an employee of a Member of Congress in connection with the awarding of any Federal contract, the making of any Federal grant, the making of any Federal loan, the entering into of any cooperative agreement, and the extension, continuation, renewal, amendment, or modification of any Federal contract, grant, loan, or cooperative agreement.
- (2) If any funds other than Federal appropriated funds have been paid or will be paid to any person for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of any agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an employee of a Member of Congress in connection with this Federal contract, grant, loan, or cooperative agreement, the undersigned shall complete and submit Standard Form-LLL, "Disclosure Form to Report Lobbying," in accordance with its instructions.

(3) The undersigned shall require that the language of this certification be included in the award documents for all subawards at all tiers (including subcontracts, subgrants, and contracts under grants, loans, and cooperative agreements) and that all subrecipients shall certify and disclose accordingly.

This certification is a material representation of fact upon which reliance was placed when this transaction was made or entered into. Submission of this certification is a prerequisite for making or entering into this transaction imposed by section 1352, title 31, U.S. Code. Any person who fails to file the required certification shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than $10,000 and not more than $100,000 for each such failure.

Certification Regarding Drug-Free Workplace Requirements

Instructions for Drug-Free Workplace Requirements Certification:

By signing and/or submitting this application or grant agreement, the grantee is providing the certification set out below.

2. The certification set out below is a material representation of fact upon which reliance is placed when the agency awards the grant. If it is later determined that the grantee knowingly rendered a false certification, or otherwise violates the requirements of the Drug-Free Workplace Act, the agency, in addition to any other remedies available to the Federal Government, may take action authorized under the Drug-Free Workplace Act.

3. Workplaces under grants, for grantees other than individuals, need not be identified on the certification. If known, they may be identified in the grant application. If the grantee does not identify the workplaces at the time of application, or upon award, if there is no application, the grantee must keep the identity of the workplace(s) on file in its office and make the information available for Federal inspection. Failure to identify all known workplaces constitutes a violation of the grantee's drug-free workplace requirements.

4. Workplace identifications must include the actual address of buildings (or parts of buildings) or other sites where work under the grant takes place. Categorical descriptions may be used (e.g., all vehicles of a mass transit authority or State highway department while in operation, State employees in each local unemployment office, performers in concert halls or radio studios).

5. If the workplace identified to the agency changes during the performance of the grant, the grantee shall inform the agency of the change(s), if it previously identified the workplaces in question (see paragraph three).

6. Definitions of terms in the Nonprocurement Suspension and Debarment common rule and Drug-Free Workplace common rule apply to this certification. Grantees' attention is called, in particular, to the following definitions from these rules:

Controlled substance means a controlled substance in Schedules I through V of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 812) and as further defined by regulation (21 CFR 1308.11 through 1308.15);

Conviction means a finding of guilt (including a plea of nolo contendere) or imposition of sentence, or both, by any judicial body charged with the responsibility to determine violations of the Federal or State criminal drug statutes;

Criminal drug statute means a Federal or non-Federal criminal statute involving the manufacture, distribution, dispensing, use, or possession of any controlled substance;

Employee means the employee of a grantee directly engaged in the performance of work under a grant, including: (i) All direct charge employees; (ii) All indirect charge employees unless their impact or involvement is insignificant to the performance of the grant; and, (iii) Temporary personnel and consultants who are directly engaged in the performance of work under the grant and who are on the grantee's payroll. This definition does not include workers not on the payroll of the grantee (e.g., volunteers, even if used to meet a matching requirement; consultants or independent contractors not on the grantee's payroll; or employees or subrecipients or subcontractors in covered workplaces).

A. The grantee certifies that it will or will continue to provide a drug-free workplace by:

(a) Publishing a statement notifying employees that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession, or use of a controlled substance is prohibited in the grantee's workplace and specifying the actions that will be taken against employees for violation of such prohibition;

(b) Establishing an ongoing drug-free awareness program to inform employees about:

(1) The dangers of drug abuse in the workplace;

(2) The grantee's policy of maintaining a drug-free workplace;

(3) Any available drug counseling, rehabilitation, and employee assistance programs; and

(4) The penalties that may be imposed upon employees for drug abuse violations occurring in the workplace;

(c) Making it a requirement that each employee to be engaged in the performance of the grant be given a copy of the statement required by paragraph (a);

(d) Notifying the employee in the statement required by paragraph (a) that, as a condition of employment under the grant, the employee will:

(1) Abide by the terms of the statement; and

(2) Notify the employer in writing of his or her conviction for a violation of a criminal drug statute occurring in the workplace no later than five calendar days after such conviction;

(e) Notifying the agency in writing, within ten calendar days after receiving notice under paragraph (d)(2) from an employee or otherwise receiving actual notice of such conviction. Employers of convicted employees must provide notice, including position title, to every grant officer or other designee on whose grant activity the convicted employee was working, unless the Federal agency has designated a central point for the receipt of such notices. Notice shall include the identification number(s) of each affected grant;

(f) Taking one of the following actions, within 30 calendar days of receiving notice under paragraph (d)(2), with respect to any employee who is so convicted:

(1) Taking appropriate personnel action against such an employee, up to and including termination, consistent with the requirements of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended; or

(2) Requiring such employee to participate satisfactorily in a drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program approved for such purposes by a Federal, State, or local health, law enforcement, or other appropriate agency;

(g) Making a good faith effort to continue to maintain a drug-free workplace through implementation of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f).

B. The grantee may insert in the space provided below the site(s) for the performance of work done in connection with the specific grant:

Place of Performance (Street address, city, county, State, zip code)

The public reporting burden for this collection of information for the Logic Model is estimated to average 2 hours per response for applicants, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information and preparing the application package for submission to HUD. HUD may not conduct, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless the collection displays a valid control number. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions to reduce this burden, to the Reports Management Officer, Paperwork Reduction Project, in the Office of Information Technology, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, DC 20410-3600. When providing comments, please refer to OMB Approval No. 2535-0114.

The information submitted in response to the Notice of Funding Availability for the Logic Model is subject to the disclosure requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (Public Law 101-235, approved December 15, 1989, 42 U.S.C. 3545).

Instructions:

Responses to rating factor five should be in this format. Your response should be in bullet format rather than narrative. Please read each NOFA carefully to ensure the performance measures requested for this factor are reflected on the logic model form.

Program Name: The HUD funding program under which you are applying. If you are applying for a component of a program please include the Program Name as well as the Component Name.

Component Name: The HUD funding program under which you are applying.

Column 1: HUD's Strategic Goals: Indicate in this column the number of the goal(s) that your proposed service or activity is designed to achieve. HUD's strategic goals are:

1. Increase homeownership opportunities.
2. Promote decent affordable housing.
3. Strengthen communities.
4. Ensure equal opportunity in housing.
5. Embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability.
6. Promote participation of grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations.

Policy Priority: Indicate in this column the number of the HUD Policy Priority(ies), if any, your proposed service or activity promotes. Applicants are encouraged to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its Policy Priorities. HUD's Policy Priorities are:

1. Providing Increased Homeownership and Rental Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency.
2. Improving the Quality of Life in our Nation's Communities.
3. Encouraging Accessible Design Features.
4. Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation.
5. Improving Housing Conditions in Colonias.
6. Increasing Participation of Minority Serving Institutions in HUD Programs.
7. Increasing Participation in Energy Star.
8. Ending Chronic Homelessness in Ten Years

Column 2: Problem, Need, or Situation: Provide a general statement of need that provides the rationale for the proposed service or activity.

Column 3: Service or Activity: Identify the activities or services that you are undertaking in your work plan, which are crucial to the success of your program. Not every activity or service yields a direct outcome.

Column 4 and Column 5: Benchmarks: These columns ask you to identify benchmarks that will be used in measuring the progress of your services or activities. Column 4 asks for specific interim or final products (called outputs) that you establish for your program's services or activities. Column 5 should identify the results associated with the product or output. These may be numerical measures characterizing the results of a program activity, service or intervention and are used to measure performance. These outputs should lead to targets for achievement of outcomes. Results should be represented by both the actual # and % of the goal achieved.

Column 4: Benchmarks/Output Goal: Set quantifiable output goals, including timeframes. These should be products or interim products, which will allow you and HUD to monitor and assess your progress in achieving your program workplan.

Column 5: Benchmark/ Output Result: Report actual result of your benchmarks. The actual result could be- number of housing units developed or rehabilitated, jobs created, or number of persons assisted. Outputs may be short, intermediate or long-term.

Column 6 and Column 7: Outcomes: Column 6 and Column 7 ask you to report on your expected and actual outcomes – the ultimate impact you hope to achieve. Column 6 asks you to identify outcomes in terms of the impact on the community, people's lives, changes in economic or social status, etc. Column 7 asks for the actual result of the outcome measure listed in Column 6, which should be updated as applicable.

Column 6: Outcomes/ Goals: Identify the outcomes that resulted in broader impacts for individuals, families/households, and/or the community. For example, the program may seek to improve the environmental conditions in a neighborhood, increase affordable housing, increase the assets of a low-income family, or improve self-sufficiency.

Proxy Outcome(s): Often direct measurement of the intended outcome is difficult -- or even impossible -- to measure. In these cases, applicants/grantees should use a proxy or surrogate measure that corresponds with the desired outcome. For example, improving quality of life in a neighborhood could be measured by a proxy indicator such as increases in home prices or decreases in crime. Training programs could be measured by the participant's increased wages or reading skills. The person receiving the service must meet eligibility requirements of the program.

Column 7: Outcomes/Actual Result: Identify specific achievements of outcomes listed in Column 6.

Column 8: Measurement Reporting Tools: (a) List the tools used to track output or outcome information (e.g., survey instrument; attendance log; case report; pre-post test; waiting list; etc); (b) Identify the place where data is maintained, e.g. central database; individual case records; specialized access database, tax assessor database; local precinct; other; (c) Identify the location, e.g. on-site; subcontractor; other; (d) Indicate how often data is required to be collected, who will collect it and how often data is reported to HUD; and (e) Describe methods for retrieving data, e.g. data from case records is retrieved manually, data is maintained in an automated database. This tool will be available for HUD review and monitoring and should be used in submitting reporting information.

Column 9: Evaluation Process: Identify the methodology you will periodically use to assess your success in meeting your benchmark output goals and output results, outcomes associated to the achievement of the purposes of the program, as well as the impact that the work has made on the individuals assisted, the community, and the strategic goals of the Department. If you are not meeting the goals and results projected for your performance period, the evaluation process should be used as a tool to ensure that you can adjust schedules, timing, or business practices to ensure that goals are met within your performance period.

FUNDING AVAILABILITY FOR COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE (CD-TA) PROGRAMS—HOME, CHDO (HOME), MCKINNEY-VENTO HOMELESS ASSISTANCE, AND HOPMA

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Purpose of the Program. Funds are available to provide technical assistance (TA), under cooperative agreements with HUD, for four separate programs: (1) HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME); (2) HOME Investment Partnerships Program for Community Housing Development Organizations [CHDO (HOME)]; (3) McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance; and (4) Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA).

Available Funds. Approximately $22.9 million in Fiscal Year 2003 funds is available for the CD-TA programs and additional funds that may become available as a result of recapturing unused funds.

Eligible Applicants. Eligibility differs for each of the CD-TA programs. Specific eligibility requirements for the four CD-TA programs are found below in Section III (B).

Application Deadline. June 4, 2003.
Match. None.

Additional Information

If an organization is interested in applying for funding under this program, it should review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date; Application Submission Procedures; Addresses for Submitting Applications; For Further Information and Technical Assistance

(A) Application Due Date. Applicants must submit completed applications on or before May 28, 2003 to the addresses shown below.

(B) Application Submission Procedures. Only one application per organization is permitted; however, the one application may contain a proposal for one, two, three, or all four CD-TA programs, including the special "pooled" Field Office HOME Program TA arrangement being offered for the first time in this NOFA and described in Section II (B).

Applicants must submit two copies of their application. One original application must be submitted to HUD Headquarters; it is considered the official application. Applicants must also send a copy of the original application to each HUD Field Office in which their organization is seeking to provide services, except that, in the case of pooled Field Office HOME TA, applicants need only submit the original and one copy to HUD Headquarters.

Applicants must refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA for detailed requirements governing application submission and receipt

(C) Addresses for Submitting Applications. While following the procedures in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, submit the original application to HUD Headquarters at: U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development; CPD Processing and Control Branch, Room 7251; 451 Seventh Street, SW; Washington, DC 20410; Attention: CD-TA. Submit a copy of the application to the appropriate Field Office(s) at the address(es) shown on the list of HUD Field Offices included as Appendix B. Please mark the package Attention: CD-TA.

(D) For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Applicants may contact HUD Headquarters at 202-708-3176, or they may contact the HUD Field Office serving their area shown in Appendix B. Persons with hearing and speech challenges may access the above numbers via TTY (text telephone) by calling the Federal Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (this is a toll-free number). Information may also be obtained through the HUD Web site on the Internet at <http://www.hud.gov>.

HUD will hold an informational satellite broadcast for potential applicants to learn more about the CD-TA programs and preparation of the application. For information about the date and time of the broadcast, consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

II. Description of National and Field Office TA; Amounts Allocated; Fair Share; Award Adjustments; Award Period

(A) Description of National and Field Office TA. National TA activities are those that address, at a national or regional level, one or more of the CD-TA program activities and/or priorities identified in Section III (C) of this NOFA. National TA activities may include the development and delivery of training, delivery of training courses previously approved by HUD, development of written products, delivery of direct TA, the organization and delivery of workshops and conferences, and the development of online training materials. National TA activities will be administered by a Government Technical Representative (GTR) and Government Technical Monitor (GTM) at HUD Headquarters. Regardless of the geographical coverage proposed for the TA, applicants for National TA must be willing to work in any Field Office area listed in Appendix A of this NOFA.

All Field Office TA activities must also address the CD-TA program activities and/or priorities identified in Section III (C), but the TA will be targeted to the specific needs of each Field Office in which the TA is proposed. Field Office TA activities are limited to the development of needs assessments, the organization and delivery of workshops and conferences, the customization and delivery of previously approved HUD trainings, and direct TA. Following the award of CD-TA program funds, HUD Headquarters may approve other proposed Field Office TA activities on a case-by-case basis. Field Office TA will be administered by a GTR and GTM in the respective HUD Field Office. Please note that the pooled Field Office HOME TA is Field Office TA carried out in Field Office jurisdictions and directed by Field Office GTRs and GTMs. Pooled Field Office HOME TA will involve coordination between HUD Headquarters and the respective Field Office as described in Section II (B).

(B) Amounts Allocated. The amounts allocated for each CD-TA program are given below. Appendix A shows how the funds are divided between National TA and Field Office TA.

(1) HOME TA funds available are approximately $8.3 million. National HOME TA funds will be available only to applicants proposing eligible activities that are national in scope. Field Office TA funds will be available to those proposing to provide TA in the geographic areas under the purview of Field Offices and those Field Offices selecting Option #2 as described below under (C) "Fair-Share". (Field Offices that selected Option #2 are identified in Appendix A.) Please note that funding from HOME TA and all other HOME Program-related TA sources to any single eligible organization (excluding funds for organizational support and housing education "passed through" to CHDOs), whether as an applicant or subrecipient is limited to not more than 20 percent of the operating budget of the recipient organization, and is limited to 20 percent of the $17,883,000 made available for HOME and CHDO (HOME) TA in FY 2003.

(2) CHDO (HOME) TA funds available are approximately $6 million. Not less than 40 percent of the funds are available for eligible applicants that have worked primarily in one state. HUD will consider an intermediary as a primarily single State technical assistance provider if it can document that more than 50 percent of its past activities in working with CHDOs or similar nonprofit and other organizations (on the production of affordable housing, revitalization of deteriorating neighborhoods, and/or the delivery of technical assistance to these groups) was confined to the geographic limits of a single state. Funding from CHDO (HOME) TA and all other HOME program-related TA sources to any single eligible organization (excluding funds for organizational support and housing education "passed through" to CHDOs), whether as an applicant or subrecipient is limited to not more than 20 percent of the operating budget of the recipient organization, and is limited to 20 percent of the $17,883,000 made available for HOME and CHDO (HOME) TA in FY 2003.

(3) McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance Programs TA funds available are up to $6.6 million. Up to 25 percent of the McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance technical assistance funds are for qualified providers who have not previously received a HUD CD-TA award.

(4) HOPWA FY 2003 TA funds available are up to $2 million. HUD will ensure that at least $400,000 of the HOPWA TA funds are designated for each of the two national goals [see section III (C)(4)].

(C) Fair Share. Each HUD Field Office with a Community Planning and Development (CPD) Division has been allocated a "fair share" of CD-TA funds for purposes of this competition, except for the HOPWA TA funds that will be awarded only through a national competition. Appendix A lists the fair share allocations. The amounts are based on allocations of HOME, CHDO (HOME), and McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance formula funds and competitive programs for which Field Offices have management oversight.

For HOME TA only, Field Offices are given two options for TA administration. Under Option 1, Field Offices administer their fair share HOME CD-TA funds.

Under Option 2, Field Offices place their fair share of HOME TA funds into a separate HOME TA pooled account. Applications for these funds are rated and ranked separately. Field Offices that have chosen to "opt in" to the HOME TA pooled account receive assistance from TA providers chosen to serve the pooled account jurisdictions through this competition. Consequently, applicants proposing to provide training and/or direct TA with HOME TA pooled account funds must be willing to provide coverage to all Field Office jurisdictions opting in the HOME TA pooled account. Please review

Appendix A for those Field Offices that have opted into the HOME TA pooled account and take the "full coverage" requirement into consideration when determining your funding request. Because of the statutory requirement that 40 percent of CHDO (HOME) TA be provided by single-state providers, all Field Offices will continue to administer their fair-share of CHDO (HOME) TA funds.

(D) Award Adjustments. In addition to the funding adjustment authority provided for in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, HUD reserves the right to adjust funding levels for each CD-TA applicant. The amounts listed in Appendix A are provided to assist applicants to develop Field Office or national CD-TA program budgets and do not represent the exact amounts to be awarded. Once TA providers are selected for award, HUD will determine the total amount to be awarded to any provider based upon the size and needs of each of the provider's service areas, the funds available for that area and CD-TA program, the number of other CD-TA recipients selected in that area or CD-TA program, and the scope of the TA to be provided.

Additionally, HUD may reduce the amount of funds allocated for Field Office jurisdictions to fund national CD-TA providers and other CD-TA providers for activities that cannot be fully budgeted for or estimated by HUD Headquarters or Field Offices at the time this NOFA was published. HUD may also require selected applicants, as a condition of funding, to provide coverage on a geographically broader basis than proposed in order to supplement or strengthen the CD-TA network in terms of the size of the area covered and types and scope of TA proposed. To facilitate the implementation of its Colonias initiative, HUD expects winners of national HOME TA funds to direct up to ten percent of their TA award to undertake activities in or related to the Colonias areas or its residents, to the extent feasible. (See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information on HUD's Colonias initiatives.)

If funds remain after all selections have been made, the remaining funds may be distributed among Field Offices (in proportion to their fair-share awards) and/or the national program, or made available for other CD-TA program competitions.

(E) Award Period. Cooperative agreements will be for a period of up to 36 months. HUD, however, reserves the right to:

(1) Terminate awards anytime after 12 months in accordance with provisions contained in 24 CFR parts 84 and 85;

(2) Withdraw funds from a specific provider, if HUD determines that the need for the assistance is greater in other Field Office jurisdictions or the need for assistance is not commensurate with the amount of the award for assistance; and

(3) In cases where a CD-TA provider currently is providing TA under an existing CD-TA grant/cooperative agreement, HUD reserves the right to adjust the start date of funding under this NOFA to coincide with the conclusion of the previous award or to incorporate the remaining activities from the previous award into the new agreement, adjusting the funding levels as necessary.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The CD-TA program provides assistance to achieve the highest level of performance and results for four separate community development programs. Information about the four community development programs and their mission, goals, and activities can be found on the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

(B) Eligible Applicants.

(1) General. The eligible applicants for each of the four CD-TA programs are listed in paragraphs (2), (3), (4), and (5) of this section. The following requirements are applicable to all applicants:

(a) An organization may not provide assistance to itself. An organization may not provide assistance to another organization with which it contracts or subawards funds to carry out activities under the TA award;

(b) A consortium of organizations may apply for one or more CD-TA programs, but one organization must be designated as the applicant;

(c) Applicants must meet minimum statutory eligibility requirements for each CD-TA program for which they are applying; and

(d) Applicants must meet the applicable threshold requirements of Section V (B)(2) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Applicants may propose assistance using in-house staff, consultants, sub-contractors and sub-recipients, networks of private consultants, and/or local organizations with requisite experience and capabilities. Where appropriate, applicants should make use of TA providers located in the Field Office jurisdiction receiving services. This draws upon local expertise and persons familiar with the opportunities and resources available in the area to be served while reducing travel and other costs associated with delivering the proposed TA services.

(2) HOME TA Eligible Applicants.

(a) A for-profit or non-profit professional and technical services company or firm that has demonstrated capacity to provide technical assistance services;

(b) A HOME participating jurisdiction (PJ);

(c) A public purpose organization responsible to the chief elected official of a PJ and established pursuant to State or local legislation;

(d) An agency or authority established by two or more PJs to carry out activities consistent with the purposes of the HOME program; and

(e) A national or regional non-profit organization that has membership comprised predominantly of entities or officials of entities of PJs or PJs' agencies or established organizations.

(3) CHDO (HOME) TA Eligible Applicants.

(a) Public and private non-profit intermediary organizations that customarily provide services (in more than one community) related to HOME affordable housing development and management or other neighborhood revitalization by CHDOs; and

(b) Other non-profit organizations that engage in community revitalization activities undertaken by CHDOs, including all eligible organizations under section 233 of the Cranston-Gonzales National Affordable Housing Act, as amended.

(c) Any organization funded to assist CHDOs under this CD-TA program section of the SuperNOFA may not undertake CHDO set-aside activities itself within its service area while under cooperative agreement with HUD.

(4) McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance Programs TA Eligible Applicants.

(a) States, units of general local government, and public housing authorities; and

(b) Public and private non-profit or for-profit groups, including educational institutions and area-wide planning organizations.

(5) HOPWA TA Eligible Applicants.

(a) Non-profit organizations; and

(b) States and units of general local government.

(C) Eligible Activities. Eligible activities for each of the four CD-TA programs are the following:

(1) HOME TA. By statute, HUD may provide TA to meet specified objectives. From these objectives, HUD has identified six TA priorities for FY 2003. These priorities are the following:

(a) Facilitate the exchange of information that will help PJs carry out the purposes of the HOME statute, including the design, implementation, and management of affordable housing programs that address accessibility, housing finance, land use controls, and building construction techniques;

(b) Improve the ability of PJs, particularly those PJs inexperienced in the development of affordable housing, to design and implement housing strategies that include an analysis and reduction of regulatory barriers, reflect sound management and fiscal controls, demonstrate measurable outcomes in the use of public funds, and provide for accurate and timely reporting of accomplishments;

(c) Encourage private lenders, non-profit organizations, and for-profit developers of low-income housing to participate in public-private partnerships to achieve the purposes of the HOME statute;

(d) Assist PJs in developing strategies that ameliorate the affordability gap between rapidly increasing housing costs and the less rapid growth in incomes among low-income households, especially among underserved populations (e.g., residents of the Colonias, homeless, persons with disabilities);

(e) Assist PJs in developing strategies that increase and help sustain homeownership opportunities for low-income households—particularly low-income, minority households; and

(f) Facilitate the establishment and efficient operation of land assembly, under which title to vacant and abandoned parcels of real estate located in or causing blighted neighborhoods is cleared for use consistent with the purposes and timeframes of the HOME statute.

(2) CHDO (HOME) TA. CHDO (HOME) TA funds may be used only for the following eligible activities:

(a) Organizational Support—Organizational support may be made available to CHDOs to cover operational expenses, training, technical, legal, engineering, and other assistance to the board of directors, staff, and members of the community development organization;

(b) Housing Education—Housing education assistance may be made available to CHDOs to cover expenses related to the provision or administration of programs for educating, counseling, and organizing homeowners and tenants who are eligible to receive assistance under the HOME Program;

(c) Program-Wide Support of Non-Profit Development and Management—

Technical assistance, training, and continuing support may be made available to eligible CHDOs for managing and conserving properties developed under the HOME program;

(d) Benevolent Loan Funds—Technical assistance may be made available to increase the investment of private capital in housing for very low-income families, particularly by encouraging the establishment of benevolent loan funds through which private financial institutions will accept deposits at below-market interest rates and make those funds available at favorable rates to developers of low-income housing and to low-income homebuyers;

(e) Community Development Banks and Credit Unions—Technical assistance may be made available to establish privately-owned, local community development banks and credit unions to finance affordable housing;

(f) Community Land Trusts—Organizational support, technical assistance, education, and training and assistance to community groups for the establishment of community land trusts [as defined in section 233(f) of the Cranston-Gonzales National Affordable Housing Act]; and

(g) Facilitating Women in Homebuilding Professions—Technical assistance may be made available to businesses, unions and organizations involved in the construction and rehabilitation of housing in low- and moderate-income areas to assist women residing in the area to obtain jobs involving such activities, which may include facilitating access by helping such women to develop nontraditional skills, recruiting women to participate in such programs, providing continuing support for women at job sites, counseling and educating businesses regarding suitable work environments for women, providing information to such women regarding opportunities for establishing small housing construction and rehabilitation businesses, and providing materials and tools for training such women in an amount not to exceed ten percent of any assistance provided under this paragraph. HUD shall give priority under this paragraph to providing technical assistance for organizations rehabilitating single family housing owned or controlled by HUD pursuant to Title II of the National Housing Act and which have women members in occupations in which women constitute 25 percent or less of the total number of workers in the occupation (in this section referred to as “nontraditional occupations”).

(3) McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance Programs TA. Funds are available to provide TA to McKinney-Vento Act-funded homeless assistance projects. Funds may be used to provide TA to prospective applicants, applicants, grantees, and project sponsors of McKinney-Vento Act-funded housing and supportive services for homeless persons. The assistance may include, but is not limited to, written information such as papers, manuals, guides and brochures; person-to-person exchanges; on-site assessments; provision of technical expertise; and training and related costs.

HUD has set a national goal to end chronic homelessness within ten years and seeks to meet the needs of chronically homeless individuals as well as other homeless persons and families. A person experiencing chronic homelessness is defined as an unaccompanied individual with a disabling condition who has been continuously homeless for a year or more or has experienced four or more episodes of homelessness over the last three years.

TA activities are focused on but not limited to the following:

(a) Facilitating the exchange of information between community organizations to develop and implement a community-wide discharge plan for individuals exiting publicly-funded institutions (e.g., criminal justice system, foster care system, mental health system) so that these individuals do not become homeless;

(b) Improving the ability of eligible applicants to develop and operate permanent housing projects for chronically homeless persons;

(c) Developing materials on effective grant administration for grantees and sponsors;

(d) Improving the ability of eligible grantees and sponsors in reaching out to and enumerating chronically homeless persons; and

(e) Improving the ability of grantees and sponsors in coordinating services available through mainstream resources with current housing units available for homeless persons.

(4) HOPWA TA. Funds are available to provide grantees, project sponsors, and potential recipients of HOPWA program funds with the skills and knowledge needed to develop, operate, and support HOPWA-eligible projects and activities in concert with two national goals: sustainable and sound management of HOPWA programs; and the accurate use of HUD's information and management tools. The national goals are to enhance the organization's ability to use HUD funds in a manner that upholds the public trust in the operation of the program, and to enhance the organization's ability to sustain their projects through financial downturns and beyond the term of the grant.

An applicant for HOPWA TA funds may propose activities on a national basis or a regional basis. To achieve the national goals, HOPWA TA must be used to address the following areas:

For goal one: Sustainable and sound management of HOPWA programs—
(a) Management and operations through such activities as training on management practices to ensure responsive, efficient, and cost effective facility and program operations; training on fiscal management to ensure accountability in the use of funds and in the development of long-term strategies to assure financial viability, including strategic planning, merger and acquisition consideration, and financial development programs;

(b) State, local, and community planning through such activities as training on the coordination of housing with health-care and other related supportive services for eligible persons; improving ability in developing collaborations with local, State and Federal agencies that administer HIV/AIDS-related programs, including programs funded under the Ryan White CARE Act; facilitating in creating or linking to existing needs assessments of the area's housing needs of persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families; facilitating in creating or linking to comprehensive multiple-year HIV/AIDS housing plans that are undertaken in collaboration with local, State and Federal programs including the Ryan White CARE Act programs; and facilitating in creating or linking to existing plans that address specialized needs of clients, including assistance for clients with serious mental illness, chronic alcohol and other drug abuse issues, and homelessness; and

(c) Program evaluation through such activities as advising on data collection and program evaluation and dissemination of results; and developing and providing program handbooks, guidance materials, audio/visual products, training, and other activities to promote good management practices.

For goal two: Accurate use of HUD's information and management tools—

Providing TA to grantees, project sponsors, and other nonprofit organizations involved in HIV/AIDS plans in using the Department's information technology, financial reporting on program activities. Proposed activities may support the use of the Department's Consolidated Planning Process and Comprehensive Annual Performance Evaluation Report (CAPER), Integrated Disbursement and Information System (IDIS), the use of HOPWA Annual Progress Reports, the Grants Management System, and LOCCS/HUDCAPS and other information collection or financial management tools, including the government-wide e-grants system when it becomes operational. The use of these management tools ensure that the performance of HOPWA recipients is measured under the HOPWA national performance goals. The proposed activities may include conducting grantee and sponsor workshops, developing training materials, developing or adapting program output and outcome measures and sponsoring related conferences and training of grantees and project sponsors.

IV. CD-TA Program Requirements

Because CD-TA program awards are made as cooperative agreements, they entail significant HUD involvement. Thus, the TA activities proposed in an application may change after discussion with HUD. In addition to the requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants are subject to the following requirements:

(A) Profit/Fee. No increment above cost, no fee or profit, may be paid to any recipient or subrecipient of an award under this CD-TA Program section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) TA Oversight. All Field Office TA providers, including those awarded pooled Field Office HOME TA account funds, must operate under the direction of each HUD Field Office within whose jurisdiction they are providing TA. When directed by a Field Office, TA providers may be required to coordinate activities through a lead CD-TA provider or other organization designated by the Field Office. If an applicant is selected as a Field Office CD-TA provider and is then designated as the lead CD-TA provider, the applicant must follow HUD Field Office direction and coordinate the activities of other CD-TA providers selected under this CD-TA Program section of the SuperNOFA. All national TA providers must coordinate their plans with, and operate under the direction of the GTR and GTM in HUD Headquarters.

Joint activities by CD-TA providers may be required.

(C) Demand-Response Delivery System. All CD-TA applicants must operate within the structure of the demand-response system. Under the demand-response system, CD-TA providers are required to:

(1) When requested by a HUD Headquarters or a Field Office GTR/GTM, market the availability of their services to existing and potential recipients within the jurisdictions in which the assistance will be delivered;

(2) Respond to requests for assistance from the HUD Headquarters or HUD Field Office GTR/GTM responsible for overseeing TA within a specific geographic service area, including responding to priorities established by the Field Office in its Grants Management System. HOME PJs, CHDOs, and McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance grantees may request assistance from the CD-TA provider directly, but the CD-TA provider is responsible for obtaining the local HUD Field Office's approval before responding to such requests. For CHDO (HOME) TA, the Field Office will coordinate with the affected HOME PJ in which the CD-TA provider proposes to work;

(3) When requested by a HUD Headquarters or a Field Office GTR/GTM, conduct a Needs Assessment to identify the type and nature of the assistance needed by the recipient of the assistance. Needs Assessments identify the nature of the problem to be addressed, the plan of action, the type of TA to be provided, the duration of the assistance, the staff assigned to provide the assistance, anticipated products and/or outcomes, and the estimated cost; and

(4) CHDO (HOME) TA providers will be responsible for securing a technical assistance designation letter from a PJ stating that a CHDO, or prospective CHDO to be assisted by the provider, is a recipient or intended recipient of HOME funds and indicating, at its option, subject areas of assistance that are most important to the PJ.

(D) Technical Assistance Delivery Plan (TADP). After selection for funding but prior to executing the cooperative agreement, applicants must develop in consultation with the respective HUD Headquarters or Field Office GTR/GTM, a TADP for each national program or Field Office jurisdiction for which the applicant has been selected.

In developing the TADP, the applicant must follow the HUD Headquarters' or Field Office's management plan in determining the priority work activities, location of activities, and organizations to be assisted during the cooperative agreement performance period. The HUD Headquarters or Field Office GTR/GTM will direct TA activities and establish expected outcomes. Applicants will use the logic model to identify their planned outcomes and report on actual accomplishments in relation to the planned outcomes.

For national HOME TA, applicants must work cooperatively with the GTR and GTM in the Office of Affordable Housing Programs to develop a TADP that addresses the national priorities, as identified in Section III (C), paragraphs (1) and (2) of this CD-TA NOFA, and meets the needs of HOME PJs and their partners.

The TADP must delineate all tasks and sub-tasks for each CD-TA program the applicant will undertake either nationally or in each Field Office jurisdiction. The TADP must specify the location of the proposed CD-TA activities, the level of CD-TA funding and proposed activities by location, the improved program performance or other results expected from the CD-TA, and the methodology to be used for measuring the success of the CD-TA. A detailed time schedule for delivery of the activities, budget summary, budget-by-task, and staffing plan must be included in the TADP.

In the case of pooled Field Office HOME TA funds, applicants will work with the GTR and GTM in HUD Headquarters to develop a TADP that includes the elements contained in the previous paragraph except for the detailed time schedule for delivery of the activities, budget summary, budget-by-task, staffing plan, and scope of work which will be negotiated in the form of a Technical Plan for Assistance (TPA) with the Field Office in which the TA is to be provided to ensure that the TA provider is working under the control and direction of the Field Office. The TPA must be consistent with the approved TADP.

(E) Training Sessions. When conducting training sessions as part of its CD-TA activities, CD-TA providers are required to:

(1) Design the course materials as "step-in" packages (also called "train-the-trainer" packages) so that a Field Office or other CD-TA provider may independently conduct the course on its own;

(2) Provide all course material in an electronic format that will permit wide distribution among TA providers, Field Offices, and HUD grantees;

(3) Arrange for joint delivery of the training with Field Office or Headquarters participation when requested by the HUD Headquarters or Field Office GTR/GTM; and

(4) When required by HUD, deliver HUD-approved training courses that have been designed and developed by other HUD contractors or HUD cooperating parties on a "step-in" basis for CD-TA clients, and send trainers to approved "train-the-trainers" sessions. The costs associated with attending these required sessions are eligible under the cooperative agreement.

(F) Reports to HUD Headquarters and Field Office GTR/GTMs. CD-TA providers will be required to report to the HUD Field Office(s) with oversight of the geographic area(s) in which CD-TA services are provided or to Headquarters GTR/GTMs in the case of national providers. At a minimum, this reporting will be on a quarterly basis unless otherwise specified in the approved TADP.

(G) Financial Management and Audit Information. After selection for funding but prior to award, applicants must submit a certification from an Independent Public Accountant or the cognizant government auditor, stating that the applicant's financial management system meets prescribed standards for fund control and accountability required by 24 CFR part 84 for Institutions of Higher Education and other Non-Profit Institutions, 24 CFR part 85 for States and local governments, or the Federal Acquisition Regulations for all other applicants. The information should include the name and telephone number of the independent auditor, cognizant Federal auditor, or other audit agency as applicable. In addition, the applicant must submit a certification that the organization is in compliance with the statutory limitations placed on HOME and CHDO (HOME) TA.

(H) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. Section V (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA does not apply to these technical assistance programs.

(I) CHDO (HOME) "Pass-Through Funds". CD-TA providers may propose to fund the purchase of equipment and supplies, salaries and operating expenses, and training scholarships for eligible CHDOs that directly assist these organizations to own, develop, or sponsor affordable housing. CD-TA providers proposing "pass-through" grants are required to:

(1) Establish written criteria for selection of CHDOs receiving pass through funds which include the following: Participating jurisdictions must designate the organizations as CHDOs; and, generally, the organizations should not have been in existence more than 3 years.

(2) Enter into an agreement with the CHDO that the agreement and pass through funding may be terminated at the discretion of HUD if no written legally binding agreement to provide assistance for a specific housing project (for acquisition, rehabilitation, new construction, or tenant-based rental assistance) has been made by the PJ with the CHDO within 24 months of initially receiving pass-through funding.

(3) The pass-through amount, when combined with other capacity building and operating support available through the HOME program, cannot exceed the greater of 50 percent of the CHDO's operating budget for the year in which it receives funds or $50,000 annually.

(J) Program Requirements for HOPWA Technical Assistance.

(1) The items listed in (A)—(I) immediately above apply to HOPWA TA, except that the demand-response delivery system does not apply. The CD-TA provider is responsible for obtaining the Field Office's approval before responding to TA requests in Field Office jurisdictions.

(2) If selected, the TA provider is required to begin technical assistance activities within one year of selection (i.e., one year from the date of the signing of the selection letter by HUD) and to provide an initial report to the Field Office and the Headquarters GTR on the startup of the planned activities within three months of selection. If a selected project does not meet an appropriate performance benchmark, HUD reserves the right to cancel or withdraw the grant funds.

(3) Except for national meetings, research, information and other activities that are conducted on a program-wide basis in cooperation with HUD Headquarters TA providers must work cooperatively with HUD Field Offices. Providers must notify the applicable HUD Field Office of the planned activities; must consider the views or recommendations of that office, if any; must follow those recommendations, to the degree practicable; and must report to the applicable Field Office on the accomplishments of the assistance.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Threshold Review, Rating and Ranking

(1) HUD will review each application to determine whether it meets the threshold requirements described in Sections I, III, and IV of this CD-TA NOFA. Only if an application meets all of the threshold requirements will it be eligible to be rated and ranked.

(2) HUD will evaluate and rate applications that meet the threshold requirements according to the Factors for Award noted below in Section V (B). Separate ratings will be given for each CD-TA program within each Field Office or nationally, as applicable, and for the pooled Field Office HOME TA.

Under this system, the single application from one organization for multiple CD-TA programs in several geographic areas could be assigned different scores for each program and for each Field Office. For HOPWA, separate ratings will be given for applications for each of the two national goals.

The maximum number of points to be awarded for a CD-TA program proposal is 100. The minimum score for a program proposal to be considered within funding range is 75 with a minimum of 15 points on Factor 1. The CD-TA program is not subject to bonus points, as described in Section VI (C)(1)-(3) of the General Section of the Super NOFA.

(3) Once rating scores are assigned, rated applications submitted for each CD-TA program and for the pooled Field Office HOME TA at either the Headquarters or Field Office level will be listed in rank order for each CD-TA program and, in the case of HOPWA TA, for each of the two national HOPWA goals for which activities are proposed. Applications within the funding range (score of 75+ points with 15+ points for Factor 1) may then be funded in rank order under the CD-TA program and service area for which they applied. Applicants for pooled Field Office HOME TA may not necessarily be funded in rank order since the amount of their awards, if any, will be determined by totaling the fair share amounts assigned to them by the individual Field Offices participating in the pool. A Field Office participating in the pooled account may distribute some or all of its fair share amount to any applicant for pooled funds that scores in the fundable range (i.e., score of 75+ points with 15+ points for Factor 1).

(B) Factors for Award

For each CD-TA program and the pooled Field Office HOME TA, points are awarded on five factors. Factor 1 relates to the capacity of the applicant and its relevant organizational experience. Rating of the "applicant" or the "applicant's organization and staff" includes any sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia which are firmly committed to the project. In responding to Factor 1, applicants should specify the experience, knowledge, skills, and abilities of the applicant's organization and staff, and any organizations firmly committed to the project.

When addressing Factors 2-5, applicants should discuss the specific TA projects, activities, tasks, etc. that will be carried out during the term of the cooperative agreement. Applicants should provide relevant examples to support the proposal, where appropriate. Applicants should also be specific when detailing the communities, populations, and/or organizations that they propose to serve and the specific outcomes expected as a result of the TA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (25 points) (Minimum for Funding Eligibility—15 Points)

In a narrative, applicants should describe:

(1) (10 points). Recent, relevant, and successful experience of the applicant's organization in providing TA in all activities and to all entities for the CD-TA programs applied for, and an ability to provide CD-TA in a geographic area larger than a single city or county.

(2) (10 points). Competence, knowledge, skills, and abilities of key personnel in managing complex, multi-faceted, or multi-disciplinary TA programs that require coordination with other entities or multiple, diverse units in an organization.

(3) (5 points). Sufficient personnel or access to qualified experts or professionals with the knowledge, skills, and abilities to deliver the proposed level of TA in each proposed service area in a timely and effective fashion.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the application demonstrates, in relation to the CD-TA program funding that is requested, relevant experience within the last four years of providing TA that demonstrates the ability to manage multiple TA assignments simultaneously, experience levels of key staff demonstrated by the technical complexity of assignments performed, and the number and experience of key staff as well as their availability to perform the work.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

In a narrative, applicants should:

(1) (10 points). Identify high priority needs in relation to the eligible activities [see section III (C) of the CD-TA NOFA] for the CD-TA program in each community or Field Office jurisdiction for which CD-TA funding is requested, or on a national or regional basis for national HOPWA, McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance, and HOME grants. Even though applicants for pooled Field Office HOME TA funds must be willing to provide full coverage for all of the Field Office jurisdictions participating in the pool, for the purposes of this narrative, these applicants need only identify high priority needs in four (4) Field Office jurisdictions.

(2) (10 points). Support the description of the need described with objective information and/or data showing need in each community or Field Office jurisdiction for which CD-TA funding is requested, or on a national or regional basis for national HOPWA, McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance, and HOME grants.

In rating this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the application shows, in each geographic area for which CD-TA funding is requested, an understanding of the specific needs for TA and supports the description of need with reliable, quantitative information.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

In a narrative, applicants should:

(1) (10 points). Describe a sound approach for addressing the identified needs.

(2) (10 points). Provide a cost-effective plan for designing, organizing, managing, and carrying out the proposed TA activities within the demand-response system.

(3) (10 points). Demonstrate an effective assistance program to specific disadvantaged communities, populations, and/or organizations which previously have been underserved and have the potential to participate in the four CD-TA programs.

(4) (10 points). Describe a feasible, creative plan which uses state of the art or new promising technology to transfer models and lessons learned in each of its CD-TA program's activities to grantees and/or program beneficiaries in other CD-TA programs.

In rating this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the application presents and supports a detailed, sound approach in addressing identified needs and CD-TA program priorities. HUD will also evaluate the extent to which the application demonstrates the cost-effectiveness of its activities and the effectiveness of its operation under the demand-response system, including responding to requests for assistance at HUD's direction, handling competing demands, and responding to unanticipated demands.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses the applicant's ability to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve program purposes.

Applicants should provide evidence of leveraging/partnerships by including in the application of firm commitments for specific dollar amounts in letters, memoranda of understanding, or agreements to participate from those entities identified as partners in the application. Each letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement to participate should include the organization's name, proposed level of commitment of resources (at fair market value) and responsibilities as they relate to the proposed program. The commitment must be signed by an authorized official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization, and indicate specifically that the resources will be committed during the time period in which CD-TA funds will be used. Outdated or past commitments will not be considered.

Resources may include cash or in-kind contributions, such as services valued at the fair market rate. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities.

In rating this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which, in relation to the funds requested, applicants can provide firm commitments for cash or in-kind services that will be used in conjunction with the CD-TA resources to achieve program purposes.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that the TA provided achieves measurable results. In a narrative, applicants should:

(1) (5 points). Propose an effective, quantifiable, outcome-oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance, i.e., actual against planned achievements. An "outcome" is an impact or end result of the TA activities undertaken, not the TA activities themselves. The evaluation plan shall identify outcomes to be measured, how they will be measured, and the steps in place to make adjustments to work plans if performance targets are not met within established timeframes. For example, plans shall include goals (and report accomplishments) for the percent increase in program accomplishments as a result of capacity building assistance; measures of improved efficiencies; and increase in project resources as a result of assistance. The evaluation plan shall also contain ways to identify shortcomings and recommend areas for improvement when providing TA.

(2) (5 points). Demonstrate successful past performance in administering HUD

CD-TA programs or, for applicants new to HUD's CD-TA Programs, demonstrate successful past performance in providing TA in other community development programs.

In rating this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the application has an evaluation plan that is specific, measurable, and appropriate in relation to the activities proposed and the extent to which the application demonstrates past performance that is timely and cost-effective in the delivery of community development TA. HUD will consider past performance of current CD-TA providers, including financial drawdown information in HUD's files.

(C) Selection. Applications within the funding range (75+ points with 15+ points on Factor 1) may be funded in rank order under the CD-TA program and service areas for which they applied. Applicants for pooled Field Office HOME TA may not necessarily be funded in rank order since the amount of their awards, if any, will be determined by totaling the fair share amounts assigned to them by the individual Field Offices participating in the pool. A participating Field Office may distribute some or all of its fair share amount to any applicant for pooled funds that scores in the fundable range. To the extent permitted by funding constraints, HUD intends to provide coverage for as full a range of eligible CD-TA program activities as possible both in Field Office jurisdictions and nationally. To achieve this objective, HUD will seek to fund the highest ranking applications that bring the required expertise in one or more specialized activity areas, and fund portions of providers' proposed programs in which they have the greatest skill and capability for given geographic areas or on a national basis. HUD also may require national, multi-jurisdictional, or other providers to provide coverage to Field Office jurisdictions that cannot otherwise receive cost-effective support from a CD-TA provider. In selecting applicants for funding, HUD will seek to select a range of providers and activities that will best serve HOME, CHDO (HOME), McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance, and HOPWA program goals and priorities.

(D) Negotiation. After all applications have been rated and ranked and a selection has been made, HUD requires that all winners participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of the TADP and the budget. HUD will follow the negotiation procedures described in Section VI (D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. Applicants may request a debriefing as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

The application must contain the following items:

(A) HUD-424 which identifies the legal name of the applicant organization, a contact person, mailing address (including zip code), telephone number, fax number, and e-mail address. If the organization has never received a CD-TA award, please include a statement to this effect.

(B) One-page summary outlining the key elements of the proposed CD-TA activities.

(C) Chart that summarizes the amount of funds the applicant is requesting for each CD-TA program in each Field Office jurisdiction, for the pooled Field Office HOME TA, and for National TA. Please use the chart in Appendix C of this NOFA.

For Field Office TA only: If the applicant will not offer services throughout the full jurisdictional area of the Field Office, attach a statement to the chart that identifies the service areas proposed (e.g., cities, counties, etc.), as well as the communities in which the organization proposes to offer services. Please note that applicants requesting funding under the pooled Field Office HOME TA account must be willing to provide coverage to all Field Office jurisdictions opting in to the pooled account.

(D) Statement as to whether the applicant proposes to be considered for the role of lead CD-TA provider in one or more specific program areas in a Field Office jurisdiction and, if so, the organization's capabilities and attributes that qualify the applicant organization for the role.

(E) Narrative addressing each of the Factors for Award described in Section V(B) of this CD-TA Program section of this SuperNOFA. This narrative statement will be the basis for evaluating the application.

(F) Statement as to whether the organization proposes to use pass through funds under the CHDO (HOME) TA program and, if so, the amount and proposed uses of such funds.

(G) If applying for the CHDO (HOME) program, a certification as to whether the organization qualifies as a primarily single-State provider under section 233(e) of the Cranston-Gonzales Affordable Housing Act and as discussed in Section III(C)(2) of this CD-TA program section of this SuperNOFA.

(H) Budget Summary identifying costs for implementing the plan of suggested TA activities by cost category for each CD-TA program for which funds are requested by Field Office or as a National Provider (applicants for pooled Field Office HOME TA should submit one Budget Summary to cover all Field Offices opting in) in accordance with the following:

(1) Direct Labor by position or individual indicating the estimated hours per position, the rate per hour, estimated cost per staff position, and the total estimated direct labor costs;

(2) Fringe Benefits by staff position identifying the rate, the salary base the rate was computed on, estimated cost per position, and the total estimated fringe benefit cost;

(3) Material Costs indicating the item, quantity, unit cost per item, estimated cost per item, and the total estimated material costs;

(4) Transportation Costs, as applicable;

(5) Equipment Costs, if any, identifying the type of equipment, quantity, unit costs, and total estimated equipment costs;

(6) Consultant Costs, if applicable, indicating the type, estimated number of consultant days, rate per day, total estimated consultant costs per consultant, and total estimated costs for all consultants;

(7) Subcontract Costs, if applicable, indicating each individual subcontract and amount;

(8) Other Direct Costs listed by item, quantity, unit cost, total for each item listed, and total other direct costs for the award; and

(9) Indirect Costs, if applicable, identifying the type, approved indirect cost rate, base to which the rate applies, and total indirect costs.

These line items should total the amount requested for each CD-TA program area. The grand total of all CD-TA program funds requested should reflect the grand total of all funds for which application is made.

(I) Forms, Certifications, and Assurances listed in Section II (H) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA (collectively referred to as the "standard forms").

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(9) and 58.34(a)(9), the assistance provided by these programs relates only to the provision of technical assistance and is categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act and not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities. This determination is based on the ineligibility of real property acquisition, construction, rehabilitation, conversion, leasing, or repair for HUD assistance under these technical assistance programs.

IX. Authority

The CHDO (HOME) Technical Assistance program is authorized by the HOME Investment Partnerships Act (42 U.S.C. 12773); 24 CFR part 92.

The HOME Technical Assistance Program is authorized by the HOME Investment Partnerships Act (42 U.S.C. 12781-12783); 24 CFR part 92.

For the McKinney-Vento Act Homeless Assistance Programs Technical Assistance, the Supportive Housing Program is authorized under 42 U.S.C. 11381 et seq.; 24 CFR 583.140. The Emergency Shelter Grant, Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Single Room Occupancy Program and Shelter Plus Care Technical Assistance Programs are authorized by the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act.

The HOPWA Technical Assistance program is authorized under the FY 2003 HUD Appropriations Act. The HOPWA program is authorized under the AIDS Housing Opportunities Act (42 U.S.C. 12901) and the HOPWA regulations are found at 24 CFR part 574.

X. HUD Reform Act

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to the CD-TA programs are explained in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Community Outreach Partnership Centers Program (COPC)

Historically Black College and Universities (HBCU)

Hispanic-Serving Institutions Assisting Communities (HSIAC)

Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities (AN/NHIAC)

Tribal Colleges and Universities Program (TCUP)

Funding Availability for Universities and Colleges Programs

As part of HUD's consolidation approach to streamline the NOFA process, the Office of University Partnerships (OUP) is announcing the following competitive grant programs in this NOFA.

- Community Outreach Partnership Centers Program (COPC)
- Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU)
- Hispanic Serving Institutions Assisting Communities (HSIAC)
- Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities (AN/NHIAC)
- Tribal Colleges and Universities Program (TCUP)

The purpose for combining all of the OUP competitive grant programs (excluding the Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program, the Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program, the Community Development Work Study Program, and the Community Outreach Partnership Center (COPC) Community Futures Demonstration) under this NOFA is to make it easier for applicants to identify all of the funding opportunities available to colleges and universities through OUP. Please read this NOFA thoroughly and carefully prior to submitting a proposal, since each program in this NOFA has distinct requirements. THERE IS NO SEPARATE APPLICATION KIT FOR THESE PROGRAMS.

Available Funds. Approximately $34.092 million from the Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 Consolidated Appropriation Resolution, Division K (plus any unexpended and additional funds recaptured from prior appropriations) is available for the Office of University Partnership programs as follows:

- Community Outreach Partnership Centers Programs: $6.955 million ($1.955 million has been set aside to fund the COPC Community Futures Demonstration. A separate NOFA is included in this SuperNOFA for this program).
- Historically Black Colleges and Universities: $9.935 million (up to $2 million was earmarked to provide technical assistances).
- Hispanic Serving Institutions Assisting Communities: $6.458 million plus approximately $588,000 in previously unexpended FY 2002 funds.
- Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities: $2.981 million plus approximately $4.0 million in previously unexpended funds.
- Tribal Colleges and Universities Program: $2.981 million plus approximately $194,552 in previously unexpended FY 2002 funds.

Additional Information

Applicants interested in applying for funds under these grant programs should carefully review the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date, Addresses, Submission Procedures, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. A completed application package is due on or before June 12, 2003 for Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Program, Hispanic-Serving Institutions Assisting Communities (HSIAC) Program, Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Communities Program (AN/NHIAC), and Tribal Colleges and Universities Program (TCUP).

A completed application package is due on or before June 24, 2003 for the Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) Program.

Address for Submitting Applications. A completed application package consists of one original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the application. This package must be submitted to the following address: Processing and Control Branch, Office of Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Room 7251, Washington, DC, 20410. When submitting an application package, also please include the following information on the outside of the envelope: (a) the Office of University Partnerships, (b) name of the program under which funding is being requested, (c) Room number 7251, (d) applicant's name and mailing address (including zip code), and (e) applicant's telephone number (including area code). Applicants applying for funding under the HBCU program must also send a copy of their application to the Community Planning and Development (CPD) Director in the appropriate HUD Field Office. The address for each Field Office is listed in the General Section of this NOFA.

Mailing and Receipt Procedures. Applicants must refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA for detailed requirements governing application submission and receipt.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Applicants may contact Armand W. Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3181 or Susan Brunson at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3852. For information regarding the Tribal Colleges and Universities Program, please contact Sherone Ivey, Office of Native American Programs at (202) 708-0314 ext. 4200. Speech- or hearing-impaired individuals may call the Federal Information Relay Service TTY at (800) 877-8399. Except for the "800" number, these numbers are not toll-free. Applicants may also reach Mr. Carriere via email at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov, Ms. Brunson at Susan_S_Brunson@hud.gov, and Ms. Ivey at Sherone_E_Ivey@hud.gov.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about these programs and preparation of applications. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, consult HUD's Website at www.hud.gov.

The Community Outreach Partnership Centers Program (COPC)

I. Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To provide funds to two-year colleges, four-year colleges, and universities to establish and operate Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPCs) to address the problems of urban areas.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

The amount allocated, grant size and term, and performance period for this program are listed below.

Amount Allocated. In Fiscal Year 2003, approximately $6.955 million was earmarked by the conference report accompanying the FY 2003 Consolidation Appropriation Resolution, Division K ($1.955 million has been set aside to fund architectural and planning schools. There is a separate NOFA for this program and it is included in this SuperNOFA).

Grant Size and Term. HUD will award two kinds of grants under this program, New Grants and New Directions Grants.

(1) New Grants will be awarded to applicants who have never received a COPC grant to undertake eligible work (as identified in Section III(C) below). The minimum amount a New Grant applicant can request is $250,000 and the maximum amount is $400,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

(2) New Directions Grants will be awarded to applicants who were previous COPC recipients to undertake new directions in their activities (as identified in Section III(C) below). The minimum and maximum amount a New Direction Grant applicant can request is $150,000 for a two-year (24 months) grant performance period.

HUD will use up to $4 million to fund approximately 10 New Grants and up to $1 million to fund approximately 6 New Directions Grants.

HUD intends to fund at least two eligible COPC applications (applications that receive a minimum score of 75 points) that serve Colonias, (as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA). HUD will select the highest-ranking COPC applications that serve Colonias among the rated COPC applications. If less than two fundable COPC applications that serve Colonias are eligible for award these funds will be used to award additional COPC grants.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The main purpose of the COPC Program is to assist in establishing or carrying out outreach and applied research activities that address problems of urban areas; and to encourage structural change, both within an institution of higher education and in the way the institution relates to its neighbors. Funding under this program shall be used to establish and operate local Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC). The five key concepts that a COPC Program should include are:

(1) Outreach, technical assistance, and applied research;

(2) Empowerment efforts that engage community-based organizations and residents as partners with the institution throughout the life of the project and beyond;

(3) Applied research related to the project's outreach activities;

(4) Assistance to target communities primarily from the faculty, students, and to a limited extent by neighborhood residents and community-based organizations funded by the university; and

(5) Support from the university's senior officials to make the program part of the institution's broader effort to meet its urban mission.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Public or private nonprofit institutions of higher education granting two- or four-year degrees that are accredited by a national or regional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education. Consortia of eligible institutions may also apply, as long as one institution is designated the lead applicant. (Note: Institutions that participated in a COPC grant as a member of a consortium are eligible to apply for New Grant if they received 25 percent or less of the earlier grant.)

(C) Eligible Activities. COPC Programs should combine research with outreach activities and work with communities and local governments to address the multidimensional problems that beset urban areas. Appropriate urban problems include, but are not limited to housing, economic development, neighborhood revitalization, infrastructure, health care, job training, education, crime prevention, planning, the environment, and community organizing.

(1) Research activities must have a clear near-term potential and practical application for solving specific, significant urban problems in designated communities and neighborhoods, including evaluation of the effectiveness of the outreach activities and how they relate to HUD programs. Applicants must have the capacity to apply the research results directly to the proposed outreach activities outlined in the application's work plan. In addition, applicants must work with communities and local institutions, including neighborhood groups, local governments, and other appropriate community stakeholders, in applying these results to real-life urban problems.

(2) Outreach, technical assistance, and information exchange activities designed to address specific urban problems in designated communities and neighborhoods served by the grant.

Examples of outreach activities include, but are not limited to:

(a) Assistance to communities to improve consolidated housing and community development plans and eliminate impediments to the design and implementation of such plans;

(b) Design of community or metropolitan strategies to resolve urban problems of communities and neighborhoods;

(c) Innovative use of funds to provide direct technical expertise and assistance to local community groups, residents, and other appropriate community stakeholders to resolve local problems such as homelessness, housing discrimination, and impediments to fair housing choice;

(d) Technical assistance in business start-up activities for low- and moderate-income individuals and organizations, including business start-up training and technical expertise and assistance, mentor programs, assistance in developing small loan funds, business incubators, etc;

(e) Technical assistance to local public housing authorities on welfare-to-work initiatives and physical transformations of public or assisted housing, including development of accessible and visitable housing;

(f) Job training and other training projects, such as workshops, seminars, and one-on-one and on-the-job training;

(g) Assistance to communities in eliminating or reducing excessive, unnecessary or duplicative regulations, processes or policies that restrict the development or rehabilitation of affordable housing (For further discussion of Regulatory Barriers see the General Section of this SuperNOFA);

(h) Assistance to communities to improve the design of affordable housing to better meet user needs and applying design approaches and principles that can improve overall quality and livability. For further information and guidance visit the Web site: <http://www.designadvisor.org>.

(i) Regional projects that maximize the interaction of targeted inner city distressed neighborhoods with suburban job opportunities similar to HUD's Bridges-to-Work or Moving to Opportunity programs. (For more information see www.HUDUSER.org.)

(3) Funds for faculty development including paying for course time or summer support to enable faculty members to work with the COPC.

(4) Funds for stipends or salaries for students (but the program cannot cover tuition and fees) while they are working with the COPC.

(5) Up to 20% of the grant for payments of reasonable grant administrative costs related to planning and execution of the project (e.g. preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs is provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House Web site at: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html>.

(6) Activities to carry out the "Program Requirements" as defined in this NOFA. These activities may include leases for office space in which to house the Community Outreach Partnership Center, under the following conditions:

(a) The lease must be for existing facilities not requiring rehabilitation or construction;

(b) No repairs or renovations of the property may be undertaken with federal funds; and

(c) Properties in the Coastal Barrier Resource System designated under the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3501) cannot be leased with federal funds.

(7) Components of the program may address metropolitan or regional strategies. Applicants must clearly demonstrate how:

(a) Strategies are directly related to what the targeted neighborhoods and neighborhood-based organizations have decided is needed; and

(b) Neighborhoods and neighborhood organizations are involved in the development and implementation of the metropolitan or regional strategies.

(D) Ineligible Activities. Activities ineligible for funding under this program include, but are not limited to the following:

(1) Research activities that have no clear and immediate practical application for solving urban problems or do not address specific problems in designated communities and neighborhoods or have any specific link to HUD programs.

(2) Any type of construction, rehabilitation, or other physical development costs.

(3) Costs used for routine operations and day-to-day administration of institutions of higher education, local governments or neighborhood groups.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following program requirements:

(1) All funds awarded to New Grant applicants must be spent over a three-year (36 months) grant performance period. All funds awarded to New Direction Grants applicants must be spent over a two-year (24 months) grant performance period.

(2) Applicants are required to meet the following match requirements:

(a) New Grant applicants match requirements:

(1) Research Activities. 50% of the total project costs of establishing and operating research activities.

(2) Outreach Activities. 25% of the total project costs of establishing and operating outreach activities.

(b) New Directions Grant applicants match requirements:

(1) Research Activities. 60% of the total project costs of establishing and operating research activities.

(2) Outreach Activities. 35% of the total project costs of establishing and operating outreach activities.

For each match, cash or in-kind contributions to the program, applicants must submit a signed letter of commitment (Further detailed information is outlined in this NOFA in Section V. Application Selection Process, "Factor 4: Leveraging Resources" for this program). Applicants may not count as match any costs that would be ineligible for funding under the program (e.g., housing rehabilitation).

In previous competitions, some applicants incorrectly based their match calculations on the federal grant amount only. An applicant's match is evaluated as percentage of the total cost of establishing and operating research and outreach activities, not just the federal grant amount. Please remember to base the calculation on the TOTAL AMOUNT.

(3) Employ the research and outreach resources of the institution of higher education to solve specific urban problems identified by communities served by the Center;

(4) Establish outreach activities in areas identified in the application as the communities to be served;

(5) Establish a community advisory committee comprised of representatives of local institutions and residents of the communities to be served to assist in identifying local needs and advise on the development and implementation of strategies to address those issues;

(6) Coordinate outreach activities in communities to be served by the Center;

(7) Facilitate public service projects in the communities served by the Center;

(8) Act as a clearinghouse for dissemination of information;

(9) Develop instructional programs, convene conferences, and provide training for local community leaders, when appropriate;

(10) Exchange information with other Centers. The clearinghouse function in Section IV(8) above refers to a local or regional clearinghouse for dissemination of information and is separate and distinct from the functions in (10) above, which relate to the provision of information to the University Partnerships Clearinghouse, which is the national clearinghouse for the program; and

(11) Grant funds will pay for activities conducted directly, rather than passing funds to other entities (In order for an application to be competitive, no more than 25 percent of the grant funds should be passed to other entities).

V. Application Selection Process

Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an application's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the application based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed in Section V(B) below.

Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(A) Threshold Requirements For Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

There will be two separate competitions, one for New Grants applicants and one for New Direction Grant applicants. For each type of grant applicants will be rated, ranked, and selected separately.

(1) The applicant is eligible as referenced in Section III, "Program Description, Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities in this NOFA".

(2) Applicants applying for New Grants may not request less than $250,000 or exceed $400,000. Applicants applying for New Direction Grants may not request less or exceed $150,000.

(3) Applicants must meet the program's statutory match requirement (the requirement is defined in Section IV, "Program Requirements").

(4) New Grant applications must be multifaceted, address three or more urban problems, and propose at least one distinct activity to address each separate urban problem. Single purpose applications are not eligible.

(5) New Direction Grant applications are required to address two urban problems and undertake at least one activity for each of these problems. Applicants must also demonstrate that the proposed activities either implement new eligible projects in the current target neighborhood(s) or implement eligible projects in a new target neighborhood(s). Single purpose applications are not eligible.

(6) New Direction Grant applicants must have drawn down at least 75% from any previous COPC award two weeks prior to the program's application due date to be eligible to apply and receive a New Directions Grant.

(7) Applicants who were a member of a consortium and received more than 25 percent of the earlier funding are not eligible to apply for a New Grant. However applicants may submit an application for a New Direction Grant (Applicants may submit an application individually or as part of the old consortium).

(8) Only one New Grant application will be permitted from an institution. However different campuses of the same university system are eligible to apply, even if one campus has already received COPC funding if they have an administrative and budgeting structure independent of other campuses in the system.

(9) Applicants may be part of only one consortium or submit only one application or all applications will be disqualified. HUD will hold the applicant responsible for ensuring that neither the applicant nor any part of their institution, including specific faculty, participate in more than one application.

(10) Programs must operate in an urban area. The statute creating COPC is very specific that programs address the problems of urban areas. HUD uses the Census definition of an urban area: a single geographic place (e.g., a city, town, or village, but not a county) with a population of 2,500 or more. Applicants cannot meet this test by aggregating several places smaller than the population threshold in order to meet this requirement.

(11) In order to ensure that the primary focus of the proposed project is on outreach, there is a cap on research costs that can be budgeted for this program. No more than 25 percent of the total project costs (federal share plus match) can be spent on research activities. However, applicants are not required to undertake any research as part of their project and may apply for a project that is totally outreach focused.

(B) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed below. Unless otherwise noted, New Grant applications and New Directions Grant applications will receive the same number of points on a given factor. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under this program is 102. This includes the two RC/EZ/EC bonus points as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. In rating this factor HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates:

(1) Knowledge and Experience (15 Points) For New Grant Applicants. (7 Points) For New Direction Grant Applicants.

(a) The knowledge and experience of the overall proposed project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants, and contractors in planning and managing the kind of programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent and substantial the experience of the staff, particularly the institution's own staff who will work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the higher the number of points an applicant can receive for this rating factor. The following categories will be evaluated:

- (1) Undertaking research activities in specific communities that have a clear near-term potential for practical application to significant urban issues;
- (2) Undertaking outreach activities in specific communities to solve or ameliorate significant urban issues;
- (3) Undertaking projects with community-based organizations or local governments; and
- (4) Providing leadership in solving community problems and making national contributions to solving long-term and immediate urban problems.

(b) Past Performance (8 points). For New Directions Grants only. This subfactor will evaluate the extent to which an applicant has performed successfully under a previous COPC grant(s), as measured by:

(a) Achievement of specific measurable outcome objectives consistent with the timeline in the awarded grant proposal. Please provide a detailed list outlining those achievements as they related to the approved timeline in the awarded grant;

(b) Leveraging of funding consistent with or exceeding the funds originally proposed to be leveraged for that project. In addressing leveraging provide information that compares the proposed leveraged funds and resources with what was actually leveraged; and

(c) Full points will be awarded for performance that met the goals and objectives as outlined in the awarded grant proposal.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the urgency of meeting the need in the target area. In evaluating this factor, the proposal will be rated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current. In rating this factor, HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current. To the extent that the targeted community's Five (5) Year Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identify the level of the problem and the urgency in meeting the need, applicants should include references to these documents in the response.

If the proposed activities are not covered under the scope of the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), indicate such in the proposal and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. Other reliable sources of data include, but are not limited to, Census reports, HUD Continuum of Care gap analysis and its E-Map (<http://www.hud.gov/emaps>), law enforcement agency crime reports, Public Housing Authorities' Comprehensive Plan, community needs analyses such as provided by the United Way, the applicant's institution, and other sound and reliable appropriate sources. Needs in terms of fulfilling court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, and voluntary compliance agreements may also be addressed.

The data used should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. Needs should be documented as they apply to the area where the activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state. Remember the statute creating COPC is very specific that the program addresses problems of an urban area: A single geographic place (e.g., a city, town, or village, but not a county) with a population of 2,500 or more.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (55 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of the proposed work plan. There must be a clear relationship between the proposed activities, community needs, and purpose of the program funding for an applicant to receive points for this factor. In addition, HUD will also consider the extent to which the budget is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form.

This factor will be evaluated on the extent to which the proposed work plan will:

(1) (10 points). Identify the specific services or activities to be performed. (Note applicants are not required to undertake research as part of the grant.) In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will consider the extent to which:

- (a) There is a clear research agenda;
 - (i) With identifiable research projects and outcomes (e.g., reports, surveys, etc.);
 - (ii) That identifies each task and who will be responsible for it;
 - (iii) Which is tied to the outreach agenda (e.g., if an applicant proposed to study the extent of housing abandonment in a neighborhood and then design a plan for reusing this housing, this demonstrates a link between the proposed research and outreach strategies);
 - (iv) Which does not duplicate research by the institution or others for the target area previously completed or currently underway. If other complimentary research is underway, describe how the proposed research agenda would complement it; and
- (b) There is a clear outreach agenda:
 - (i) With identifiable outreach projects;
 - (ii) That identifies each task and who will be responsible for it;
 - (iii) That involves the institution as a whole (i.e., many academic disciplines and administrative offices);
 - (iv) That provides for on-site or frequent presence in the target area; and
 - (v) That does not duplicate outreach activities by the institution or others for the target area previously completed or currently underway.

(c) For research and outreach activities, applicant should briefly summarize the potential for their work to improve the performance of HUD programs, such as citizen participation requirements and other features of the Consolidated Plan.

(2) (7 Points). Involve the communities to be served in a partnership for the planning and implementation of the proposed program activities. In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will look at the extent to which:

(a) One or more Community Advisory Committees have been or will be formed that represent the communities' diversity (including businesses, community groups, residents, and others) to be served to develop and implement strategies to address the needs identified in Factor 2. In addressing this subfactor, applicants must demonstrate by providing a list that such a committee(s) has already been formed and what groups they represent or that commitments have been secured from the appropriate persons to serve on the committee(s), rather than just describing generally the types of people whose involvement will be sought.

(b) A wide range of neighborhood organizations and local government entities has been involved in the identification of the proposed research and outreach activities.

(c) The committee and partners will play an active role in all stages of the project and will not serve as merely advisors or monitors.

(d) The outreach agenda includes training projects for local community leaders, for example, to increase their capacity to direct their organizations or undertake various kinds of community development projects.

(3) (6 Points). Help solve or address an urgent problem as identified in Rating Factor 2 and will achieve the purposes of the program within the grant period. In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will look at the extent to which:

(a) Specific time phased and measurable objectives are identified to be accomplished; the proposed short and long term program objectives to be achieved as a result of the proposed activities; the tangible and measurable impact the program will have on the community in general; the target area or population in particular including affirmatively furthering fair housing for classes protected under the Fair Housing Act; and the relationship the proposed activities to other ongoing or proposed efforts to improve the economic, social or living environment in the impact area; and

(b) The activities proposed are responsive to the pressing and urgent needs, as identified in the documents described in Factor 2.

(4) (4 Points) Potentially yield innovative strategies or "best practices" that can be replicated and disseminated to other organizations, including nonprofit organizations, state and local governments. In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will assess the applicant's demonstrated ability to disseminate results of research and outreach activities to other COPCs and communities. HUD will evaluate an applicant's past experience and the scope and quality of the plan to disseminate information on COPC results, strategies, and lessons learned through such means as conferences, cross-site technical assistance, publications, etc. The more proactive the plan for providing information to a wide ranges of audiences, the higher the number of points an applicant will receive.

(5) (5 Points) Affirmatively Further Fair Housing. This factor will evaluate the extent to which an applicant proposes to undertake activities designed to affirmatively further fair housing, for example:

(a) Working with other entities in the community to overcome impediments to fair housing, such as discrimination in the sale or rental of housing or in advertising, provision of brokerage services, or lending;

(b) Promoting fair housing choice through the expansion of homeownership opportunities and improved quality of services for minorities, families with children, and persons with disabilities; or

(c) Providing housing mobility counseling services.

(6) (6 Points) HUD Policy Priorities.

HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY 2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievements. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which a program will further and support HUD's priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed an applicant will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than six points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(7) (12 Points) For New Grant Applicants (7 Points) For New Directions Grant Applicants. Result in the COPC function and activities becoming part of the urban mission of the institution and being funded in the future by sources other than HUD. The rating for this subfactor will vary depending on whether the application is for a New Grant or a New Directions Grant.

In reviewing this subfactor for a New Grant, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the applicant addresses each of the categories below:

(a) COPC activities relate to the institution's urban mission; demonstrates support and involvement of the institution's executive leadership (e.g. department chairs, deans, etc.); are linked by a formal organizational structure to other units related to outreach and community partnerships; are reflected in budget and planning documents of the university; are part of a climate that rewards faculty work on these activities through promotion and tenure policies; benefit students because they are part of a service learning program or professional training at the institution (rather than just volunteer activities); and are reflected in the institution's curriculum. HUD will look at the institution's commitment to faculty and staff continuing work in COPC neighborhoods or replicating successes in other neighborhoods and to the long term commitment (e.g. three years after the start of the COPC) of hard dollars to COPC work. HUD will consider the extent to which the proposed activities are appropriate for an institution of higher education and are tied to the institution's teaching or research mission. In addition, HUD will consider the extent to which the faculty, staff and students from across many disciplines are involved in COPC-like activities as a way of demonstrating the institution's commitment to these kinds of activities.

(b) The institution has received commitments for funding from sources outside the university for related COPC-like projects and activities in the targeted neighborhood or other distressed neighborhoods. Funding sources to be considered include, but are not limited to, local governments, neighborhood organizations, private businesses, the institution, and foundations.

In reviewing this subfactor for a New Directions Grant, HUD will consider the extent to which the New Directions project will sustain the institutional capacity and commitment of the institution to undertake outreach activities. HUD will evaluate the following: (a) Increases in the number of faculty undertaking this kind of work, (b) increases in the number of courses linked to outreach activities and the number of students taking these courses, (c) formal changes in institutional policies related to support of outreach, and (d) other measures of the impact of this work on the institution.

(8) (5 Points) For New Direction Grants Only. Previous grantees have a wealth of knowledge that they can and should be shared with other institutions. If an applicant sends a faculty member of its team who has been listed in the application to participate in the peer review process for New Grants, the applicant will receive 5 points.

(9) (5 Points) Budget. HUD will consider the extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the costs for each budget category for the program's entire period of performance.

(b) HUD 424-CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form shows the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

All budget forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(b) Budget-Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, the Davis-Bacon rate, (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project. For equipment applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed under the category "Indirect Costs". Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424-C and HUD 424-CB forms so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424C form will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error. If this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the applicant will not be able to correct the amount requested and the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve the program purpose. This factor measures the extent to which partnerships have been established with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of the proposed program activities. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant being sought. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities willing to establish partnerships. Applicants may also establish partnerships with funding recipients in other grant programs to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on an applicant program advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Applicants may count overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived. In evaluating this factor, HUD will allocate points as follows:

(1) Five (5 Points) will be awarded for a match that is 50 percent over the required match, as described in Section V, Application Selection Process. Less points will be assigned depending on the extent of the match. Matching funds must be provided unconditionally in order to be counted for this subfactor.

HUD is concerned that applicants should be providing hard dollars as part of their matching contributions to enhance the tangible resources going into targeted neighborhoods. Thus, while indirect costs can count towards meeting the required match, they will not be used in calculating match overage. Only direct costs can count in this factor.

(2) (Up to an additional five (5) points) will be awarded for the extent to which applicants document that matching funds are provided from eligible sources other than the institution (e.g., funds from the city, including CDBG, other state or local government agencies, public or private organizations, or foundations). Less points will be assigned depending on the extent of the outside match.

Applicants must provide evidence of leveraging/partnerships by including in the application package letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or agreements to participate from any entity, including the applicant's own institution that will be providing matching funds to the project.

For each match, cash or in-kind contribution, a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitment of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for the resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters, memoranda of understanding or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applications that do not include evidence of leveraging will receive zero (0) points for this Factor and will be disqualified.

A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

- (a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and/or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted toward the match requirement);
- (b) Specifically indicate how the match is to be used;
- (c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for only one year;
- (d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD Grant; and
- (e) The signature of the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/or goods and/or services.

Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as a match.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess their performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that objectives and goals have been achieved.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the COPC program. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be measured and achieved. Examples of outcomes are increasing business start-up in the target community, by a certain percentage, or increasing family financial stability (e.g., increasing assets to families and communities through the development of incubators).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of new businesses developed, the number of students involved in service learning activities, the number of new courses an institution developed that focus on community outreach activities, the number of new formed partnerships that aid in community capacity building. Outputs should produce outcomes for the program. At a minimum an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

- (a) Short and long term objectives to be achieved;
- (b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements;
- (c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;
- (d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the faculty and students to provide opportunities to reward and continue this type of work; and
- (e) The impact the grant will have on assisting the University to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period of this grant award.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information on how to use can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

The Historically Black Colleges and Universities Program (HBCU)

I. Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To assist Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development, principally for persons of low- and moderate-income, consistent with the purposes of Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term and Performance Period

Amount Allocated. In Fiscal Year 2003, $9.935 million was earmarked by the conference report accompanying the FY 2003 Consolidation Appropriation Resolution, Division K (of which up to $2 million was earmarked to provide technical assistance).

