9 CFR Part 78

[Docket No. 04–103–2]

Brucellosis in Swine; Add Arkansas, Louisiana, and Michigan to List of Validated Brucellosis Free States

AGENCY: Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, USDA.

ACTION: Affirmation of interim rule as final rule.

SUMMARY: We are adopting as a final rule, without change, an interim rule that amended the brucellosis regulations concerning the interstate movement of swine by adding Arkansas, Louisiana, and Michigan to the list of validated brucellosis-free States. That action was necessary to relieve certain restrictions on the interstate movement of breeding swine from Arkansas and Louisiana and to confirm Michigan's status as a validated brucellosis-free State.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The interim rule became effective on November 18, 2004.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Dr. John Korslund, Staff Veterinarian (Swine Health), Eradication and Surveillance Team, National Center for Animal Health Programs, VS, APHIS, 4700 River Road Unit 43, Riverdale, MD 20737–1231; (301) 734–5914.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Brucellosis is a contagious disease caused by bacteria of the genus Brucella. The disease mainly affects cattle, bison, and swine, but goats, sheep, horses, and even humans are susceptible. In its principal animal hosts, it causes loss of young through spontaneous abortion or birth of weak offspring, reduced milk production, and infertility. There is no economically feasible treatment for brucellosis in livestock. In humans, brucellosis initially causes flu-like symptoms, but the disease may develop into a variety of chronic conditions, including arthritis. Humans can be treated for brucellosis with antibiotics.

The brucellosis regulations in 9 CFR part 78 (referred to below as the regulations) contain specific provisions for cattle, bison, and swine. Under the regulations, States, herds, and individual animals are classified according to their brucellosis status. Interstate movement requirements for animals are based upon the disease status of the individual animals or the herd or State from which the animal originates.

In an interim rule effective and published in the Federal Register on November 18, 2004 (69 FR 67501–67503, Docket No. 04–103–1), we amended § 78.43 of the regulations by adding Arkansas, Louisiana, and Michigan to the list of validated brucellosis-free States.

Comments on the interim rule were required to be received on or before January 18, 2005. We received one comment by that date, from a private citizen. The commenter stated that all interstate movement of swine should be banned and that if living conditions for swine were raised, swine would be more resistant to diseases such as brucellosis. The commenter further objected to the use of taxpayer funds for the brucellosis program and to the use of the term “depopulated.” As this comment has no bearing on the action taken in the interim rule (i.e., the addition of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Michigan to the list of validated swine brucellosis-free States), no changes to the interim rule are indicated.

Therefore, for the reasons given in the interim rule and in this document, we are adopting the interim rule as a final rule without change.

This action also affirms the information contained in the interim rule concerning Executive Order 12866 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Executive Orders 12372 and 12988, and the Paperwork Reduction Act.

Further, for this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived its review under Executive Order 12866.

PART 78—BRUCELLOSIS

■ Accordingly, we are adopting as a final rule, without change, the interim rule that amended 9 CFR part 78 and that was published at 69 FR 67501–67503 on November 18, 2004.

12 CFR Parts 271, 272, 281

[Rules Regarding Availability of Information; Rules of Procedure; Statements of Policy; Docket No. R–1222]

Amendment to Rules Regarding Availability of Information; Rules of Procedure; Statements of Policy

AGENCY: Federal Open Market Committee.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Open Market Committee (the “Committee”) has made a variety of technical and minor changes to its Rules Regarding Availability of Information, Rules of Procedure, and Statements of Policy. The amendments are designed to conform the rules and statements to the Committee's existing practices, facilitate the ability of Committee members to participate in a meeting in unusual circumstances, and remove obsolete provisions. The amendments also make the rules gender-neutral and authorize the Secretary of the Committee (with the concurrence of the Committee's General Counsel) to make technical changes to the Committee's rules, regulations, and other actions in the future.

