Proposed Project

Validating Autism Surveillance Methodology in Metropolitan Atlanta Developmental Disabilities Surveillance Program (MADDSP)—New—National Center on Birth Defects and Developmental Disabilities (NCBDDD), Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Background

MADDSP was established in 1991 as an ongoing active surveillance system for select developmental disabilities (mental retardation, cerebral palsy, vision impairment, and hearing loss) in 3 to 10 year old children. In 1996, autism spectrum disorders (ASD) was added to MADDSP due to growing concern about the prevalence of the condition. MADDSP defines ASD as a constellation of social, communicative, and behavioral impairments consistent with the DSM-IV-TR diagnostic criteria for Autistic Disorder, Asperger's Disorder, and Pervasive Developmental Disorders not otherwise specified.

MADDSP relies on an extensive review of records to identify children with an ASD. Potential case records are identified from multiple sources which are likely to maintain evaluation or treatment records for children with ASD. Pertinent ICD-9, DSM-IV codes and predetermined behavioral descriptions are used to trigger records for abstraction. Clinical experts then review the abstracted data and determine case status based on a behavioral coding scheme that is in accordance with the DSM-IV-TR definition for Pervasive Developmental Disorders.

This record review methodology for ASD surveillance has been executed and is being used; however, the method is not currently validated by a clinical sample which is considered the gold standard for identifying ASD. For this reason, it is important to validate surveillance methods in a clinical sample in order to determine whether current surveillance methodology accurately captures prevalence estimates for this developmental outcome. The sensitivity and specificity of MADDSP will be measured using judgments from the clinical exam as the gold standard. The results from this study will provide important implications for how ASD surveillance is maintained.

Primary caregivers of children already identified through surveillance methods will be contacted, informed of the study, and asked to participate through an invitation letter and/or telephone contact. Clinic visits will be scheduled for all children whose primary caregiver agrees to take part in the study and who signs a written informed consent; child assent will be obtained at the time of the clinic visit. Data collection methods will consist of: (1) Parental questionnaires, which will focus on questions about their child's behavior and developmental history; and, (2) a developmental evaluation for the child participant, which includes a play based assessment specific to ASD and a measure of cognitive development. There is no cost to respondents.

Annualized Burden Table:

Survey instruments	No. of respondents	No. of responses per respondent	Avg. burden per response (in hours)	Total burden hours
Parental questionnaires	250	1	3	750
Child developmental evaluation measures	250	1	2	500
Total				1250

Administration for Children and Families

Projects for Family Support 360 (Planning and Implementation Pilot One-Stops for Families With Members with Developmental Disabilities) and for Information and Referral Centers for Youth With Developmental Disabilities and Emerging Leaders

Program Office Name: Administration on Developmental Disabilities (ADD).

Announcement Type: Competitive Grant-Initial.

Funding Opportunity Number: HHS-2004-ACF-ADD-DN-0003.

CFDA Number: 93.631.

DATES: Applications are due August 2, 2004. Letters of Intent are due July 2, 2004.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

General Description

The Administration on Developmental Disabilities (ADD) seeks to accomplish the following with these grant awards:

- Enhance the capabilities of families in assisting individuals with developmental disabilities to achieve their maximum potential;
- Support the increasing ability of individuals with developmental disabilities to exercise greater choice and self-determination and to engage in leadership activities in their communities; and
- Ensure the protection of individuals with developmental disabilities' legal and human rights.

Through the Projects of National Significance (PNS) grant program, ADD awarded funding to 31 States/Territories for Family Support 360 planning grants to plan multi-agency partnerships to design one-stop centers to assist unserved and underserved families with a member who has a developmental disability in Fiscal Year 2003. The main purpose of the one-stop centers is to preserve, strengthen, and maintain the family unit. Each grantee was designated by the Governor as the lead agency for their State or Territory. Project partnerships were required to involve at least one elected official, the State Developmental Disabilities Council, the Protection and Advocacy System, the University Center(s) for Excellence on Developmental Disabilities in the State, and others interested in strengthening families (including faith-based organizations). The 31 planning grantees each received up to $100,000 for one year of funding.

Priority Area I of this Program Announcement provides a funding opportunity for pilot implementation grants for one-stop centers(s). The 31 States/Territories that were awarded a planning grant in Fiscal Year 2003 from ADD are eligible to apply on a competitive basis for these pilot grants. ADD intends to provide for at least 17 pilot grants this year.

Priority Area II of this Program Announcement provides a funding opportunity for States and Territories that did not receive a planning grant for Family Support 360 last year. On a competitive basis, at least 8 grants will be funded under Priority Area II.

Priority Area III of this Program Announcement provides a funding opportunity to design and demonstrate information, resource, and training centers for youth and emerging leaders with developmental disabilities. On a competitive basis, at least 8 grants will be funded under Priority Area III.

For purposes of this Program Announcement, the term "targeted families" refers to poor and/or geographically unserved or underserved families (including underserved families from racial, ethnic or cultural minority backgrounds) with a child or adult member with a developmental disability. Additionally, the term
