[Docket No. RSPA-04-18607; Notice 1]

Pipeline Safety: Petition for Waiver; Alyeska Pipeline Service Company

AGENCY: Research and Special Programs Administration (RSPA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice; petition for waiver.

SUMMARY: Alyeska Pipeline Service Company (Alyeska) has petitioned the Research and Special Programs Administration's (RSPA) Office of Pipeline Safety (OPS) for a waiver of the pipeline safety regulation that requires an operator to reduce the pressure of a pipeline to not more than 50 percent of the maximum operating pressure whenever the line pipe is moved.

DATES: Persons interested in submitting written comments on the waiver proposed in this notice must do so by August 23, 2004. Late-filed comments will be considered so far as practicable.

ADDRESSES: You may submit written comments by mailing or delivering an original and two copies to the Dockets Facility, U.S. Department of Transportation, Room PL-401, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590-0001. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Alyeska has petitioned RSPA/OPS for a waiver from compliance with the requirements of 49 CFR 195.424(a) for 420 miles of aboveground line pipe in the Trans Alaska Pipeline System (TAPS). Section 195.424(a) does not allow a pipeline operator to move any line pipe unless the pressure in the pipeline section is reduced to not more than 50 percent of the maximum operating pressure (MOP). Alyeska argues that lowering the pressure on the aboveground portion of TAPS is not necessary and is disruptive and burdensome to its pipeline operations. The requested waiver would apply whenever routine maintenance requires that the aboveground line pipe be moved laterally, longitudinally, or vertically to relieve pipe stresses and restore it to its intended position.

TAPS was designed and constructed between 1973 and 1977 to transport oil 800 miles from Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, to Alyeska's marine terminal at Valdez, Alaska. Over half of the TAPS pipeline, 420 miles, was constructed aboveground. Alyeska states that because of TAPS' unique design and construction, the aboveground portions of the pipeline behave in a structurally predictable manner. According to Alyeska, the aboveground structures were designed to accommodate line pipe movement while operating at MOP under a full range of operating and environmental conditions without overstressing the line pipe. Alyeska notes that the unique design and construction of TAPS allows pipeline movement caused by thermal expansion, seismic or hydraulic events, fault movements, support structure settlement, or frost jacking, as well as complete loss of two adjacent support structures. Moreover, Alyeska further states that TAPS was designed and constructed to anticipate line pipe movements, including routine lifting to replace sliding pads, reposition shoes, and adjust out-of-level crossbeams without reducing the pressure in the pipeline or overstressing the pipe.