DATES: The amendments are effective February 16, 2005.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Kieran J. Fallon, Assistant General Counsel (202–452–5270), April C. Snyder, Attorney (202–452–3099), Legal Division; Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; or Deborah J. Danker, Deputy Secretary (202-452-3253), Federal Open Market Committee, 20th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20551. Users of Telecommunication Device for Deaf (TTD) only, call (202) 263-4869.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Amendments to Rules of Procedure and Rules Regarding Availability of Information

The Committee has amended section 272.3(a) of its Rules of Procedure to allow members that cannot be present at a meeting in person to participate in the meeting by electronic means, such as by videoconference arrangements, as well as by telephone conference arrangements. The amendment should facilitate the ability of the Committee to act if unusual circumstances, such as a national emergency, prevent the Committee or any of its members from assembling in Washington, DC.

The Committee also has amended sections 272.3(d) and (e) of its Rules of Procedure to reflect the fact that (i) currently only a single Manager is selected to operate the System Open Market Account for the Committee; and (ii) under the Committee's new expedited procedure for the release of Committee minutes, the minutes of a Committee meeting typically will be approved prior to (rather than at) the Committee's next regularly scheduled meeting. In addition, the Committee has updated the references to its internet Web site and to the Federal Reserve Bulletin (which is now published on a quarterly basis) in its Rules Regarding Availability of Information.

Finally, the Committee has modified sections 272.3(b) and 272.4(c) of its Rules of Procedure and sections 271.8(a) and (b) of its Rules Regarding Availability of Information to make the rules gender-neutral. In addition, the Committee has authorized the Secretary of the Committee (with the concurrence of the Committee's General Counsel) to make other technical, non-substantive changes (such as correcting spelling errors or deleting obsolete provisions) to the Committee's rules, regulations and other actions in the future. This delegated authority, which is identical to the authority that the Secretary of the Board has to make technical changes to the Board's rules (12 CFR 265.5(a)(4)), is codified in a new section 272.4(d) of the Rules of Procedure.

B. Deletion of Outdated Statement of Policy

In 1947, the Committee directed the Federal Reserve Banks to terminate, effective July 10, 1947, the policy of purchasing all Treasury bills offered to them at a fixed rate of 3/8 percent per annum and to terminate the repurchase option privilege on Treasury bills. This statement, which currently is codified at 12 CFR 281.1, is no longer relevant to the Committee's policies or operations and has been deleted.

The amendments to the Committee's Rules of Procedure and Statements of Policy relate solely to the Committee's internal procedure and practices or constitute general statements of policy. Accordingly, the public notice, public comment and delayed effective date provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act do not apply to these amendments.¹ Because the amendments to the Rules Regarding Availability of Information are technical in nature, the Committee has determined that good cause exists for making these amendments effective immediately, and that public notice and comment on these amendments are impracticable, unnecessary or contrary to the public interest.²

[Docket No. FAA-2004-18759; Directorate Identifier 2003-NM-280-AD; Amendment 39-13973; AD 2005-04-01]

RIN 2120-AA64

Airworthiness Directives; Boeing Model 707-100, -100B, -300, -300B (Including -320B Variant), -300C, and -E3A (Military) Series Airplanes; Model 720 and 720B Series Airplanes; Model 737-100, -200, -200C, -300, -400, and -500 Series Airplanes; and Model 747 Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Department of Transportation (DOT).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The FAA is adopting a new airworthiness directive (AD) for certain Boeing transport category airplanes. This AD requires repetitive tests of the overwing fuel fill ports for certain wing tanks; an electrical bonding resistance test between the bulkhead fittings of the engine fuel feed tube and the front spar inside the fuel tank of the wings; other specified actions; and applicable corrective actions if necessary. This AD is prompted by our determination that this AD is necessary to reduce the potential for ignition sources inside fuel tanks. We are issuing this AD to prevent arcing or sparking at the interface between the bulkhead fittings of the engine fuel feed tube and the front spar inside the fuel tank of the wings and between the overwing fuel fill ports and the airplane structure during a lightning strike. Such arcing or sparking could provide a possible ignition source for the fuel vapor inside the fuel tank and cause consequent fuel tank explosions.

DATES: This AD becomes effective March 23, 2005.

The incorporation by reference of certain publications listed in the AD is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of March 23, 2005.