Grant Size and Term. HUD will award two kinds of grants under this program, Previously Unfunded HBCU Grants and Previously Funded HBCU Grants.

(1) Previously Unfunded HBCU Grants will be awarded to HBCU applicants who have never received an HBCU grant. The minimum and maximum amount a Previously Unfunded HBCU applicant can request is $340,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

(2) Previously Funded HBCU Grants will be awarded to HBCU applicants that have received funding under previous HBCU grant competitions. The minimum amount a Previously Funded HBCU applicant can request is $340,000 and the maximum is $550,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

In order to ensure that Previously Unfunded HBCU applicants receive awards in this competition, approximately $1.4 million will be made available to fund Previously Unfunded HBCU applicants and approximately $6.6 million will be made available to Previously Funded HBCU applicants that have received funding under previous HBCU competitions. (See Appendix C of this NOFA for a list of Previously Funded and Unfunded HBCUs).

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The purpose of the HBCU Program is to assist HBCUs expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development.

(1) For the purposes of these programs, the term "locality" includes any city, county, township, parish, village, or other general political subdivision of a state, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands where the institution is located.

(2) If the institution is located in a metropolitan statistical area (MSA), as established by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the locality may be considered to be one or more entities (as defined above) within the entire MSA. The nature of the locality for each HBCU may differ, therefore, depending on its location.

(3) A "target area" is the locality or the area within the locality in which the institution will implement its proposed HUD grant.

(B) Eligible Applicants. HBCUs as determined by the Department of Education in 34 CFR 608.2 in accordance with that Department's responsibilities under Executive Order 13256, dated February 12, 2002, are eligible for funding under this program. Applicants must be accredited by a national or regional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education.

(C) Eligible Activities. Each activity proposed for funding must meet both a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program national objective and the CDBG eligibility requirements. Eligible activities that may be funded under this program are those activities eligible for CDBG funding. The eligible activities are listed in 24 CFR part 570, subpart C, particularly §§ 570.201 through 570.206. Each activity funded under this program must meet one of the three national objectives of the Community Development Block Grant program, which are:

- (a) Benefit to low- or moderate-income persons;
- (b) Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
- (c) Meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community, and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

Criteria for determining whether an activity addresses one or more of these objectives are provided at 24 CFR 570.208.

Examples of Eligible Activities include, but are not limited to:

- (a) Acquisition of real property;
- (b) Clearance and demolition;

(c) Rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging accessible design features in accordance with the requirements of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

(d) Acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities and streets; including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging compliance accessible with the design and construction requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Fair Housing Act;

(e) Relocation payments and other assistance for permanently and temporarily relocated individuals, families, businesses, nonprofit organizations, and farm operations where the assistance is:

(i) Required under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(b) or (c); or

(ii) Determined by the grantee to be appropriate under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(d);

(f) Direct homeownership assistance to low- and moderate-income persons, as provided in section 105(a) (25) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974;

(g) Special economic development activities described at 24 CFR 570.203;

(h) Assistance to facilitate economic development by providing technical or financial assistance for the establishment, stabilization, and expansion of microenterprises, including minority enterprises;

(i) Assistance to community-based development organizations (CBDO) to carry out a CDBG neighborhood revitalization, community economic development, or energy conservation project, in accordance with 24 CFR 570.204. This could include activities in support of a HUD approved local entitlement grantee, CDBG Neighborhood Revitalization Strategy (NRS) or HUD approved State CDBG Community Revitalization Strategy (CRS);

(j) Eligible public service activities are those general support activities that can help to stabilize a neighborhood and contribute to sustainable redevelopment of the area, including but not limited to such activities as those concerned with employment, crime prevention, child care, health, drug abuse, education, fair housing counseling, energy conservation, homebuyer down payment assistance, or recreational needs;

The CDBG Publication entitled "Community Development Block Grant Program Guide to National Objectives and Eligible Activities for Entitlement Communities" describes the regulations, and a copy can be obtained from HUD's SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 for the hearing-impaired.

(k) Fair housing services designed to further the fair housing objectives of the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601-20) by making all persons, without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, family status and/or disability aware of the range of housing opportunities available to them;

(l) Payments of reasonable grant administrative costs related to planning and execution of the project (e.g. preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs are provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House Web site at: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html>; and

(m) Activities Designed to Promote Training and Employment Opportunities. HUD urges applicants to consider undertaking activities designed to promote opportunities for training and employment of very low-income residents in connection with HUD initiatives such as "Neighborhood Networks" (NN) in other federally assisted or insured housing and Employment Opportunities for Lower Income Persons in connection with Assisted Projects.

(D) Ineligible Activities. Ineligible CDBG Activities are listed at 24 CFR 570.207.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following requirements:

(1) All funds awarded under these programs must be spent over a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

(2) Applicants that propose to undertake activities that involve the following: acquisition of real property, clearance, demolition, rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation, reduction encouraging accessible design features, acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements are required to provide at least one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution, of the cost to complete the activities. This information must be submitted with the application. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction, and/or management.

(3) Applicants must ensure that not less than 51% of the aggregated expenditures of the grant benefit low- and moderate-income persons under the criteria specified in 24 CFR 570.208(a) or 570.208(d)(5) or (6).

(4) Applicants that claim leveraging from any source, including their own institution, must provide letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or agreements evidencing the extent and firmness of commitment of leveraging from other federal (e.g., AmeriCorps Programs), state, local, and/or other private sources (including the applicant's own resources). These documents must be dated no earlier than the date of this published NOFA and follow the outline provided in Section V, Application Process, "Factor 4: Leveraging Resources of this NOFA."

(5) Where grant funds will be used for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction an applicant must demonstrate site control. Funds may be recaptured or deobligated from applicants that cannot demonstrate control of a suitable site within one year after the initial notification of award.

(6) Labor Standards. Applicants awarded funds must comply with the labor standards (Davis-Bacon) as found at 24 CFR 570.603.

V. Application Selection Process

Two type of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an applicant's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the application based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed in Section V (B) below.

Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(A) Threshold Requirements for Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

(1) The applicant is eligible as referenced in Section III, "Program Description, Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities in this NOFA".

(2) The minimum and maximum amount Previously Unfunded HBCU applicants can request is $340,000. The minimum amount a Previously Funded HBCU applicant can request is $340,000 and the maximum is $550,000.

(3) Applicants are bound by the CDBB statutory requirement that no more than 15% of the total grant amount is used for public service activities that benefit low- and moderate-income persons.

Therefore, at least 85% of the grant amount must be used for activities qualifying under an eligibility category other than public services (as described at 24 CFR 570.201(e)). If an applicant proposes an activity which otherwise is eligible it may not be funded if state or local law requires that it be carried out by a governmental entity.

(4) Institutions with two (2) or more active HBCU grants who have drawn down less than 50 percent of the funding for each active grant two weeks prior to the program's application due date are ineligible to apply for a grant under this NOFA.

(B) Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed below. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under this program is 102. This includes the two RC/EZ/EC bonus points as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the institution has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates:

(1) Knowledge and Experience (20 Points) For previously Unfunded Applicants (5 Points) For previously Funded Applicants.

The knowledge and experience of the overall project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants (including technical assistance providers), and contractors in planning and managing the kinds of programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to specific activities to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent and substantial the experience of the staff, particularly the institution's own staff who will work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the higher the number of points an applicant can receive for this rating factor. The following categories will be evaluated:

(a) Undertaking specific successful community development projects with community-based organizations or local governments; and

(b) Providing leadership in solving community problems that have a direct bearing on the proposed activities.

(2) Past Performance for Previously Funded Grant Applicants Only (15 points).

This subfactor will evaluate the extent to which an applicant has performed successfully under all previously awarded and current grant(s) as measured by:

(a) Achievement of specific measurable outcome objectives consistent with the timeline in the grant proposal(s). Provide a detailed list outlining those achievements as they relate to the approved timeline in the past grant award(s);

(b) Leveraging of funding consistent with or exceeding the funds originally proposed to be leveraged for that project. In addressing leveraging, provide information that compares the proposed leveraged funds and resources with what was actually leveraged; and

(c) Full points will be awarded for performance that has met the goals and objectives as outlined in the past awarded grant proposal(s).

To address this subfactor, applicants must submit the HUD 40076-HBCU "Response Sheet" (Preparation Narrative only) for each HBCU grant they have received. (This form is located in Appendix C at the end of this NOFA.) The form should be complete and detailed.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, the proposal will be rated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current. In rating this factor HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current. To the extent that the targeted community's Five (5) Year Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identify the level of the problem and the urgency in meeting the need, applicants should include references to these documents in the response to this factor.

If the proposed activities are not covered under the scope of the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), indicate such in the proposal and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. Other reliable sources include, but are not limited to Census reports, HUD Continuum of Care gap analysis and its E-MAP (<http://www.hud.gov/emaps>), law enforcement agency crime reports, Public Housing Authorities' Comprehensive Plans, community needs analyses such as provided by the United Way, the applicant's institution, and other sound and reliable appropriate sources. Needs in terms of fulfilling court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, and voluntary compliance agreements may also be addressed.

The data used should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. Needs should be documented as they apply to the area where the activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state, unless the target area is the entire locality or state.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (50 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost effectiveness of the proposed work plan, the commitment of the institution to sustain the proposed activities, and actions regarding HUD's priorities, goals and objectives, and Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. In addition, HUD will also consider the extent to which the budget is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form.

This factor will be evaluated based on the extent to which the proposed work plan will:

(1) Quality of the Work Plan (35 Points)

(a) (10 Points) Work Plan Impact. Describe how the proposed activities will:

(i) Expand the role of the institution in its community;

(ii) Alleviate and/or fulfill the needs identified in Factor 2;

(iii) Relate to and not duplicate other activities in the target area. Duplicative effort will be acceptable only if an applicant can demonstrate through documentation that there is a population in need that is not being served;

(iv) Involve and empower citizens of the target area in all stages of the proposed project (particularly through a committee that is representative of the target community to guide the project); and

(v) Be disseminated to a wide variety of audiences, both academic and community-based, using a wide variety of media, including print and Internet technology.

(b) (20 Points) Specific Services and/or Activities. The work plan must incorporate all proposed activities. HUD will consider the feasibility of success of the program, measurable objectives, and how timely products will be delivered.

Describe each proposed activity and the tasks required to implement and complete the activities. Also for each activity describe:

(i) Which CDBG national objective is being met and how;

(ii) The sequence, duration, and the products to be delivered in 6 month intervals, up to thirty-six (36) months. Indicate which staff member, as described in Factor 1, will be responsible and accountable for the deliverables; and

(iii) Measurable objectives to be accomplished, e.g., the number of persons to be trained and employed; houses to be built (pursuant to 24 CFR 570.207) or rehabilitated; minority owned businesses to be started.

(c) (5 Points) Involvement of the Faculty and Students. The extent to which the applicant proposes to integrate the institution's students and faculty into proposed project activities.

(2) (5 Points) HUD Policy Priorities. HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY 2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievements. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which a program will further and support HUD's priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed an applicant will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than five points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(3) (5 Points) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. This subfactor will be evaluated on the extent to which an applicant proposes to undertake activities designed to affirmatively further fair housing, for example:

(a) Working with other entities in the community to overcome impediments to fair housing, such as discrimination in the sale or rental of housing or in advertising, provision of brokerage services or lending;

(b) Promoting fair housing choice through the expansion of homeownership opportunities and improved quality of services for minorities, families with children, and persons with disabilities; or

(c) Providing housing mobility counseling services.

(4) (5 Points) Budget. HUD will consider the extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 Form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the costs for each budget category for the program's entire period of performance.

(b) HUD 424-CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form must show the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

All budget forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(c) Budget-Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, Davis-Bacon wage rates (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project. If applicants propose to undertake: rehabilitation of residential, commercial and/or industrial structures; and/or acquisition, construction, or installation of public facilities and improvements, applicants must submit one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction and/or management. Guidance for securing these estimates can be obtained from the local HUD Office of Community Planning and Development. Equipment and contracts cannot be presented as a total estimated figure. For equipment applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed as "Indirect Costs" under that category. Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424-C and HUD 424-CB form so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424-C form will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error. If this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the applicant will not be able to correct the amount requested and the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve the program's purpose.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant established partnerships with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of the proposed activities. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities. Applicants may also establish partnerships with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on the program's advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived may be counted. However, higher points will be awarded if an applicant secures leveraged resources from sources outside the institution. Examples of potential sources for outside assistance:

- State and local governments
- Housing Authorities
- Local or national nonprofit organizations
- Banks and/or private businesses
- Foundations
- Faith-based and other community based organizations.

For each match, cash or in-kind contribution to the program a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitment of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for these resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters, memoranda of understanding, or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applications that do not include evidence of leveraging will receive zero (0) points for this Factor.

A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

- (a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and/or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement.);
- (b) Specifically indicate how the match is to be used;
- (c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memoranda of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for only one year;

(d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD Grant; and

(e) The signature of the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/or goods and/or services.

Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as a match.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess their performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that objectives and goals have been achieved.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the HBCU program. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be measured and achieved. Examples of outcomes are increasing community development in the target community, by a certain percentage, or increasing family stability through the creation of affordable housing opportunities (e.g., increasing assets to families and communities through the development of affordable community housing).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of new affordable housing units, the number of homes that have been renovated, and the number of community facilities that have been constructed or rehabilitated. Outputs should produce outcomes for the program. At a minimum, an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

- (a) Short and long term objectives to be achieved;
- (b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements;
- (c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;
- (d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the faculty and students to provide opportunities to reward and continue this type of work; and

(e) The impact the grant will have on assisting the university to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period of this grant award.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information on how to use can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

The Hispanic-Serving Institutions Assisting Communities Program (HSIAC)

I. Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To assist Hispanic-serving Institutions (HSIs) expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development, consistent with the purposes of Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term and Performance Period

Amount Allocated. In Fiscal Year 2003, $6.458 million was earmarked by the conference report accompanying the FY 2003 Consolidation Appropriation Resolution, Division K plus approximately $588,000 in previously unexpended FY 2002 funds.

Grant Size and Term. The maximum amount an HSIAC applicant can request for award is $600,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

HUD intends to fund at least two eligible HSIAC applications (applications that receive a minimum score of 75 points) that serve Colonias (as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA). HUD will select the highest-ranking HSIAC applications that serve Colonias among the rated HSIAC applications. If less than two fundable HSIAC applications that serve Colonias are eligible for award these funds will be used to award additional HSIAC grants.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

The purpose of the HSIAC Program is to assist HSI's expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development, principally for persons of low- and moderate-income.

(1) For the purposes of these programs, the term "locality" includes any city, county, township, parish, village, or other general political subdivision of a state, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands where the institution is located.

(2) A "target area" is the locality or the area within the locality in which the institution will implement its proposed HUD grant.

(B) Eligible Applicants

Nonprofit Hispanic-serving institutions of higher education that meet the definition of an HSI established in Title V of the 1998 Amendments to the Higher Education Act of 1965 (Pub. L. 105-244; enacted October 7, 1998). In order to meet this definition, at least 25 percent of the full-time undergraduate students enrolled in an institution must be Hispanic and not less than 50 percent of these Hispanic students must be low-income individuals. Institutions are not required to be on the list of eligible HSIs prepared by the U.S. Department of Education. However, an applicant that is not on the list is required to state in the application that the institution meets the U.S. Department of Education's statutory definition of an HSI.

(C) Eligible Activities

Each activity proposed for funding must meet both a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program national objective and the CDBG eligibility requirements. Eligible activities that may be funded under this program are those activities eligible for CDBG funding. The eligible activities are listed in 24 CFR part 570, subpart C, particularly §§ 570.201 through 570.206. Each activity funded under this program must meet one of the three national objectives of the Community Development Block Grant program, which are:

- (a) Benefit to low- or moderate-income persons;
- (b) Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
- (c) Meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community, and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

Criteria for determining whether an activity addresses one or more of these objectives are provided at 24 CFR 570.208.

Examples of Eligible Activities include, but are not limited to:

- (a) Acquisition of real property;
- (b) Clearance and demolition;
- (c) Rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging accessible design features in accordance with the requirements of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

(d) Acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities and streets; including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging compliance accessible with the design and construction requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Fair Housing Act;

(e) Relocation payments and other assistance for permanently and temporarily relocated individuals, families, businesses, nonprofit organizations, and farm operations where the assistance is:

(i) Required under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(b) or (c); or

(ii) Determined by the grantee to be appropriate under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(d);

(f) Direct homeownership assistance to low- and moderate-income persons, as provided in section 105(a) (25) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974;

(g) Special economic development activities described at 24 CFR 570.203;

(h) Assistance to facilitate economic development by providing technical or financial assistance for the establishment, stabilization, and expansion of microenterprises, including minority enterprises;

(i) Assistance to community-based development organizations (CBDO) to carry out a CDBG neighborhood revitalization, community economic development, or energy conservation project, in accordance with 24 CFR 570.204. This could include activities in support of a HUD approved local entitlement grantee CDBG Neighborhood Revitalization Strategy (NRS) or HUD approved State CDBG Community Revitalization Strategy (CRS);

(j) Eligible public service activities are those general support activities that can help to stabilize a neighborhood and contribute to sustainable redevelopment of the area, including but not limited to such activities as those concerned with employment, crime prevention, child care, health, drug abuse, education, fair housing counseling, energy conservation, homebuyer down payment assistance, or recreational needs;

The CDBG Publication entitled "Community Development Block Grant Program Guide to National Objectives and Eligible Activities for Entitlement Communities" describes the regulations, and a copy can be obtained from HUD's SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 for the hearing-impaired.

(k) Fair housing services designed to further the fair housing objectives of the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601-20) by making all persons, without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, family status and/or disability aware of the range of housing opportunities available to them;

(l) Up to 20% of the grant for payments of reasonable grant administrative costs related to planning and execution of the project (e.g. preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs are provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House website at: www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html; and

(m) Activities Designed to Promote Training and Employment Opportunities. HUD urges applicants to consider undertaking activities designed to promote opportunities for training and employment of very low-income residents in connection with HUD initiatives such as "Neighborhood Networks" (NN) in other federally assisted or insured housing and Employment Opportunities for Lower Income Persons in connection with Assisted Projects.

(D) Ineligible Activities

Ineligible CDBG Activities are listed at § 570.207.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following requirements:

(1) All funds awarded under these programs must be spent over a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

(2) Applicants that propose to undertake activities that involve the following: acquisition of real property, clearance, demolition, rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation, reduction encouraging accessible design features, acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements are required to provide at least one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution, of the cost to complete the activities. This information must be submitted with the application. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction, and/or management.

(3) Applicants must ensure that not less than 51% of the aggregated expenditures of a grant benefit low- and moderate-income persons under the criteria specified in 24 CFR 570.208(a) or 570.208(d)(5) or (6).

(4) Applicants that claim leveraging from any source, including their own institution, must provide letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or agreements evidencing the extent and firmness of commitment of leveraging from other federal (e.g., AmeriCorps Programs), state, local, and/or other private sources (including the applicant's own resources). These documents must be dated no earlier than the date of this published NOFA and follow the outline provided for these programs in Section V, Application Process, "Factor 4: Leveraging Resources" of this NOFA.

(5) Where grant funds will be used for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction an applicant must demonstrate site control. Funds may be recaptured or deobligated from applicants that cannot demonstrate control of a suitable site within one year after the initial notification of award.

(6) Labor Standards. Applicants awarded funds must comply with the labor standards (Davis-Bacon) as found at 24 CFR 570.603.

V. Application Selection Process

Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an applicant's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the application based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed in Section V(B) below. Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(A) Threshold Requirements for Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

(1) The applicant is eligible as referenced in Section III, "Program Description, Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities in this NOFA".

(2) The maximum amount an HSIAC applicant can request is $600,000.

(3) In order to meet the definition of a HISAC, at least 25 percent of the full-time undergraduate student enrolled in an institution must be Hispanic and not less than 50 percent of these Hispanic students must be low-income individuals.

(4) An individual campus that is one of several campuses of the same institution may apply separately from the other campus as long as the applicant's campus has a separate administrative and budget structure.

(5) Institutions that received an HSIAC grant in FY2002 cannot reapply. If an institution received an HSIAC grant in FY1999, FY2000, or FY2001 the institution may reapply as long as it: (a) propose a different activity (activities) in their current project location, or propose replicating their current project in a new location and (b) have drawn down at least 75 percent of the previous grant two weeks prior the program's application due date.

(B) Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed below. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under this program is 102. This includes the two RC/EZ/EC bonus points as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the institution has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates:

(1) Knowledge and Experience (20 Points) For previously Unfunded Applicants (5 Points) For previously Funded Applicants.

The knowledge and experience of the overall project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants (including technical assistance providers), and contractors in planning and managing the kinds of programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to specific activities to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent and substantial the experience of the staff, particularly the institution's own staff who will work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the higher the number of points an applicant can receive for this rating factor. The following categories will be evaluated:

(a) Undertaking specific successful community development projects with community-based organizations or local governments; and

(b) Providing leadership in solving community problems that have a direct bearing on the proposed activities.

(2) Past Performance For previously Funded Grant Applicants Only (15 Points).

This subfactor will evaluate the extent to which an applicant has performed successfully under all previously awarded and current grant(s) as measured by:

(a) Achievement of specific measurable outcome objectives consistent with the timeline in the grant proposal(s). Provide a detailed list outlining those achievements as they relate to the approved timeline in the past grant award(s);

(b) Leveraging of funding consistent with or exceeding the funds originally proposed to be leveraged for that project. In addressing leveraging, provide information that compares the proposed leveraged funds and resources with what was actually leveraged; and

(c) Full points will be awarded for performance that has met the goals and objectives as outlined in the past awarded grant proposal(s).

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, the proposal will be rated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current. In rating this factor HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current. To the extent that the targeted community's Five (5) Year Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identify the level of the problem and the urgency in meeting the need, applicants should include references to these documents in the response to this factor.

If the proposed activities are not covered under the scope of the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments for Housing Choice (AI), indicate such in the proposal and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. Other reliable sources include, but are not limited to Census reports, HUD Continuum of Care gap analysis and its E-MAP (www.hud.gov/emaps), law enforcement agency crime reports, Public Housing Authorities' Comprehensive Plans, community needs analyses such as provided by the United Way, the applicant's institution, and other sound and reliable appropriate sources. Needs in terms of fulfilling court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, and voluntary compliance agreements may also be addressed.

The data used should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. Needs should be documented as they apply to the area where the activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state, unless the target area is the entire locality or state.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (50 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost effectiveness of the proposed work plan, the commitment of the institution to sustain the proposed activities, and actions regarding HUD's priorities, goals and objectives, and Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. In addition, HUD will also consider the extent to which the budget is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form.

This factor will be evaluated based on the extent to which the proposed work plan will:

(1) Quality of the Work Plan (35 Points)

(a) (10 Points) Work Plan Impact. Describe how the proposed activities will:

(i) Expand the role of the institution in its community;

(ii) Alleviate and/or fulfill the needs identified in Factor 2;

(iii) Relate to and not duplicate other activities in the target area. Duplicative effort will be acceptable only if an applicant can demonstrate through documentation that there is a population in need that is not being served;

(iv) Involve and empower citizens of the target area in all stages of the proposed project (particularly through a committee that is representative of the target community to guide the project); and

(v) Be disseminated to a wide variety of audiences, both academic and community-based, using a wide variety of media, including print and Internet technology.

(b) (20 Points) Specific Services and/or Activities. The work plan must incorporate all proposed activities. HUD will consider the feasibility of success of the program, measurable objectives, and how timely products will be delivered.

Describe each proposed activity and the tasks required to implement and complete the activities. Also for each activity describe:

(1) Which CDBG national objective is being met and how;

(2) The sequence, duration, and the products to be delivered in 6 month intervals, up to thirty-six (36) months. Indicate which staff member, as described in Factor 1, will be responsible and accountable for the deliverables; and

(3) Measurable objectives to be accomplished, e.g., the number of persons to be trained and employed; houses to be built (pursuant to 24 CFR 570.207) or rehabilitated; minority owned businesses to be started.

(c) (5 Points) Involvement of the Faculty and Students. The extent to which the applicant proposes to integrate the institution's students and faculty into proposed project activities.

(2) (5 Points) HUD Policy Priorities. HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievements. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which a program will further and support HUD's priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed, an applicant will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than five points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(3) (5 Points) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. This subfactor will be evaluated on the extent to which an applicant proposes to undertake activities designed to affirmatively further fair housing, for example:

(a) Working with other entities in the community to overcome impediments to fair housing, such as discrimination in the sale or rental of housing or in advertising, provision of brokerage services or lending;

(b) Promoting fair housing choice through the expansion of homeownership opportunities and improved quality of services for minorities, families with children, and persons with disabilities; or

(c) Providing housing mobility counseling services.

(4) (5 Points) Budget. HUD will consider the extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 Form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the costs for the each budget category for the program's entire period of performance.

(b) HUD 424 CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form must show the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

All budget forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(c) Budget-Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, Davis-Bacon wage rates (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project. If applicants propose to undertake: rehabilitation of residential, commercial and/or industrial structures; and/or acquisition, construction, or installation of public facilities and improvements, applicants must submit one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction and/or management. Guidance for securing these estimates can be obtained from the local HUD Office of Community Planning and Development. Equipment and contracts cannot be presented as a total estimated figure. For equipment applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed as "Indirect Costs" under that category. Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424C and HUD 424-CB form so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424C form will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error. If this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the applicant will not be able to correct the amount requested and the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve the program's purpose.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant established partnerships with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of the proposed activities. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities. Applicants may also establish partnerships with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on the program's advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived may be counted. However, higher points will be awarded if an applicant secures leveraging resources from sources outside the institution. Examples of potential sources for outside assistance:

- State and local governments
- Housing Authorities
- Local or national nonprofit organizations
- Banks and/or private businesses
- Foundations
- Faith-based and other community based organizations.

For each match, cash or in-kind contribution to the program a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitment of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for these resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters, memoranda of understanding, or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applications that do not include evidence of leveraging will receive zero (0) points for this Factor.

A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

(a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and /or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement);

(b) Specifically indicate how the match is to be used;

(c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for only one year;

(d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD Grant; and

(e) The signature of the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/ or goods and /or services.

Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as a match.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess their performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that objectives and goals have been achieved.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the HSIAC program. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be measured and achieved. Examples of outcomes are increasing community development in the target community, by a certain percentage, or family stability through the creation of affordable housing opportunities (e.g. increasing assets to families and communities through the development of affordable community housing).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of new affordable housing units, the number of homes that have been renovated, the number of community facilities that been constructed or rehabilitated. Outputs should produce outcomes for the program. At a minimum an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

(a) Short and long term objectives to be achieved;

(b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements.

(c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;

(d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the faculty and students to provide opportunities to reward and continue this type of work; and

(e) The impact the grant will have on assisting the university to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period of this grant award.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

The Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities Program (AN/NHIAC)

I. Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To assist Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions of higher education (AN/NHIs) expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development, principally for persons of low- and moderate-income, consistent with the purposes of Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

Amount Allocated. In Fiscal Year 2003, $2.981 million was earmarked by the conference report accompanying the FY 2003 Consolidation Appropriation Resolution, Division K plus approximately $4 million in previously unexpended FY2002 funds.

III. Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

HUD will award two kinds of grants under this program. Grants for Alaska Native Institutions (ANIs) and grants for Native Hawaiian Institutions (NHIs).

The maximum amount an ANI and NHI applicant can request is $800,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period. $3.4 million is being made available for ANIs and $ 3.4 million is being made available for NHIs.

IV. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

The purpose is to assist AN/NHIs to expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs in their localities, including neighborhood revitalization, housing, and economic development.

(1) For the purposes of this program, the term "locality" includes any city, county, township, parish, village, or other general political subdivision of a state within which your AN/NHI is located.

(2) A "target area" is the locality or the area within the locality in which the institution will implement its proposed HUD grant.

(B) Eligible Applicants

Nonprofit Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian institutions of higher education that meet the definitions of Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian institutions of higher education established in Title III, Part A, Section 317 of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended by the Higher Education Amendments of 1998 (Pub. L. 105-244; enacted October 7, 1998). Institutions are not required to be on the list of eligible AN/NHIs prepared by the U.S. Department of Education. However, an institution that is not on the list is required to state in the application that the institution meets the U.S. Department of Education's statutory definition of an AN/NHI institution.

(C) Eligible Activities

Each activity proposed for funding must meet both a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program national objective and the CDBG eligibility requirements. Eligible activities that may be funded under this program are those activities eligible for CDBG funding. The eligible activities are listed in 24 CFR part 570, subpart C, particularly §§ 570.201 through 570.206. Each activity funded under this program must meet one of the three national objectives of the Community Development Block Grant program, which are:

(a) Benefit to low-or moderate-income persons;

(b) Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or

(c) Meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community, and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

Criteria for determining whether an activity addresses one or more of these objectives are provided at 24 CFR 570.208.

Examples of Eligible Activities include, but are not limited to:

(a) Acquisition of real property;

(b) Clearance and demolition;

(c) Rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging accessible design features in accordance with the requirements of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

(d) Acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities and streets; including lead-based paint hazard evaluation and reduction; and encouraging compliance accessible with the design and construction requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Fair Housing Act;

(e) Relocation payments and other assistance for permanently and temporarily relocated individuals, families, businesses, nonprofit organizations, and farm operations where the assistance is:

(i) Required under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(b) or (c); or

(ii) Determined by the grantee to be appropriate under the provisions of 24 CFR 570.606(d);

(f) Direct homeownership assistance to low- and moderate-income persons, as provided in section 105(a) (25) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974;

(g) Special economic development activities described at 24 CFR 570.203;

(h) Assistance to facilitate economic development by providing technical or financial assistance for the establishment, stabilization, and expansion of microenterprises, including minority enterprises;

(i) Assistance to community-based development organizations (CBDO) to carry out a CDBG neighborhood revitalization, community economic development, or energy conservation project, in accordance with 24 CFR 570.204. This could include activities in support of a HUD-approved local entitlement grantee CDBG Neighborhood Revitalization Strategy (NRS) or HUD-approved State CDBG Community Revitalization Strategy (CRS);

(j) Eligible public service activities are those general support activities that can help to stabilize a neighborhood and contribute to sustainable redevelopment of the area, including but not limited to such activities as those concerned with employment, crime prevention, child care, health, drug abuse, education, fair housing counseling, energy conservation, homebuyer down payment assistance, or recreational needs.

The CDBG Publication entitled "Community Development Block Grant Program Guide to National Objectives and Eligible Activities for Entitlement Communities" describes the regulations, and a copy can be obtained from HUD's SuperNOFA Information Center at 1-800-HUD-8929 or 1-800-HUD-2209 for the hearing-impaired;

(k) Fair housing services designed to further the fair housing objectives of the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601-20) by making all persons, without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, family status and/or disability aware of the range of housing opportunities available to them;

(l) Up to 20% of the grant for payments of reasonable grant administrative costs related to planning and execution of the project (e.g. preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs are provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House website at: www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html; and

(m) Activities Designed to Promote Training and Employment Opportunities. HUD urges applicants to consider undertaking activities designed to promote opportunities for training and employment of very low-income residents in connection with HUD initiatives such as "Neighborhood Networks" (NN) in other federally assisted or insured housing and Employment Opportunities for Lower Income Persons in connection with Assisted Projects.

(D) Ineligible Activities

Ineligible CDBG Activities are listed at 24 CFR 570.207.

V. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following program requirements:

(1) All funds awarded under these programs must be spent over a three-year (36 months) period grant performance period.

(2) Applicants that propose to undertake activities that involve the following: acquisition of real property, clearance, demolition, rehabilitation of residential structures including lead-based paint hazard evaluation, reduction encouraging accessible design features, acquisition, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or installation of public facilities and improvements are required to provide at least one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution, of the cost to complete the activities. This information must be submitted with the application. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction, and/or management.

(3) Applicants must ensure that not less than 51% of the aggregated expenditures of a grant benefit low- and moderate-income persons under the criteria specified in 24 CFR 570.208(a) or 570.208(d)(5) or (6).

(4) Applicants that claim leveraging from any source, including their own institution, must provide letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or agreements evidencing the extent and firmness of commitment of leveraging from other federal (e.g., AmeriCorps Programs), state, local, and/other private sources (including the applicant's own resources). These documents must be dated no earlier than the date of this published NOFA and follow the outline provided for this program in Section V, Application Process, "Factor 4: Leveraging Resources" of this NOFA.

(5) Where grant funds will be used for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction an applicant must demonstrate site control. Funds may be recaptured or deobligated from applicants that cannot demonstrate control of a suitable site within one year after the initial notification of award.

(6) Labor Standards. Applicants awarded funds must comply with the labor standards (Davis-Bacon) as found at 24 CFR 570.603.

VI. Application Selection Process

Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an applicant's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the application based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed in Section V (B) below. Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(A) Threshold Requirements for Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

(1) The applicant is eligible as referenced in Section III, "Program Description, Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities in this NOFA".

(2) The maximum amount ANI and NHI applicants can request for award is $800,000.

(3) In order to meet the Alaska Native Institution definition, at least 20% of the undergraduate headcount enrollment must be Alaska Native students. If applicant is a Native Hawaiian institution, in order to meet this definition at least 10% of the undergraduate headcount enrollment must be Native Hawaiian students.

(4) Institutions that received grants in FY 2002 are not eligible to submit an application.

(5) If an institution has multiple campuses, each one is eligible to apply separately as long as it meets the enrollment test.

(B) Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed below. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under this program is 102. This includes the two RC/EZ/EC bonus points as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the institution has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates:

(1) Knowledge and Experience (20 Points) For previously Unfunded Applicants (5 Points) For previously Funded Applicants.

The knowledge and experience of the overall project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants (including technical assistance providers), and contractors in planning and managing the kinds of programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to specific activities to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent and substantial the experience of the staff, particularly the institution's own staff who will work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the higher the number of points an applicant can receive for this rating factor. The following categories will be evaluated:

(a) Undertaking specific successful community development projects with community-based organizations or local governments; and

(b) Providing leadership in solving community problems that have a direct bearing on the proposed activities.

(2) Past Performance—For previously Funded Grant Applicants Only (15 Points).

This subfactor will evaluate the extent to which an applicant has performed successfully under all previously awarded and current grant(s) as measured by:

(a) Achievement of specific measurable outcome objectives consistent with the timeline in the grant proposal(s). Provide a detailed list outlining those achievements as they relate to the approved timeline in the past grant award(s);

(b) Leveraging of funding consistent with or exceeding the funds originally proposed to be leveraged for that project. In addressing leveraging, provide information that compares the proposed leveraged funds and resources with what was actually leveraged; and

(c) Full points will be awarded for performance that has met the goals and objectives as outlined in the past awarded grant proposal(s).

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the importance of meeting the need in the target area. In responding to this factor, the proposal will be rated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current. In rating this factor HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current. To the extent that the targeted community's Five (5) Year Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identify the level of the problem and the urgency in meeting the need, applicants should include references to these documents in the response to this factor.

If the proposed activities are not covered under the scope of the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), indicate such in the proposal and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. Other reliable sources include, but are not limited to Census reports, HUD Continuum of Care gap analysis and its E-MAP (<http://www.hud.gov/emaps>), law enforcement agency crime reports, Public Housing Authorities' Comprehensive Plans, community needs analyses such as provided by the United Way, the applicant's institution, and other sound and reliable appropriate sources. Needs in terms of fulfilling court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, and voluntary compliance agreements may also be addressed.

The data used should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. Needs should be documented as they apply to the area where the activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state, unless the target area is the entire locality or state.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (50 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost effectiveness of the proposed work plan, the commitment of the institution to sustain the proposed activities, and actions regarding HUD's priorities, goals and objectives, and Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. In addition, HUD will also consider the extent to which the budget is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form.

This factor will be evaluated based on the extent to which the proposed work plan will:

(1) Quality of the Work Plan (35 Points)

(a) (10 Points) Work Plan Impact. Describe how the proposed activities will:

(i) Expand the role of the institution in its community;

(ii) Alleviate and/or fulfill the needs identified in Factor 2;

(iii) Relate to and not duplicate other activities in the target area. Duplicative effort will be acceptable only if an applicant can demonstrate through documentation that there is a population in need that is not being served;

(iv) Involve and empower citizens of the target area in all stages of the proposed project (particularly through a committee that is representative of the target community to guide the project); and

(v) Be disseminated to a wide variety of audiences, both academic and community-based, using a wide variety of media, including print and Internet technology.

(b) (20 Points). Specific Services and/or Activities. The work plan must incorporate all proposed activities. HUD will consider the feasibility of success of the program, measurable objectives, and how timely products will be delivered.

Describe each proposed activity and the tasks required to implement and complete the activities. Also for each activity, describe:

(1) Which CDBG national objective is being met and how;

(2) The sequence, duration, and the products to be delivered in 6 month intervals, up to thirty-six (36) months. Indicate which staff member, as described in Factor 1, will be responsible and accountable for the deliverables; and

(3) Measurable objectives to be accomplished, e.g., the number of persons to be trained and employed; houses to be built (pursuant to 24 CFR 570.207) or rehabilitated; minority-owned businesses to be started.

(c) (5 Points) Involvement of the Faculty and Students. The extent to which the applicant proposes to integrate the institution's students and faculty into proposed project activities.

(2) (5 Points) HUD Policy Priorities. HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY 2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievements. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which a program will further and support HUD's priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed an applicant will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than five points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(3) (5 Points) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. This subfactor will be evaluated on the extent to which an applicant proposes to undertake activities designed to affirmatively further fair housing, for example:

(a) Working with other entities in the community to overcome impediments to fair housing, such as discrimination in the sale or rental of housing or in advertising, provision of brokerage services or lending;

(b) Promoting fair housing choice through the expansion of homeownership opportunities and improved quality of services for minorities, families with children, and persons with disabilities; or

(c) Providing housing mobility counseling services.

(4) (5 Points) Budget. HUD will consider the extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work

Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 Form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the costs for each budget category for the program's entire period of performance.

(b) HUD 424 CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form must show the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

All budget forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(c) Budget-Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, Davis-Bacon wage rates (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project. If applicants propose to undertake: rehabilitation of residential, commercial and/or industrial structures; and/or acquisition, construction, or installation of public facilities and improvements, applicants must submit one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction and/or management. Guidance for securing these estimates can be obtained from the local HUD Office of Community Planning and Development. Equipment and contracts cannot be presented as a total estimated figure. For equipment applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed as "Indirect Costs" under that category. Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424C and HUD 424-CB form so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424C form will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error. If this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the applicant will not be able to correct the amount requested and the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve the program's purpose.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant established partnerships with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of the proposed activities. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities. Applicants may also establish partnerships with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on the program's advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived may be counted. However, higher points will be awarded if an applicant secures leveraging resources from sources outside the institution. Examples of potential sources for outside assistance:

- State and local governments
- Housing Authorities

- Local or national nonprofit organizations
- Banks and/or private businesses
- Foundations
- Faith-based and other community based organizations.

For each match, cash or in-kind contribution to the program a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitment of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for these resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters, memoranda of understanding, or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applications that do not include evidence of leveraging will receive zero (0) points for this Factor.

A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

- (a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and/or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement);
- (b) Specifically indicate how the match is to be used;
- (c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for only one year;
- (d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD Grant; and
- (e) The signature of the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/or goods and/or services.

Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as a match.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess their performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that objectives and goals have been achieved.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the AN/NHIAC program. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be measured and achieved. Examples of outcomes are increasing community development in the target community, by a certain percentage, or increasing family stability through the creation of affordable housing opportunities (e.g., increasing assets to families and communities through the development of affordable community housing).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of new affordable housing units, the number of homes that have been renovated, the number of community facilities that have been constructed or rehabilitated. Outputs should produce outcomes for the program. At a minimum, an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

- (a) Short- and long-term objectives to be achieved;
- (b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements.
- (c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;
- (d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the faculty and students to provide opportunities to reward and continue this type of work; and
- (e) The impact the grant will have on assisting the university to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period of this grant award.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information on how to use can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Tribal Colleges and Universities Program (TCUP)

I. Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To assist Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCUs) to build, expand, renovate, and equip their own facilities.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

Amount Allocated. In Fiscal Year 2003, $2.981 million was earmarked by the conference report accompanying the FY 2003 Consolidation Appropriation Resolution, Division K, and approximately $194,522 in previously unexpended FY 2002 funds is being made available.

Grant Size and Term. The maximum amount a TCUP applicant can request is $400,000 for a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

The purpose of this program is to assist TCUs to build, expand, renovate, and equip their own facilities, especially those facilities that are used by or available to the larger community.

(B) Eligible Applicants

Tribal colleges and universities that meet the definition of a TCU established in Title III of the 1998 Amendments to the Higher Education Act of 1965 (Pub. L. 105-244, enacted October 7, 1998). Institutions must be accredited or state they are a candidate for accreditation by a regional institutional accrediting association recognized by the U.S. Department of Education.

(C) Eligible Activities

Each activity proposed for funding must meet one of the following Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program national objectives:

- (a) Benefit low- and moderate-income persons;
- (b) Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
- (c) Meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community, and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

TCU Programs should build, expand, renovate, and equip facilities to assist activities that an institution normally provides. Buildings in which an institution undertakes activities that serve those not enrolled in the institution are eligible, however the facilities must be predominantly for the use of the institution.

Up to 20% of the grant for payments of reasonable grant administrative costs related to planning and execution of the project (e.g., preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs is provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House Web site at: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html>.

Examples of Eligible Activities include, but are not limited to:

(a) Small business assistance center operated by the institution or renovation of the facility in which the center is located;

(b) New gymnasium solely for students, but that offers some physical education classes or other activities in the evening to the larger community;

(c) Rehabilitation of a student union building that would also serve as a community meeting facility, with the community helping to plan the renovations and also helping to operate additional activities;

(d) Equipping the university's computer lab where the larger community helped the institution identify the equipment needs and also help in implementing workshops, etc.;

(e) Development of a facility that is solely for the institution (e.g., a dormitory or administration building); and

(f) Long-term leases of property (i.e., at least five years in duration are considered an acceptable form of ownership under this program).

(D) Ineligible Activities

Activities ineligible for funding under this program include, but are not limited to the following:

(a) Renovation of a facility/center in which the facility/center is not used at least 51% of the time by the institution.

(b) Rental space to another entity that operates a small business assistance center;

(c) Institution proposes to build a new gymnasium, where the majority of the activities are for non-students, or the activities are primarily run by an outside entity.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following program requirements:

(1) All funds awarded under this program must be spent over a three-year (36 months) grant performance period.

(2) While community-wide use of a facility (that is purchased, leased, or built) is permissible under this program, the facility must be predominantly for the use of the institution (i.e., it must be used by the institution at least 51% of the time).

(3) Applicants that claim leveraging from any source, including their own institution, must provide letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or agreements evidencing the extent and firmness of commitment of leveraging from other federal (e.g., Bureau of Indian Affairs), state, Indian housing authorities, local, tribes, and/or other private sources (including the applicant's own resources). These documents must be dated no earlier than the date of this published NOFA and follow the outline provided for these programs in Section V, Factor 4 of this NOFA.

(4) If a TCU is a part or instrumentality of a tribe, the applicant must comply with the Indian Civil Rights Act (25 U.S.C. 1301 et seq.). If the TCU is not a part or instrumentality of a tribe the applicant must comply with the Fair Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 3601–19) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 100 et seq. Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d–2000d–4) (Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Programs) and implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 1, and Section 109 of Title One of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, with respect to nondiscrimination on the basis of age, sex, religion, or disability and implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 6;

(5) Labor Standards. Institutions and their subgrantees, contractors and subcontractors must comply with the labor standards (Davis-Bacon) requirements referenced in 24 CFR 570.603. However, in accordance with HCDA section 107(e)(2), the Secretary waives the provisions of HCDA section 110 with respect to the TCUP program for grants to a TCU that is part of a tribe, i.e., a TCU that is legally a department or other part of a tribal government, but not a TCU that is established under tribal law as an entity separate from the tribal government. If a TCU is not part of a tribe, the labor standards of HCDA section 110, as referenced in 24 CFR 570.603, apply to activities under the grant to the TCU.

V. Application Selection Process

Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an applicant's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the application based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed for each program in Section V(B) below.

Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(A) Threshold Requirements for Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

(1) The applicant is eligible as referenced in Section III, "Program Description, Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities in this NOFA.

(2) The maximum amount a TCUP applicant can request for award is $400,000.

(3) Funds awarded under this program may not be used for public services, as defined in 24 CFR part 570, subpart C, § 570.201(e).

(4) Only one application is eligible for funding from an institution or campus. However, an individual campus that is one of several campuses of the same institution may apply separately from the other campus as long as the applicant's campus has a separate administrative and budget structure.

(5) Institutions that received grants in FY 2002 are not eligible to submit an application

(B) Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications.

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed below. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under this program is 100. The RC/EZ/EC bonus points do not apply to this program as described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates the overall project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants, and contractors in planning and managing the kind of activities/projects for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to specific activities to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. Higher points will be awarded for this factor where the experience belongs to members of the TCU staff who will actually do the work on the project rather than consultants, contractors, and other staff outside the institution.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the importance of meeting that need. In responding to this factor, the proposal will be rated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current and specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. In rating this factor HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (50 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of the proposed work plan.

(1) Quality of Work Plan (40 Points)

(a) (15 Points) Work Plan Impact.

Specifically, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposed activities will:

- (i) Meet an identified important need; and
- (ii) Relate to and not duplicate other activities in the target area.

(b) (15 Points) Specific Services and/or Activities. HUD will consider the feasibility of success of the program, the measurable objectives, and how timely the identified tasks will be completed. Specifically, HUD will examine the extent to which the objectives are measurable (e.g., the number of classrooms added, the number of additional clients that can be helped in an expanded small business assistance center), result in measurable improvement to the community (e.g., fifty more people receiving computer literacy training, twenty more small businesses started, etc.), and how well the applicant demonstrates that these objectives will be achieved by the proposed management plan, and team and will result directly from the activities.

(c) (5 Points) Community Involvement. HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant has involved the community in all stages of the proposed project.

(d) (5 Points) Involvement of the Faculty and Students. The extent to which the applicant proposes to integrate students and faculty into project activities.

(2) (5 Points) HUD Policy Priorities. HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and which help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY 2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievement. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which a program will further and support HUD priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed an applicant will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than five points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(3) (5 Points) Budget. HUD will consider the extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the cost for each budget category for the program's entire period of performance.

(b) HUD 424-CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form shows the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

All budget forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(b) Budget-Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, Davis-Bacon wage rates (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project.

Applicants must submit one appraisal from a qualified certified appraiser other than the institution for projects that involve rehabilitation of residential, commercial and/or industrial structures; and/or acquisition, construction, or installation of public facilities and improvements. Such an entity must be involved in the business of housing rehabilitation, construction and/or management. Guidance for securing these estimates can be obtained from the local Office of Native American Programs (ONAP) and the local HUD Office of Community Planning and Development. Equipment and contracts cannot be presented as a total estimated figure. For equipment applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed as "Indirect Costs" under that category. Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424-C and HUD 424-CB form so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424-C will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error. If this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the applicant will not be able to correct the amount requested and the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure community resources that can be combined with HUD's grant funds to achieve the program's purpose.

In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant established partnerships with other entities to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of the proposed activities. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant. Resources may be provided by governmental entities (e.g. the tribe, federal government (Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of Health and Human Services, and Department of Education)), public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities. Applicants may also establish partnerships with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on the program's advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived may be counted. However, higher points will be awarded if an applicant secures leveraging resources from sources outside the institution. Examples of potential sources for outside assistance are:

- State and local governments
- Tribe/Tribally Designated Housing Entities
- Local or national nonprofit organizations
- Banks and/or private businesses
- Foundations
- Faith-based and other community based organizations.

For each match, cash or in-kind contribution, a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitments of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for these resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters, memoranda of understanding, or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applicants that do not include evidence of leveraging will receive zero (0) points for this Factor.

A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

- (a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and/or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement);
- (b) Specifically indicate how the match is to be used;
- (c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for only one year;
- (d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD grant; and
- (e) The signature of the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/or goods and/or services. Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as a match.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess their performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome-oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that objectives and goals have been achieved.

"Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the TCUP program. Applicants must clearly identify the outcomes to be measured and achieved. Examples of outcomes are increasing the number of facilities built or renovated, by a certain percentage (e.g. rehabilitation of a student union building primarily for the use of students).

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of new on campus facilities renovated, or the number of new dormitories built. Outputs should produce outcomes for the program. At a minimum, an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

- (a) Short and long term objectives to be achieved;
- (b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements;
- (c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;
- (d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the faculty and students to provide opportunities to reward and continue this type of work; and
- (e) The impact the grant will have on assisting the university to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period of this grant award.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

VI. Application Submission Requirements (For All Programs)

A complete application package must include an original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk of the application (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the items listed below. In order to be able to recycle paper, applications should not be submitted in bound form; binder clips or loose-leaf binders are acceptable. Please do not use colored paper. Applications must be submitted on 8½ by 11 inches paper, double-spaced on one side of the paper, and printed in a standard Times Roman 12-point font. Each page should include the applicant's name and be numbered. Each section should be tabbed sequentially. The application narrative including the statement of work, tables, and maps must not exceed 75 pages (excluding forms, budget narrative, assurances and commitment letters). The double-spacing requirement applies to all parts of the application including agreements and tables. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify an application, HUD will not consider the information on any excess page. This may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold. Please make sure that all items are submitted in the order listed below. Except where a particular form may direct otherwise, all forms included in an application, as well as the transmittal letter, must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (this is generally the President or Provost) or an official authorized legally to make a commitment on behalf of the institution. If a designee signs, the application must contain a copy of the official designation of signatory authority.

Applicants applying for funding under more than one of the programs included in this NOFA will need to produce separate applications for each program. However, applicants may use portions of an application to fulfill certain requirements of all of the applications. There is no separate application kit for these programs. Note: All OUP programs are included under this NOFA (excluding the Early Doctoral Student Research Grant, the Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant, the Community Development Work Study Grant Programs, and the Community Outreach Partnerships Center Community Futures Demonstration). Applicants are advised to review each program for specific requirements. Therefore, it is important for applicants to thoroughly read the information presented in this NOFA. Please include each item in the order listed below:

(1) HUD 424 "Application for Federal Assistance". Instructions for completing this form are found on the back of the first page of the form. Please remember the following: (a) The full grant amount should be entered in block 15, not the amount for just one year; (b) Include the name, title, address, telephone number, facsimile number, and email address of the designated contact in block 5. This is the person who will receive the reviewer comments; therefore please ensure the accuracy of the information (c) the correct Employer Identification/Tax ID number in block 6. This form should be signed by the appropriate official (d) Block 10, the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance Number for the program from which funding is requested, and (e) the project's proposed start date and completion date. For all projects the start date should be September 1, 2003. The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CDBG) numbers (Item 10) for all OUP programs are as follows:

- Community Outreach Partnership Center Programs 14.511
- Historically Black Colleges and Universities 14.237
- Hispanic Serving Institutions Assisting Communities 14.514
- Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions Assisting Communities 14.515
- Tribal Colleges and Universities Program 14.519

(2) Transmittal Letter. The letter should contain the following:

(a) A statement certifying that the institution is an eligible institution because it meets the requirement of the specific program from which funding is being sought; (b) the institution is a two- or four-year institution; and (c) the institution of higher education is fully accredited. This assurance must state not only the name of the accrediting agency but also that the particular accrediting agency is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education (or, for applicants to the Tribal Colleges and Universities Programs, that the institution has applied for accreditation by a regional instructional accrediting association recognized by the U.S. Department of Education). Applicants can also use the transmittal letter as one way to demonstrate the President's commitment to the institutionalization of the program. This letter must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (usually the President or Provost) of the institution. If the Chief Executive Officer has delegated this responsibility to another official, that person may sign, but a copy of the delegation must be included or stated in the letter. (Note: If applying for funding under the TCUP program, applicants must also address whether their institution is a department or agency of a tribal government and is thus claiming exemption from Davis-Bacon labor standards and the non-discrimination provision of section 109 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974).

(3) Application Checklist. Applicants must include the completed checklist in their application. On the checklist, indicate the page number where each of the items can be found in the application (See Appendix A).

(4) Abstract. Applicants must include a two-page summary of the proposed project. Please include the following:

(a) The designated contact person, including phone number, facsimile number, and email address;

(b) University's name, department, mailing address, telephone number, facsimile number, and email address; and

(c) The principal investigator for the project, including phone number, facsimile number, and email address.

(5) Narrative statement addressing the Factors for Award. HUD will use the narrative response to the "Factors for Award" to evaluate, rate, and rank applications. This statement is the main source of information. Therefore, it is very important that applicants become fully familiar with each of the rating factors above since all OUP programs (excluding the Early Doctoral Student Research Grant, the Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant, the Community Development Work Study Programs, and the Community Outreach Partnerships Centers Housing and Community Futures Demonstration) are included in this NOFA. Applicants are advised to review each factor carefully for program specific requirements. The response to each factor should be concise and contain only information relevant to the factor, but detailed enough to address each factor fully. Please do not repeat material in response to the five factors; instead focus on how well the proposal responds to each of the factors. In factors where there are subfactors, each subfactor should be presented separately, with the short title of the subfactor presented. Make sure to address each subfactor and provide sufficient information about every element of the subfactor.

The application narrative including the statement of work, tables, and maps must not exceed 75 pages (excluding forms, budget narrative, assurances, and letters of leveraging commitments).

(a) Statement of Work. The Statement of Work (SOW) under the Narrative Statement section of the application (Factor 3) should clearly identify and incorporate all proposed eligible activities in the application and detail how the proposed work will be accomplished. Specifically, the SOW must: briefly describe the target population that will be assisted with grant funds (See Factor for Award #2 for the kind of information that should be included).

(1) Arrange the presentation of related major activities by project functional category, (a) Summarize each activity, (b) Delineate the major tasks involved in carrying out each activity, (c) Indicate the sequence in which these tasks will be performed, noting areas of work that will be performed simultaneously and continually during the life of the grant and, (d) Identify the key personnel responsible for carrying out the activity (HUD recommends Applicant use a milestone chart to present the information above). Applicants applying for funding under the HBCU, HSIAC, AN/NHIAC, and TCUP programs should describe how each proposed activity meets one of the three Community Development Block Grant Program (CDBG) national objectives. The sequence and duration should be presented in six-month intervals for the entire life of the grant (See Allocation of Funding, Period of Performance, Match Requirement).

(2) Identify the specific number of quantifiable, major, intermediate, and end products and objectives (e.g., the number of individuals in the community that will receive job training) the proposal aims to deliver by the end of the grant period as a result of the work performed.

(3) State the impact objectives the project intends to achieve in measurable terms along with deadlines for meeting them (e.g., number of persons obtaining jobs that pay more than minimum wage, or persons entering full time employment with benefits).

(4) Briefly discuss, with specific details:

(a) How the proposed major activities do not duplicate those of other entities in an applicant's target community; and

(b) Are appropriate for an institution of higher education to undertake in light of its teaching, research, and service missions (if applicable).

Note: If applying for a COPC New Directions Grant, the Statement of Work should also describe the new directions proposed in the application either the new activities or new target neighborhoods—and how these differ from those in the previous COPC grant.

(6) Budget. The budget documents should follow the statement addressing Factor 3. The budget presentation should be consistent with the Statement of Work and include the following:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grants Programs"

(b) HUD 424-CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget"

Applicants should provide a budget for the funding period of the program for which they are applying (See Allocation of Funding, Period of Performance, and Match Requirement).

(c) Budget-Narrative. A narrative of how the applicant arrived at costs for line items over $5,000. All budget forms must be completed in full.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and on all other required program forms is consistent and the budget totals correct. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424-C will be used. If upon checking the addition HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly.

(d) Indirect Cost Rate. A copy of the negotiated indirect cost rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency.

(e) Explanation of Compliance with Limitation on Research Allocation. (Applicable only to applicants applying for funding under the COPC program). Applicants must demonstrate that not more than 25% of the total budget (including federal and matching funds) will be allocated to research activities. An applicant must use the Form HUD-30002, "Community Outreach Partnership Centers Breakdown of Outreach and Research Activities" to demonstrate this. This form is included in Appendix B. For purposes of this form, all costs (including administrative costs) must be categorized or apportioned as either research or outreach, as appropriate.

(f) Explanation of Compliance with Matching Requirement. (Applicable only to applicants applying for funding under the COPC program). This NOFA spells out the matching responsibilities for applicants applying for funds under COPC. Note that research requires a 50 percent match, while outreach activities require a 25 percent match. Match requirements are based on Total Project Costs, not the federal grant amount. In order to avoid confusion about the calculation of the match, an example is provided.

Assume that the total project cost for a New COPC Grant was $500,000, with $125,000 for research and $375,000 for outreach. Note that this project meets the requirement that no more than one-quarter of the total project costs be allocated for research. The total amount of the required match would be $156,250. The research match would be $62,500 ($$125,000 \times 50$ percent) and the outreach match would be $93,750 ($$375,000 \times 25$ percent). The federal grant requested would be $343,750 ($$500,000$ minus the match of $156,250). In calculating the match, administrative costs should be applied to the appropriate attributable outreach or research component.

Applicants must use Form "HUD-30001, Community Outreach Partnership Centers Matching Requirements" (included in Appendix B) to show how the match requirements have been met. Under each category, list the specific project activities. Only the dollar totals for research and outreach activities should be listed; costs by activity do not need to be listed. For the purposes of this form, administrative costs should be allocated between research and outreach activities, as appropriate. Applicants must provide letters, memoranda of understanding or agreements that show the extent and firmness of commitments of leveraged funds (including an applicant's own resources) in order for these resources to count. Any resource for which there is no commitment letter will not be counted, nor will the resource be counted without the proposed level of commitment being quantified. Each letter must include a specific dollar amount and use of the funds. If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement (Applicable only to COPC) and Factor 4. (Note: While indirect costs can count towards meeting the required match, they will not be used to calculate the match percentage above the match requirement. Only direct costs can count in this factor). Letters, memoranda of understanding and agreements must be signed by an authorized representative of the funding source. If any matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Items eligible for program funding can be counted as match. Include matching documentation at the end of in the Narrative Statement Addressing the Factors for Award (see below). COPC program applicants only must include a multiple-page worksheet entitled "HUD 30011 or HUD 30012, Verification of the Match," (included in Appendix B) which must be used to determine if a sufficient match has been provided. This worksheet must be included in the application. Please note on this form by each commitment listed if the match is an inside or outside match commitment.

(7) Certifications. The following certifications and assurances must be included in all application packages. These forms must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (or official designee) of the institution and can be downloaded from the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

(a) Applicant Assurances and Certifications (HUD-424-B)

(b) Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (SF-LLL)

(c) Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report (HUD-2880)

(d) Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan (HUD-2991)

(e) Certification of Consistency with the EZ/EC/RC Strategic Plan (HUD-2990). Must be signed by the certifying official of the EZ/EC/RC. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides procedures and guidelines required to certify that proposed grant activities are being conducted in the EZ/EC/RC that serve the residents of these areas, and are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan. (Note: Applicants applying for funding under the TCUP programs are not eligible to receive these bonus points.)

(f) Acknowledgment of Receipt of Application (Form HUD-2993). To confirm that HUD has received the application package, please complete this form. Applicants are not required to include this form, but HUD recommends an applicant to do so.

(g) Client Comments and Suggestions (Form HUD-2994). This form is included to solicit information from the most valuable source, the applicant. The changes that we have instituted this year are designed to make things easier for the applicant. If applicants complete and submit this form, it will help us to assess whether the changes have had the intended results. It will also guide us in our continuing efforts to improve the competitive grant process. Applicants are not required to complete this form.

(h) Appendices. Applicants are not permitted to submit any appendices. Letters of commitment for matching funds should be included in the narrative response to Factor 4. An applicant may not submit general support letters or resumes or other back-up materials (unless an applicant is willing to have the latter count towards the page limits). Applicants should make sure that the Statement of Work and Narrative Statement addressing the "Factors for Award" contain sufficient detail to stand on their own, without the need for back-up material.

(B) Final selection.

If an application is in compliance with the applicable threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and NOFA, as well as the applicable program requirements, it will be evaluated, rated, and ranked based on its total score on the program's rating factors. In order to be funded, an application must receive a minimum score of 75 points. HUD will fund applications for each program in this NOFA in rank order, until it has awarded all available program funds.

If two or more applications have the same number of points, the application with the most points for Factor 3, Soundness of Approach, shall be selected. If there is still a tie, the application with the most points for Factor 4, Leveraging, shall be selected. HUD also reserves the right to make selections out of rank order to provide for geographic distribution of grantees. If HUD decides to use this option, it will do so only if two adjacent HUD regions do not yield at least one fundable grantee on the basis of rank order. If this occurs, HUD will fund the highest-ranking applicant within the two regions as long as the minimum score of 75 points is achieved.

HUD reserves the right to reduce the amount of funding requested in order to fund as many highly ranked applications under each program in this NOFA as possible. Additionally, if funds remain after funding the highest ranked applications, HUD may fund part of the next highest-ranking application in a given program area. If an applicant turns down the award offer, HUD will make the same determination for the next highest-ranking application. If funds remain after all selections have been made, the remaining funds will be carried over to the next funding cycle's competition.

(C) Negotiations. After all selections have been made, HUD may require winning applicants to participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of a program's Statement of Work and/or Grant Budget. In cases where HUD cannot successfully conclude negotiations, or an applicant fails to provide HUD with requested information, an award will not be made. In such instances, HUD may elect to offer an award to the next highest-ranking applicant, and proceed with negotiations with that applicant.

VII. Other Matters

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(A) Debriefing. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for requesting a debriefing. All requests for debriefings must be made in writing and submitted to Armand Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships, Robert C. Weaver Building, 451 7th St., SW., Room 8106, Washington, DC 20410. Applicants may also write to Mr. Carriere via email at Armand.W.Carriere@hud.gov.

(B) Administrative. Grants awarded under this NOFA will be governed by the provisions of 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals and Other Non-Profit Organizations), A-21 (Cost Principles for Education Institutions) and A-133 (Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations). Applicants can access the OMB circulars at the White House website at www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of this SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

IX. Site Control

Where grant funds will be used for acquisition, rehabilitation, or new construction an applicant must demonstrate site control. If the recipient cannot demonstrate control of a suitable site within one year after initial notification of award of assistance, HUD may recapture or deobligate any award for assistance. (This is not applicable to applicants applying for funding under COPC).

X. Environmental Requirements

(A) COPC Program. In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19 (b) of the HUD regulations, activities under the COPC program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environment Policy Act and are not subject to environmental review under related laws and authorities.

(B) HBCU, HSIAC, AN/NHIAC, and TCUP Programs. Selection for award does not constitute approval of any proposed sites. Following selection for award, HUD will perform an environmental review of activities proposed for assistance in accordance with 24 CFR part 50. The results of the environmental review may require that proposed activities be modified or proposed sites be rejected. Applicants are particularly cautioned not to undertake or commit funds for acquisition or development of proposed properties prior to HUD approval of specific properties or areas. An application constitutes an assurance that the institution will assist HUD to comply with part 50; will supply HUD with all available and relevant information to perform an environmental review for each proposed property; will carry out mitigating measures required by HUD or select alternate property; and will not acquire, rehabilitate, convert, demolish, lease, repair, or construct property and not commit or expend HUD or local funds for these program activities with respect to any eligible property until HUD approval of the property is received. In supplying HUD with environmental information, applicants should use the same guidance as provided in the HUD Notice CPD-99-01 entitled "Field Environmental Review Processing for HUD Colonial Initiative (HCI) Grants" issued January 27, 1999.

XI. Authority

The COPC program is authorized under the Community Outreach Partnership Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 5307 note; the "COPC Act"). The COPC Act is contained in section 851 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, approved October 28, 1992) (HCD Act of 1992). Section 801(c) of the HCD Act of 1992 authorized $7.5 million for each year of the 5-year demonstration to create Community Outreach Partnership Centers as authorized in the COPC Act. Division K of the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003) continued the program beyond the initial five-year demonstration by providing funding for Community Outreach Partnership Centers for FY 2003.

The HBCU program is authorized under section 107 (b) (3) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5307 (b) (3)), which was added by section 105 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (Pub. L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989). This program is governed by regulations contained in 24 CFR 570.400 and 570.404, and in 24 CFR part 570, subparts A, C, J, K, and O.

The HSIAC, AN/NHIAC, and TCUP programs were approved by the Congress under the conference report accompanying the CDBG appropriation for section 107, as part of the FY2003 Consolidated Appropriations Resolution (Pub. L. 108-7). These programs are being implemented through this NOFA and the policies governing its operation are contained herein.

XII. Appendices

The application checklist, non-standard forms required for the programs, and the list of previously funded and unfunded HBCUs follow in Appendices A-C.

Appendix A--Application Checklist

Application Checklist

This checklist identifies application submission requirements. Applicants are requested to use this checklist when preparing an application to ensure submission of all required elements. Please present the information in the application in the order outlined below and include a completed checklist. Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC)
Community Futures Demonstration

Funding Availability for Universities and Colleges: Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) Community Futures Demonstration

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of the Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) Community Futures Demonstration is to provide funds to schools of architecture, planning or design at two-year colleges, four-year colleges, and universities to establish and operate Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPCs) to:

- (1) Develop case study housing plans and designs that address community housing needs as described below; or
- (2) Develop long-range plans for local communities that address future growth and development trends in the metropolitan area or region.

Available Funds. Up to $1.955 million from the Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 Consolidated Appropriation Resolution for the Community Outreach Partnership Centers Program (COPC).

Additional Information

Applicants interested in applying for funds under this NOFA should carefully review the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

I. Application Due Date, Addresses, Submission Procedures, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. A completed application package is due on or before June 24, 2003.

Address for Submitting Applications. A completed application package consists of one original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the application. This package must be submitted to the following address: Processing and Control Branch, Office of Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Room 7251, Washington, DC 20410. When submitting an application package, also include the following information on the outside of the envelope: (a) Office of University Partnerships, (b) COPC Community Futures Demonstration Application, (c) Room number 7251, (d) applicant's name and mailing address (including zip code), and (e) applicant's telephone number (including area code).

Mailing and Receipt Procedures. Applicants must refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA for detailed requirements governing application submission and receipt procedures.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Applicants may contact HUD's Office of University Partnerships staff—Armand W. Carriere at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3852 or Susan Brunson at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3181. Speech-or hearing-impaired individuals may call the Federal Information Relay Service TTY at 1 (800) 877-8399. Except for the "800" number, these numbers are not toll-free. Applicants may also reach Mr. Carriere via e-mail at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov and Ms. Brunson at Susan_S_Brunson@hud.gov.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about this NOFA and preparation of an application. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, consult the HUD website at www.hud.gov.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

The amount allocated, grant size and term, and performance period for this NOFA are listed below:

Amount Allocated. HUD will use up to $1.955 million to fund applications from accredited colleges and universities with programs in architecture, planning or design.

Grant Size and Term. HUD will make two kinds of grants under this NOFA (1) Housing Design Grants and (2) Planning Grants.

Applicants may apply for either (1) Housing Design Grants or (2) Planning Grants as described in Section III below, but not both.

The minimum grant amount an applicant can request is $250,000 and the maximum amount is $400,000 for a three-year (36-month) performance period.

Funds will be awarded on a competitive basis following the review of all applications that have passed the threshold review. A technical review will be conducted for all applications that pass the threshold review to rate and rank the applications according to the rating factors described in Section VII of this NOFA. Only applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked. A minimum score of 75 is required for award consideration. HUD will select the highest-ranking COPC Community Futures Demonstration application among the applications receiving the minimum score of 75 points. If funding remains after all the eligible applicants are awarded, these funds will be used to make awards to additional eligible applicants under the basic Universities and Colleges Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) program, first to New Grants and then to New Directions applicants.

III. Purpose, Eligible Applicants, Program Description

(A) Purpose. The overall purpose of the COPC Community Futures Demonstration is to assist schools of architecture, planning and design to carry out applied research and outreach activities that address problems of urban areas and to enable them to form partnerships with local communities to address either of the urban issues described below.

COPC Community Futures awards are intended to focus on two specific urban problems that are cited in the COPC statute (housing and planning). They are also intended to further three of HUD's key Policy Priorities, as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA:

Policy Priority A—Providing increased homeownership and rental opportunities for low- and moderate-income persons, persons with disabilities, the elderly, minorities, and families with limited English proficiency; Policy Priority C—Encouraging accessible design features; Policy Priority G—Participation in Energy Star. Finally, the awards also intend to address three of HUD's key Strategic Goals that are described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA: (1) Increasing homeownership opportunities; (2) Promoting decent affordable housing; and (3) Strengthening communities.

HUD is also interested in how the research activities undertaken with COPC funds can assist HUD in improving its programs. In the case of the Community Futures awards, HUD is interested in how the research carried out with these funds can assist HUD in improving its Consolidated Plan requirements and procedures, which are currently in the process of being simplified and improved as an element in the President's Management Agenda. An area of special interest is the use of Geographic Information System (GIS), visual simulation tools and other computer technologies to enhance citizen participation and other elements of the planning process.

(B) Eligible Applicants. Public or private nonprofit institutions of higher education granting two- or four-year degrees in architecture, planning or design that are accredited by a national or regional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education may apply for COPC Community Futures awards. Institutions that were previous COPC grant recipients are eligible to apply for these funds. Consortia of eligible institutions may also apply, as long as one institution is designated the lead applicant. Institutions applying for COPC Community Futures awards may also submit applications for the basic Universities and Colleges COPC program provided the application is from a different academic unit with its own administrative structure.

(C) Program Description. In general, a Communities Futures COPC program must combine research and outreach with communities and local governments, and address the problems faced by urban areas. The statute creating COPC is very specific that COPC address problems of urban areas. Funded research must have a clear potential for solving significant urban problems. Applicants must have the capacity to apply the research results and work with communities and local institutions, including neighborhood groups, individual citizens, local governments, and other appropriate community stakeholders, in applying these results to specific, real-world community issues. More specifically, HUD will award COPC Community Futures Demonstration awards for research and outreach activities in one of the following two categories:

(1) Housing Design Awards. HUD will award funds to eligible schools of architecture, planning or design to establish and operate Community Outreach Partnership Centers to develop case study housing plans that incorporate innovative technologies, good design, energy efficiency, universal design, accessibility and affordability, so that the homes can be economically viable and marketable in the local area.

HUD is interested in stimulating the design and construction of housing that will reflect the future needs of communities in the United States. Applicants are expected to address the need for greater innovation and experimentation in the housing industry, training of architects and planners in affordable housing design, and merging quality affordable housing designs with market needs and constraints. These designs should be practicable but innovative, cost-effective but using cutting-edge technologies that incorporate good design.

Case study homes should include the following features: Innovative building technologies, including green building technologies; accessibility; energy efficiency; and good design that is both innovative and contextual. Clearly, there is no single definition of good design; however, it should at least address the following criteria: (1) Meet user needs; (2) understand and respond to local context; (3) enhance the neighborhood; and (4) be built to last (See www.designadvisor.org for further guidance on these criteria).

The extent to which the housing addresses market needs is as important as the physical design. The designs should be based on a careful cost analysis and priced to meet specific segments of the housing market—either specific income levels or specific populations (elderly, female-headed households, young couples, persons with disabilities, homeless persons, etc).

Case study houses are not restricted to a single building type; they may consist of single-family homes, both detached or attached, multifamily units, or a combination of housing types that are suitable for different users. They may be rental or homeownership units, or single-room occupancy (SRO) units. They should be affordable to low- to moderate-income families (up to 80 percent of area median income). However, the affordable units may make up a portion of a larger complex that is market-rate; in fact, this may be a desirable strategy for meeting affordable housing needs. Several states, counties, or cities have established programs that provide for a set-aside of affordable units within a larger market-rate complex. HUD has also encouraged production of mixed-income housing, which combines affordable, market rate and subsidized housing as an alternative to previous approaches that separated these housing types. To the extent that the state or city has one of these programs, applicants may wish to adopt this strategy for their case study design.

Case study housing designs developed in this grant category must be conceived in one or more target communities in cooperation with a private or non-profit developer or builder (or more than one developer or builder) that will agree to build one or more demonstrations of the product in the community by the end of the grant period. The process for designing and building case study homes should be a joint venture with a developer or builder that is committed to building the final product. HUD recognizes the difficulty in establishing such joint ventures, particularly when they involve innovative or experimental designs such as envisioned through this NOFA. However, HUD's intent is to ensure that the designs result in tangible benefits for local communities in the form of affordable housing. At the same time, applicants may develop a range of case study housing designs through this NOFA, provided that at least one of these designs results in actual construction.

Within these parameters, the purpose of the Community Futures awards in housing design is to foster and stimulate creativity and innovation on the part of architecture schools in addressing housing needs in their communities. This NOFA is therefore purposefully non-prescriptive in defining the specific characteristics that HUD is seeking in the design of case study homes. Rather, these should be determined by community needs, market economics, and financial feasibility. In addition to benefiting individual communities, HUD hopes that policy makers and the building industry can learn from these local case studies in shaping the next generation of affordable housing in the United States. HUD is interested in the completed designs and built projects as best practices for the building industry, and will share the results with key public and private sector leaders around the country.

For the purposes of this grant, applicants must identify the community or communities that will be served by the COPC. Applicants may identify a community as either (1) one or more specific communities or neighborhoods; or (2) the entire city, in which case applicants must identify one or more demographic groups (e.g., elderly, homeless persons, persons with disabilities) or income groups (e.g., low-income, very low-income or moderate income) that will be served by the designs, and identify those neighborhoods in which the housing will be made available.

(2) Planning Awards. HUD will award funds to eligible schools of architecture, planning or design to establish and operate Community Outreach Partnership Centers to develop, in cooperation with communities and local governments in a city, region or metropolitan area, a plan for the future of the cities or metropolitan areas for the next 20 years.

HUD is interested in universities and colleges assisting communities to address the challenges associated with metropolitan growth. By 2050, the U.S. population is projected to grow from the current (2000) 281 million to 410 million. Much of this growth will take place in cities and metropolitan areas, but it will take place unevenly, depending on the geographic region of the country and other facts. Some metropolitan areas are growing, but their central cities continue to experience population losses. Planning awards in this category are intended to help communities assess the nature of these changes and develop policies, plans and strategies to effectively address them.

Applicant's plans must identify trends that are changing the shape of the metropolitan area—both cities and counties—such as: growing populations, demographic shifts, expanding and more complex transportation needs, environmental challenges, changing land use patterns that include declining density and loss of open space and farmland, the shortage of affordable housing in locations close to jobs and employment centers, changing location and composition of job markets, and as our population ages, the need for accessible housing, among other things. Many of these emerging issues cannot adequately be addressed independently in an individual neighborhood or community, but are more appropriately addressed at the city, regional or metropolitan level. Neighborhoods, cities and suburbs must plan for their futures in ways that recognize and address these changes.

Applicants should also be aware of HUD-required Consolidated Plans that cities (with populations of 50,000 or more) and urban counties (with populations of 200,000 or more) are required to prepare in order to receive Community Development Block Grant and other formula grant funds. These are 3–5 year plans that include a detailed housing needs assessment and specific actions that the community will take to address these needs, as well as other community and economic development activities. Community Futures Planning Grants provide applicants with an opportunity to build on these plans, by extending them to a regional level, using the housing needs data already gathered, and to expanding the time frame to 20 years. Regional councils of governments and metropolitan planning organizations also prepare long-range transportation and land use plans. Applicants should review these plans and identify appropriate steps to coordinate the planning efforts to be mutually supportive.

The plans should identify key elements that impact the growth, financial stability and quality of life of cities or communities within a region, including but not limited to the following:

- Population growth, diversity, and locational trends;
- Changing housing needs, affordability issues, and the range of housing types needed by diverse income and population groups, including, for example, female-headed households, single households, the elderly and persons with disabilities;
- Changing energy and transportation needs;

- Changing job and employment markets; and

- Infrastructure needs including water, sewer, and communications infrastructure that will allow for industry and business growth.

Plans must also provide three or more scenarios that describe alternative population, land use and growth patterns that result from the assessment of these trends. The scenarios must address the physical shape of the urban landscape as it develops over the next two or more decades. Alternative development patterns may be modeled to include such factors as varying transportation assumptions, alternative density patterns, alternative employment, job growth and commercial development trends, and alternative environmental (air and water quality, and other) impacts. These scenarios must be documented in the form of one or more plans utilizing Geographic Information System (GIS) or other computer modeling tools as described below.

