

Radiated Fields (HIRF). Each system that performs critical functions must be designed and installed to ensure that the operations, and operational capabilities of these systems to perform critical functions, are not adversely affected when the airplane is exposed to high intensity radiated electromagnetic fields external to the airplane.

2. For the purpose of these special conditions, the following definition applies: Critical Functions: Functions whose failure would contribute to, or cause, a failure condition that would prevent the continued safe flight and landing of the airplane.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

On February 13, 2006, a final rule for Airspace Docket No. 05-ASO-7, FAA Docket No. FAA-2005-22398 was published in the Federal Register (71 FR 7409). This rule established 16 high altitude area navigation routes in the South Central United States. In the description for route Q-36, the longitude coordinate for the SWAPP fix was incorrectly published as 86°10'56" W., which represents a one degree error. The correct longitude coordinate is 85°10'56" W. This action corrects the error. The rule listed the correct coordinates for the SWAPP fix in the descriptions of routes Q-32 and Q-34.

Correction to Final Rule

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, the legal description for route Q-36 as published in the Federal Register on February 13, 2006 (71 FR 7409), Airspace Docket No. 05-ASO-7, FAA Docket No. FAA-2005-22398, and incorporated by reference in 14 CFR 71.1, is corrected as follows:

PART 71—[AMENDED]

§ 71.1 [Amended]

■ On page 7411, correct the description for route Q-36, to read as follows:

Paragraph 2006—Area Navigation Routes

	*	*	*	*	*
Q-36 RZC to SWAPP [Corrected]

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

16 CFR Part 312

Children's Online Privacy Protection Rule

AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.

ACTION: Retention of rule without modification.

SUMMARY: The Federal Trade Commission ("the Commission") has completed its regulatory review of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Rule ("the COPPA Rule" or "the Rule"), which implements the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998. The Rule regulates how Web site operators and others may collect, use, and distribute personal information from children online. The Commission requested comment on the costs and benefits of the Rule and whether it should be retained without change, modified, or eliminated. The Commission also requested comment on the Rule's effect on: information practices relating to children; children's ability to obtain online access to information of their choice; and the availability of Web sites directed to children. Pursuant to this review, the Commission concludes that the Rule continues to be valuable to children, their parents, and Web site operators, and has determined to retain the Rule in its current form. This document discusses the comments received in response to the Commission's request for public comment and announces the Commission's decision to retain the Rule without modification.

DATES: Effective Date: March 15, 2006.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Introduction

Pursuant to Congressional direction and the Commission's systematic program of reviewing its rules and guides, in April 2005 the Commission issued a Federal Register Proposed Rule seeking public comment on the overall costs and benefits of the COPPA Rule and other issues related to the Rule ("April 2005 NPR").¹ In response, the Commission received 25 comments from various parties, including: trade associations, Web site operators, privacy and educational organizations, COPPA safe harbor programs, and consumers.² As part of its review, the Commission also considered the 91 comments received in response to its January 14, 2005 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking ("January 2005 NPR") on the Rule's sliding scale approach to obtaining verifiable parental consent.³

¹ 70 FR 21107 (Apr. 22, 2005). The NPR also may be found online at <http://www.ftc.gov/opa/2005/04/coppacomments.htm>.

² The comments responsive to the April 2005 NPR have been filed on the Commission's public record as Document Nos. 516296-00001, et seq., and may be found online at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/comments/COPPARuleReview/index.htm>. This document cites comments by commenter name and page number. If a commenter submitted comments in response to the April 2005 NPR and the January 2005 NPR, the comment submitted second is delineated with the number "2." All comments are available for public inspection at the Public Reference Room, Room 130, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave., NW., Washington, D.C. 20580.
