Migratory Bird Hunting; Final Frameworks for Late-Season Migratory Bird Hunting Regulations

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Fish and Wildlife Service (Service or we) prescribes final late-season frameworks from which States may select season dates, limits, and other options for the 2003–04 migratory bird hunting seasons. These late seasons include most waterfowl seasons, the earliest of which commences on September 27, 2003. The effect of this final rule is to facilitate the States’ selection of hunting seasons and to further the annual establishment of the late-season migratory bird hunting regulations.

DATES: This rule takes effect on September 26, 2003.

ADDRESSES: States should send their season selections to: Chief, Division of Migratory Bird Management, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, ms MBSP–4107–ARLSQ, 1849 C Street, NW., Washington, DC 20240. You may inspect comments during normal business hours at the Service’s office in room 4107, 4501 N. Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Regulations Schedule for 2003

On May 6, 2003, we published in the Federal Register (68 FR 24324) a proposal to amend 50 CFR part 20. The proposal provided a background and overview of the migratory bird hunting regulations process, and dealt with the establishment of seasons, limits, the proposed regulatory alternatives for the 2003–04 duck hunting season, and other regulations for migratory game birds under §§20.101 through 20.107, 20.109, and 20.110 of subpart K. On June 23, 2003, we published in the Federal Register (68 FR 37362) a second document providing supplemental proposals for early- and late-season migratory bird hunting regulations frameworks and the regulatory alternatives for the 2003–04 duck hunting season. The June 23 supplement also provided detailed information on the 2003–04 regulatory schedule and announced the Service Migratory Bird Regulations Committee (SRC) and Flyway Council meetings.

On June 16–19, we held open meetings with the Flyway Council Consultants at which the participants reviewed information on the current status of migratory shore and upland game birds and developed recommendations for the 2003–04 regulations for these species plus regulations for migratory game birds in Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, special September waterfowl seasons in designated States, special sea duck seasons in the Atlantic Flyway, and extended falconry seasons. In addition, we reviewed and discussed preliminary information on the status of waterfowl as it relates to the development and selection of the regulatory packages for the 2003–04 regular waterfowl seasons. On July 17, 2003, we published in the Federal Register (68 FR 42546) a third document specifically dealing with the proposed frameworks for early-season regulations. In the August 27, 2003, Federal Register (68 FR 51658), we published final frameworks for early migratory bird hunting seasons from which wildlife conservation agency officials from the States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands selected 2003–04 early-season hunting dates, hours, areas, and limits. Subsequently, on August 28, 2003, we published a final rule in the Federal Register (68 FR 51832) amending subpart K of title 50 CFR part 20 to set hunting seasons, hours, areas, and limits for early seasons.

On July 30–31, 2003, we held open meetings with the Flyway Council Consultants, at which the participants reviewed the status of waterfowl and developed recommendations for the 2003–04 regulations for these species. On August 19, 2003, we published in the Federal Register (68 FR 50016) the proposed frameworks for the 2003–04 late-season migratory bird hunting regulations. The document establishes final frameworks for late-season migratory bird hunting regulations for the 2003–04 season. We will publish State selections in the Federal Register as amendments to §§20.101 through 20.107, and §20.109 of title 50 CFR part 20.

Population Status and Harvest

A brief summary of information on the status and harvest of waterfowl excerpted from various reports was included in the August 19 supplemental proposed rule. For more detailed information on methodologies and results, complete copies of the various reports are available at the address indicated under ADDRESSES or from our Web site at http://migratorybirds.fws.gov.

Review of Public Comments and Flyway Council Recommendations

The preliminary proposed rulemaking, which appeared in the May 6, 2003, Federal Register, opened the public comment period for migratory game bird hunting regulations. The supplemental proposed rule, which appeared in the June 23, 2003, Federal Register, discussed the regulatory alternatives for the 2003–04 duck hunting season. Late-season comments are summarized below and numbered in the order used in the May 6 Federal Register document. We have included only the numbered items pertaining to late-season issues for which we received written comments. Consequently, the issues do not follow in direct numerical or alphabetical order.