Applicants must make use of GIS systems, visual simulation and other computer modeling tools to model and document alternative development trends. Applicants must also undertake an extensive outreach process in developing the plan. Outreach activities should include such activities as community meetings or design charettes, and other activities that include citizens and groups such as civic and non-profit organizations, elected and appointed officials, Chambers of Commerce, representatives of the business or development community, public housing resident management organizations and public housing officials. Web sites and other forms of electronic communications may be utilized.

Additionally, completed plans must include a priority listing of projects designed to address local needs to be presented to community officials and other stakeholders for possible adoption as a roadmap for future development of the metropolitan area/region. Applicants should determine the appropriate scale for the plans.

For the purpose of these Planning awards, the urban area covered may be city-wide, county-wide or metropolitan area-wide, since much of future growth will be across jurisdictional boundaries. Additionally, applicants must identify one or more local communities and model how the metro-wide changes being proposed for adoption will impact these communities, the implications of these changes for these communities, and local strategies for addressing them.

IV. Threshold Requirements

In addition to the threshold requirements identified in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following additional threshold requirements for an application to be considered for funding. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified.

(1) Applicants must be an eligible applicant, as referenced in Section III (B) "Eligible Applicants."

(2) Applicants must create a Community Outreach Partnership Center (COPC) to carry out the proposed activities.

(3) Applicants must meet the following, statutorily set match requirements:

(a) Research Activities. 50 percent of the total project costs of establishing and operating research activities.

(b) Outreach Activities. 25 percent of the total project costs of establishing and operating outreach activities.

(4) Total project costs do not include the cost of any housing units built by a participating developer or builder. For each match, cash or in-kind contribution provided applicants must submit a letter of commitment.

Applicants may not count as meeting the match requirements any costs that would be ineligible for funding under this NOFA. An applicant's match is evaluated as percentage of the total cost of establishing and operating research and outreach activities, not just the federal grant amount. Please remember to base the calculation on the Total Amount. Applicants must use Form HUD-30001 "Community Outreach Partnership Centers Matching Requirements" (included in Appendix A) to show how the match requirements have been met. Applicants are also required to include Form HUD-30012, "Verification of the Match" (included in Appendix A) to determine if a sufficient match has been provided. Please note on this form by each commitment listed if the match is an inside or outside commitment.

(5) For each match, cash or in-kind contribution, a letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must be provided that shows the extent and firmness of the commitment of leveraged funds (including any commitment of resources from the applicant's own institution) in order for the resources to count in determining points under this factor. Resources will not be counted for which there is no commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement, nor quantified level of commitment. Letters of commitment, memoranda of understanding or agreements must be submitted from the provider on the provider's letterhead and be included with the application package. The date of the letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement from the CEO of the provider organization must be dated no earlier than the date of this published SuperNOFA. Applications that do not meet the required matching amounts will be disqualified from further review. A firm commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must address the following:

(a) The cash amount contributed or dollar value of the in-kind goods and/or services committed (If a dollar amount and use is not shown, the source cannot be counted towards the match requirement);

(b) How the match is to be used;

(c) The date the match will be made available and a statement that describes the duration of the contribution. If any of the matching sources are for more than one year, the commitment letter, memorandum of understanding, or agreement must state the number of years, the per year commitment, and the total commitment. Without this statement, HUD will assume that the commitment is for one year (e.g., $4,000 each year for three years totaling $12,000); and

(d) Any terms and conditions affecting the commitment, other than receipt of a HUD grant.

The commitment letter must be signed by the appropriate executive officer authorized to commit the funds and/or goods and/or services. Please remember that only items eligible for funding under this program can be counted as match.

Please note that the value of the time of individuals serving on an applicant program advisory board cannot be counted as an in-kind contribution. Applicants may count overhead and other institutional costs (e.g., salaries) that the institution has waived.

HUD is concerned that applicants should be providing hard dollars as part of their matching contributions to enhance the tangible resources going into targeted neighborhoods. Thus, while indirect costs can count toward meeting the required match, they will not be used to calculate the match percentage above the match requirement. Only direct costs can count in this factor.

(6) The COPC must operate in an urban area. The statute creating COPC is very specific that programs address the problems of urban areas. HUD uses the Census definition of an urban area: a single geographic place with a population of 2,500 or more.

(7) Applicants for a Housing Design award must provide evidence of a commitment from a private or non-profit developer or builder (or more than one developer or builder) to build at least one of the case study designs prepared with this NOFA. This must be in the form of a letter on the developer's or builder's stationery.

V. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following requirements that are specific to the COPC program Community Futures Demonstration awards:

(1) Conduct the statutorily required activities described below:

(2) Employ the research and outreach resources of the institution of higher education to solve specific urban problems identified by communities served by the Center;

(3) Establish outreach activities in areas identified in the application as the communities to be served;

(4) Establish a community advisory committee comprised of representatives of local institutions and residents of the communities to be served to assist in identifying local needs and advise on the development and implementation of strategies to address those issues;

(5) Coordinate outreach activities in communities to be served by the Center;

(6) Act as a clearinghouse for dissemination of information;

(7) Develop instructional programs, convene conferences, and provide training for local community leaders, when appropriate; and

(8) Exchange information with other Centers.

(B) No more than 25 percent of the grant funds should be passed through to other entities.

VI. Eligible Activities

(A) Housing Design Grant. Eligible activities for this category of Community Futures Demonstration awards include, but are not limited to, the following:

(1) Researching and identifying housing market needs for one or more target communities.

(2) Identifying the range of housing markets within an urban area based on current and anticipated demographic trends, including market needs of different income groups as well as diverse populations such as the elderly, persons with disabilities, younger families with children, empty-nesters, and racial and ethnic minorities.

(3) Identifying relevant technologies that show promise for improving the durability, affordability and accessibility of housing, including but not limited to advanced technologies and building systems that have been identified through such sources as the PATH program (Partnership for Advancing Technology in Housing), Energy Star and other sources (See www.pathnet.org for further information on PATH's technology inventory, and www.energystar.gov for information on Energy Star).

(4) Developing housing designs for construction of case study homes that demonstrate innovative technologies, energy efficiency, accessibility, green building techniques and/or other features of innovative design.

(5) Preparing schematic designs of these houses for review by a panel of construction and design experts, such as builders, developers and local architects.

(6) Preparing cost analyses of these designs that illustrate that they are suitable for and affordable, to one or more market segments in the local community.

(7) Conducting focus groups, design charettes and/or other decision-making activities that engage residents and community leaders in providing input and responses to proposed designs and plans.

(8) Preparing final designs and construction specifications, including where appropriate the use of industrialized housing systems.

(9) Identifying a site or sites for construction of final "case study" design or designs.

(10) Working with local HUD offices, other government agencies and private institutions (such as private foundations and lending institutions), non-profit and private sector developers to identify sources of financing for the case study houses.

(11) Identifying regulatory barriers, including zoning restrictions, building codes, permitting or inspection standards that inhibit use of new technologies or construction methods, and assisting communities to eliminate or reduce excessive, unnecessary or duplicative regulations, processes or policies that restrict the development or rehabilitation or add to the cost of affordable housing (For further discussion of Regulatory Barriers, see the General Section of this SuperNOFA).

(12) Implementing an information dissemination program for builders, investors and civic leaders that could include exhibits of completed designs in suitable community locations, along with symposia, community workshops or other activities.

(13) Providing continuing architectural services during the construction of the completed design by a non-profit or for-profit developer.

(14) Conducting the required activities as described in Section V, "Program Requirements".

(B) Planning Awards. Eligible activities in the planning category include, but are not limited to, the following:

(1) Making use of visual simulation, Geographic Information Systems, and other computer modeling tools in the planning process.

(2) Preparing computer models that can simulate growth, market and investment demands as a tool for community planning and development decision-making.

(3) Identifying and utilizing HUD approved Consolidated Plans, and other community, city or regional plans that may provide useful growth-related data.

(4) Partnering with economists and market analysts to determine market demands for housing and other needs.

(5) Conducting symposia to educate local officials and residents.

(6) Working with legal and regulatory authorities to resolve legal and regulatory issues that might limit housing development or growth options for the area.

(7) Meeting and entering into agreements with local officials and community groups to establish priorities for plan implementation.

(8) Conducting focus groups, charettes or other decision-making activities that involve communities in providing input and responses to proposed designs and plans.

(9) Conducting the required activities as described in Section V, "Program Requirements".

(C) Both Grant Categories. In addition to eligible activities in each grant category described above, the following are eligible activities for both grant categories:

(1) Convening meetings and providing staff support for Community Advisory Boards.

(2) Incorporating relevant housing design and planning topics in the curriculum of architecture and planning schools, by offering design and planning courses and studios on relevant topics such as affordable housing, housing economics, real estate development, accessible design, energy efficient housing, and/or metropolitan growth.

(3) Stipends or salaries for students (but the program cannot cover tuition and fees) while they are working with the COPC.

(4) Faculty development, including paying for course time or summer support to enable faculty members to work with the COPC.

(5) Leases for office space in which to house the Community Outreach Partnership Center, under the following conditions:

(a) The lease must be for existing facilities not requiring rehabilitation or construction;

(b) No repairs or renovations of the property may be undertaken with COPC funds; and

(c) Properties in the Coastal Barrier Resource System designated under the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3501) cannot be leased with federal funds.

(6) Up to 20 percent of the grant for reasonable grant administrative activities related to planning and execution of the project (e.g., preparation/submission of HUD reports). A detailed explanation of these costs is provided in the OMB circulars that can be accessed at the White House Web site at: whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html.

VII. Ineligible Activities

(A) Activities ineligible for funding under this program are as follows:

(a) Any type of construction, rehabilitation, or other physical development. (Leveraged funds beyond the match requirements may be used for this purpose).

(b) Routine operations and day-to-day administration of institutions of higher education, local governments or neighborhood groups.

(c) Payment of court fines, judgments or fees imposed as a result of a court case or a settlement of a court case.

VIII. Application Selection Process

(A) Two Types of Reviews. Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an application's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review based on the rating factors listed below.

Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(B) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application and the maximum points for each factor are listed in this NOFA below. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 out of the total possible points to be considered for funding. The maximum number of points available under the program is

102. This includes the two RC/EZ/EC bonus points as described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which an applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating includes any faith-based and other community-based organizations, sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients and members of consortia that are firmly committed to the project. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the proposal demonstrates the knowledge and experience of the overall proposed project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants, and contractors in planning and managing the kind of programs for which funding is being requested. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant, and successful knowledge and skills of the staff to undertake eligible program activities. HUD will consider experience within the last 5 years to be recent; experience pertaining to the specific activities being proposed to be relevant; and experience producing specific accomplishments to be successful. The more recent and substantial the experience of the staff, particularly the institution's own staff who will work on the project, in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the higher the number of points an applicant can receive for this rating factor. The following categories will be evaluated:

(1) Undertaking research, planning, design or outreach activities in specific communities to solve or ameliorate significant urban issues;

(2) Undertaking projects with community-based organizations or local governments; and

(3) Experience in conducting planning or design work, including outreach to community groups, local officials and business leaders.

In addition, applicants should include information on project staff commitment to the project and position titles. Resumes of up to three pages each and position descriptions for up to three personnel (in addition to the project director and project manager) and a clearly delineated organizational chart for the project must be included.

(b) Applicants should provide their qualifications to carry out the proposed activities as evidenced by academic background, training, and/or relevant publications of project staff.

(c) Provide information that reflects whether an applicant has sufficient personnel, or will be able to retain qualified experts or professionals to begin the proposed project immediately, and to perform proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Applicants should describe how principal components of the organization will participate in or support the project.

(d) Applicants may submit attachments totaling no more than 25 pages over and above the narrative statement that consist of copies of plans, drawings, photographs, award announcements or journal articles that illustrate previous projects, both for project staff and/or representative studio design projects completed by students that illustrate the type of design and plans anticipated to be carried as part of the proposed activities.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed grant activities and an indication of urgency of meeting the need to participate in the target area. In responding to this factor, the proposal will be evaluated on the extent to which the level of need for the proposed activities and the importance of meeting the need are documented.

Applicants should use statistics and analyses contained in at least one or more current data sources that are sound and reliable. The data provided must be current. In rating this factor, HUD will consider data collected within the last five years to be current. To the extent that the targeted community or community's Five (5) Year Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identify the level of the problem and the urgency in meeting the need, applicants should include references to these documents in the response to this factor.

If the proposed activities are not covered under the scope of the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), indicate such in the proposal, and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. Other reliable sources include, but are not limited to, Census report data, HUD Continuum of Care gaps analysis and its E-Map (<http://www.hud.gov/emaps>), law enforcement agency crime reports, Public Housing Authorities' Comprehensive Plans, community needs analyses such as provided by the United Way, the applicant's institution, etc., and other sound and reliable appropriate sources. Needs in terms of fulfilling court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, and voluntary compliance agreements may also be addressed. The data used should be specific to the area where the proposed activities will be carried out. Needs should be documented as they apply to the area where the activities will be targeted. Remember, the statute creating COPC is very specific that the program address problems of an urban area: a single geographic place (e.g., a city, town, or village, but not a county) with a population of 2,500 or more.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (60 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of the proposed work plan. There must be a clear relationship among the proposed activities, community needs and the purpose of the funding to receive points for this factor.

The factor will be evaluated based on the extent to which the proposed work plan will:

(1) Perform Specific Services and/or Activities. (10 Points). Identify the specific services or activities to be performed in a Statement of Work, as well as the dollars allocated for each activity and task identified, milestones and timeline, and the budget for the activities proposed. HUD will make a judgment based upon the reasonableness and appropriateness of the budget to the dollars allocated for your work plan. In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will consider the extent to which:

(a) There is a clear research agenda with identifiable research activities and outcomes (e.g., reports, surveys, etc.) that identifies each task and who will be responsible for it, and is tied to the outreach agenda which does not duplicate research by the institution or others for the target area previously completed or currently underway. If other complementary research is underway, describe how the proposed research agenda would complement it.

(b) There is a clear outreach agenda with identifiable outreach activities that involves the architecture, planning or design school (where appropriate in partnership with other disciplines, departments and administrative offices) and does not duplicate outreach activities by the institution or others for the target area previously completed or currently underway, that identifies each task and who will be responsible for it;

(c) For research and outreach activities, applicants should briefly summarize the potential for the work to improve the performance of HUD programs, such as the citizen participation requirements and other features of the Consolidated Plan that communities must prepare in order to receive Community Development Block Grant or other formula grant funds.

(2) Involve the communities to be served in a partnership for the planning and implementation of the proposed activities. (7 Points). In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will look at the extent to which:

(a) One or more Community Advisory Committees have been formed or will be formed that represent the community's or communities' diversity (including businesses, community groups, residents, and others) to be served to develop and implement strategies to address the needs identified in Rating Factor 2. In addressing this subfactor, applicants must demonstrate by providing a list that such a committee(s) has already been formed and what groups described above it represents, or that they have secured the commitment of the appropriate persons to serve on the committee(s), rather than just describing generally the types of people whose involvement will be sought.

(b) A range of neighborhood organizations and/or local government entities and or citizens have been involved in the proposed research and outreach activities.

(c) Innovative techniques and technologies have been identified to involve local citizens directly in the decision-making and design processes (e.g., computer mapping technologies or visual simulation tools, Internet, or other multi-media techniques).

(3) Help solve or address an urgent problem as identified in Rating Factor 2 and will achieve the purposes of the proposed application within the award period. (6 Points). In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will look at the extent to which:

(a) Specific time phased and measurable objectives are identified to be accomplished, including the proposed short and long term objectives to be achieved as a result of the proposed activities; the tangible and measurable impact the activities will have on the community in general and the target area or population in particular, including affirmatively furthering fair housing for classes protected under the Fair Housing Act; and the relationship of the proposed activities to other ongoing or proposed efforts to improve the economic, social or living environment in the impact area; and

(b) The activities proposed are responsive to pressing and urgent needs, as identified in the documents described in Rating Factor 2.

(c) Grant funds will pay for activities you conduct directly, rather than passing funds through to other entities. (No more than 25 percent of your grant funds should be passed through to other entities.)

(4) Work will yield innovative strategies or "best practices" that can be replicated and disseminated to other organizations, including nonprofit organizations, state and local governments. (4 Points) In reviewing this subfactor, HUD will assess the applicant's demonstrated ability to disseminate results of research and outreach activities to other COPCs and communities. HUD will evaluate an applicant's past experience and the scope and quality of the plan provided to disseminate information on COPC results, strategies, and lessons learned through such means as conferences, cross-site technical assistance, publications, etc. The more proactive the plan for providing information to a wide range of audiences, the higher the number of points an applicant will receive.

(5) Affirmatively further Fair Housing. (5 Points). This factor will be evaluated on the extent to which the application incorporates principles and techniques to affirmatively further fair housing, for example:

(a) Working with other entities in the community to overcome impediments to fair housing, such as discrimination in the sale or rental of housing or in advertising, provision of brokerage services or lending;

(b) Promoting fair housing choice through the expansion of homeownership opportunities and improved quality of services for minorities, families with children, and persons with disabilities;

(c) Providing housing mobility counseling services; or

(d) Ensuring that any housing units that result from this award are affirmatively marketed, either directly or through existing organizations.

(6) HUD Policy Priorities. (6 Points). HUD encourages applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities and that help the Department achieve its goals and objectives in FY 2004, when the majority of grant recipients will be reporting programmatic results and achievement. In addressing this factor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the research and outreach will further and support HUD's priorities. The quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities will determine the score an applicant can receive. For each policy priority addressed, applicants will receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than six points. For the full list and explanation of each policy priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(7) Result in the COPC planning and design functions and activities becoming part of the urban mission of the institution and funded in the future by sources other than HUD. (12 Points).

In rating this subfactor, HUD will evaluate the extent to which the applicant addresses each of the following categories:

(a) COPC activities relate to the institution's urban mission; demonstrate support and involvement of the institution's executive leadership (e.g., department chairs, deans, etc.); are linked by a formal organizational structure to other units related to outreach and community partnerships; are reflected in budget and planning documents of the university; are part of a climate that rewards faculty work on these activities through promotion and tenure policies; benefit students because they are part of the professional training programs at the institution (rather than just volunteer activities); and are reflected in the institution's curriculum. HUD will look at the institution's commitment to faculty and staff continuing work in COPC neighborhoods or replicating successes in other neighborhoods and to the long term commitment (e.g., three years after the start of the COPC) of hard dollars to COPC work. HUD will consider the extent to which the proposed activities are appropriate for an institution of higher education and are tied to the institution's teaching or research mission. In addition, HUD will consider the extent to which the faculty, staff and students from across disciplines are involved in COPC activities as a way of demonstrating the institution's commitment to these kinds of activities.

(b) The institution has received commitments for funding from sources outside the university for related COPC-like activities in the targeted neighborhood or other distressed neighborhoods. Funding sources to be considered include, but are not limited to, local governments, neighborhood organizations, private businesses, and foundations.

(8) Involvement of students in course work. (5 points). The extent to which COPC activities are incorporated or addressed in student course work, including design and planning studios. This should include students' developing an understanding of design and planning issues associated with the project, as well as the market economics associated with housing development. Please describe the proposed relationship between student work and the final plans or housing designs.

(9) Budget. (5 points) The extent to which the budget presentation is consistent with the Work Plan and the dollars indicated on the HUD 424 form. The budget submission should follow the narrative statement in this factor and include the following documents:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grant Programs". This budget form shows the costs for each budget category for the program's entire period of performance. For budgeting purposes, applicants should assume a start date of September 1, 2003.

(b) HUD 424-CB "Grant Application Detailed Budget". This budget form shows the total budget by year and by line item for the program activities to be carried out. This will be a functional budget. Each year of the program should be presented separately.

These forms must be completed in full. If an application is selected for award, the applicant may be required to provide greater specificity to the budget during grant agreement negotiations.

(c) Budget Narrative. A narrative explanation of how the applicant arrived at the cost estimates, for any line item, including match items, over $5,000. For example, a van rental, $150 per month \times 36 months equals $5,400. The proposed cost estimates should be reasonable for the work to be performed and consistent with rates established for the level of expertise required to perform the work proposed in the geographical area. When necessary, quotes from various vendors or historical data should be used and included. All direct labor or salaries must be supported with mandated city/state pay scales, the Davis-Bacon rate (if applicable) or other documentation. When an applicant proposes to use a consultant, the applicant must indicate whether there is a formal agreement or written procurement policy. For each consultant, please provide the name, if known, hour or daily fee, and the estimated time on the project. For equipment, applicants must provide a list by type and cost for each item and explain how it will be used. Applicants using contracts must provide an individual description and cost estimate for each contract.

Indirect costs attributed to a particular project functional category should be listed under the "Indirect Cost" category. Indirect costs are allowable only if an applicant has a federally approved indirect cost rate. A copy of the institution's negotiated indirect rate as issued by the cognizant federal agency must be attached to the budget sheets when submitting an application.

Make sure that the amount shown on the HUD 424, the budget forms, and all other required program forms are consistent and the budget totals correct. Remember to check addition in totaling the categories on the HUD 424-C and HUD 424-CB forms so that all items are included in the total. If there is an inconsistency between any of the forms required, the HUD 424-C form will be used. If upon checking the addition, HUD finds that an applicant has added incorrectly, the HUD 424-CB will be revised accordingly. Please note that, because this would be considered a substantive rather than a technical error, if this correction puts an application over the grant maximum, the application will be disqualified.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses the applicant's ability to secure additional community resources that will aid in project implementation.

(A) Planning Grants. HUD is looking for proposed plans to be adopted and resources allocated from the community to support the development. Example of resources are items such as detailed design drawings, construction specs, legal services, etc. that will be necessary to implement the priority projects once they are developed. The greater the number of resources provided by the community to support the policy priority projects, the higher the number of points that will be allocated.

(B) Design Grants. HUD is interested in a private or non-profit developer (or a number of developers) building one or more of the proposed units; leveraging points will be awarded based on the total developer project costs as a percentage of the total COPC funding award. The higher the developer contribution, the higher the number of points. Resources may also include funding or in-kind contributions, such as services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of the grant being sought.

Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities willing to establish partnerships with the institution. Applicants may also establish partnerships with funding recipients in other grant programs to coordinate the use of resources in the target area. In order to receive points under this factor, applicants must submit letters of commitment. Applicants should follow the requirements for letters of commitment as defined in Section IV (5) "Threshold Requirements".

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor reflects HUD's goal of embracing high standards of ethics, management, and accountability. The factor measures the applicant's commitment to assess your performance to achieve the program's proposed objectives and goals. Applicants are required to develop an effective, quantifiable, outcome oriented evaluation plan to measure performance and determine that objectives and goals have been achieved. HUD will evaluate the extent to which applicants identify program activities, outcomes, interim benchmarks and performance indicators that will describe how performance will be measured, and a description of the steps that will be taken to make adjustments to the work plan if performance targets are not met within the established time frame associated with each activity.

The evaluation plan must include a statement of outcomes and interim benchmarks or outputs. "Outcomes" are benefits accruing to institutions of higher education and/or communities during or after participation in the COPC Community Futures Demonstration. Outcomes are not the actual development of housing units or community plans. Examples of outcomes are: increasing the homeownership rate in a community by a certain percentage, increasing housing stability (e.g., increasing assets through additional savings, home equity), or increasing the availability of rental housing.

In addition, applicants must establish interim benchmarks and outputs that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. "Outputs" are the direct products of the program's activities. Examples of outputs are the number of houses designed and/or built and the number of homes rehabilitated. Outputs should produce outcomes for the COPC. At a minimum, an applicant must address the following activities in the evaluation plan:

- (a) Short and long term objectives to be achieved;
- (b) Actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements;
- (c) Measurable impacts the grant will have on the community in general and the target area or population;
- (d) The impact the grant will have on the long term commitment of the University to the community to continue this type of work; and
- (e) The impact this award will have on assisting the university to obtain additional resources to continue this type of work at the end of the funding period.

This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information on how to use it can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

A complete application package must include an original signed application and three copies, and one computer disk of the application (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the items listed below. In order to be able to recycle paper, applicants should not submit applications in bound form. Binder clips or loose-leaf binders are acceptable. Applications must be submitted on 8½ by 11 inch paper, double-spaced, and printed in a standard Times Roman 12-point font. The doubled-spaced requirement applies to all parts of the narrative, but excludes materials submitted in the appendix (e.g., visual materials, such as copies of plans, drawings, photographs, award announcements or journals). Each page should include the applicant's name, be numbered, and each section tabbed sequentially.

Please make sure that all items are submitted in the application in the order listed below. Except where a particular form may direct otherwise, all forms included in the application, as well as the transmittal letter, must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (generally the President or Provost) or an official authorized to make a binding legal commitment for the institution. If a designee signs, the application must contain a copy of the official delegation of signatory authority.

(A) Application Contents. All information needed to apply for funding is contained in this SuperNOFA. There is no separate application kit. Please include each item in the order listed below:

- (1) Transmittal Letter. The letter should contain the following:
 - (a) A statement certifying that the institution is an eligible institution because it meets the requirement of the specific program from which funding is sought;
 - (b) the institution is a two- or four-year institution; and
 - (c) the institution of higher education is fully accredited. This assurance must state not only the name of the accrediting agency but also that the particular accrediting agency is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education (or, for applicants to the Tribal Colleges and Universities Programs, that the institution has applied for accreditation by a regional instructional accrediting association recognized by the U.S. Department of Education). Applicants can also use the transmittal letter as one way to demonstrate the President's commitment to the institutionalization of the program. This letter must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (usually the President or Provost) of the institution. If the Chief Executive Officer has delegated this responsibility to another official, that person may sign, but a copy of the delegation must be included or stated in the letter.

(2) HUD 424 "Application for Federal Assistance". Applicants should complete this form signed by the Chief Executive Officer of the institution. Community Outreach Partnership Centers Program is 14.511.

(3) Application Checklist. This checklist, provided in Appendix A to this program NOFA, provides a listing of all of the items that need to be included in your application. Applicants must include the application items in the order that they are listed on the checklist. Applicants must include the completed checklist in their application. On the checklist, indicate the page number where each of the items can be found in the application.

(4) Abstract. Applicants must include a two-page summary of their proposed project. Please include the following: Page (1), (a) project title, (b) name of College/University, (c) requested grant amount, (d) project address, (e) the designated contact person, including phone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address; page (2), (a) University's name, department, mailing address, telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address, and (b) the principal investigator for the project, designated contact person, including telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address, (c) brief description of the target area to be assisted through this grant, (d) needs of the target area to be addressed through the proposed activities, (e) the activities proposed to be funded, and (f) the grant's goals and objectives.

(5) Documentation required to verify match.

(a) Applicants are required to use form HUD-30001, "Community Outreach Partnership Center Match Requirements" (included in Appendix A) to show how the match requirements have been met.

(b) Applicants must also include the multiple-page worksheet HUD 30012, "Verification of the Match" (included in Appendix A) which must be used to determine if a sufficient match has been provided.

(6) Narrative statement (including any required forms and submissions) addressing the following factors for award.

Factor 1: Capacity. Include any resumes or documentation showing experience.

Factor 2: Need. Include any documentation of need including any excerpts from the HUD approved Consolidated Plan.

Factor 3: Approach. Include statement of work, required budget documentation and any explanatory budget narrative for line items over $5,000.

Factor 4: Leveraging Resources. Include letters of commitment for the leveraged funds.

Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation.

Application should not exceed 60 pages, including letters of commitment for the required match, tables and maps, but not including letters of matching commitments, the match calculation and budget forms. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify your application, HUD will not consider the information submitted on any pages that exceed the 60-page limit. Failure to include all the requested information within the page limit may result in a lower score for failure to meet a threshold.

(7) Budget. The budget documents should follow the narrative addressing Factor 3. The budget presentation should be consistent with the Statement of Work and include the following:

(a) HUD 424-C "Budget Summary for Competitive Grants Programs"

(b) HUD 424-CW "Grant Application Detailed Budget"

(c) Budget-Narrative. A narrative of how the applicant arrived at costs, for line items over $5,000. All budget forms must be completed in full.

(8) Appendices. Applicants may submit appendices that include visual material illustrating past projects and awards, provided that they follow the requirements stated under Factor 1(d), above.

(9) Certifications. The following certifications and assurances must be included in the application package. These forms must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (or official designee) of the institution and can be downloaded from the HUD Website at www.hud.gov.

(a) Applicant Assurances and Certification (HUD-424-B)

(b) Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (SF-LLL)

(c) Applicant/Recipient Disclosure/Update Report (HUD-2880)

(d) Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan (HUD-2991)

(e) Certification of Consistency with the EZ/EC/RC Strategic Plan (HUD-2990) (Must be signed by the certifying official of the EZ/EC/RC. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides procedures and guidelines required to certify that proposed grant activities are being conducted in the EZ/EC/EEC/RC that serve the residents of these areas, and are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan.)

(10) Acknowledgment of Receipt of Application (Form HUD-2993). To confirm that HUD has received the application package, please complete this form. Applicants are not required to include this form, but HUD recommends that an applicant do so.

(11) Client Comments and Suggestions (Form HUD-2994). This form is included so that HUD can solicit information from the most valuable source, the applicant—our customers. Applicants are not required to complete this form.

(B) Final selection. If an application is in compliance with the applicable threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and NOFA, as well as the applicable program requirements, it will be evaluated, rated, and ranked based on its total score on the program's rating factors. In order to be funded, an application must receive a minimum score of 75 points. HUD will fund applications under this NOFA in rank order, until it has awarded all available program funds.

If two or more applications have the same number of points, the application with the most points for Factor 3, Soundness of Approach, shall be selected. If there is still a tie, the application with the most points for Factor 1, Capacity, shall be selected. HUD also reserves the right to make selections out of rank order to provide for geographic distribution of grantees and a combination of planning and design awards. If this occurs, HUD will fund the highest-ranking application within the two categories in different locations as long as the minimum score of 75 points is achieved.

HUD reserves the right to reduce the amount of funding requested in order to fund as many highly ranked applications in this NOFA as possible. Additionally, if funds remain after funding the highest-ranked applications, HUD may fund part of the next highest-ranking application in a given program area. If an applicant turns down the award offer, HUD will make the same determination for the next highest-ranking application. If funds remain after all selections have been made, the remaining funds will be made available to applicants to the basic Colleges and Universities COPC program in the following order: New Grants; New Directions.

(C) Negotiations. After all selections have been made, HUD may require winning applicants to participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of a program's Statement of Work and/or Grant Budget. In cases where HUD cannot successfully conclude negotiations, or an applicant fails to provide HUD with requested information, an award will not be made. In such instances, HUD may elect to offer an award to the next highest-ranking applicant, and proceed with negotiations with that applicant.

VII. Other Matters

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(A) Debriefing. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for requesting a debriefing. All requests for debriefings must be made in writing and submitted to Armand Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships, Robert C. Weaver Building, 451 7th Street SW., Room 8106, Washington, DC 20410. Applicants may also write to Mr. Carriere via e-mail at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov.

(B) Administrative. Grants awarded under this NOFA will be governed by the provisions of 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals and Other Non-Profit Organizations), A-21 (Cost Principles for Education Institutions) and A-133 (Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations). Applicants can access the OMB circulars at the White House website at whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/index.html.

(C) Davis-Bacon Requirements. Provided that no grant funds are used for construction or construction management of housing built as a result of this award, Davis-Bacon requirements do not apply, unless the funds used for construction are federal funds that carry their own Davis-Bacon requirements. Provision of architectural services, whether before or during construction, does not trigger Davis-Bacon requirements.

VIII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

IX. Environmental Requirements

In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b) of the HUD regulations, activities assisted with Community Planning awards are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities.

With regard to Housing Design awards, selection for award does not constitute approval of any proposed sites for construction of the housing designs. Following selection for award, HUD will perform an environmental review of sites proposed for construction of housing designs, in accordance with 24 CFR part 50. The results of the environmental review may require that the proposed activities be modified or that the proposed sites be rejected. Applicants are particularly cautioned not to undertake or commit funds for acquisition or development of proposed properties prior to HUD approval of specific properties or areas.

An application constitutes an assurance that the institution will assist HUD to comply with 24 CFR part 50; will supply HUD with all available and relevant information to perform an environmental review for each proposed property; will carry out mitigating measures required by HUD or select an alternate property; and will not acquire, rehabilitate, convert, demolish, lease, repair or construct property and will not commit or expend HUD or local funds for these program activities with respect to any eligible property, until HUD approval of the property is received. In supplying HUD with environmental information, applicants should use the same guidance as provided in the HUD Notice CPD-99-01 entitled "Field Environmental Review Processing for HUD Colonias Initiative (HCI) Grants," issued January 27, 1999.

X. Authority

The COPC program is authorized under the Community Outreach Partnership Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 5307 note; the "COPC Act"). The COPC Act is contained in section 851 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-550, approved October 28, 1992 (HCD Act of 1992). Section 801(c) of the HCD Act of 1992 authorized $7.5 million for each year of the 5-year demonstration to create Community Outreach Partnership Centers as authorized in the COPC Act. Division K of the FY 2003 Consolidated Appropriations Resolution (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003) continued the program beyond the initial five-year demonstration by providing funding for Community Outreach Partnership Centers for FY 2003. Applicants are encouraged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the statute on HUD's SuperNOFA website at www.hud.gov.

XI. Appendix A

Appendix A, which follows, includes the non-standard forms required for this NOFA.

Attachment A--Application Checklist

Application Checklist

This checklist identifies application submission requirements. Applicants are requested to use this checklist when preparing an application to ensure submission of all required elements. Please present the information in the application in the order outlined below and include the completed checklist. Standard Forms and required certification are found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, program specific forms are found at the end of this NOFA in Appendix A.

The information collection requirements contained in this notice of funding availability and application kit will be used to rate applications, determine eligibility, and establish grant amounts for the Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) program.

Total public reporting burden for collection of this information is estimated to average 80 hours. This includes the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information.

The information submitted in response to the notice of funding availability for the COPC program and HSI-WSP program is subject to the disclosure requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (Pub.L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989, 42 U.S.C. 3545).

The agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless the collection displays a valid control number.

(exp. 04/30/2003)

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 5 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. The information collected on this form is utilized to calculate and verify the amount of matching resources as a percentage of total project costs. This collection of information is authorized by Public Law 100-242, section 501. This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. HUD has submitted a request for Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approval to collect this information. That approval is pending.

Funding Availability for the Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program and Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program

Program Overview

Purpose of the Programs. The purposes of the university partnership dissertation programs are:

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program (EDSRG). To help eligible doctoral students cultivate their research skills through the preparation of research manuscripts that focus on housing and urban development issues; and Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program (DDRG). To assist Ph.D. candidates to complete their research and dissertations on housing and urban development issues.

Available Funds. Approximately $550,000 in Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 appropriations is available for the Office of University Partnerships dissertation programs as follows.

- Early Doctoral Student Research Program: $150,000
- Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program: $400,000

Application Deadline. May 27, 2003.
Match. None.

Additional Information

Doctoral students interested in applying for funding under these grant programs should carefully review the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information. There is no separate Application Kit for this NOFA.

Additional Information

I. Application Due Date, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. A completed application package is due on or before May 27, 2003.

Address for Submitting Applications. A completed application package consists of an original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the application. All applications must be submitted via the United States Postal Service to the following address: University Partnerships Clearinghouse, c/o Danya International, 8737 Colesville Road, Suite 1200, Silver Spring, MD 20910. When submitting an application package, indicate the following information on the outside of the envelope: Name of the program under which funding is being requested and the doctoral student's name and mailing address, including zip code. HUD will accept only one application package per doctoral student.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Doctoral students may contact Armand Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3181 or Susan Brunson at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3852. Speech- or hearing-impaired individuals may call the Federal Information Relay Service TTY at 1-800-877-8339. Except for the "800" number, these telephone numbers are not toll-free. Students may also reach Mr. Carriere via the Internet at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov and Ms. Brunson at Susan_S_Brunson@hud.gov.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential doctoral student applicants to learn more about the programs and preparation of applications. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, consult the HUD Website at www.hud.gov.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

The amount allocated, grant size and term, and performance period are listed below for each program in this NOFA. HUD's authority for making funding available under this NOFA is Division K of the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003 (Pub. L. 108-7, approved February 20, 2003).

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program—Approximately $150,000 will be made available for funding under this program.

The maximum grant period is 12 months. The performance period will commence on the effective date of the grant agreement.

The maximum amount that can be requested by a doctoral student for award is $15,000.

Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program—Approximately $400,000 will be made available for funding under this program.

The maximum grant period is 24 months. The performance period will commence on the effective date of the grant agreements.

The maximum amount that can be requested by a doctoral student for award is $25,000.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program (EDSRG). The purpose of the EDSRG program is to enable doctoral students enrolled at an accredited institution of higher learning recognized by the U.S. Department of Education to cultivate their research skills through the preparation of research manuscripts that focus on policy-relevant housing and urban development issues. The program also encourages new scholars to share their research findings through presentation at scholarly conferences and/or publication in refereed journals. The FY 2003 EDSRG program seeks to fund research studies that may impact federal problem solving and policymaking and that are relevant to HUD's policy priorities and annual goals and objectives. (See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for discussion of these priorities and annual goals and objectives).

Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program (DDRG). The purpose of the DDRG program is to enable Ph.D. candidates enrolled at accredited institutions of higher education recognized by the U.S. Department of Education to complete their research and dissertations on policy-relevant housing and urban development issues. The FY 2003 DDRG program seeks to fund dissertations that may impact federal problem solving and policymaking and that are relevant to HUD's policy priorities and annual goals and objectives. (See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for discussion of these priorities and annual goals and objectives). Examples of topics addressing these issues (applicable to both the EDSRG and DDRG programs) include but are not limited to:

- (1) Increase Homeownership Opportunities
 - (a) Increasing Minority Homeownership;
 - (b) Simplifying the Homebuying Process (RESPA reform) and Reducing Settlement Costs;
 - (c) Setting Appropriate Housing Goals for the GSEs;
 - (d) Countering Predatory Lending;
 - (e) Helping Low-Income Homeowners Avoid Default and Foreclosure;
 - (f) Evaluating Housing Counseling.
- (2) Promote Decent Affordable Housing
 - (a) Reducing Regulatory Barriers to the Development of Affordable Housing, as well as All Forms of Multifamily Housing
 - (b) Developing Creative Strategies for Expanding the Availability of Affordable Housing. Strengthening the Delivery of HUD-Funded Rental Assistance and Assistance Provided Through the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit
 - (c) Promoting Self-Sufficiency Among Residents of Public and Assisted Housing
 - (d) Meeting the Housing-Related Needs of the Elderly

(e) Meeting the Housing-Related Needs of Persons with Disabilities
 (f) Improving Housing Quality and Affordability through Technology and Design

(3) Strengthen Communities
 (a) Ending Chronic Homelessness
 (b) Preventing Homelessness
 (c) Strengthening Cities
 (d) Meeting the Housing and Community and Economic Development Needs of Residents of High-Needs Areas, including the Colonias, Appalachia, the Mississippi Delta, and Tribal Areas.

(4) Ensure Equal Opportunity In Housing

(a) Reducing Housing Discrimination
 (b) Improving Housing Accessibility for Persons with Disabilities

(5) Embrace High Standards Of Ethics, Management And Accountability

(a) Reducing Fraud, Waste and Abuse in HUD-Funded Programs

(b) Improving the Effectiveness of HUD Programs Through Program Evaluations

(6) Promote Participation Of Faith-Based And Community Organizations

(a) Strengthening the Capacity of Faith-Based and Community Organizations

(B) Eligible Applicants

Doctoral students must demonstrate they meet the requirements listed under the grant program in this NOFA which they are requesting funding.

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program (EDSRG). Doctoral students applying for funding under this program must meet the following requirements:

(a) Be a U.S. citizen or resident alien currently enrolled, as a full-time student at an accredited doctoral program at an accredited institution of higher education (recognized by the U.S. Department of Education);

(b) Have a major or concentration within a field related to housing and urban development;

(c) Have not taken the preliminary/comprehensive examinations;

(d) Completed at least two semesters or three terms of a doctoral studies program (depending on the course structure of the institution);

(e) Have an assigned faculty advisor to supervise the research manuscript (provide the advisor's name, address, phone number, facsimile number, and email address);

(f) Submit support letters/documentation from the chairperson of the doctoral student's department that confirms the student meets all of the conditions above and that the proposed research manuscript can be completed within the one-year grant period; and

(g) Provide a support letter from the institution that includes in detail the type of support the university is providing. Such support might include tuition waivers, office space, equipment, computer time, assumption of indirect costs, or similar items the doctoral student might need in order to complete the required product. This support may not replace support or assistance the institution would otherwise provide to the student.

Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program (DDRG). Doctoral students applying for funding under this program must meet the following requirements:

(a) Be a U.S. citizen or resident alien (student) currently enrolled and matriculated who has been accepted into candidacy in an accredited doctoral program at an accredited institution of higher education recognized by the U.S. Department of Education;

(b) Developed an approved dissertation proposal;

(c) Provide documentation from the dissertation committee chairperson that confirms the following information;

(1) By the application due date, the student's dissertation proposal has been accepted by the full dissertation committee and the student has been assigned a dissertation advisor (provide the advisor's name, address, phone number, facsimile number, and email address);

(2) By September 1, 2003, the student will have satisfactorily completed all other written and oral Ph.D. requirements, including all examinations and defense of the proposal, except the dissertation; and

(3) The proposed dissertation can be completed within the two-year grant period.

(d) Provide a support letter from the institution that includes in detail the type of support the university is providing. Such support might include tuition waivers, office space, equipment, computer time, assumption of indirect costs, or similar items the student might need in order to complete the required product. This support may not replace support or assistance the institution would otherwise provide to the student.

(C) Eligible Activities

Grant funds awarded for programs in this NOFA must be used to support direct costs incurred in the timely completion of the research product. Eligible costs include stipends, computer software, purchase of data, travel expenses to collect data, transcription services, and compensation for interviews.

(D) Ineligible Activities

Grant funds awarded for programs under this NOFA may not be used to pay for tuition, computer hardware, or meals.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) Threshold Requirements

All applicants requesting funding from programs under this NOFA must be in compliance with the applicable threshold requirements found in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified.

(1) The doctoral student is eligible to apply (as defined in Section III (B) above) for the program for which they are requesting funding;

(2) University sponsorship. The university shall enter into a Grant Agreement with HUD that provides for payment of the grant by HUD to the university and from the university to the approved doctoral student, and that further provides all required certifications and assurances. The university shall agree to provide as the Principal Investigator under the Grant Agreement a dissertation advisor or chairperson of the doctoral student's dissertation committee who shall supervise the student's work under the Grant Agreement.

(3) The student has provided a letter from the department chairperson confirming the applicant is eligible as outlined in Section III (B).

(4) The student's institution has provided a letter agreeing to provide support and outlines the specific type of support they will provide as part of this grant as defined in Section III (B).

(5) The student has requested no more funding than the grant maximum allocated as defined in Section II Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period.

(B) Program Specific Requirements

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program (EDSRG). Three thousand dollars of the grant funds will be held until the doctoral student's research manuscript has been completed and accepted for presentation at a conference or publication in a refereed journal by the end of the grant period, or a committee of three faculty members (including the faculty sponsor, as the principal investigator of the grant) has determined and certified to HUD that the manuscript is of high quality and worthy of submission to conferences or journals and two copies of the research product are submitted to HUD in its final version.

Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program (DDRG). Six thousand dollars of the grant funds will be held until the doctoral student's dissertation has been completed, approved by the committee, and two final copies are submitted to HUD in its final version.

Note: Institutions that have had previously awarded grants under these programs terminated for non-performance and have outstanding funds owed to HUD resulting from the termination will be excluded from competition until the outstanding funds are repaid (Applicants must comply with the Delinquent Federal Debt Requirement as defined in Section V (B)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA).

(C) Other Requirements (applicable to both grant programs)

(1) Progress reporting. All recipients of grant funds for programs in this NOFA are required to submit a report, halfway through the grant period, on the progress to date that has been made towards completion of the research product and the likelihood that it will be completed on time.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Two Types of Reviews Will Be Conducted

(1) A threshold review to determine a student's eligibility to apply; and

(2) A technical review to rate the student's application based on the rating factors in this section.

(B) Threshold Criteria for Funding Consideration

Doctoral students must meet all of the threshold requirements listed above and the General Section of the SuperNOFA to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified.

(C) Final Selection

In order to be funded, an application must receive a minimum score of 75 points. HUD will fund applications under each program in rank order, until all available program funds are awarded. If two or more applications have the same number of points, the application with the higher points for Factor 1, Capacity to do the Research, shall be selected. If there is still a tie, the application with the higher points for Factor 2, Need for the Research, shall be selected.

(D) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications

The factors for rating and ranking an application and the maximum points available for award for each factor are provided below. Doctoral students applying for either program must address these factors. Applications must receive a minimum of 75 points out of the total 100 maximum points available for each program. The RC/EZ/EC bonus points described in the General Section of the SuperNOFA do not apply to these research programs.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity to do the Research (20 points)

In reviewing this factor, HUD will determine the extent to which:

(1) The student's skills and experience are relevant to the proposed research manuscript/dissertation (e.g., course work, teaching, research projects, and presentations);

(2) The student provides a research outline that identifies the preliminary steps that have been undertaken (e.g., literature review, research hypotheses, questions to be answered) to produce the proposed manuscript/dissertation; and

For Early Doctoral Program Applicants only. (3) The proposed research will help to further the student's research skills (i.e., it is relevant to the kinds of projects the student will continue to work on as she/he earns his/her Ph.D.).

For Doctoral Dissertation Research Applicants only. (3) The doctoral student's previous research experience (e.g., graduate-level research projects, presentations at conferences, publications, etc.) is relevant to and supportive of the proposed dissertation.

Rating Factor 2: Need for the Research (35 points)

In reviewing this factor, HUD will determine the extent to which the research manuscript/dissertation will produce policy-relevant information that is directly related to HUD's research priorities and/or annual goals and objectives as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA (i.e., the research that will be produced could have an effect on HUD's strategic goals and programs and policies to achieve these goals). The more direct the relationship is between the doctoral student's manuscript/dissertation and one of these topics, the higher number of points awarded. For example a study of minorities' housing choice decisions would have high relevance to HUD's strategic goals; a study of transportation inequities would have medium relevance; and a study of the effects of global warming on urban development would have low relevance.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (35 points)

In reviewing this factor, HUD will determine the extent to which:

(1) The research design and methodology proposed is likely to produce data and information that will successfully answer the research hypothesis;

(2) The methodology proposed is sound and generally accepted by the relevant research community and is in line with research already completed or existing publications in the field as they relate to the scholarly standard for the research questions; and

(3) The research and production of the research manuscript/dissertation can feasibly be completed within the grant performance period. Efforts on the part of the doctoral student who proposes extremely complex and time-consuming data collection efforts (e.g., major longitudinal studies or a very large number of site visits within the grant period) will be determined less feasible for completion within the allotted grant period. For example, if the proposed methodology is based on information that may not be publicly available until after the end of the grant period (e.g., Census information), or a data collection plan that will take longer than the allotted grant period, zero points will be awarded for this factor.

Rating Factor 4: Issuance of the Research Product (10 points)

An important purpose of these programs is to fund research that may impact federal problem solving and policymaking and is relevant to HUD's policy priorities and annual goals and objectives (See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for discussion). In reviewing this factor, HUD will evaluate the likelihood that the research will be completed and suitable for presentation at a conference or publication in a refereed journal by the end of the grant period. HUD will also evaluate the student's plan to disseminate the research through other means, e.g., seminars, university publications, or relevant Internet listserves.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Content of Application. The application package must include an original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the items listed below. In order to be able to recycle paper, doctoral students should not submit applications in bound form; binder clips or loose-leaf binders are acceptable. Please do not use colored paper. The application narrative must not exceed 15 pages in length (excluding forms and assurances) and must be submitted on 8½ by 11-inch paper, double-spaced on one side of the paper, and printed in a standard Times Roman 12-point font. Each page should be numbered, section tabbed, and the name of the student and university on each page. The double-spacing requirement applies to all parts of an application including agreements. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify the application, HUD will not consider the information on any excess page. This may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold.

Applications must contain the items listed in this section in the order shown below. There is no separate Application Kit for these programs.

(1) Transmittal Letter. This letter is from the student and must contain the following information: (a) Student's home address, telephone number, and email address; (b) Student's address, telephone number, facsimile number and email address at the university; (c) University's name, department, mailing address, telephone and facsimile number; and (d) The faculty advisor's name, title, department, address, telephone number, facsimile numbers, and email address—This must be the person who will serve as the Principal Investigator for the grant.

(2) HUD-424 ("Application for Federal Assistance") Instructions for completing this form are found on the back of the first page of the form. Please remember the following: (a) The full grant amount should be entered in block 15, not the amount for one year, (b) Include the name, title, address, telephone number, facsimile number, and email address of the person authorized to execute the grant agreement in Block 5, (c) Include the institution's tax ID number in Block 6. The form should be signed by the appropriate university official, and (d) Block 10, the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance Number for the program funding is being requested. The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CDA) number (block 10) for each program is as follows:

Early Doctoral Student Research Grant Program is 14.517

Doctoral Dissertation Research Grant Program is 14.516

(3) Table of Contents.

(4) Application Checklist (See Appendix A)

(5) Executive Summary (500 words or less). The Executive Summary should, at a minimum, include a summary of the proposed research project that addresses the following topics: (a) Specific purpose of the manuscript/dissertation; (b) Methodology being used; and (c) How the student meets the eligibility criteria for the program from which she/he is requesting funding.

(6) Narrative statement responding to the Factors for Award in Section V. The narrative of application must not exceed 15 pages, double-spaced, typed in standard Times Roman 12-point font, and be submitted on one side of 8½-by 11-inch paper. HUD will use the narrative response to the Factors for Award to rate and rank an application. This statement is the main source of information; therefore, it is very important that the student becomes fully familiar with the rating factors above for the program from which he/she is requesting funding. The narrative should be numbered in accordance with each factor and subfactor.

(7) Department Chairperson Support Letter. This letter must provide a statement from the doctoral student's department chairperson verifying the doctoral student has met all the eligibility criteria described in Section III (B).

(8) University Support Letter. This letter must provide a statement from the appropriate official at the university that describes in detail the type of support the university will be providing, as described in Section III (B). Please remember that this support may not replace support nor assistance that the institution would otherwise provide the student.

(9) Budget. The budget presentation should be consistent with the Statement of Work. (See Appendix B for a sample.)

(10) Additional Required Assurances and Certifications. These forms can be downloaded from the HUD website at www.hud.gov.

(a) Applicant Assurances and Certification (HUD-424B) (if applicable)

(b) Disclosure of Lobbying Activities (SF LLL) (if applicable)

(c) Acknowledgment of Receipt of Applications (HUD-2993). To confirm that HUD received the student's application, please complete this form. This form is optional.

(d) Client Comments and Suggestions (HUD 2994). This form is included so that we can solicit information from the most valuable source—the student, or customers. If the student completes and submits this form, it will help HUD to assess whether the changes made to this document have had the intended results. It will also guide us in our continuing efforts to improve the competitive grant process. This form is optional and can be completed by the student.

VII. Correction to Deficient Applications

After all application selections have been made, HUD may require the student to participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of the Statement of Work and the grant budget. In cases where HUD cannot successfully complete negotiations, or the student fails to provide HUD with requested information, an award will not be made. Students must submit clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information provided by HUD within 14 calendar days of the date of receipt of the HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or federal holiday, the correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or federal holiday.) If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete, and it will not be considered for funding. In such instances, HUD may elect to offer an award to the next highest-ranking application, and proceed with negotiations with that student.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

The provision of assistance under these programs is categorically excluded from environmental review under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321) and not subject to compliance actions for related environmental authorities under 24 CFR 50.19(b)(1) and (b)(9).

IX. Other Matters

(1) Applicants must comply with the requirements for funding competitions established by the HUD Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3531 et seq.) as defined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(2) Debriefing. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for requesting a debriefing. All requests for debriefings must be made in writing and submitted to Armand Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships, Robert C. Weaver Building, 451 7th ST. SW., Room 8106, Washington DC 20410. Doctoral students may also write to Mr. Carriere via the Internet at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov.

X. Authority

These programs are being undertaken under HUD's research authority under

Title V of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970.

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program: To provide assistance to economically disadvantaged and minority graduate students who participate in community development work study programs, are U.S. citizens or resident aliens, and are enrolled full-time in a graduate community building academic degree program.

Available Funds: Approximately $2.981 million from Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 Consolidated Appropriation Resolution, (plus any additional funds recaptured from prior appropriations).

Eligible Applicants: Institutions of higher learning accredited by national or regional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education, Area-Wide Planning Organizations (APOs), and states.

Application Deadline: May 27, 2003
Match: None.

Additional Information

Applicants interested in applying for funding under this NOFA should carefully review the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information. There is no separate Application Kit for this NOFA.

I. Application Due Date and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. A completed application package is due on or before May 27, 2003, based on the following submission requirements.

Address for submitting applications. A completed application package (one original signed application, three copies, and one computer disk (in Word 6.0 or higher)) of the application. This package must be submitted to the following address: Processing and Control Branch, Office of Community Planning and Development, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room 7251, Washington, DC 20410. When submitting an application package, also please include the following information on the outside of the envelope: (a) the Office of University Partnerships, (b) refer to the Community Development Work Study Program, (c) Room number 7251, (d) the applicant's name and mailing address (including zip code), and (e) the applicant's telephone number (including area code).

Mailing and Receipt Procedures.

Applicants must refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA for detailed requirements governing application submission and receipt.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. Applicants may contact Armand Carriere of HUD's Office of University Partnerships at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3181 or Susan Brunson, at (202) 708-3061, ext. 3852. Hearing-or speech-impaired individuals may call the Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (this is the only toll-free number). Applicants may also reach Mr. Carriere via e-mail at Armand_W_Carriere@hud.gov and Ms. Brunson at Susan_S_Brunson@hud.gov.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about this program and preparation of the application. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, consult HUD's website at www.hud.gov.

II. Amount Allocated, Grant Size and Term, and Performance Period

Up to $2.981 million, plus approximately $120,000 in previously unexpended funds and any additional funds recaptured from prior appropriations will be available for funding under this program.

The maximum grant performance period is two years (24 months). The performance period will commence on the effective date of the grant agreement.

Institutions may request no more than $15,000 per year per student for a total of $30,000 for a two-year (24 months) grant performance period. The minimum amount an institution can request is $90,000 (funding for three students) and the maximum amount is $150,000 (funding for five students).

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities and Costs

(A) Program Description

Community Development Work Study Program (CDWSP) funds two-year grants to accredited institutions of higher education, APOs, and states applying on behalf of institutions of higher education to provide assistance to economically disadvantaged and minority graduate students who participate in a community development work study program. Students must be U.S. citizens or resident aliens and enrolled full-time in a graduate community building academic degree program. Grants will cover the academic period August 2003 through August 2005.

(B) Eligible Applicants

Organizations are eligible if they are:

- (1) An accredited institution of higher education recognized by the U.S. Department of Education that offers a graduate degree in a community development academic program;

- (2) An APO applying on behalf of two or more eligible accredited institutions of higher education recognized by the U.S. Department of Education that are located in the same Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) or non-SMSA as the APO (in accordance with the regulations at 24 CFR 570.415, institutions of higher education are permitted to choose whether to apply independently or through an APO); or

- (3) A state applying on behalf of two or more eligible accredited institutions of higher education recognized by the U.S. Department of Education that are located in the state. If a state is approved for funding, accredited institutions of higher education located in that state may not apply independently.

(C) Eligible Activities and Costs

Applicants may request no more than $15,000 per year per student, for a total of $30,000 for two years. The total is broken down per year as follows: an administrative allowance of $1,000 per student per year; a work stipend of no more than $9,000 per student per year; and tuition, fees, and additional support of no more than $5,000 per student per year.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the program requirements listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA, applicants must meet the following program requirements.

(A) Statutory Requirements.

Applicants must comply with all statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to this program. CDWSP regulations can be found at 24 CFR 570.415. Copies of the regulations are available on request from HUD User (www.HUDUSER.org).

(B) Recipient/Student Bonding Agreement. This agreement should cover the purpose of the work placement, responsibilities of both parties, including financial support and work component. This agreement should also address the student's responsibilities as described in the program regulations.

(C) Recipient Workplace Agreement.

This agreement should cover the purpose of the work placement and the respective roles of the parties. Among other matters determined to be appropriate, this agreement should address the work placement agency's responsibilities described in the program regulations.

(Note: HUD does not provide a model or sample format for either of these agreements).

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Two Types of Reviews

Two types of reviews will be conducted:

(1) A threshold review to determine an applicant's eligibility; and

(2) A technical review based on the "Factors for Award" rating factors listed in Section V below.

Only those applications that pass the threshold review will receive a technical review and be rated and ranked.

(B) Threshold Criteria for Funding Consideration

All applicants must be in compliance with the threshold requirements as defined in the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the requirements listed below to be evaluated, rated, and ranked. Applications that do not meet these requirements will be considered ineligible for funding and will be disqualified:

(1) Eligibility. Applicants must be eligible to apply for the program (Sec. III B). In an effort to expand the program to include a greater variety of institutions, institutions that received grants in FY 2002 (independently or through an APO or state) are not eligible to submit an application.

(2) Eligibility of the Degree Program. An eligible community building academic program includes but is not limited to accredited graduate degree programs in community and economic development, community planning, community management, public administration, public policy, urban economics, urban management, and urban planning. An eligible community building academic program excludes social and humanistic fields such as law, economics (except for urban economics), education, sociology, social work, business administration, history, and joint degree programs except where both joint degree fields have the purpose and focus of educating students in community building. Applicants are encouraged to contact Armand Carriere or Susan Brunson at the above listed telephone numbers if they have any questions about eligibility of a proposed degree program.

(3) Number of students to be assisted. The minimum number of students that may be assisted per participating institution is three. If an APO or state receives assistance for a program that is conducted by two or more institutions, each participating institution must have a minimum of three students per program. The maximum number of students that can be assisted under this program is five per participating institution.

(4) Graduation rates. If an applicant received funding during the FY 2000 round, at least 50 percent of the students assisted must have graduated. This round of funding covered the school years August 2000 to August 2002. To address this requirement an applicant must submit a copy of the final Community Development Work Study Program Student Data Sheet, HUD-30007, for each student that received assistance from the program. This rate must be achieved two weeks prior to the application submission date of this NOFA. Institutions funded under the FY 2000 CDWSP funding round that cannot verify such a rate will be excluded from participating in the FY 2003 funding competition.

(5) Budget. Submit a completed budget Form HUD-30015 (Community Development Work Study Program Student Budget Sheet) for the August 2003 through August 2005 funding period. Applicants may request no more than a total of $15,000 per year per student and funding for no more than five or fewer than three students per institution of higher education. An APO and/or state must also complete the HUD 30014 (Community Development Work Study Program State/Areawide Planning Organization Budget Summary).

(6) Compliance with nondiscrimination requirements. All applicants and their subrecipients must comply with all Fair Housing and civil rights laws, statutes, regulations and executive orders as enumerated in 24 CFR 5.105(a). In addition, applicants must comply with Title X of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 (2 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.). HUD will not approve an application for funding under this NOFA if, as of the due date, the applicant:

(a) Has been charged with a systemic violation of the Fair Housing Act alleging ongoing discrimination;

(b) Is the defendant in a Fair Housing Act lawsuit filed by the Department of Justice alleging an ongoing pattern or practice of discrimination; or

(c) Has received a letter of noncompliance findings identifying ongoing or systemic noncompliance, under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, or Section 109 of the Housing and Community Development Act; and if the charge, lawsuit, or a letter of findings has not been resolved to HUD's satisfaction before the application deadline stated in this NOFA, the applicant may not apply for assistance under this program. HUD will not rate and rank the application.

HUD's decision regarding whether a charge, lawsuit, or letter of findings has been satisfactorily resolved will be based upon whether appropriate actions have been taken to address allegations of ongoing discrimination in the policies or practices involved in the charge, lawsuit, or letter of findings. Examples of actions that may be taken prior to the application due date to resolve the charge, lawsuit, or letter of finding include, but are not limited to:

(i) A voluntary compliance agreement signed by all parties in response to the letter of findings;

(ii) A HUD-approved conciliation agreement signed by all parties;

(iii) A consent order or consent decree; or

(iv) A judicial ruling or a HUD Administrative Law Judge's decision that exonerates the respondent of any allegations or discrimination.

(C) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rank Applications.

The factors for evaluating, rating, and ranking an application, and the maximum points for each factor, are listed below. The maximum number of points available for this program is 100. To be eligible for funding, an application must have a minimum score of 75 points out of the total possible points. The RC/EZ/EC bonus points described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA do not apply to this program.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Academic Program and Relevant Past Experience (25 points)

This factor addresses the extent to which an applicant's academic program has the capacity to prepare students for careers in community building. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider:

(1) Capacity of the Academic Program (20 points) for previously unfunded applicants and 15 points for previously funded applicants)

Applicants must describe the quality of the academic program the institution offers (or in the case of an application from an APO or state, those offered by the institutions included in the application) including, without limitation, the:

(a) Quality of the course offerings in terms of their depth and emphasis on applied coursework;

(b) Appropriateness of the courses offered for preparing students for careers in community building; and

(c) Qualifications of the faculty, such as the number of PhD's, and the percentage of their time devoted to teaching and research in community building.

As a supplement to the narrative response, applicants can include photocopies of excerpts from official publications of the educational institution or department. Please make sure to place these documents after the narrative and include them in the page count requirement.

(2) Rates of Graduation (5 points for previously unfunded applicants and 10 points for previously funded applicants)

HUD will evaluate the graduation rates of students previously enrolled in a community building academic degree program, specifically (where applicable) graduation rates from any previously funded CDWSP academic programs or similar programs. This factor measures the rate of graduation for all applicable years and awards points based on the extent to which the applicant exceeds a 50 percent graduation rate each applicable year. Previously funded CDWSP programs should include copies of the final Community Development Work Study Program Student Data Sheet, HUD-30007 for each previously enrolled student that received assistance from the program.

Rating Factor 2: Need for the Program (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed program activities and an indication of the importance of meeting the need. In responding to this factor, HUD will evaluate the applicant's commitment to meeting the needs of economically disadvantaged and minority students as demonstrated by the institution's policies and plans, past efforts and successes recruiting, enrolling, and financially assisting economically disadvantaged and minority students, including the provision of reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If the applicant is an APO or state, HUD will consider the demonstrated commitment of each accredited institution of higher education on whose behalf the APO or state is applying.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (45 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of the proposed student work placement assignments.

(1) Quality of the Work Placement Assignments (13 Points) HUD will evaluate the extent to which participating students will receive a variety of work placement assignments. (Note: Students cannot be placed with a Federal Government agency). The assignments should provide practical and useful experience to students participating in the program and further the participating students' preparation for professional careers in community building. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the quality in terms of the variety of work placement agencies, and the variety of projects/experiences at each agency and overall. Applicants must also include a description of the plan for rotating students among work placement agencies. Note: Students engaging in community building projects through an institution of higher education (rather than being directly supervised by local work placement sites) may do so only through a HUD funded Community Outreach Partnership Center (COPC), which will in that instance be considered a work placement agency even if the community building projects are undertaken with or through a separate organization or entity. Accordingly, students engaging in community building through an institution of higher education's outreach center should do so during only part of their academic program and should rotate to other work placement agency responsibilities as well. In order to receive higher points on this subfactor, applicants must propose at least three different work placement experiences for each student (typically, one each school year and one during the summer between the two school years) and include executed agreements with their proposed work study sites, rather than just listing these sites.

(2) Effectiveness of Program Administration (15 Points) HUD will evaluate the degree to which the applicant will be able to coordinate and administer the program. HUD will allocate the maximum points available under this criterion equally among the following three considerations, except that the maximum points available under this criterion will be allocated equally only between (a) and (b), if the applicant has not previously administered a CDWSP-funded program. If an applicant received a CDWSP grant in FY 1999 or before and has not received one since, the applicant is considered a new applicant, for the purposes of this factor. Applicants must include a Management Work Plan that addresses the following details at a minimum:

(a) The strength and clarity of the plan for placing CDWSP students on rotating work placement assignments and for monitoring CDWSP students' progress both academically and in their work placement assignments. In addition, include plans, procedures, schedules, and preferably a milestone chart that indicates the sequence in which these tasks will be performed, noting areas of work that will be performed simultaneously and continually during the life of the grant, along with the name of the responsible individual. Also, include plans for recruiting and selecting students, monitoring and guidance of students academic progress, coordinating and monitoring student work placement agencies, and other matters deemed significant;

(b) The key personnel responsible for administering, managing, and evaluating the project, the experience, responsibilities, available time, and authority of the individual who will coordinate and administer the program; and

(c) The effectiveness of prior coordination and administration of a CDWSP-funded program, where applicable. In addressing this factor, applicants should describe the timeliness of report submissions. Applicants should review their prior CDWSP grant agreements and reports and compare when reports were due with when the reports actually were submitted. Applicants should also describe their timeliness in drawing down grant funds. Applicants are encouraged to provide a chart that outlines report submissions for each grant by the submission date and the pattern of drawing down of funds.

(3) Likelihood of Fostering Students' Permanent Employment in Community Building (15 Points)

HUD will evaluate the extent to which the proposed program will lead participating students directly and immediately to permanent employment in community building. Include a statement that describes, at a minimum, the following:

(a) Past success in placing graduates (particularly CDWSP-funded and similar program graduates, where applicable) in permanent employment in community building; and

(b) How the institution will assist students (particularly students in CDWSP-funded and similar programs, where applicable) in finding permanent employment in community building. Include the amount/type of faculty/staff time and resources that will be devoted to assisting students.

(4) HUD 2003 Policy Priorities (2 Points). The extent to which an applicant provides students with work place assignments that undertake specific activities that will further and support HUD's policy priorities and FY 2004 goals. In rating this factor, HUD will evaluate the quality of the responses provided to one or more of HUD's priorities to determine the score an applicant will receive. For each policy priority addressed an applicant can receive one point. Applicants cannot receive more than two points. [S1] For a full list and explanation of each priority, please refer to the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 points)

HUD will evaluate the applicant's commitment and ability to assure that CDWSP students will receive sufficient financial assistance above and beyond the CDWSP funding to complete their academic program in a timely manner and without working in excess of 20 hours a week during the school year. When addressing this issue, delineate the full costs budgeted annually per student (including living expenses, fees, etc), explain the basis for the budget and how the financial assistance package offered to each CDWSP student will meet that budget. Applicants must explain how variations in the budget needs and emergency financial needs will be addressed among students. Loans are less preferred than grants because of the burden placed on the student to repay them. Therefore, higher points will be given to applicants that provide assistance in the form of grants rather than loans.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

HUD will evaluate the extent to which an applicant identifies program activities, outcomes, interim benchmarks, and performance indicators that will describe how performance will be measured. Applicants must also describe the steps that will be taken to make adjustments to the work plan if performance targets are not met within the established timeframe associated with each activity. At a minimum, the evaluation plan should address the following activities:

- (a) Student recruitment;
- (b) Student completion of degree program; and
- (c) Long term placement after graduation (1 year after graduation).

All performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. This information should be provided in a Logic Model format. This form and information on how to use it can be found in the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Content of Application. The application package should include one original signed application, three (3) copies, and one computer disk of the application (in Word 6.0 or higher) of the items listed below. In order to be able to recycle paper, applicants should not submit applications in bound form; binder clips or loose-leaf binders are acceptable. Also, please do not use colored paper. The application narrative must not exceed 50 pages in length (excluding forms and assurances) and must be submitted on 8½ by 11-inch paper, double-spaced on one side of the paper, and printed in a standard Times Roman 12-point font. The double-spacing requirement applies to all parts of the program narrative, including agreements and tables (photocopies of excerpts from official publications of the educational institution or department are excluded from this requirement). Please do not provide any additional exhibits, appendices, or resumes to support responses. No additional attachments are permitted. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify an application, HUD will not consider the information on any excess page. This may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold. Please make sure that all items are submitted in the order listed below and all pages numbered. Except where a particular form may direct otherwise, all forms included in the application, as well as the transmittal letter, must be signed by the Chief Executive Officer (this is generally the President or Provost) or an official designee legally authorized to make a commitment on behalf of the institution. If a designee signs, the application must contain a copy of the official delegation of signatory authority.

(1) Transmittal Letter. This letter must contain the following:

(a) A statement assuring that the institution of higher education (not the department or program) that will be receiving funds under this grant is fully accredited. The letter must state not only the name of the accrediting agency but also that the particular accrediting agency is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education. If a state or APO is the applicant, the transmittal letter must set forth this assurance for each institution of higher education with whom they will be working;

(b) The name, title, address, telephone number, fax number, and e-mail address of the Program Director and the individual(s) authorized to legally negotiate on the institution's behalf. All

APOs and states must provide this assurance with respect to accreditation for each institution that would participate in their FY 2003 CDWSP grant.

(2) HUD Form 424 (Application for Federal Assistance). When completing this form, please remember the following:

(a) The full grant amount should be entered in block 15, not the amount for the first year;

(b) In designating the contact (in box 5), please include a title, address, telephone number, fax number, and e-mail address. This is the person who will be receiving the reviewer comments, so please ensure the accuracy of the address;

(c) Item 10, the Catalogue of Federal Domestic Assistance Number for this program is 14.512; and

(d) The project start date should be August 1, 2003 and the completion date should be August 31, 2005.

(3) Table of Contents.

(4) Application Checklist (See attachment A) fully completed.

(5) Executive Summary—no more than three (3) pages in length. The Executive Summary should, at a minimum, describe:

(a) The academic degree programs for which the students will be selected;

(b) The type of work placement agencies (including specific examples) that have committed to participate in the program (students cannot be placed at a Federal Government agency); and

(c) The plans and resources/facilities for administering the program and assisting students to pursue post-academic or community building opportunities.

(6) Designation of Applicable Graduate Degree Program(s) Form HUD-30013 (Community Development Work Study Program Designation of Applicable Graduate Academic Degree Program). Review carefully the regulations dealing with eligible types of degree programs before completing this form. If the proposed program is other than one listed as an eligible degree program, please contact Armand Carriere or Susan Brunson for additional guidance.

(7) Narrative statement addressing the Factors for Award in Section V. The application narrative must not exceed 50 pages in length (excluding required forms and assurances) and must be submitted on 8½ by 11-inch paper, double-spaced on one side of the paper, and printed in a standard Times Roman 12-point font. The double-spacing requirement applies to all parts of the program narrative, including agreements and tables (photocopies of excerpts from official publications of the educational institution or department are excluded from this requirement). Please do not provide any additional exhibits, appendices, or resumes to support your responses. No additional attachments are permitted. Please note that although submitting pages in excess of the page limit will not disqualify an application, HUD will not consider the information on any excess page. Failure to comply with this requirement may result in a lower score or failure to meet a threshold. This statement is the main source of information used to rate and rank an application; therefore, it is very important to become fully familiar with the rating factors above. In each factor there may be subfactors. Each subfactor should be presented separately, with the short title of the subfactor and sufficient information about every element of the subfactor. The response to each factor and subfactor should be concise and contain only relevant information, but detailed enough to address each factor fully. Please do not repeat material in response to the factors and subfactors.

(8) Budget. Use the budget form HUD 30015 (Community Development Work Study Program Student Budget Sheet) for the August 2003 through August 2005 funding period. Applicants may request no more than a total of $15,000 per year per student for five students and no fewer than three students per institution of higher education. An APO and/or state must also complete the HUD 30014 (Community Development Work Study Program State/Area-wide Planning Organization Budget Summary). Please provide any necessary back-up documentation (e.g., pages from course catalogues listing the fees) to demonstrate concisely that the amounts requested are reasonable and customary. Applicants are not required to submit documentation for the administrative allowance amount. Any anticipated increases to these project costs should be included and an explanation for the basis of the increases provided. If documentation is not included, the award amount will be based on current tuition rates, regardless of any subsequent tuition increase. HUD will not increase the amount of the grant once awarded to reflect any tuition or fee increases that have not been set forth in the application. Also, HUD will not cover any costs exceeding the per-student maximum.

(9) Additional required Assurances and Certifications.

(a) Applicant Assurances and Certifications (HUD-424B) if applicable.

(b) Applicant/Recipient Disclosure Update Report (HUD-2880).

(c) Assurance Regarding the Applicant's Financial Management Systems.

(d) Acknowledgement of Applicant Receipt (HUD-2993)

(e) Client Comments and Suggestions (HUD-2994).

(B) Rating Panels. To review and rate applications, the Department may establish panels including persons not currently employed by HUD to obtain certain expertise and outside points of view, including views from other Federal agencies.

(C) Selections. If an application passes the threshold requirement review, it will be rated and then ranked based on the total score it received on the rating selection factors. Applications will be considered for selection based on their rank order. HUD may make awards out of rank order to achieve geographic diversity, and may provide assistance to support a number of students that is less than the number requested under an application or a lower funding level per student, in order to provide assistance to as many highly ranked applications as possible.

The minimum fundable score is 75 points. If there is a tie in the point scores of two applications, the rank order will be determined by the scores on Rating Factor 3 entitled "Soundness of Approach." The application with the higher points on this factor will be given the higher rank. If there is still a tie, the rank order will be determined by the applicants' scores on Rating Factor 1 entitled "Capacity of the Applicant's Academic Program and Relevant Past Experience." The application with the higher points for this selection factor will be given the higher rank.

If there are insufficient funds to fund an application, even if the request is reduced to the minimum number of students that could be funded (i.e., three students per institution of higher education), HUD may select the next ranked application that would not exceed the funding left available and still fund the minimum number of students allowed.

If funds remain after funding the highest ranked applications that can be fully funded, HUD may fund part of the next highest-ranking application (as long as it would provide assistance to the minimum number of students required to be served) in a given program area. If an applicant turns down the award offer, HUD will make the same determination for the next highest-ranking application. If funds remain after all selections have been made, the remaining funds will be carried over to the next funding cycle's competition.

(1) Applicants must comply with the requirements for funding competitions established by the HUD Reform Act of 1989.

(D) Debriefing. The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for requesting a debriefing. All requests for a debriefing must be made in writing and submitted to Armand W. Carriere, Acting Director, Office of University Partnerships, Robert C. Weaver Building, 451 7th Street SW., Room 8106, Washington, DC 20410.

(E) Disclosures. HUD will make available to the public for five years all applicant disclosure reports (HUD Form 2880) submitted in connection with this NOFA. Update reports (also Form 2880) will be made available along with the applicant disclosure reports, but in no case for a period less than three years. All reports—both applicant disclosures and updates—will be made available in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and HUD's implementing regulations at 24 CFR part 15.

(F) Negotiations. After selections have been made, HUD may require winners to participate in negotiations to determine the Grant Budget. In cases where HUD cannot successfully conclude negotiations, or an applicant fails to provide HUD with the requested information, an award will not be made. In such instances, HUD may elect to offer an award to the next highest-ranking applicant, and proceed with negotiations with the next highest applicant.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

This NOFA does not direct, provide for assistance or loan and mortgage insurance for, or otherwise govern or regulate real property acquisition, disposition, leasing, rehabilitation, alteration, demolition, or new construction, or establish, revise, or provide for standards for construction or construction materials, manufactured housing, or occupancy. Accordingly, under 24 CFR 50.19(c)(1), this NOFA is categorically excluded from environmental review under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4321) and 24 CFR 50.19(b)(3) and (b)(9).

IX. Other Matters

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

X. Authority

Section 107(c) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended (42 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.) authorizes CDWSP. Regulations for the program appear at 24 CFR part 57.

The information collection requirements contained in this notice of funding availability and application kit will be used to rate applications, determine eligibility, and establish grant amounts for the Community Development Work Study Program, (CDWSP). Total reporting burden for collection of this information is estimated to average 1 hour. This includes time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data resources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. The information submitted in response to the notice of funding availability for CDWSP is subject to the disclosure requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 189 (Pub. L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989, U.S.C. 3545). The agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to, a collection of information unless the collection displays a valid control number.

The information collection requirements contained in this notice of funding availability and application kit will be used to rate applications, determine eligibility, and establish grant amounts for the Community Development Work Study Program, (CDWSP). Total reporting burden for collection of this information is estimated to average 1 hour. This includes time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data resources, gathering, and maintaining the data needed, completing, and reviewing the collection of information. The information submitted in response to the notice of funding availability for CDWSP is subject to the disclosure requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 189 (Pub.L. 101-235, approved December 15, 1989, U.S.C. 3545). The agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to, a collection of information unless the collection displays a valid control number.

