National On-line Resource Center for Violence Against Women

Announcement Type: New.

Funding Opportunity Number: 04066.

Catalog of Federal Domestic

Assistance Number: 93.136.

Key Dates:

Letter of Intent Deadline: January 23, 2004.

Application Deadline: March 8, 2004.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

Authority: This program is authorized under section 317(k) of the Public Health Service Act, (42 U.S.C. 247b(k)).

Purpose: The purpose of this program is to support an on-line, publicly accessible collection of resources and discussion forums on violence against women (VAW) within an organization that currently manages an on-line collection. This program will utilize current technology to build the capacity of local, state, national and tribal agencies and organizations to develop, implement and evaluate VAW prevention initiatives and intervention programs.

For the purposes of this program announcement the following definitions apply:

Intervention: services, policies and actions provided after domestic violence or sexual violence has occurred and may have the advantageous effect of preventing a re-occurrence of violence.

Prevention: population-based and/or environmental/system level services, policies and actions that prevent violence against women from initially occurring. Prevention efforts work to modify and/or entirely eliminate the event, conditions, situations, or exposure to influences (risk factors) that result in the initiation of violence against women and associated injuries, disabilities, and deaths. Additionally, prevention efforts seek to identify and enhance protective factors that may prevent violence against women not only in at-risk populations but also in the community at large.

Violence Against Women (VAW): Minimally, violence against women refers to physical violence, sexual violence, threats of physical and/or sexual violence, stalking, and psychological/emotional abuse against women by any perpetrator (e.g. spouse, acquaintance, stranger, etc.).

The program requires three core components:

1. Provide a searchable, on-line, publicly accessible, full-text collection of resources that address VAW.

2. Provide on-line, publicly accessible discussion forum(s) for participants to exchange ideas, share resources, discuss emerging issues and network in order to support effective local, state, national and tribal prevention initiatives and intervention programs.

3. Compile, translate and disseminate VAW research and evaluation findings.

This program addresses the "Healthy People 2010" focus area of Injury and Violence Prevention.

Measurable outcomes of the program will be in alignment with the following performance goal for the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control (NCIPC):

Increase the capacity of injury prevention and control programs to address the prevention of injuries and violence.

Activities

Awardee activities for this program are as follows:

a. Collaborate with CDC on the implementation and evaluation of the program, which includes establishing mutually agreed upon goals and objectives and participating in strategic planning.

b. Provide a searchable, on-line, publicly accessible, full-text collection of resources that address VAW.

The on-line resource collection should provide access to information and materials for developing and maintaining local, state, national and tribal VAW prevention initiatives and intervention programs (e.g. education and training curriculums, research on risk and protective factors for violence against women perpetration and victimization, law and policy concerning VAW, summary and translation of current research and evaluation findings and community mobilization strategies). This cooperative agreement also allows for the development of original materials. The collection should be searchable and resources should be available in full-text. Resources should include a focus on traditionally underserved populations, violence as a public health problem, prevention and public education strategies and research and evaluation summary and translation. Materials and other resources in support of domestic violence and sexual assault awareness month activities should also be made available. Resources should be equally balanced between domestic violence and sexual assault as well as prevention and intervention topics.

c. Provide on-line, publicly accessible discussion forums for participants to exchange ideas, share resources, discuss emerging issues and network in order to support effective local, state, national and tribal VAW prevention initiatives and intervention programs.

The discussion forums should strengthen communication between local, state, national and tribal agencies and organizations (e.g., state domestic violence and sexual assault coalitions, local domestic violence and sexual assault programs, public health agencies and organizations and those working in underserved communities) as well as interested individuals to support effective prevention initiatives and intervention programs. Discussion forums should be equally balanced between domestic violence and sexual assault, and prevention and intervention topics.

d. Compile, translate and disseminate VAW research and evaluation findings on a broad range of VAW related topics.

The program should make current research and evaluation findings available and accessible to practitioners by providing summaries and translation of findings as well as implications for practice. This should be done in consultation with a researcher(s) that has expertise in VAW.

e. Provide a full-time manager and other staff as appropriate.

f. Establish and maintain collaborative relationships with national, state, local and tribal domestic violence and sexual violence organizations, public health agencies and organizations, the recipient of the national resource center on sexual violence prevention cooperative agreement, and other CDC grantees and partners.

g. Actively market the program to a broad range of constituents, including but not limited to local, state, national and tribal domestic violence and sexual violence agencies and organizations, public health agencies and organizations, and those working in underserved communities.

h. Establish and maintain an advisory board with professional experience and expertise in the areas of domestic violence and sexual violence. Board members should: represent multiple disciplines, including public health; represent a balance between prevention and intervention expertise; and be culturally and racially/ethnically diverse.

i. Provide a detailed evaluation plan that will document program process, effectiveness, and outcomes. This plan should identify potential program data sources for evaluation, document staff availability, expertise and capacity to perform the evaluation activities. The plan should also include how results or information will be used to make programmatic and/or operational decisions.

j. Participate in regular conference calls with CDC program staff and participate in CDC grantee meetings as requested by CDC.

k. Submit required reports to CDC as scheduled.

In a cooperative agreement, CDC staff is substantially involved in the program activities, above and beyond routine grant monitoring.

CDC Activities for this program are as follows:

a. Provide technical assistance and consultation in the implementation and evaluation of the program including participation in strategic planning and advisory committee meetings.

b. Consult with program staff in the development of discussion forums including topics, facilitators and content.

c. Participate in on-line discussion forums.

d. Contribute to the identification and development of Web site content.

e. Review of the compilation and translation of VAW research and evaluation findings.

f. Collaborate with program staff in identifying up-to-date scientific and programmatic information around VAW prevention activities, including but not limited to CDC funded projects, extramural research projects, and initiatives with other agencies around VAW prevention and intervention issues.

g. Arrange for information sharing among the program and other relevant CDC grantees and partners.
