

G. Property Management (OMB Control No. 0610-0103)

1. Purpose: Section 314.3(f) of the IFR generally provides that a recipient may request in writing that EDA approve the incidental use of property acquired or improved with EDA investment assistance, provided that respondent is in compliance with applicable law and the terms and conditions of the investment assistance and the incidental use does not otherwise interfere with the scope of the EDA project or the economic useful life of the property. This information collection is necessary in order for EDA to ensure that the use of property acquired or improved with EDA investment assistance complies with the authorized uses of property set forth in section 314.3 of the IFR and the terms and conditions of the EDA investment assistance. In addition, § 314.10(d) of the IFR generally provides that a recipient must request in writing a release of EDA's property interest and disclose to EDA the intended future use of the real property or tangible personal property for which a release is sought. A recipient receiving an EDA release is required to record a restrictive covenant of use. This request and declaration of intentions are necessary in order for EDA to determine whether to grant the recipient's release request. The recordation of the covenant of use is necessary to provide notice to the respondent's successors-in-interest that there are use restrictions that attach to the property.