We received recommendations from all four Flyway Councils. Some recommendations supported continuation of last year’s frameworks. Due to the comprehensive nature of the annual review of the frameworks performed by the Councils, support for continuation of last year’s frameworks is assumed for items for which no recommendations were received. Council recommendations for changes in the frameworks are summarized below.

General

Written Comments: An individual from New Jersey expressed opposition to all hunting and believed that the Flyway Council recommendations were not representative of the general U.S. population.

Service Response: Our long-term objectives continue to include providing opportunities to harvest portions of certain migratory game bird populations and to limit harvests to levels compatible with each population’s ability to maintain healthy, viable numbers. Having taken into account the zones of temperature and the distribution, abundance, economic value, breeding habits and times and lines of flight of migratory birds, we believe that the hunting seasons provided herein are compatible with the current status of migratory bird populations and long-term population goals.

Additionally, we are obligated to, and do give serious consideration to all information received as public comment. While there are problems inherent with any type of representative management of public-trust resources, we believe that the Flyway-Council system of migratory bird management has been a longstanding example of State-Federal cooperative management since its establishment in 1952. However, as always we continue to seek new ways to streamline and improve the process.

1. Ducks

Categories used to discuss issues related to duck harvest management are: (A) Harvest Strategy Considerations, (B) Regulatory Alternatives, (C) Zones and Split Seasons, and (D) Special Seasons/Species Management. The categories correspond to previously published issues/discussion, and only those containing substantial recommendations are discussed below.

A. Harvest Strategy Considerations

Service Response: Currently, two stocks of mallards (midcontinent and eastern) are recognized for the purposes of Adaptive Harvest Management (AHM). This year, we will again use an approach to the optimization of these stocks’ harvest, whereby the Atlantic Flyway regulatory strategy is based exclusively on the status of eastern mallards, and the regulatory strategy for the remaining Flyways is based exclusively on the status of midcontinent mallards. However, this approach continues to be considered provisional until its implications are better understood, and until such time that a more comprehensive approach to managing multiple duck stocks is developed.

For the 2003 hunting season, the Service makes two significant changes to AHM, based on recommendations from the Flyway Councils: (1) The “very-restrictive” alternative was eliminated from the set of regulatory alternatives, and (2) consideration of a closed season in the western three Flyways was restricted to midcontinent (traditional survey plus Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan) mallard breeding population levels <5.5 million. We also continue to offer extended framework dates in the “moderate” and “liberal” regulatory alternatives. The regulatory alternatives were discussed in the June 23 Federal Register. The 2003 optimal regulatory strategy for midcontinent mallards was based on: (1) The revised regulatory alternatives, including the closed-season constraint; (2) updates of regulation-specific harvest rates; (3) current population models and updated model weights; and (3) the dual objectives to maximize long-term cumulative harvest and achieve a population goal of 8.8 million midcontinent mallards. Based on a spring population survey of 8.8 million mallards and 3.5 million Canadian ponds, the optimal regulatory choice for 2003 is the “liberal” regulatory alternative in the three western Flyways.

The optimal regulatory strategy for eastern mallards was based on: (1) The revised regulatory alternatives; (2) current population models and updated model weights; and (3) an objective to maximize long-term cumulative harvest. The spring population size of eastern mallards (Northeast plot survey + Canada) this year was 1.04 million, suggesting that the “liberal” regulatory alternative in 2003 is appropriate for the Atlantic Flyway.

We concur with the recommendations of the four Flyway Councils regarding selection of the “liberal” regulatory alternative and, therefore, will adopt the “liberal” alternative, as described in the June 23 Federal Register.

B. Regulatory Alternatives

Council Recommendations: The Central Flyway Council recommended the availability of two daily-bag-limit options, termed Options A and B. Under Option A, the daily bag limit would be 6 ducks, with species and sex restrictions as follows: 5 mallards (no more than 2 of which may be females) 3 scaup, 2 redheads, 2 wood ducks, 1 pintail, 1 mottled duck, and 1 canvasback. The season for pintails and canvasbacks would be limited to 39 days (see further discussion under section 1.D. Special Seasons/Species Management). Under Option B, the daily bag limit would be 5 ducks, with species and sex restrictions as follows: 3 scaup, 2 redheads, 2 wood ducks, and 1 only of pintail, mottled duck, hen mallard, or canvasback. There would be no restrictions on the season length for canvasbacks or pintails.

