SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Our current quality monitoring process does not provide the same opportunity as the proposed system for all calls to be included in the sample selected for quality monitoring. A February 15, 2002 Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) review recommended that the IRS institute an automated call recording system that would provide a true random method of selecting calls from the entire population of taxpayer assistance calls. In a follow-up review dated January 16, 2003, TIGTA stated that the planned implementation of call recording will provide the IRS with an important opportunity for improving the effectiveness and efficiency of its quality assurance process and, in turn, would improve the quality of the customer's experience when calling the IRS for assistance. Taxpayers will be notified at the beginning of a call that their call may be monitored or recorded for quality improvement purposes.

The proposed automated call recording system will allow the IRS to improve quality of responses to taxpayers by providing an efficient and effective means of assessing employee performance. Managers may play the recording when discussing the evaluation of the call with the employee. Audio recordings and screen capture images will be kept long enough for the review and discussion process to take place, generally not more than 45 days.

By recording taxpayer calls and tracking employee actions, the IRS will be able to improve its service to the public by providing specific, tangible feedback to employees. The system will automatically keep track of evaluative data and will alert the manager to areas in which the employee needs improvement. As a result, targeted training will be provided to the employee either on-line or in one-on-one coaching sessions. The IRS is currently negotiating the proposed program with representatives of the National Treasury Employees Union.

The new system of records report, as required by 5 U.S.C. 552a(r) of the Privacy Act, has been submitted to the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Governmental Affairs of the Senate and the Office of Management and Budget, pursuant to Appendix I to OMB Circular A-130, "Federal Agency Responsibilities for Maintaining Records About Individuals," dated November 30, 2000.

The proposed new system of records entitled "Treasury/IRS 00.008—Recorded Quality Review Records" is published in its entirety below.

Assistant Secretary for Management and Chief Financial Officer.