To be eligible for participation in the Community Development Work Study Program (CDWSP), an institution must have a graduate academic degree program in one of the relevant fields as defined in the program's regulations. Closely examine the definitions of "community building" and "community building academic program" in the regulations and, if in doubt, speak with the program staff in the Office of University Partnerships before preparing an application.

Below are the degree programs that the institution has determined as eligible programs to implement this CDWSP grant.

PROGRAM (FHIP)

Funding Availability for the Fair Housing Initiatives Program (FHIP)

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To increase compliance with the Fair Housing Act (the Act) and with substantially equivalent State and local fair housing laws.

Available Funds. Approximately $20,118,375 in FY 2003 funds and any potential recapture is allocated to three (3) initiatives as follows:

A. Private Enforcement Initiative (PEI) $10.2 million

B. Education and Outreach Initiative (EOI) $5.318 million.

C. Fair Housing Organizations Initiative (FHOI) $2.1 million. Approximately $2.5 million will be used for contracts including the continuation of activities for the third option year under the Project for Training and Technical Assistance Guidance (PATTG) and in furtherance of fair housing education and outreach to meet HUD's Minority Serving Institution (MSI) goals. The funds for PATTG were announced under a previous solicitation. The funds to further the Department's goals to work with MSIs will be announced under a separate solicitation.

Eligible Applicants. Eligibility requirements are described in detail under each of the funded initiatives and components, set forth below

Application Deadline. June 5, 2003.

Match: No matching funds are required for the Education and Outreach or Private Enforcement Initiatives. However, sponsored organizations under FHOI must meet the requirements described in Section IV (D) below.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under the Fair Housing Initiatives Program (FHIP), please review carefully the General Section of this SuperNOFA (hereafter, the General Section), the FHIP Authorizing Statute (Sec. 561 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, as amended), the FHIP Regulations (24 CFR 125.103-501), and the following additional information:

I. Application Due Date, Further Information, and Technical Assistance

Application Due Date. You must submit a completed application (one original and three copies) for the specific initiative and component for which you are applying on or before June 5, 2003, to the HUD Headquarters building, at the address shown below.

Application Submission Procedures. See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for specific procedures governing the submission and receipt of applications.

Address for Submitting Applications. Your application consists of an original signed application form (HUD-424) and all items listed in the Checklist (See Section IV and Appendix C for all submission requirements). Mail your completed application (one original and three copies) to:

FHIP SuperNOFA 2003 [Specify the Initiative/Component to which you apply], FHIP/FHAP Support Division, Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Room 5224, Washington, DC 20410.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. You may contact Myron P. Newry or Denise L. Brooks of the FHIP/FHAP Support Division, at 202-708-0800 (this is not a toll-free number). Persons with hearing or speech impairments may contact the Division by calling 1-800-290-1617 (this is a toll-free number). Contained in Appendix A of this NOFA is a Question and Answer section. Please review this section for answers to some of your questions.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an information broadcast via satellite for prospective applicants to learn more about the program and preparing applications. For more information about the date and time of this broadcast, you should consult the HUD web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

II. Amounts Allocated

In Fiscal Year 2003, $20,118,375 was appropriated for the Fair Housing Initiatives Program. Of this amount, $17,618,375 is being made available on a competitive basis to eligible organizations responding to this FHIP program section of the SuperNOFA. The remaining approximately $2,500,000 will be used for a continuation of activities for the third option year under the Project for Training and Technical Assistance Guidance (PATTG) and the awarding of a new contract in furtherance of a fair housing education and outreach effort in partnership with Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) with law schools. The amount available for each initiative or component and the maximum amount of funds that can be awarded for each grant are specified as follows:

(A) Private Enforcement Initiative (PEI). Approximately $10,200,000 is allocated; maximum award is $275,000 per grant; project duration is 12 to 18 months.

(B) Education and Outreach Initiative (EOI). Approximately $5,318,375 is allocated. This Initiative has five (5) components. Approximately $4,818,375 is allocated to four (4) components under the EOI Regional/Local/Community-Based (R/L/CB) Program. The maximum award is $100,000 for the R/L/CB Program and the project duration is 12 to 18 months. These four components are as follows:

(1) EOI—General Component. Approximately $3,018,375 is allocated.

(2) EOI—Disability Component. Approximately $900,000 is allocated.

(3) Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component. Approximately $450,000 is allocated.

(4) Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component. Approximately $450,000 is allocated.

The fifth Component falls under the EOI—National Program:

(5) Codes Component. Approximately $500,000 is allocated. The maximum award for the EOI National Program—Model Codes Component is $500,000 and the project duration is 24 months.

(C) Fair Housing Organizations Initiative (FHOI). Approximately $2,100,000 is allocated; project duration is three years. Maximum award is $1,050,000 allocated over a three year period at up to $350,000 per year.

III. Program Description; Eligible Applicants; Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description. The Fair Housing Initiatives Program (FHIP), 24 CFR part 125, assists fair housing activities that increase compliance with the Fair Housing Act (the Act) and with the substantially equivalent fair housing laws administered by state and local government agencies (Fair Housing Assistance Program Agencies (FHAP)). Applications submitted for funding under EOI are required to describe a complaint referral process that should result in referrals to HUD of fair housing complaints and other information regarding discriminatory housing practices. HUD's recently published Housing Discrimination Study found that discrimination against Hispanic renters appears to have remained essentially unchanged since 1989. To address this issue, HUD has created a separate Component under EOI to provide effective bilingual fair housing education and outreach to Hispanics; however, grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic. For the Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component, HUD wants to educate people on the Fair Housing Act and how to prepare for homeownership.

(B) Program Definitions. The definitions that apply to this FHIP section of the NOFA are as follows:

Broad-based proposals are those that include activities that are not limited to a single fair housing issue; instead, they cover multiple issues related to housing discrimination covered under the Act, such as: Rental, sales and financing of housing. (See also Full Service Projects below)

Colonias (See General Section).

Complainant means the person (including the Assistant Secretary for FHEO) who files a complaint under Section 810 of the Act.

Disability advocacy groups mean organizations that traditionally have provided for the civil rights of persons with disabilities. This would include organizations such as Independent Living Centers, and cross-disability legal services groups. Such organizations must be experienced in providing services to persons with a broad range of disabilities, including physical, cognitive, and psychiatric/mental disabilities. Such organizations must demonstrate actual involvement of persons with disabilities throughout their activities, including on staff and board levels.

Enforcement proposals are potential complaints under the Act that are timely, jurisdictional, and well-developed, that could reasonably be expected to become enforcement actions if an impartial investigation finds evidence supporting the allegations and the cases proceeded to a resolution with HUD or FHAP Agency involvement.

Fair Housing Act means Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 as amended by the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. 3600–3620).

Fair Housing Assistance Program (FHAP) Agencies mean State and local fair housing enforcement government agencies that receive FHAP funds because they administer laws deemed substantially equivalent to the Act, as described in 24 CFR part 115.

Fair Housing Enforcement Organization (FHO) means an organization engaged in fair housing activities as defined in 24 CFR 125.103.

Full-service projects must include the following enforcement-related activities in your project application: Interviewing potential victims of discrimination; analyzing housing-related issues; taking complaints; testing; evaluating testing results; conducting preliminary investigations; conducting mediation; enforcing meritorious claims through litigation or referral to administrative enforcement agencies; and disseminating information about fair housing laws.

Grassroots organizations (See General Section).

Meritorious claims means enforcement activities by an organization that resulted in lawsuits, consent decrees, legal settlements, HUD and/or substantial equivalent agency (under 25 CFR 115.6) conciliations and organization initiated settlements with the outcome of monetary awards for compensatory and/or punitive damages to plaintiffs or complaining parties, or other affirmative relief, including the provision of housing (24 CFR 125.103).

Minority Serving Organization (See General Section).

Operating budget means your organization's total planned budget expenditures from all sources, including the value of in-kind and monetary contributions, in the period for which funding is requested.

Qualified Fair Housing Enforcement Organization (QFHO) means an organization engaged in fair housing activities as defined in 24 CFR 125.103.

Regional/Local/Community-Based Activities are defined at 24 CFR 125.301(a) & (d).

Rural Areas, according to the Rural Housing and Economic Development Program of Community Planning and Development (CPD), may be defined in one of five ways:

(i) A place having fewer than 2,500 inhabitants (within or outside of metropolitan areas).

(ii) A county with no urban population (i.e., city) or 20,000 inhabitants or more; territory, persons and housing units in the rural portions of 'extended cities.'

(iii) The rural portions of extended cities in the United States as identified by the U.S. Census Bureau.

(iv) Open country that is not part of or associated with an urban area. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) describes open country as a site separated by open space from any adjacent densely populated urban area. Open space includes undeveloped land, agricultural land, or sparsely settled areas, but does not include physical barriers (such as rivers or canals) public parks, commercial and industrial developments, small areas reserved for recreational purposes, and open space set aside for future development.

(v) Any place with a population not in excess of 20,000 and that is not located in a Metropolitan Statistical Area.

Traditional Civil Rights Organizations mean non-profit organizations or institutions and/or private entities with a history and primary mission of securing Federal civil rights protection for groups and individuals protected under the Act or substantially equivalent State or local laws and that are engaged in programs to prevent or eliminate discriminatory housing practices.

Underserved Areas mean jurisdictions where there are no Fair Housing Initiatives Program or Fair Housing Assistance Program agencies and where either no public or private fair housing enforcement organizations exist or the jurisdiction is not sufficiently served by one or more public or private enforcement fair housing organizations and there is a need for service.

Underserved Populations mean groups of individuals who fall within one or more of the categories protected under the Act and who are also: (1) Of an immigrant population (especially racial and ethnic minorities who are not English-speaking or with limited English proficiency), (2) in rural populations, (3) persons living in the Colonias, (4) the homeless, (5) persons with disabilities who can be historically documented to have been subject to discriminatory practices not having been the focus of Federal, State or local fair housing enforcement efforts, and (6) areas that are heavily impacted with minorities and there is inadequate protection and ability to provide service from the State or local government or private fair housing organizations.

(C) Changes to this year's FHIP NOFA. A number of changes have been made this year.

(1) All technical deficiencies must be responded to in 5 days from receipt of notice of deficiency;

(2) For EOI, there is one new EOI National Program Component: the Model Codes Component and two new Regional/Local Community-Based Components—the Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness and the Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Components;

(3) Except for applicants under FHOI, applicants may not submit multiple applications under this NOFA;

(4) All applicants must submit a completed Statement of Eligibility; and

(5) The criteria for awarding points under Rating Factor 2—Need/Distress/Extent of the Problem has been revised for FHOI.

Bonus Points: See General Section VI (C) "Factors For Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications" for information on how Bonus Points will be awarded under this SuperNOFA.

(D) Ineligible Activities. (1) Fair Housing and Free Speech. None of the amounts made available under this FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA may be used to investigate or prosecute under the Act any activity engaged in by one or more persons, including the filing or maintaining of a non-frivolous legal action that is protected by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This includes activities engaged in for the purpose of achieving or preventing action by a government official or entity.

(2) Insurance Testing. HUD will fund organizations that conduct insurance-related enforcement work under the FHIP, but no project that focuses exclusively on this issue will be funded.

(3) All Applicants. If a majority (51% or more) of the activities within your application, Statement of Work (SOW), or Budget are ineligible or you propose to carry out ineligible activities that total 51% or more, your application will be ineligible.

(4) Imposed Burdens. Registration fees, fundraising, professional/association dues, publications, and other fees or costs that result in burdens placed on the public being serviced by these awards are prohibited practices.

(E) Objectives. Applicants submitting applications to the Education and Outreach National Program's Model Codes Component and all the Regional/Local Community-Based Initiatives/Component must address all forms of housing discrimination covered under the Fair Housing Act.

For the Model Codes Component, applicants must partner with a Disability Advocacy Group to coordinate with current efforts by HUD to identify jurisdictions where activities can be targeted and education and outreach can be designed to provide technical assistance to these jurisdictions that wish to adopt HUD-recognized Fair Housing Act safe harbor codes. In addition, applicants must identify and coordinate with jurisdictions that want to update their existing codes to incorporate one of the safe harbors.

Lastly, President Bush announced an ambitious plan to help close the homeownership gap by increasing minority homeownership by 5.5 million families before the end of the decade. This year, HUD has included under this NOFA the Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component, where applicants must demonstrate the ability to conduct community outreach activities to educate people about their rights under the Fair Housing Act and to prepare them for homeownership. The goal of this Component is to improve access to homeownership by racial and ethnic minorities by educating them about fair housing, the home buying process and generally to help prepare participants for the responsibilities of homeownership.

(F) Eligible Activities. (1) Private Enforcement Initiative (PEI). This Initiative assists private, tax-exempt fair housing enforcement organizations in the investigation and enforcement of alleged violations of the Act and substantially equivalent State and local fair housing laws. As a condition of funding, you will be required to refer to HUD all cases arising from FHIP-funded enforcement activities (see Mandatory Referrals, Section IV below).

(a) Eligible Applicants. Eligible applicants are fair housing enforcement organizations (FHOs) with at least one year of experience in complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations, and meritorious claims in the two years prior to the filing of this application (24 CFR 125.401(b)(2)) and Qualified Fair Housing Enforcement Organizations (QFHOs) with at least two years of enforcement-related experience, as noted above, and meritorious claims in the three years prior to filing this application, (24 CFR 125.103). You must certify, in the Statement of Eligibility that you submit with this application, that your organization is an FHO or a QFHO and document in the Statement of Eligibility that your organization has the required one or two years of enforcement-related experience. All applicants claiming QFHO and FHO status are required to be a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organization and also to submit with their application a copy of its Letter of Determination from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) in support of its 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status.

(b) Eligibility of Successor Organization. HUD recognizes that QFHOs and FHOs may merge with each other or other organizations. The merger of a QFHO or an FHO with a new organization, that has a separate Employer Identification Number (EIN), does not confer QFHO or FHO status upon the successor. To determine whether the successor organization meets the eligibility requirements for this Initiative, HUD will look at the enforcement-related experience of the successor organization (based upon the successor organization's EIN). The successor organization is not eligible to apply under this Initiative unless it establishes in the Statement of Eligibility that it is a private, tax-exempt organization with the requisite two years of enforcement related experience for a QFHO or one year experience for an FHO.

(c) Eligible Activities include either:
(i) Complaint intake of allegations of housing discrimination, testing, evaluating testing results, or providing other investigative and complaint support for administrative and judicial enforcement of fair housing laws; or

(ii) Investigations of individual complaints and systemic housing discrimination for further enforcement processing by HUD, through testing and other investigative methods; or

(iii) Mediated agreements or other voluntary resolution of allegations of fair housing discrimination after a complaint has been filed; and

(iv) Litigating fair housing cases including procuring expert witnesses.

(2) Education and Outreach Initiative (EOI). This Initiative assists projects that inform the public about the rights and obligations under the Act and substantially equivalent State and local fair housing laws. Under this Initiative, you must develop a complaint referral process so that activities funded under this Initiative will result in referrals to HUD of fair housing complaints and other information regarding possible discriminatory housing practices. Applications are solicited for this Initiative under the EOI-Regional/Local/Community-Based Program—in which activities are conducted on a regional/local/community-based level; and, under a National Program. You may submit your application for the Regional/Local/Community-Based General Component, Disability Component, the Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component; the Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component or the National Program's Model Codes Component depending upon its focus.

(a) Eligible Applicants. Eligible applicants are QFHOs; FHOs; public or private, for-profit or not-for-profit organizations or institutions and other public or private entities that are formulating or carrying out programs to prevent or eliminate discriminatory housing practices (including entities that will be established as a result of receiving an award under this FHIP NOFA); agencies of State or local governments; and agencies that participate in the FHAP (see the list of FHAP agencies at Appendix D). If you are a disability advocacy group, an organization that identifies or connects/communicates with Hispanics, grassroots faith-based and other community-based organization, minority universities or institutions, or traditional civil rights organization, you are encouraged to apply under this Initiative.

(b) Eligible Activities. The following are eligible activities for EOI:
Conducting educational symposia or other training; developing new and innovative fair housing activities or materials throughout your project area; providing outreach and information on fair housing through printed and electronic media; developing fair housing curricula, and providing outreach to persons with disabilities and/or their support organizations and service housing providers working with homeless activists or persons to determine if fair housing plays a part in the homeless situation, and the general public regarding the rights of persons with disabilities under the Act. When conducting your outreach activities, we also encourage the use of existing, fair housing materials; except that we require that you translate these existing materials in languages other than English. The applicants for the Regional/Local/Community-Based Programs who submit an application in conjunction with a grassroots faith-based and other community-based organization must include in their application a letter of firm commitment from that grassroots faith-based and other community based organization. This letter of firm commitment must: (1) Identify the grassroots faith-based and other community-based organization; (2) identify the activities/tasks to be undertaken by the grassroots faith-based and other community-based organization under the project; and (3) be signed by the individual or organization with legal authority to make commitments for the organization. These components are described below:

Disability Component. Applications that emphasize the fair housing needs of persons with disabilities, so that persons with disabilities, housing providers and the general public better understand the rights and obligations under the Act and more fully appreciate the forms of housing discrimination that persons with disabilities may encounter, should submit their applications to the EOI-Disability Component. Although the component has a disability focus, the funded activities must provide education and outreach to all persons protected under the Act.

Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component. Applicants must be able to provide bilingual materials and services to Hispanics so that they are aware of and educated about their fair housing rights and responsibilities under the Fair Housing Act. In addition, applicants must have staff who are bilingual and have demonstrated experience, which is defined as 5 years of proven experience in providing social services to persons of Hispanic origin or must have established a partnership with an established faith-based or other community-based organization to carry out the objectives of this component and three years of experience with the applicant. Although the component has a focus in providing education and outreach to Hispanic communities, the funded activities must provide education and outreach in a non-discriminatory manner. Grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component. Today, homeownership in America is at an all time high—but not all Americans have benefited. While 75% of white Americans own their own homes, less than half of all African Americans and Hispanic Americans are homeowners. Even with a surge in homeownership during the 1990's, the homeownership gap between minority and white households declined by just 1.5 percentage points. In June 2002, President George W. Bush announced an ambitious plan to help close the homeownership gap by increasing minority homeownership by 5.5 million families before the end of the decade. Educating homebuyers is an important step in meeting the President's challenge and there is a strong tie between equal housing opportunity and minority homeownership.

Under the Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component, applicants must demonstrate the ability to conduct community outreach activities to educate people about their rights under the Fair Housing Act and to prepare them for homeownership. The goal of this Component is to improve access to homeownership by racial and ethnic minorities by educating them about fair housing and how to recognize discriminatory housing practices in sales and financing of housing. Applicants must demonstrate the ability to educate participants about various forms of unlawful discrimination including discrimination in the sale of dwellings, discrimination in the financing of dwellings and unlawful segregation resulting from steering and other activities. Please ensure that all activities are tied to the protections outlined in the Fair Housing Act.

General Component. Applications for all other fair housing education and outreach activities should be submitted to the EOI-General Component.

The fifth component is the National Program—Model Codes Component.

The purpose of this component of the National Program is to increase compliance with the Fair Housing Act's accessible design and construction requirements through activities that will promote a collaborative partnership among builders and State and local government building code entities and disability advocacy or fair housing groups. These collaborations will ultimately result in encouraging the adoption of model building codes at the State and local level that are consistent with the accessibility requirements of the Fair Housing Act, its regulations and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines. Activities to be carried out will involve taking steps to encourage State and local jurisdictions to adopt building codes that incorporate one of the HUD-recognized safe harbors for compliance. (These safe harbors are discussed below). Activities must be done in a manner that recognizes that under the Fair Housing Act, HUD cannot compel the adoption of model codes but HUD is encouraging jurisdictions to adopt such codes.

Activities may include identifying jurisdictions toward which to target activities and education and outreach designed to provide technical assistance to jurisdictions that wish to adopt HUD-recognized Fair Housing Act safe harbor codes or update their existing codes to incorporate one of the safe harbors. This may be done through direct meetings, educational workshops, on-line "how to" technical assistance, and technical assistance to State and local communities that may be in the process of updating State or local building codes. Such technical assistance shall include educating entities on incorporating commentary or appendices to their codes.

These kinds of activities may be carried out under this NOFA:

(1) Assisting State and local jurisdictions that modify their existing building codes so that they are consistent with the accessibility requirements of the Fair Housing Act and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, the ANSI A117.1 technical standards;

(2) Educating State and local officials on the requirements of the Fair Housing Act and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, the ANSI A117.1 technical standards, or the State or local building codes if such codes already incorporate requirements that are consistent with the Act;

(3) Developing an electronically accessible "Best Practices Directory" for dissemination of information to those interested in finding peer communities and organizations that have successfully adopted or revised their model building codes to meet the Fair Housing Act's accessibility requirements, the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards;

(4) Providing assistance and reviewing proposed modifications of language to be included in building codes to ensure that such codes meet the Fair Housing Act's accessibility requirements, the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards. (2)

(5) Encouraging jurisdictions to use one of the former three model codes, i.e., the Uniform Building Code, the Standard Building Code, or the BOCA National Building Code to update their codes to address inconsistencies identified in HUD's Final Report on the Review of Model Building Codes, published in the Federal Register on March 23, 2000.

There are currently seven documents recognized by HUD as providing a safe harbor for meeting the accessibility requirements of the Fair Housing Act. The seven documents include the following:

1. HUD's March 6, 1991 Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines (the Guidelines) and the June 28, 1994 Supplemental Notice to Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines: Questions and Answers about the Guidelines;

2. ANSI A117.1—1986—Accessible and Usable Buildings and Facilities, used in conjunction with the Act, HUD's Regulations, and the Guidelines;

3. CABO/ANSI A117.1—1992—Accessible and Usable Buildings and Facilities, used in conjunction with the Act, HUD's regulations, and the Guidelines;

4. ICC/ANSI A117.1—1998—Accessible and Usable Buildings and Facilities, used in conjunction with the Act, HUD's regulations, and the Guidelines;

5. HUD's Fair Housing Act Design Manual;

6. Code Requirements for Housing Accessibility 2000 (CRHA), approved and published by the International Code Council (ICC), October 2000; and,

7. International Building Code (IBC) 2000 as amended by the IBC 2001 Supplement to the International Building Codes.

It is important to note that the ANSI A117.1 standard contains only technical criteria, whereas the Act, HUD's regulations, and the Guidelines contain both scoping and technical criteria. Therefore, in using any of the ANSI standards, it is necessary to also consult the Act, HUD's regulations, and the Guidelines for the scoping requirements. The CRHA and the IBC contain both scoping and technical criteria and are written in building code language, which make them readily adoptable by state and local jurisdictions.

(3) Fair Housing Organizations Initiative (FHOI). This Initiative provides assistance to projects (sponsoring organizations) that establish or build the capacity of organizations to become viable fair housing enforcement organizations that conduct fair housing enforcement activities in underserved areas (as defined in Section IV) in rural areas, in the Colonias, and areas with new immigrants (especially racial and ethnic minorities who are not English-speaking or have limited English proficiency). This is accomplished with the assistance of a sponsoring organization. It is the sponsoring organization that submits the application under this Initiative and certifies the sponsored organization's ability to become a QFHO or FHO (Note: The sponsoring organization is ineligible if they received a grant under this Initiative in 2001 or 2002.) The sponsored organization whose enforcement capacity is established or enhanced by funding under this Initiative, will be allowed to participate in this Initiative for three years contingent upon annual performance reviews. Funds are allocated under this NOFA for this Initiative for 3 years and distributed to the sponsored organization by the sponsoring organization. The sponsoring organization may expend FHIP funds for administrative costs as described below. HUD has targeted for funding under this Initiative projects that will provide fair housing enforcement services to the Colonias, rural areas, and to underserved areas, and to immigrants (especially racial and ethnic minorities who are not English speaking or have limited English proficiency).

(a) Eligible Applicants. Only the sponsoring organization is eligible to apply under this Initiative. The sponsoring organization must be a qualified fair housing enforcement organization (QFHO). You must certify in the Statement of Eligibility that you submit with this application that your organization is a QFHO.

(b) Eligible Activities. The proposed activities must build the enforcement capacity of the sponsored organization so that it can undertake all of the following activities by the conclusion of year 3 of the grant cycle:

(i) Complaint intake of allegations of housing discrimination, testing, evaluating testing results or providing other investigative and complaint support for administrative and judicial enforcement of fair housing laws;

(ii) Investigations of individual complaints and systemic housing discrimination for further enforcement processing by HUD, through testing and other investigative methods;

(iii) Mediation or other voluntary resolution of allegations of fair housing discrimination after a complaint has been filed; and

(iv) Litigating fair housing cases including procuring expert witnesses.

(c) Administrative Costs for the Sponsoring Organization. The sponsoring organization may use no more than 15 percent of the annually awarded funds to cover its costs to administer the grant.

IV. Program Requirements

(A) Requirements for All Initiatives. In addition to the Threshold Requirements in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, your FHIP-funded program application must also meet the following requirements:

(1) Protected Basis. All FHIP-funded projects must address housing discrimination based upon race, color, religion, sex, disability, familial status, or national origin.

(2) Performance Measures and Products. For all Initiatives, your application must demonstrate how your project activities will support HUD goals, identify performance measures/outcomes in support of those goals, describe your proposed record-keeping and evaluation systems, and identify current (baseline) conditions and target levels of the performance measures that you plan to achieve. For PEI, your application also must contain a strategy for generating enforcement related project products, with related timelines and milestones. For FHOI, if the sponsoring organization is enhancing an existing organization, then the sponsoring organization must submit a statement outlining: (1) What is expected of the sponsored organization, and (2) that the sponsored organization will be part of the program. If the sponsoring organization is being created, then the sponsored organization must submit a mission statement for the sponsoring organization and a timeline for creation and independence. If selected for funding, your final performance measures will be negotiated between you and HUD as part of your executed grant agreement.

(3) Reports and Meetings on Performance Measures and Products. Refer to the mandatory use of the Logic Model provided in the forms appended to the General Section.

(4) Single Applications. Except for applicants under FHOI, all applicants may only submit one application under the FHIP. FHOI applicants may apply under FHOI and one other Initiative. Applicants must determine which Initiative/Component to which they want to apply and submit a completed application to only that Initiative/Component. Multiple applications applying to more than one, except FHOI, Initiative/Component will be treated as a technical deficiency and the applicant will be asked to identify which application they want reviewed.

(5) Independence of Awards. HUD will review each application separately and without reference to other applications submitted by you or others. However, the application you submit must be independent and capable of being implemented without reliance on the selection of other applications submitted by you or other applicants.

(6) Project Starting Period. For planning purposes, assume a start date no later than March 1, 2004.

(7) Page Limitation and Formatting Requirements. The maximum narrative page requirement is ten (10) pages per factor. All pages in your application must be numbered consecutively from beginning to end. The narrative pages must be double-spaced (no more than three lines per vertical inch). This includes all narrative text, titles and headings. (However, you may single space footnotes, quotations, references, captions, charts, forms, tables, figures and graphs). You are required to use 12 point typesize. A page is 8.5" x 11", on one side only, with 1" margins top, bottom, right and left. You must respond fully to each factor to obtain maximum points. Failure to provide narrative responses to all factors or omitting requested information will result in less than the maximum points available for the given rating factor or sub-factors. Failure to provide double spaced, 12 point typesize narrative responses will result in five points being deducted from your overall score (one point per factor). Failure to consecutively number pages within your application will result in one point being deducted from your overall score.

(8) Training funds. Your proposed budget must set-aside funds to participate in HUD mandatory sponsored or approved training $3000 for 12-18 month projects (EOI and PEI); and $6000 annually for 36 month projects (FHOI). For FHOI, there must be attendance from the sponsoring and sponsored organization.

Requests to attend HUD-approved training must be submitted to the GTR for approval in advance of the requested training. Do not include amounts over the $3000 or $6000 (as appropriate) for the training set-aside in this category. If applicants do not include these funds in the budget and you are selected for an award, HUD may modify your budget, reallocating the appropriate amount for training. If awardee's key personnel do not attend mandatory HUD-approved or HUD-sponsored training, training funds must be returned to HUD and it will be reflected on your performance assessment.

(9) Payment Contingent on Completion. Payment of FHIP funds is made on a reimbursement basis. Payments are contingent on the satisfactory and timely completion of your project activities and products as reflected in your grant or cooperative agreement. Requests for funds must be accompanied by financial and progress reports.

(10) Accessibility Requirements. All activities, facilities, and materials funded by this Program must be accessible to persons with disabilities (24 CFR 8.2, 8.4, 8.6, and 8.54).

(11) Copyright Materials. You may copyright any work that is eligible for copyright protection subject to HUD's right to reproduce, publish, or otherwise use your work for Federal purposes, and to authorize others to do so as required in 24 CFR 84.36.

(12) Complaints Against Awardees. Each FHIP award is overseen by a HUD Grant Officer (See Appendix B for list of Grant Officers per region). Complaints from the public against FHIP grantees should be forwarded to the Grant Officer. The Grant Officer's name and contact information is provided in the grant agreement. If, after notice and consideration of relevant information, the Grant Officer concludes that there has been inappropriate conduct, such as a violation of FHIP program requirements, terms or conditions of the grant, or any other applicable statute, regulation or other requirement, HUD will take appropriate action in accordance with 24 CFR 84.62. Such action may include: written reprimand; consideration of past performance in awarding future FHIP applications; repayment to HUD of funds received under the grant; or temporary or permanent denial of participation in the FHIP in accordance with 24 CFR part 24.

(13) Double Payments. If you are awarded funds under this NOFA, you (and any subcontractor or consultant) may not charge or claim credit for the activities performed under this project under any other Federal project.

(14) Award Instrument. The type of funding instrument HUD may offer a successful applicant which sets forth the relationship between HUD and the grantee will be a grant or cooperative agreement, where the principal purpose is the transfer of funds, property, services, or anything of value to the applicant to accomplish a public purpose. The agreement will identify the eligible activities to be undertaken, financial controls, and special conditions, including sanctions for violations of the agreement. HUD will determine the type of instrument under which your award will be made and monitor your progress to ensure that you have achieved the objectives set out in your agreement. Failure to meet such objectives may be the basis for HUD determining your agreement in default and exercising available sanctions, including suspension, termination, and/or the recapture of your funds. Also HUD may refer violations or suspected violations to enforcement offices within HUD, the Department of Justice, or other enforcement authorities.

(15) Reallocation of Funds. If after all applications within funding range have been selected or obligations are completed in an Initiative and funds remain available, the selecting official or designee will have the discretion to reallocate leftover funds in rank order between initiatives as follows:

(a) For EOI, any remaining funds from any component will be reallocated first within the initiative; if after reallocating funds within the initiative left over funds remain, they shall be reallocated to PEI then to FHOI;

(b) For PEI, any remaining funds will be reallocated to EOI then to FHOI;

(c) For FHOI, left over funds will be reallocated to PEI then to EOI.

Reallocated funds will be awarded within initiative as described in Section V of this Program Section of the SuperNOFA.

(16) Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing. A separate AFFH submission is not required for FHIP.

(17) Name Check Review. (See General Section).

(18) Product Information. Press releases and any other product intended to be disseminated to the public must be submitted to the Government Technical Representative (GTR) 2 weeks before release for approval and acceptance.

(19) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women Owned Businesses. (See General Section).

(20) Retainer Fees. If you are a recipient of FHIP funds, you cannot require any complainant to whom you are providing assistance using FHIP funds, to sign a retainer agreement or other contract for legal fees as part of the filing, commencement, or maintenance of a Fair Housing Act complaint. If the FHIP recipient has a successful settlement or a verdict, then the FHIP is able to include its reasonable fees as a part of the settlement, though the complainant shall be under no obligation to accept such an arrangement. If reasonable legal fees are recovered, the FHIP agency must return a portion of its recovery to HUD, in proportion to the amount of FHIP funds spent on the prosecution of the case.

Agencies that are the recipients of FHIP funds agree to provide HUD with information regarding the recovery of fees and applicable reimbursement of FHIP funds to HUD on a yearly basis. All settlements and verdicts involving cases processed using FHIP funds are a matter of public record. An agency cannot claim attorney-client or other privilege against the release of data concerning the case. This restriction on withholding of information must be communicated to the complainant. The complainant must agree to such a restriction before the case can be processed using FHIP funds.

(21) For FHOI, HUD will fund applications that purpose to provide services in underserved areas (See Section III (B)(1)(b) of the FHIP Program Section of this NOFA.

(22) HUD expects applicants to address all forms of housing discrimination covered under the Fair Housing Act.

(23) HUD has determined there is a need to ensure equal opportunity and access to housing in communities across the nation.

(B) Screening/Threshold Review. Only applications that satisfy all of the applicable requirements under this FHIP NOFA will be considered for funding. The rating of the "applicant" or the "applicant's organization and staff" for technical merit or threshold compliance, unless otherwise specified, will include any sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia that are firmly committed to the project.

(1) General Section Requirements and Procedures. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they do not meet the Threshold Requirements set forth in Section V (B), (C) and (D) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(2) Debarment and Suspension. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they are debarred and suspended (See General Section).

(3) Maximum award. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they request funding in excess of the maximum allowed under the initiative or component for which you are applying your application is ineligible. Any amount over the maximum award, even if less than one dollar, will be considered a request in excess of the maximum award. In addition, inconsistencies in the amount requested and/or miscalculations that result in amounts over the maximum award will be considered excessive; therefore the application is ineligible.

(4) Incomplete Application. Applicants are ineligible for funding if their application does not include a completed Statement of Eligibility.

(5) Research Activities. Applicants are ineligible for funding if 100% of their project is aimed solely and primarily at research. Also, your application should not require any unapproved surveys or questionnaires.

(6) Eligible Applicants. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they do not meet the eligibility requirements for EOI, PEI and FHOI. For PEI, you must be a FHO or a QFHO and document in the Statement of Eligibility that your organization has the required one or two years of enforcement-related experience. For FHOI, you must be a QFHO. For EOI, see specific Component requirements.

(7) Tax Exempt Status. For PEI and FHOI applicants are ineligible for funding if they are not a 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization as determined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Your application must include a copy of your Letter of Determination from the Internal Revenue Service, dated prior to the deadline date of this FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA, establishing your 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status. Failure to submit this with your application is a technical deficiency.

(8) Model Codes Component applications. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they do not have demonstrated technical expertise in the design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988, the applicable implementing regulations, the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, the ANSI A117.1 technical standards, and State and local building codes.

Applicants may establish their "demonstrated technical expertise" in many ways. For example: (a) Your organization has designed or conducted training or seminars, (b) your organization's staff has taken a course/attended a seminar on the accessibility provisions of the Fair Housing Act for and have applied that training to your work as, for example, building inspectors, architects, housing providers, or developers in a jurisdiction with a building code that incorporates these provisions, or (c) your organization's work experience has made you thoroughly knowledgeable about design and construction requirements of the Fair Housing Act/Accessibility Guidelines, the ANSI A117.1 technical standards, and State and local building codes. Agendas, course(s) descriptions, specific examples of work experiences, and years of experience, must be highlighted when establishing demonstrated technical expertise.

Only joint applications filed by a minimum of two entities, at least one of which is a national and a State or local disability rights advocacy group or organization (national, State or local organization), will be considered, and the roles of each partner must be clearly delineated. Your application must identify additional sub-recipients and consultants/contractors who will work on this project. A letter of firm commitment must be included stating that the partner(s) agrees to the proposed Statement of Work and will participate in the project, if selected for award. If you fail to include this letter of firm commitment with your application, your application will be declared ineligible for funding.

(9) Poor Performance. Applicants are ineligible for funding if they are a previous FHIP grantee that has received a "Poor" performance rating for its most recent performance rating from its Government Technical Representative. HUD will assess performance ratings for applicants who have received FHIP funding in 1999, 2000, or 2001. If the applicant has received a "poor" performance rating for its most recent performance rating from its Government Technical Representative, its application is ineligible for FY 2003 competition. An applicant that does not agree with its determination of ineligibility for the FY 2003 competition because of "poor" performance must address to HUD's satisfaction the factors resulting in the "poor" performance rating before the FHIP application deadline. If the "poor" performance rating is not resolved to the Department's satisfaction before the application deadline, the application is ineligible for funding. HUD is interested in increasing the performance level of all grantees; therefore, applicants who are deemed ineligible because of a "poor" performance rating have the right and are encouraged to seek technical assistance from HUD to correct their performance in order to be eligible for future NOFA competition.

(10) Suits Against the United States. Your application is ineligible for funding if as a current or past recipient of FHIP funds, your organization used any funds provided by HUD for the payment of expenses in connection with litigation against the United States (24 CFR 125.104(f)).

(11) Other Litigation. Your application is ineligible for funding if you used funds under this Program provided by HUD to settle a claim, satisfy a judgment, or fulfill a court order in any defensive litigation (24 CFR 125.104).

(12) Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component. Applicants are ineligible for funding if staff persons that have been providing bilingual services have not been employees with the applicant for 3 of the 5 years used to prove eligibility under the Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component. List all bilingual employees and provide proof of employment of staff. Grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

(13) FHOI. Applicants for FHOI only are ineligible if their organization received previous FHOI awards in FY 2001 or FY 2002.

(C) Additional Requirements For PEI and FHOI. (1) Mandatory Referrals. You must refer to HUD all cases arising from FHIP-funded enforcement activities. In all FHIP-funded cases where you find a basis for filing a complaint on behalf of a complainant other than your organization, you must file the complaint with HUD unless the complainant declines to do so in writing. You must return copies of all complaints that the complainant declines to file to HUD. In addition to filing complaints with HUD, a complainant may file a civil action in Federal or State Court.

(2) Broad-Based and Full-Serviced. Your organization must conduct a broad-based and full-service enforcement project that addresses discrimination against all persons protected by the Fair Housing Act on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, disability, familial status, or national origin.

(3) Outreach Expenses. The funds awarded for enforcement grants may be used for outreach and education activities (hereafter, outreach activities) in order to promote awareness of your project's services, as follows: under FHOI, you may provide for up to 10 percent of the requested funds for the sponsored organization to be used for outreach activities; under PEI, you may designate up to 5 percent of the requested funds for outreach activities.

(4) Tester Requirements. Testers in your FHIP-funded testing activities must not have prior felony convictions or convictions of crimes involving fraud or perjury. All testers must receive training acceptable to HUD or be experienced in testing procedures and techniques. Testers and the organizations conducting tests, and the employees and agents of these organizations may not:

(a) Have an economic interest in the outcome of the test; except to the extent that they could recover damages as provided by law;

(b) Be a relative related by adoption, blood, or marriage to any party in a case;

(c) Have had any employment or other affiliation, within the past year, with the person or organization to be tested; or

(d) Be a licensed competitor of the person or organization to be tested in the listing, rental, sale, or financing of real estate.

(5) Review and Approval of Testing Methodology. If your SOW proposes testing, other than rental housing testing, HUD may require copies of the following documents to be reviewed and approved by HUD prior to your carrying out the testing activities:

(a) The testing methodology to be used,

(b) The training materials to be provided to testers, and

(c) Other forms, protocols, cover letters, etc. used in the conduct of testing and reporting of results.

The testing methodology and training materials that you submit to HUD for review and approval are for enforcement purposes and will remain confidential.

(6) Tester Training. You must provide sufficient information in the application to show how testers are trained by your organization and how the materials will be used.

(7) Conflict of Interest and Use of Settlement Funds.

(a) You may not solicit funds from or seek to provide fair housing educational or other services or products for compensation either directly or indirectly to any person or organization that has been the subject of FHIP-funded testing by your organization during the 12 month period following the test. This does not preclude providing training or technical assistance that is court ordered or contained in a negotiated settlement. HUD reserves the right to impose additional provisions addressing potential conflicts of interest in the grant agreement.

(b) You must reimburse the United States for FHIP-funded activities whenever you receive funds as the result of enforcement activities funded in whole or in part by the FHIP program, including testing. You must provide information about reimbursements and/or potential reimbursements in a report that you submit to HUD (see Reports below). Provisions regarding terms for reimbursing the United States will be specified in your grant or cooperative agreement. This reimbursement requirement does not apply to compensation received as a result of a judgment in Federal or State Court. Calculate your reimbursement on a per complaint basis. Identify the complaint, then subtract the amount of non-FHIP funds from the amount of FHIP funds used to resolve the complaint. The difference is the amount owed. For example:

Testing Expense = $500 (All FHIP funds used)

Settlement Award = $15,000

Reimburse HUD = $500

(8) Reports. You must provide reports in a format (which may be computer-generated), at a frequency and with contents specified by HUD. At a minimum, the report must include the number and basis of complaints filed with HUD, with a FHAP agency, or in Federal/State Court as well as the number and terms of settlements or other outcomes achieved. If HUD does not prescribe a format or frequency, you will provide a narrative report within 90 days after all grant activities have ended or at the end of each 12 month period of the grant, whichever comes first. All settlements and verdicts are public except settlements or judgment that a court or other tribunal has ordered to be kept confidential. However, all settlements and verdicts are public involving cases processed using FHIP funds are a matter of public record. Your agency will not be able to claim attorney-client or other privileges against the release of data to the Department on any case where FHIP funds are used. You will also be required to provide status reports on case referrals you have made to HUD or a FHAP agency. These reports are for enforcement purposes and will remain confidential.

(9) Enforcement Log. You are required to record information about the funded project in a case tracking log (or Fair Housing Enforcement Log) in a format prescribed by HUD. Such information must include: The number of complaints of possible discrimination you have received; the protected basis of these complaints; the issue, test type, and number of tests utilized in the investigation of each allegation; the respondent type and testing results; the time for case processing, including administrative or judicial proceedings; the cost of testing activities and case processing; the entity to which the case was referred; and the resolution and type of relief sought and received. You must agree to make this log available to HUD. This log will be considered confidential for enforcement purposes. This log should only have case information in it where FHIP funds were used.

(10) Attachments. All PEI, FHOI, EOI applicants must submit a Statement of Eligibility. All applicants must submit resumes, or position descriptions for newly created positions of all key personnel; if you received HUD funding in the past please submit the most recent SF 269. In addition, FHOI and PEI applicants must submit the Internal Revenue Service's, Letter of Determination declaring your Section 501(c)(3) status as a tax-exempt organization. Failure to submit your IRS Letter of Determination with your original application is a technical deficiency.

(D) Additional Requirements For Education and Outreach Initiative. Complaint Referral Process. EOI activities do not end with the delivery of outreach and educational activities. Its purpose is to ensure that persons are informed of their fair housing rights and to provide enforcement assistance to persons who believe they have experienced housing discrimination by providing immediate and accurate referral information to persons contacting them for assistance. EOI applicants must develop a process for referring fair housing complaints to HUD or Fair Housing Assistance Program agencies. The referral process must be described in the application.

(E) Additional Requirements For Fair Housing Organizations Initiative Sponsored and sponsoring organization's viability and fair housing enforcement capacity. Over the duration of the grant, the sponsored organization with the help of the sponsoring organization must demonstrate its capacity to become a viable, fair housing enforcement organization that conducts fair housing-related enforcement activities and leverages non-FHIP resources. These are the performance measures that, if not met, may result in termination of the grant, and your description of how you will achieve these measures will be considered when HUD evaluates your application. We will look for this description in your response to Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach. Specifically, the application must address:

(1) Fair Housing-related enforcement activities. The sponsored organization must be able to independently conduct enforcement-related activities by the conclusion of year 3 of the grant including: complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations, and meritorious claims. Your application must identify which activities the sponsored organization will conduct at the end of the grant year 1, 2 and 3. A pro-forma budget must be submitted for the sponsored organization showing how funds will be allocated and accounted for in each of the grant years. Your performance measures will be based upon this description, and failure to meet them may result in termination of your grant or cooperative agreement.

(2) Organizational resources. The sponsored organization must not rely exclusively on FHIP funding. At the conclusion of each grant year, the sponsored organization must show increasing support from sources other than what is awarded under this program. Specifically, at the conclusion of year 1, no less than 5% of the funds supporting the sponsored organization's fair housing enforcement-related activities must be funded from non-FHIP funds; at the conclusion of year 2, no less than 10% of the funds supporting the sponsored organization's fair housing enforcement-related activities must be from non-FHIP funds; and at the conclusion of year 3, no less than 20% of the funds supporting the sponsored organization's fair housing enforcement-related activities must be from non-FHIP funds. Your application and budget must state how you will meet these requirements. Your performance measures will be based upon these requirements, and failure to meet them may result in termination of the grant.

In addition, the sponsoring organization must demonstrate its capacity to maintain itself as a viable, fair housing enforcement organization that has the ability to sustain itself over the course of the grant.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. Although all rating factors are organized the same way for all FHIP initiatives, there are differences in application requirements and rating criteria, which are indicated throughout the Rating Factor instructions. Your application for funding will be evaluated competitively against all other applications submitted under one of the following initiatives or components:

- (1) Private Enforcement Initiative (PEI);
- (2) Education and Outreach Initiative (EOI);
 - (a) Regional/Local/Community-Based Program:
 - (i) General Component (EOI-GC);
 - (ii) Disability Component (EOI-DC);
 - (iii) Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component (EOI-HA);
 - (iv) Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component (EOI-HC);
 - (b) National Program:
 - (i) Model Codes Component;
- (3) Fair Housing Organizations Initiative (FHOI)

All eligible applications will be reviewed and points awarded based upon: (1) Your narrative responses to the Factors for Award and accompanying materials (e.g., resumes) and (2) bonus points, if entitled. Ineligible applications will not be ranked. The maximum number of points to be awarded for the Rating Factors is 100. See Section VI (C) of the General Section for discussion on Bonus Points. Applications with a score of seventy-five (75) points or more will be considered of sufficient quality for funding. The Selecting Official will not select for award any application with a score below seventy-five (75) points. Generally, applications of sufficient quality for funding will be selected in rank order under each initiative or component. HUD reserves the right to select applicants out of rank order to achieve greater geographic distribution of awards under each initiative or component, as described in Section V (C) below. Selections under each initiative or component will continue to be made until either all allocated funds have been obligated or until no applications of sufficient quality remain.

(B) Tie Breaking. When two or more applications have the same total overall score, the application with the higher score under Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach will be ranked higher. If this does not break the tie, the application with the higher score under Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience will be ranked higher. If this does not break the tie, the application requesting the lower amount of FHIP funding will be ranked higher. Finally, if this does not break the tie, the application with the higher score under Rating Factor 2 will be rated higher.

(C) Achieving Geographic Diversity of Awards. (1) PEI and EOI. HUD reserves the right to select applications out of rank order under geographic diversity, to ensure that, to the extent possible, applications from more states for each initiative or component are selected for funding. If the Selecting Official exercises this discretion, there will be two determinants used: (a) Geography and (b) score. Geographic diversity shall be applied to all qualified applications (applications of sufficient quality for funding—applications that received a score of 75 or more points) in each Initiative or Component in which the Selecting Official applies geographic diversity. The geographic diversity provision will be applied as follows: when there are two or more applications of sufficient quality from the same state, the application(s) with the lower score(s) will be moved to the end of the qualified queue. The applications moved to the end of the qualified queue will retain their geographic rank order.

If sufficient funds remain, it is possible that applications moved to the end of the queue may be selected for award.

(2) FHOI. The geographic diversity provision does not apply to FHOI.

(D) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate PEI, FHOI and EOI Regional/Local Community-Based Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applications and the maximum points for each Rating Factor are described below. Failure to provide the required information under the appropriate Factor will result in a lower score for that Factor—for example, information in the Project Abstract, although useful for obtaining a concise summary of the proposed activities is not considered in the rating of applications.

Please respond fully to the criteria in each Rating Factor and sub-factor and, when directed, provide other information in support of your response. The Factors for Award are set out as follows:

In general. This section applies to all applicants. Your responses to each Rating Factor and including the “In Addition” section below must not exceed the 10 page Rating Factor requirement.

In addition. This section identifies issues to which you must respond, if required, by the particular Initiative or Component for which you are applying.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (25 Points)

You must describe staff expertise and your organization’s ability to complete the proposed activities within the grant period.

In General. HUD recognizes that, in carrying out the proposed activities, you may have persons already on staff, plan to hire additional staff, or rely on subcontractors or consultants to perform specific tasks. You must describe your staffing plan and the extent to which you plan to add staff (employees) or contractors. If your application proposes using subcontractors and these subcontractor activities amount to more than 10 percent of your total activities, you must submit a separate budget for each subcontractor. Failure to include a separate budget will result in lower points being assessed to your application.

(5) Points Current FHIP Grantees

(10) Points for New Applicants

a. Number and expertise of staff (this includes subcontractors and consultants). You must show that you will have sufficient, qualified staff who will be available to complete the proposed activities. Provide the following information for all staff assigned to or hired for this project, not just key personnel (those persons identified in attachments to Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach):

(i) Identify, by name and/or title, all persons that will be assigned to the project. You must describe the knowledge and experience of the proposed overall project director and day-to-day program manager (whose duties and responsibilities include managing all program and administrative activities as outlined in the SOW and ensuring that all timelines are met), in planning and managing projects similar in scope and complex interdisciplinary programs. Indicate the percentage of time that key personnel will devote to your project. To receive maximum points, your day-to-day program manager must devote a minimum of 75% of his/her time to the project. For day-to-day managers who do not have at least 75% of their time devoted to the project, no points will be awarded under this sub-factor. You may demonstrate capacity by thoroughly describing your prior experience in fair housing. You should indicate how this prior experience will be used in carrying out your proposed activities. Your application must clearly identify those persons that are on staff at the time this application is filed, and those persons who will be assigned at a later date; describe each person’s duties and responsibilities and their expertise (including years of experience) to perform project tasks; indicate whether the staff person is assigned to work full-time or part-time (if part-time, indicate the percentage of time each person is assigned to the project).

(ii) Attach resumes for all key personnel or position descriptions for newly created positions. (Resumes or position descriptions do not count against the ten-page limit.)

(10) Points for Current FHIP Grantees

(15) Points for New Applicants

b. Organizational experience. In responding to this subfactor, you must show that your organization has: (1) Conducted a past project or projects similar in scope and complexity to the project proposed in this application (whether FHIP-funded or not), or (2) engaged in activities that, although not similar, are readily transferable to the proposed project. Experience will be judged in terms of recent, relevant and successful experience of your staff to undertake eligible activities.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider experience within the last 3 years to be recent, experience pertaining to the specific activities to be relevant, and experience producing measurable accomplishments to be successful. The more recent the experience and the more experience your own staff members who work on the project have in successfully conducting and completing similar activities, the greater the number of points you will receive for this rating factor. For all applicants, your fully completed and signed Statement of Eligibility will also be considered as part of your organizational experience. The applicant organization must state within its application that it is based in an area considered by the Department as Colonias.

In addition. If you are applying for funding under the EOI-Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component, provide the following information when responding to this sub-factor.

(i) A list of all bilingual materials you have distributed

(ii) A description of specific instances where projects similar to the scope and activities proposed in this application had an impact in a Hispanic community.

(iii) A description of recent relevant experience. Recent experience is experience within the past 3 years. Grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

In addition. If you are applying for funding under the EOI-Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component, provide the following information when responding to this subfactor:

(i) A description of staff’s experience in providing fair housing and homeownership advice with the objective of increasing awareness of homeownership opportunities and

(ii) A description of staff’s experience and accomplishments in advocating with the real estate industry, the mortgage lending industry, appraisers, and developers to increase awareness of homeownership opportunities.

In addition. If you are applying for funding under PEI or FHOI, provide the following information when responding to this subfactor:

(i) Describe the procedure you will use to ensure that testers comply with the requirements in Section IV(B)(3) of the FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA.

(ii) If you propose to conduct testing (other than rental or accessibility testing), projects proposing testing in the specific areas (for example, if testing is for sales of housing), your application should outline your sales testing experience) should document that, at a minimum, you have conducted successful testing in those areas. Provide a general description of when and where the tests occurred, the entities tested, and the overall results of the tests, including complaints filed and the settlements or remedies secured.

FHOI. Provide a statement of organizational capacity and experience of the sponsored organization and a list of persons who will work on the project along with their experience.

(10) Points for Current FHIP Grantees

(0) Points for New Applicants

c. Performance on past project(s). You must describe your organization's past performance in conducting activities relevant to your proposal, in the past three years (FY 1999–2001 FHIP grants), demonstrating good financial management and documenting timely use of funds, timely reporting and submissions of tasks and deliverables. HUD may supplement information you provide with relevant information on-hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or General Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit, or other such sources of information. In evaluating past performance, the following points will be deducted from your score under this rating sub-factor:

- 10 points will be deducted if you received a "fair performance" assessment;
- 5 points will be deducted if you received a "good performance" assessment; and
- 0 points will be deducted if you received an "excellent performance" assessment.

In addition. If you have received an FHOI or a PEI award under the FY 1999, 2000, or 2001 FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA, you must:

(i) Discuss your compliance with the mandatory referral requirement of all cases arising from FHIP-funded activities requirement, as described in the FY 1999, 2000, and 2001 FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFAs. Five (5) points will be deducted for this subfactor if you do not show in your application compliance with the requirement. The compliance discussion should provide an explanation if discrepancies exist. For example, your application notes receipt of 100 applications. It also notes that only 25 complaints were referred. There should be an explanation for the difference of 75 complaints.

(ii) Discuss your compliance with the requirement to reimburse the Federal government for compensation received from FHIP-funded enforcement activities. If you have not reimbursed the Federal government for such compensation, explain why you have not. Also, state whether you reported to HUD any likely compensation that may result in such reimbursement. Two (2) points will be deducted for this subfactor if you have not complied with the requirement.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Distress/Extent of the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding the proposed activities to address a documented fair housing problem(s) in the target area(s). You will be evaluated on the information that you submit that describes the fair housing need in the geographic area you propose to serve, its urgency and how your project is responsive to that need. You must also describe whether you and/or your project are not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

(15 Points for PEI/EOI and 20 Points for FHOI)

a. Documentation of Need. To justify the need for your project, PEI and EOI applicants must describe the following:

- (1) The fair housing need, including:
 - (i) Geographic area to be served;
 - (ii) Populations that will be served—your project must serve all persons protected by the Act; and
 - (iii) The presence of housing discrimination, segregation and/or other indices of discrimination in the project area based upon race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, or disability.
- (2) The urgency of the identified need. For example:

(i) The potential consequences to persons if your application is not selected for funding;

(ii) The extent to which the organizations provides the services identified in your application;

(3) Other sources that support the need and urgency for this project. For example, make reference to reports, statistics, or other data sources that you used that are sound and reliable, including but not limited to, HUD or other Federal, state or local government reports analyses, relevant economic and/or demographic data, including those that show segregation, foundation reports and studies, news articles, and other information that relate to the identified need. Chapter V of the Fair Housing Planning Guide, Vol. 1 has other suggestions for supporting documentation. You may access the Guide from the HUD web at www.hud.gov.

To receive maximum points under this subfactor, applicants must submit data and studies that support (1), (2), and (3) above. Those that address each category and submit supporting data will receive higher points than those that do not.

For FHOI: To justify the need for a sponsored organization under FHOI, the sponsoring organization must describe the following:

(i) Populations that will be served—HUD has targeted for funding under this Initiative, projects that will provide fair housing enforcement services to underserved areas, rural areas, the Colonias, and areas serving individuals who are immigrants (especially racial and ethnic minorities who are not English-speaking or have limited English proficiency).

(ii) The presence of housing discrimination, segregation and/or other indices of discrimination in the project area based upon race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, or disability and submit data and studies that support your claim; and

(iii) Why the project area is underserved and why the proposed sponsored organization is needed. Your proposal must serve all persons protected by the Act.

For example, make reference to reports, statistics, or other data sources that you used that are sound and reliable, including but not limited to, HUD or other Federal, state or local government reports analyses, relevant economic and/or demographic data, including those that show segregation, foundation reports and studies, news articles, and other information that relate to the identified need.

For all applicants: If the fair housing needs you have identified are not covered under the Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or if your locality does not have a CP or AI, you should so indicate, and use other sound data sources to identify the level of need and the urgency in meeting the need. If your application addresses needs that are identified in the AI, you will receive more points than applicants located in an area with an AI that do not relate their program to the identified needs in the AI. For you to receive maximum points for this factor, there must be a direct relationship between your proposed activities, community needs, and the purpose of the program funding.

To the extent possible, the data you use should be specific to the area where the proposed activity will be carried out. You should document needs as they apply to the area where activities will be targeted, rather than the entire locality or state. If the data presented does not specifically represent your target area, you should discuss why the target areas were proposed.

(4) The link between the need and your proposed activities:

(i) How the proposed activities augment or improve upon on-going efforts by public and private agencies, organizations and institutions in the target area, and/or

(ii) Why, in light of other on-going efforts, the additional funding you are requesting is necessary.

In addition, with respect to Documentation of Need, the following apply to specific FHIP initiatives or components:

EOI—Disability Component. Your project must focus on individuals who are disabled and must serve all persons protected by the Act.

EOI—Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component. Your project must focus on serving Hispanics and must serve all persons protected by the Act. Therefore, provide specific demographics on Hispanic neighborhoods to be served and the relationship of the area served to the objectives of the project. The need in these neighborhoods must be clearly stated and supported with documentation such as beneficiary information. Grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

EOI—Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component. Your project must document underrepresentation of homeownership by protected classes or a critical level of need for fair housing and homeownership activities in the area where activities will be carried out.

(5 Points PEI and EOI)

b. Underserved Areas. For EOI and PEI: Up to five points will be awarded when the applicant's location and the project area are not served by a State or local FHAP agency. In instances where the applicant is located in an area not served by a FHAP agency but the project activities are conducted in various geographic areas, some of which are not served by a State or local FHAP agency, points will be awarded as follows:

5 points will be awarded if more than 80% of the activities are conducted in areas not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

4 points will be awarded if more than 60% but less than 80% of the activities are conducted in areas not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

3 points will be awarded if more than 40% but less than 60% of the activities are conducted in areas not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

2 points will be awarded if more than 20% but less than 40% of the activities are conducted in areas not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

1 point will be awarded if less than 20% of the activities are conducted in areas not served by a State or local FHAP agency.

You must indicate whether (a) you are located in an area that is served by a State or local FHAP agency (see Appendix D of this FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA for a list of FHAP agencies); (b) the activities you propose will be conducted in a project area served by a State or local FHAP agency; and (c) explain why the project area is underserved and/or why the proposed organization or activity is needed.

In addition: This subfactor is not applicable to FHOI.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

You must describe your project in detail, demonstrate how your project activities will support HUD goals, propose suggested performance measures/outcomes in support of these goals, and identify current baseline conditions and target levels of the performance measures that you plan to achieve. Also attach a Statement of Work (SOW) and budget. Your proposed activities must support HUD's policy priorities as referenced in the General Section.

(7 Points)

a. Support of HUD Goals. Describe how your proposed project will further and support HUD's policy priorities. For FY 2003 FHIP applications, address the following:

1. All EOI-General, EOI-Disability, EOI-Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness, and EOI-Fair Housing and Minority Homeownership Component:

Applicants who relate HUD's policy priorities to:

- (i) Their project's purpose,
- (ii) Persons to be served,
- (iii) Geographic area to be served,
- (iv) Proposed activities and who will conduct these activities, e.g., you or a subcontractor(s) or consultant(s), and
- (v) Applicants who provide a methodology for carrying out these activities that includes items (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) above will be assessed as follows:

(a) Four points under this subfactor if you are a grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, or propose to partner or sub-contract with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations,

(b) One point under this subfactor if your application specifically addresses housing discrimination against new immigrants,

(c) One point under this subfactor if your application specifically addresses housing discrimination in Colonias, and

(d) One point under this subfactor if your application specifically addressing housing discrimination to persons who are homeless because of housing discrimination in violation of the Fair Housing Act.

PEI and FHOI

Applicants should discuss their project purpose and proposed activities, persons to be served, geographic areas and methodology and their relation to HUD's policy priorities (see General Section). Include specific information on how you will address the need(s) identified under Rating Factor 2. The quality of the response you provide to one or more of the policy priorities will determine the score you receive. You may receive one point for each policy priority you address up to a total of seven points.

In addition. If you apply under the:

EOI. Describe how activities or final products can be used by other organizations and agencies. Also, describe the elements of the complaint referral process you will develop as a task under this grant. Explain how this referral process will result in an increased number of referrals to HUD. For the Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness component, grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

FHOI. Over the course of the grant, the sponsored organization must conduct fair housing-related enforcement activities and leverage non-FHIP resources. These are the performance measures that, if not met, may result in termination of the grant. Clearly describe how you will ensure that these enforcement and leveraging requirements are met.

PEI/FHOI. Describe a procedure to ensure that referrals of all complaints are made as required by this NOFA. Your description should include safeguards to ensure that referred complaints are fully jurisdictional under the Act and supported by credible and legitimate evidence that the Act has been violated.

You may conduct limited outreach activities (PEI and FHOI), as described in Section IV(C)(3). This must be reflected clearly in your SOW and Budget.

(18 Points)

b. Proposed Statement of Work (SOW) and Information Requirements. The SOW and budget are attachments that will not count toward the 10-page limit on the narrative response to this factor. However, points will be assigned based on the relevance of proposed activities to stated needs, attention to implementation steps, proposed activities consistent with organizational expertise and capacity and accuracy of the SOW and budget.

(1) Statement of Work—Submit a proposed SOW that comprehensively outlines in chronological order the administrative and program activities and tasks to be performed during the grant period. Your outline should identify all activities and tasks to be performed and by whom (e.g., you, a subcontractor, or partner), and the products that will be provided to HUD and when. You should also include a schedule of your activities and products (with interim implementation steps), staff allocation over the term of the project; staff acquisition and training; and activities of partners and/or subcontractors (See Appendix C of this FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA for an optional SOW).

(2) Information Requirements. For PEI and FHOI, your application must include a description of the enforcement proposals to be referred to HUD. Your description must explain the information (see 24 CFR 121.2) you intend to collect and analyze, the type of complaints you anticipate referring to HUD for enforcement purposes, and describe the procedure you will implement for referring such complaints. If you propose a testing program, you must explain how you plan to structure the tests, train investigators, conduct investigations, etc. This description should make clear the safeguards to be used to ensure that complaints referred to HUD are fully jurisdictional under the Act and supported by credible and legitimate evidence that the Act has been violated. Describe the procedures you will put in place to ensure that referrals of all complaints are sent to HUD.

In addition.

For EOI:

For the Hispanic Fair Housing Awareness Component include:

(i) All bilingual key personnel and their capacity to communicate and disseminate information in projected Hispanic neighborhoods.

(ii) A plan that reflects an understanding of the characteristics and needs of the neighborhoods selected and outline a plan of action pertaining to the scope and detail of how the work outlined will be accomplished. Grantees may not deny services to a client who is not Hispanic.

(15 Points)

c. The Budget Form and the Budget Information—HUD will also assess the soundness of your approach by evaluating the quality, thoroughness, and reasonableness of the budget and financial controls of your organization, including information on your proposed program cost categories. As part of your response you must prepare a budget that is: (i) Reasonable in achieving the goals identified in your proposed SOW; (ii) relates tasks in the SOW to the proposed budget costs; (iii) cost-effective; (iv) quantifiable based on the Need identified in Factor 2; and (v) documents and justifies all cost categories in accordance with the cost categories indicated in the HUD-424-CB (see General Section Grant Application Detailed Budget). In addition, if you already have an approved indirect cost rate, please provide the necessary contact information (i.e., name, address, and telephone number of the cognizant agency).

(1) Cost Effectiveness of Program. Discuss and provide supportive facts concerning the extent to which your proposed program is cost effective in achieving the anticipated results of the proposed activities. Also, indicate how the proposed project is quantifiable based on the needs identified in Rating Factor 2.

(2) Financial Management Capacity. Describe and provide documentation to support your organization's financial management system. In addition, provide documentation about your capabilities in handling financial resources and maintenance of adequate accounting and internal control procedures.

In addition:

FHOI provide a statement of transfer of programmatic and management responsibilities from the sponsoring to sponsored organization by the end of grant year 3. Also provide budgetary information on the viability of the sponsoring organization to maintain the sponsored organization for the duration of the grant.

Your Grant Application Detailed Budget HUD-424-CB must show the total cost of the project and indicate other sources of funds that will be used for the project. While the costs are based only on estimates, the budget narrative work plan may include information obtained from various vendors, or you may rely on historical data. Applicants must round all budget items to the nearest dollar.

A written budget narrative must accompany the proposed budget explaining each budget category listed. Failure to provide a written budget narrative will result in 2 points being deducted from your application. It must explain each cost category you list. Generally, estimated costs for high-cost items or subcontractors/consultants should be supported by bids from at least three (3) sources. Where there are travel costs for subcontractors/consultants, you must show that the combined travel costs (per diem rates) are consistent with Federal Travel Regulations (41 CFR 301.11) and travel costs for the applicant's subcontractors and/or consultants do not exceed the rates and fees charged by local subcontractors and consultants. The narrative (which counts toward the 10 page limit) and supporting documentation (which does not count toward the 10 page limit) must address the Grant Application Detailed Budget as referenced in the General Section.

Enforcement Education & Outreach

Also, there is a 5% limit on the amount of education-related activities that can be funded in an enforcement grant. If you exceed this limit, points will be deducted from this sub-factor.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure additional resources to support your project. Points will be awarded on the basis of the percentage of non-FHIP resources you have identified and how firm the commitment is for those resources.

Firm Commitment of Leveraging. HUD requires you to secure resources from sources other than what is requested under this FHIP Program Section of the SuperNOFA. Community resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as workspace or services or equipment, allocated to the purpose(s) of your proposal. Contributions from affiliates or employees of the applicant do not qualify as in-kind contributions. Resources may be provided by governmental entities (including other HUD programs if such costs are allowed by statute), public or private non-profit organizations, faith-based organizations, for-profit or civic private organizations, or other entities willing to work with you. In order to secure points you must establish leveraging of resources by providing letters of firm commitment from the organizations and/or individuals who will support your project. Each letter of firm commitment must: (1) Identify the organization and/or individual committing resources to the project, (2) identify the sources and amounts of the leveraged resources (the total FHIP and non-FHIP amounts must match those in your proposed budget submitted under Factor 3), and (3) describe how these resources will be used under your SOW. The letter must be signed by the individual or organization official legally able to make commitments for the organization. If the resources are in-kind or donated goods, the commitment letter must indicate the fair market value of those resources and describe how this fair market value was determined. (Do not include indirect costs within your in-kind resources). In-kind and matching contributions and Program Income must be in accordance with 24 CFR 84.23 and 84.24. If the applicant has no funding source other than the FHIP, it cannot propose in-kind or donated resources. No points will be awarded for general letters of support endorsing the project from organizations, including elected officials on the local, State, or national levels, and/or individuals in your community. For PEI and EOI, if your project will not be supported by non-FHIP resources, then you will not receive any points under this factor. Points will be assigned for PEI and EOI based on the following scale:

1 point will be awarded if your project will be supported by non-FHIP resources but less than 5% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

2 points will be awarded if at least 5% but less than 10% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

3 points will be awarded if at least 10% but less than 20% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

4 points will be awarded if at least 20% but less than 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

5 points will be awarded if at least 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

For FHOI, 2 points will be awarded if at least 5%, but less than 10% of the project's total cost are from non-FHIP resources.

3 points will be awarded if at least 10% but less than 20% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

4 points will be awarded if at least 20% but less than 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

5 points will be awarded if at least 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

In evaluating this factor, HUD will assess the extent to which you demonstrate how you will measure your success or results to be achieved and that represent the work of your organization as set out in your budget. Applicants must describe their specific methods and measures to assess progress, evaluate program effectiveness, and identify program changes necessary to improve performance, to ensure commitments made will be kept and results to be achieved can be accounted for and independently assessed, to ensure performance measures are met. Applicants who have identified inputs and outcome measurement and include means for assessing these measures, tracking and monitoring performance goals and achievements against these commitments made in the application, will receive higher points than those that do not. To meet this requirement, you should:

(i) First, identify the outcome. You should refer to the Logic Model provided in the forms appended to the General Section.

(ii) Second, identify the indicator. An indicator should be explained using numerical measures that can determine the extent to which the outcome was or is expected to be achieved and/or utilized to assess your performance. You should also track or monitor how your projected outcomes will be successfully achieved. Specify what form of measurement tool(s) will be utilized to quantify the overall results of your project's performance.

In formulating how you attain your end results, estimate the types and amounts of clients you expect to be served with the amount allocated as it relates to your proposed budget. Estimate approximately how many of those served will benefit from your project's activities and tasks and estimate the timeframe for this to be accomplished.

This can be done using real numbers and reasonable estimates. If you are proposing a new program, and numbers have never been assessed, indicate that actual numbers will be reported as you submit your required quarterly reports, should you receive funding.

Accomplishments can be achieved using specific measurement tools to assess the impact of your solutions. Examples include: (1) Intake Assessment Instrument; (2) Pre/Post Tests; (3) Customer/Client Satisfaction Survey; (4) Follow-up Survey; (5) Observational Survey; (6) Functioning scale; or (7) Self-sufficiency scale. You should describe what kind of fair housing activities you propose to accomplish and how successful you project them to be given the need, as identified in Factor 2, for these activities. Finally, you should consider this need, what you plan to accomplish, your proposed methodology and work plan to assess the benefits that will be derived from your project.

You should demonstrate the extent to which your application proposes solutions that result in creating linkages and using specific measurement tools to assess the impact of your project and a process to establish a clear relationship between all parties impacted. For the EOI-Disability Component, you should demonstrate how the activities would assist the Department in implementing the Olmstead Supreme Court decision. As your project ends, you must report meaningful data derived from client feedback on how they benefited from your project's activities.

E. Factors for Award Used To Evaluate and Rate Applications for the National Education and Outreach Initiative Program. The factors for rating and ranking applicants and the maximum points for each factor are provided below. The maximum number of points awarded any application is 100. Bonus points are not available for National Program education and outreach applications.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (25 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the applicant has the organizational resources necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner, and the applicant's ability to develop and implement large information campaign projects as appropriate, on a national scale.

(5) Points Current FHIP Grantees

(10) Points for New Applicants

a. General Description of Applicant Organization and Relevant Experience.

In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant demonstrates:

(1) The qualifications of the applicant organization; the type of organization (e.g., public, private, non-profit, for profit); and the organization's general areas of activity or line of business.

(2) If the applicant has managed large, complex, interdisciplinary projects, the applicant must include information on them in its response.

(3) Awards and major accomplishments of the applicant organization must be described. HUD will also consider any documented evidence, such as performance reviews, newspaper articles, or monitoring findings that may reflect positively or negatively upon the ability of the applicant and its proposed staff to perform the work.

(4) The applicant's capability in handling financial resources with adequate financial control procedures and accounting procedures. In addition, HUD will consider findings identified in applicants' most recent audits; accuracy of mathematical calculations, and other available information on financial management capability.

(5) The extent to which you have the organizational resources necessary to implement your proposed activities on time, and within budget and your past experience in working with State or local officials, housing industry representatives and organizations, and disability rights organizations and others in consensus building, achieving changes to existing laws and regulations which cover housing and accessibility codes and related items, operating in environments that are not receptive to complying with accessibility requirements, and interacting with officials, representatives, or advocates that have divergent or opposing viewpoints. Include descriptions of your organization and, if applicable, your affiliate chapters, or that of your partner's affiliates or other entities that will be used to ensure the National coverage required by this project.

(6) Your experience and knowledge of the Fair Housing Act's accessibility requirements, the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards and skill in disseminating information and training to State and local government agencies, housing agencies and/or the public on these requirements and responsibilities.

(10) Points for Current FHIP Grantees

(15) Points for New Applicants

b. Specific Description of Staff for Proposed Activities. The applicant must demonstrate that it has or will have sufficient personnel or will be able to quickly access qualified experts or professionals to deliver the proposed activities timely and effectively, including the readiness and ability of the applicant to immediately begin the proposed work program. Also the applicant must demonstrate relevant knowledge and experience of the overall proposed project director and staff, including the day-to-day program manager, consultants and contractors in planning and managing programs for which funding is being requested. To demonstrate that the applicant has sufficient qualified personnel, the applicant must submit the proposed number of staff hours for the sub-contractor, employees and experts to be allocated in the SOW and availability of proposed staff to operate the project, the titles and relevant professional background and experience of each employee and expert proposed to be assigned to the project, and the roles to be performed by each employee and expert. Highly competitive applications must demonstrate that proposed staff has at least 3 years of recent and relevant experience in performing eligible program activities or projects similar in scope or nature and directly relevant to the work activities proposed. Finally, applicants should describe their or their sub-contractor's expertise in languages other than English and in reaching the informational needs of individuals with limited English proficiency.

(10) Points for Current FHIP Grantees

(0) Points for New Applicants

c. Consideration of Past Performance. Your past experience in terms of your ability to attain measurable progress in the implementation of your most recent and similar activities where your performance has been assessed. HUD will take into account your past performance in managing funds, including the ability to account for funds appropriately; timely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, state or local programs; meeting performance targets for completion of activities and number of persons to be served or targeted for assistance. HUD will use information related to these measures based on information on hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit, or other such sources of information. In evaluating past performance, the following will apply to Fiscal Years 1999, 2000, and 2001 FHIP grantees:

10 points will be deducted if you obtained any "fair performance" assessment;

5 points will be deducted if you obtained any "good performance" assessment; and 0 points will be deducted if you obtained any "excellent performance" assessment.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Approach to the Problem (20 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which the applicant documents and defines the national need that its proposed activities and methods are intended to address, and how its proposal offers the most effective approach for dealing with that national need. The quality of the response you provide to one or more of the criteria listed below will determine the score you receive. You may receive up to five points for each criterion you address up to a total of twenty points. Please respond to the following criteria:

a. Identify areas that show where significant amounts of new multifamily housing construction will take place and identify the need to assist State and local governments that need to add or modify language to make local building codes so that they are consistent with the accessibility requirements of the Fair Housing Act and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, Regulations and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards. In order to document the need you must use reports, statistics, and other data sources that are sound and reliable, including but not limited to, HUD or other Federal, State or local government reports and analyses, relevant economic and/or demographic data, foundation reports and studies from educational institutions/foundations, news articles, and other information that relate to the identified need.

b. Identify State and local jurisdictions with codes that officials: (i) Whose codes are consistent with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act and those that need review, (ii) whose codes are not consistent with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act and will be targeted for assistance/services offered by this project who are in need of education and/or assistance on language to be included in building codes to ensure that such codes meet the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, Fair Housing Regulations, and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards, such that codes can be adopted, and (iii) who have no codes and are in need of the assistance/services offered by this project so that they may adopt codes that education and/or assistance on language to be included in building codes to ensure that such codes meet the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, Fair Housing Regulations, and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 technical standards such that codes can be adopted.

c. Identify how you will use your partnering organization(s) and affiliates to address the needs and demands identified and how they will be deployed in support of your work activities;

d. Identify specific format, methodology, languages, and materials that are needed to conduct education and outreach to assist State and local jurisdictions in adopting building codes that include the accessibility standards of the Fair Housing Act, Fair Housing Regulations, the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines, and the ANSI A117.1 in their building codes. If the applicant has experienced staff or if the applicant proposes to use a contractor sub-grantee, the extent to which the applicant provides a rationale for how it will utilize its staff or a contractor or subgrantee to incorporate its proposed activities, methods, and media techniques will most effectively deal with the national need you describe above. To the extent possible, applicants should demonstrate effectiveness in terms of scope and cost.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (35 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of the applicant's proposed work plan. The SOW must address the strategy, quality and time frames needed to carry out the project and all activities as proposed.

(25 Points)

a. Statement of Work.

Submit a proposed SOW that comprehensively outlines in chronological order the administrative and program activities and tasks to be performed during the grant period. Your outline should also include a schedule of proposed activities and products (with interim implementation steps), staff allocation over the term of the project, staff acquisitions and training, and activities of partners and subcontractors.

For this Component—(1) Outline the extent to which your work program provides for national coverage, including States and local governments to be assisted through workshops, one-on-one technical assistance and distance learning opportunities, and your strategy for moving them from education to implementation of the accessibility standards in their building codes.

(2) Describe the extent to which you will provide outreach to states and local governments and technical staff to make them aware of the availability of your assistance and use a variety of techniques and media, including your proposed method of distribution, formats and languages to be used in providing information to diverse audiences.