Written Comments: An individual from Minnesota expressed support for a 45-day season with a 4-duck daily bag limit.

Service Response: We do not support the Central Flyway Council’s Option B. The regulatory alternatives for the 2003-04 hunting season were discussed in the June 23 Federal Register. We believe that new approaches to multi-species harvest management should be addressed in the overall context of AHM harvest management for ducks. The AHM Task Force, AHM Working Group, and Flyway Councils are considering development of multi-species approaches, and these fora would be appropriate places for further discussion of the Central Flyway proposal.

D. Special Seasons/Species Management

iii. Black Ducks

Council Recommendations: The Atlantic Flyway Council recommended allowing States the opportunity to return to a 2-black-duck daily bag limit, providing they close the black duck season one day for each day a 2-black-duck bag limit is employed. No offset would be required for days when the black duck bag limit was restricted to 1 bird. Both increased bag days and closed days must be consecutive, except that 1 split would be allowed. This regulation would be evaluated annually by the Atlantic Flyway Council.

Written Comments: The Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Wildlife and the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries expressed disappointment in the Service’s decision not to support the Atlantic Flyway Council’s proposal for an increase in the black duck bag limit.

Service Response: We do not support the Atlantic Flyway Council’s recommendation. This request is similar to the Council’s request last year, which the Service denied due to the difficulty in assessing options on a Flyway basis and the inability to assess whether or not these options are harvest-neutral. Until there is some formal agreement to manage black duck harvests on something less than a rangewide basis, we believe black ducks should continue to be managed at that level. Although black duck numbers may have improved slightly in recent years in some areas, they still remain below goal, and this spring’s breeding population estimates declined 13 percent.

Presently, we are waiting for the International Black Duck Harvest Management Working Group to complete its report, which is due in November. Until we have some formal agreement among the stakeholders, including the Mississippi Flyway, we believe it is premature to consider the
We believe that, if the harvest strategy indicates a full season cannot be allowed, in some cases, a limited harvest might be possible and still attain the spring abundance objective. Thus, we will use a season length at the level of the “restrictive” AHM alternative (i.e., 30 days in the Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways, 39 days in the Central Flyway, and 60 days in the Pacific Flyway) for this year. The season may be split according to the applicable zone/split duck-hunting configuration approved for each State.

Further, for the second time in the past 3 years, we have departed from the 1994 canvasback harvest strategy. During the coming year, we will work with the Flyway Councils to review the harvest strategy.

v. Pintails

Council Recommendations: The Atlantic Flyway Council and the Upper- and Lower-Regulations Committees of the Mississippi Flyway Council recommended that the regulations for pintails in 2003–04 be a 60-day season with a 1-bird daily bag limit.

The Pacific Flyway Council recommended a full-season framework for pintails, with a daily bag limit of 1 bird.

Service Response: Last year, the Flyway Councils and the Service agreed to depart from the established pintail harvest strategy and implement a “season-within-a-season” in all four Flyways for northern pintails. The season length employed was the season length for the restrictive alternative under the AHM protocol in all four Flyways. The overall harvest declined, although not as much as predicted by the current models. This year, the breeding population estimate increased to 2.6 million; however, this estimate is still about 40 percent below the long-term average. The interim strategy recommends a 1-pintail daily bag limit nationwide. However, based on the models, the predicted harvest (slightly more than 600,000) is projected to result in a lower breeding population in 2004. Implementation of another year of the restrictive season length for pintails is projected to result in about a 7 percent population increase. Since the use of the strategy has not achieved the desired population growth, and model projections suggest a population decline under a “liberal” season length with a 1-bird daily bag limit in all four Flyways, we will again depart from the harvest strategy and restrict pintail season length to those in the “restrictive” AHM alternative. Season length would be 30 days in the Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways, 39 days in the Central Flyway, and 60 days in the Pacific Flyway. The season may be split according to the applicable zone/split duck-hunting configuration approved for each State.

