SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Public Meetings and Request for Comments

As discussed under ADDRESSES, the Coast Guard, MARAD and CSLC plan to conduct public meetings related to comments on the DEIS/DEIR for the proposed project. The open houses will be informal opportunities to ask questions and receive information regarding the project. The public meetings will be structured to provide interested members of the public with an opportunity to present comments regarding the DEIS/DEIR. Speakers at the public meetings will be recognized in the following order: elected officials, public agencies, individuals or groups in the sign-up order, and anyone else who wishes to speak. Speakers may be asked to limit their oral comments to three (3) minutes in order to afford everyone an opportunity to speak. Written comments will also be accepted. The Coast Guard, MARAD and CSLC also encourage submittal of comments and related material regarding this notice using one of the methods described under ADDRESSES. During the public meeting, speakers or the audience will not be authorized to set up any multimedia equipment (audio/video and/or projectors) or displays that would disrupt testimony of others.

Background Information

A notice of application for the proposed Cabrillo Port DWP was published in the Federal Register on January 27, 2004 (69 FR 3934). Consult that notice for additional information regarding the proposed DWP, pipelines and the moorings that would be installed on the floor of the Pacific Ocean offshore of Ventura County, California.

A notice of intent to prepare the joint DEIS/DEIR was published in the Federal Register on February 27, 2004 (69 FR 9344). Consult that notice for additional information regarding the criteria that was utilized for the environmental analysis in the joint DEIS/DEIR.

Proposed Action

The Applicant proposes to construct and operate an offshore floating storage and regasification unit (FSRU) that would be moored in Federal waters approximately 12.2 nautical miles (14 statute miles or 22.4 kilometers) offshore of Ventura County in 2,900 feet (884 meters) of water. As proposed, LNG from the Pacific basin would be delivered by an LNG carrier to and offloaded onto, the FSRU; re-gasified; and delivered onshore via two new 21.1 mile (33.8-kilometer), 24 inch (0.6 meters) diameter natural gas pipelines laid on the ocean floor. These pipelines would come onshore at Ormond Beach near Oxnard, California to connect with the existing Southern California Gas Company intrastate pipeline system to distribute natural gas throughout the Southern California region. The facilities would be designed to deliver a peak of up to 0.8 billion cubic feet per day (bcfd) (22.7 million cubic meters).

The FSRU would store LNG in three Moss spherical tanks. Each tank would have a 24 million gallon (91,000 cubic meter) LNG storage capacity, and the total FSRU LNG storage capacity would be 72.1 million gallons (273,000 cubic meters). The FSRU would be permanently moored, and would use a turret system (a tower-like revolving structure) to allow the FSRU to weathervane (rotate) around a fixed point. The FSRU, which would be designed for loading LNG from a side-by-side, moored LNG tanker, would be shaped like another vessel, double-sided, double-bottomed, 938 feet (286 meters) long and 213 feet (65 meters) wide, with a displacement of approximately 190,000 deadweight tons.

Alternatives

The DEIS/DEIR examines and assesses the environmental impact of the project location and pipeline routes of the preferred, alternative and the no action alternative. In addition to the environmental impacts, the DEIS/DEIR considers approving, approving with conditions or not approving (no action alternative) the license application and operation.

As required by the National Environmental Policy Act, the Coast Guard will also analyze the no action alternative as a baseline for comparing the impacts of the proposed project. For the purposes of this project, the no action alternative is defined as not approving the Cabrillo Port DWP License Application.