(3) Clearly describe the specific activities and tasks to be performed, the sequence in which the tasks are to be performed, noting areas of work which must be performed simultaneously, estimated completion dates, and the work and program deliverables to be completed within the grant period, including specific numbers of quantifiable end products and program improvements the applicant aims to deliver by the end of the award agreement period as a result of the work performed; and

(4) Describe the immediate benefits of the project and how the benefits will be measured. Applicants must describe the methods they will use to determine the effectiveness of the impact of their fair housing educational curricula nationally.

(10 Points)

b. Budget Form and Budget Information. A written budget narrative must accompany the proposed budget for any listed item. Failure to submit the narrative will result in the 5 points being deducted under this sub-factor. The narrative (counted toward the 10 page limit) and supporting documentation (not counted toward the 10 page limit) must address the following for maximum points:

(1) Cost estimates of salary levels, staff assignments, number of staff hours, and all other budget items are reasonable, allowable, and appropriate for the proposed activities;

(2) How cost effective the proposed program is in achieving its anticipated results, as well as in achieving significant impact; and

(3) Have you explained and attached back-up documentation for each cost category. Generally, estimated costs for high-cost items or subcontractors/consultants should be supported by bids from at least three (3) sources. Where there are travel costs for subcontractors/consultants, you must show that the local combined travel costs (per diem rates must be consistent with Federal Travel Regulations but not in excess) and rates and fees do not exceed the rates and fees charged by local subcontractors and consultants. A breakdown of each cost category is listed in the General Section.

In addition:

(4) How proposed activities will yield long-term results and innovative strategies that can be readily disseminated to other organizations and State and local governments, and

(5) How the proposed project will make available activities, training and meeting sites, and information services and materials in places and formats that are accessible to all persons including persons with disabilities.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

This factor addresses the ability of the applicant to secure other resources, which can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve program purposes. In evaluating this factor HUD will consider:

The amount of non-FHIP resources you have identified and how firm the commitment is for those resources. HUD encourages you to secure resources from sources other than what is requested from this program. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions, such as workspace, donated media announcements, or equipment allocated to the purposes of your proposal. Contributions from affiliates or employees of the applicant do not qualify as in-kind contributions. Resources may be provided by governmental entities (including other HUD programs where allowed by statute) public or private non-profit organizations, for profit private organizations, or other entities willing to work with you in accordance with the proposed FHIP activities. If your project will not be supported by non-FHIP resources, you cannot claim in kind and donation of resources and you will not receive any points under this factor. Points will be assigned based on the following scale:

1 point will be awarded if your project will be supported by non-FHIP resources but less than 5% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

2 points will be awarded if at least 5% and less than 10% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

3 points will be awarded if at least 10% and less than 20% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

4 points will be awarded if at least 20% and less than 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources.

5 points will be awarded if more than 30% of the project's total costs are from non-FHIP resources. You must establish leveraging of resources by providing letters of firm commitment from the organizations and/or individuals committing resources to the project.

Each letter of firm commitment must: (i) Identify the organizations and/or individuals committing resources to the project; (ii) identify the sources and amounts of the leveraged resources (the total FHIP and non-FHIP amounts must match those in your proposed budget submitted under Factor 3), and (iii) describe how these resources will be used as part of your SOW. The letter must be signed by the individual or organization official legally able to make commitments for the organization. If the resources are in-kind or donated goods, the commitment letter must indicate the fair market value of these resources and describe how the fair market value was determined. No points will be awarded for general letters of support endorsing the project from organizations and/or individuals (including elected officials) in your project area(s).

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluations (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which you discuss the accomplishments or results to be achieved and that represent the work of your organization as manifested in your budget. Applicants must describe their specific methods and measures to assess progress, evaluate program effectiveness, and identify program changes necessary to improve performance to ensure that commitments made and results to be achieved can be accounted for and independently assessed to ensure performance measurements are met. Applicants who have identified inputs and outcome measurements and include means for assessing these measures, tracking and monitoring performance goals and achievements against commitments made in the application will receive higher points than those that do not. You must collect data showing the outcomes of your grant. These outcomes may vary from grantee to grantee, but should include indicators, where applicable, such as number of persons trained, number of persons counseled, number of complaints filed, number of housing units obtained or made accessible, and relief obtained. You may include other outcomes if they apply to your grant. Outcome data must be collected and a data collection tool must be identified for your program and may include: functioning scale, or self-sufficiency scale. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which you demonstrate:

a. You have established a clear, concise relationship between the outcome of your project and its impact nationally.

b. The extent to which your application addresses outreach activities to promote awareness of project activities. At a minimum, your application should discuss procedures you will use to promote awareness of the services provided by your proposal.

You should demonstrate the extent to which your application develops solutions that result in creating linkages and using specific measurement tools to assess the impact of your solutions. Such linkages may include: increasing knowledge of fair housing rights and responsibilities, increasing awareness of the Act; increasing homeownership; empowering the homeless, and identifying barriers to housing choice.

c. The extent to which you have developed interrelationships to help build nationwide efforts that coordinates the resources of multiple applicants and programs. HUD encourages multiple entities to join together and pool all available resources in a common, coordinated effort to obtain national geographic coverage. Describe in your proposal how your project activities will be coordinated with other organizations and linked with: (i) Other on-going HUD-funded program activities; (ii) Other on-going national, Federal, State, local or privately funded activities. Also provide a measurement tool to assess coordinated progress, evaluate linked program effectiveness, and identify coordinated program changes necessary to improve performance to ensure that commitments made and results to be achieved can be accounted for and independently assessed to ensure performance measurements are met.

d. The extent to which your application addresses outreach activities to promote awareness of project activities and to achieve stated goals. This includes: (i) a discussion of how your methods or approaches will encourage State and local jurisdictions to adopt building codes that incorporate one of HUD's recognized safe harbors for compliance. Also include an assessment tool to measure the effectiveness of these methods and approaches; (ii) identification of State and local jurisdictions that need updates of their codes to address inconsistencies identified in HUD's final report on the Review of Model Building Codes and how you will provide technical assistance. Also include a methodology and approach of how you will reach these jurisdictions, address these inconsistencies, and measure your performance; and (iii) an explanation of how you will assess your partner's performance. Finally, you should demonstrate the extent to which your application develops solutions that result in collaborative partnerships among builders, State and local government building code entities, and disability advocacy or fair housing groups to encourage the adoption of Model building codes at the State or local level that are consistent with the accessibility requirements of the Act, its regulations, and the Fair Housing Accessibility Guidelines.

(F) Applicant Notification and Award Procedures. (1) Notification. No information about the review and award process will be available to you during the period of HUD evaluation, which begins on the closing date for applications under this NOFA and lasts approximately 90 days thereafter, except to advise you, in writing or by telephone, if HUD determines that your application is ineligible or has technical deficiencies which may be corrected as described in Section VI of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and Section VII of this NOFA. HUD will communicate only with persons specifically identified in the application. HUD will not provide information about the application to third parties such as subcontractors.

(2) Negotiations. If you are selected, HUD will require you to participate in negotiations to determine the specific terms of your cooperative or grant agreement. HUD will follow the negotiation procedures described at Section VI(D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The selection is conditional and does not become final until the negotiations between the applicant and the Department are successfully concluded and the grant or cooperative agreement is signed and executed. HUD will negotiate only with the person identified in the application as the Director of the organization or if specifically identified in the application, the Project Director. HUD will not negotiate with any third party (i.e., a subcontractor, etc.).

(3) Funding Instrument. HUD expects to award a cost reimbursable or fixed-price cooperative or grant agreement to each applicant selected for award. Upon completion of negotiations, HUD reserves the right to use the funding instrument it determines is most appropriate.

(4) Adjustments to Funding. As provided in Section VI(F) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA, HUD may approve an application for an amount lower than the amount requested, fund only portions of your application, withhold funds after approval, reallocate funds among activities and/or require that special conditions be added to your grant agreement, in accordance with 24 CFR 84.14, the requirements of this SuperNOFA, or where:

(a) HUD determines the amount requested for one or more eligible activities is unreasonable or unnecessary;

(b) An ineligible activity is proposed in an otherwise eligible project;

(c) Insufficient amounts remain to fund the full amount requested in the application, and HUD determines that partial funding is a viable option;

(d) The past record of key personnel warrants special conditions; or,

(e) Training funds are not reserved for FHIP training.

(5) Performance Sanctions. A grantee or subcontractor failing to comply with the requirements set forth in its grant agreement will be liable for such sanctions as may be authorized by law, including repayment of improperly used funds, termination of further participation in the FHIP, and denial of further participation in programs of HUD or any Federal agency.

(6) Applicant Debriefing. After awards are announced, applicants may receive a debriefing on their application as described in Section XI(A)(4) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Materials provided during the debriefing will be the applicant's final scores for each rating factor, final evaluator comments for each rating factor, and the final assessment indicating the basis upon which assistance was provided or denied. Applicants requesting a debriefing must send a written request to Annette Corley, Grant Officer, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, FHIP/FHAP Support Division, 451 7th Street SW., Room 5224, Washington, DC 20410. HUD will not release the names of applicants or their scores to third parties. Selections do not become final until final negotiations with HUD are successfully concluded.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

In addition to the forms, certifications and assurances required of applicants to all HUD programs, which can be found in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, you must submit with each FHIP application, the forms, certifications and assurances described below and found at Appendix B.

In general.

When applying under any Initiative or Component you should submit the following:

(A) Transmittal Letter. Your transmittal letter must identify: (1) The dollar amount requested, and (2) the specific FHIP Initiative, or in the case of EOI, whether for the Regional/Local Community Based Program or the National Program and the specific Component (General, Disability, Hispanic Servicing, or Model Codes), for which you are applying.

(B) Narrative Statement. Respond completely to the instructions under each of the five Factors for Award and include the related items, such as resumes, SOW, and budget. Failure to provide the required information in the appropriate Factor will result in a lower score for that Factor—for example, information in the Project Abstract, although useful for developing a project synopsis, will not be considered when evaluating applications. The narrative responses must not exceed 10 pages per factor (required attachments are not counted); text must be double-spaced and pages numbered consecutively (starting with Factor 1 through the end of Factor 5). Please use 12 point typesize for your narrative responses.

(C) Code of Conduct. Awarded applicants must develop, maintain, and submit a written code of conduct as noted in the General Section.

(D) Corrections to Deficient Applications. After the application due date, HUD may not, consistent with its regulations in 24 CFR part 4, subpart B, consider any unsolicited information you, the applicant, may want to provide. HUD may contact you to clarify an item in your application or to correct technical deficiencies. HUD may not seek clarification of items or responses that improve the substantive quality of your response to any rating factors. In order not to unreasonably exclude applications from being rated and ranked, HUD may contact applicants to ensure proper completion of the application and will do so on a uniform basis for all applicants. Examples of curable (correctable) technical deficiencies include failure to submit the proper certifications or failure to submit an application that contains an original signature by an authorized official or failure to submit the requested number of copies. In each case, HUD will notify you in writing by describing the clarification or technical deficiency. HUD will notify applicants by facsimile or by USPS, return receipt requested. Clarifications or corrections of technical deficiencies in accordance with the information provided by HUD must be submitted within 5 calendar days of the date of receipt of the HUD notification. (If the due date falls on a Federal holiday, your correction must be received by HUD on the next day that is not a Federal holiday.) If the deficiency is not corrected within this time period, HUD will reject the application as incomplete and it will not be considered for funding. (Sections 202 and 811 Programs provide for appeal of rejection of an application on technical deficiency. Please see the Program Section for these programs for additional information and instructions.)

Listed below are requirements by Factor for the Regional/Local Community Based Programs:

Award Factor 1: Capacity of Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience—Narrative/Resumes or Position Descriptions.

In addition:

For PEI and FHOI Applicants:

(1) Testing Experience. You must document your prior testing experience (see Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience).

(2) Letter of Determination from IRS of your 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status.

For all Applicants:

Statement of Eligibility.

Award Factor 2: Need/Distress/Extent of the Problem—Narrative. Reference or submit data and studies that indicate the presence of housing discrimination, segregation and/or other indices of discrimination in the project area based upon race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status or disability, and explain why the project area is underserved and why the proposed organization is needed. Do not attach copies of reports, computer printouts, etc. If you have tables or exhibits include them. Make sure they are referenced in the text. Attachments not mentioned in the text will not be reviewed.

Award Factor 3: Soundness of Approach—Narrative, Statement of Work, HUD Budget Form, Budget Narrative.

Award Factor 4: Leveraging Resources—Narrative. Letter(s) of Firm Commitment.

Award Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation—Narrative. Logic Model.

Listed below are the requirements by Factor for the EOI—National Program Components.

Award Factor 1: Capacity of Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience—Narrative. Resumes or Position Description, Statement of Eligibility.

Award Factor 2: Need/Distress/Extent of the Problem—Narrative. Reference and submit data designed to educate the public about their fair housing rights. Do not attach copies of reports, computer printouts, etc. If you have tables or exhibits include them. Make sure they are referenced in the text. Attachments not mentioned in the text will not be reviewed.

Award Factor 3: Soundness of Approach—Narrative, SOW, HUD Budget Form, Budget Narrative.

Award Factor 4: Leveraging Resources—Narrative. Letter(s) of Firm Commitment.

Award Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation—Narrative. Logic Model.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

Section VIII of the General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(3), (4), (9), (12), and (13) of HUD regulations, activities assisted under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act and are not subject to environmental review under related laws and authorities.

IX. Authority

Section 561 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, as amended, (42 U.S.C. 3616) established the Fair Housing Initiatives Program (FHIP) and the implementing regulations are found at 24 CFR part 125.

Appendix A

Frequently Asked Questions

Q. If data, tables, exhibits, reports, and studies are submitted with the application, will they be counted toward the 10 page limit requirement?

A. The attachments do not count toward the ten-page limit. However, you are encouraged to summarize the points that support your Factor responses. Do not attach data tables, exhibits, and studies and expect the evaluator to read them and discern the points that should be considered. If you summarize information from studies, reports, etc., simply include a bibliography or other reference at the end of Factor.

Q. In previous years, FHIP applicants were not required to submit the Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan. Is the Certification required this year?

A. Yes.

Q. Where can I find a copy of the Application Kit?

A. There is no Application Kit for the FY2003 FHIP SuperNOFA. The NOFA clearly describes the requirements for completing a successful application and all forms and certifications needed to complete the application are included in the General and FHIP Sections of the SuperNOFA.

Q. What is the maximum number of narrative pages that can be submitted for each Rating Factor?

A. The maximum number is 10 pages per Rating Factor. This does not include any attachments that may be required under each factor (for example, the proposed statement of work and budget required under Factor 3, Resumes as required by Factor 1, or any reports or documents you attach to support your Factor information). The narrative pages must be double-spaced and you are required to use 12 type size (font). However, all pages in the application must be consecutively numbered starting with number one (1) through the end of your application. For example, Factor 1 has 10 pages of narrative and 10 pages of attachments. Each attachment page must be numbered. When you get to Factor 2, the first page of the Factor will be numbered 21, and so on. If you do not number each page in your entire application, points will be deducted from your application if this criterion is not met.

Q. The FHIP SuperNOFA refers to QFHOs and FHOs. What is the difference between them?

A. These terms are defined in the FHIP regulations. Both organizations must be private, tax-exempt, charitable organizations that have engaged in enforcement-related activities. The amount of enforcement-related experience is an eligibility requirement for PEI, least one year for and FHOI, at least two years. (See 24 CFR 125.103 for QFHO and 24 CFR 125.401(b)(2) for FHO.)

All applicants are required to complete the Statement of Eligibility. For PEI and FHOI, applicants must self-identify as a QFHO or an FHO AND provide information, including dates of enforcement-related activities. The information you provide should enable HUD to determine if your organization meets at least the one or two year enforcement-related experience requirement. Your application will be declared ineligible if you fail to submit the Statement of Eligibility with your application.

Q. May an applicant subcontract out a percentage of its activities to subcontractors, partner, or consultants, if it is selected for a FHIP award?

A. Yes. However, when the expenditures to a particular subcontractor, partner, or consultant exceed 10% of the grant amount, an itemized budget is required.

Q. Is an organization "engaged in testing for fair housing violations" if it hires a qualified organization to carry out its testing program?

A. Yes, so long as the applicant maintains decision making authority, analyzes the test results, and maintains oversight or selection of testing operations.

Q. Does the SuperNOFA identify what makes an application ineligible?

A. Yes. For FHIP, see the eligibility requirements for each Initiative, and the Threshold Criteria in Section V(A). For threshold requirement information under the SuperNOFA, see Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Q. Can an applicant propose to do an Analysis of Impediments (AI)?

A. No. The applicant can identify activities to be carved out of the AI but not to do planning to develop AI.

Q. Are there major differences between this year's SuperNOFA and last year's?

A. Yes, those differences are explained in Section III of the FHIP NOFA and Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Please note the major differences in eligibility requirements. Some requirements that were technical deficiencies in previous years are ineligible under this NOFA.

Q. At what point may a FHOI "sponsored organization" apply under any FHIP Initiative?

A. A sponsored organization is eligible after three (3) years to apply for funds under other initiatives or components.

Q. What are maximum awards?

A. Maximum award is the maximum amount that will be awarded under the Initiative for which you are applying. If you request an amount over this maximum amount, your application will be declared ineligible.

Q. Where do you send completed applications?

A. All completed applications must be received by the FHIP/FHAP Support Division Office in Washington, DC. These applications should be mailed or sent by an express service to the address stated in the SuperNOFA under the Section Addresses and Application Submission Procedures. Please note that applications incorrectly addressed may not be forwarded to this Division at all or it may be forwarded late. If that happens, your application will be deemed ineligible.

Q. What is the best method of knowing that the appropriate person has received my application? Should I follow up with a call?

A. Include with your completed application a complete copy of the Acknowledgment of Application Receipt. Be sure to include your correct mailing address and the person to whom the Acknowledgment should be sent. The Acknowledgment will be returned to the address indicated. HUD will not acknowledge the receipt of applications over the telephone (see General Section for return receipt requirements).

Q. What is the website address?

A. <http://www.hud.gov/grants>

Q. What is the due date?

A. The due date is outlined in this NOFA under Section I, Application Due Date.

Q. If I have a technical question, can I call HUD?

A. Yes, technical questions should be directed to Lauretta A. Dixon, Myron P. Newry, or Denise L. Brooks of the FHIP/FHAP Support Division at (202) 708-0800 (this is not a toll-free number). Persons with hearing or speech impairments may call 1-800-290-1617 (this is a toll-free number). Technical assistance does not include assisting you in determining your eligibility to apply for funds. Applicants must make their own determination, based upon the requirements identified in the FHIP component under the section labeled Eligible Applicants. Technical Assistance cannot be provided to help you write any part of your application or develop responses to the application requirements. Rather, technical assistance, outside of the training broadcasts, will only clarify general application and program requirements published in the NOFA.

Q. What is meant by geographic diversity?

A. See comments above in Section V.

Q. As an FHOI applicant, are education and outreach expenses required to come out of my 15% administrative costs?

A. No. The education and outreach expenses can be accounted for in the budget of the organization being established or enhanced.

APPENDIX C – FORMS

Forms that must be filed with all FHIP applications, in addition to the forms listed in the General Section are included below.

FY 2003 FHIP SuperNOFA FORMS

Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

Mel Martinez, Secretary

Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity form HUD-40076-FHIP (03/12/2003 revised)

Fair Housing Initiatives Program
OMB Approval NO. 2529-0033 (exp.08/31/2003)

The information collection requirements contained in this notice of funding availability will be used to rate applications, determine eligibility, and establish grant amounts.

Selection of applications for funding under the Fair Housing Initiatives Program is based on the rating factors for this program listed in the SuperNOFA for Housing and Community Development Programs.

Public reporting burden for the collection of information for the Fair Housing Initiatives Program is estimated to average 100 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information.

This agency may not collect this information, and you are not required to complete this form, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

The information submitted in response to the notice of funding availability for the Housing Counseling Program and the Fair Housing Initiatives Program is subject to the disclosure requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (Pub. L. 101-235 Dec. 15, 1989, 42 U.S.C. 3545)

Warning: HUD will prosecute false claims and statements. Conviction may result in criminal and/or civil penalties. (18 U.S.C. 1001,1010,1012; 31 U.S.C. 3729,3802)

STATEMENT OF ELIGIBILITY PRIVATE ENFORCEMENT INITIATIVE

The Statement of Eligibility form must be completed and signed by the authorizing representative. If the form is not complete, including signatures and answers to all questions, your application will be deemed ineligible.

- 1) Is your organization a private, tax-exempt, nonprofit, charitable organization?

YES NO

If yes, please attach a copy of the "Letter of Determination" from the Internal Revenue Service confirming your status as a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organization.

- 2) Are you a Qualified Fair Housing Enforcement Organization (QFHO) with at least two year's experience in complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations, and meritorious claims? Or a Fair Housing Enforcement Organization (FHO) with at least one year's experience in complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations, and meritorious claims. If you check "no", you are not eligible under this initiative. If you check "yes", you must answer the remaining questions.

YES NO

Please check whether you are a QFHO or a FHO as noted.

QFHO (entity with at least 2 years of enforcement-related experience)

FHO (entity with at least 1 year of enforcement-related experience)

- 3) Is your project broad-based and full service as defined in the NOFA? If you check "no", your organization is not eligible to apply under this initiative. If you check "yes", you must answer the remaining questions.

YES NO

- 4) Briefly describe your experiences in each of the following fair housing enforcement activities. Your organization must have engaged in each of these activities for at least one year in the two years preceding the filing of this application. It is not necessary that the activities were conducted simultaneously nor for consecutive/continuous years, as long as each activity has been conducted for at least one year within the past two years. (Do not limit this description to FHIP funded enforcement activities.)

When responding to the following, include dates, so that HUD can readily determine whether you have met the "at least one year" requirement.

- a) Provide data on the following information: (See attached sample)
1. Number of complaints received and processed;
 2. Complaint Status (e.g., investigation, legal, pending complaints);
 3. Summary of complaint outcomes including judicial; and, administrative findings, total amount of awards, and relief to complainants without monetary compensation.
- b) Describe your testing program, number of tests, types of tests (rental, sales, lending, insurance) and testing results. Include basis (e.g. race, color, religion, sex, disability, familial status, and national origin) and indicate whether testing is complaint based or systemic.
- c) Describe intake and investigative procedures apart from testing. Include agency's investigative experience.
- 5) Has your organization used FHIP funds for the payment of expenses in connection with litigation against the United States?

YES

NO

STATEMENT OF ELIGIBILITY FAIR HOUSING ORGANIZATIONS INITIATIVE

Eligibility forms must be completed and signed by the authorizing representative. If the form is not complete, including signature and answers to all questions, your application will be deemed ineligible.

- 1) Is your organization a private, tax-exempt, nonprofit, charitable organization?

YES NO

If yes, please attach a copy of the Letter of Determination from the Internal Revenue Service confirming your status as a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt Organization?

- 2) Are you a Qualified Fair Housing Enforcement Organization (QFHO) with at least two year's experience in complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations, and meritorious claims? If you check "no", you are not eligible under this initiative. If you check "yes", you must answer the remaining questions.

YES NO

- 3) Briefly describe your experiences in each of the following fair housing enforcement activities. Your organization must have engaged in each of these activities for at least one year in the two years preceding the filing of this application. It is not necessary that the activities were conducted simultaneously nor for consecutive/continuous years, as long as each activity has been conducted for at least one year within the past two years. (Do not limit this description to FHIP funded enforcement activities.)

When responding to the following, include dates, so that HUD can readily determine whether you have met the "at least one year" requirement.

- a) Provide data on the following information: (See attached sample)
1. Number of complaints received and processed;
 2. Complaint Status (e.g., investigation, legal, pending complaints);
 3. Summary of complaint outcomes including judicial; and, administrative findings, total amount of awards, and relief to complainants without monetary compensation.

- b) Describe your testing program, number of tests, types of tests (rental, sales, lending, insurance) and testing results. Include basis (e.g. race, color, religion, sex, disability, familial status, and national origin) and indicate whether testing is complaint based or systemic.
- c) Describe intake and investigative procedures apart from testing. Include agency's investigative experience.
- 4) Has your organization used FHIP funds for the payment of expenses in connection with litigation against the United States?
- YES NO
- 5) Is your project broad-based and full service as defined in the NOFA?
- YES NO

Note: If you received FHOI awards under the 2001 or 2002 FHIP NOFA, your organization is ineligible to apply for funds under this NOFA.

HOUSING COUNSELING PROGRAM

Billing Code 4210-32-C

Funding Availability for the Housing Counseling Program

Program Overview

Program Purpose. This program supports the delivery of a wide variety of housing counseling services to homebuyers, homeowners, low- to moderate-income renters, and the homeless. The primary objectives of the program are to expand homeownership opportunities and improve access to affordable housing. Counselors provide guidance and advice to help families and individuals improve their housing conditions and meet the responsibilities of tenancy and homeownership.

Agencies funded through this program may also provide Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) counseling to elderly homeowners who are looking to convert equity in their homes into income that can be used to pay for home improvements, medical costs, living expenses, or other expenses.

Available Funds. $35.56 million in FY03 Funds.

Application Deadline. June 25, 2003.

Match. No specific ratio is required. However, in order to receive points under Rating Factor 4, applicants are required to demonstrate the commitment of other private and public sources of funding to supplement HUD funding for the applicant's counseling program. HUD does not intend for its housing counseling grants to cover all costs incurred by an applicant.

I. Application Submission, Further Information and Technical Assistance

Application Kits. There is no application kit. Specific application submission requirements are outlined in Section VI.

Application Due Date. Completed applications must be submitted on or before June 25, 2003.

Mailing. See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for mailing instructions and procedures.

Application Submission Procedures. Local Housing Counseling Agencies

(LHCAs) applying under Category 1 and State Housing Finance Agencies (SHFAs) applying under Category 3 must submit an original and two copies of a complete application to the contact person listed for the Homeownership Center (HOC) whose jurisdiction includes the geographic area in which the applicant is proposing to provide services (see Appendix B.) The envelope should be clearly marked "FY 2003 Housing Counseling Grant Application (indicate Category 1 or 3.)"

National and regional housing counseling intermediaries applying under Category 2 must submit an original and two copies of a complete application to "Director, Program Support Division, Room 9266, Office of Single Family Housing, HUD Headquarters, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410." The envelope should be clearly marked, "FY 2003 Housing Counseling Intermediary Application."

Colonias and Predatory Lending Grant Applications. All applicants applying under Categories 4 and 5 must submit an original and two copies of a complete application to the Santa Ana HOC (see Appendix B.) The Santa Ana HOC will be evaluating all applications submitted under Categories 4 and 5. Applications should be sent to the attention of the Program Support Division Director. For Category 4 applicants, the envelope should be clearly marked "FY 2003 Housing Counseling—Colonias Application." For Category 5, the envelope should be marked "FY 2003 Housing Counseling—Predatory Lending Application (indicate your organization type, e.g.: National Intermediary / Regional Intermediary, SHFA, LHCA.)"

Further Information. Local housing counseling agencies (LHCAs) and state housing finance agencies (SHFAs) should call the HOC serving their area (See Appendix B for the contact information for the HOCs). National and regional intermediaries should contact HUD Headquarters, Program Support Division at (202) 708-0317 (this is not a toll-free number). Persons with hearing or speech impairments may access any of these numbers via TTY by calling the toll-free federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an informational broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and the application. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, consult the HUD web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

II. Amount Allocated

Amount Allocated.—Of the $39,740,000 appropriated for housing counseling in FY 2003, $37.561 million is made available for eligible applicants under this SuperNOFA. Specifically, $35.561 million is available through this NOFA, and $2 million is available through a separate NOFA for Section 8 Homeownership Voucher Housing Counseling found elsewhere in this SuperNOFA. Of this $35.561 million, up to $250,000 is available for counseling services that specifically target Colonias, and $2.7 million is available for counseling services addressing predatory lending. An allocation of $1 million of the $39,740,000 appropriated is available for the Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) Program, as provided in section 255(k) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1715z-20). With the balance of FY03 appropriation, and additional carry-over funding, an allocation of up to $4 million has been set aside for housing counseling support such as training and tuition assistance for housing counselors, or other HUD counseling initiatives and activities, or both.

Grant Categories.—HUD will award grants to qualified public or private nonprofit organizations to provide housing counseling services through five grant categories: (1) Local Housing Counseling Agencies (LHCAs); (2) National and Regional Intermediaries; (3) State Housing Finance Agencies (SHFAs); (4) Agencies Serving Colonias; and (5) Predatory Lending.

Grant Categories	Who is Eligible	Total Amount Available
Category 1 – LHCAs	HUD-approved LHCAs	$12.45 million
Category 2 – Regional and National Intermediaries	HUD-approved regional and national intermediaries	$18.161 million
Category 3 – SHFAs	SHFAs	$ 2 million
Category 4 – Colonias	HUD-approved LHCAs, HUD-approved regional and national intermediaries, and SHFAs	$250,000
Category 5 – Predatory Lending	HUD-approved LHCAs, HUD-approved regional and national intermediaries, and SHFAs	$2.7 million

HUD-approved LHCAs, HUD-approved national or regional intermediaries, and SHFAs are eligible for funding under Categories 4 and/or 5. Applicants applying under Categories 4 and/or 5 may also apply under one of Categories 1–3, as described below. A separate application must be submitted for each Category under which you apply. See Section VI, “Application Submission,” below for details on where to submit applications, as submission requirements vary by category and applicant type.

HUD-approved LHCAs—In addition to Categories 4 and 5, HUD-approved LHCAs may apply for and receive: (1) One grant under Category 1; or (2) one sub-grant from an intermediary or SHFA under Category 2 or 3; but not both. HUD-approved LHCAs that apply under Category 1 are prohibited from also applying for or receiving a sub-grant under Category 2 or 3.

LHCAs that are not HUD-approved, but are affiliates or branches of SHFAs or national or regional intermediaries, may receive only one sub-grant from an intermediary under Category 2 or 3, but not both, and/or a sub-grant from an intermediary under Category 4 and/or 5. They are not, however, eligible to apply directly to HUD under Categories 1, 4 or 5.

HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries—In addition to Categories 4 and 5, HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries may apply for a grant under Category 2.

SHFAs—In addition to Categories 4 and 5, SHFAs may only apply for grants under Category 3.

Category 1—Local Housing Counseling Agencies (LHCAs.) $12.45 million is available from HUD to directly fund HUD-approved LHCAs.

Award: No individual LHCA may be awarded more than $150,000. HUD anticipates that the average award will be approximately $36,000.

Funding allocation: Funding is allocated to each HOC jurisdiction by a formula that incorporates first-time homebuyer and default rates.

Allocations for Category 1 by HOC are as follows:

HOC	Funding allocation
Philadelphia HOC	3,679,412
Atlanta HOC	3,837,703
Denver HOC	2,848,906
Santa Ana	2,083,980
Total	$12.45 million

Category 2—National and Regional Intermediaries. $18.161 million is available from HUD to directly fund

HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries.

Awards for HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries may not exceed $2.5 million and $750,000, respectively.

Category 3—State Housing Finance Agencies (SHFA). $2 million is available to fund SHFAs that provide housing counseling services directly or serve as intermediaries to affiliates who offer housing counseling services.

Award: There is no cap on the award amount that a SHFA, or its affiliates, may receive.

Funding allocation: Funding is allocated to each HOC jurisdiction by a formula that incorporates first-time homebuyer and default rates.

Allocations for Category 3 by HOC are as follows:

HOC	Funding allocation
Philadelphia HOC	591,070
Atlanta HOC	616,498
Denver HOC	457,656
Santa Ana	334,776
Total	$2 million

Category 4—Colonias. $250,000 is available for housing counseling services that specifically target Colonias.

Eligible applicants include (1) HUD-approved LHCAs; (2) HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries; and (3) SHFAs.

Award: There is no cap on the award amount.

Category 5—Predatory Lending. $2.7 million is available for housing counseling services addressing predatory lending. Specifically, grants under this category are designed to: (a) assist victims of predatory lending; and (b) assist clients with identifying and avoiding predatory lending practices, such as loans with unfair and inappropriate terms and conditions, and other unscrupulous practices intended to defraud and/or take advantage of homebuyers / borrowers.

Eligible applicants include (1) HUD-approved LHCA's; (2) HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries; and (3) SHFAs.

Award. Awards for HUD-approved national intermediaries may not exceed $450,000. Awards for HUD-approved regional intermediaries and SHFAs may not exceed $140,000. Awards for HUD-approved LHCA's may not exceed $40,000.

Funding Allocation. $1.5 million is available for national intermediaries. $300,000 is available for regional intermediaries and SHFAs. The amount of funding available for LHCA's is $900,000.

III. Program Description/Eligibility

*(A) Eligible Applicants—*Eligible SHFAs are entities that satisfy the definition in 24 CFR 266.5 of a "Housing Finance Agency." SHFAs and eligible sub-grantees/affiliates do not need HUD approval in order to receive these funds.

Eligible LHCA's and intermediaries are private nonprofit and public organizations, including grass-roots faith-based and other community-based organizations, that secure HUD-approval as an LHCA, or as a national or regional intermediary, as of the publication date of this SuperNOFA, and retain such approval through the term of any grant awarded. For information on securing HUD-approval visit HUD's website at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hccprof13.cfm>.

Additionally, to be eligible to receive a grant directly from HUD under this Housing Counseling NOFA, all applicants (except SHFAs) must be (1) duly organized and existing as a nonprofit, (2) in good standing under the laws of the state of its organization, and (3) authorized to do business in the states where it proposes to provide counseling services. For example, applicable state licensing, corporate filing, and registering requirements must be satisfied.

An LHCA, intermediary, SHFA or affiliate may use branch offices to provide counseling funded through this NOFA. A branch office is an organizational and subordinate unit of the LHCA, intermediary, or SHFA, not separately incorporated or organized. LHCA's and affiliates of intermediaries and SHFAs may maintain a main office and branch offices in no more than two states, which must be contiguous.

Intermediaries and SHFAs provide sub-grants to affiliates and/or branches. Eligible sub-grantees are not required to be HUD-approved, although HUD-approved LHCA's may apply to an intermediary or SHFA as a sub-grantee. Intermediaries and SHFAs that award sub-grants to affiliates or branches that are not HUD-approved must assure that said organizations meet or exceed the standards, as specified in paragraph 2-1 of HUD Handbook 7610.1, Rev-4, CHG-1, for HUD-approved LHCA's. These organizations will be monitored by HUD, and intermediaries that do not ensure their affiliates'/branches' compliance with HUD standards could be prohibited from participating in the program.

To be eligible for a sub-grant under categories 2 or 3, affiliates or branches must not have directly applied for or received a grant under Category 1 of this NOFA, or another sub-grant from an Intermediary or SHFA under Category 2 or 3 of this NOFA. Affiliates or branches receiving a sub-grant under Category 2 or 3 are also eligible to receive sub-grants under categories 4 and/or 5, but only with the same intermediary or SHFA through which they receive a sub-grant under Categories 2 or 3. If also HUD-approved as an LHCA, affiliates or branches receiving a sub-grant under Categories 2 or 3 are permitted to apply to HUD directly as an LHCA under Categories 4 and/or 5. Similarly, an LHCA that applies directly to HUD under Category 1 may also receive sub-grants from an intermediary or SHFA under Categories 4 and/or 5, but only with the same intermediary or SHFA.

Additionally, to be eligible for a sub-grant, an affiliate must be (1) duly organized and existing as a nonprofit, (2) in good standing under the laws of the state of its organization, and (3) authorized to do business in the states where it proposes to provide housing counseling services. For example, applicable state licensing, corporate filing, and registering requirements must be satisfied.

(B) Eligible Activities. Agencies selected as grantees or sub-grantees will only be reimbursed for the eligible activities outlined in this Section.

Grantees or sub-grantees directly providing housing counseling services under Categories 1 through 4 may use their HUD housing counseling funds for one or more of the 8 eligible activities listed below.

Grantees or sub-grantees directly providing housing counseling services under Category 5 (Predatory Lending) may use their HUD housing counseling funds for group sessions and/or one-on-one counseling that clearly and directly assists victims of predatory lending or helps to prevent predatory lending.

(1) Pre-Occupancy Counseling. This includes the following types of one-on-one counseling: pre-purchase; pre-rental; search assistance/mobility; fair housing; budgeting for mortgage or rent payments; money management; and housing care and maintenance. This also may include guidance on: alternative sources of mortgage credit; how to apply for housing assistance; how to identify and avoid predatory lending practices; locating housing which provides universal design and visitability; referrals to community or homeless services, and regulatory agencies; and advocating with lenders for non-traditional lending standards.

(2) Homebuyer Education Programs. These programs are housing related education programs in which educational materials are used in training sessions for multiple participants, including HUD's Homebuyer Education and Learning Program (HELP). For a typical homebuyer education program, participants complete eight to twelve course hours. Agencies that provide this service must also offer individual counseling to complement group sessions.

(3) Post-Purchase/Mortgage Default and Rent Delinquency Counseling. This includes counseling on how to: restructure debt, obtain recertification for rent subsidy, establish reinstatement plans, seek loan forbearance, and manage household finances. This counseling can also include helping victims of predatory lending, educating clients on renter's and landlord's rights, explaining the eviction process, providing referrals to other sources, and assisting clients with locating alternative housing or pursuing loss mitigation strategies.

(4) Post-Purchase/Post-Occupancy Counseling. This includes education programs and counseling activities on property maintenance, personal money management, and relations with lenders and landlords.

(5) Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) Counseling. HECM counseling assists clients who are 62 years or older with the opportunity to convert the equity in their homes into income to pay living, medical or other expenses.

(6) Home Improvement and Rehabilitation Counseling. This counseling includes educating the client about: Their loan and grant options; the loan and/or grant application processes; what housing codes and housing enforcement procedures apply for the intended activity; accessibility codes and how to design features to provide accessibility for persons with disabilities; non-discriminatory lending and other funding for persons who modify their dwellings to accommodate disabilities; visitability and universal design; how to specify and bid construction work; how to enter into construction contracts; and how to manage construction contracts, including actions to address the non-performance of contractors.

(7) Displacement and Relocation Counseling. This counseling includes helping clients understand their rights when faced with displacement, explaining the responsibility of the entity causing displacement, assisting clients with understanding eviction proceedings, providing assistance with locating alternate housing, and referring clients to homeless services.

(8) Marketing and Outreach Initiatives. This includes providing general information about housing opportunities, conducting informational campaigns, and raising awareness about critical housing topics, such as predatory lending or fair housing issues. (Note: affirmative fair housing outreach should be directed at those populations least likely to seek counseling services. To do so, it may be necessary to broaden the target areas in order to reach a greater variety of racial and ethnic minorities.)

Note: For each of the eight general activities you propose, you must be prepared to meet the needs of all individuals requesting services, including persons with disabilities, regardless of the complexity of the services involved. Additionally, services must be affirmatively marketed to persons with disabilities, including visual and hearing disabilities, as they would be to any other segment of the population not likely to apply for such services.

(C) Eligible Intermediary/SHFA Activities. Intermediaries and SHFAs can directly provide the housing counseling services described above in Sub-Section A through branches, or distribute and administer grant funds and provide technical assistance and other services to affiliates, who are eligible to undertake any or all of the eligible housing counseling activities outlined above.

Intermediaries and SHFAs have wide discretion to decide how to allocate their HUD Housing counseling and leveraged funding among their branches or affiliates, with the understanding that a written record must be kept documenting and justifying funding decisions. This record must be made available to affiliates and to HUD. Intermediaries and SHFAs must also execute sub-grant agreements with their affiliates that clearly delineate the mutual responsibilities for program management, including appropriate time frames for reporting results to HUD.

IV. Requirements

Agencies selected as grantees or sub-grantees must also comply with the following requirements:

(A) Threshold Requirements. The requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA apply to this program. Applications will be declared ineligible for any of the following reasons:

- If you or any of your affiliates or branches do not meet the Civil Rights Threshold Requirements set forth in Section V(B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.
- If you are presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from covered transactions from any federal department or agency.
- If you are not currently approved by HUD as an LHCA or as a National or Regional Housing Counseling Intermediary, and if you didn't secure approval by the publication date of this SuperNOFA. SHFAs need only satisfy the definition in 24 CFR 266.5 of a "Housing Finance Agency."

(B) Program Requirements. Programmatic requirements are outlined in detail in HUD Handbook 7610.1, REV-4, CHG-1, dated October 27, 1997, which can be viewed on HUD's website at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hccprof7.cfm>.

Additionally, the following also apply:

(1) List of Agencies. Pursuant to section 106(C)(5) of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, HUD maintains a list of all HUD-approved and HUD-funded counseling agencies, including contact information, which interested persons can access. All grantees under Categories 1, 4, and 5 and sub-grantees under Categories 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be placed on this list and must accept subsequent referrals, or when they do not provide the services sought, refer the person to another agency in the area that does provide the services.

(2) Accessibility—All grant recipients and sub-recipients must make counseling offices and services reasonably accessible to persons with a wide range of disabilities and help persons locate suitable housing in locations throughout the applicant's community, target area, or metropolitan area, as defined by the applicant.

(C) Religious Discrimination. Grant recipients and sub-recipients are prohibited from discriminating on behalf of or against any segment of the population in the provision of services or in outreach, including those of other religious affiliations.

Additionally, organizations funded under this program may not engage in inherently religious activities, such as worship, religious instruction, or proselytization, as part of the programs or services funded under this program. If an organization conducts such activities, these activities must be offered separately, in time or location, from the programs or services funded under this part, and participation must be voluntary for the HUD-funded programs or services.

(D) Code of Conduct. Entities that are subject to 24 CFR parts 84 and 85 (most nonprofit organizations and state, local and tribal governments or government agencies or instrumentalities who receive federal awards of financial assistance) are required to develop and maintain a written code of conduct (See §§ 84.42 and 85.36(b)(3)). Consistent with regulations governing housing counseling programs, your code of conduct must prohibit real and apparent conflicts of interest that may arise among employees, officers or agents; prohibit the solicitation and acceptance of gifts or gratuities by your officers, employees and agents for their personal benefit in excess of minimal value; and outline administrative and disciplinary actions available to remedy violations of such standards. Self-recusal shall not eliminate a potential or apparent conflict of interest. If awarded assistance under this SuperNOFA, prior to entering into a grant agreement with HUD you will be required to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct.

(E) Performance Measurement. Grant recipients are required to complete and submit a form HUD-9902, Fiscal Year Activity Report (Appendix A). The information compiled from this report provides HUD with its primary means of measuring your program performance.

(F) Environmental Requirements. In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(9) and (12) of the HUD regulations, activities assisted under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities.

(G) Financial Management Systems. Applicants selected for funding must provide documentation demonstrating that the applicant's financial management systems satisfy the requirements in the applicable regulations at 24 CFR 84.21(b) and 85.20. Consistent with the requirements of the Single Audit Act Amendments of 1996 (31 U.S.C. 7501-07), if the applicant expended $300,000 or more in federal awards in its most recent fiscal year, such documentation must include a certification from, or most recent audit by, the applicant's Independent Public Accountant that the applicant maintains internal controls over federal awards; complies with applicable laws, regulations, and contract or grant provisions; and prepares appropriate financial statements. The applicant will have at least thirty (30) calendar days to respond to this requirement. If an applicant does not respond within the prescribed time or responds with insufficient documentation, then HUD may determine that the applicant has not met this requirement and may withdraw the grant offer.

(H) Indirect Cost Rate. You must also submit documentation establishing your organization's indirect cost rate. Such documentation may consist of a certification from, most recent audit, or indirect cost rate agreement by, the cognizant federal agency or an Independent Public Accountant. If your organization does not have an established indirect cost rate, you will be required to develop and submit an indirect cost proposal to HUD or the cognizant federal agency as applicable, for determination of an indirect cost rate that will govern your award. Applicants that do not have a previously established indirect cost rate with a federal agency shall submit an initial indirect cost rate proposal immediately after the applicant is advised that it will be offered a grant and, in no event, later than three months after the effective date of the grant. OMB Circular A-122 established the requirements to determine allowable direct and indirect costs and the preparation of indirect cost proposals, and can be found at www.whitehouse.omb.gov.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) General. Applications will be evaluated competitively, and ranked against all other applicants that applied in the same funding category. For Category 2, applications by national and regional intermediaries will be scored and ranked in HUD Headquarters. For Category 1, LHCA's, and Category 3, SHFA's, applications will be scored and ranked by the relevant HOC. The Santa Ana HOC will score all applications under Category 4, Colonias, and Category 5, Predatory Lending Grants.

(B) Factors For Award Used to Rate and Rank Applications. Information on the application scoring process appears in section VI(B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. The Factors for Award, and maximum points for each factor, are outlined below.

These factors will be used to evaluate applications under Categories 1-5, and the maximum number of points for each applicant is 102 points for LHCA's and 100 for all other applicants. LHCA's are eligible for 2 bonus points if they can demonstrate that at least 51% of their proposed services: (1) Will be provided to residents of federally designated Empowerment Zones (EZs), Enterprise Communities (ECs), Urban Enhanced Enterprise Communities (EECs), Strategic Planning Communities, or Renewal Communities (RCs); and (2) are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan. Section VI(C)(1) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, entitled "RC/EZ/EC," contains additional information regarding these bonus points.

HUD may rely on information from performance reports, financial status information, monitoring reports, audit reports and other information available to HUD in making score determinations under any Rating Factor.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Staff (35 Points)

HUD uses responses to this Rating Factor to evaluate the readiness and ability of an applicant to immediately begin the proposed work program, as well as the potential for an applicant to cost-effectively and successfully implement the proposed activities indicated under Rating Factor 3.

(A) (6 points) Knowledge and Experience. In rating this Section, HUD will consider the degree to which the applicant, and, if applicable, affiliates, has sufficient personnel with the relevant knowledge and experience to implement the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion.

Specifically, for LHCA's, scoring will be based on the number of years of recent housing counseling experience of counselors. For intermediaries and SHFA's, scoring will be based on: The number of years of recent housing counseling experience of counselors in affiliates and branches; and the number of years, for key intermediary/SHFA personnel, of recent experience running a housing counseling program consisting of a network of multiple counseling agencies. Related experience, such as experience in mortgage lending, will also be considered, but will not be weighted as heavily as direct housing counseling or housing counseling program management experience.

—Submit the names and titles of employees, including subcontractors and consultants, performing the activities proposed in Rating Factor 3. Clerical staff should not be listed. Describe each employee's, subcontractor's, or consultant's relevant professional background and experience. Experience is relevant if it corresponds directly to projects of a similar scale and purpose. Provide the number of years of experience for each position listed, and indicate when each position was held. Individual descriptions should be limited to one page. List recent and relevant training received.

Applicants for Category 5 should specifically highlight the predatory lending-related experience, both one-on-one and group sessions, of staff to demonstrate that your organization has the knowledge and capacity to effectively utilize a predatory lending grant. Also indicate whether or not relevant staff has received loss mitigation training.

(B) Past Grantee Performance. Sections B1 and B2 pertain to the applicant's performance with their FY01 HUD award for the grant period October 1, 2001-September 30, 2002, the most recent complete grant year. If you received no HUD grant for that grant period, the seven points available in Section B1, and the fourteen points available in Section B2, will be allocated to Section B3 (Impact of Leveraged Resources,) for a total of 24 points.

(B1) (7 points) Quality and Complexity of Services. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the level of effort and time required to provide the housing counseling services captured in the form HUD-9902 for the time period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Scoring will be based on the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that, for each type of counseling service delivered, and compared to other applicants, sufficient time and resources were devoted to ensure that clients received quality counseling. Additionally, scorers will evaluate the extent to which, as compared to other applicants, an agency encouraged and provided one-on-one counseling, which HUD considers the most effective form of housing counseling, instead of over-relying on homebuyer education workshops and other forms of group sessions.

Applicants should carefully document the types and complexity of the services provided with FY01 HUD grant funds, and the outcomes for clients as a result of the counseling. Describe the level of effort and time required to provide the housing counseling services and to meet the needs of your clients. Indicate the average counseling time per client for all types of counseling performed. Also describe follow-up activities, if applicable.

Indicate the number of clients that participated only in Homebuyer Education workshops or other types of classes offered as group sessions. Indicate the number of individuals who participated in group-sessions and also received one-on-one counseling.

(B2) (14 points) Impact/Outcomes—HUD Grant. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the applicant's, and if applicable, affiliates' and branches', clients served numbers and performance-related outcomes for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Clients served numbers will be scored based on the quantity of clients the applicant was able to serve compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Clients served numbers will be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc. Outcomes will be scored based on how well the applicant met performance goals.

Indicate the number of clients that you proposed to serve with your HUD grant in Factor 3 of your FY01 Housing Counseling NOFA application (submitted May 3, 2001), and compare it with the number attributed to the HUD grant appearing on the 9902 form submitted with this application, covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, which corresponds to the FY01 application and resulting award. Explain any differences between goals and results, including differences in proposed and actual grant amounts.

If you received no FY01 HUD grant covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, characterize your performance at meeting your goals regarding activities for that time period, under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards. Explain any differences between goals and results.

While HUD values cost-effectiveness, we are not simply trying to identify and fund the lowest-cost service providers. We realize that costs vary depending on location and types of services provided, and we appreciate that strategic investments, such as investments in training, technology, or more qualified staff, may potentially be an efficient use of resources, but impact counseling volume in the short-term.

So HUD can evaluate your program results, provide a context for, or qualify, the number of clients you indicated, on the form HUD-9902 submitted with this application, that were served with your HUD-grant. Describe the types of counseling conducted. Indicate how location, counseling and client type, and expenses may have impacted client volume, and, if applicable, how they will impact client volume in the future.

Identify specific uses of HUD grant funds, such as staff salaries, other staff costs, training, and travel expenses. Itemize the total costs for each use. Provide the average hourly labor rate for counselors. Justify your expenses and explain why they were reasonable, strategic, and appropriate for the counseling activities identified above.

Intermediaries and SHFAs that received an FY01 HUD award for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002 must also indicate what percentage of their award was passed through directly to affiliates or branches, and explain how funds not passed through were spent.

Provide the following performance outcomes for counseling activities covered by your FY01 HUD grant, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002:

- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that purchased a home;
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that are working toward becoming mortgage ready;
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that, after evaluating their unique financial situation and the costs of homeownership, elected not to purchase a home;
- The number of individuals receiving default counseling that successfully avoided foreclosure;
- For applicants applying under Category 5, the number of victims of predatory lending counseled that were able to have their mortgage modified, refinanced, or otherwise assisted to avoid foreclosure.

So HUD can evaluate these outcome/results, indicate the outcome goals that you had set for yourself prior to the grant period, October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002, and characterize your performance at meeting those goals. Compare these outcome goals with your actual performance outcomes. Describe relevant market conditions and other circumstances that you believe affected reported outcome numbers.

[Note: The outcomes listed above correspond to the new form HUD-9902 (appendix A), from which these outcome results will be derived in future NOFAs. In future NOFAs, outcomes will be evaluated based on the degree to which the applicant was able to meet the outcome estimates it provided in Factor 5 of the relevant previous application. In other words, applicants will be held accountable for fulfilling performance-related promises made in NOFA applications.]

If you received no FY01 HUD grant, provide these performance outcomes for counseling activities covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards. Indicate how each compares with the outcome goals that you had set for yourself for the activity period, and characterize your performance at meeting outcome goals.

Applicants applying under Category 5 must also describe your organization's direct experience for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002, in assisting individuals, through outreach, in identifying and avoiding predatory lending, and in recognizing victimization. For example, describe outreach and educational efforts, including group workshops, community meetings, mass media, material distribution (provide copies of relevant letters, brochures, etc.), and indicate the number of one-on-one counseling interactions that have resulted from your outreach efforts. Also describe your outreach strategy, including the various types of individuals targeted (e.g. sub-prime borrowers, elderly homeowners with substantial equity in their homes, attorneys, etc.), explain your rationale for targeting specific areas, types of community forums that are effective, methods through which your ideas and materials are disseminated, and all other relevant information.

Also, describe efforts through one-on-one counseling, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002, to assist individuals in identifying and avoiding predatory lending. Indicate the number of clients that have received front-end individual counseling related to predatory lending from you, or from your affiliates and/or branches.

Similarly, describe efforts through one-on-one counseling, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002, to assist victims of predatory lending and indicate the number of clients that received one-on-one predatory lending counseling from you or your affiliates and branches. Also quantify and describe the results of one-on-one counseling pertaining to predatory lending, including the number of victims for whom loans have been successfully restructured, credit fixed and the success of other loss mitigation strategies.

(B3) (3 points) Impact—Leveraged Resources—In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the applicant's non-HUD funded counseling activities and budget during the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Scoring will be based on the quantity of clients the applicant was able to serve, compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Clients served numbers will be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc.

Provide all the information requested in Sections B1 and B2 above, except outcomes, relevant to the non-HUD funded activities recorded on the form HUD-9902 submitted with this application.

Applicants applying under Category 5 should highlight leveraged awards your organization received specifically for work related to predatory lending during the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002.

(C) (5 points) Performance/Grant Requirements—In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate how well the applicant satisfied the requirements, including reporting, of their FY01 HUD Housing Counseling grant, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. If you did not receive a FY01 HUD grant, base your response on activities and requirements under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards.

- Characterize your performance with regards to the timeliness and completeness with which you satisfied reporting requirements (such as Form HUD 9902.)

- Also indicate whether or not you fully expended grant awards during the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. If not fully expended, provide an explanation as to the reason why the funds were not fully expended and the steps you have taken to ensure that future funding will be expended in a timely manner.

- Significant findings on biennial reviews conducted by HUD staff will be taken into consideration when scoring this Section. Explain how you have taken steps to address and correct any significant findings, if applicable.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for funding your proposed activities described in your response to Rating Factor 3.

(A) (6 points) Needs Data. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the degree to which the applicant is able to provide current or recent economic and demographic data, and any other evidence, that demonstrates housing counseling need relevant to the target area. Applicants that fail to identify current or recent objective data will receive no points for this factor. Sources for all data provided must be clearly cited. To the extent that the community you serve has documented need in its Consolidated Plan, Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), or other planning documents, reference these in your response. Economic and demographic data must include persons with disabilities located in the target area. The U.S. Census Bureau, for example, maintains disability data by state, county and metropolitan statistical area (MSA) at the following website address: <http://www.census.gov/hhes/www/disability.html>.

In scoring this Section, HUD will also evaluate the degree to which the applicant is able to provide current or recent economic and demographic data, and any other evidence, that demonstrates need relative to the activities proposed in Rating Factor 3.

Demonstrate that there is a clear relationship between the community needs outlined above, and your proposed activities. All proposed activities must have corresponding need-related data.

Applicants under category 5 must provide current or recent economic and demographic data, and any other evidence, that demonstrates the prevalence and impact of predatory lending within the target area.

(B) (4 points) Departmental Policy Priorities. The Departmental policy priorities are listed in section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Of those listed, the following 4 apply to the Housing Counseling Program for the purpose of this NOFA:

(1) Providing Increased Homeownership and Rental

Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation.

(3) Colonias.

(4) Participation of Minority Serving Institutions in HUD Programs.

You will receive one point (up to 4 total) for each of the Departmental policy priorities that your work plan substantively addresses.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach/Scope of Housing Counseling Services (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposed housing counseling activities.

(A) (2 points) Work Plan. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider the quality and completeness of the response.

Describe the proposed housing counseling services and if applicable, intermediary activities, including training, you propose to undertake, and identify the geographic area your services will cover.

National and Regional Intermediaries and State Housing Finance Agencies must also provide the following additional information:

(a) Identify which affiliates or branches will receive funding through this grant award. Applicants unable to identify which affiliates will receive sub-grants must explain why this is the case and what process will be used to select grantees. Pursuant to the applicable regulations at 24 CFR 84.82(d)(3)(iii) and 85.30(d)(4), grantees must receive HUD's prior written approval for sub-grants.

(b) Describe the activities of those affiliates, explicitly stating the types of services to be offered.

(c) Describe your legal relationship with your affiliates or branches (i.e., membership organization, field or branch office, subsidiary organization, etc.)

(d) Explain the process that will be used to determine affiliate or branch funding levels, distribute funds, and monitor affiliate performance, including compliance with the civil rights requirements outlined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) (6 points) Employee Allocation/Staff hours. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate whether allocated staff and staff hours are appropriate and sufficient to perform all proposed tasks.

Indicate the names and titles of employees, including subcontractors and consultants, allocated to each proposed activity, as well as the corresponding staff hours for each task. Demonstrate that each employee's experience is related to the tasks they are to perform.

(C) (6 points) Coordination. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant can demonstrate they will coordinate proposed activities with other organizations, and with other services and products offered by the applicant's organization, in a manner that benefits their clients.

Describe partnerships and efforts to coordinate proposed activities with other organizations, including, but not limited to, emergency services providers, lending organizations and nonprofit housing providers. Any written agreements or memoranda of understanding in place should be described and copies provided.

National and regional intermediaries should also highlight internal lending operations and loan products available to clients, as well as internal affordable housing programs that can be a resource for clients.

Describe plans to avoid conflicts of interest, such as methods for disclosing to participants that they are free to choose lenders, lending products, and homes, regardless of the recommendations made by counselors, and provide copies of relevant disclosure forms and materials.

Applicants under Category 5 should also describe relevant partnerships and relationships with other organizations, including state and local government regulatory agencies, Legal Aid groups, and other organizations with whom you collaborate on predatory lending cases and issues, or to whom you refer victims.

(D) (13 points) Quality and Complexity of Services. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the quality of the proposed housing counseling services, and level of effort and time associated with providing the proposed counseling services to the number of clients you estimate you will serve in Section E. Scoring will be based on the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that, for each type of counseling service delivered, and compared to other applicants, sufficient time and resources will be devoted to ensure that clients receive quality counseling. Additionally, scorers will evaluate the extent to which, as compared to other applicants, an agency will encourage and provide one-on-one counseling, which HUD considers the most effective form of housing counseling, instead of over-relying on homebuyer education workshops and other forms of group sessions.

Applicants should carefully document the types and complexity of the services to be provided. Describe the level of effort and time you anticipate is required to provide the proposed counseling services to, and meet the needs of, the number of clients you indicate in Section E that you will serve with the proposed grant. Estimate the average counseling time you, and if applicable your affiliates and branches, anticipate per client for all types of counseling offered. Also describe planned follow-up activities, if applicable.

Indicate how many of the clients that you propose to serve with the HUD grant in Section E will participate only in Homebuyer Education workshops or other group sessions. Also estimate the number of clients that will participate in Homebuyer Education workshops or other group session and also received one-on-one counseling. Explain and justify significant changes in the quantity of group sessions and one-on-one counseling sessions you propose to provide, relative to past performance and grant/budget size described in Rating Factor 1.

(E) (13 points) Efficient Use of Resources—Proposed HUD Grant Activities. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the number of clients that the applicant, and if applicable, affiliates and branches, estimate will be served under the proposed HUD grant, for the grant period October 1, 2003 to September 30, 2004. Scoring will be based on the quantity of clients the applicant proposes to serve, compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Proposed clients served numbers will also be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc.

Indicate the number of clients you project will be served by your organization, or, if applicable, affiliates and branch offices, under the proposed HUD grant. Do not provide ranges or percentages, but a specific number of clients.

For applicants applying under Category 5, project the number of clients you propose to serve (no ranges or percentages) through both outreach and other types of group sessions, and individual counseling.

Explain and justify significant changes, relative to past performance and grant/budget size described in Rating Factor 1, in the number of clients you propose to serve. For example, demonstrate that you have the financial and human resources necessary to adequately serve the additional clients, or describe changes in the types of counseling being delivered, costs, etc.

Provide a context for, or qualify the number of clients you project to serve with the proposed HUD grant. Indicate how location, counseling and client types, and expenses may affect client volume, and whether the impact will be short-term or long-term.

Itemize the costs associated with each specific proposed use of counseling funds, such as staff salaries, other staff costs, and training and travel expenses. Provide the average hourly-labor rate for counselors. Justify your proposed expenses and explain why they are reasonable, strategic, and appropriate for the counseling activities identified above.

Intermediaries and SHFAs must indicate what percentage of their proposed HUD grant will be passed through directly to affiliates or branches, and explain how funds not passed through will be spent.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

HUD housing counseling funding is not intended to fully fund an organization's housing counseling program, or that of its local affiliates and branch offices. All organizations that use housing counseling grant funds are expected to seek other private and public sources of funding for housing counseling to supplement HUD funding. Any agency that does not have other resources available will receive no points for this factor.

Applicants will be evaluated based on their ability to provide evidence that they have obtained additional resources for their housing counseling activities, including: direct financial assistance; in-kind contributions, such as services, equipment, office space, labor; etc. In responding to this Rating Factor, applicants under Categories 4 and 5 should submit evidence of all housing counseling-related leveraged resources, not just the leveraged funds they intend to devote to Colonias or predatory lending, respectively. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities committed to providing you assistance.

In order to obtain points under this factor, the applicant must demonstrate leveraging by providing letters from entities and/or individuals committing resources to the project that include:

- The identity of the entity or individual committing resources to the project.
- Dollar value of the resources to be committed.
- Types of resources to be committed.
- An indication that the resources will be available during the grant period pertaining to this NOFA, October 1, 2003–September 30, 2004.
- An indication that the award, or a specific portion of it, is intended for housing counseling.
- The signature of an official of the entity legally able to make commitments on behalf of the entity.
- No conditions that would nullify the commitment. (It is, however, acceptable for the commitment to be conditional on HUD funding.)

Additionally, resources provided by the applicant itself, recorded as ‘applicant match’ and ‘program income’ on the form HUD–424, will count as leveraged resources.

Points for this factor will be awarded based on the satisfactory provision of evidence of leveraging and financial sustainability, as described above, and the ratio of requested HUD housing counseling funds to total housing counseling budget. Depending on organization type, the following scales will be used to determine scores for this factor:

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (5 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD’s determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and assess their performance to realize performance goals, and reflects HUD’s goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability.

The purpose of this factor is for the applicant to identify program outputs and outcomes that will allow you and HUD to measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Outputs and outcomes must be objectively quantifiable.

Submission Requirements for Factor 5. Applicants must submit an effective, quantifiable, outcome-oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that output and outcome goals have been met. You must submit a program evaluation plan that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes. Specifically, your plan must identify:

—Outputs. Outputs are the direct products of your program’s activities that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. Examples of outputs are the number of individual counseling sessions, and the number of group sessions to be provided. Identify interim and full grant term outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements.

—Work Plan Adjustments. Describe steps in place to make adjustments to your work plan if outputs are not met within established timeframes or if you begin to fall short of established outputs and timeframes. Intermediaries and SHFAs should indicate if and how the performance of affiliates and branch offices affects current and future sub-grant allocations.

—Outcomes. Outcomes are benefits accruing to the families as a result of participation in the program. Outcomes are performance indicators you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider the appropriateness of the proposed outcomes given the proposed HUD award, and past performance, and evaluate proposed outcomes in comparison to similar applicants. For the period October 1, 2003–September 30, 2004, provide the following anticipated outcomes for clients as a result of the proposed grant:

- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that will purchase a home
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that are working toward becoming mortgage ready
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that, after evaluating their unique financial situation and the costs of homeownership, will elect not to purchase a home
- The number of individuals receiving default counseling that will successfully avoid foreclosure

Applicants applying under Category 5 should indicate the number of victims of predatory lending counseled that will have their mortgage modified, refinanced, or otherwise assisted to avoid foreclosure. [These specific outcomes correspond to the new form HUD–9902. The proposed outcomes you provide will be compared with the results captured in the HUD–9902 you submit in the FY05 NOFA to evaluate the impact you were able to achieve with this award, and the degree to which you were able to meet or exceed your proposed outcomes.]

—Information Collection. Describe your strategy for following-up with clients and collecting outcome information.

(C) Funding Methodology for Categories 1–4. The following funding formula will be used to calculate award amounts for Categories 1–4. Only applicants who receive a score of 75 points or above will be considered eligible for funding. All eligible applicants will then be funded in proportion to the score they receive.

The formula will work as follows for each category: Every applicant that scores 75 points or above will receive a base award of $15,000, plus additional funds for every point above the 75 point cutoff. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $15,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category, or in the cases of Categories 1 and 3, available to the HOC. Then, the remaining balance will be divided by the total number of points each applicant scores that are above the 75-point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point base will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $15,000 base for the total award amount. For example, an applicant with a score of 85 would receive $15,000 plus the dollar value for each point times 10 (10 being the number of points above the 75 point cutoff.)

All grantees will receive the lower of either the award amount determined with the formula, or the amount actually requested by the applicant.

(D) Funding Methodology for Category 5—Predatory Lending Grants. Only applicants scoring 75 points or above are eligible for funding under Category 5. However, because of the limited amount of funds available under Category 5, in relation to the potential number of applicants, all applicants scoring 75 points or above are not guaranteed funding.

For national intermediaries, up to the top 4 scoring applicants (scoring 75 points or above) will receive a base award of $300,000, plus additional funds for every point above the 75 point cutoff. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $300,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. The remaining balance ($300,000 if 4 agencies score 75 points or above) available to national intermediaries will be divided by the total number of points each applicant scores that are above the 75 point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $300,000 base for the total award amount. Awards for HUD-approved national intermediaries may not exceed $450,000.

For regional intermediaries and SHFAs, up to the top 3 scoring applicants (scoring 75 points or above) will receive a base award of $50,000, plus additional funds for every point above the 75 point cutoff. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $50,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. The remaining balance ($150,000 if 3 agencies score 75 points or above) available to regional intermediaries and SHFAs will be divided by the total number of points each applicant scores that are above the 75 point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $50,000 base for the total award amount. Awards for HUD-approved regional intermediaries and SHFAs may not exceed $140,000.

All LHCA's will be ranked against each other nationally. Up to the top 30 scoring applicants nationwide scoring 75 points or above will receive a base award of $20,000. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $20,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total available under the category. Then, the remaining balance ($300,000 if 30 agencies score 75 points or above) will be divided by the total number of points each of those 30 applicants (potentially) scores that are above the 75-point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $20,000 base for the total award amount. Awards for HUD-approved LHCA's may not exceed $40,000.

All grantees will receive the lower of either the award amount determined with the formula, or the amount actually requested by the applicant.

(E) Reallocation of Unspent Funds. If funds designated for a specific grant Category or sub-category remain unspent after the formula has been run and award recommendations determined, HUD may, at its discretion, reallocate those funds to any other funding category or sub-category in this NOFA, or may reallocate those funds to any category under the Section 8 Homeownership / Housing Counseling NOFA also issued with this SuperNOFA. Additionally, HUD may reallocate unspent funds for housing counseling support activities.

(F) Applicant Debriefing. Applicants interested in a debriefing should consult the instructions in section XI(A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Requests should be submitted to the person or organization to which you were instructed, in Section VI of this NOFA, to submit your application.

(G) Grant Period. Funds awarded shall be available for a period of twelve (12) calendar months. Applicants selected for award must receive prior HUD approval to incur costs prior to the date of the grant agreement. Grantees may incur pre-award costs ninety (90) calendar days prior to the effective date of the grant agreement. All pre-award costs are incurred at the applicant's risk and HUD has no obligation to reimburse such costs if the award is inadequate to cover such costs or the award offer is withdrawn because of the applicant's failure to satisfy the requirements of this NOFA.

(H) Award Instrument. HUD expects to use a grant agreement, but it reserves the right to use the award instrument it determines to be most appropriate. All Housing Counseling Program awards shall be made on a cost reimbursement basis in accordance with the requirements in OMB Circular A-87, Cost Principles for state and local governments and Indian tribal governments; or OMB Circular A-122, Cost Principles for Non-Profit Organizations, as applicable to your organization; and the administrative requirements established in OMB Circular A-102, which was implemented by 24 CFR part 85 (Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to state, local and federally recognized Indian tribal governments); OMB Circular A-110, which was implemented by 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals and Other Non-Profit Organizations); and OMB Circular A-133 which was implemented by 24 CFR parts 84 and 85. If you receive an award you are also required to ensure that any sub-recipients also comply with the above requirements. OMB circulars can be found at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/>.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

In addition to reviewing the instructions below, all applicants should consult the General Section of this SuperNOFA and review the procedures that affect application submission.

Application. Because applications will be handled by various staff members, they must be bound or secured in a binder, and tabbed. Use the checklist below to organize your application. Unless indicated below, all applicants must submit the following:

(1) The standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in section V(H) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms.")

(2) HUD-approval/Statutory Authority. Each applicant is required to submit a copy of their most recent approval letter or certificate of approval as a housing counseling agency from HUD, unless the applicant is a SHFA that satisfies the definition of a "Housing Finance Agency" in 24 CFR 266.5. SHFAs must submit evidence of their statutory authority to operate as a SHFA, and apply for, and use, any funds awarded.

(3) Form HUD-9902, Housing Counseling Agency Fiscal Year Activity Report, for fiscal year October 1, 2001 through September 30, 2002. In the space provided on the form, indicate the amount of the FY01 HUD grant you received that corresponds with this data. If you did not participate in HUD's

Housing Counseling Program during the period October 1, 2001 through September 30, 2002, this report should be completed to reflect your counseling workload and budget during that period. A copy of this form is included in Appendix A of this NOFA.

(4) National and Regional Intermediaries must provide a list of, and certify to, the states in which they maintain offices, including the national office and all affiliates or branch offices. Provide this information for all affiliates and branch offices, not just the ones you propose to fund through this grant.

(5) Narrative statements addressing the Rating Factors in section V(B) above. Responses to the rating factors should provide HUD with detailed quantitative and qualitative information and relevant examples regarding the housing counseling work of your organization.

For applicants applying under Category 4, narrative statements must address how you will meet the needs of clients residing in the Colonias you target. Similarly, applicants applying under Category 5 must describe predatory lending-related needs and corresponding activities. The Rating Factors below contain requests for additional information from applicants applying under Categories 4 and 5 (italicized).

Applicants applying for funding under Category 5 should also address predatory lending needs, issues and activities, if applicable, in their responses to Rating Factors 1—5 while applying under categories 1—4 of this NOFA, to ensure that these activities are fairly considered for grants under Categories 1—4, in the event that an applicant does not receive funding under Category 5.

Please be as specific and direct as possible. For LHCA's, responses to each factor must be limited to 10 double-spaced, size 12 font, single-sided pages. Additional submissions by LHCA's will not be read. These guidelines are also recommended for National and Regional Intermediaries and SHFAs; however, if you feel you need to include more information to make your case, you should feel free to do so.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

Section VIII of the General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Authority

HUD's Housing Counseling Program is authorized by Section 106 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701x), and is generally governed by HUD Handbook 7610.1, REV-4, CHG-1, dated October 27, 1997.

Instructions for Form HUD-9902, Housing Counseling Agency Fiscal Year Activity Report

This HUD Fiscal Year Activity Report enables a HUD-approved housing counseling agency to report all of its housing counseling activity for clients with housing needs and problems.

1. Counseling Agency Name & Address - Enter the official name of your agency in the format you submitted to HUD. If the data you enter is new, check the box indicating this change.

2. Enter Report HUD Fiscal Year - This is an annual report covering the HUD Fiscal Year. Indicate the HUD Fiscal Year covered by the report. Even if your agency was approved by HUD for less than the full year report period, include clients counseling during the full report year.

3. Ethnicity of Clients Enter number of clients to whom you provided counseling during this period. If your client came in for homebuyer education or fair housing in addition to other types of counseling, do not count them twice.

Hispanic or Latino - A person of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race. The term "Spanish origin" can be used in addition to "Hispanic or Latino."

Not Hispanic or Latino - A person not of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

4. Race of Clients Categories -

American Indian or Alaskan Native - A person having origins with any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America), and who maintains tribal affiliation or community recognition.

Asian - A person having origins with any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian Subcontinent, including, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, and Vietnam.

Black or African American - A person having origins with in of the black racial groups of Africa. Terms such as "Haitian" or "Negro" can be used in addition to "Black or African American."

Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands.

5. Income Levels - Enter the client's income level based on the percentage of the Area Median Income (AMI), adjusted for family size.

6. Number of Clients Receiving Educational or Outreach Services

Homebuyer Education (6a). Enter data for clients who completed a homebuyer education course or workshop. Homebuyer education differs from counseling in that it is usually conducted in a group setting and is not tailored to the unique circumstance of the individual. Counseling goes beyond the general education, is more rigorous, and involves one-on-one and longer-term relationships. Note that you will also count the client who receives or is receiving counseling under the prepurchase counseling heading.

Post-Purchase Homeowner Workshop (6b). Enter data for clients who completed a post-purchase homeowner education course or workshop. This includes topics such as budgeting and financial management, real estate taxes and insurance, and property maintenance. Please also count the client who supplements education with one-on-one counseling under the appropriate counseling heading.

Fair Housing (6c). Enter data for clients who, in addition to seeking other types counseling as described on this form, had issues affecting a protected class as defined under the Fair Housing Act, 42 USC 3601-3631. The law prohibits discrimination on basis of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, or familial status. Remember to include these clients under the appropriate type of counseling sought.

Predatory Lending (6d). Enter data for clients who attended a predatory lending workshop or outreach program. Please also count the client who supplements education with one-on-one counseling under the appropriate counseling heading.

7. Number of Clients Counseled, by Purpose of Visit and Results.

General

Clients - Please remember that you report clients as the number of individual households you counseled.

Examples:

- a. A husband and wife or a brother and sister or three friends who are mortgagors under the same note count as one client.
- b. Three renting families who experience the same problem with the same landlord and come to your agency together for assistance and receive the same problem resolution count as one client.

Columnar Entries - The report contains two data columns.

- c. All Counseling Activities - Enter data covering all housing counseling activities, including those performed under one or more HUD housing counseling grant. Results of
- d. HUD Grant Activities - Enter data covering only counseling provided under one or more HUD counseling grants during the report period. Include this data in the "All Counseling Activities" column.

Other - Throughout the form, "other" provides a general category into which you place clients who do not fall under any specific category on the form.

Counseling (7a through 7e) - Enter the number of clients to whom you provided counseling during the report period, by the purpose of their visit and results. This count might include clients who entered your workload the previous report period but who carried over into and received counseling during the current report period. Enter the client count in the box that best describes the status of the clients when they first entered your workload.

Counseling (7a through 7e) continued -For each of the five types of counseling sought, enter data for the appropriate results listed. NOTE: You might achieve more than one result for the same client during the report year. In the rare event that there is more than one result, please report only one. You should select the result that most closely relates to the counseling received.

Example: A mortgagor in default enters into a forbearance agreement and later sells the property. You report the first result because the counseling enabled the client to seek and enter into forbearance. Also, in the Pre-Purchase Counseling outcomes, enter the client as mortgage ready after 90 days, if the client has entered a homebuyer savings plan, debt management plan, or some other type of long-term financial plan to prepare for homeownership.

8. HUD Grant Activity - Summary Data - Enter summary data from the "HUD Grant Activities" column for each grant under which you provided counseling during the report period. In the "Total" row, enter totals for the "No. of Clients" and the "Amount Invoiced" columns.

9. An authorized staff person must sign and date the report.

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 1.17 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number.

This information is collected in connection with HUD's Housing Counseling Program, and will be used by HUD to determine that the grant applicant meets the requirements of the Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) and to assign points for awarding grant funds on a competitive and equitable basis. The information is required to obtain funding under Section 106 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The information is considered sensitive and is protected by the Privacy Act which requires the records to be maintained with appropriate administrative, technical and physical safeguards to ensure their security and confidentiality.

SECTION 8 HOMEOWNERSHIP VOUCHER - HOUSING COUNSELING
GRANT PROGRAM

Billing Code 4210-32-C

Funding Availability for the Section 8 Homeownership Voucher—Housing Counseling Grant Program

Program Overview

Program Purpose. This grant program supports the delivery of housing counseling services to potential homebuyers and homeowners utilizing Section 8 Homeownership Vouchers (hereafter referred to as Homeownership Vouchers) under HUD's Homeownership Voucher Program. The primary objectives of the program are to: help Homeownership Voucher Program participants make the transition from renting to homeownership; to assist them in evaluating their readiness and in making informed decisions; to help them meet the responsibilities of homeownership; and to encourage increased participation by Public Housing Agencies (PHAs) in HUD's Homeownership Voucher Program.

Available Funds. $2 million in Fiscal Year 2003 Funds.

Application Deadline. June 25, 2003.

Match. No match is required.

However, in order to receive points under Rating Factor 4, applicants are required to demonstrate the commitment of other private and public sources of funding to supplement HUD funding for the applicant's proposed counseling program relevant to the Homeownership Voucher Program.

I. Application Submission, Further Information and Technical Assistance

Application Kits. There is no application kit. Specific application submission requirements are outlined in Section VI of this NOFA.