Further, for the second year in a row, we are departing from the interim harvest strategy for the reasons noted above, and in recognition that the habitat conditions in key pintail breeding areas offer some real chance to achieve population growth. During the coming year, we will work with the Flyway Councils to review the harvest strategy, particularly the provision that permits seasons that are expected to reduce future breeding populations.

viii. Wood Ducks

Council Recommendations: The Atlantic Flyway Council recommended increasing the wood duck bag limit to three birds during October 1 through November 6 in the Atlantic Flyway for a 3-year experimental period (2003/04–2005/06).

Written Comments: The Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Wildlife and the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries expressed disappointment in the Service’s decision not to support the Atlantic Flyway Council’s recommendation for a three-wood-duck bag limit in October.

Service Response: We do not support the Atlantic Flyway Council’s recommendation. We are continuing to evaluate the usefulness of a modeling approach to the management of wood duck harvests; however, this work is not yet completed and we believe that changes in bag limits are premature at this time. Further, we are concerned about the potential effects of this change on local breeding populations.

4. Canada Geese

B. Regular Seasons

The Central Flyway Council recommended that regular-season frameworks for dark geese in the west-tier States consist of a framework opening date of the Saturday nearest September 24 (September 27, 2003) and a framework closing date of the Sunday nearest February 15 (February 15, 2004). The season could be divided into 2 segments, except in Wyoming, where the season could be divided into 3 segments and evaluated in accordance with Service criteria. Season length would be 107 days, except in Colorado and Texas, where the season length would be 95 days. The daily bag limit would be five dark geese in the aggregate, with the following exceptions: (a) In the Western Goose Zone of Texas, the daily bag limit would be one white-fronted goose and three other dark geese (in the aggregate), and (b) in Colorado, the daily bag limit would be three dark geese in the aggregate. The possession limit would be twice the daily bag limit.

The Pacific Flyway Council recommended increasing the goose season length in eastern Washington from 100 to 107 days, creation of a new management area within Oregon’s Northwest Special Permit Zone, elimination of California’s San Joaquin Valley Special Management Area, and increasing the goose season length in Humboldt and Del Norte Counties in California from 9 to 16 days.

Written Testimonies: The Maryland Department of Natural Resources and the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries requested that the daily bag limit for Atlantic Population (AP) Canada geese be increased from 1 to 2 for the last 10 days of the 45-day season. They cited the fact that while the spring population estimates for 2003 were similar to the previous year, production is very good and a larger fall flight is expected this year. Further, they noted that AP geese have made a remarkable recovery in recent years from the low recorded in 1995, and estimated harvest rates from the 2002–03 hunting season were lower than projected.

They believe that this modest liberalization will not deter continued growth of this population and is justified to provide greater hunting opportunities in the primary AP goose winter area.

Ten individuals from Virginia and five individuals from Maryland requested a two bird daily bag limit for a portion of the AP goose season. One individual from Maryland was against this requested increase.

Service Response: We concur with all the Council recommendations except for one aspect regarding the creation of a new management area within Oregon’s Northwest Special Permit Zone. We continue to support efforts to address long-standing concerns about agricultural damage caused by Canada geese in this area, and would support the creation of the recommended zone with the condition that the daily bag limit for cackling Canada geese be reduced to two birds in the four-bird goose bag during the early portion of the goose season chosen for the new zone. We believe this restriction will help to minimize possible impacts on cackling Canada geese present in the area during this season. Cackling Canada geese are an important sport and subsistence resource, and the population is currently 30 percent below objective levels and has not shown any increase in recent years. We believe that additional take of cackling Canada geese should not be encouraged at this time.

Regarding Maryland and Virginia’s request for a 2-bird bag limit for a portion of the AP goose season, we are encouraged by the recovery of AP Canada geese in recent years and commend the Atlantic Flyway Council for its cooperation and support of breeding-ground management programs. While harvest rates based on last year’s hunting regulations appear to be low, these data are based on only one year’s information. Despite the production outlook, and in view of the history of harvest impacts on this population, we suggest a conservative harvest strategy for the 2003–04 hunting season.

