

another did not alter what was required of whom. Also, the grammatical and capitalization changes that have been made had no effect on the meaning of the provisions that contain them. As the substance of the regulatory text itself governs regulated entities, the substantive alteration of the preamble to make it conform to the regulatory text had no substantive effect.

As these changes do not have any substantive effect, we believe that no benefit would come of submitting these changes to public comment. We therefore find that it is "unnecessary" to submit these changes to notice and comment rulemaking as that term is used in section 553(b)(B) of the Administrative Procedure Act. Thus, we find good cause to waive notice and comment rulemaking procedures.