Application Due Date. Completed applications must be submitted on or before June 25, 2003.

Mailing. See the General Section of the SuperNOFA for mailing instructions and procedures.

Application Submission Procedures. All applicants must submit an original and two copies of a complete application to 'Director, Program Support Division, Room 9266, Office of Single Family Housing, HUD Headquarters, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410.' The envelope should be clearly marked, "FY 2003 Homeownership Voucher—Housing Counseling Grant Application (Category 1/2/3/4.)" Please indicate the grant category for which you are applying.

Further Information. Local housing counseling agencies (LHCAs) and state housing finance agencies (SHFAs) should call the Homeownership Center (HOC) serving their area (See Appendix B for the contact information for the HOCs). National and Regional Intermediaries should contact HUD Headquarters, Program Support Division at (202) 708-0317 (this is not a toll-free number). Persons with hearing or speech impairments may access any of these numbers via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

Satellite Broadcast. HUD will hold an informational broadcast via satellite for potential applicants to learn more about the program and the application. For more information about the date and time of the broadcast, consult the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/grants>.

II. Amount Allocated

Under this SuperNOFA, $37.561 million of the $39.74 million appropriated for Housing Counseling in FY 2003 is made available for eligible applicants. Specifically, $2 million is available through this NOFA for counseling activities occurring in conjunction with HUD's Homeownership Voucher Program, and $35.561 million is available for general counseling services through a separate NOFA found elsewhere in this SuperNOFA. Through that separate NOFA, up to $250,000 is available for counseling services that specifically target Colonias, and $2.7 million is available for counseling services addressing predatory lending. An allocation of $1 million of the $39.74 million appropriated is available for counseling in conjunction with the Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) Program, as provided in section 255(k) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1715z-20).

With the balance of FY03 appropriation, and additional carry-over funding, an allocation of up to $4 million has been set aside for housing counseling support such as training and tuition assistance for housing counselors, or other HUD counseling initiatives and activities, or both.

Grant Categories. HUD will award grants to qualified public or private nonprofit organizations to provide housing counseling services in conjunction with the Homeownership Voucher Program through four grant categories: (1) Local Housing Counseling Agencies (LHCA); (2) National Intermediaries; (3) Regional Intermediaries; and (4) State Housing Finance Agencies (SHFAs).

Category 1—Local Housing Counseling Agencies (LHCAs). $750,000 is available from HUD to directly fund HUD-approved LHCAs.

Award: No individual LHCA may be awarded more than $60,000.

Category 2—National Intermediaries. $950,000 is available from HUD to directly fund HUD-approved national intermediaries.

Awards for HUD-approved national intermediaries may not exceed $400,000. Category 3—Regional Intermediaries. $150,000 is available from HUD to directly fund HUD-approved regional intermediaries.

Awards for HUD-approved regional intermediaries may not exceed $150,000. Category 4—State Housing Finance Agencies (SHFA). $150,000 is available to fund SHFAs that provide housing counseling services directly or serve as intermediaries to affiliates who offer housing counseling services.

Award: There is no cap on awards for SHFAs.

III. Program Description/Eligibility

(A) Eligible Service Recipients. Housing counseling services funded under this NOFA can only be provided to Homeownership Voucher recipients whom a PHA has indicated are eligible to participate in the Homeownership Voucher Program, having met programmatic requirements and additional PHA eligibility requirements, if applicable, and who will receive the benefit of homeownership voucher assistance should they purchase a home.

(B) Eligible Activities. Agencies selected as grantees and, if applicable, their sub-grantees, will only be reimbursed for activities that are eligible according to the criteria outlined in this Section.

According to the Final Rule on the Homeownership Voucher Program (FR-4427-F-02), suggested topics for the PHA-required pre-assistance counseling program include: how to negotiate the purchase price of a home; how to obtain homeownership financing and loan pre-approvals, including a description of types of financing that may be available, and the pros and cons of different types of financing; alternative sources of mortgage credit; how to find a home, including information about homeownership opportunities, schools, and transportation in the PHA jurisdiction; advantages of purchasing a home in an area that does not have a high concentration of low-income families and how to locate homes in such areas; how to design features to provide accessibility for persons with disabilities; funding for modifications that will make housing accessible and available to clients and their family members with disabilities; advocating with lenders for non-traditional lending standards; information on fair housing, including fair housing lending and local fair housing enforcement agencies; information about the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (12 U.S.C.

2601 et seq.) (RESPA), state and federal truth-in-lending laws, and how to identify and avoid predatory loans with oppressive terms and conditions; home maintenance; budgeting and money management; and credit counseling.

Counseling services can be adapted to reflect local circumstances, fit the pre- and ongoing post-purchase needs of the individual families, and fulfill specific requirements established by the PHA. The PHA has the discretion to require ongoing counseling for all or select participants in the homeownership option.

For example, agencies may provide on-going counseling on issues such as home improvement and rehabilitation. This could include educating the client about: Their loan and grant options; the loan and/or grant application processes; what housing codes and housing enforcement procedures apply for the intended activity; accessibility codes; visitability and universal design; non-discriminatory lending for persons who modify their dwellings to accommodate disabilities; how to identify and hire a construction contractor; how to specify and bid construction work; how to enter into construction contracts; and how to manage construction contracts, including actions to address the non-performance of contractors.

Additional ongoing counseling needs may include default counseling and loss mitigation strategies such as debt restructuring, establishing reinstatement plans, seeking loan forbearance, and managing household finances. Counselors can also help program participants that are victims of predatory lending, provide referrals to emergency and social service providers, and assist clients with locating alternative housing.

All counseling must occur one-on-one. These grant funds may not be used for any type of group sessions or workshops. Applications including group sessions as proposed activities will be evaluated only on proposed one-on-one counseling.

Note: For each activity you propose, you must be prepared to meet the needs of all individuals requesting services, including persons with disabilities, regardless of the complexity of the services involved. Additionally, services must be affirmatively marketed to persons with disabilities, including visual and hearing disabilities, as they would be to any other segment of the population not likely to apply for such services.

Intermediaries and SHFAs can directly provide the housing counseling services described above, or distribute and administer grant funds and provide technical assistance and other services to affiliates, who are eligible to undertake any or all of the eligible housing counseling activities outlined above.

Intermediaries and SHFAs have wide discretion to decide how to allocate their HUD Housing counseling and leveraged funding among their affiliates, with the understanding that a written record must be kept documenting and justifying funding decisions. This record must be made available to affiliates and to HUD. Intermediaries and SHFAs must also execute sub-grant agreements with their affiliates that clearly delineate the mutual responsibilities for program management, including appropriate time frames for reporting results to HUD.

(C) Eligible Applicants. Eligible applicants are: (1) HUD-approved local housing counseling agencies (LHCAs); (2) HUD-approved national intermediaries; (3) HUD-approved regional intermediaries; and (4) state housing finance agencies (SHFAs.)

HUD-approved LHCAs—Under this NOFA, HUD-approved LHCAs may apply for and receive a grant under Category 1 or one sub-grant from an Intermediary or SHFA under Categories 2, 3 and 4, but not both. HUD-approved LHCAs that apply directly under Category 1 are prohibited from also applying for or receiving a sub-grant under Categories 2, 3 and 4 of this NOFA. HUD-approved LHCAs that receive a sub-grant through an intermediary or SHFA under the other Housing Counseling NOFA in this SuperNOFA may receive a sub-grant under this NOFA with the same intermediary or SHFA, or they may apply directly as an LHCA.

HUD-approved national and regional intermediaries—HUD-approved National and Regional Intermediaries may apply for a grant under Categories 2 and 3, respectively.

SHFAs—SHFAs may only apply for grants under Category 4. Eligible SHFAs are entities that satisfy the definition in 24 CFR 266.5 of a "Housing Finance Agency." SHFAs and eligible sub-grantees/affiliates do not need HUD-approval in order to receive these funds.

Eligible applicants under Categories 1–3 are private nonprofit and public organizations, including grass roots faith-based and other community-based organizations, that secure HUD-approval as an LHCA, or as a national or regional intermediary, as of the publication date of this SuperNOFA, and retain such approval through the term of any grant awarded. For information on securing HUD-approval visit HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hccprof13.cfm>.

Additionally, to be eligible to receive a grant directly from HUD under this Housing Counseling NOFA, all applicants (except SHFAs) must be (1) duly organized and existing as a nonprofit, (2) in good standing under the laws of the state of its organization, and (3) authorized to do business in the states where it proposes to provide counseling services. For example, applicable state licensing, corporate filing, and registering requirements must be satisfied.

An LHCA, national or regional intermediary, or SHFA may use branch offices to provide counseling funded through this NOFA. A branch office is an organizational and subordinate unit of the LHCA, intermediary, or SHFA, not separately incorporated or organized. LHCAs may maintain a main office and branch offices in no more than two states, which must be contiguous.

More typically, National and Regional Intermediaries and SHFAs provide sub-grants to separately incorporated or organized affiliates. Eligible sub-grantees are not required to be HUD-approved, although HUD-approved LHCAs may apply to an intermediary or SHFA as a sub-grantee. Intermediaries and SHFAs that award sub-grants to affiliates that are not HUD-approved must assure that said affiliates meet or exceed the standards, as specified in paragraph 2–1 of HUD Handbook 7610.1, Rev-4, CHG–1, for HUD-approved LHCAs. These organizations will be monitored by HUD, and intermediaries that do not ensure their affiliates' branches' compliance with HUD standards could be prohibited from participating in the program.

To be eligible for a sub-grant under categories 2, 3 or 4, affiliates must not have directly applied for or received a grant under Category 1 of this NOFA, or another sub-grant from an Intermediary or SHFA under Categories 2, 3 or 4 of this NOFA.

Additionally, to be eligible for a sub-grant, an affiliate must be (1) duly organized and existing as a nonprofit, (2) in good standing under the laws of the state of its organization, and (3) authorized to do business in the states where it proposes to provide counseling services. For example, applicable state licensing, corporate filing, and registering requirements must be met.

Written Commitment to Partner. To be eligible, applicants must also provide a written commitment to partner from one or more PHAs with which it has come to an agreement to provide housing counseling to participants of the PHA's Homeownership Voucher Program. Intermediaries and SHFAs proposing to make sub-grants to affiliates or branch offices must provide a separate written commitment to partner from a PHA for each affiliate or branch office covered by the proposal. There is no requirement that the PHA commit to partner with the applicant for the provision of all housing counseling services related to its Homeownership Voucher Program, although this would be acceptable.

Written commitments to partner from PHAs do not have to be ratified by the PHA Board, although a formal document, such as a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the PHA and the applicant, is acceptable. The written commitment to partner must, however, be on PHA letter-head, must specifically mention the housing counseling agency/applicant, and must be signed by an authorized PHA official. Moreover, the written commitment to partner must indicate that the PHA is exercising its option to implement the Homeownership Voucher Program and agrees to refer Homeownership Voucher participants to the applicant to fulfill the housing counseling requirement specified in the Homeownership Voucher Program regulations. The written commitment to partner must clearly outline: the broad roles and responsibilities of the PHA and the housing counseling agency applying for funding under this NOFA; the estimated number of Homeownership Voucher Program participants, both pre-purchase and ongoing, to be referred by the PHA to the counseling agency during the grant period October 1, 2003 to September 30, 2004; specific PHA requirements for ongoing counseling; and outcome goals.

While no written commitment to partner is required from PHAs approved by HUD as housing counseling agencies, the PHA must estimate the number of voucher participants to be counseled in connection with the Homeownership Voucher Program, and describe the outcome goals to be achieved.

IV. Requirements

Agencies selected as grantees or sub-grantees must comply with the following requirements:

(A) Threshold Requirements. The requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA apply to this program. Applications will be declared ineligible for any of the following reasons:

- If you or any of your affiliates or branches do not meet the Civil Rights Threshold Requirements set forth in Section V(B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.
- If you are presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from covered transactions from any federal department or agency.

—If you are not currently approved by HUD as an LHCA or as a National or Regional Housing Counseling Intermediary, and if you didn't secure approval by the publication date of this SuperNOFA. SHFAs need only satisfy the definition in 24 CFR 266.5 of a "Housing Finance Agency."

(B) Program Requirements. Program requirements are outlined in detail in HUD Handbook 7610.1, REV-4, CHG-1, dated October 27, 1997, which can be viewed on HUD's Web site at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hccprof7.cfm>.

Additionally, the following also apply:

(1) List of Agencies. Pursuant to section 106 (C)(5) of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, HUD maintains a list of all HUD-approved and HUD-funded counseling agencies, including contact information, which interested persons can access. All grantees under Category 1, and sub-grantees under Categories 2, 3, and 4 will be placed on this list and must accept subsequent referrals, or when they do not provide the services sought, refer the person to another agency in the area that does provide the services.

(2) Accessibility—All grant recipients and sub-recipients must make counseling offices and services reasonably accessible to persons with a wide range of disabilities and help persons locate suitable housing in locations throughout the applicant's community, target area, or metropolitan area, as defined by the applicant.

(3) All counseling services provided in conjunction with the Homeownership Voucher Program must be provided free of charge.

(C) Religious Discrimination. Grant recipients and sub-recipients are prohibited from discriminating on behalf of or against any segment of the population in the provision of services or in outreach, including those of other religious affiliations.

Additionally, organizations funded under this program may not engage in inherently religious activities, such as worship, religious instruction, or proselytization, as part of the programs or services funded under this program. If an organization conducts such activities, these activities must be offered separately, in time or location, from the programs or services funded under this part, and participation must be voluntary for the HUD-funded programs or services.

(D) Code of Conduct. Entities that are subject to 24 CFR parts 84 and 85 (most nonprofit organizations and state, local and tribal governments or government agencies or instrumentalities who receive federal awards of financial assistance) are required to develop and maintain a written code of conduct (See §§ 84.42 and 85.36(b)(3)). Consistent with regulations governing housing counseling programs, your code of conduct must prohibit real and apparent conflicts of interest that may arise among employees, officers or agents; prohibit the solicitation and acceptance of gifts or gratuities by your officers, employees and agents for their personal benefit in excess of minimal value; and outline administrative and disciplinary actions available to remedy violations of such standards. Self-recusal shall not eliminate a potential or apparent conflict of interest. If awarded assistance under this SuperNOFA, prior to entering into a grant agreement with HUD you will be required to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct.

(E) Performance Measurement. Grant recipients are required to complete and submit a form HUD-9902, Fiscal Year Activity Report (Appendix A). The information compiled from this report provides HUD with its primary means of measuring your program performance.

(F) Environmental Requirements. In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(9) and (12) of the HUD regulations, activities assisted under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities.

(G) Financial Management Systems. Applicants selected for funding must provide documentation demonstrating that the applicant's financial management systems satisfy the requirements in the applicable regulations at 24 CFR 84.21(b) and 85.20. Consistent with the requirements of the Single Audit Act Amendments of 1996 (31 U.S.C. 7501-07), if the applicant expended $300,000 or more in federal awards in its most recent fiscal year, such documentation must include a certification from, or most recent audit by, the applicant's Independent Public Accountant that the applicant maintains internal controls over federal awards; complies with applicable laws, regulations, and contract or grant provisions; and prepares appropriate financial statements. The applicant will have at least thirty (30) calendar days to respond to this requirement. If an applicant does not respond within the prescribed time or responds with insufficient documentation, then HUD may determine that the applicant has not met this requirement and may withdraw the grant offer.

(H) Indirect Cost Rate. You must also submit documentation establishing your organization's indirect cost rate. Such documentation may consist of a certification from, most recent audit, or indirect cost rate agreement by, the cognizant federal agency or an Independent Public Accountant. If your organization does not have an established indirect cost rate, you will be required to develop and submit an indirect cost proposal to HUD or the cognizant federal Agency as applicable, for determination of an indirect cost rate that will govern your award. Applicants that do not have a previously established indirect cost rate with a federal agency shall submit an initial indirect cost rate proposal immediately after the applicant is advised that it will be offered a grant and, in no event, later than three months after the effective date of the grant. OMB Circular A-122 established the requirements to determine allowable direct and indirect costs and the preparation of indirect cost proposals, and can be found at www.whitehouse.omb.gov

V. Application Selection Process

(A) General. Applications will be evaluated competitively, and ranked against all other applicants that applied in the same funding category. All applicants will be rated and ranked in HUD Headquarters. The funding formula described below will be used to calculate award amounts.

(B) Factors For Award Used to Rate and Rank Applications. Section VI(B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA contains information on the rating panels used to review and score applications. The Factors for Award, and maximum points for each factor, are outlined below.

These factors will be used to evaluate applications and the maximum number of points for each applicant is 102 points for LHCA's and 100 for all other applicants. LHCA's are eligible for 2 bonus points if they can demonstrate that at least 51% of their proposed services: (1) Will be provided to residents of federally designated Empowerment Zones (EZs), Enterprise Communities (ECs), Urban Enhanced Enterprise Communities (EECs), Strategic Planning Communities, or Renewal Communities (RCs); and (2) are certified to be consistent with the area's strategic plan. Section VI.C(1) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, entitled "RC/EZ/EC," contains additional information regarding these bonus points.

HUD may rely on information from performance reports, financial status information, monitoring reports, audit reports and other information available to HUD in making score determinations under any Rating Factor.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity—Readiness and Effectiveness (35 Points)

HUD uses responses to this Rating Factor to evaluate the readiness and ability of an applicant to immediately begin the proposed work program, as well as the potential for an applicant to cost-effectively and successfully implement the proposed activities indicated in response to Rating Factor 3.

(A) (6 points) Knowledge and Experience. In rating this sub-factor, HUD will consider the degree to which the applicant, and, if applicable, affiliates, has sufficient personnel with the relevant knowledge and experience to implement the proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion.

Specifically, for LHCA's, scoring will be based on the number of years of recent housing counseling experience of counselors. For intermediaries and SHFA's, scoring will be based on: the number of years of recent housing counseling experience of counselors in affiliates and branches; and the number of years, for key intermediary / SHFA personnel, of recent experience running a housing counseling program consisting of a network of multiple counseling agencies. Related experience, such as experience in mortgage lending, will also be considered, but will not be weighted as heavily as direct housing counseling or housing counseling program management experience.

Submit the names and titles of employees, including subcontractors and consultants, performing the activities proposed in Rating Factor 3. Clerical staff should not be listed. Describe each employee's, subcontractor's, or consultant's relevant professional background and experience. Experience is relevant if it corresponds directly to projects of a similar scale and purpose. Provide the number of years of experience for each position listed, and indicate when each position was held. Individual descriptions should be limited to one page. List recent and relevant trainings received.

(B) (4 points) Section 8 Homeownership Experience. In scoring this section, HUD will evaluate the degree to which, as compared to other applicants, the applicant and partnering PHA(s) have experience working with HUD's Homeownership Voucher Program.

Highlight counselors and key staff with experience related to counseling Homeownership Voucher families in the context of the homeownership option. Describe counseling activities and results performed in conjunction with the Homeownership Voucher Program, if applicable, including the number of families counseled by your agency that participated in Homeownership Voucher Program last year. Identify the sources and amount of funding used to support counseling in conjunction with the Homeownership Voucher Program.

Additionally, if applicable, provide detailed information regarding the Homeownership Voucher Program-related experience of each PHA with whom you, or your affiliates or branch offices, have a written commitment to partner, including the number of families that participated in the PHA's Homeownership Voucher Program in the past year, and the number of current homeowners receiving voucher assistance to date, and other notable outcomes and information demonstrating the effectiveness of the existing program. If different from the applicant, explain what counseling agency or other organization provided the housing counseling related to the Program.

(Sections C and D pertain to the applicant's performance with their FY01 HUD grant, the most recent complete grant year. If you received no FY01 HUD grant, the five points available in Section C, and the twelve points available in Section D will be allocated to Section E (Impact-Leveraged Resources) for a total of 20 points.)

(C) (5 points) Quality and Complexity of Services. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the quality of services provided, and level of effort and time required to provide the housing counseling services (in general, not just Homeownership Voucher-related), captured in the form HUD-9902 for the time period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Scoring will be based on the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that, for each type of counseling service delivered, and compared to other applicants, sufficient time and resources were devoted to ensure that clients received quality counseling. Additionally, scorers will evaluate the extent to which, as compared to other applicants, an agency encouraged and provided one-on-one counseling, which HUD views as the most effective form of housing counseling, instead of over-relying on homebuyer education workshops and other forms of group sessions.

Applicants should carefully document the types and complexity of the services provided with FY01 HUD grant funds, and the outcomes for clients as a result of the counseling. Describe the level of effort and time required to provide the housing counseling services and to meet the needs of your clients. Indicate the average counseling time per client for all types of counseling performed. Also describe follow-up activities, if applicable.

Indicate the number of clients that participated only in Homebuyer Education workshops or other group sessions. Indicate the number of clients that participated in Homebuyer Education workshops or other group session and also received one-on-one counseling.

(D) (12 points) Impact/Outcomes—HUD Grant. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the applicant's, and if applicable, affiliates' and branches', clients served numbers and performance-related outcomes (in general, not just Homeownership Voucher-related) for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Clients served numbers will be scored based on the quantity of clients the applicant was able to serve compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Clients served numbers will be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc. Outcomes will be scored based on how well the applicant met performance goals.

Indicate the number of clients (in general) that you proposed to serve with your HUD grant in Factor 3 of your FY01 Housing Counseling NOFA application (submitted May 3, 2001), and compare it with the number attributed to the HUD grant appearing on the 9902 form submitted with this application, covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, which corresponds to the FY01 application and resulting award. Explain any differences between goals and results, including differences in proposed and actual grant amounts.

If you received no FY01 HUD grant covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, characterize your performance at meeting your goals regarding activities for that time period, under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards. Explain any differences between goals and results.

While HUD values cost-effectiveness, we are not simply trying to identify and fund the lowest-cost service providers. We realize that costs vary depending on location and types of services provided, and can appreciate that strategic investments, such as investments in training, technology, or more qualified staff, may potentially be an efficient use of resources, but affect counseling volume in the short-term.

So HUD can evaluate your program results, provide a context for, or qualify, the number of clients, indicated on the form HUD-9902 submitted with this application, that were served with your HUD-grant. Describe the types of counseling conducted. Indicate how location, counseling and client type, spending decisions, and expenses may have affected client volume, and, if applicable, how they will impact client volume in the future.

Identify all specific uses of HUD grant funds, such as staff salaries, other staff costs, training, and travel expenses. Itemize the total costs for each use. Provide the average hourly labor rate for counselors. Justify your expenses and explain why they were reasonable, strategic, and appropriate for the counseling activities identified above.

Intermediaries and SHFAs that received an FY01 HUD award for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002 must also indicate what percentage of their award was passed through directly to affiliates and branches, and explain how funds not passed through were spent.

Provide the following performance outcomes for counseling activities covered by your FY01 HUD grant, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002:

- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that purchased a home;
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that are working toward becoming mortgage ready;
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that, after evaluating their unique financial situation and the costs of homeownership, elected not to purchase a home;
- The number of individuals receiving default counseling that successfully avoided foreclosure.

So HUD can evaluate these outcomes/ results, indicate the outcome goals that you had set for yourself prior to the grant period, October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002, and characterize your performance at meeting those goals. Compare these outcome goals with your actual performance outcomes. Describe relevant market conditions and other circumstances that you believe affected reported outcome numbers.

Note: The outcomes listed above correspond to the new form HUD-9902 (appendix A), from which these outcome results will be derived in future NOFAs. In future NOFAs, outcomes will be evaluated based on the degree to which the applicant was able to meet the outcome estimates it provided in Factor 5 of the relevant previous application. In other words, applicants will be held accountable for fulfilling performance-related promises made in NOFA applications.

If you received no FY01 HUD grant, provide these performance outcomes for counseling activities covering October 1, 2001–September 30, 2002, under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards. Indicate how each compares with the outcome goals that you had set for yourself for the activity period, and characterize your performance at meeting outcome goals.

(E) (3 points) Impact—Leveraged Resources. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the applicant's non-HUD funded counseling activities and budget during the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. Scoring will be based on the quantity of clients the applicant was able to serve, compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Clients served numbers will be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc.

Provide all the information requested in Sections C and D above, except outcomes, relevant to the non-HUD funded activities recorded on the form HUD-9902 submitted with this application.

(F) (5 points) Performance/Grant Requirements. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate how well the applicant satisfied the requirements, including reporting, of their FY01 HUD housing counseling grant, for the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. If you did not receive a FY01 HUD grant, base your response on activities and requirements under other sources of funding, such as other federal, state or local grant awards.

- Characterize your performance with regards to the timeliness and completeness with which you satisfied reporting requirements (such as Form HUD 9902.)

- Also indicate whether or not you fully expended HUD and other grant awards during the grant period October 1, 2001 to September 30, 2002. If not fully expended, provide an explanation as to why the funds were not fully expended and the steps you have taken to ensure that future funding will be expended in a timely manner.

- Significant findings on biennial reviews conducted by HUD staff will be taken into consideration when scoring this Section. Explain how you have taken steps to address and correct any significant findings, if applicable.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a demonstrated need for the proposed activities described in your response to Rating Factor 3, and the degree to which proposed activities correspond to Departmental policy priorities.

(A) (3 points) Demand for Homeownership Vouchers. Provide an estimate by the PHA as to the volume of Homeownership Voucher Program participants it anticipates in general for the grant period October 1, 2003 through September 30, 2004. Explain in detail how the estimate was calculated. Estimates and explanations must be provided on PHA letterhead and signed by an authorized PHA official.

(B) (3 points) Local Market. Demonstrate that the local market will support affordable homeownership. For example, describe the income and wealth characteristics of Homeownership Voucher Program participants, such as average income as a percent of area median income, and average savings available for down payment, and then demonstrate the availability in the local market of homes affordable to these participants. Intermediaries and SHFAs must provide this information for each affiliate or branch included in their application.

(C) (4 points) Departmental Policy Priorities. The Departmental policy priorities are listed in Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Of those listed, the following 4 apply to the Housing Counseling Program for the purpose of this NOFA:

(1) Providing Increased Homeownership and Rental Opportunities for Low- and Moderate-Income Persons, Persons with Disabilities, the Elderly, Minorities, and Families with Limited English Proficiency.

(2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation.

(3) Colonias.

(4) Participation of Minority Serving Institutions in HUD Programs.

You will receive one point (up to 4 total) for each of the Departmental policy priorities that your work plan substantively addresses.

Rating Factor 3: Scope of Housing Counseling Services / Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and effectiveness of your proposed housing counseling activities.

(A) (2 points) Work Plan. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider whether the applicant provided all of the information requested.

Describe the proposed housing counseling services and if applicable, intermediary activities, including training, you propose to undertake, and identify the geographic area your services will cover.

National and Regional Intermediaries and State Housing Finance Agencies must also provide the following additional information:

(a) Identify which affiliates will receive funding through this grant award. Applicants unable to identify which affiliates will receive sub-grants must explain why this is the case and what process will be used to select grantees. Pursuant to the applicable regulations at 24 CFR 84.82(d)(3)(iii) and 85.30(d)(4), grantees must receive HUD's prior written approval for sub-grants.

(b) Describe the activities of those affiliates, explicitly stating the types of services to be offered.

(c) Describe your relationship with your affiliates (i.e. membership organization, field or branch office, subsidiary organization, etc.).

(d) Explain the process that will be used to determine affiliate funding levels, distribute funds, and monitor affiliate performance, including compliance with the civil rights requirements outlined in the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) (5 points) Employee Allocation/ Staff hours. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate whether allocated staff and staff hours are appropriate and sufficient to perform all proposed tasks.

Indicate the names and titles of employees, including subcontractors and consultants, allocated to each proposed activity, as well as the corresponding staff hours for each task. Demonstrate that each employee's experience is related to the tasks they are to perform.

(C) (9 points) Coordination. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider the extent to which the applicant can demonstrate they will coordinate proposed activities with other organizations, and with other services and products offered by the applicant's organization, in a manner that benefits their clients.

Describe partnerships and efforts to coordinate proposed activities with other organizations, particularly lending organizations and nonprofit housing providers. Any written agreements or memoranda of understanding in place should be described and copies provided.

National and regional intermediaries should also highlight internal lending operations and loan products available to clients, as well as internal affordable housing programs that can be a resource for clients.

Describe plans to avoid conflicts of interest, such as methods for disclosing to participants that they are free to choose lenders, lending products, and homes, regardless of the recommendations made by counselors, and provide copies of relevant disclosure forms and materials.

(D) (12 points) Quality and Complexity of Services. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the quality of the proposed housing counseling services, and the level of effort and time associated with providing the proposed counseling services to the number of clients you estimate you will serve in Section E. Scoring will be based on the degree to which the applicant demonstrates that, for each type of counseling service delivered, and compared to other applicants, sufficient time and resources will be devoted to ensure that clients receive quality counseling.

Applicants should carefully document the types and complexity of the services to be provided. Describe the level of effort and time you estimate is required to provide the proposed counseling services to, and meet the needs of, the number of clients you indicate in Section E that you will serve with the proposed grant. Estimate the average counseling time you, and if applicable your affiliates and branches, anticipate per client for all types of counseling offered. Also describe planned follow-up activities, if applicable.

(E) (12 points) Efficient Use of Resources—Proposed HUD Grant Activities. In scoring this Section, HUD will evaluate the number of clients that the applicant, and if applicable, affiliates and branches, estimate will be served under the proposed HUD grant, for the grant period October 1, 2003 to September 30, 2004. Scoring will be based on the quantity of clients the applicant proposes to serve, compared to similar applicants providing similar services. Proposed clients served numbers will also be analyzed in the context of budget, costs, spending decisions, the types of services provided, level of effort expended, etc.

Indicate the number of clients your project will be served by your organization, or, if applicable, affiliates and branch offices, under the proposed HUD grant. Do not provide ranges or percentages, but a specific number of clients. Estimates must be consistent with the number of clients, indicated in the required written commitment to partner, that the PHA indicates will be referred to the counseling agency/applicant during the grant period October 1, 2003 to September 30, 2004, or differences should be explained clearly.

Provide a context for, or qualify the number of clients you project to serve with the proposed HUD grant. Indicate how location, counseling and client types, and expenses may affect client volume, and whether the impact will be short-term or long-term.

Itemize the costs associated with each specific proposed use of counseling funds, such as staff salaries, other staff costs, training and travel expenses. Provide the average hourly-labor rate for counselors. Justify your proposed expenses and explain why they are reasonable, strategic, and appropriate for the counseling activities identified above.

National and Regional Intermediaries and SHFAs must indicate what percentage of their proposed HUD grant will be passed through directly to affiliates or branches, and explain how funds not passed through will be spent.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

Applicants will be evaluated based on their ability to provide evidence that they have obtained additional resources for their housing counseling activities (in general, not just Homeownership Voucher Program-related counseling), including: Direct financial assistance; in-kind contributions, such as services, equipment, office space; labor; etc. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private nonprofit organizations, for-profit private organizations, or other entities committed to providing you assistance.

In order to obtain points under this factor, the applicant must demonstrate leveraging by providing letters from entities and/or individuals committing resources to the project that include:

- The identity of the entity or individual committing resources to the project.
- Dollar value of the resources to be committed.
- Types of resources to be committed.

—An indication that the resources will be available during the grant period pertaining to this NOFA, October 1, 2003–September 30, 2004.

—An indication that the award, or a specific portion of it, is intended for housing counseling.

—The signature of an official of the entity legally able to make commitments on behalf of the entity.

—No conditions that would nullify the commitment. (It is, however, acceptable for the commitment to be conditional on HUD funding.)

Additionally, resources provided by the applicant itself, recorded as ‘applicant match’ and ‘program income’ on the form HUD-424, will count as leveraged resources.

Points for this factor will be awarded based on the satisfactory provision of evidence of leveraging and financial sustainability, as described above, and the ratio of requested HUD housing counseling funds to total housing counseling budget. Depending on organization type, the following scales will be used to determine scores for this factor:

Percentage	Points
LHCAs and SHFAs
1–20	10
21–35	9
36–42	8
43–50	7
51–58	6

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (5 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD’s determination to ensure that applicants meet commitments made in their applications and grant agreements and assess their performance to realize performance goals, and reflects HUD’s goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability.

The purpose of this factor is for the applicant to identify program outputs and outcomes that will allow you and

HUD to measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Outputs and outcomes must be objectively quantifiable.

Submission Requirements for Factor 5. Applicants must submit an effective, quantifiable, outcome-oriented evaluation plan for measuring performance and determining that output and outcome goals have been met. You must submit a program evaluation plan that demonstrates how you will measure your own program performance. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes. Specifically, your plan must identify:

—Outputs. Outputs are the direct products of your program’s activities that lead to the ultimate achievement of outcomes. Examples of outputs are the number of individual counseling sessions, and the number of group sessions to be provided. Identify interim and full grant term outputs, and timeframes for accomplishing these goals. Your plan must show how you will measure actual accomplishments against anticipated achievements.

—Work Plan Adjustments. Describe steps in place to make adjustments to your work plan if outputs are not met within established timeframes or if you begin to fall short of established outputs and timeframes. Intermediaries and SHFAs should indicate if and how the performance of affiliates and branch offices affects current and future sub-grant allocations.

—Outcomes. Outcomes are benefits accruing to the families as a result of participation in the program. Outcomes are performance indicators you expect to achieve or goals you hope to meet over the term of your proposed grant. In scoring this Section, HUD will consider the appropriateness of the proposed outcomes given the proposed HUD award and past performance, and evaluate proposed outcomes in comparison to similar applicants. For the period October 1, 2003–September 30, 2004, provide the following anticipated outcomes for clients as a result of the proposed grant:

- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that will purchase a home
- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that are working toward becoming mortgage ready

- The number of individuals receiving pre-purchase counseling that, after evaluating their unique financial situation and the costs of homeownership, will elect not to purchase a home

- The number of individuals receiving default counseling that will successfully avoid foreclosure

(These specific outcomes correspond to the new form HUD-9902. The proposed outcomes you provide will be compared with the results captured in the HUD-9902 you submit in the FY05 NOFA, should you apply, to evaluate the impact you were able to achieve with this award, and the degree to which you were able to meet or exceed your proposed outcomes.)

—Information Collection. Describe your strategy for following-up with clients and collecting outcome information.

(C) Funding Methodology. Only applicants scoring 75 points or above are eligible for funding under Categories 1, 2, 3, and 4. However, because of the limited amount of funds available in relation to the potential number of applicants, all applicants scoring 75 points or above are not guaranteed funding, as described below.

All LHCA's will be ranked against each other nationally. Up to the top 30 scoring applicants nationwide with scores of 75 points or above will receive a base award of $15,000. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $15,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. Then, the remaining balance ($300,000 if 30 applicants score 75 points or above) will be divided by the total number of points each of those 30 applicants scores that are above the 75 point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $15,000 base for the total award amount.

All National Intermediaries will be ranked against each other. Up to the top 4 scoring applicants with scores of 75 points or above will receive a base award of $150,000. The total number of applicants receiving the base award will be multiplied by $150,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. The remaining balance ($350,000 if 4 national intermediaries score 75 points or above) will be divided by the total number of points each of those 4 agencies scores that are above the 75-point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $150,000 base for the total award amount.

All Regional Intermediaries will be ranked against each other. Up to the top 2 scoring applicants with scores of 75 points or above will receive a base award of $60,000. The total number of applicants receiving a base award will be multiplied by $60,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. Then, the remaining balance ($30,000 if 2 regional intermediaries score 75 points or above) will be divided by the total number of points each of those 2 agencies scores that are above the 75-point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $60,000 base for the total award amount.

All SHFA's will be ranked against each other nationally. Up to the top 5 scoring applicants with scores of 75 points or above will receive a base award of $20,000. The total number of applicants receiving a base award will be multiplied by $20,000 and that amount will be subtracted from the total amount available under the category. The remaining balance ($50,000 if 5 SHFA's score 75 points or above) will be divided by the total number of points each of those applicants scores that are above the 75 point cutoff. The division will result in a dollar value for each point. The number of points that each applicant scores above the 75 point threshold will be multiplied by that dollar value. The result of that multiplication will be added to the $20,000 base for the total award amount.

All grantees will receive the lower of either the award amount determined with the formula, or the amount actually requested by the applicant.

(D) Reallocation of Unspent Funds. If funds designated for a specific grant Category remain unspent after the formula has been run and award recommendations determined, HUD may reallocate those funds to any other funding category in this NOFA, at its discretion, or may reallocate those funds to any category under the general Housing Counseling NOFA also issued with this SuperNOFA. Additionally, HUD may reallocate unspent funds for housing counseling support activities.

(E) Applicant Debriefing. Applicants interested in a debriefing should consult the instructions in section XI(A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Requests should be submitted to the person or organization to which you were instructed, in section VI of this NOFA, to submit your application.

(F) Grant Period. Funds awarded shall be available for a period of twelve (12) calendar months. Applicants selected for award must receive prior HUD approval to incur costs prior to the date of the grant agreement. Grantees may incur pre-award costs ninety (90) calendar days prior to the effective date of the grant agreement. All pre-award costs are incurred at the applicant's risk and HUD has no obligation to reimburse such costs if the award is inadequate to cover such costs or the award offer is withdrawn because of the applicant's failure to satisfy the requirements of this NOFA.

(G) Award Instrument. HUD expects to use a grant agreement, but it reserves the right to use the award instrument it determines to be most appropriate. All Housing Counseling Program awards shall be made on a cost reimbursement basis in accordance with the requirements in OMB Circular A-87, Cost Principles for State and Local Governments and Indian Tribal Governments; or OMB Circular A-122, Cost Principles for Non-Profit Organizations, as applicable to your organization; and the administrative requirements established in OMB Circular A-102, which was implemented by 24 CFR part 85 (Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State, Local and federally recognized Indian tribal governments); OMB Circular A-110, which was implemented by 24 CFR part 84 (Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals and Other Non-Profit Organizations); and OMB Circular A-133 which was implemented by 24 CFR parts 84 and 85. If you receive an award you are also required to ensure that any sub-recipients also comply with the above requirements. OMB circulars can be found at: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/>.

VI. Application Submission

In addition to reviewing the instructions below, all applicants should consult the General Section of this SuperNOFA and review the procedures that affect application submission.

Application. Because applications will be handled by various staff members, they must be bound or secured in a binder, and tabbed. Use the checklist below to organize your application. Unless indicated below, all applicants must submit the following:

(1) The standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in Section V(H) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA (collectively, referred to as the "standard forms").

(2) HUD-approval / Statutory Authority. Each applicant is required to submit a copy of their most recent approval letter or certificate of approval as a housing counseling agency from HUD, unless the applicant is a SHFA that satisfies the definition of a 'Housing Finance Agency' in 24 CFR 266.5. SHFAs must submit evidence of their statutory authority to operate as a SHFA, and apply for, and use, any funds awarded.

(3) Written Commitment to Partner. Provide a copy of a written commitment to partner from each PHA with which you or your affiliates and branches have entered into an agreement, as described in Section III of this NOFA.

(4) Form HUD-9902, Housing Counseling Agency Fiscal Year Activity Report, for fiscal year October 1, 2001 through September 30, 2002. In the space provided on the form, indicate the amount of the FY01 HUD grant you received that corresponds with this data. If you did not participate in HUD's Housing Counseling Program during the period October 1, 2001 through September 30, 2002, this report should be completed to reflect your counseling workload and budget during that period. A copy of this form is included in Appendix A of this NOFA.

(5) National and Regional Intermediaries must provide a list of, and certify to, the states in which they maintain offices, including the national office and all affiliates or branch offices.

(6) Narrative statements addressing the Rating Factors in section V(B) above. Responses to the rating factors should provide HUD with detailed quantitative and qualitative information and relevant examples regarding the housing counseling work of your organization.

Please be as specific and direct as possible. For LHCAs, responses to each factor must be limited to 10 double-spaced, size 12 font, single-sided pages. Additional submissions by LHCAs will not be read. These guidelines are also recommended for National and Regional Intermediaries and SHFAs, however, if you feel you need to include more information to make your case, you should feel free to do so.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of the SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications. Applications will be declared ineligible for any of the following reasons:

—If you do not meet the Civil Rights Threshold Requirements set forth in section V(B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

—If you are presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from covered transactions from any federal department or agency.

VIII. Authority

HUD's Housing Counseling Program is authorized by Section 106 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701x), and is generally governed by HUD Handbook 7610.1, REV-4, CHG-1, dated October 27, 1997.

The Homeownership Voucher Program and the Section 8 Homeownership Program refer to the homeownership option in the Housing Choice Voucher Program. The homeownership option is authorized by section 8(y) of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended by section 555 of the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998. The implementing regulations are found at 24 CFR 982.625 through 24 CFR 982.642.

Instructions for Form HUD-9902, Housing Counseling Agency Fiscal Year Activity Report

This HUD Fiscal Year Activity Report enables a HUD-approved housing counseling agency to report all of its housing counseling activity for clients with housing needs and problems.

- 1. Counseling Agency Name & Address - Enter the official name of your agency in the format you submitted to HUD. If the data you enter is new, check the box indicating this change.
- 2. Enter Report HUD Fiscal Year - This is an annual report covering the HUD Fiscal Year. Indicate the HUD Fiscal Year covered by the report. Even if your agency was approved by HUD for less than the full year report period, include clients counseling during the full report year.

- 3. Ethnicity of Clients Enter number of clients to whom you provided counseling during this period. If your client came in for homebuyer education or fair housing in addition to other types of counseling, do not count them twice.

Hispanic or Latino - A person of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race. The term "Spanish origin" can be used in addition to "Hispanic or Latino."

Not Hispanic or Latino - A person not of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

4. Race of Clients Categories -

American Indian or Alaskan Native - A person having origins with any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America), and who maintains tribal affiliation or community recognition.

Asian - A person having origins with any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian Subcontinent, including, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, and Vietnam.

Black or African American - A person having origins with in of the black racial groups of Africa. Terms such as "Haitian" or "Negro" can be used in addition to "Black or African American."

Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands.

- 5. Income Levels - Enter the client's income level based on the percentage of the Area Median Income (AMI), adjusted for family size.

6. Number of Clients Receiving Educational or Outreach Services

Homebuyer Education (6a). Enter data for clients who completed a homebuyer education course or workshop. Homebuyer education differs from counseling in that it is usually conducted in a group setting and is not tailored to the unique circumstance of the individual. Counseling goes beyond the general education, is more rigorous, and involves one-on-one and longer-term relationships. Note that you will also count the client who receives or is receiving counseling under the prepurchase counseling heading.

Post-Purchase Homeowner Workshop (6b). Enter data for clients who completed a post-purchase homeowner education course or workshop. This includes topics such as budgeting and financial management, real estate taxes and insurance, and property maintenance. Please also count the client who supplements education with one-on-one counseling under the appropriate counseling heading.

Fair Housing (6c). Enter data for clients who, in addition to seeking other types counseling as described on this form, had issues affecting a protected class as defined under the Fair Housing Act, 42 USC 3601-3631. The law prohibits discrimination on basis of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, or familial status. Remember to include these clients under the appropriate type of counseling sought.

Predatory Lending (6d). Enter data for clients who attended a predatory lending workshop or outreach program. Please also count the client who supplements education with one-on-one counseling under the appropriate counseling heading.

7. Number of Clients Counseled, by Purpose of Visit and Results.

General

Clients - Please remember that you report clients as the number of individual households you counseled.

Examples:

- a. A husband and wife or a brother and sister or three friends who are mortgagors under the same note count as one client.
- b. Three renting families who experience the same problem with the same landlord and come to your agency together for assistance and receive the same problem resolution count as one client.

Columnar Entries - The report contains two data columns.

- c. All Counseling Activities - Enter data covering all housing counseling activities, including those performed under one or more HUD housing counseling grant. Results of
- d. HUD Grant Activities - Enter data covering only counseling provided under one or more HUD counseling grants during the report period. Include this data in the "All Counseling Activities" column.

Other - Throughout the form, "other" provides a general category into which you place clients who do not fall under any specific category on the form.

Counseling (7a through 7e) - Enter the number of clients to whom you provided counseling during the report period, by the purpose of their visit and results. This count might include clients who entered your workload the previous report period but who carried over into and received counseling during the current report period. Enter the client count in the box that best describes the status of the clients when they first entered your workload.

Counseling (7a through 7e) continued -For each of the five types of counseling sought, enter data for the appropriate results listed. NOTE: You might achieve more than one result for the same client during the report year. In the rare event that there is more than one result, please report only one. You should select the result that most closely relates to the counseling received.

Example: A mortgagor in default enters into a forbearance agreement and later sells the property. You report the first result because the counseling enabled the client to seek and enter into forbearance. Also, in the Pre-Purchase Counseling outcomes, enter the client as mortgage ready after 90 days, if the client has entered a homebuyer savings plan, debt management plan, or some other type of long-term financial plan to prepare for homeownership.

8. HUD Grant Activity - Summary Data - Enter summary data from the "HUD Grant Activities" column for each grant under which you provided counseling during the report period. In the "Total" row, enter totals for the "No. of Clients" and the "Amount Invoiced" columns.

9. An authorized staff person must sign and date the report.

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 1.17 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number.

This information is collected in connection with HUD's Housing Counseling Program, and will be used by HUD to determine that the grant applicant meets the requirements of the Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) and to assign points for awarding grant funds on a competitive and equitable basis. The information is required to obtain funding under Section 106 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The information is considered sensitive and is protected by the Privacy Act which requires the records to be maintained with appropriate administrative, technical and physical safeguards to ensure their security and confidentiality.

LEAD-BASED PAINT HAZARD CONTROL GRANT PROGRAM

Billing Code 4210-32-C

Funding Availability for the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program is to assist States, Native American Tribes and local governments in undertaking comprehensive programs to identify and control lead-based paint hazards in eligible privately owned housing for rental or owner-occupants in partnership with nonprofit organizations including grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations.

Available Funds. Approximately $96 million in Fiscal Year 2003 and approximately $7 million in previous year recaptured funds.

Eligible Applicants. States, Native American Tribes or local governments. If you are a State or Tribal applicant, you must have a Lead-Based Paint Contractor Certification and Accreditation Program authorized by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Application Deadline. You, the applicant, must submit a completed application to HUD on or before the respective program's application due date. The application deadline is June 10, 2003.

Match. A statutory minimum of 10% match in local funds.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Application and Submission Procedures

(1) Application Submission. See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures concerning the form of application submission (e.g., mailed applications, express mail or overnight delivery). Be advised that there is no Application Kit for this year's Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program. All the information required to submit an application is contained in this Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA).

(2) Addresses. You, the applicant, must submit a complete application to: Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, Attn: Lead Hazard Control Grant Program, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Room P3206, Washington, DC 20410.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance: You may contact Matthew E. Ammon, Director, Lead Hazard Control Grants Division, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, at the address above; telephone (202) 755-1785, extension 158 (this is not a toll-free number). If you are a hearing-or speech-impaired person, you may reach the above telephone numbers via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

I. Authority, Funding Amounts, and Amount of Funds Allocated

(A) Authority. The Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Program is authorized by Section 1011 of the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992 (Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992). HUD's authority for making funding available under this NOFA is the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Public Law 108-7, approved February 20, 2003.

(B) Funding Available and Eligibility. Approximately $96 million in Fiscal Year 2003 and approximately $7 million in previous year recaptured funds will be available for the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program. The maximum award amount shall be $3 million per grant. Approximately 30 to 40 grants will be awarded. New applicants or those previously funded lead-based paint hazard control grantee applicants whose period of performance ended prior to the application deadline date will be evaluated and scored as a separate group and will not be in direct competition with applications from current grantee applicants that are eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal to their existing grant. A maximum of 35 percent of the funds will be made available to applicants eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal. The project duration shall be 42 months for new grant recipients and 36 months for Performance-Based Renewal grantees. HUD reserves the right to approve no-cost time extensions for a period not to exceed 24 months. For new applicants, a minimum score of 75 is required for award consideration. Current grantees with active grants at the application deadline date must meet specific performance criteria in their current grant to be eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal. Current grantees eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal must meet or exceed the specific work plan performance benchmark goals and objectives outlined below for the period ending March 31, 2003 to be eligible to receive up to $3 million to continue grant program activities for an additional 36 months after their current period of performance ends. Current grantees that do not meet the performance criteria below are not eligible to submit an application under this NOFA. Current grantees with active grants at the application deadline date funded under the Fiscal Year 1998 Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program NOFA published in the Federal Register (FR) March 31, 1998 and grantees funded under the Fiscal Year 2002 Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program NOFA published in the Federal Register (FR) March 26, 2002 are not eligible to apply.

PERFORMANCE-BASED RENEWAL ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

[For period ending March 31, 2003]

FY	Round	Percentage of units completed and cleared	Percentage of federal funds reimbursed through the line of credit control system (LOCCS)
1999	7	80	55
2000	8	65	45
2001	9	50	35

By achieving the above-referenced level of performance, current grantees have demonstrated a clear competitive basis for eligibility in receiving additional funds without the need to submit a full application in response to the NOFA. The Performance-Based Renewal category reflects the intention of the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program to move towards more competitive performance-based awards. Applicants eligible to submit a Performance-Based Renewal will be required to submit a Total Budget (Federal Share and Matching), a work plan strategy with specific, measurable, and realistic benchmark performance objectives and any supporting materials prescribed in the NOFA for the entire Performance-Based Renewal period of performance. In addition, grantees awarded grant funds under this category will be required to meet the terms and conditions of their current grant agreement and any additional applicable requirements under this NOFA and subsequent grant agreement modification. HUD may terminate awards to grantees that fail to meet established milestones or benchmark performance standards established by this NOFA or the Award Agreement.

II. Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Program Description. The Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program assists States, Native American Tribes and local governments in undertaking programs for the identification and control of lead-based paint hazards in eligible privately-owned rental and owner-occupied housing units. Appendix B (Eligibility of HUD Assisted Housing) lists the HUD-associated housing programs that meet the definition of eligible housing under this program.

(1) Because lead-based paint is a national problem, these funds will be awarded to programs which:

(a) Maximize the combination of children protected from lead poisoning and housing units where lead-hazards are controlled;

(b) Target lead hazard control efforts at housing in which children are at greatest risk of lead poisoning;

(c) Stimulate cost-effective approaches that can be replicated;

(d) Emphasize lower cost methods of hazard control;

(e) Build local capacity to safely and effectively address lead hazards during lead hazard control, renovation, remodeling, and maintenance activities; and

(f) Affirmatively further fair housing and environmental justice.

(2) The objectives of this program include:

(a) Implementation of a national strategy, as defined in Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 4851 et seq.) (Title X), to build the community's capacity necessary to eliminate lead-based paint hazards in housing, as widely and quickly as possible by establishing a workable framework for lead-based paint hazard identification and control;

(b) Mobilization of public and private resources, involving cooperation among all levels of government, the private sector, and grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations to develop cost-effective methods for identifying and controlling lead-based paint hazards;

(c) Development of comprehensive community approaches which result in integration of all community resources (governmental, grassroots faith-based and other community-based, and private businesses) to address lead hazards in housing;

(d) Integration of lead-safe work practices into housing maintenance, repair, weatherization, rehabilitation, and other programs that will continue after the grant period ends;

(e) Establishment of a public registry (listing) of lead-safe housing or inclusion of the lead-safe status of properties in another publicly accessible address-based property information system and affirmatively marketed to families with young children; and

(f) To the greatest extent feasible, promotion of job training, employment, and other economic opportunities for low-income and minority residents and businesses that are owned by and/or employ low-income and minority residents as defined in 24 CFR 135.5 (see 59 FR 33881, June 30, 1994).

(B) Eligible Applicants.

(1) To be eligible to apply for funding under this program, the applicant must be a State, Indian Tribe, or unit of local government. Multiple units of a local government (or multiple local governments) may apply as part of a consortium; however, you must identify a lead applicant that will be responsible for ensuring compliance with all requirements specified in this NOFA. You may submit only one application. In the event that multiple applications are submitted, this will be considered a curable (minor) defect and the application review process delayed until you notify HUD in writing which application should be reviewed. Your other applications will be returned unevaluated (see Section VIII of the General Section of this SuperNOFA).

(2) Threshold Requirements. As an applicant, you must meet all of the threshold requirements of the General Section of this SuperNOFA (Section V (B)) as well as any specific threshold requirements for applicants under the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program. Applications will not be rated or ranked if they do not meet the threshold requirements.

(3) Consolidated Plans. (This requirement does not apply to Native American Tribes.)

(a) If your jurisdiction has a current HUD-approved Consolidated Plan, you must submit, as an appendix, a copy of the lead-based paint element included in the approved Consolidated Plan.

(b) If your jurisdiction does not have a currently approved Consolidated Plan, but it is otherwise eligible for this grant program, you must include your jurisdiction's abbreviated Consolidated Plan, which includes a lead-based paint hazard control strategy developed in accordance with 24 CFR 91.235.

(4) Contracts or other formal arrangements with nonprofit grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations. If selected for funding, local and State applicants must enter into contractual relationships or other formal arrangements with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations. Such relationships must be established prior to actual execution of the grant agreement. This requirement does not apply to Native American Tribes.

(5) EPA Authorization. If you are a State government or Indian (Native American) Tribal government, you must have an EPA-authorized Lead-Based Paint Training and Certification Program in effect on the application deadline date to be eligible to apply for Lead Hazard Control Grant funds. The approval date in the Federal Register notice published by the EPA will be used in determining the Training and Certification status of the applicant State or Indian (Native American) Tribal government.

(6) Current grantees with active grants at the application deadline date must meet specific performance criteria in their most recent grant to be eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal Grant. Current grantees that do not meet the performance criteria in Section II (B) for the period ending March 31, 2003 are not eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal grant. Current grantees funded under the Fiscal Year 1998 Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program published in the Federal Register (FR) March 31, 1998 or funded under the Fiscal Year 2002 Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program NOFA published in the Federal Register (FR) March 26, 2002 are not eligible to apply.

(7) The eligibility factors discussed in paragraphs (1) through (6) above are threshold requirements. If you do not satisfy the appropriate eligibility requirements stated in these paragraphs, HUD will not review your application.

(C) Eligible Activities. HUD is interested in promoting lead hazard control approaches that result in the reduction of this health threat for the maximum number of low-income families with children under six years of age, for the longest period of time, and that demonstrate techniques which are cost-effective, efficient, and replicable elsewhere. Activities must be conducted in compliance with HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Regulation, 24 CFR part 35, and with any applicable requirements of a Training and Certification Program that has been authorized by the EPA under the requirements of 40 CFR 745.320. Copies of HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Regulation, and the companion publication "Interpretive Guidance: The HUD Regulation on Controlling Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing Receiving Federal Assistance and Federally Owned Housing Being Sold," are available from the National Lead Information Clearinghouse at 1-800-424-LEAD (this is a toll-free number). If you are a hearing- or speech-impaired person, you may reach the telephone number via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339. Copies are also available from the Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control website at: www.hud.gov/offices/lead.

(1) Direct Project Elements that you may undertake directly or through sub-recipients, include:

(a) Performing dust testing, inspections, and risk assessments of eligible housing units constructed prior to 1978 to determine the presence of lead-based paint and/or lead hazards from paint, dust, or soil through the use of acceptable testing procedures. All test results must be provided to the owner of the unit, together with a notice describing the owner's legal duty to disclose the results to tenants and buyers.

(b) Conducting required pre-hazard control blood lead testing of children under the age of six years of age residing in units undergoing lead paint inspection/ risk assessment, or hazard control, unless reimbursable from Medicaid or another source.

(c) Conducting lead hazard control activities that may include any combination of the following:

(i) Interim control of lead-based paint hazards in housing (that must include specialized cleaning techniques to address lead dust);

(ii) Abatement. The complete abatement of all lead-based paint hazards or lead-contaminated soil in a unit or structure is acceptable. Abatement of lead-contaminated soil should be limited to areas with bare soil in the immediate vicinity of the structure, i.e. dripline or foundation of the unit being treated, and children's play areas. Abatement of all lead based paint is only acceptable in limited circumstances with prior HUD approval.

All lead hazards identified in a housing unit enrolled in the lead hazard control grant program must be controlled or eliminated by any combination of these strategies.

(d) Carrying out relocation of families and individuals during the period in which hazard control is conducted and until the time the affected unit receives clearance for reoccupancy.

(e) Performing blood lead testing and air sampling to protect the health of the hazard control workers, supervisors, and contractors.

(f) Undertaking minimal housing rehabilitation activities that are specifically required to carry out effective hazard control, and without which the hazard control could not be completed and maintained. These grant funds may be used for lead hazard control work done in conjunction with other housing rehabilitation programs. HUD strongly encourages integration of this grant program with housing rehabilitation, maintenance, weatherization, and other energy conservation activities.

(g) Conducting clearance dust-wipe testing and laboratory analysis (laboratory must be recognized by the National Lead Laboratory Accreditation Program (NLLAP) as being capable of performing lead analyses of samples of paint, dust-wipes, and/or soil).

(h) Engineering and architectural activities that are required for, and in direct support of, lead hazard control.

(i) Providing resources to build capacity for lead-safe housing and lead hazard control, including free delivery of HUD-approved lead-safe work practices training courses for housing rehabilitation contractors, rehabilitation workers, homeowners, renters, painters, remodelers, maintenance staff, and others conducting renovation, rehabilitation, maintenance or other work in private housing; free delivery of lead sampling technician training, lead-based paint worker or contractor certification training; and subsidies for licensing or certification fees to low-income persons seeking credentials as lead-based paint workers or contractors or lead sampling technicians.

(j) Providing instruction, training, and material supplies for dust control activities to grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, parent organizations, homeowners, and renters in low-income private housing.

(k) Conducting planning, coordination, and training activities to comply with HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Regulation (24 CFR Part 35) that became effective on September 15, 2000. These activities should support the expansion of a workforce properly trained in lead-safe work practices which is available to conduct interim controls on HUD assisted housing covered by these regulations. The regulation and interpretive guidance about the rule are available from the National Lead Information Center at 1-800-424-LEAD (this is a toll-free number). If you are a hearing-or speech-impaired person, you may reach the telephone number via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339. Copies are also available from the HUD website at: www.hud.gov

(l) Conducting general or targeted community awareness, education or outreach programs on lead hazard control and lead poisoning prevention designed to increase the ability of the program to deliver lead hazard control services including educating owners of rental properties, tenants, and others on the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act, Lead-Safe Housing Regulation, and applicable provisions of the Fair Housing Act, and offering educational materials in languages other than English, when needed, and providing training on lead-safe maintenance and renovation practices and management. Upon request, this also would include making all materials available in alternative formats to persons with disabilities (e.g., Braille, audio, large type).

(m) Procuring liability insurance for lead-hazard control activities.

(n) Supporting data collection, analysis, and evaluation of grant program activities. This includes compiling and delivering such information and data as may be required by HUD. This activity is separate from administrative costs.

(o) Participating in applied research, studies, or developing information systems to enhance the delivery, analysis, or conduct of lead hazard control activities, or to facilitate targeting and consolidating resources to further childhood lead poisoning prevention efforts.

(p) Purchasing or leasing equipment having a per unit cost under $5,000.

(q) Purchasing or leasing no more than two (2) X-ray fluorescence analyzers for use by the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program, if not already available.

(r) Preparing a final report at the conclusion of grant activities.

(2) Support Elements.

(a) Administrative costs. There is a 10% maximum for administrative costs. Specific information on administrative costs is included in Appendix B.

(b) Program planning and management costs of sub-grantees and other sub-recipients.

(D) Ineligible Activities. You may not use grant funds for:

(1) Purchase of real property.

(2) Purchase or lease of equipment having a per unit cost in excess of $5,000, except for the purchase of X-ray fluorescence analyzers.

(3) Chelation or other medical treatment costs related to children with elevated blood lead levels. Non-federal funds used to cover these costs may be counted as part of the required matching contribution.

(4) Lead hazard control activities in publicly owned housing, or project-based Section 8 housing (This housing stock is not eligible under Section 1011 of the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act, but other funds are available).

III. Requirements

(A) Threshold Requirements. In addition to the requirements listed in Section V. of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, the applicant must comply with the following:

(1) Matching Contribution. You must provide a matching contribution of at least 10% of the requested grant sum. This may be in the form of cash, including private sector funding, or in-kind (non-cash) contributions or a combination of these sources. With the exception of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds, Federal Revenue Sharing programs, or other programs which by statute allow their funds to be considered local funds and therefore eligible to be used as matching funds, Federal funds may not be used to satisfy the statutorily required 10% matching requirement. Federal funds may be used, however, for contributions above the statutory requirement. If an applicant does not include the minimum ten percent match in the application, it will be considered a curable (correctable) technical deficiency (see Section VIII, Corrections to Deficient Applications in the General Section of this SuperNOFA for the specific details on how to correct this technical deficiency).

(B) Program Requirements. In addition to the threshold requirements, the applicant must also comply with the following:

(1) Work Activities. Conformance of proposed plans to Federal and State policies for Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control. All lead hazard control activities must be conducted in compliance with the applicable requirements of HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Regulation, 24 CFR Part 35, and as clarified in HUD's Interpretive Guidance about the rule. Activities must also comply with any additional requirements in effect under a State or Tribal Lead-Based Paint Training and Certification Program that has been authorized by the EPA pursuant to 40 CFR 745.320.

(2) Direct Lead Hazard Identification and Control Activities. The budget proposed must show a minimum of 60 percent of the total Federal amount requested identified for direct lead hazard control activities. Direct lead hazard control activities consist of dust testing, lead paint inspections, risk assessments, lead hazard control services, and clearance examinations. Direct hazard control activities do not include relocation, blood lead testing of residents or workers, housing rehabilitation, training, community education, applied research, purchase of supplies or equipment, or administrative costs.

(3) Lead-Safe Work Practice Training Activities. For most applicants, at least two percent of the total Federal amount in the budget proposal will be necessary to promote the expansion of a workforce properly trained in lead-safe work practices and which is available to conduct interim controls and/or lead hazard abatement as well as follow lead-safe work practices while performing work on HUD assisted housing units per the provisions of the HUD Lead-Safe Housing Regulation 24 CFR part 35(1330(a)(4)(iii)(v), and to safely repair, rehabilitate, and maintain other privately-owned residential property. Any applicant that proposes to use less than two percent of the total Federal amount for this purpose shall present evidence that there is currently in place a workforce that is sufficient in size and is properly trained to carry out the work under the Lead Hazard Control grant and the HUD Lead-Safe Housing Regulation.

(C) Administrative Costs. There is a 10% maximum for administrative costs as specified in Section 1011 (j) of the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992 (Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, Public Law 102-550). Additional information about allowable administrative costs is provided in Appendix B of this NOFA.

(D) Period of Performance. The period of performance is 42 months for new or prior grantee applicants. The period of performance for current grantee applicants eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal is 36 months. HUD reserves the right to approve no cost time extensions for a period not to exceed 24 months.

(E) Certified and Trained Performers. Funded activities must be conducted by persons qualified for the activities according to 24 CFR part 35 (possessing certification as abatement contractors, risk assessors, inspectors, abatement workers, or sampling technicians, or others having been trained in a HUD-approved course in lead-safe work practices).

(F) Coastal Barrier Resources Act. Pursuant to the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3501), you may not use these grant funds for properties located in the Coastal Barrier Resources System.

(G) Flood Disaster Protection Act. Under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (42 U.S.C. 4001-4128), you may not use these grant funds for lead-based paint hazard control of a building or manufactured home that is located in an area identified by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) as having special flood hazards unless:

(1) The community in which the area is situated is participating in the National Flood Insurance Program in accordance with the applicable regulations (44 CFR parts 59-79), or less than a year has passed since FEMA notification regarding these hazards; and

(2) Where the community is participating in the National Flood Insurance Program, flood insurance on the property is obtained in accordance with section 102(a) of the Flood Disaster Protection Act (42 U.S.C. 4012a(a)). You are responsible for assuring that flood insurance is obtained and maintained for the appropriate amount and term.

(H) National Historic Preservation Act. The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 470) and the regulations at 36 CFR part 800 apply to the lead-based paint hazard control activities that are undertaken pursuant to this program. HUD and the Advisory Council for Historic Preservation have developed an optional Model Agreement for use by grantees and State Historic Preservation Officers in carrying out activities under this program. The Model Agreement may be obtained from the HUD Web site at: www.hud.gov/utilities/intercept.cfm?/offices/lead/grantfrm/pgi/95_06.pdf.

(I) Waste Disposal. You must handle waste disposal according to the requirements of the appropriate local, State and Federal regulatory agencies. You must handle disposal of wastes from hazard control activities that contain lead-based paint, but are not classified as hazardous in accordance with state or local law or the HUD Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Hazards in Housing (HUD Guidelines). The Guidelines are available from the HUD Web site at: www.hud.gov/offices/lead/guidelines/hudguidelines/index.cfm.

(J) Worker Protection Procedures. You must observe the procedures for worker protection established in the HUD Guidelines, as well as the requirements of the Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) (29 CFR 1926.62, Lead Exposure in Construction), or the State or local occupational safety and health regulations, whichever are most protective. If other applicable requirements contain more stringent requirements than the HUD Guidelines, the more rigorous standards shall be followed.

(K) Prohibited Practices. You must not engage in the following prohibited practices:

- (1) Open flame burning or torching;
- (2) Machine sanding or grinding without a high-efficiency particulate air (HEPA) exhaust control;
- (3) Uncontained hydro blasting or high-pressure wash;
- (4) Abrasive blasting or sandblasting without HEPA exhaust control;

(5) Heat guns operating above 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit;

(6) Chemical paint strippers containing methylene chloride or other volatile hazardous chemicals in a poorly ventilated space; and

(7) Dry scraping or dry sanding, except scraping in conjunction with heat guns or around electrical outlets or when treating no more than two square feet in any one interior room or space, or totaling no more than 20 square feet on exterior surfaces.

(L) Written Policies and Procedures. You must have clearly established, written policies and procedures for eligibility, program marketing, unit selection, expediting work on homes occupied by children with elevated blood lead levels, and all phases of lead hazard control, including risk assessment, inspection, development of specifications, pre-hazard control blood lead testing, financing, relocation and clearance testing. Grantees, subcontractors, sub-grantees, sub-recipients, and their contractors must adhere to these policies and procedures.

(M) Continued Availability of Lead-Safe Housing to Low-Income Families. Units in which lead hazards have been controlled under this program shall be occupied by and/or continue to be available to low-income residents as required by Title X (Section 1011). You must maintain a publicly available registry (listing) of units in which lead hazards have been controlled and ensure that these units are affirmatively marketed to agencies and families as suitable housing for families with children under six years of age. The grantee must also notify the owner of the information that is collected so that the owner will comply with disclosure requirements under 24 CFR part 35, subpart A.

(N) Testing. In developing your application budget, include costs for lead paint inspection, risk assessment, and clearance testing for each dwelling that will receive lead hazard control, as follows:

(1) General. All testing and sampling shall conform to the current HUD Guidelines and Federal, state or tribal regulations developed as part of the appropriate contractor certification program whichever is more stringent. It is particularly important to provide this full cycle of testing for lead hazard control, including interim controls. Testing must be conducted according to the HUD Guidelines and the EPA lead hazard standards rule at 40 CFR part 745. All test results must be provided to the owner in a timely fashion, together with a notice describing the owner's legal duty to disclose the results to tenants and buyers under 24 CFR part 35, subpart A.

(a) Lead-Based Paint and Lead-Based Paint Hazard Identification. A combined inspection and risk assessment is required. You should ensure that lead paint inspection and risk assessment reports are conducted in accordance with established protocols and sufficient to support hazard control decisions.

(b) Clearance Testing. Clearance testing shall be completed in accordance with Chapter 15 of the HUD Guidelines and the EPA lead hazards standards rule at 40 CFR part 745 for abatement projects and the Lead-Safe Housing Regulation (24 CFR part 35) for lead hazard control activities or other abatement. The clearance standards shall be the more restrictive of those set by the local jurisdiction or by EPA or HUD.

(c) Blood lead testing. Before lead hazard control work begins, each occupant who is under six years of age must be tested for lead poisoning within the six months preceding the housing intervention. Any child with an elevated blood lead level must be referred for appropriate medical follow-up. The standards for such testing are described in the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) publications Preventing Lead Poisoning in Young Children (1991), and Screening Young Children for Lead Poisoning: Guidance for State and Local Public Health Officials (1997).

(O) Cooperation With Related Research and Evaluation. You shall cooperate fully with any research or evaluation sponsored by HUD, CDC, EPA or other government agency and associated with this grant program, including preservation of project data and records and compiling requested information in formats provided by the researchers, evaluators or HUD. This also may include the compiling of certain relevant local demographic, dwelling unit, and participant data not contemplated in your original proposal. Participant data shall be subject to Privacy Act protection.

(P) Data collection. You will be required to collect and maintain the data necessary to document the various lead hazard control methods used and the cost of these methods.

(Q) Section 3 Employment Opportunities. Please see Section V (E) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. The requirements of Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 are applicable to the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Program.

(R) Replacing Existing Resources. Funds received under this grant program shall not be used to replace existing community resources dedicated to any ongoing project.

(S) Certifications and Assurances. You must include the certifications and assurances listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA with your application.

(T) Davis-Bacon Act. The Davis-Bacon Act does not apply to this program. However, if you use grant funds in conjunction with other Federal programs in which Davis-Bacon prevailing wage rates apply, then Davis-Bacon provisions would apply to the extent required under the other Federal programs.

(U) Conducting Business in Accordance with HUD Core Values and Ethical Standards. If awarded assistance under this NOFA, you will be required, prior to entering into a new or modified grant agreement with HUD, to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct (see Section V (B)(3) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about conducting business in accordance with HUD's core values and ethical standards).

(V) Ensuring the participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. HUD is committed to ensuring that small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses and women-owned businesses participate fully in HUD's direct contracting and in contracting opportunities generated by HUD grant funds. Too often, these businesses still experience difficulty accessing information and successfully bidding on Federal contracts. HUD regulations at 24 CFR 85.36(e) require recipients of assistance (grantees and sub grantees) to take all necessary affirmative steps in contracting for purchase of goods or services to assure that minority firms, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible. Affirmative steps shall include:

(1) Placing qualified small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises on solicitation lists;

(2) Assuring that small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises are solicited whenever they are potential sources;

(3) Dividing total requirements, when economically feasible, into smaller tasks or quantities to permit maximum participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises;

(4) Establishing delivery schedules, where the requirement permits, which encourage participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises;

(5) Using the services and assistance of the Small Business Administration (SBA), and the Minority Business Development Agency of the Department of Commerce; and

(6) Requiring the prime contractor, if subcontracts are to be let, to take the affirmative steps listed in paragraphs (e)(2)(i) through (v) above.

IV. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. Please see Section VI (B) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. Only those applications that meet the threshold review requirements will be rated and ranked. For new applicants, HUD intends to fund the highest ranked applications receiving a minimum score of 75 within the limits of funding.

A current grantee eligible to receive a Performance-Based Renewal Grant will be rated and ranked based on its demonstrated performance in terms of the number of housing units completed and cleared (as a percentage of units in current grant agreement), the cumulative Line of Credit Control System (LOCCS) drawdowns to date, and other work plan benchmarks or milestones achieved. Performance will be evaluated based upon the quarterly progress data submitted to HUD for the period ending March 31, 2003 and other data available to HUD.

In addition, the work plan and budget submitted in response to this NOFA will be evaluated as part of the rating and ranking process.

Current grantees that are eligible to submit a Performance-Based Renewal application and are successful applicants, will have their current grant agreement modified to allow for an additional 36-months grant. Eligible current grantee applicants are not to respond to the Factors for Award in this NOFA, but must submit the required budget forms included in this NOFA and develop a work plan strategy with benchmark standards for conducting lead hazard control program activities. A work plan and budget should be developed for the 36-month period. The submission requirements for the Performance-Based Renewal grant can be found in Appendix C of this Program Section of the NOFA.

HUD intends to fund the highest ranked applicants within the limits of funding.

(1) Remaining Funds. See Section VI (E) (3) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for HUD's procedures if funds remain after all selections have been made within a category of the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program.

(B) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are stated below.

(1) Performance-Based Renewal applications will be evaluated based on the criteria below:

The maximum number of points to be awarded will be 40.

(a) Production (10 points). The number of units completed and cleared. Grantees whose percentage of units completed and cleared in their current agreement meets or exceeds the performance criteria below will be awarded points based on the chart below.

Percentage of units completed and cleared	Round 7 FY 1999	Round 8 FY 2000	Round 9 FY 2001
>50-55			3
>55-60			4
>60-65			5
>65-70		6	6
>70-80		7	7
>80-85	8	8	8
>85-90	9	9	9
>90-100	10	10	10

(b) Cumulative LOCCS Drawdowns (10 Points). The cumulative drawdowns from LOCCS as a percentage of the Federal funds awarded in their current agreement. Grantees whose percentage of cumulative LOCCS drawdowns in their current agreement meet or exceed the performance criteria below will be awarded points based on the chart below.

Percentage of cumulative LOCCS drawdowns to date	Round 7 FY 1999	Round 8 FY 2000	Round 9 FY 2001
>35-40			3
>40-45			4
>45-50		5	5
>50-55		6	6
>55-60	7	7	7
>60-70	8	8	8
>70-75	9	9	9
>75-100	10	10	10

(c) Other Work Plan Achievements. (5 Points). A grantee will be awarded points for meeting or exceeding their community education, outreach, and training objectives that were outlined in their most recent approved work plan and reported to HUD.

(d) Work Plan and Budget. (15 Points) The work plan and budget submitted by a grantee will be evaluated to ensure that there are specific and measurable performance objectives with benchmark milestones developed for the 36-month additional period of performance.

(2) HUD is encouraging applicants to undertake specific activities that will assist the Department in implementing its policy priorities. HUD's Strategic Goals and Policy Priorities are outlined in Section II of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. For Lead Hazard Control Grant Program applicants, activities that promote economic opportunities for low-income persons support HUD's policy priority for Improving the Quality of Life in Our Nation's Communities. A new applicant will be awarded one point under Rating Factor 3(A)(3): Economic Opportunities for activities undertaken that specifically address this policy priority. Activities that promote the participation of grassroots faith-based and community organizations support HUD's policy priority for: Providing Full and Equal Access to Grassroots Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations. An applicant will be awarded one point under Rating Factor 3(A)(4): Lead Hazard Control Outreach and Community Private Sector Involvement for activities undertaken that specifically addresses this policy priority. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 102. This maximum includes two bonus points as described in Section VI(C) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. For new applicants, a minimum score of 75 is required for fundable applications.

Rating factor	Maximum points
1. Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience	20
2. Needs/Extent of the Problem	20
3. Soundness of Approach	40
4. Leveraging Resources	10
5. Achieving Results and Program Evaluation	10

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 points)

This factor addresses your organizational capacity necessary to successfully implement the proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating of the "applicant" or the "applicant's staff" for technical merit or threshold compliance, unless otherwise specified, includes any grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia that are firmly committed to your project. In rating this factor, HUD will consider:

(1) The applicant's recent, relevant and successful demonstrated experience (including governmental, parent groups, and grassroots faith-based and other community-based partners) to undertake eligible program activities. The applicant must describe the knowledge and experience of the current or proposed overall project director and day-to-day program manager in planning and managing large and complex interdisciplinary programs, especially involving housing rehabilitation, public health, or environmental programs. The applicant must demonstrate that it has sufficient personnel or will be able to retain qualified experts or professionals, and be prepared to perform lead hazard evaluation, lead hazard control intervention work, and other proposed activities within 120 days of the effective date of the grant award. HUD reserves the right to terminate the grant if sufficient personnel or qualified experts are not retained within these 120 days. In the narrative response for this factor, you should include information on your program staff, their experience, their commitment to the program, salary information, and position titles. Resumes (for up to three key personnel) or position descriptions for those key personnel to be hired, and a clearly identified organizational chart for the lead hazard control grant program effort (and for the overall organization) must be included in an appendix. Indicate the percentage of time that key personnel will devote to your project (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 1—Key Personnel). The applicant's day-to-day program manager must be experienced in the management of housing rehabilitation or lead hazard control, childhood lead poisoning prevention, or similar work involving project management, and must be dedicated to the proposed program for a minimum of 75% of the time. Ideally, the program manager should be available at the inception of the program in order to implement this comprehensive program within the 120-day period after the effective date of the grant award. The applicant should provide a description of any previous experience in enrolling units and in completing lead hazard control work, housing rehabilitation or other work in a timely and effective manner. Describe how any other principal components of your agency, other public entities, or other organizations will participate in implementing or otherwise supporting or participating in the grant program. You may demonstrate capacity by thoroughly describing your prior experience in initiating and implementing lead hazard control efforts and/or related environmental, health, or housing projects. You should indicate how this prior experience will be used in carrying out your proposed comprehensive Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program.