Similarly, the Flyway Council did not support a liberalization in bag limits for the Chesapeake Region. Therefore, we do not support these requests for liberalization. We strongly encourage the Atlantic Flyway to update its management plan for AP geese, including specific population objectives and detailed strategies to guide future harvest management.

C. Special Late Season

Council Recommendations: The Atlantic Flyway Council recommended that the southern boundary of Massachusetts’ late Canada goose coastal zone be extended southward from the present boundary in Duxbury to the Cape Cod Canal.

The Upper- and Lower-Region Regulations Committees of the Mississippi Flyway Council recommended that the experimental late (December) special Canada goose season in Minnesota be granted operational status.

Service Response: We concur.

8. Swans

Council Recommendations: The Central Flyway Council recommended that up to 200 tundra swan permits be temporarily transferred from South Dakota to North Dakota beginning in the 2003 season.

Service Response: We concur. The transportation of swan hunting permits within a Flyway is in accordance with guidelines in the Cooperative Flyway Management Plan for the Eastern Population of Tundra Swans.

In addition, the Service has completed the final environmental assessment (EA) for general swan seasons in the Pacific Flyway (the availability of the draft EA was announced in the May 16, 2003. Federal Register [68 FR 26642]). The EA includes a review of the experimental general swan hunting seasons that took place from 1995 to 2000, as well as a summary of the results of subsequent 2000–03 hunting seasons. Information from the most recent breeding and wintering populations surveys is also included in the EA. Three alternatives are evaluated to address the future of operational swan hunting seasons in Utah, Nevada, and the Pacific Flyway portion of Montana. The issuance of a new EA fulfills the Service commitment to assess the Pacific Flyway swan seasons at the end of the 2002–03 hunting season as established in the most recent EA on the issue, the availability of which was announced in the April 25, 2001. Federal Register (66 FR 20828). The EA focuses on the issue of whether or not to establish an operational approach for swan hunting.

Related efforts to address population status and distributional concerns regarding the Rocky Mountain Population of trumpeter swans are also discussed. Three alternatives, including the selected action, were considered.

NEPA Consideration

are available from the address indicated under ADDRESSES.

Additionally, in a proposed rule published in the April 30, 2001, Federal Register (66 FR 21298), we expressed our intent to begin the process of developing a new EIS for the migratory bird hunting program. We plan to begin the public scoping process in 2003.

Endangered Species Act Consideration

Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531–1543; 87 Stat. 884), provides that, “The Secretary shall review other programs administered by him and utilize such programs in furtherance of the purposes of this Act” (and) shall “insure that any action authorized, funded or carried out * * * is not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any endangered species or threatened species or result in the destruction or adverse modification of [critical] habitat * * *.”

Consequently, we conducted formal consultations to ensure that actions resulting from these regulations would not likely jeopardize the continued existence of endangered or threatened species or result in the destruction or adverse modification of their critical habitat. Findings from these consultations are included in a biological opinion, which concluded that the regulations are not likely to adversely affect any endangered or threatened species. Additionally, these findings may have caused modification of some regulatory measures previously proposed, and the final frameworks reflect any such modifications. Our biological opinions resulting from this Section 7 consultation are public documents available for public inspection at the address indicated under ADDRESSES.

Executive Order 12866

The migratory bird hunting regulations are economically significant and were reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under Executive Order 12866. As such, a cost/benefit analysis was initially prepared in 1981. This analysis was subsequently revised annually from 1990–96, and then updated in 1998. We will update again in 2004. It is further discussed below under the heading Regulatory Flexibility Act. Results from the 1998 analysis indicate that the expected welfare benefit of the annual migratory bird hunting frameworks is on the order of $560 to $192 million. Copies of the cost/benefit analysis are available upon request from the address indicated under ADDRESSES.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

These regulations have a significant economic impact on substantial numbers of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). We analyzed the economic impacts of the annual hunting regulations on small business entities in detail as part of the 1981 cost-benefit analysis discussed under Executive Order 12866. This analysis was revised annually from 1990–95. In 1995, the Service issued a Small Entity Flexibility Analysis (Analysis), which was subsequently updated in 1996 and 1998 and will be updated in 2004. The primary source of information about hunter expenditures for migratory game bird hunting is the National Hunting and Fishing Survey, which is conducted at 5-year intervals. The 1998 Analysis was based on the 1996 National Hunting and Fishing Survey and the U.S. Department of Commerce’s County Business Patterns, from which it was estimated that migratory bird hunters would spend between $429 million and $1,084 billion at small businesses in 2003. Copies of the Analysis are available upon request from the address indicated under ADDRESSES.

Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act

This rule is a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804(2), the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act. For the reasons outlined above, this rule has an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. However, because this rule establishes hunting seasons, we plan to use the exemption contained in 5 U.S.C. 808(1) to make this rule effective immediately.

Paperwork Reduction Act

We examined these regulations under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995. We utilize the various recordkeeping and reporting requirements imposed under regulations established in 50 CFR part 20, Subpart K, in the formulation of migratory game bird hunting regulations. Specifically, OMB has approved the information collection requirements of the Migratory Bird Harvest Information Program and assigned clearance number 1018–0015 (expires 10/31/2004). This information is used to provide a sampling frame for voluntary national surveys to improve our harvest estimates for all migratory game birds in order to better manage these populations.

A Federal agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

We have determined and certify, in compliance with the requirements of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, 2 U.S.C. 1502 et seq., that this rulemaking will not “significantly or uniquely” affect small governments, and will not produce a Federal mandate of $100 million or more in any given year on local or State government or private entities. Therefore, this rule is not a “significant regulatory action” under the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

Civil Justice Reform—Executive Order 12988

The Department, in promulgating this rule, has determined that this rule will not unduly burden the judicial system and meets the requirements of sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of Executive Order 12988.

Government-to-Government Relationship With Tribes

In accordance with the President’s memorandum of April 29, 1994, “Government-to-Government Relations With Native American Tribal Governments” (59 FR 22951), Executive Order 13175, and 512 DM 2, we have evaluated possible effects on Federally recognized Indian tribes and have determined that there are no effects.

Energy Effects—Executive Order 13211

On May 18, 2001, the President issued Executive Order 13211 on regulations that significantly affect energy supply, distribution, and use. Executive Order 13211 requires agencies to prepare Statements of Energy Effects when undertaking certain actions. While this rule is a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866, it is not expected to adversely affect energy supplies, distribution, or use. Thus, this action is not a significant energy action and no Statement of Energy Effects is required.

Takings Implication Assessment

In accordance with Executive Order 12630, this rule does not have significant takings implications and does not affect any constitutionally protected property rights. This rule will not result in the physical occupancy of property, the physical invasion of property, or the regulatory taking of any property. In fact, this rule will allow hunters to exercise otherwise unavailable privileges and, therefore, reduces restrictions on the use of private and public property.
Federalism Effects

Due to the migratory nature of certain species of birds, the Federal Government has been given responsibility over these species by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act (MBTA). Annually, we prescribe frameworks from which the States make selections and employ guidelines to establish special regulations on Federal Indian reservations and ceded lands. We develop the frameworks in a cooperative process with the States and the Flyway Councils. This process allows States to participate in the development of frameworks from which they will ultimately make season selections, thereby having an influence on their own regulations. This process preserves the ability of the States and Tribes to determine which seasons meet their individual needs. Further, any State or Tribe may be more restrictive than the Federal frameworks at any time. These rules do not have a substantial direct effect on fiscal capacity, change the roles or responsibilities of Federal or State governments, or intrude on State policy or administration. Therefore, in accordance with Executive Order 13132, these regulations do not have significant federalism effects and do not have sufficient federalism implications to warrant the preparation of a Federalism Assessment.

Regulations Promulgation

The rulemaking process for migratory game bird hunting must, by its nature, operate under severe time constraints. However, we intend that the public be given the greatest possible opportunity to comment. Thus, when the preliminary proposed rulemaking was published, we established what we believed were the longest periods possible for public comment. In doing this, we recognized that when the comment period closed, time would be of the essence. That is, if there were a delay in the effective date of these regulations after this final rulemaking, States would have insufficient time to select season dates and other options. Upon receipt of season and option selections from these officials, we will publish in the Federal Register a final rulemaking amending 50 CFR part 20 to reflect seasons, limits, and shooting hours for the conterminous United States for the 2003–04 season.

