Title: Reporting and Recordkeeping Requirements of the HCFC Allowance System.

ICR Numbers: 2014.03, OMB Control Number 2060-0498.

ICR Status: This ICR is scheduled to expire on June 30, 2006. Under OMB regulations, the Agency may continue to conduct or sponsor the collection of information while this submission is pending at OMB. An Agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations in Title 40 of the CFR, after appearing in the Federal Register when approved, are listed in 40 CFR part 9, and are displayed either by publication in the Federal Register or by other appropriate means, such as on the related collection instrument or form, if applicable. The display of OMB control numbers in certain EPA regulations is consolidated in 40 CFR part 9.

Abstract: In order to continue to meet its obligations under the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer (Protocol) and the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 (CAAA), EPA maintains an allowance system for class II controlled substances or hydrochlorofluorocarbons (HCFCs). Under the Protocol, the U.S. is obligated to limit HCFC consumption (defined by the Protocol as production plus imports, minus exports) under a specific cap. The U.S. is also a signatory to amendments that froze HCFC production on January 1, 2004. EPA controls U.S. production and consumption of HCFCs by granting baseline allowances based on the historical activity levels of producers and importers coupled with a chemical-by-chemical phaseout. Since each allowance equals 1 kilogram of HCFC, EPA can monitor the quantity of HCFCs being produced, imported, exported, transformed, or destroyed. There are two types of allowances: consumption allowances and production allowances. Transfers of production and consumption allowances among producers and importers are allowed. Producers, importers, and exporters are required to submit to EPA quarterly reports of the quantity of HCFCs in each of their transactions; they are also required to report the quantity of HCFCs transformed or destroyed. EPA requires all producers, importers, and exporters maintain records such as Customs entry forms, bills of lading, sales records, and canceled checks to support their quarterly reports. The quarterly reports may be faxed or mailed to EPA and soon may be submitted electronically.

Reports are handled as confidential business information. EPA stores the submitted information in a computerized database designed to track allowance balances and transfer activities. When electronic reporting is available, EPA will change its guidance document. EPA uses collected information to ensure that the U.S. maintains compliance with the Protocol caps, to report annually to United Nations Environment Programme the U.S. activity in HCFCs, and to ensure that allowance holders are in compliance. The respondents are producers, importers, and exporters of HCFCs; and entities granted HCFC-141b exemption allowances.

Burden Statement: The annual public reporting and recordkeeping burden for this collection of information currently estimated to average less than one hour per response. Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements which have subsequently changed; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.

The ICR provides a detailed explanation of the Agency's estimate, which is only briefly summarized here:

Estimated total number of potential respondents: 70;

Frequency of response: quarterly, annually, semi-annually, or one-time only;

Estimated total average number of responses for each respondent: 342;

Estimated total annual burden hours: 1632 hours for respondents;

Estimated total annual cost: $138,963, which includes $138,123 labor costs, $0 capital/startup costs, and $840 annual O&M costs.

Changes in the Estimates: There is a decrease of 1660 hours in the total estimated burden and a decrease of $333,234 currently identified in the OMB Inventory of Approved ICR Burdens. This decrease is due to adjustments that EPA made in its assumptions, the lack of additional capital costs necessary to meet the requirements, and certain inconsistencies found in the previous analysis. The previously approved ICR estimated 8 hours for a respondent to prepare and submit a report. This ICR estimates a respondent will need 4.5 hours. The 4.5-hour estimate is based on recent feedback from respondents under the program and is therefore more reliable and up-to-date than the eight-hour estimate. Additionally, in comparison with three years ago, respondents are more familiar with the reporting requirements and have improved their processes for collecting and documenting the information requested. Any capital costs required to comply with the requirements were met under the previous ICR. Lastly, while developing supporting materials for this ICR, EPA uncovered and corrected inconsistencies associated with the previous ICR. Consequently, the burden for the respondents has been greatly reduced for reporting the information.

The option of electronic reporting imposes a minimal change to burden estimates because of the start-up hours associated with electronic reporting that EPA estimates will be required during the three years of this ICR. While electronic reporting is eventually expected to reduce the reporting burden for respondents, as well as the O&M costs, the reduction will not be seen until after this ICR period.