(2) If the applicant received previous HUD Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant funding, this past experience will be evaluated in terms of cumulative progress and achievements under the previous grant(s). If the applicant has received multiple HUD Lead Hazard Control Grants, performance under the most recent grant award will be primarily evaluated. The applicant must provide a description of its progress and performance implementing the most recent grant award including the total number of housing units enrolled, assessed, and completed and cleared as a result of program efforts. The applicant must also describe outcomes, capacity building efforts and impediments experienced during a previous Lead Hazard Control Grant program. Other work plan activities and tasks associated with implementing HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Regulation, integrating lead-safe work practices into the private market, and promoting effective education, outreach, and other training activities should be described. The applicant should also describe specific instances where the program has contributed positive impacts in the community, and indicate what activities were undertaken to develop, enhance or expand the local infrastructure through collaboration.

HUD's evaluation process will consider an applicant's past performance record as reported to HUD in effectively organizing and managing their grant operations, in meeting performance and work plan benchmarks and goals, and in managing funds, including their ability to account for funds appropriately, the timely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, State or local programs, and meeting performance milestones. HUD may also use other information relating to these items from sources at hand, including public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints, or other sources of information that have been proven to have merit.

Rating Factor 2: Needs/Extent of the Problem (20 points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for the proposed program to address a documented problem related to lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards in your identified target area(s). An applicant will receive a higher score in this rating factor based on their documented need as evidenced by thorough, credible, and appropriate data and information. The evaluation will be based on the applicant's documentation of the number of children with elevated blood lead levels, and/or number and proportion of pre-1978 housing units with deteriorating paint (i.e., condition of housing stock) and the number of very low- and low-income families in the proposed target area(s).

(1) Document a critical level of need for your proposed activities in the geographical area where activities will be performed. Since an objective of the program is to prevent at-risk children from being poisoned, specific attention must be paid to documenting such need as it applies to the targeted area(s), rather than the entire locality or state.

(2) Document the following for the target area(s):

(a) Numbers and percentages of children less than six years of age (see Appendix A for Sample Worksheet 2—Blood Lead Level (BLL) Information).

(i) The number and percentage of children with elevated blood lead levels for the following categories:

(1) less than 10µg/dL;

(2) greater than or equal to 10µg/dL and less than 15µg/dL;

(3) greater than or equal to 15µg/dL and less than 20µg/dL; and

(4) greater than or equal to 20µg/dL.

(ii) The total number and percentage of children tested for blood lead levels,

(b1) Housing market data relevant to the specified target area(s) (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 3—Housing Age and Condition).

(i) Housing Age for the following sub-categories: Pre-1940, 1940-1949, 1950-1959, 1960-1969, 1970-1977 and 1978 or newer;

(ii) Housing Condition for the following sub-categories: Pre-1940, 1940-1949, 1950-1959, 1960-1969, 1970-1977 and 1978 or newer.

(a) The number and percentage of very-low (income less than 50% of the area median) and low-(income less than 80% of the area median) income families, as determined by HUD (www.huduser.org), with adjustments for smaller and larger families (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 4—Very-Low and Low-Income Population);

(d) Poverty data relevant to the specified target area(s);

(e) Housing market data relevant to lead hazard conditions in housing available from HUD, or other data sources, including the Consolidated Plan/Analysis of Impediments, Public Housing Authority's Five-Year Comprehensive Plan, State or local

Welfare Department's Welfare Reform Plan; and

(f) Other socio-economic, environmental, or demographic data relevant to the target area(s) or jurisdiction that demonstrate a need for lead-safe housing may be included. These data may include: the number of units that have been occupied by lead-poisoned children where the identified lead-based paint hazards have not been eliminated or controlled; the number of lead-based paint health and/or housing code violations; the number of pre 60 and pre-1978 housing units anticipated to undergo rehabilitation in the next 12 months; the proportion or number of units with lead dust hazards; information about the principal sources of exposure in your community, their prevalence, and the segments and/or characteristics of the housing most affected by these exposure sources; and/or other information about housing conditions (including the condition of housing units noted during previous lead hazard control work). Relevant data for other socio-economic, environmental, or demographic information may be obtained from census data, special studies, the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan/Analysis of Impediments, the Public Housing Authority's Five-Year Comprehensive Plan, or the State or local Welfare Department's Welfare Reform Plan or local health, housing, or community development agencies.

(3) You also must provide documentation of the priority that the community's Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice has placed on addressing the needs you described. (This section does not apply to Native American Tribes. However, a Native American Tribe applicant may use the Indian Housing Plan to document how the Indian Housing Plan addresses the need for lead hazard control grant activities.) If your application addresses needs that are in the Consolidated Plan, Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, or the result of court orders or consent decrees, settlements, conciliation agreements, voluntary compliance agreements, Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Programs or other relevant local initiatives you will receive a higher score in this rating factor than applicants that do not relate their program to identified needs.

(4) For you to receive maximum points for this rating factor there must be a direct relationship between your proposed lead hazard control activities in the target area(s) and the documented community needs.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. Applicants should develop a work plan that includes specific, measurable and time-phased objectives for each major program activity. The applicant's work plan should reflect benchmark standards for production, expenditures and other activities that have been developed by the Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control. These benchmark standards, as well as policy guidance on developing work plans have been included in Appendix A of this NOFA and are available at the HUD Web site at: www.hud.gov/offices/lead/lhc/pgi/index.cfm. This policy guidance provides a sample format and outline for developing the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program Work Plan.

Applicants should describe the proposed activities and provide HUD with measurable outcome results to be achieved with the requested funds. Measurable outcome results should be stated in terms relevant to the purpose of the program funds as a direct result of the work performed within the performance period of the grant (e.g., estimated number of units to be made lead-safe, estimated number of children living in units made lead-safe, estimated number of persons to be trained to perform lead hazard control activities, estimated number of educational programs to be presented and/or the number of persons to be served by such programs, and the basis for these estimates). Each proposed activity must be eligible as described in the NOFA and meet statutory requirements for assistance to low- and very low-income persons.

You should present information on your proposed lead-based paint hazard control program and describe how it will satisfy the need identified in Factor 2; Need and Extent of the Problem and protect young children and families from lead poisoning in the target area(s). To the extent possible, describe a comprehensive strategy to address the need to protect targeted neighborhoods rather than individual units or homes. Your response to this factor must include the elements described below:

(A) Lead Hazard Control Work Plan Strategy (32 points) Describe your work plan goals and specific time-phased strategy to complete work under the grant within the 42-month period of performance for your lead hazard control grant program. You should provide information on:

(1) Implementing a Lead Hazard Control Program (13 of 32 points). Describe how you will implement the strategy for your proposed lead hazard control program. The description must include information on:

(a) How the project will be organized, managed and staffed. You must also identify the specific steps that will be taken to train and ensure the availability of enough lead-based paint contractors and workers to conduct lead hazard control interventions, and to perform other program activities. In addition, a detailed description of the selection process for sub-grantees, subcontractors or sub-recipients, and how assistance and funding will flow from the grantee to those who will actually perform the work under the grant.

(b) The overall number of eligible privately-owned housing units scheduled for lead hazard control intervention work and the strategy for their identification, selection, prioritization, and enrollment in the selected target area(s). Discuss the eligibility criteria for unit selection and how the program will identify units that meet these criteria. Explain how referrals of eligible units will be obtained from childhood lead poisoning prevention programs, other health care or housing agencies or health providers that serve children. Also discuss how referrals from the Section 8/Housing Choice Voucher programs and other agencies that provide housing assistance to low-income households with children including CDBG, HOME Investment Partnerships Program-funded housing programs or other sources. (Include as attachments any referral agreements, commitment letters or other documents from other entities that describe their participation recruiting eligible units in the lead hazard control grant program; see Rating Factor 4 Leveraging Resources for additional information regarding referral agreements). Provide estimates of the total number of owner-occupied and/or rental units that will receive lead hazard control (see Sample Worksheet 5—Housing Occupancy Projections). You should describe how the program will respond to the needs of children with elevated blood lead levels (EBLs) located outside the target area(s).

(c) The degree to which the work plan focuses on eligible privately-owned housing units occupied by low-income families with children under six years of age. Describe your planned approaches to control lead hazards in vacant and/or occupied units before children are poisoned and your plans to ensure that the program will continue to affirmatively market and match these units made lead-safe with low-income families with children under six years of age in the future. Discuss strategies to control lead hazards in units where children have already been identified with an elevated blood lead level (EBL), including your process for referring and tracking children with EBLs for medical case management, and your capacity to rapidly complete lead hazard control work in their units. Provide estimates of the number of low-income children you will assist through this program.

(d) Discuss the lead hazard control financing strategy, including eligibility requirements, terms, conditions, dollar limits, and amounts available for lead hazard control work. Applicants must also describe how grant funds will be recaptured by the program in the event that a recipient of grant funds fails to comply with any terms and conditions of the financing arrangement (e.g. affordability, sale of property, etc.) You must discuss the way assistance from the grant funds will be administered to or on behalf of property owners (e.g. use of grants, deferred loans and/or forgivable loans and the basis and schedule for forgiveness), and the role of other resources, such as private sector financing). You should identify the entity that will administer the financing process and describe how coordination and payment between the program and contractors performing the work will be accomplished. Describe matching requirements, if any, proposed for assistance to rental property owners.

(e) You should describe how your proposed program will satisfy the stated needs in the Consolidated Plan or Indian Housing Plan, and eliminate impediments identified in the Analysis of Impediments (AI). Also describe how your proposed program will further and support the policy priorities of the Department: including promoting healthy homes and the quality of housing. In addition, describe how your strategy will provide long-term benefits to families with children under six years of age, and whether any of the proposed activities will occur in an Enterprise Zones/Enterprise Community/Renewal Communities (EZ/EC/RC) and how they will benefit the residents of those zones or communities. A list of EZ/EC/RC communities is available at www.hud.gov.

(2) Technical Approach/Performance (15 of 32 points). New and prior grantee applicants are to respond to the items below (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 6).

(a) Describe your process for the conduct of lead hazard evaluation (risk assessments and/or inspections) in units of eligible privately owned housing to confirm that there are lead-based paint hazards in the housing units where lead hazard control is undertaken.

(b) Describe your testing methods, schedule, and costs for performing blood lead testing, risk assessments, paint inspections and clearance examinations to be used. If you propose to use a more restrictive standard than the HUD/EPA thresholds (e.g., less than 0.5% or 1.0 mg/ square centimeter for lead in paint, or less than 40, 250, 400 µg/square foot for lead in dust on floors, sills and troughs, respectively); or 400 ppm in bare soil in children's play areas and 1200 ppm for bare soil in the rest of the yard), identify the standard(s) that will be used. All testing shall be performed in accordance with applicable regulations.

(c) Describe the lead hazard control methods and strategies you will undertake and the number of units you will treat for each method selected (interim controls or hazard abatement). Complete abatement of all lead painted surfaces in all units is generally not acceptable as a strategy. In cases where only a few surfaces have lead hazards in a specific unit and abatement is cost-effective, the applicant must provide a detailed rationale for selecting complete abatement as a strategy. Provide an estimate of the per unit costs (and a basis for those estimates) for each lead hazard control method proposed and a schedule for initiating and completing lead hazard control work in the selected units. Discuss efforts to incorporate cost-effective lead hazard control methods. Explain your cost estimates, providing detail on how the estimates were developed, with particular references to cost effectiveness.

(d) Schedule. Provide a realistic schedule for completing key activities, by quarter, so that all activities can be completed within the period of performance of the grant. Key production activities include enrollment of units, paint inspections/risk assessments, and completion/clearance of units. When developing the application, the applicant shall take into consideration previous experience and performance in administering similar kinds of lead hazard control or rehabilitation programs.

(e) Timeframes. Describe the estimated elapsed timeframe for treating a typical unit that will receive lead hazard control, including referral/intake, enrollment (qualification of the unit as eligible), combined paint inspection/risk assessments, preparation of specifications or work write-up, selection of the contractor, lead hazard control intervention work activities, quality control and monitoring of work activities, and clearance. The timeframe should include an estimate of the staff and contractor time required to treat a typical unit that will receive lead hazard control. Describe the schedule for emergency referrals (e.g., unit occupied by a child under six years of age with an elevated blood lead level). List the type of unit (e.g., owner-occupied, rental, or vacant) and the number of units projected in each of the following categories: lead-based paint inspections/risk assessments; interim controls; hazard abatement and clearance inspections.

(f) Workflow and Production Control. Provide guidelines and/or flowcharts showing agency/partner responsibilities for each step in the process (from intake to clearance) and describe/show how coordination and hand-offs will be handled. Discuss how the actual production status of units, from intake to final clearance, will be monitored, and how and when production bottlenecks will be identified, remedied and monitored.

(g) Describe how you will integrate proposed lead hazard control activities with rehabilitation activities, including providing the training needed to create a workforce properly trained in lead-safe work practices for units assisted or rehabilitated under other HUD programs, and any collaboration with local housing or health departments, rehabilitation programs or community development corporations to stage lead hazard control and rehabilitation in the same units.

(h) Describe your contracting process, including development of specifications or adoption of existing specifications for selected lead hazard control methods. Describe the management processes you will use to ensure the cost-effectiveness of your lead hazard control methods. Your application must include a discussion of the contracting process for the conduct of lead hazard control activities in the selected units, and requirements for coordination among lead hazard control, rehabilitation, weatherization, and other contractors.

(i) Describe your plan for occupant protection or the relocation of the occupants of units selected for lead hazard control work. Describe any plan to avoid overnight relocation in small scale projects consistent with 24 CFR 35.1345(a)(2) and HUD's Interpretive Guidance of 24 CFR part 35, including J24, R18, and R19 (see Appendix B of this NOFA). Your work plan should address the use of safe houses and other temporary housing arrangements, storage of household goods, stipends, incentives, etc.

(3) Economic Opportunity (4 points).

(a) Describe the ways you will train individuals and contractors in housing related trades, such as painters, remodelers, renovators, maintenance personnel, rehabilitation specialists, and others in lead-safe work practices.

(b) Describe how you will help to integrate lead-safety into other housing activities, such as meeting the requirements of the HUD Lead-Safe Housing Regulation in housing units rehabilitated or assisted with Federal funds.

(c) Describe the methods to be used to provide economic opportunities for residents and businesses throughout the community within the target area. This discussion should include information on how you will promote training, employment, business development, and contract opportunities as part of your lead hazard control program.

Grantees must comply with Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701u) and HUD's implementing rules at 24 CFR part 135. Describe how you will accomplish the requirement by (1) providing training and employment opportunities for low and very low-income persons living within the grantee's jurisdiction, and by (2) providing business opportunities to businesses owned by low and very low-income persons living within the grantee's jurisdiction. Applicants that provide training, employment or business opportunities for low and very low income persons will receive one point in this sub factor.

(4) Lead Hazard Control Outreach and Community Private Sector Involvement (6 points). Applicants are encouraged to solicit participation of grassroots faith-based and other community-based and private sector organizations to accomplish outreach and community involvement activities and to build long-term capacity to sustain accomplishments in the target area. Applicants that partner, fund, or subcontract with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations will receive one point in this sub-factor. Your application must describe:

(a) Proposed methods of community education. These may include community awareness, education, training, and outreach programs in support of the work plan and objectives. This description should include general and/or targeted efforts undertaken to assist your program in reducing lead exposure. Programs should be culturally sensitive, targeted, and linguistically appropriate. Upon request, this would include making materials available in alternative formats to persons with disabilities (e.g., Braille, audio, large type), and in other languages common to the community to the extent possible.

(b) Strategy for involving neighborhood or grassroots faith-based and other community based organizations in your proposed activities. Your activities may include training (including training residents to screen houses through visual assessment and sampling), outreach, community education, marketing, inspection (including dust lead testing), and the conduct of lead hazard control activities. HUD will evaluate the proposed level of substantive involvement of such organizations during the review process.

(c) Strategies and methodologies that affirmatively further fair housing and increase access to lead-safe housing for all segments of the population: homeowners, owners of rental properties, and tenants. This outreach should address ways to avoid housing discrimination against families with young children, and ways to ensure that all families will have adequate, lead-safe housing choices in the future. These strategies could include your plans to develop and implement a registry (listing) of lead-safe housing that is available to the public, or to incorporate the inclusion of the lead-safe status of properties in another publicly accessible address-based property information system. The strategy could also include affirmatively marketing your services to those populations least likely to apply and who may not be served by any of the partner organizations working with you.

(5) Data Collection and other Program Support Activities (2 points).

(a) Identify and discuss the specific methods you will use (in addition to HUD reporting requirements) to document activities, progress, program effectiveness, and how changes necessary to improve performance will be implemented. Describe how you will obtain, document and report on information collected.

(b) Provide a detailed description of any proposed participation in research activities, studies, or development of information systems designed to enhance the delivery, analysis, or conduct of lead hazard control activities, or that will facilitate the targeting and pooling of resources to further childhood lead poisoning prevention efforts.

If you are proposing to participate in research activities, describe the objectives, methodology and impact at the local level of the proposed research activities.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 points)

This factor addresses your ability to obtain other community and private sector resources that can be combined with HUD's program resources to achieve program objectives. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which you have established working partnerships with other entities to get additional resources or commitments to increase the effectiveness of the proposed program activities (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 7 (Match Funding) and Worksheet 8 (Grant Partners)). Resources may include cash or in-kind contributions of services, equipment, or supplies allocated to the proposed program. Resources may be provided by governmental entities, public or private organizations, and other entities partnering with you. Leveraging arrangements with rental property owners may have the benefits of increasing the efficiency of public lead hazard identification and control expenditures and creating a financial stake for rental property owners in the quality of lead hazard control work. Contractual or other formal relationships with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations are a requirement for State and local government applicants. Documentation of relationships with grassroots faith-based and community-based organizations must be provided in this application either in the form of signed agreements or commitment letters. This requirement does not apply to Native American Tribe applicants. You also may partner with other program funding recipients to coordinate the use of resources in your target area(s).

(1) You should detail any activities to increase the understanding of lead poisoning prevention in your community. This could include partnerships with childhood lead screening programs, collaboration with ongoing health, housing or environmental research efforts which could result in a greater availability of resources, and efforts to build capacity for lead-safe housing.

(2) Matching funds must be shown to be specifically dedicated to and integrated into supporting the lead-based paint hazard control program (see Appendix A of this NOFA for Sample Worksheet 7—Match Funding). You may not include funding from any Federally funded program (except the CDBG program) as part of your required 10% match. Other resources from the private sector or other sources committed to the program that exceed the required 10% match will provide points for this rating factor. Contributions above the first 10% may include funds from other Federally funded programs, and/or State, local, charity, non-profit or for-profit entities. You must support each source of contributions, cash or in-kind, both for the required minimum and additional amounts, by a letter of commitment from the contributing entity, whether a public or private source. The letter must describe the contributed resources that you will use in the program and their designated purpose. The signature of the authorized official on the HUD Form-424 commits matching or other contributed resources of the applicant organization. A separate letter from the applicant organization is not required. Staff in-kind contributions should be given a monetary value based on the local market value of the staff skills. If you do not provide letters from contributors specifying details and the amount of the actual contributions, those contributions will not be counted. Contributions required of rental property owners may be included as part of your match. You should document and estimate the amount of the match from each resource.

Applicants will not receive full points under this rating factor if they do not submit evidence of a firm commitment and the appropriate use of leveraged resources under the grant program. Such evidence must be provided in the form of letters of firm commitment, memoranda of understanding, or other signed agreements to participate from those entities identified as partners in your application. Each letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement to participate should include the organization's name, the proposed level of commitment and the responsibilities as they relate to your proposed program. The commitment must be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization. Describe the role of grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations in specific program activities, such as: hazard evaluation and control; monitoring; and awareness, education, and outreach within the community. Describe how you will ensure that commitments to sub-grantees specified in your proposal will be honored and executed, contingent upon an award from HUD.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation. (10 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants achieve the goals outlined in their work plan and other benchmark standards and assess their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits, or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. Applicants are required to complete the HUD Logic Form included in Appendix B of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(1) An applicant is to identify and describe specific methods, measures, and tools that you will use (in addition to HUD reporting requirements) to measure progress, evaluate program effectiveness, and identify program changes necessary to improve performance. Describe how you will obtain, document and report the information. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have described outcome measures and benefits of your program including:

(a) The degree to which lead hazard control work will be done in conjunction with other housing-related activities (i.e., rehabilitation, weatherization, correction of code violations, and other similar work), or your plan for the integration and coordination of lead hazard control activities into those activities in the future.

(b) Plans to develop public/private lending partnerships to finance lead hazard control as part of acquisition and rehabilitation financing such as the use of Community Reinvestment Act "credits" by lending institutions or other financing strategies.

(c) Results of any specific plans and objectives established to implement and/or maintain a registry (listing) of lead-safe housing that is available to the public, or to incorporate the inclusion of the lead-safe status of properties in another publicly accessible address-based property information system. Results could include how the information would be managed and affirmatively marketed to the public so that families (particularly low-income families with children under six years of age) can make informed decisions regarding their housing options. Prior grantee applicants must address any registry (listing) of lead-safe housing developed during the prior grant period by specifically discussing the availability, amount of information contained, and its maintenance.

(d) The extent to which affirmatively furthering fair housing for all segments of the population is advanced by the proposed activities. (This section does not apply to Native American Tribes.) Detail how your proposed work plan will support the community's efforts to affirmatively further affordable housing and discuss the impact of prior activities that have contributed to enhanced lead-safe housing opportunities.

(e) The resulting impact of plans to adopt or amend statutes, regulations, or policies that will more fully integrate lead hazard control into community policies and priorities.

(f) Results of activities to coordinate and cooperate with other organizations that will lead to a reduction in lead risks to community residents. This could include documenting such activities as: free training to create a workforce properly trained in lead safe work practices; lead-safe repainting and remodeling; promotion of essential maintenance practices; and provision of lead dust testing to low-income, privately-owned homes which may not receive lead hazard control assistance under this grant program.

(g) How your program will be held accountable for meeting program goals, objectives, and the actions undertaken in implementing the grant program. Applicants should provide a description of the mechanism to assess progress and track performance in meeting the goals and objectives outlined in the work plan. Applicants should provide assurances that work plans and performance measures developed for the program will assist intended beneficiaries, and that work will be conducted in a timely and cost-effective manner.

Note on Program Performance: Grantees shall take all reasonable steps to accomplish all lead hazard control activities outlined in an approved work plan within the approved period of performance. HUD will closely monitor grantee performance with particular attention placed on the completion of the number of units in the grant agreement, the expenditure of HUD grant funds as evidenced by drawdowns from the Line of Credit Control System (LOCCS), and other established community education, outreach and training objectives. HUD reserves the right to terminate the grant prior to the expiration of the period of performance if a grantee fails to meet established work plan benchmark milestones in implementing the approved program of activities.

Bonus Points (2 Points).

Applicants may also meet the requirements listed in Section VI (C) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for a possible award of two bonus points.

V. Application Submission Requirements for New and Prior Grantee Applicants

(Grantee applicants eligible for a Performance-Based Renewal are to follow the submission requirements included in Appendix C of this Lead Hazard Control Grant Program NOFA)

(A) Applicant Information

(1) Application Format. The application narrative response from new and eligible prior grantees to the Rating Factors is limited to a maximum of 25 pages (excluding appendices and worksheets). Your response must be typewritten on one side only on 8½" x 11" paper using a 12-point (minimum) font with not less than ¾" margins on all sides. Appendices should be referenced and discussed in the narrative response. Materials provided in the appendices should directly apply to the rating factor narrative.

(2) Application Checklist. Your application must contain all of the required information noted in this Program Section and the General Section of this SuperNOFA. These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of this SuperNOFA that are applicable to this funding (collectively referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms can be found in Appendix B of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. In addition, the following items are to be included in an application:

(a) Transmittal Letter. The applicant (or applicants) submitting the application, the dollar amount requested, the number of units to receive lead hazard control work, what the program funds are requested for, the nature of involvement with grassroots faith-based and other community-based organizations, and the name, mailing address, telephone number, and principal contact person of "the applicant."

(b) Checklist and Submission Table of Contents (see Appendix A of this NOFA).

(c) Abstract Summary. An abstract summary describing the goals and objectives of your proposed program (two page maximum). The abstract should briefly highlight the major goals and objectives established for the program.

(d) Section V Forms. All forms as required by Section V (H) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA.

(e) Budget. A detailed budget (total budget is the Federal share and matching contribution) with supporting cost justifications for all budget categories of your grant request. You must provide a separate estimate for the overall grant management element (Administrative Costs), which is more fully defined in Appendix B of this NOFA. The budget shall include not more than 10% for administrative costs and not less than 90% for direct project elements. A minimum of 60% of the total Federal amount requested must be dedicated to direct lead hazard control activities. A sufficient amount (two percent for most applicants) of the total Federal amount must be dedicated to activities to create a workforce properly trained in lead-safe work practices. If an applicant chooses not to include costs related to lead-safe work practices training in their work plan and budget, it must demonstrate that there is a workforce currently in place that is sufficient in size and is properly trained to carry out the work under the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program and the HUD Lead-Safe Housing Regulation. In the event of a discrepancy between grant amounts requested in various sections of the application, the amount you indicate on the HUD Form-424 will govern as the correct value.

(f) Matching Contribution. An itemized breakout (using the HUD 424) of your required matching contribution, including:

(i) Values placed on donated in-kind services;

(ii) Letters or other evidence of commitment from donors; and

(iii) The amounts and sources of contributed resources.

(g) Application Forms. Standard Forms SF-LLL and HUD Forms 2880, 2990, 2991, 2993, and 2994.

(h) Grant Partners. Contracts, Memoranda of Understanding or Agreement, letters of commitment or other documentation describing the proposed roles of agencies, local broad-based task forces, participating grassroots faith-based and other community or neighborhood-based groups or organizations, local businesses, and others working with the program.

(i) Consolidated Plan Element. A copy of the lead hazard control element included in your current program year's Consolidated Plan. (This does not apply to Native American Tribes) You should include the discussion of any lead-based paint issues in your jurisdiction's Analysis of Impediments, particularly as it addresses your target areas.

(j) Rating Factor Response. Narrative responses to the five rating factors.

(B) Proposed Activities. Unless otherwise noted in this NOFA, all applicants must, at a minimum, describe the proposed activities in the narrative responses to the rating factors. Your narrative statement must be numbered in accordance with each factor for award (Rating Factors 1 through 5). Please see Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for additional requirements and submittal procedures.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. See Section XI(A)(d) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about applicant debriefing.

V. Corrections to Deficient Applications

See Section VIII of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about corrections to deficient applications.

VI. Environmental Requirements

(A) Environmental Impact. See Section IX of the General Section of this SuperNOFA for information about the Finding of No Significant Impact.

(B) Environmental Requirements. Recipients of lead-based paint hazard control grants must comply with 24 CFR Part 58—"Environmental Review Procedures for Entities Assuming HUD Environmental Responsibilities." Recipients are prohibited from committing or expending HUD and non-HUD funds on the project until HUD approves the recipient's Request for the Release of Funds (form HUD 7015.15) or the recipient has determined that the activity is either Categorically Excluded, not subject to the related Federal laws and authorities pursuant to 24 CFR 58.35(b) or Exempt pursuant to 24 CFR 58.34. For Part 58 procedures, see <http://www.hud.gov/offices/cpd/energyenviro/energyenviro/index.cfm>. For assistance, contact Karen Choi, the Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control Environmental Officer at (213) 894-8000 x3015 (this is not a toll-free number) or the HUD Environmental Review Officer in the HUD Field Office serving your area. If you are a hearing-or speech-impaired person, you may reach the telephone number via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339. Recipients of a grant under this funded program will be given additional guidance in these responsibilities.

VII. HUD Reform Act of 1989

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of this SuperNOFA at Section XI (A) Public Access, Documentation and Disclosure

Appendix A

Appendix A of this NOFA contains sample worksheets to assist you in your response to specific information requested in this NOFA. The submission of these worksheets are not mandatory, but have been developed to reduce the applicant's burden on providing this information.

Appendix B

The description of Administrative Costs, Eligibility of HUD Assisted Housing, and Work Plan Guidance are included in this section of the NOFA.

Appendix C

The eligibility criteria and submission requirements for current grantees eligible to submit a Performance-Based Renewal are included in this section of the NOFA.

Appendix B

This appendix to this NOFA contains the list of the standard forms, certifications and assurances used by the programs that are part of this NOFA. Listed forms are located in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

The following forms are to be used for the Programs listed in this NOFA

- (1) Form HUD-424
- (2) Form HUD-424 B
- (3) Form HUD-424 C
- (4) Form HUD-424 CBW
- (5) Form HUD Logic Model Form
- (6) Application Checklist and Submission Table of Contents

- (7) Ethnicity and Race Data

HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates having to have the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), the Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and the Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

New form HUD-424 replaces SF-424 and HUD-424 M

HUD-424 B replaces SF-424 B and D and HUD-50070, 50071 and 2992.

HUD-424 C and CB replaces SF-424 A and C

The HUD-424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet and replaces various budget worksheets used throughout the Department.

(A) Administrative Costs. Administrative costs that may be applicable to the programs included in this NOFA are discussed below:

I. Purpose

The intent of this HUD grant program is to allow the Grantee to be reimbursed for the reasonable direct and indirect costs, subject to a top limit, for overall management of the grant. In most instances the grantee, whether a State or a local government, principally serves as a conduit to pass funding to sub-grantees, which are to be responsible for the conducting lead-hazard reduction work. Congress set a top limit of ten percent of the total grant sum for the grantee to perform the function of overall management of the grant program, including passing on funding to sub-grantees. The cost of that function, for the purpose of this grant, is defined as the "administrative cost" of the grant, and is limited to ten percent of the total grant amount. The balance of ninety percent or more of the total grant sum is reserved sub-grantees or other direct-performers of lead-hazard identification and reduction work. Lead hazard identification and reduction includes, but is not necessarily limited to outreach, training, enrollment, lead paint inspection/risk assessments, interim controls, hazard abatement, clearance documentation, blood lead testing, and public education.

II. Administrative Costs: What They Are Not

For the purposes of this HUD grant program for States and local governments to provide support for the evaluation and reduction of lead-hazards in low- and moderate-income, private target housing, the term "administrative costs" should not be confused with the terms "general and administrative cost," "indirect costs," "overhead," and "burden rate." These are accounting terms usually represented by a government-accepted standard percentage rate. The percentage rate allocates a fair share of an organization's costs that cannot be attributed to a particular project or department (such as the chief executive's salary or the costs of the organization's headquarters building) to all projects and operating departments (such as the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Community Development Department, the Health Department or this program). Such allocated costs are added to those projects' or departments' direct costs to determine their total costs to the organization.

III. Administrative Costs: What They Are

For the purposes of this HUD grant program, "Administrative Costs" are the grantee's allowable direct costs for the overall management of the grant program plus the allocable indirect costs. The allowable limit of such costs that can be reimbursed under this program is ten (10) percent of the total grant sum. Should the grantee's actual costs for overall management of the grant program exceed ten percent of the total grant sum, those excess costs shall be paid for by the grantee. However, excess costs paid for by the grantee may be shown as part of the requirement for cost-sharing funds to support the grant.

IV. Administrative Costs: Definition

A. General

Administrative costs are the allowable, reasonable, and allocable direct and indirect costs related to the overall management of the HUD grant for lead-hazard reduction activities. Those costs shall be segregated in a separate cost center within the grantee's accounting system, and they are eligible costs for reimbursement as part of the grant, subject to the ten percent limit. Such administrative costs do not include any of the staff and overhead costs directly arising from specific sub-grantee program activities eligible under Section II (C) of this NOFA, because those costs are eligible for reimbursement under a separate cost center as a direct part of project activities.

The grantee may elect to serve solely as a conduit to sub-grantees, who will in turn perform the direct program activities eligible under NOFA Section II (C), or the grantee may elect to perform all or a part of the direct program activities in other parts of its own organization, which shall have their own segregated, cost centers for those direct program activities. In either case, not more than 10 percent of the total HUD grant sum may be devoted to administrative costs, and not less than 90% of the total grant sum shall be devoted to direct program activities. The grantee shall take care not to mix or attribute administrative costs to the direct project cost centers.

B. Specific

Reasonable costs for the grantee's overall grant management, coordination, monitoring, and evaluation are eligible administrative costs. Subject to the ten percent limit, such costs include, but are not limited to, necessary expenditures for the following goods, activities and services:

(1) Salaries, wages, and related costs of the grantee's staff, the staff of affiliated public agencies, or other staff engaged in grantee's overall grant management activities. In charging costs to this category the recipient may either include the entire salary, wages, and related costs allocable to the program for each person whose primary responsibilities (more than 65% of their time) with regard to the grant program involve direct overall grant management assignments, or the pro rata share of the salary, wages, and related costs of each person whose job includes any overall grant management assignments. The grantee may use only one of these two methods during this program. Overall grant management includes the following types of activities:

(a) Preparing grantee program budgets and schedules, and amendments thereto;

(b) Developing systems for the selection and award of funding to sub-grantees and other sub-recipients;

(c) Developing suitable agreements for use with sub-grantees and other sub-recipients to carry out grant activities;

(d) Developing systems for assuring compliance with program requirements;

(e) Monitoring sub-grantee and sub-recipient activities for progress and compliance with program requirements;

(f) Preparing presentations, reports, and other documents related to the program for submission to HUD;

(g) Evaluating program results against stated objectives;

(h) Providing local officials and citizens with information about the overall grant program; however, a more general education program, helping the public understand the nature of lead hazards, lead hazard reduction, blood-lead screening, and the health consequences of lead poisoning is a direct project support activity);

(i) Coordinating the resolution of overall grant audit and monitoring findings; and

(j) Managing or supervising persons whose responsibilities with regard to the program include such assignments as those described in paragraphs (a) through (i).

(2) Travel costs incurred for official business in carrying out the overall grant management;

(3) Administrative services performed under third party contracts or agreements, for services directly allocable to grant management such as: legal services, accounting services, and audit services;

(4) Other costs for goods and services required for and directly related to the overall management of the grant program; and including such goods and services as telephone, postage, rental of equipment, renter's insurance for the program management space, utilities, office supplies, and rental and maintenance (but not purchase) of office space for the program.

(5) The fair and allocable share of grantee's general costs that are not directly attributable to specific projects or operating departments such as salaries, office expenses and other related costs for local officials (e.g., mayor and city council members, etc.), and expenses for a city's legal or accounting department which are not charged back to particular projects or other operating departments. If a grantee has an established burden rate, it should be used; if not, the grantee shall be assigned a negotiated provisional burden rate, subject to final audit.

(B) Eligibility of HUD-Assisted Housing

Eligibility of HUD-associated "eligible" housing units to participate under HUD's lead-based paint hazard control grant program.

Sec. 1011 Grants for Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction in Target Housing

(a) General Authority. The Secretary is authorized to provide grants to eligible applicants to evaluate and reduce lead-based paint hazards in housing that is not federally assisted housing, federally owned housing, or public housing, in accordance with the provisions of this section. Grants shall only be made under this section to provide assistance for housing which meets the following criteria—

(1) For grants made to assist rental housing, at least 50 percent of the units must be occupied by or made available to families with incomes at or below 50 percent of the area median income level and the remaining units shall be occupied or made available to families with incomes at or below 80 percent of the area median income level, and in all cases the landlord shall give priority in renting units assisted under this section, for not less than 3 years following the completion of lead abatement activities, to families with a child under the age of six years, except that buildings with five or more units may have 20 percent of the units occupied by families with incomes above 80 percent of area median income level:

(2) For grants made to assist housing owned by owner-occupants, all units assisted with grants under this section shall be the principal residence of families with income at or below 80 percent of the area median income level, and not less than 90 percent of the units assisted with grants under this section shall be occupied by a child under the age of six years or shall be units where a child under the age of six years spends a significant amount of time visiting; and

(3) Notwithstanding paragraphs (1) and (2), Round II grantees who receive assistance under this section may use such assistance for priority housing.

(D) Elements of a State Certification Program

To be eligible to receive a Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control grant, an applicant must be a State, tribal or local (city or county) government. State government and Native American tribal applicants must have an EPA approved State program for certification of lead-based paint contractors, inspectors, and risk assessors in accordance with 40 CFR 745.

Background

In October 1992, Congress passed the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act (Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992). Congress assigned Federal responsibility to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the definition, implementation, and oversight of State and Tribal Certification Programs for workers, contractors, and inspectors engaged in the detection and reduction of lead-based paint hazards. This legislation required EPA to develop regulations on accreditation of training programs, the certification of contractors and the training of workers engaged in lead-based paint activities. In addition, EPA was directed to issue work practice standards. Under the statute, lead-based paint activities are defined as:

- In the case of target housing; Risk assessment, inspection, and abatement; and
- In the case of any public building constructed before 1978, commercial building, bridge, or other structure or superstructure: identification of lead-based paint and materials containing lead-based paint, deleading, removal of lead from bridges, and demolition.

On August 29, 1996, EPA promulgated a final regulation that established requirements for lead-based paint activities in Target Housing and Child Occupied Facilities.

- 40 CFR part 745 Subpart L addressed the requirements for the certification of individuals and the accreditation of training programs as well as work practice standards.
- 40 CFR part 745 Subpart Q addresses the procedures and requirements for the approval of State programs that would be administered and enforced in lieu of the Federal Program in that State.
- 40 CFR 745.325 and 745.327 establishes the minimum programmatic and enforcement elements that a program must have in order to be authorized. States had until August 30, 1998 to receive authorization from the Agency. After that date, EPA will administer the Federal program in that State.

Any State or Tribe applying for a HUD Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant must have implemented legislation and programs that fulfill the requirements of 40 CFR 745.325 and 327 and received EPA authorization for such a program. States and Tribes should be aware that HUD will not award grants for lead-based paint hazard evaluation or reduction to States without an EPA authorized program under section 404 of the Toxic Substances Control Act. An EPA administered, training and certification program established in the place of an approved state program does not satisfy the requirement for a State applicant to have a Federally-authorized State program. State or Tribal applicants must have received EPA authorization for their program as of the date the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant program applications are due at HUD. State and Tribal applicants should coordinate with the appropriate EPA Region to ensure their application for an authorized program is approved by the due date for the grant applications. All local government applicants will be required to use performers certified by their state or the EPA to perform lead hazard control work in their state.

Questions regarding the EPA authorization process should be directed to your EPA Regional Lead Coordinator.

(C) Work Plan Guidance

The work plan shall be submitted to the Government Technical Representative (GTR) and shall consist of the goals and specific time-phased objectives established for each of the major activities and tasks required to implement the program. These major activities and tasks are outlined in the Quarterly Progress Reporting System (Form-HUD-96006) and include: (1) Program Management and Capacity Building including data collection and program evaluation; (2) Community Education, Outreach and Training; and (3) Lead Hazard Activities including testing, interventions conducted, and relocation.

Note: Approval of the work plan by the GTR and HUD approval of the Release of Funds Request (HUD Form 7015.15) are required prior to conducting lead hazard control intervention work in homes.

The work plan narrative shall include:

- The management plan that describes how the project will be managed, and the timeline for staffing the program, establishing a lead-based paint contractor pool, and obtaining HUD approval for the Release of Funds Request (HUD Form 7015.15);
- A detailed description of how assistance and funding will flow from the grantee to the actual performers of the hazard reduction work;
- The selection process for sub-grantees, sub-contractors and/or sub-recipients;
- The identification, selection, and prioritization process for the particular properties where lead hazard control interventions are to be conducted;
- * A description of the financing mechanism used to support lead hazard control work in units (name of administering agency, eligibility requirements, type of financing (grant, forgivable or deferred loans, private sector financing, etc), any owner contribution requirement, and the terms, conditions and amounts of assistance available (include affordability terms and forgiveness and recapture of funds provisions);
- The inspection/risk assessment testing procedures using EPA standards to identify lead hazards and to conduct clearance testing. (Dust wipe samples, soil samples and any paint samples to be analyzed by a laboratory must be analyzed by a laboratory recognized by the EPA National Lead Laboratory Accreditation Program (NLAPP));
- * The process for developing work specifications and bids on properties selected for lead hazard control;
- The levels of intervention and clearance procedures to be conducted for units enrolled;
- The number of rental-occupied, vacant, and owner-occupied units proposed for each intervention level;
- The relocation plan that will be carried out for residents required to be out of their homes during hazard control activities;
- The education, outreach, and training activities to be undertaken by the program;
- The blood lead testing and other health measures to be undertaken to protect children and other occupants of units undergoing lead hazard control work; and
- The evaluation process used to measure program performance.

* To be added as amendment to Work Plan Policy Guidance Issuance 2001-03

Objectives and Milestones

Specific and measurable performance objectives and milestones to be developed in support of the work plan narrative include:

- The overall objectives for lead hazard control activities including the total number of lead hazard evaluations, units projected to be completed and cleared, and the expenditure of Federal grant funds (HUD Agreement HUD-1044). Quarterly performance milestones are to be developed to achieve the overall objectives for these activities;
- The overall objectives for community education, outreach, and training activities. Quarterly performance milestones are to be developed to achieve the overall objectives for these activities;
- Performance benchmarks for 36-, and 42-month grants have been developed. These benchmarks are included in Appendix A of this NOFA and can also be found on the HUD website at: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/lead/grantfrm/hudgrantee.cfm>.

Development of your work plan should include and reflect these benchmark standards.

Appendix C

(1) General Instructions and Guidelines for Performance-Based Renewal Applicants

Current lead hazard control grantees that meet the eligibility requirements described below are eligible to submit an application for a Performance-Based Renewal to their current grant. If a current lead hazard control grantee does not meet these threshold requirements, they are not eligible to submit a Performance-Based Renewal application.

(2) Preparing Your Application

Transmittal Letter

Prepare a brief letter applying for the Performance-Based Renewal and signed by the Chief Executive or other authorized official. The transmittal letter should indicate the applicant agency, the amount of the grant requested for a Performance-Based Renewal, the amount of cash or in-kind matching contributions and the number of housing units in which lead hazard control will be conducted. Also include the name, telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address of the individual to contact for further information pertaining to the application.

Abstract Summary

Prepare a brief (two page maximum) abstract summary describing your jurisdiction, and the proposed lead-based paint hazard control project. Include the following items (be specific and concise):

- The total amount of the Federal request and the amount of the matching contribution for the entire period of performance (including your current grant period and up to 36-months additional period);
- The number of units in which lead hazard control activities will be conducted (include your current grant agreement and those to be treated during the 36-month modification period);
- The organization(s) that will participate in the program, either conducting lead hazard control activities or in other roles;
- Demographic, socio-economic and housing characteristics of neighborhood(s) selected for hazard control activities;

- Your prior activities, experience and achievements in residential lead-based paint hazard control work or related work, including testing and treatment methods, and collaboration with other agencies;

- The scope and magnitude of the proposed lead hazard control project that details the area selected, number of housing units, intended beneficiaries, and the projected impact on the neighborhood/jurisdiction; how the work will be accomplished;

- Any changes proposed in your work plan strategy for the 36-month proposed extension period.

Required Forms

Prepare and submit the following forms (found in this NOFA) as part of your application:

Part 2. Environmental Certification (to be completed by responsible entity)

With reference to the above Program Activity(ies)/Project(s), I, the undersigned officer of the responsible entity, certify that:

1. The responsible entity has fully carried out its responsibilities for environmental review, decision-making and action pertaining to the project(s) named above.
2. The responsible entity has assumed responsibility for and complied with and will continue to comply with, the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended, and the environmental procedures, permit requirements and statutory obligations of the laws cited in 24 CFR 58.5; and also agrees to comply with the authorities in 24 CFR 58.6 and applicable State and local laws.
3. After considering the type and degree of environmental effects identified by the environmental review completed for the proposed project described in Part 1 of this request, I have found that the proposal did did not require the preparation and dissemination of an environmental impact statement.
4. The responsible entity has disseminated and/or published in the manner prescribed by 24 CFR 58.43 and 58.55 a notice to the public in accordance with 24 CFR 58.70 and as evidenced by the attached copy (copies) or evidence of posting and mailing procedure.
5. The dates for all statutory and regulatory time periods for review, comment or other action are in compliance with procedures and requirements of 24 CFR Part 58.
6. In accordance with 24 CFR 58.71(b), the responsible entity will advise the recipient (if different from the responsible entity) of any special environmental conditions that must be adhered to in carrying out the project.

As the duly designated certifying official of the responsible entity, I also certify that:

7. I am authorized to and do consent to assume the status of Federal official under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and each provision of law designated in the 24 CFR 58.5 list of NEPA-related authorities insofar as the provisions of these laws apply to the HUD responsibilities for environmental review, decision-making and action that have been assumed by the responsible entity.
8. I am authorized to and do accept, on behalf of the recipient personally, the jurisdiction of the Federal courts for the enforcement of all these responsibilities, in my capacity as certifying officer of the responsible entity.

Dear Lead Hazard Control Grantee:

I am pleased to transmit to you an improved grantee reporting system. The Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program Progress Reporting Form reflects the new set of reporting requirements that we believe will assist both HUD and grantees monitor and evaluate progress implementing lead hazard control grant program activities. This report is the result of the Office of Lead Hazard Control's continuing effort to develop more effective ways to obtain timely and useful qualitative and quantitative information. Staff from the Office of Lead Hazard Control as well as selected lead hazard control grantees provided input and feedback on the development of this report. Their valuable contributions and insights were appreciated.

This Quarterly Progress Report is designed for web-based reporting, but will be available in several formats for submission to the Office of Lead Hazard Control. These reporting requirements supersede previous requirements.

We believe that this report, coupled with a well-conceived work plan, creates a system to assist all parties in measuring grantee performance and fulfilling program management, monitoring, and oversight responsibilities.

Sincerely,

Ellis G. Goldman, Director
Program Management Division

If any items in this report require explanation or clarification, please address them in the PROGRAM NARRATIVE RESPONSE portion of the quarterly report.

QUARTERLY PROGRESS REPORT

PART 1

PROGRAM NARRATIVE RESPONSE

Discuss your progress and accomplishments in meeting the tasks and objectives outlined in your HUD-approved work plan. You should respond to each narrative item with a short paragraph. Work plan tasks that must be covered in this report include:

- A. Program Management and Capacity Building (including discussions of data collection and program performance activities)
- B. Community Education, Outreach and Training
- C. Lead Hazard Control Activities (including relocation)

Summarize your activities for this report quarter, and cumulatively if appropriate. In the discussion of these work plan tasks, highlight issues and/or activities that had a significant impact on the program. The narrative discussion is to complement the data submitted on these OMB-approved report forms.

If your narrative response to a particular question (such as A4.) remains unchanged from the previous quarterly report or no new information can be reported (i.e., changes to key personnel), you should reply by repeating your response from the previous report and indicating the date of the original response (i.e. Jan 1 - Mar 31, 1999).

A. Program Management and Capacity Building

Within the context of the current work plan and grant agreement, summarize your progress in the overall grant program.

- A1. Describe any obstacles to performance and measures taken to overcome these obstacles.
- A2. Describe efforts to enhance the coordination and integration of lead hazard control work with other housing, health, and environmental programs (i.e., childhood lead poisoning prevention programs, health and housing code enforcement, housing rehabilitation, weatherization, etc.). Describe other services to be provided such as blood lead screening and community education and outreach; intra- and interagency partnerships, and public and private partnerships.
- A3. Describe the availability of lead-based paint contractors in your area. Describe activities you have taken to increase the number of contractors available to provide lead hazard control work as part of your grant.
- A4. Describe any changes in key personnel in the program, and among sub-grantees or other entities directly involved in your grant program and its impact. Provide information on any new program participants, including resumes of key individuals. (Include letters of commitments, MOU's, or other arrangements with community-based organizations and other partners.) Describe any significant changes to the work plan or budget that have occurred. Describe methods used to collect program data and what criteria were used to evaluate the performance of your grant program. Describe the effectiveness of the financing mechanisms used in enrolling property owners, including owners of rental properties, in the program. Describe any efforts undertaken to develop and utilize a lead-safe housing registry. (Include information on the number of units included, the public availability of the system, and examples of how the registry has been used.) Describe any proposed or actual changes in State or local laws, regulations, or policies which may affect your grant program.

B. Community Education, Outreach and Training

- B1. Describe education and outreach activities and events completed this quarter. Discuss the expected results of your efforts. Describe your outreach efforts at reaching specific groups you have targeted (door-to-door, presentations, training, broadcast media, mailings) and the intended recipients of this outreach (tenants, landlords, parent groups, child-care providers). These activities should be included in Item B5 below.
- B2. Describe outreach techniques and/or particular methods, materials, and formats that have proved to be most effective (attach copies of any media coverage and materials, including press clippings, to this report).
- B3. Describe training efforts completed this quarter. Discuss the types of training provided and any certifications received. These efforts should correspond to Item B4 below.

B4. Skills Training and Economic Opportunities

Real Estate Professionals	B5i.	B5j.
Other (specify)	B5k.	B5l.

C. Lead Hazard Control Activities

- C1. Describe the extent to which lead hazard control activities were conducted in conjunction with other work (i.e., rehabilitation, code correction, weatherization, etc.).
- C2. Describe the lead hazard control methods or combination of methods used. To the extent possible, describe the number of housing units completed and cleared for the methods used (e.g., low-level interventions, interim controls, hazard abatement). Discuss the lead hazard control and rehabilitation costs for units completed this quarter.
- C3. Describe any post-hazard control maintenance plans for units where lead hazard control grant work has been completed.

C4. Lead Hazard Evaluations and Units in Progress

Activity	Number Completed This Quarter

PART 1 - Program Narrative Response

Items A1-A4, B1-B3, C1-C3. Program Management and Capacity Building; Community Education, Outreach, and Training; and Lead Hazard Control Activities.

Instructions for the completion of this narrative section of the quarterly report are included with the forms and are self-explanatory. Grantees are expected to discuss progress and obstacles in implementing the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program. A response to each item is expected. Please note that responses to particular questions may remain unchanged from the previous quarter. In the event that the response does not change from the previously submitted quarterly report, follow the instructions outlined in the box immediately preceding the Program Management and Capacity Building Section of the report (Part 1).

Item B4. Skills Training and Economic Opportunities

Responses to this item should relate to the activities described in the narrative reply to Item B4.

B4 a. The number of low-income individuals receiving training to obtain or enhance specific skills in lead related activities during the reporting period (e.g. inspection and testing; construction trade skills, lead hazard control work, conducting community education and outreach work, etc.).

B4 b. The number of low-income individuals employed as a result of receiving this skills training. This total should only include those low-income individuals trained and employed during this report period. However, low-income individuals who were first employed during this quarter, but who may have been trained in a previous quarter, should be included in the current reporting period.

B4 c. The number of property owners, tenants, remodelers, renovators, and maintenance workers receiving training in lead hazard control intervention methods (cleaning, paint stabilization, interim control techniques) during the current reporting period.

B4 d. The number of lead-based paint contractors trained and certified during the current reporting period (Includes all disciplines - inspection/testing, program design, supervisor, abatement work).

B4 e. The number of grantee or partner organization(s) staff receiving training this current reporting period. Training could be related to any program activity or task (e.g. management, supervision, inspection/testing, lead hazard control activities, community education and outreach, data collection, etc.).

B4 f. Any other training activities conducted which are not included in items B4 a.-e.

Item B5. Community Education and Outreach Activities

B5 a-l. Responses to these items should relate to the narrative reply to Items B1-B2. You should list all activities undertaken to reach each target audience during the quarter. (e.g. meetings, presentations, mailings of educational materials and brochures, health fairs, media efforts, etc.). If no activity occurred during the report period, indicate "None" in the appropriate block(s). The number of individuals reached is the cumulative number of recipients who received community education and outreach (e.g. 25 real estate brokers/agents were informed of disclosure requirements at a meeting, with an additional 225 mailed information. The total number of real estate professionals reached during the period would be 250)

Items C4. Lead Hazard Evaluations and Units in Progress

Responses to these items should pertain to the number of lead hazard control evaluations (hazard screens, paint inspections, and/or risk assessments) conducted during the quarter. These evaluations should only pertain to units either enrolled or considered for enrollment into the program.

C4 a. The number of lead hazard screens, lead-based paint inspections and/or risk assessments conducted during the current reporting period.

C4 b. The number of units in which lead-based paint hazards were identified.

C4 c. The number of units at the end of the current reporting period either under contract for lead hazard control work to be undertaken or units where actual lead hazard control work has begun, but the unit has not yet cleared.

Item C5. Lead Hazard Control - Unit Production

C5a., C5d., C5f., C5i. The number of units, by occupancy status, in which lead hazard control work was completed and the unit cleared in accordance with HUD Guidelines during the current reporting period.

C5b., C5e., C5g., C5j. Of the number of units completed and cleared, the number of units, by occupancy status, in which other rehabilitation or code work was conducted.

C5c., C5h., C5k. Of the occupied units completed and cleared during the current reporting period, indicate in the appropriate block, the number of units in which the occupants were temporarily relocated while the unit was undergoing lead hazard control interventions.

Item C6. Age of Units Completed and Cleared

C6a.- d. Of the total units completed and cleared during the current reporting period (Item C5i), indicate the number of units, by age of housing, in the appropriate block.

Items C7-C8. Occupant Information of Units Completed

Of the units completed and cleared during the current reporting period (Item C5i), identify the number of occupants residing in these units at the time that lead hazard control work was initiated.

C7a. The total number of children less than 6 years of age occupying units at the time lead hazard control work was initiated.

C7b. The total number of children less than 6 years of age receiving Medicaid.

C7c. The total number of occupants 6 years of age or older (including adults) residing in units at the time that lead hazard control work was initiated.

C8. Of the children less than 6 years of age identified in item C7a., indicate the number whose pre-hazard control blood lead values fall within the categories outlined in blocks C8a.-C8d.

PART 2 - LISTING OF UNITS COMPLETED AND CLEARED

This section of the report is to provide additional information pertaining to the units in which lead hazard control work was completed and the unit achieved clearance during the current reporting period. Indicate the unit address, city, state, and zip code, for each unit listed. The total number of units included in this listing should equal the total number identified in Block C5i of Part 1.

Identify the lead hazard control, temporary relocation, and rehabilitation costs associated with the work conducted in each unit. Costs only related to the lead hazard control intervention measures used for treating units, (exterior, interior, common areas) clean up work, and waste handling and disposal are to be reported in the "LHC Intervention Costs" block. Relocation costs attributed to a unit should be reported in the "Relocation Costs" block. Rehabilitation, code correction or other work conducted in conjunction with HUD Lead Hazard Control Grant Program funds in a unit using Community Development Block Grant, HOME funds or other resources are to be included in the "Rehabilitation or other Work Costs" block.

A description of these costs is to be included in your narrative response to Item C2 Part 1.

PART 3 - FINANCIAL REPORTING

Items 1-10. The financial information to be submitted for the current reporting period is based on the negotiated budget included in the HUD grant agreement (including any modifications). Expenditures are to reflect Voucher Payment Requests made through the LOCCS. Item 7 should list all sub-grantee organizations individually. If the program uses more than one abatement contractor, they all may be included in one sub-category (as abatement or lead hazard control contractors).

Funding Availability for Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies

Program Overview

Purpose of the Program. To fund technical studies to improve methods for detecting and controlling lead-based paint and other residential health and safety hazards. The purpose of the Healthy Homes Technical Studies program is to improve our knowledge of housing-related health hazards, and to improve or develop new hazard assessment and control methods. The purpose of the Lead Technical Studies program is to improve methods for detecting and controlling residential lead-based paint hazards.

Available Funds. Approximately $2 million for healthy homes technical studies in FY 2003 funds; and approximately $3 million for lead technical studies, of which approximately $1.25 million is FY 2003 funds, and approximately $1.75 million is previous-year recaptured funds.

Eligible Applicants. Academic, not-for-profit and for-profit institutions located in the U.S., State and local governments, and federally recognized Native American tribes are eligible to apply. Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) are also eligible to apply under a set-aside for technical studies on increasing the efficacy of lead hazard control (LHC) programs in low-income urban minority communities. For-profit institutions are not allowed to earn a fee.

Application Deadline. June 10, 2003.
Match. None required.

Additional Information

If you are interested in applying for funding under this program, please review carefully the General Section of this Notice of Funding Availability and the following additional information.

I. Addresses And Application Submission Procedures

(A) Application Submission

See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures concerning the form of application submission (e.g., mailed applications, express mail or overnight delivery). There is no Application Kit. All the information required to submit an application is contained in this NOFA.

(B) Address for Submitting Applications

You, the applicant, must submit a complete application to: Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, ATTN: Lead and Healthy Homes Technical Studies Program, 451

Seventh Street, SW., Room P3206, Washington, DC 20410.

(C) For Further Information and Technical Assistance

You may contact Dr. Peter Ashley, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, at the address above; telephone (202) 755-1785, extension 115 (this is not a toll-free number) or via email at Peter_J_Ashley@hud.gov. If you are a hearing-or speech-impaired person, you may reach the above telephone numbers via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

II. Authority, Funding Amounts, And Eligibility

(A) Authority

These grants are authorized under sections 1011(g)(1), 1011(o), 1051-1053 of the Residential Lead Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992, which is Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992; sections 501 and 502 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970; and the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Public Law 108-7, signed February 20, 2003.

(B) Funding Available

(1) Healthy Homes Technical Studies. Approximately $2 million from HUD's Fiscal Year (FY) 2003 Healthy Homes Initiative appropriation set-aside will be available to fund technical studies proposals. Grants or cooperative agreements will be awarded on a competitive basis according to the Rating Factors described in Section V(B). For technical studies under the Healthy Homes Initiative, HUD anticipates awarding three to six grants ranging from approximately $200,000 to approximately $1 million. The project duration may be up to 24 months, except for projects involving human subjects that require Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval and periodic monitoring, which cannot exceed 30 months. HUD reserves the right to approve no cost time extensions for a period not to exceed 12 months. The amounts included in this program are subject to change based on funds availability.

(2) Lead Technical Studies. Approximately $3 million for lead technical studies, of which approximately $1.25 million is from the FY 2003 lead technical assistance set-aside under the lead hazard reduction appropriation, and approximately $1.75 million is previous-year recaptured funds, will be available to fund lead technical studies proposals in FY 2003.

Of this amount, $2.25 million is set-aside for HBCUs. The remaining funds are available to fund technical studies applications from all eligible applicants. Grants or cooperative agreements will be awarded on a competitive basis according to the Rating Factors described in Section V(B) of this program section of this NOFA. For lead technical studies, HUD anticipates awarding between three and 30 grants ranging from approximately $100,000 to approximately $1 million. The project duration may be up to 24 months, except for projects involving human subjects that require Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval and periodic monitoring, which cannot exceed 30 months. HUD reserves the right to approve no cost time extensions for a period not to exceed 12 months. The amounts included in this program are subject to change based on funds availability.

(C) Eligible Applicants

Academic and not-for-profit institutions located in the U.S., State and local governments, and federally recognized Native American tribes are eligible under all existing authorizations. For-profit firms also are eligible; however, they are not allowed to earn a fee (i.e., no profit can be made from the project). HBCUs, that is, educational institutions which satisfy the requirements of 34 CFR 608.2, are eligible to apply under the set-aside for the Lead Technical Studies Program, as described in sections III.A.3 and III.C.2(a), as well as under the general provisions of this NOFA for both the Healthy Homes Technical Studies Program and Lead Technical Studies Program. HBCUs should identify whether each application is being submitted under the set-aside or the general provisions. Federal agencies and federal employees are not eligible to submit applications. The General Section of this SuperNOFA provides additional eligibility requirements.

III. Program Description And Eligible Activities

(A) Program Description

(1) General Goals and Objectives. The overall goal of the Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies grant program is to gain knowledge to improve the efficacy and cost-effectiveness of methods for evaluation and control of lead and other health and safety hazards in the home.

Through the Healthy Homes Technical Studies Program, HUD is funding studies to improve our knowledge of housing-related health hazards, and to improve or develop new hazard assessment and control methods, with a focus on the key hazards described in Appendix A of this program section of the NOFA.

Through the Lead Technical Studies Program, HUD is helping "develop the capacity of eligible applicants * * * to carry out activities under" lead hazard control grant programs, by advancing the technology and increasing the effectiveness of workers on LHC projects, in fulfillment of the requirements of Section 1011(g)(1) of Title X, and is "conduct[ing] research to develop improved methods for evaluating (and) reducing lead-based paint hazards in housing," and related topics, in fulfillment of the requirements of sections 1051 and 1052 of Title X.

HUD encourages applicants to consider using the "community based participatory research" approach, where applicable, in the design and implementation of both healthy homes and lead technical studies (see e.g., <http://www.niehs.nih.gov/translat/cbpr/cbpr.htm>).

A table of examples of current Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies projects being funded by HUD can be found in Appendix C.

(2) Healthy Homes Initiative. The Healthy Homes Initiative (HHI), which includes the Healthy Homes Technical Studies Program, departs from the more traditional approach of attempting to correct one hazard at a time. In April 1999, HUD submitted to Congress a preliminary plan containing a full description of the HHI. The preliminary plan (Summary and Full Report) and a description of the HHI are available on the HUD Web site at www.hud.gov/offices/lead/hhi/index.cfm.

In addition to deficiencies in basic housing facilities that may impact health, changes in the U.S. housing stock and more sophisticated epidemiological methods and biomedical research have led to the identification of new and often more subtle health hazards in the residential environment (e.g., asthma and mold-induced illness). While such hazards will tend to be found disproportionately in housing that is substandard (e.g., structural problems, lack of adequate heat, etc.), such housing-related environmental hazards may also exist in housing that is otherwise of good quality. Appendix A of this program section of the NOFA briefly describes the housing-associated health and injury hazards HUD considers key targets for intervention. Appendix B of this program section of the NOFA lists the references that serve as the basis for the information provided in this program section.

HUD is interested in promoting approaches that are cost-effective and efficient and that result in the reduction of health threats for the maximum number of residents for the long run, and, in particular, low-income children. The overall goals and objectives of the HHI are to:

(a) Mobilize public and private resources, involving cooperation among all levels of government, the private sector, grassroots organizations, particularly including faith-based, and other community-based, non-profit organizations to develop the most promising, cost-effective methods for identifying and controlling housing-based hazards; and

(b) Build local capacity to operate sustainable programs that will continue to prevent and, where they occur, minimize and control housing-based hazards in low- and very low-income residences when HUD funding is exhausted.

With this NOFA, HUD hopes to advance the recognition and control of residential health and safety hazards and more closely examine the link between housing and health.

The overall objectives of Healthy Homes technical studies projects to be funded through this NOFA include, but are not limited to:

(i) Investigation of the epidemiology of housing-related hazards and illness and injury;

(ii) Development and assessment of low-cost test methods and protocols for identification and assessment of housing-related hazards;

(iii) Development and assessment of cost-effective methods for reducing or eliminating housing-related hazards;

(iv) Evaluation of the effectiveness of housing interventions and public education campaigns, and barriers and incentives affecting future use of the most cost-effective strategies; and

(v) Investigation of the health effects on children living in deteriorated housing and the impact on their development and productivity.

HUD has also developed resource papers on a number of topic areas of importance under the Healthy Homes Initiative, including mold, environmental aspects of asthma, carbon monoxide, and unintentional injuries. These papers can be downloaded from the HUD Web site at www.hud.gov/offices/lead/hhi.

(3) Lead Technical Studies.

(a) General. HUD has been actively engaged in a number of activities relating to lead-based paint as a result of the Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act of 1971, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 4801–4856. Sections 1051 and 1052 of the Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992 (Title X) (42 U.S.C. 4854 and 4854a) state that the Secretary of HUD, in cooperation with other federal agencies, shall conduct technical studies on specific topics related to the evaluation and subsequent mitigation of residential lead hazards. Section 1053 of Title X authorized HUD to spend funds to conduct these studies, under the Lead Hazard Control Grant Program's funding authorization in Section 1011(o). The HUD-sponsored technical studies program also responds to recommendations by the Task Force on Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction and Financing, which was established pursuant to section 1015 of Title X. The Task Force presented its final report to HUD and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in July 1995. The Task Force Report, entitled "Putting the Pieces Together: Controlling Lead Hazards in the Nation's Housing" (see Appendix B of this program section of this NOFA), recommended that research be conducted on a number of key topics to address significant gaps in our knowledge of lead exposure and hazard control.

The findings of technical studies will be used in part to update HUD's Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing (Guidelines), which were published in June 1995 and partly amended in September 1997. The Guidelines include state-of-the-art procedures for all aspects of lead-based paint hazard evaluation and control. The Guidelines reflect the Title X framework for LHC, which distinguishes two types of control measures: interim controls and abatement of lead-based paint hazards. Interim controls are designed to address hazards quickly, inexpensively, and temporarily, while abatement is intended to produce a permanent solution. While the Guidelines recommend procedures that are effective in identifying and controlling lead hazards while protecting the health of abatement workers and occupants, HUD recognizes that targeted technical studies and field experience will result in future changes to the Guidelines. For availability of the Guidelines, see Appendix B.

HUD is especially interested in the following lead technical studies topics:

(i) Evaluation of interior and exterior LHC methodologies, especially novel approaches;

(ii) The effectiveness of ongoing maintenance activities in controlling lead-based paint hazards; and

(iii) Other areas of focus that are consistent with the overall goals of HUD's lead technical studies program.

(b) HBCU set-aside. As noted in the Program Overview, above, HBCUs are defined as those listed in 34 CFR 608.2 (see, for example, www.ed.gov/offices/ope/hep/idades/hbculist.html). The lead technical studies program includes a set-aside of $2.25 million for HBCUs. This set-aside is established for HBCUs to expand their role and effectiveness in addressing community development needs, specifically for conducting technical studies focused on increasing the efficacy of LHC programs in low-income, minority communities, consistent with the purposes of title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 in addressing critical social, economic, and environmental problems facing Nation's urban communities (see 42 U.S.C. 5301). Low-income, minority children in these communities are at highest risk of suffering of exposure to lead-based paint hazards and subsequently developing lead poisoning (Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, 1997; Jacobs et al., 2002). The Department is aware that HBCUs are often involved in projects that address problems such as lead poisoning, that disproportionately affect low-income, minority populations. The goal of this set aside is to encourage HBCUs to apply their unique perspective on community issues and the community relationships that they have established, to design and implement technical studies to increase the efficacy of LHC programs in their communities and in additional communities, in accordance with section 1011(g)(1) of Title X, which requires HUD to "develop the capacity of eligible applicants * * * to carry out activities under" LHC grant programs.

HBCU applications should understand that the ultimate goal of these LHC grant programs is to reduce the incidence of childhood lead poisoning by identifying and eliminating lead hazards in target, privately owned, housing (see FY 2003 NOFA for LHC grants). Important aspects of the HUD LHC grants include:

- (i) Working cooperatively with other governmental and community-based organizations;
- (ii) Identifying target housing and recruiting owners into the program;
- (iii) Identifying lead-based paint hazards and developing work specifications for contractors;
- (iv) Awarding contracts and ensuring that work is completed;
- (v) Conducting outreach and education to residents and the community; and

(vi) Promotion of job training, employment, and other economic opportunities for low-income and minority residents and businesses.

LHC grantees are encouraged to employ hazard control interventions that are effective in eliminating lead hazards while minimizing (e.g., using interim controls instead of complete abatement) cost so that the largest number of housing units can be treated. HUD conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of lead hazard interventions conducted by the initial recipients of the Department's lead-hazard control grants and these were found to be effective in reducing dust-lead levels (preliminary results were reported by Galke et al. 2001).

(B) Eligible Activities

(1) Healthy Homes Technical Studies.

(a) Evaluation of residential health and safety hazard assessment and control methodologies and approaches (including both existing methods and the evaluation of improved or novel approaches). Areas of particular interest to HUD include:

(i) Improving indoor air quality, such as through cost-effective approaches to upgrading residential ventilation or improving control/management of combustion appliances. Applicants should discuss how proposed approaches might affect residential energy costs (e.g., increasing air exchange rates resulting in an increase in heating costs);

(ii) Improving or assessing the efficacy of current methods for residential Integrated Pest Management (IPM). IPM approaches focus on the use of economical means for managing pests, which incorporate information on the life cycles of pests and their interaction with the environment, while minimizing hazards to people, property, and the environment. HUD is particularly interested in IPM methods for reducing cockroach and/or rodent populations in multifamily housing;

(iii) Controlling excess moisture and dust control measures (e.g., preventing track-in of exterior dust and soil, improved methods for interior dust cleaning) have been identified as key areas in the HHI Preliminary Plan;

(iv) Evaluate the effectiveness of education and outreach methods designed to provide at-risk families with the knowledge to adopt self-protective behaviors with respect to housing-related health hazards; and

(v) Additional ideas will be considered with an open mind toward novel techniques and applications.

(b) Analysis of existing data or generation of new data to improve knowledge regarding the prevalence and severity of specific hazards in various classes of housing, with a focus on low-income housing. Specific examples include:

(i) The prevalence of carbon monoxide and other indoor air quality hazards;

(ii) The prevalence and patterns of moisture problems and biological contaminants associated with excess moisture (e.g., fungi, bacteria, dust mites);

(iii) The prevalence of specific childhood injury hazards in housing; and

(iv) Improved understanding of the relationship between a residential exposure and childhood illness or injury.

(c) Low-cost analytical techniques for the rapid, on- and off-site determination of environmental contaminants of concern (e.g., bioaerosols, pesticides, allergens).

(i) Establish and validate any necessary procedures (e.g., such as extraction and/or digestion) that would work well with the field device/procedure;

(ii) Improve old technology (e.g., colorimetric tests, titrimetric procedures) as well as examine and improve newer techniques; and

(iii) Consider the safety, environmental impacts, and cost of the procedure, particularly as used in the field.

(d) In proposing technical studies within the broad topic areas discussed in III.C.1(a) and III.C.1(b), applicants should consider:

(i) The "fit" of the proposed hazard assessment and/or control methods within the overall goal of addressing "priority" health and safety hazards in a cost-effective manner;

(ii) The efficacy of the proposed methods for hazard control and risk reduction (e.g., how long is effective hazard reduction maintained?);

(iii) Consider where and how these methods would be applied and tested, and/or perform demonstration activities; and

(iv) The degree to which your study will help develop practical, widely applicable methods and protocols or improve our understanding of a residential health hazard.

Although HUD is soliciting proposals for technical studies on these broad topics, HUD will also consider funding applications for technical studies on topics that are relevant under the overall goals and objectives of this program, as described above. In such instances, the applicant should describe how the proposed project activity addresses these overall goals and objectives.

Applicants should consider the efficiencies that might be gained by working cooperatively with some of the recipients of HUD's Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control grants, which are widely distributed throughout the U.S. Information on current grantees is available at www.hud.gov/offices/lead.

You may address one or more of the technical studies topic areas within your proposal, or submit separate applications for different topic areas.

(2) Lead Technical Studies.

(a) Set-Aside for Historically Black Colleges and Universities for Technical Studies on Increasing the Efficacy of Lead Hazard Control Programs in Low-Income, Urban Communities.

Conduct studies focused on evaluating and improving the efficacy of LHC programs as conducted in low-income, urban communities. You are encouraged to focus on one or more important components of a LHC program, as discussed in section III.A.3, above, with the goal being to increase the effectiveness of that component (e.g., selection and recruitment of units, design of interventions, contracting, promotion of job training, outreach and education). You are encouraged to work with the organizations that are currently administering LHC programs as well as with the community in the design and implementation of your study. As noted in section III.A.1(i), above, you are encouraged to use the "community-based participatory research" approach, where applicable, in the design and implementation of your studies.

In order that your studies can be relied upon for use in other communities and programs, it is important that your findings be statistically and programmatically verifiable. You are encouraged to use a study design that incorporates objective, quantitative measures of performance, and that assesses hypotheses that can be evaluated statistically based on the data obtained by your studies.

Some examples of design options are:

(i) Evaluate one or more components of an existing HUD LHC grant, propose a revised approach that reflects the findings of the evaluation, and evaluate the application of the revised approach;

(ii) Compare the effectiveness of a component across two or more existing HUD LHC grants, propose a revised approach that reflects the findings of the evaluation, and evaluate the application of the revised approach; or

(iii) Compare the effectiveness of one or more components among two or more jurisdictions, some of which have HUD LHC grants and some which do not, propose how jurisdictions without control grants could better achieve some of the goals of control grants, and evaluate the application of the proposed method in jurisdictions without LHC control grants.

(b) Evaluation of Interior and Exterior Lead Hazard Control Methodologies, Especially Novel Approaches. Identify and evaluate new methods and/or techniques for lead-based paint hazard control. Identify materials and/or procedures that may be used for abatement or for interim controls. Show the potential utility of these methods for LHC and risk reduction. Evaluate critical elements and potential weaknesses of the methods or techniques, and address how to minimize the effect of each critical element and/or eliminate or mitigate each weakness. Demonstrate where and how these methods have been applied and tested, and/or perform demonstration activities. Illustrate the results obtained, and the costs involved. Recommend cost-effective changes to the program for inclusion in future HUD LHC grants, and for possible inclusion in future revisions to the Guidelines.

(c) The Effectiveness of Ongoing Maintenance Program Activities in Controlling Lead-Based Paint Hazards. While a variety of lead abatement and interim control techniques have been evaluated for their effectiveness in controlling lead-based paint hazards at and after their implementation, there are few studies directly assessing the effectiveness of ongoing lead-based paint maintenance programs. Evaluate the effectiveness and feasibility of developing and implementing ongoing lead-based paint maintenance programs, identify program components for which particular implementation difficulties exist, and evaluate proposed measures for overcoming those difficulties. Such quantitative evaluation of program components could address whether and how technically-acceptable and cost-effective work practices are selected and implemented, how effective supervisors are in monitoring work activities to ensure that lead-based paint hazards are controlled and that dust and debris are contained and cleaned up during work, and how well clearance procedures (including necessary re-cleaning) are integrated into the maintenance program, among other factors.

(d) Other Focus Areas that are Consistent with the Overall Goals of HUD's Lead Technical Studies Program. Additional ideas will be considered with an open mind toward novel techniques and applications. Although HUD is soliciting proposals for technical studies on some specific topics, HUD will also consider funding applications for technical studies on topics which are relevant under the overall goals and objectives of the LHC technical studies program, as described above. In such instances, the applicant should describe how the proposed activity addresses these overall goals and objectives.

(C) Ineligible Activities

(1) Purchase or lease of equipment having a per unit cost in excess of $5,000, unless prior written approval is obtained from HUD.

(2) Medical treatment costs.

IV. Program Requirements

In addition to the requirements listed in Section V of the General Section of this SuperNOFA, the applicant must comply with requirements of this Section IV.

(A) Administrative Costs

There is a 10% maximum for administrative costs for successful applicants. Additional information about allowable administrative costs is provided in Appendix E of this program section of the NOFA.

(B) Period of Performance

The period of performance cannot exceed 24 months from the time of award, except for projects involving human subjects that require Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval and periodic monitoring, which cannot exceed 30 months. The additional time is allowed for obtaining approval for such studies, under HUD regulation (24 CFR part 60), which incorporates the Department of Health and Human Services' regulation of studies involving human subjects. In addition, HUD reserves the right to approve no cost time extensions for a total period not to exceed 12 months.

(C) Program Performance

Grantees shall take all reasonable steps to accomplish all grant-funded activities within the approved period of performance. HUD reserves the right to terminate the grant prior to the expiration of the period of performance if the grantee fails to make reasonable progress in implementing the approved program of activities.

(D) Certifications and Assurances

In addition to the certifications mentioned in the Section V(H) of the General Section of this NOFA, you must comply with:

- (1) All relevant State and Federal regulations regarding exposure to and proper disposal of hazardous materials;
- (2) Any blood lead testing, blood lead level test results, and medical referral and follow-up for children under six years of age will be conducted according to the recommendations of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Preventing Lead Poisoning in Young Children (see Appendix B of this program section of the NOFA);

(3) HUD technical studies grant funds will not replace existing resources dedicated to any ongoing project;

(4) Laboratory analysis covered by the National Lead Laboratory Accreditation Program (NLLAP) will be conducted by a laboratory recognized under the program;

(5) Human research subjects will be protected from research risks in conformance with Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects, codified by HUD at 24 CFR part 60; and

(6) The requirements of OSHA (e.g., 29 CFR part 1910 and/or 1926, as applicable) or the State or local occupational safety and health regulations, whichever are most stringent, will be met;

(7) If an individual researcher or a research team submits the application, the institution administering the grant will meet the civil rights threshold in Section V of the General Section of this NOFA.

