

importance of various factors related to each customer, as it usually has no knowledge of the actual customer.

NASD disagrees with the arguments of SIA and Instinet. The recipient member is certainly entitled to rely on the routing member to understand the terms of the order absent any other direct contact with the customer; with that allowance noted, the recipient member is not at any further disadvantage in complying with the terms of Rule NASD 2320, and, consequently, investor protection requires that recipient members must be subject to all of the relevant reasonable diligence factors in determining whether best execution has occurred as a matter of fact and circumstance.

Instinet also asserted that the proposal would create an unfair competitive disparity between otherwise similarly situated market centers that execute orders on an electronic agency basis because the proposed rule would not apply to market centers operated by NASD and other self-regulatory organizations ("SROs"). Instinet requests that NASD revise the proposal to exclude member-operated Electronic Communication Networks and Alternative Trading Systems that interact with orders on a fully automated basis, or else apply the same obligations under the proposal to the market centers operated by NASD and other SROs.²⁰ As noted above, NASD has responded to this comment, as well as BMA's, by deleting proposed references to market centers and simply using the term "market." For purposes of NASD Rule 2320, this term should be interpreted broadly to include a variety of different venues, including, but not limited to, market centers that are trading a particular security. Finally, in response to the commenters' concerns, in Amendment No. 4, NASD clarified that a member's duty to provide best execution to customer orders received from other broker-dealers "arises only when an order is routed from the broker-dealer to the member for the purpose of order handling and execution" and does not arise when another broker-dealer is simply executing against a member's quote.

²⁰ Instinet also claims that, in light of Regulation NMS' effects on interaction among market centers and the potential conflicts and interpretive issues, NASD's proposal could be interpreted to require a market center (the recipient broker-dealer) to consider routing an order to another market center displaying a better price even though the originating broker-dealer already has indicated that it has attempted to access such interest. NASD's Best Execution Rule contains a number of factors that are examined to determine whether a member or associated person has used reasonable diligence, including "accessibility of the quotation." Accordingly, the facts and circumstances surrounding the "accessibility of the quotations" would be considered to the extent they are appropriate.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of, and basis for, the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

NASD Rule 4350(k) currently requires that issuers be audited by an independent public accountant that has received an external quality control review by another independent public accountant (a “peer review”) or is enrolled in a peer review program. However, as part of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, Congress created the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the “PCAOB”) and prohibited accounting firms that are not registered with the PCAOB from preparing or issuing audit reports on U.S. public companies and from participating in such audits.⁴ The Sarbanes-Oxley Act also requires the PCAOB to conduct a continuing program of inspections of registered public accounting firms.⁵ Pursuant to these requirements, the PCAOB is required to conduct inspections annually for firms that provide audit reports for more than 100 issuers and at least triennially for firms that provide audit reports for fewer issuers.⁶

In light of these new requirements, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (“AICPA”) has modified its peer review program. The new AICPA peer review program, which succeeds the SEC Practice Section Peer Review Program currently referred to in NASD Rule 4350(k), is designed to review and evaluate only the non-SEC issuer practice of the firm.⁷ As a result,

⁶ See Section 104 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, 15 U.S.C. 7214(b).

⁷ See Web site for the AICPA’s Center for Public Company Audit Firms Peer Review Program at: <http://www.aicpa.org/centerprp/index.htm>.

this peer review program is no longer relevant with respect to the audits of Nasdaq-listed issuers.

Given these changes to the oversight and inspection of auditors, the proposed rule change is designed to modify existing NASD Rule 4350(k) to reflect the new role of the PCAOB and change the existing requirement to a requirement that each issuer’s auditor be registered as a public accounting firm with the PCAOB. As a result, auditors of Nasdaq companies will be subject to the PCAOB’s program of continuing inspections.⁸

Under the proposed rule change, an issuer seeking to list on Nasdaq would be permitted to continue to use historical financial statements that were audited by a non-registered firm at a time when the applicant was not a public company. Nasdaq believes that this view is consistent with an interpretation adopted by the PCAOB, which provides that an auditor does not have to register with the PCAOB merely because it issues a consent to include an audit report for a prior period, if the auditor does not have or expect to have an ongoing role in the auditing engagement.⁹ Of course, if the issuer was a public company immediately prior to listing on Nasdaq, the company’s financial statements must have been audited and/or reviewed by a public accounting firm that was registered with the PCAOB, as required by the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the rules of the PCAOB.

Finally, Nasdaq proposes to make a conforming amendment to the language of NASD Rule 4200(a) to delete the definition of “AICPA,” which would no longer be necessary.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A of the Act,¹⁰ in general, and with Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,¹¹ in particular, in that the proposal is designed to remove impediments to a free and open market and a national market system, prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. Specifically, the proposed rule change will remove a redundant listing requirement, thereby removing an impediment to a free and open market, ⁸ See Sections 4000–4012 of the PCAOB Rules. Note that in the case of non-U.S. auditors, where the PCAOB determines it appropriate, the PCAOB may rely instead on non-U.S. inspections. See Section 4012 of the PCAOB Rules.

⁹ See PCAOB Rule 2100, Note 2.

¹⁰ 15 U.S.C. 78o–3.

¹¹ 15 U.S.C. 78o–3(b)(6).

and will align Nasdaq's listing standards with the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, thereby allowing Nasdaq to further the investor protection goals of that Act.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which Nasdaq consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.