Balance-of-the-State Zone: An 86-day season may be selected. Limits may not include more than 3 geese per day, of which not more than 2 may be white-fronted geese and not more than 1 may be a cackling Canada goose or Aleutian Canada goose. Two areas in the Balance-of-the-State Zone are restricted in the hunting of certain geese:

1. In the Counties of Del Norte and Humboldt, the open season for Canada geese may be 16 days. The daily bag limit shall contain no more than 1

The September Canada goose season, the regular goose season, any special late dark goose season, and any extended fall-only season, combined, must not exceed 107 days, and the established quota of dusky Canada goose must not be exceeded.

Hunting of dark geese in those designated areas will only be by hunters possessing a State-issued permit authorizing them to do so. In a Service-approved investigation, the State must obtain quantitative information on hunter compliance of those regulations aimed at reducing the take of dusky Canada geese. If the monitoring program cannot be conducted, for any reason, the season must immediately close. In the designated areas of the Washington Southwest Quota Zone, a special late dark goose season may be held between the Saturday following the close of the general goose season and March 10. In the Northwest Special Permit Zone of Oregon, the framework closing date is extended to the Sunday closest to March 1 (February 29). Regular dark goose seasons may be split into 3 segments within the Oregon and Washington quota zones.

Swans

In portions of the Pacific Flyway (Montana, Nevada, and Utah), an open season for taking a limited number of swans may be selected. Permits will be issued by the State and will authorize each permittee to take no more than 1 swan per season. Each State’s season may open no earlier than the Saturday nearest October 1 (October 4). These seasons are also subject to the following conditions:

Montana: No more than 500 permits may be issued. The season must end no later than December 1. The State must implement a harvest-monitoring program to measure the species composition of the swan harvest and should use appropriate measures to maximize hunter compliance in reporting bill-measurement and color information.

Utah: No more than 2,000 permits may be issued. The season must end no later than the second Sunday in December (December 14) or upon attainment of 10 trumpeter swans in the harvest, whichever occurs earliest. The Utah season remains subject to the terms of the Memorandum of Agreement entered into with the Service in August, 2001, regarding harvest monitoring, season closure procedures, and education requirements to minimize the take of trumpeter swans during the swan season.

Nevada: No more than 650 permits may be issued. The season must end no later than the Sunday following January 1 (January 4) or upon attainment of 5 trumpeter swans in the harvest, whichever occurs earliest.

In addition, the States of Utah and Nevada must implement a harvest-monitoring program to measure the species composition of the swan harvest. The harvest-monitoring program must require that all harvested swans or their species-determinant parts be examined by either State or Federal biologists for the purpose of species classification. The States should use appropriate measures to maximize hunter compliance in providing bagged swans for examination. Further, the States of Montana, Nevada, and Utah must achieve at least an 80-percent compliance rate, or subsequent permits will be reduced by 10 percent. All three States must provide to the Service by June 30, 2003, a report detailing harvest, hunter participation, reporting compliance, and monitoring of swan populations in the designated hunt areas.

Tundra Swans

In portions of the Atlantic Flyway (North Carolina and Virginia) and the Central Flyway (North Dakota, South Dakota [east of the Missouri River], and that portion of Montana in the Central Flyway), an open season for taking a limited number of tundra swans may be selected. Permits will be issued by the States that authorize the take of no more than 1 tundra swan per permit. A second permit may be issued to hunters from unused permits remaining after the first drawing. The States must obtain harvest and hunter participation data. These seasons are also subject to the following conditions:

In the Atlantic Flyway:
—The season is experimental.
—The season may be 90 days, from October 1 to January 31.
—in North Carolina, no more than 5,000
permits may be issued.
—in Virginia, no more than 600 permits
may be issued.

In the Central Flyway:
—The season may be 107 days, from the Saturday nearest October 1 (October
4) to January 31.
—in the Central Flyway portion of Montana, no more than 500 permits
may be issued.
—in North Dakota, no more than 2,200
permits may be issued.
—in South Dakota, no more than 1,300
permits may be issued.