(E) Conducting Business in Accordance with HUD Core Values and Ethical Standards

If awarded assistance under this NOFA, prior to entering into a grant agreement with HUD, you will be required to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees, and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct. See Section V of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for information about conducting business in accordance with HUD's core values and ethical standards.

(F) Participation in HUD-Sponsored Program Evaluation

As a condition of the receipt of financial assistance under this NOFA, you will be required to cooperate with all HUD staff or contractors performing HUD-funded research and evaluation studies pertaining to the subject of the grant.

(G) HUD Reform Act of 1989

The provisions of the HUD Reform Act of 1989 that apply to this NOFA are explained in the General Section of the NOFA at section XI.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Threshold Requirements

Applications that meet all of the threshold requirements will be eligible to be scored and ranked, based on the total number of points allocated for each of the rating factors described below in Section V (B) of this NOFA. Your application must receive a total score of at least 75 points to remain in consideration for funding.

(B) Rating and Ranking

Awards will be made separately in rank order for Healthy Homes Technical Studies applications and for each category of Lead Technical Studies applications, within the limits of funding availability for each program.

(1) Award Factors. Applications will be reviewed by a Source Evaluation Board which will assign each application a numerical score based on the rating factors presented below (see also section V(B) of the NOFA). Each factor is weighted as indicated by the number of points that are attainable for it. The maximum score that can be assigned to an application is 102 points. Applicants should be certain that these factors are adequately addressed in the project description (see Section 2) and accompanying materials. The five rating factors are listed below.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (30 points)

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 points)

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (45 points)

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 points)

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 points)

RC/EZ/EC Bonus Points (2 points)

TOTAL: 102 points

Applicants are eligible to receive two bonus points for projects located within federally designated Renewable Communities (RC)/Employment Zones (EZ)/Enterprise Communities (EC) (RC/EZ/ECs) and which will serve the residents of these communities (see Section VI of the General Section of this NOFA).

You will receive one point under Rating Factor 3(1) for each of the applicable FY 2003 policy priorities that are adequately addressed in your application, up to a maximum of three points (see Section II of the General Section of this NOFA). Policy priorities that are applicable to the Lead and Healthy Homes Technical Studies NOFA are: (1) Improving our Nation's Communities (focus on distressed communities); (2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Grass-Roots Faith-based and other Community-based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation; and (3) Colonias.

Within each of the two technical studies program areas, you may address more than one of the technical study topic areas within your proposal (e.g., a healthy homes technical studies applicant can address multiple topics consistent with the HHI program objectives) or submit separate applications for different topic areas. You are encouraged to plan projects that can be completed over a short time period (e.g., 12 to 24 months from the date of award (plus up to six months to accommodate approval by an IRB for human subjects research)), so useful information generated from the technical studies can be available for policy or program decisions and disseminated to the public as quickly as possible.

Regarding the amount to be awarded to the selected applicants, please refer to the Negotiation section VI(D) in the General Section of this NOFA.

(2) Partial Funding. In the selection process, HUD reserves the right to offer partial funding to any or all applicants. If you are offered a reduced grant amount, you will have a maximum of 14 calendar days to accept such a reduced award. If you fail to respond within the 14-day limit, you shall be considered to have declined the award.

(3) Remaining Funds. See section VI of the General Section of this NOFA for HUD's procedures if funds remain after all selections have been made within a category of the Lead Technical Studies Program.

(C) Rating Factors

The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are provided below. The factors or their assigned points differ somewhat from those used for most program areas included in this NOFA because they have been amended for rating the unique aspects of technical study applications. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 102.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (30 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which you have the ability and organizational resources necessary to successfully implement your proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating of you, the "applicant," will include any sub-grantees, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia that are firmly committed to the project (generally, "subordinate organizations"). In rating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which your application demonstrates:

(1) The capability and qualifications of the principal investigator and key personnel (20 points). Qualifications to carry out the proposed study as evidenced by academic background, relevant publications, and recent (within the past 10 years) relevant research experience. Publications and research experience are considered relevant if they required the acquisition and use of knowledge and skills that can be applied in the planning and execution of the technical study that is proposed under this program section of this NOFA; and

(2) Past performance of the study team in managing similar projects (10 points). Demonstrated ability to successfully manage various aspects of a complex technical study in such areas as logistics, study personnel management, data management, quality control, community study involvement (if applicable), and report writing, as well as overall success in project completion (i.e., projects completed on time and within budget). You should also demonstrate that your project would have adequate administrative support, including clerical and specialized support in areas such as accounting and equipment maintenance.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (10 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for your proposed technical study. In responding to this factor, you should document in detail how your project would make a significant contribution towards achieving some or all of HUD's stated goals and objectives for one or more of the topic areas described in Sections III (A) and (C)(1)-(2). You should demonstrate how your proposed study addresses a need associated with an important housing-related health hazard, with an emphasis on children's health. Specific topics to be addressed for this factor include:

(1) Provide a concise review of the health hazard that is addressed in your study and why you consider it a "high priority" hazard. If appropriate, include documented rates of illness or injury associated with the hazard, including local, regional, and national data;

(2) Discuss how your proposed project would significantly advance the current state of knowledge for your focus area, especially with respect to the development of practical solutions; and

(3) Discuss how you anticipate your study findings will be used to improve current methods for assessing or mitigating the hazard that your study addresses. Indicate why the method/protocol that would be improved through your study would be widely adopted (e.g., low cost, easily replicated, lack of other options).

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (45 Points)

This factor addresses the quality of your proposed technical study plan. Specific components include:

(1) Soundness of the study design (25 points). The project description/study design must be thorough and feasible, and reflect your knowledge of the relevant scientific literature. You should clearly describe how your study builds upon the current state of knowledge for your focus area. If possible, your study should be designed to address testable hypotheses, which are clearly stated. Your study design should be statistically based, with adequate power to test your stated hypotheses. The study design should be presented as a logical sequence of steps or phases, with individual tasks described for each phase. You should identify any important "decision points" in your study plan and you should discuss plans for data management, analysis and archiving.

Indicate if you will address any of the Department's FY 2003 policy priorities that are applicable to this program (see Section II of the General Section of this NOFA for a description of these policy priorities). You will receive one point for each of the applicable policy priorities that are addressed in your application. Policy priorities that are applicable to the Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies programs are: (1) Improving the Quality of Life in Our Nation's Communities (focus on distressed communities); (2) Providing Full and Equal Access to Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation; and (3) Colonias (improving housing conditions for families living in Colonias).

(2) Quality assurance mechanisms (10 points). You must describe the quality assurance mechanisms that will be integrated into your project design to ensure the validity and quality of the results.

(a) Areas to be addressed include acceptance criteria for data quality, procedures for selection of samples/sample sites, sample handling, measurement and analysis, and any standard/nonstandard quality assurance/control procedures to be followed. Documents (e.g., government reports, peer-reviewed academic literature) that provide the basis for your quality assurance mechanisms should be cited.

(b) If your project involves human subjects in a manner which requires Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval and periodic monitoring, address how you will obtain such approval and your monitoring plan (before you can receive funds from HUD for activities that require IRB approval, you must provide an assurance that your study has been reviewed and approved by an IRB and evidence of your organization's "institutional assurance;" see Section VI(A)(6)). Describe how you will provide informed consent (e.g., from the subjects, their parents or their guardians, as applicable) to help ensure their understanding of, and consent to, the elements of informed consent, such as the purposes, benefits and risks of the research. Describe how this information will be provided and how the consent will be collected. For example, describe your use of "plain language" forms, flyers and verbal scripts, and how you plan to work with families with limited English proficiency or primary languages other than English, and with families including persons with disabilities.

(3) Project management plan (8 points). The proposal should include a management plan that provides a schedule for the completion of major activities, tasks and deliverables, with an indication that there will be adequate resources (e.g., personnel, financial) to successfully meet the proposed schedule. You are encouraged to plan a project with a duration of 24 months or less (or 30 months or less for projects requiring IRB approval). You should include preparation of one or more articles for peer-reviewed academic journals and submission of the draft(s) to the journal(s) after HUD acceptance during the period of performance of your grant.

(4) Budget Proposal (2 points).

(a) Your budget proposal should thoroughly estimate all applicable direct and indirect costs, and be presented in a clear and coherent format in accordance with the requirements listed in the General Section of this NOFA. HUD is not required to approve or fund all proposed activities. Your budget should be submitted in the format provided in Appendix D (an electronic spreadsheet is available on HUD's Web site, www.hud.gov/offices/lead). You must thoroughly document and justify all budget categories and costs (Part B of Standard Form 424A) and all major tasks, for yourself, sub-recipients, partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to the project (especially those proposed to receive more than 10% of the federal budget request). Your budget proposal should be activity- and task-related.

(b) Your narrative justification associated with these budgeted costs should be included as an attachment to the Total Budget (Federal Share and Matching), but does not count in the 25-page limit for this submission.

(c) The application will not be rated on the proposed cost; however, cost will be considered in addition to the rated factors to determine the proposal most advantageous to the Federal government. Cost will be the deciding factor when proposals ranked under the listed factors are considered acceptable and are substantially equal.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (5 Points)

Your proposal should demonstrate that the effectiveness of HUD's Healthy Homes and Lead Technical Studies grant funds is being increased by securing other public and/or private resources or by structuring the project in a cost-effective manner, such as integrating the project into an existing study. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions (such as services, facilities or equipment) allocated to the purpose(s) of your project. Staff and in-kind contributions should be given a monetary value.

You should provide evidence of leveraging/partnerships by attaching to your application the following: letters of firm commitment; memoranda of understanding; or agreements to participate from those entities identified as partners in the project efforts. Each letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement to participate must include the organization's name, proposed level of commitment (with monetary value) and responsibilities as they relate to specific activities or tasks of your proposed program. The commitment must also be signed by an official of the organization legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (10 Points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their applications and assess their performance to ensure performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your evaluation plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have described outcome measures and benefits of your program.

In your response to this Rating Factor you are to discuss the performance goals for your project and identify specific outcome measures. You are also to describe how the outcome information will be obtained, documented, and reported. You must complete and return the Logic Model Form included in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA showing your proposed project long-term, mid-term, short-term and final results, and how they support HUD's departmental goals and objectives. Information about developing a Logic Model is available at www.hud.gov.

Also, in responding to this factor, you should:

(a) Identify benchmarks that you will use to track the progress of your study;

(b) Identify important study milestones (e.g., the end of specific phases in a multiphased study), which should also be clearly indicated in your study timeline;

(c) Identify milestones that are critical for achieving study objectives (e.g., recruitment of study participants, developing a new analytical protocol), potential obstacles in meeting these objectives, and how you would respond to these obstacles;

(d) Identify how your program will be held accountable for meeting program goals, objectives, and the actions undertaken in implementing the grant program.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Applicant Data

Your application must contain the items listed in this Section (VI(A)). These items include the standard forms, certifications, and assurances listed in the General Section of this NOFA that are applicable to this funding (collectively referred to as the "standard forms"). The standard forms can be found in Appendix B to the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The remaining application item required with your application is a non-standard form (i.e., excluding such items as narratives) that can be found as Appendix D to this is NOFA. The items are:

(1) A transmittal letter, signed by the chief executive or other authorized official, that identifies what the technical study program funds are requested for (you should clearly specify that you are applying for funds under either the HHI technical studies program or the LHC technical studies program), the dollar amount requested, and the applicant(s) submitting the application. The name, mailing address, telephone number, and principal contact person of the prime applicant. If you have consortium associates, sub-grantees, partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to your project, similar information must be provided for each of these entities. If two or more organizations are working together on the project, a primary applicant must be designated.

(2) Application Abstract Summary. An abstract describing the project title, the names and affiliations of all investigators, and a summary of the objectives, expected results, and study design (two-page maximum) must be included in the proposal.

(3) Checklist and Submission Table of Contents (see Appendix D).

(4) All forms as required by Section V(H) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA. A Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan is not required for this application.

(5) A project description/narrative statement addressing the rating factors for award of funding under this program section of the NOFA. The narrative statement must be numbered in accordance with each factor for award (Rating Factors 1 through 5). The project description can either be included in the responses to the rating factors or provided separately. The response to the rating factors should not exceed a total of 25 pages (10- to 12-point font with at least 3/4 inch margins on 8 1/2" by 11" pages) for each technical study topic area. Any pages in excess of this limit will not be read.

(6) In conformance with the Common Rule (Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects, codified by HUD at 24 CFR Part 60), if your research involves human subjects, your organization must provide an assurance (e.g., a letter signed by an appropriate official) that the research has been reviewed and approved by an IRB before you can receive funds from HUD for activities that require IRB approval. Before receiving such funds, you must also provide the number for your organization's assurance (i.e., an "institutional assurance") that has been approved by the Department of Health and Human Service's Office of Human Research Protections (OHRP). For additional information on what constitutes human subject research or how to obtain an institutional assurance see the OHRP Web site at <http://ohrp.osophs.dhhs.gov/>.

(7) Within Appendix 1, the resumes of the principal investigator and other key personnel. Resumes shall not exceed three pages each, and are limited to information that is relevant in assessing the qualifications of key personnel to conduct and/or manage the proposed technical studies. This information will not be counted towards the page limit.

(8) Within Appendix 3, a detailed total budget with supporting cost justification for all budget categories of the federal grant request. Use the budget format discussed in Section V(B) Rating Factor 3(5), above. In completing the budget forms and justification, you should address the following elements:

(a) Direct Labor costs should include all full- and part-time staff required for the planning and implementation phases of the project. These costs should be based on FTE (full time equivalent) or hours per year (hours/year) (i.e., one FTE equals 2,080 hours/year);

(b) You should budget for two trips to HUD Headquarters in Washington, DC, planning each trip for two people, assuming a stay of one or two days, depending on your location;

(c) A separate budget proposal should be provided for any subrecipients receiving more than 10% of the total federal budget request;

(d) You should be prepared to provide supporting documentation for salaries and prices of materials and equipment upon request;

(e) Organizations that have a federally-negotiated indirect rate should use that rate and the appropriate base. Other organizations should use their current overhead rate; and

(f) You should submit the negotiated rate agreements for fringe benefits and indirect costs, if applicable, as an attachment to the budget sheets.

(9) Any important attachments, appendices, references, or other relevant information may accompany the project description, but must not exceed 20 pages for the entire application, although mandatory materials (budget detail and justification, organizational chart, resumes, job descriptions, letters of commitment and memoranda of agreement from participating organizations) are not included in this page limit. Any pages in excess of this limit will not be read.

(B) Quality Assurance Plan (QAP)

Successful applicants will be required to submit a Quality Assurance Plan to HUD prior to initiating work under the grant. This is a streamlined version of the format used by some other federal agencies, and is intended to help ensure the accuracy and validity of the data that you will collect under the grant. You should plan for this and include it in your study work plan. (See the HUD Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control's Internet site, www.hud.gov/offices/lead/.)

(C) Applicant Debriefing

See Section the General Section of this NOFA for information about applicant debriefing.

VII. Corrections to Deficient Applications

The General Section of this SuperNOFA provides the procedures for corrections to deficient applications.

VIII. Environmental Requirements

In accordance with 24 CFR 50.19(b)(1) and (b)(5) of the HUD regulations, activities assisted under this program are categorically excluded from the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321) and are not subject to environmental review under the related laws and authorities.

Appendix A

The following briefly describes the residential health and injury hazards HUD considers key targets for intervention:

Allergens and asthma: Experts estimate that 14 million Americans have asthma, with an associated annual cost of $14 billion. Asthma is now recognized as the leading cause of school and work absences, emergency room visits and hospitalizations. For sensitized children, exposure to antigens from dust mites, certain pets, and cockroaches has been associated with more severe asthma. There is a preponderance of evidence showing a dose-response relationship between exposure and prevalence of asthma and allergies; some evidence also indicates that exposure to antigens early in life may predispose or hasten the onset of allergies and asthma. Dust mites have been identified as the largest trigger for asthma and allergies. Cockroach allergens appear to be excessive in 30–50 percent of inner-city housing and affect 5–15 percent of the population, whereas dust mites appear to be the dominant allergen in other environments.

Interventions known to have beneficial effects include the installation of impervious mattress and pillow covers, which can reduce allergen exposure by 90 percent. Other dust mite control measures include dehumidification, laundering bedding, and removal of carpets and other materials that accumulate dust and are difficult to clean (e.g., dust sinks). Cleaning carpets with tannic acid solution has also been demonstrated to greatly reduce dust mites. Asthma prevention program costs have been estimated at about $500 per unit, which includes about $150 for educational interventions.

Asbestos: Asbestos is a mineral fiber that has been used commonly in a variety of building construction materials and household products for insulation and as a fire-retardant. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) have banned most asbestos products. Manufacturers have also voluntarily limited uses of asbestos. Today, asbestos is most commonly found in older homes in pipe and furnace insulation materials, asbestos shingles, millboard, textured paints and other coating materials, and floor tiles. Elevated concentrations of airborne asbestos can occur when asbestos-containing materials (ACMs) are disturbed by cutting, sanding or other remodeling activities. Improper attempts to remove these materials can release asbestos fibers into the air in homes, increasing asbestos levels and endangering the people living in those homes. The most dangerous asbestos fibers are too small to be visible. After they are inhaled, they can remain and accumulate in the lungs. Asbestos can cause lung cancer, mesothelioma (a cancer of the chest and abdominal linings), and asbestosis (irreversible lung scarring that can be fatal). Most people with asbestos-related diseases were exposed to elevated concentrations on the job; some developed disease from exposure to clothing and equipment brought home from job sites. As with radon, dose-response extrapolations suggest that lower level exposures, as may occur when asbestos-containing building materials deteriorate or are disturbed, may also cause cancer.

Intact asbestos-containing materials are not a hazard; they should be monitored for damage or deterioration and isolated if possible. Repair of damaged or deteriorating ACMs usually involves either sealing (encapsulation) or covering (enclosure) it. Repair is usually cheaper than removal, but it may make later removal of asbestos more difficult and costly. Repairs should be done only by a professional trained and certified to handle asbestos safely and can cost from a few hundred to a few thousand dollars; removal can be more expensive.

Combustion products of heating and cooking appliances: Burning of oil, natural gas, kerosene, and wood for heating or cooking purposes can release a variety of combustion products of health concern. Depending upon the fuel, these may include carbon monoxide (a chemical asphyxiant), oxides of nitrogen (respiratory irritants), polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (e.g., the carcinogen benzo[a]pyrene), and airborne particulate matter (respiratory irritants). Carbon monoxide, an odorless gas, can be fatal. Nitrogen dioxide can damage the respiratory tract, and sulfur dioxide can irritate the eyes, nose and respiratory tract. Smoke and other particulates irritate the eyes, nose and throat, and can cause lung cancer.

Improper venting and poor maintenance of heating systems and cooking appliances can dramatically increase exposure to combustion products. Experts recommend having combustion heating systems inspected by a trained professional every year to identify blocked openings to flues and chimneys, cracked or disconnected flue pipes, dirty filters, rust or cracks in the heat exchanger, soot or creosote build-up, and exhaust or gas odors. Installing a carbon monoxide detector is also recommended; however, such a detector will not detect other combustion by-products.

Insect and Rodent pests: The observed association between exposure to cockroach antigen and asthma severity has already been noted above. In addition, cockroaches may act as vehicles to contaminate environmental surfaces with certain pathogenic organisms. Rodents can transmit a number of communicable diseases to humans, either through bites, arthropod vectors, or exposure to aerosolized excreta. In addition, humans can become sensitized to proteins in rodent urine, dander and saliva. Such sensitization may contribute to asthma severity among children. Insect and rodent infestation is frequently associated with substandard housing that makes it difficult to eliminate. Treatment of rodent and insect infestations often includes the use of toxic pesticides that may present hazards to occupants (see below). Integrated pest management (IPM) for rodents and cockroaches, which reduces the use of pesticides, is estimated to cost approximately $150 per unit. IPM control measures include sealing holes and cracks, removing food sources and use of traps.

Lead: Exposure to lead, especially from deteriorating lead-based paint, remains one of the most important and best-studied of the household environmental hazards to children. Although blood lead levels have fallen nationally, a large reservoir of lead remains in housing. The most recent national survey, conducted from 1991–94, showed that nearly one million U.S. preschoolers still have elevated blood lead levels. Overall, the prevalence rate among all children under six years of age is 4.4 percent. Among low-income children living in older housing where lead-based paint is most prevalent, the rate climbs to 16 percent; and for African-American children living in such housing, it reaches 21 percent.

HUD estimates that 38 million dwellings have some lead-based paint, and that 26 million have significant lead-based paint hazards. Of those, about 5.7 million have young children and of those, about 1.6 million have household incomes under $30,000 per year. LHC costs can range anywhere from $500 to $15,000 per unit. Corrective measures include paint stabilization, enclosure and removal of certain building components coated with lead paint, and cleanup and “clearance testing,” which ensures the unit is safe for young children.

Mold and moisture: An analysis of several pulmonary disease studies estimates that 25 percent of airways disease, and 60 percent of interstitial lung disease may be associated with moisture in the home or work environment. Moisture is a precursor to the growth of mold and other biological agents, which is also associated with respiratory symptoms. An investigation of a cluster of pulmonary hemosiderosis (PH) cases in infants showed PH was associated with a history of recent water damage to homes and with levels of the mold Stachybotrys atra (SA) in air and cultured surface samples. Associations between exposure to SA and “sick building” symptoms in adults have also been observed. Other related toxigenic fungi have been found in association with SA-associated illness and could play a role. For sensitive individuals, exposure to a wide variety of common molds may also aggravate asthma. Addressing mold problems in housing requires coordination among the medical, public health, microbiological, housing, and building science communities.

The cost of mold/moisture-related intervention work (e.g., IPM, clean and tune furnace, remove debris, vent clothes dryer, cover dirt floor with impermeable vapor barrier) is a few hundred dollars, unless major modification of the ventilation system is needed. For example, in Cleveland, mold interventions, including repairs to ventilation systems and basement flooring, in the most heavily contaminated homes range from $500–$5,000, with some costs also being dedicated to LHC simultaneously through its lead and asthma program.

Pesticide residues: According to the EPA, 75 percent of U.S. households used at least one pesticide product indoors during the past year. Products used most often are insecticides and disinfectants. Another study suggests that 80 percent of most people’s exposure to pesticides occurs indoors and that measurable levels of up to a dozen pesticides have been found in the air inside homes. The amount of pesticides found in homes appears to be greater than can be explained by recent pesticide use in those households; other possible sources include contaminated soil or dust that migrates in from outside, stored pesticide containers, and household surfaces that collect and then release the pesticides. Pesticides used in and around the home include products to control insects (insecticides), termites (termiteicides), rodents (rodenticides), molds and fungi (fungicides), and microbes (disinfectants). In 1990, the American Association of Poison Control Centers reported that some 79,000 children were involved in common household pesticide poisonings or exposures. In households with children under five years of age, almost half stored at least one pesticide product within the reach of children. Exposure to chlorpyrifos (CP), a commonly used organophosphate insecticide, in the prenatal and early postnatal period may impair neurological development. While CP is a biodegradable pesticide, substantial persistence of CP in house dust has been demonstrated. Exposure to high levels of cyclodiene pesticides, commonly associated with misapplication, has produced various symptoms, including headaches, dizziness, muscle twitching, weakness, tingling sensations, and nausea. In addition, the EPA is concerned that cyclodienes might cause long-term damage to the liver and the central nervous system, as well as an increased risk of cancer.

There are available data on hazard evaluation methods and remediation effectiveness regarding pesticide residues in the home environment.

Radon progeny: The National Academy of Sciences estimates that approximately 15,000 cases of lung cancer per year are related to radon exposure. Epidemiologic studies of miners exposed to high levels of radon in inhaled air have defined the dose response relation for radon-induced lung cancer at high exposure levels. Extrapolation of these data has been used to estimate the excess risk of lung cancer attributable to exposure to radon gas at the lower levels found in homes. These estimates indicate that radon gas is an important cause of lung cancer deaths in the U.S. Excessive exposures are typically related to home ventilation, structural integrity and location.

Radon measurement and remediation methods are well developed, and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recommends that every home be measured for radon. EPA estimates that materials and labor costs for radon reduction in an existing home are $800–$2,500. Including radon resistant techniques in new home construction costs $350–$500, and can save up to $65 annually in energy costs, according to the EPA.

Take-home hazards from work/hobbies and work at home: When the clothing, hair, skin, or shoes of workers become contaminated with hazardous materials in the workplace, such contaminants may inadvertently be carried to the home environment and/or an automobile. Such “take-home” exposures have been demonstrated, for example, in homes of lead-exposed workers. In addition, certain hobbies or workplaces located in the home may provide an especially great risk of household contamination.

Control methods include storing and laundering work clothes separately, and showering and changing clothes before leaving work or immediately after arriving home. Once a home becomes contaminated, cleaning floors and contact surfaces and replacing furnishings may be necessary to reduce exposures.

Unintentional injuries/fire: Unintentional injury is now the leading cause of death and disability among children younger than 15 years of age. In 1997, nearly 7 million persons in the U.S. were disabled for at least one full day by unintentional injuries received at home. During the same year, 28,400 deaths were attributable to unintentional home injuries, of which 1800 occurred among children 0–4 years of age. Among young children, three types of events accounted for more than 75 percent of deaths: fires/ burns; drowning; and mechanical suffocation. Falls and poisoning are the next most common causes of death.

Home visitation protocols have been shown to be effective in reducing exposure to such hazards. The “add-on” cost of injury prevention measures, when combined with other housing interventions are estimated at about $100 per unit. This includes the cost of some injury prevention devices (e.g., smoke alarms, electrical socket covers, etc.).

APPENDIX C - Healthy Homes and Lead-Related Research

No.	Title	Description
1	Urban Mold and Moisture Control	Assess the efficacy of low cost interventions to address mold and moisture problems as measured by subsequent reductions in fungal levels in environmental samples and reduction in asthma morbidity. Also includes development and validation of a visual assessment tool.
2	Improving the Lead Dust Final Clean Protocol to Reduce Cockroach Allergen Exposure	Determine effectiveness of modified cleaning protocols in reducing household contamination by cockroach allergen; evaluate polyclonal immunoassay for measuring cockroach allergens.
3	Healthy Public Housing	Document environmental health and safety hazards affecting public housing residents; evaluate remedial measures and quantify economic benefits of interventions
4	Head Start Healthy Homes Initiative	Evaluate home visitation with low cost interventions to Head Start families as a means of reducing health risks for asthma, lead poisoning and injury.
5	Baseline Study of Fungi in Urban Homes With No Known Moisture Problems	Identify fungal species and concentrations in samples of air and settled dust in homes with no known mold and moisture problems.
6	Use of GIS Predictive Modeling to Identify Homes at High Risk for Environmental Health Hazards	A GIS-based predictive modeling approach, built on an ongoing GIS modeling project for lead hazards, will be used to identify homes that are likely to have multiple environmental health hazards.
7	A Portable Instrument to Detect, Identify and Quantify Mold in Homes	The objective is to develop a relatively low cost, portable instrument to perform on-site evaluation of airborne concentrations of specific fungal species as well as estimates of total fungal concentration.
8	Evaluation of a Low Cost Method for Identification and Assessment of Mold Problems in Housing	The objective is to conduct laboratory and field testing of a new instrument for measuring the release of mold spores from surfaces.
9	Novel Markers of Fungal Exposure in Homes and Their Relationship to Respiratory Symptoms in Children in New York City	This research is evaluating the utility of fungal exposure assessment through immunoassay measurement of fungal extracellular polysaccharides (EPS) in house dust and fungal EPS specific immunoglobulin G (IgG) in the serum of participants to identify relationships between mold exposure and respiratory symptoms.

Examples of NOFA-Funded Lead Research

No.	Title	Description
1	Cleaning Lead Contaminated Dust from Hard Surfaces	The purpose of this research is to determine the effectiveness of various detergents in cleaning lead-contaminated dust from hard surfaces under varying conditions of wear and dust loading.
2	Monitoring HEPA Vacuum Dust Pick-up with an Aerosol Photometer	The objective of this research is develop a dynamic reading instrument that will indicate when a surface is sufficiently "clean".
3	Developing a Method for Collecting and Analyzing Vacuum Dust Samples for Lead Using Field Portable XRF	This research involves the development and assessment of a field method for collecting residential dust samples and analyzing them for lead using a field portable XRF analyzer.
4	The Use of Biosolids to Reduce Soil-lead Hazards	The study involves the application of treated biosolids to lead-contaminated urban yards with subsequent assessment of the effectiveness of the treatment in reducing lead concentration and bioavailability.
5	Assessing the Effectiveness of a State Law Requiring Lead Hazard Control Treatments in pre-1950 Rental Housing	The project is assessing the effectiveness of low cost treatments in reducing residential dust-lead hazards in rental housing.

Appendix E

This appendix to this NOFA lists the standard forms, certifications and assurances used by the programs that are part of this NOFA. Listed forms are located in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

The following forms are to be used for the Programs listed in this NOFA

- (1) Form HUD-424
- (2) Form HUD-424 B
- (3) Form HUD-424 C
- (4) Form HUD-424 CBW
- (5) Form HUD Logic Model Form
- (6) Application Checklist and Submission Table of Contents
- (7) Ethnicity and Race Data

HUD has consolidated many of its application forms into a single HUD-424 form. The new HUD-424 consolidates budget-reporting forms for both construction and non-construction projects into a single form and eliminates having to have the following separate certifications: Certification for a Drug-Free Workplace (HUD-50070), the Certification of Payments to Influence Federal Transactions (HUD-50071), and the Certification Regarding Debarment and Suspension (HUD-2992).

New form HUD-424 replaces SF-424 and HUD-424 M

HUD-424 B replaces SF-424 B and D, and HUD-50070, 50071 and 2992.

HUD-424 C and CB replaces SF-424 A and C

The HUD-424 CBW is added as a common detailed Budget Worksheet and replaces various budget worksheets used throughout the Department.

Administrative costs that may be applicable to the programs included in this NOFA are discussed below:

Administrative Costs

I. Purpose

The intent of this HUD grant program is to allow the Grantee to be reimbursed for the reasonable direct and indirect costs, subject to a top limit, for overall management of the grant. In most instances the grantee, whether a State or a local government, principally serves as a conduit to pass funding to sub-grantees, which are to be responsible for the conducting lead-hazard reduction work. Congress set a top limit of ten percent of the total grant sum for the grantee to perform the function of overall management of the grant program, including passing on funding to sub-grantees. The cost of that function, for the purpose of this grant, is defined as the "administrative cost" of the grant, and is limited to ten percent of the total grant amount. The balance of ninety percent or more of the total grant sum is reserved sub-grantees or other direct-performers of lead-hazard identification and reduction work. Lead hazard identification and reduction includes, but is not necessarily limited to outreach, training, enrollment, lead paint inspection/risk assessments, interim controls, hazard abatement, clearance documentation, blood lead testing, and public education.

II. Administrative Costs: What They Are Not

For the purposes of this HUD grant program for States and local governments to provide support for the evaluation and reduction of lead-hazards in low- and moderate-income, private target housing, the term "administrative costs" should not be confused with the terms "general and administrative cost," "indirect costs," "overhead," and "burden rate." These are accounting terms usually represented by a government-accepted standard percentage rate. The percentage rate allocates a fair share of an organization's costs that cannot be attributed to a particular project or department (such as the chief executive's salary or the costs of the organization's headquarters building) to all projects and operating departments (such as the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Health Department or this program). Such allocated costs are added to those projects' or departments' direct costs to determine their total costs to the organization.

III. Administrative Costs: What They Are

For the purposes of this HUD grant program, "Administrative Costs" are the grantee's allowable direct costs for the overall management of the grant program plus the allocable indirect costs. The allowable limit of such costs that can be reimbursed under this program is ten (10) percent of the total grant sum. Should the grantee's actual costs for overall management of the grant program exceed ten percent of the total grant sum, those excess costs shall be paid for by the grantee. However, excess costs paid for by the grantee may be shown as part of the requirement for cost-sharing funds to support the grant.

IV. Administrative Costs: Definition

A. General

Administrative costs are the allowable, reasonable, and allocable direct and indirect costs related to the overall management of the HUD grant for lead-hazard reduction activities. Those costs shall be segregated in a separate cost center within the grantee's accounting system, and they are eligible costs for reimbursement as part of the grant, subject to the ten percent limit. Such administrative costs do not include any of the staff and overhead costs directly arising from specific sub-grantee program activities eligible under Section III(B) of this program section of this SuperNOFA, because those costs are eligible for reimbursement under a separate cost center as a direct part of project activities.

The grantee may elect to serve solely as a conduit to sub-grantees, who will in turn perform the direct program activities eligible under Section III(B) of this program section of this NOFA, or the grantee may elect to perform all or a part of the direct program activities in other parts of its own organization, which shall have their own segregated, cost centers for those direct program activities. In either case, not more than 10 percent of the total HUD grant sum may be devoted to administrative costs, and not less than 90% of the total grant sum shall be devoted to direct program activities. The grantee shall take care not to mix or attribute administrative costs to the direct project cost centers.

B. Specific

Reasonable costs for the grantee's overall grant management, coordination, monitoring, and evaluation are eligible administrative costs. Subject to the ten percent limit, such costs include, but are not limited to, necessary expenditures for the following goods, activities and services:

(1) Salaries, wages, and related costs of the grantee's staff, the staff of affiliated public agencies, or other staff engaged in grantee's overall grant management activities. In charging costs to this category the recipient may either include the entire salary, wages, and related costs allocable to the program for each person whose primary responsibilities (more than 65% of their time) with regard to the grant program involve direct overall grant management assignments, or the pro rata share of the salary, wages, and related costs of each person whose job includes any overall grant management assignments. The grantee may use only one of these two methods during this program. Overall grant management includes the following types of activities:

- (a) Preparing grantee program budgets and schedules, and amendments thereto;
 - (b) Developing systems for the selection and award of funding to sub-grantees and other sub-recipients;
 - (c) Developing suitable agreements for use with sub-grantees and other sub-recipients to carry out grant activities;
 - (d) Developing systems for assuring compliance with program requirements;
 - (e) Monitoring sub-grantee and sub-recipient activities for progress and compliance with program requirements;
 - (f) Preparing presentations, reports, and other documents related to the program for submission to HUD;
 - (g) Evaluating program results against stated objectives;
 - (h) Providing local officials and citizens with information about the overall grant program; however, a more general education program, helping the public understand the nature of lead hazards, lead hazard reduction, blood-lead screening, and the health consequences of lead poisoning is a direct project support activity);
 - (i) Coordinating the resolution of overall grant audit and monitoring findings; and
 - (j) Managing or supervising persons whose responsibilities with regard to the program include such assignments as those described in paragraphs (a) through (i).
- (2) Travel costs incurred for official business in carrying out the overall grant management;
- (3) Administrative services performed under third party contracts or agreements, for services directly allocable to grant management such as: legal services, accounting services, and audit services;
- (4) Other costs for goods and services required for and directly related to the overall management of the grant program; and including such goods and services as telephone, postage, rental of equipment, renter's insurance for the program management space, utilities, office supplies, and rental and maintenance (but not purchase) of office space for the program.
- (5) The fair and allocable share of grantee's general costs that are not directly attributable to specific projects or operating departments such as salaries, office expenses and other related costs for local officials (e.g., mayor and city council members, etc.), and expenses for a city's legal or accounting department which are not charged back to particular projects or other operating departments. If a grantee has an established burden rate, it should be used; if not, the grantee shall be assigned a negotiated provisional burden rate, subject to final audit.

Funding Availability for the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Purpose of the Program. The purpose of the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program is to develop, demonstrate and promote cost-effective, preventive measures to correct multiple safety and health hazards in the home environment that produce serious diseases and injuries in children of low-income families. HUD is interested in reducing health threats to the maximum number of residents, especially children, in a cost efficient manner.

Available Funds. Approximately $5 million in Fiscal Year 2003 funds.

Eligible Applicants. Not-for-profit institutions, and for-profit firms located in the U.S., Native American Tribes, State and local governments, and federally recognized Indian Tribes are eligible to apply. For-profit firms are not allowed to include a fee in the cost proposal (i.e., no profit can be made from the project). Federal agencies and federal employees are not eligible to apply for this program.

Application Due Date: June 10, 2003.

Match. None required.

Additional Information

I. Application Due Date and Technical Assistance

If you are interested in applying for funding under this program, please carefully review the General Section of this SuperNOFA and the following additional information.

Application Due Date. You must submit a completed application to HUD on or before the respective program's application due date. The application due date for all programs contained in this NOFA is July 9, 2003.

Application Submission Procedures. See the General Section of this SuperNOFA for specific procedures concerning the form of application submission (e.g., mailed applications, express mail or overnight delivery). Be advised that there is no Application Kit. All of the information required for submitting an application is contained in this NOFA.

Addresses. You must submit a complete application to, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, ATTN: Healthy Homes Demonstration Program, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Room P3206, Washington, DC 20410.

For Further Information and Technical Assistance. You may contact Ellen R. Taylor, Director, Healthy Homes Division, Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control, at the address above; telephone (202) 755-1785, extension 116 (this is not a toll-free number). If you are hearing-or speech-impaired, you may reach the above telephone number via TTY by calling the toll-free Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

II. Authority, Funding Amounts, And Amount Of Funds Allocated

(A) Authority. The authority for this program is Sections 501 and 502 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 and the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution of 2003, Public Law 108-7, approved February 20, 2003.

(B) Funding Available and Eligibility. Approximately $5 million in Fiscal Year 2003 will be available for the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis following evaluation of all proposals according to the rating factors described in the General Section of this SuperNOFA. HUD anticipates that approximately six to eight grants will be awarded, ranging from approximately $250,000 to approximately $1,000,000 each. A minimum score of 75 is required for award consideration.

III. Eligible Applicants and Activities

(A) Program Description

(1) Background. The Healthy Homes Demonstration Program is a part of HUD's Healthy Homes Initiative (HHI). The HHI departs from the more traditional approach of attempting to correct one hazard at a time (e.g., asbestos, radon). In April 1999, HUD submitted to Congress a preliminary plan containing a full description of the HHI. This description (Summary and Full Report) is available on the HUD website at www.hud.gov.

The HHI builds upon HUD's existing housing-related health and safety issues, including lead hazard control, building structural safety, electrical safety, and fire protection to address multiple childhood diseases and injuries, such as asthma, mold-induced illness, carbon monoxide poisoning, and other conditions, related to housing in a more coordinated fashion. A coordinated effort is feasible because a limited number of building deficiencies contribute to many hazards. Substantial savings are possible using this approach, because separate visits to a home by an inspector, public health nurse, or outreach worker can add significant costs to efforts to eliminate hazards. A description of the HHI program, and a link to its website, are available at www.hud.gov.

In addition to deficiencies in basic housing facilities that may impact health, changes in the U.S. housing stock and more sophisticated epidemiological methods and biomedical research have led to the identification of new and often more subtle health hazards in the residential environment. While such hazards will tend to be found disproportionately in housing that is substandard (e.g., structural problems, lack of adequate heat, etc.), such housing-related environmental hazards may also exist in housing that is otherwise of good quality. Appendix A of this NOFA briefly describes the housing-associated health and injury hazards HUD considers key targets for intervention. Appendix D lists references that serve as the basis for the information provided in the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program.

HUD is interested in promoting approaches that are cost-effective and efficient and that result in the reduction of health threats for the maximum number of residents for the long run, and, in particular, for children in low-income families. Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA presents Policy Priorities. The overall goals and objectives of the HHI are to:

- (a) Mobilize public and private resources, involving cooperation among all levels of government, the private sector, and faith-based and other community-based organizations to develop the most promising, cost-effective methods for identifying and controlling housing-based hazards;
- (b) Build local capacity to operate sustainable programs that will prevent and control housing-based hazards in low- and very low-income residences when HUD funding is exhausted; and
- (c) Affirmatively further fair housing and environmental justice.

(2) Healthy Homes Demonstration Activities. Through the Healthy Homes Demonstration program, HUD will initiate competitive projects to promote implementation of available risk reduction techniques for the control of key hazards described in Appendix A. HUD will award demonstration projects that implement housing assessment, maintenance, renovation and construction techniques to identify and correct housing-related illness and injury risk factors, and disseminate healthy homes information and replicate successful interventions.

HUD will evaluate proposals based on the elements described below. Applicants are required to be specific as to the locations where they are targeting their intervention activities to occur, the residents, individuals, or groups targeted to receive interventions, and the organizations targeted to continue to operate effective intervention strategies over the life of the award and thereafter.

The objectives of the Healthy Homes Demonstration program include:

- (a) Identification of target areas and homes where assessment and interventions will occur;
- (b) Identification and evaluation of effective methods of hazard abatement and risk reduction;
- (c) Development of appropriately-scaled, flexible, cost-effective and efficient intervention strategies that take into account the range of conditions likely to be encountered in housing and that maximize the number of housing units that receive an intervention;
- (d) Development of methodologies for evaluating intervention effectiveness;
- (e) Development of local capacity in target areas and training programs for target groups to operate sustainable housing-based hazards, especially in low- and very low-income residences;
- (f) Development of a cost-effective protocol for identifying homes that are candidates for interventions, identifying hazards in these homes, and screening out homes where structural or other condition factors (e.g., cost) make interventions infeasible or impractical;
- (g) Development and delivery of public outreach programs that provide information about effective methods for preventing housing-related childhood diseases and injuries and for promoting the use of these interventions;
- (h) Targeting, through education and outreach, specific high-risk communities and other identified audiences such as homeowners, landlords, health care deliverers, pregnant women, children, residential construction contractors, maintenance personnel, housing inspectors, real estate professionals, home buyers, and low-income minority families;
- (i) Implementation of media strategies to use print, radio and television to increase public awareness of housing-related hazards that threaten children, including the use of minority media, nonprofit organizations that work with persons with disabilities, and advocates for racial and ethnic minorities, and faith-based organizations;
- (j) Dissemination of existing tools and, as needed, new tools to inform parents and caregivers about housing-related hazards and enable them to take prompt corrective action; and
- (k) Development of training programs for Healthy Homes activities to emphasize assessment and intervention methods applicable to public and private housing in the target area.

(B) Eligible Applicants

Not-for-profit institutions, including faith-based and community-based organizations, and for-profit firms located in the U.S., state and local governments, and federally recognized Indian Tribes are eligible to apply. For-profit firms are not allowed to include a fee in the cost proposal (i.e., no profit can be made from the project). Federal agencies and federal employees are not eligible to apply for this program.

(C) Eligible Activities

The following direct activities and support activities are eligible under this grant program.

(1) Direct Project Elements. These include activities that you may undertake directly, or through sub-recipients, such as:

- (a) Performing evaluations of eligible housing to determine the presence of housing-based hazards (e.g., mold growth, allergens, unvented appliances, exposed steam pipes or radiators, deteriorated lead-based paint) through the use of generally accepted testing procedures.
- (b) Conducting housing interventions to remediate existing housing-based hazards and address conditions that could result in their recurrence. Any lead hazard evaluation and control work shall be conducted by persons qualified for the activities according to 24 CFR part 35, especially sections 35.1325 for abatement and 35.1330 for interim controls. Qualified persons must possess certification as abatement contractors, risk assessors, inspectors, abatement workers, or sampling technicians, or otherwise having been trained in a HUD-approved course in lead-safe work practices. You may refer to the HUD Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Paint Hazards in Housing (Guidelines) for additional information. The Guidelines and/or applicable regulations may be downloaded from the Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control's homepage, linked to HUD's website at www.hud.gov. All pest control activities shall incorporate the principles and methods of integrated pest management (IPM). In technical terms, IPM is the coordinated use of pest and environmental information with available pest control methods to prevent unacceptable levels of pest damage by the most economical means and with the least possible hazard to people, property, and the environment. (One information source is the University of Minnesota's electronic textbook of Integrated Pest Management, available at <http://ipmworld.umn.edu/textbook.htm>.)

(c) Undertaking housing rehabilitation activities that are specifically required to carry out effective control of housing-based hazards, and without which the intervention could not be completed and maintained. Funds under this program may also be used to control lead-based paint hazards; however, such controls may not be a principal focus of the grant. Lead hazard control activities are carried out under HUD's Lead-Based Paint Hazard Control Grant Program.

(d) Carrying out relocation of families and individuals, when necessary, during the period in which intervention is conducted and until the time the affected unit receives clearance for re-occupancy. Residents relocated must be guaranteed the choice of returning to the unit after the intervention.

(e) If medical examinations of young children for conditions caused or exacerbated by exposure to hazards are demonstrated to be critical to the outcome of your project, and there are no alternative sources to cover these costs, conducting such examinations.

(f) Environmental sampling and medical testing recommended by a physician or applicable occupational or public health agency to protect the health of the intervention workers, supervisors, and contractors, unless reimbursable from another source.

(g) Conducting testing and analysis for lead, mold, carbon monoxide and/or other toxins as appropriate, with respect to generally accepted standards or criteria, or where not available, other appropriate levels justified in conjunction with the project. Clearance dust samples related to lead-based paint must be analyzed by a laboratory recognized by the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA's) National Lead Laboratory Accreditation Program (NLLAP). All tests results related to lead-based paint must be provided to the owner of the unit, together with a notice describing the owner's legal duty to disclose the results to tenants and buyers.

(h) Carrying out architectural, engineering and work specification development and other construction management services to control housing-based hazards and remediate existing hazards.

(i) Providing training on Healthy Homes practices to homeowners, renters, painters, remodelers, and housing maintenance staff working in low- or very low-income housing.

(j) Providing cleaning supplies for hazard intervention and hazard control to faith-based and other community-based organizations for use by homeowners and tenants in low-income housing, or to such homeowners and tenants directly. (See Section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for more information about faith-based and other community-based organizations.)

(k) Conducting general or targeted community education programs on environmental health and safety hazards. This activity would include training on Healthy Homes maintenance and renovation practices, among other topics. It would also include making materials available, upon request, in alternative formats for persons with disabilities (e.g., Braille, audio, large type), and in languages other than English that are common in the community, whenever possible.

(l) Securing liability insurance for hazard evaluation and control activities to be performed. This activity is not an administrative activity.

(m) Supporting data collection, analysis, and evaluation of project activities. As a condition of the receipt of financial assistance under this NOFA all successful applicants will be required to cooperate with all HUD staff and contractors performing HUD funded research and evaluation studies. Maintaining a registry of housing units in which housing-based hazards were not found during evaluation, and those in which such problems have been controlled.

(n) Preparing quarterly progress reports and an overall final grant report detailing activities (e.g., number of units tested, hazards found, types of interventions provided, evaluation of the most cost-efficient methodologies by type of unit), findings, and recommended future actions for cost-effective interventions at the conclusion of grant activities.

(2) Support Elements

(a) Your administrative costs. There is a 10 percent maximum allowance for administrative costs. Specific information about administrative costs is included in Appendix F of this NOFA.

(b) Program planning and management costs of sub-grantees and other sub-recipients.

(D) Ineligible Activities

(1) Purchase of Real Property

(2) Purchase or lease of equipment having a per unit cost in excess of $5,000, unless prior written approval is obtained from HUD.

(3) Medical treatment costs, except as specified in Section III (C)(1)(e) above.

IV. Requirements

In addition to requirements listed in the General Section of the SuperNOFA, you, the applicant, must comply with the requirements listed below:

(A) Threshold Requirements

As an applicant, you must meet all of the threshold requirements Section V (B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Threshold requirements include Ineligible Applicants, Compliance with Fair Housing and Civil Rights Laws, Conducting Business in Accordance with Core Values and Ethical Standards, Delinquent Federal Debts and Pre-Award Accounting System Surveys. Information about threshold requirements is provided in Section (V)(B) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. These requirements include the requirement to affirmatively further fair housing (AFFH) in accordance with paragraph V(D) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Applications that meet all of the threshold requirements will be eligible to be scored and ranked based on the total number of points allocated for each of the rating factors described below. Your application must receive a total score of at least 75 points to be considered for funding. Applications will not be rated or ranked if they do not meet the threshold requirements of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

(B) Program Requirements

(1) Work Activities. All lead hazard control activities must be conducted in compliance with the applicable requirements of HUD's Lead-Safe Housing Rule, 24 CFR part 35, and as clarified in HUD's Interpretive Guidance about this rule. Activities must also comply with any additional requirements in effect under a State or Native American Tribal Lead-Based Paint Training and Certification Program that has been authorized by the EPA pursuant to 40 CFR 745.320.

(2) Budgeting.

(a) Matching Requirement. You are not required to provide a matching contribution in the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program.

(b) Administrative Costs. There is a 10 percent maximum allowance for administrative costs as specified in Section 1011(j) of the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992 (Title X of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, Public Law 102-550). Additional information about allowable administrative costs is provided in Appendix F of this NOFA.

(3) Period of Performance. The period of performance cannot exceed 36 months from the time of the award.

(4) Program Performance. Grantees shall take all reasonable steps to accomplish all healthy homes activities within the approved period of performance. HUD will closely monitor the grantee's performance with particular attention to completion of specified activities, deliverables and milestones, and number of units proposed to be assessed or receive interventions within the approved period of performance. HUD reserves the right to terminate the grant prior to the expiration of the period of performance if the grantee fails to meet 25 percent of the milestones, including all deliverables, as scheduled in their work plan.

(5) Certified and Trained Providers. Lead hazard control activities must be conducted by persons qualified for the activities according to 24 CFR part 35 (possessing certification as abatement contractors, risk assessors, inspectors, abatement workers, or sampling technicians, or others having been trained in a HUD-approved course in lead-safe work practices).

(6) Coastal Barrier Resources Act. Pursuant to the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (16 U.S.C. 3501), funds may not be used for properties located in the Coastal Barrier Resources System.

(7) Flood Disaster Protection Act. Under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (42 U.S.C. 4001-4128), funds may not be used for construction, reconstruction, repair or improvement of a building or mobile home which is located in an area identified by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) as having special flood hazards unless:

(a) The community in which the area is situated is participating in the National Flood Insurance Program in accordance with the applicable regulations (44 CFR parts 59-79), or less than a year has passed since FEMA notification regarding these hazards; and

(b) Where the community is participating in the National Flood Insurance Program, flood insurance on the property is obtained in accordance with section 102(a) of the Flood Disaster Protection Act (42 U.S.C. 4012a(a)). You are responsible for assuring that flood insurance is obtained and maintained for the appropriate amount and term.

(8) National Historic Preservation Act. The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 470) (NHPA) and the regulations at 36 CFR part 800 apply to the mold intervention and related hazard control activities that are undertaken pursuant to this program. HUD and the Advisory Council for Historic Preservation have developed an optional Model Agreement for use by grantees and State Historic Preservation Officers in carrying out any lead hazard control activities under this program. A Model Agreement (Prototype Programmatic Agreement) is available at the Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control's Web site, linked to <http://www.hud.gov>.

(9) Waste Disposal. Waste disposal will be handled according to the requirements of the Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) (e.g., 29 CFR part 1910 and/or 1926, as applicable), the EPA (e.g., 40 CFR parts 61, 260–282, 300–374, and/or 700–799, as applicable), the Department of Transportation (e.g., 49 CFR parts 171–177), and/or appropriate State or local regulatory agencies and applicable EPA, HUD, State and local regulatory agency guidance. You must handle disposal of wastes from hazard control activities that contain lead-based paint, but are not classified as hazardous in accordance with State or local law or the HUD Guidelines for the Evaluation and Control of Lead-Based Hazards in Housing (HUD Guidelines). The HUD Guidelines may be downloaded from the HUD Web site at <http://www.hud.gov>.

(10) Worker Protection Procedures. You must comply with the procedures for worker protection established in the HUD Guidelines as well as the requirements of the OSHA, e.g., 29 CFR part 1910 and/or 1926, as applicable, or the state or local occupational safety and health regulations, whichever are more stringent.

(11) Written Policies and Procedures. You must have written policies and procedures for all phases of intervention, including evaluation, development of specifications, financing, occupant relocation, independent project inspection, and clearance testing (e.g., for mold, lead, carbon monoxide or other hazards, as applicable). You and all your subcontractors, sub-recipients, and their contractors must comply with these policies and procedures.

(12) Clearance Testing for Lead Hazard Control Activities. Clearance dust testing must be conducted according to the EPA lead hazards standards rule (40 CFR part 745) for abatement projects and the Lead-Safe Housing rule (24 CFR part 35) for lead hazard control activities other than abatement. These are available at <http://www.epa.gov/lead> and <http://www.hud.gov>, respectively.

(13) Continued Availability of Safe Housing to Low-Income Families. Units in which housing-based hazards have been controlled under this program shall be occupied by and/or continue to be available to low-income residents for not less than three years following the completion of intervention activities.

(14) Environmental Review. See Section VIII (Environmental Requirements) of this program section.

(15) Relocation. Any person (including individuals, partnerships, corporations or associations) who moves from real property or moves personal property from real property directly (1) because of a written notice to acquire real property, in whole or in part, or (2) because of the acquisition of the real property, in whole or in part, for a HUD-assisted activity, is covered by Federal relocation statutes and regulations. Specifically, this type of move is covered by the acquisition policies and procedures and the relocation requirements of the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 URA, as amended, and the implementing government-wide regulation at 49 CFR part 24. The relocation requirements of the URA and the government-wide regulations cover any person who moves permanently from real property or moves personal property from real property directly because of acquisition, rehabilitation or demolition for an activity undertaken with HUD assistance. See Section V(G) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for additional information about relocation.

(16) Data Collection and Provision. You must collect, maintain and provide to HUD the data necessary to document the various approaches used to evaluate and control housing-based hazards, including evaluation and control methods, building conditions, medical and familial information (with confidentiality of individually-identifiable information ensured) in order to determine the effectiveness and relative cost of these methods.

(17) Section 3 Employment Opportunities. Recipients of assistance in the Healthy Homes Demonstration Program must comply with Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, 12 U.S.C. 1701u (Economic Opportunities for Low- and Very Low-Income Persons in Connection with Assisted Projects) and the HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 135, including the reporting requirements of subpart E. Please see section V(E) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for additional information about section 3 requirements.

(18) Certifications and Assurances. You must include the certifications and assurances listed in section V (H) of the General Section of this SuperNOFA with your application. A Certification of Consistency with the Consolidated Plan is not required for the Healthy Homes Demonstration NOFA.

(19) Davis-Bacon Act. The Davis-Bacon Act does not apply to this program. However, if program funds are used in conjunction with other Federal programs in which Davis-Bacon prevailing wage rates apply, then Davis-Bacon provisions would apply to the extent required under the other Federal programs.

(20) Conducting Business in Accordance with HUD Core Values and Ethical Standards. If awarded assistance under the Healthy Homes Demonstration NOFA, you will be required, prior to entering into a grant agreement with HUD, to submit a copy of your code of conduct and describe the methods you will use to ensure that all officers, employees, and agents of your organization are aware of your code of conduct. See section V(B)(3) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for information about conducting business in accordance with HUD's core values and ethical standards.

(21) Ensuring the Participation of Small Businesses, Small Disadvantaged Businesses, and Women-Owned Businesses. HUD is committed to ensuring that small businesses, small disadvantaged businesses and women-owned businesses participate fully in HUD's direct contracting and in contracting opportunities generated by HUD grant funds. Too often, these businesses still experience difficulty accessing information and successfully bidding on Federal contracts. HUD regulations at 24 CFR 85.36(e) require recipients of assistance (grantees and sub-grantees) to take all necessary affirmative steps in contracting for purchase of goods or services to assure that minority firms, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible. Affirmative steps shall include:

(a) Placing qualified small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises on solicitation lists;

(b) Assuring that small and minority business and women's business enterprises are solicited whenever they are potential sources;

(c) Dividing total requirements, when economically feasible, into smaller tasks or quantities to permit maximum participation by small and minority business and women's business enterprises;

(d) Establishing delivery schedules, where the requirement permits, which encourage participation by small and minority business and women's business enterprises;

(e) Using the services and assistance of the Small Business Administration and the Minority Business Development Agency of the Department of Commerce; and

(f) Requiring the prime contractor, if subcontracts are to be let, to take the affirmative steps listed in paragraphs (V) (a) through (e) above.

Refer to section V(F) the General Section of the SuperNOFA for additional information.

(22) Human Subjects Research. In conformance with the Common Rule (Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects, codified by HUD at 21 CFR part 60), if your research involves human subjects, your organization must provide an assurance (e.g., a letter signed by an appropriate official) that the research has been reviewed and approved by an Institutional Review Board (IRB) before you can receive funds from HUD for activities that require IRB approval. Before proceeding with activities that require IRB approval, you must provide the number for your organization's assurance (i.e., an "institutional assurance") that has been approved by the Department of Health and Human Service's Office of Human Research Protections (OHRP). For additional information on what constitutes human subject research or how to obtain an institutional assurance see the OHRP Web site at <http://www.ohrp.osophs.dhhs.gov>.

V. Application Selection Process

(A) Rating and Ranking. Please see section VI of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. Only those applications that meet the threshold requirements will be rated and ranked. HUD intends to award the highest ranked applications receiving a minimum score of 75 within the limits of funding.

In evaluating applications for funding, HUD will take into account an applicant's past performance in managing funds, including the ability to account for funds appropriately; timely use of funds received either from HUD or other Federal, State or local programs; meeting performance targets for completion of activities and number of persons to be served or targeted for assistance. HUD may use information relating to these items based on information at hand or available from public sources such as newspapers, Inspector General or Government Accounting Office Reports or Findings, hotline complaints that have been proven to have merit, or other such sources of information. In evaluating past performance, HUD may elect to deduct points from the rating score as specified under the Factors for Award or set threshold levels for performance as specified in the funding announcement.

(B) Factors for Award Used to Evaluate and Rate Applications. The factors for rating and ranking applicants, and maximum points for each factor, are stated below. The maximum number of points to be awarded is 102, including the potential for two bonus points for RC/EZ/EC, as described in the section VI (C) (1) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 1: Capacity of the Applicant and Relevant Organizational Experience (20 Points)

This factor addresses your organizational capacity necessary to successfully implement your proposed activities in a timely manner. The rating of you or your staff includes any faith-based and other community-based organizations, sub-contractors, consultants, sub-recipients, and members of consortia that are firmly committed to your project. Applicants that are, or propose to either partner, fund, or sub-contract with grassroots organizations, including faith-based and other community-based non-profits, in conducting their work programs will receive higher rating points as specified in section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. In rating this factor, HUD will consider the four items listed below.

(1) Your recent, relevant and successful demonstrated experience in undertaking eligible program activities. You must describe the knowledge and experience of the proposed overall project director and day-to-day project manager in planning and managing large and complex interdisciplinary programs, especially those involving housing, public health, or environmental programs. In your narrative response for this factor, you should include information on your project staff, their experience, percentage commitment to the project, and position titles. Resumes of up to three pages each and position descriptions for up to three key personnel in addition to the project director and project manager, and a clearly delineated organizational chart for the Healthy Homes project you propose, must be included in Appendix 1 of your application. Position descriptions and copies of job announcements (including salary range) should be included for any key positions that are currently vacant or contingent upon an award. Indicate the name of the position of key personnel, the percentage of time that proposed staff will devote to your project and any salary costs to be paid by funds from this program. Include descriptions of the experience and qualifications of subcontractors and consultants. You may find it useful to include a table indicating the name, position and percentage contribution of staff members, specifying organizational affiliation. HUD reserves the right to terminate grant awards made to applicants that fail to timely hire (within 120 days of award) staff to fill key positions identified in the applicant's proposal as vacant.

(2) Your qualifications to carry out the proposed activities as evidenced by experience, academic background, training, and/or relevant publications of project staff. Whether you have sufficient personnel, or will be able to quickly retain qualified experts or professionals to begin your proposed project immediately, and to perform your proposed activities in a timely and effective fashion. Describe how principal components of your organization will participate in, or support, your project. You should thoroughly describe capacity, as demonstrated by experience in initiating and implementing related environmental, health, or housing projects.

(3) The past performance of the organization (applicant or partners) in another Healthy Homes or Lead Hazard Control grant, another grant related to environmental health and safety issues, or other experience in a similar program. Provide details about the nature of the project, the funding agency, and your performance, relative to performance measures or the achievement of desired health outcomes.

(4) If your organization is an existing Healthy Homes grantee, provide a description of the progress and outcomes achieved in that grant. If you received previous Healthy Homes Demonstration funding, this experience will be evaluated in terms of cumulative progress and achievements under the previous grant.

Appendix B provides a sample worksheet to facilitate your response to this Rating Factor.

Rating Factor 2: Need/Extent of the Problem (15 Points)

This factor addresses the extent to which there is a need for your proposed project activities to address documented problems related to healthy homes issues and housing-related hazards in your target area(s) and target group(s).

(1) Document a critical level of need for your proposed activities in the area where activities will be performed. You should pay specific attention to documenting the need as it applies to your target area(s), rather than the larger geographic area.

(2) Your documentation should summarize available data linking housing-based hazards to disease or injuries to children in your target area(s). Examples of data that might be used to demonstrate need include:

(a) Economic and demographic data relevant to your target area(s), including poverty and unemployment rates;

(b) Rates of childhood illnesses (e.g., asthma, allergies, hypertension, elevated blood lead levels) or injuries (e.g., falls, burns) among children residing in your target areas that could be caused or exacerbated by exposure to conditions in the home environment; and

(c) Unavailability of other Federal, State or local funding or private sector resources that could be, or are being, used to address the problem. Document what funding sources were investigated and why there were inadequate.

(3) For the areas targeted for your project activities, provide data available in your jurisdiction's currently approved Consolidated Plan and the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) or Indian Housing Plan or derived from current census data or from other sources. Provide and reference data that address the following:

(a) The age and condition of housing;

(b) The number and percentage of low- and very low-income families with incomes less than 50 percent and 80 percent of the median income, respectively, as determined by HUD, for the area, with adjustments for smaller and larger families. Statistics that describe low- and very-low income families are available at <http://www.huduser.org/datasets/il/fmr00/sect82.html>. Additional census statistics are available at: <http://www.census.gov/hhes/www/income00.html>, <http://www.census.gov/hhes/income/income00/statemhi.html>, and <http://www.huduser.org/datasets/il/fmr00/index.html>;

(c) To the extent that statistics and other data contained in your community's Consolidated Plan or AI support the extent of the problem, you should include references to the Consolidated Plan or AI in your response; and

(d) Data documenting targeted groups that are traditionally underserved or have special needs. For a maximum score in this rating factor, data provided should specifically represent the target area. If the data presented in your response does not specifically represent your target area, you should discuss why the target areas are being proposed. If your application addresses needs that are in the Consolidated Plan or AI, you will receive more points than applicants that do not relate their project to a previously identified need.

Sample worksheets are provided at Appendix B to facilitate your response to Rating Factor 2.

Rating Factor 3: Soundness of Approach (40 Points)

This factor addresses the quality and cost-effectiveness of your proposed work plan. You should present information on the proposed approach for addressing housing-based hazards and describe how proposed activities would help HUD achieve its goals for this program area. For you to receive maximum points for this factor, there must be a direct relationship between the proposed activities, documented and demonstrated community needs, and the purpose of the project. Your application will be evaluated according to the comprehensiveness of addressing activities that are applicable to your project. The response to this factor should include details about your technical approach and project activities. HUD is looking for a clear statement of activities, timeline form completing the work and expected deliverables, including any quantitative deliverables.

(1) Approach for Implementing the Project (25 points).

(a) Technical Approach. Describe your overall technical approach for strategizing and implementing your proposed project. Your narrative response to this sub-factor will be used to assess how well your proposed project will be executed. The discussion must include a work plan of essential elements, such as who, what, when, where and how the project will be performed and provide information about the execution of the project. In this factor, describe the methods, schedule, and quality assurance activities that will be carried out to identify and control housing-based hazards and to achieve the desired project outcomes.

(b) Project Activities. Your project description must include a discussion of specific planned project activities that address one or more of the following activities.

(i) Describe in detail how you will identify, select, prioritize, and enroll units of eligible housing in which you will undertake housing-based hazard interventions, how you will integrate safe work practices into housing maintenance, repair, and improvements, and then target such units to low-income families with young children. Describe impediments that you anticipate for recruitment, measures you will perform to sustain recruitment, and the staff responsible for both monitoring recruitment status and implementing the measures identified to sustain recruitment. You should use all reasonably available sources of information on controlling housing-based hazards in buildings and protecting workers and occupants during and after the intervention process.

(ii) Describe any assessment tools you would employ to establish baseline data. These tools include questionnaires, visual assessment protocols and environmental sampling and analysis. Include a description of the Informed Consent/Disclosure process you intend to follow and relevant Institutional Review Board (IRB) procedures. In particular, describe how you will provide informed consent (e.g., from the subjects, and their parents and guardians, as applicable) to help ensure their understanding of, and consent to, the elements of informed consent, such as the purposes, benefits and risks of the research activities. Describe how this information will be provided and how the consent will be collected. For example, describe the use of "plain language" forms, flyers, and verbal scripts, and your plans to work with families with Limited English Proficiency or primary languages other than English, and with families including persons with disabilities.

(iii) Describe your process for evaluating units of eligible housing in which you will undertake housing-based hazard interventions. Provide the estimated total number of owner-occupied and/or rental units in which you will perform assessments and conduct interventions.

(iv) Describe any specialized testing, if any, or visual inspection that you will conduct during unit inspection with reference to source(s) of the protocol(s). Provide a description of protocols or include protocols in an appendix of your application.

(v) Discuss efforts to incorporate cost-effective methods to address multiple environmental health and safety hazards, and describe the specific interventions you will utilize to control housing-based hazards before children are affected; and/or to control these hazards in units where children have already been treated for illnesses or injuries associated with housing-based hazards (e.g., burns, lead poisoning, asthma). Provide an estimate of the cost of each intervention and an estimate of costs projected per unit. (You may want to provide these cost estimates in a tabular format.)

(vi) Describe the process for your referral of children for medical case management if this is not ongoing and the organizations that will be involved in this process.

(vii) Describe your process for the development of work specifications for the selected interventions.

(viii) Describe your management processes to be used to ensure the cost-effectiveness of the housing interventions.

(ix) Discuss your process to select and obtain contractors for conducting interventions in selected units and provide details about the competitive bidding process, if applicable.

(x) Describe your plan for the relocation of occupants of units selected for intervention, if relocation is necessary. Describe criteria that will determine the need for relocation and identify staff who will make relocation decisions. Address the use of safe houses and other housing arrangements, storage of household goods, stipends, incentives, etc., and the source of funding for relocation.

(xi) Describe your plan for ensuring right of return and/or first referral for occupants of units selected for intervention who have had to move for intervention to occur.

(xii) Describe how you will affirmatively further fair housing, which would include, but not be limited to: Affirmative marketing of the program to those least likely to apply based on race, religion, disability, and large families, especially when persons in these demographic groups are generally not served by the nonprofit or faith-based applicant or partner organizations; using a variety of materials for outreach to persons with disabilities and with Limited English Proficiency (LEP); assuring long-term residency by families currently living in the community; assuring that priority for treated units go to those who need the features (treatment) of the unit, and issues of environmental justice.

(xiii) Describe the financing strategy, including eligibility requirements, terms, conditions, and amounts available, to be employed in conducting housing-based hazards activities. You must discuss the way funds will be administered (e.g., use of grants, deferred loans, forgivable loans, other resources, private sector financing, etc.)

as well as the agency that will administer the process.

(xiv) Describe your proposed methods for community and/or targeted education and training. These should include community awareness, education, training, and outreach programs that support your work plan and are culturally sensitive, targeted, and linguistically appropriate. Provide information about specific educational/outreach activities with quantitative data (number of individuals to be reached, etc.) and a description of the intended audience. Describe proposed activities to deliver culturally appropriate educational materials and methods to the target population and communities. Describe efforts to understand and incorporate culturally sensitive approaches to assessment and interventions.

(xv) Provide detailed information about training staff to provide the knowledge and skills required to address Healthy Homes issues that are essential for successfully implementing your project (e.g., assessments and interventions). Include an outline of training curricula and a description of qualifications of trainers. Describe how Healthy Homes training programs will be expanded to include public housing agencies or tribally Designated Housing Entities and other potential collaborators, such as faith-based and community organizations.

(xvi) Describe your proposed involvement of neighborhood, or faith-based and other community-based organizations in the proposed activities. These activities may include outreach, community education, marketing, inspection, and housing evaluations and interventions.

(xvii) Describe your proposed methods to reach high-risk groups and communities, vulnerable populations and persons traditionally underserved.

(xviii) Indicate if, and describe how, you will address any of HUD's Departmental policy priorities (see the section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for a fuller explanation of HUD's policy priorities). Applicants that include work activities that specifically address one or more applicable policy priorities will receive higher rating scores than applicants that do not address these HUD priorities, up to a maximum of 3 points. Policy priorities that are potentially applicable to the Healthy Homes Demonstration NOFA are: Improving the Quality of Life in our Nation's Communities; Providing Full and Equal Access to Faith-Based and Other Community-Based Organizations in HUD Program Implementation;

Colonias; and Participation in Energy Star.

(2) Approach for Managing the Project. (12 points). Describe your project goals and objectives and the strategy you will use in managing and executing the project. You should provide information on the general approach and overall plan employed.

(a) Baseline Plan for Project Management (10 points). Include a management plan that:

(i) Lists the project objectives, major tasks and activities. All specific activities necessary to complete the proposed project must be included in the task listing;

(ii) Incorporates appropriate performance goals and benchmarks;

(iii) Identifies major milestones and provides a schedule for the assignment, tracking and completion of major tasks and activities, and a timeframe for delivery;

(iv) Ensures that quality assurance activities and corrective actions are managed;

(v) Designates resources and identifies responsible entities;

(vi) Describes the strategy and methods for coordination and communication between partners; and

(vii) Describes the management processes to manage costs and ensure that cost-effective housing interventions will be implemented.

(b) Budget Justification (2 points). Your proposed budget will be evaluated for the extent to which it is reasonable, clearly justified, and consistent with the project management plan and intended use of program funds. HUD is not required to approve or fund all proposed activities. Your budget should be submitted in the format recommended in Appendix E (Forms) of this NOFA. An electronic spreadsheet and other budgetary forms are available at HUD's Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>. You must thoroughly document and justify all budget categories and costs (HUD Form 424-C) and all major tasks for yourself, sub-recipients, partners, major subcontractors, joint venture participants, or others contributing resources to the project. Describe clearly and in detail your budgeted costs for each required program element (major task) included in your overall plan.

(3) Economic Opportunity (3 points). To the greatest extent feasible, your project should promote job training, employment, and other economic opportunities for low-income and minority residents and businesses which are owned by, and/or employ, low-income and minority residents as defined in 24 CFR 135.5. You should:

(a) Describe how you or your partners will comply with section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701u) and HUD's implementing rules at 24 CFR part 135. Describe how you will accomplish this requirement by (1) providing training and employment opportunities for low- and very low-income persons living within the grantee's jurisdiction, and by (2) providing business opportunities to businesses owned by low- and very low-income persons living within the targeted jurisdiction;

(b) Describe how your project will give preference to hiring low- and very low-income persons or contracting with businesses owned by or employing low- and very-low income persons. Information about section 3 requirements is available by searching HUD's Web site, <http://www.hud.gov>;

(c) Describe how your proposed project will further and support the policy priorities of the Department (section II of the General Section of the SuperNOFA and Rating Factor 3 (1)(b)(xviii) of this NOFA), including providing opportunities for self-sufficiency, particularly for persons enrolled in welfare-to-work programs, or providing educational and job training opportunities; and

(d) Describe the extent to which your proposed activities will occur in an Empowerment Zone or Enterprise Community (EZ/EC), Urban Enhanced Enterprise Community (EEC), or Strategic Planning Community or Renewal Community (RC) as defined in section VI (C)(1) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA.

Rating Factor 4: Leveraging Resources (10 Points)

This factor addresses your ability to secure other community resources (e.g., financing, supplies or services) that can be combined with HUD's resources to achieve project purposes. These community resources may be contributions from organizations such as the applicant, partners, or other organizations not directly involved in the project.

(1) In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider the extent to which you have developed partnerships to secure additional resources to increase the effectiveness of your proposed project. Describe how other organizations will participate in or support your project. Resources may include funding or in-kind contributions (e.g., labor, fringe benefits, services, supplies, or equipment) budgeted for your proposed project. Resources may be provided by State and local governmental entities, public or private organizations, or other partners.

(2) Each source of contributions (financial or in-kind) must be supported by a letter of commitment from the contributing entity, whether the applicant, a partner organization, or a public or private source. The letter must describe the contributed resource(s) that will be used in your project and the dollar value of each contribution. Staff in-kind contributions should be given a market-based monetary value. If you fail to provide letters of commitment with specific details, including the amount of the actual contributions, you will not get rating points for this factor. Each letter of commitment, memorandum of understanding, or agreement to participate shall include the organization's name and the proposed level of commitment and responsibilities as they relate to the proposed project. The commitment must be signed by an official legally able to make commitments on behalf of the organization. Letters of support (letters that indicate support, but do not specify a monetary commitment to the project) will not be considered in the scoring of Rating Factor 4. Include information to address the following elements.

(a) The extent to which you have coordinated your activities with other known organizations that are not directly participating in your proposed work activities, but with which you share common goals and objectives.

(i) Describe your plan for integrating and coordinating housing-based hazard interventions with other housing-related activities (e.g., rehabilitation, weatherization, correction of code violations, and other similar work).

(ii) Describe your plans to generate and use public subsidies or other resources, such as revolving loan funds, to finance future interventions to prevent and control housing-based hazards, particularly in low- and very low-income housing.

(b) The extent to which your project exhibits the potential to be financially self-sustaining by decreasing dependence on Federal funding and relying more on State, local and private funding to continue healthy homes activities after the grant period is completed.

Rating Factor 5: Achieving Results and Program Evaluation (15 points)

This factor emphasizes HUD's commitment to ensuring that applicants keep promises made in their applications and assess their performance to ensure that performance goals are met. Achieving results means you, the applicant, have clearly identified the benefits or outcomes of your program. Outcomes are ultimate goals. Benchmarks or outputs are interim activities or products that lead to the ultimate achievement of your goals.

Program evaluation requires that you, the applicant, identify program outcomes, interim products or benchmarks, and performance indicators that will allow you to measure your performance. Performance indicators should be objectively quantifiable and measure actual achievements against anticipated achievements. Your Evaluation Plan should identify what you are going to measure, how you are going to measure it, and the steps you have in place to make adjustments to your work plan if performance targets are not met within established timeframes.

This new rating factor reflects HUD's goal to embrace high standards of ethics, management and accountability. In evaluating this factor, HUD will consider how you have described outcome measures and benefits of your program.

In your response to this rating factor, you are to discuss the performance goals for your project, and identify specific outcome measures. You are also to describe how the outcome information will be obtained, documented, and reported. You must complete and return the Logic Model Form included in Appendix B of the General Section of the SuperNOFA showing your proposed project long-term, mid-term, short-term and final results, and how they support HUD's departmental goals and objectives. Information about developing a Logic Model is available at <http://www.hud.gov>.

In responding to this factor, you should:

(1) Identify and discuss the specific methods you will use to measure progress towards your goals, track and report results of interventions, and evaluate the effectiveness of interventions;

(2) Identify benchmarks that you will use to track the progress of your project;

(3) Identify important project milestones (e.g., the end of specific phases in a multi-phased project) and deliverables specific to your project timeline;

(4) Identify milestones that are critical to achieving project objectives (e.g., recruitment and sustainability of participants, the Institutional Review Board process, if applicable, or the process of Informed Consent);

(5) Identify how your project will be held accountable for meeting project goals, objectives, and the actions undertaken in implementing the grant program. You should provide assurances that work plans and performance measures developed for your project will be achieved in a timely and cost-effective manner;

(6) Provide data on those served by race, ethnicity, disability, size of family and ages of children, and single-parent households; and

(7) Provide a Logic Model that describes activities, assessments, interventions and outcomes for your project. Information and templates for the Logic Model are available at <http://www.hud.gov>.

(C) Applicant Debriefing. See Section XI (A)(4) of the General Section of the SuperNOFA for information about applicant debriefing.

VI. Application Submission Requirements

(A) Applicant Information. You should submit your application in accordance with the format and instructions contained in this NOFA and in the section VII of the General Section of the SuperNOFA. The following is a list of required application contents. Your application must contain the items in the list below and in the General Section of the SuperNOFA. These requirements are presented as a "Checklist and Submission Table of Contents," provided in Appendix E of this NOFA.

(1) Transmittal letter (one-page only) that summarizes your proposed project, provides the dollar amount requested, and identifies you and your partners in the application.
