

B. Paperwork Reduction Act

The proposed amendments to part 171 rules do not impose a burden within the meaning and intent of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.

C. Cost-Benefit Analysis

Section 15(a) of the Commodity Exchange Act, 7 U.S.C. 19(a), requires the Commission to consider the costs and benefits of its action before issuing a new regulation. The Commission understands that, by its terms, section 15(a) does not require the Commission to quantify the costs and benefits of a new regulation or to determine whether the benefits of the proposed regulation outweigh its costs. Nor does it require that each proposed rule be analyzed in isolation when that rule is a component of a larger package of rules or rule revisions. Rather, section 15(a) simply requires the Commission to "consider the costs and benefits" of its action.

Section 15(a) further specifies that costs and benefits shall be evaluated in light of five broad areas of market and public concern: (1) Protection of market participants and the public; (2) efficiency, competitiveness, and financial integrity of futures markets; (3) price discovery; (4) sound risk management practices; and (5) other public interest considerations. Accordingly, the Commission can, in its discretion, give greater weight to any one of the five enumerated areas of concern and can, in its discretion, determine that notwithstanding its costs, a particular rule is necessary or appropriate to protect the public interest or to effectuate any of the provisions, or accomplish any of the purposes, of the Commodity Exchange Act.

The proposed amendments to part 171 will not create any significant change in the Commission's appellate process. In fact, the proposed amendments should enhance the protection of market participants and the public by excluding from the Commission's review matters that represent routine enforcement of an NFA pre-determined sanction, freeing both the Commission's and NFA's resources. In addition, since the proposed amendments retain the Commission's ability to consider appeals that present "extraordinary circumstances," public interest considerations for fundamental fairness and the Commission's supervisory authority regarding self-regulated organizations will not be compromised.

After considering these factors, the Commission has determined to propose the amendments to part 171, as set forth below.
