Crotty Corporation, Quincy, MI; Notice of Revised Determination on Reconsideration

By letter dated December 16, 2004, a petitioner requested administrative reconsideration regarding the Department’s Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance applicable to the workers of the subject firm. The initial investigation resulted in a negative determination issued on December 1, 2004, based on the finding that the workers of the subject facility did not supply a component part to a trade certified firm, because the articles produced by the petitioning worker group were finished products, and not component parts of articles that were the basis for certification of the primarily affected firm. Moreover, imports of automotive sun visors did not contribute importantly to worker separations at the subject plant, and no shift of production to a foreign source occurred. The denial notice was published in the Federal Register on December 22, 2004 (69 FR 76785).

To support the request for reconsideration, the petitioner supplied additional information indicating that although the subject firm had lost a contract to produce a specific model line of sun visors (GMT–360) for a major customer to another domestic firm, that firm actually produces the sun visors in Mexico. Importantly to the declines in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers at the subject firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of Crotty Corporation, Quincy, Michigan, who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after December 20, 2003 through two years from the date of this certification, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974, and are eligible to apply for alternative trade adjustment assistance under section 246 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed in Washington, DC this 14th day of February 2005.

Elliott S. Kushner,
Certifying Officer, Division of Trade Adjustment Assistance.
