Pesticides; Availability of Schedule for Registration ReviewAGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: EPA is announcing the availability of a schedule for the registration review of pesticides mandated in section 3(g) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA). EPA is making the schedule available pursuant to the Registration Review procedural regulations, to inform the public and help interested stakeholders prepare for the initiation of the registration reviews scheduled for the first four years of the program. To develop the schedule, EPA used procedures set forth in the August 9, 2006 final rule. The schedule shows how the Agency plans to sequence pesticide reviews to meet the goal of reviewing each pesticide's registration every 15 years. Although there is not a comment period for this schedule, the Agency may consider issues raised by the public or the registrant when reviewing the posted schedule, to schedule a pesticide registration review, or to modify the schedule of a pesticide registration review as appropriate. This schedule will take effect on October 10, 2006, the effective date of the registration review regulation.

II. Background*A. What Action is the Agency Taking?*

EPA has issued a schedule for the registration review program, the periodic review of all registered pesticides mandated by section 3(g) of FIFRA. The schedule will take effect upon the registration review regulation effective date of October 10, 2006.

This schedule is a timetable for opening registration review dockets for the first four years of the program. It shows how EPA plans to sequence the initiation of pesticide reviews to meet the statutory goal of reviewing all registered pesticides every 15 years to determine whether they still meet the statutory standard for registration. As noted in the explanation of the schedule, EPA expects a total of about 676 registration review cases comprised of about 1,075 pesticide active ingredients to undergo registration review. To review all of these pesticides every 15 years, the Agency plans to make decisions on 45 or more registration review cases, or about 70 pesticide active ingredients, each year.

The schedule shows which registration review cases are expected to begin the review process during the first four years of the program, beginning in fiscal year 2007. Each pesticide's place on the schedule is generally determined by its baseline date, that is, the date of its last substantive review. The oldest cases go first. The baseline date for a pesticide subject to reregistration is the date of the Reregistration Eligibility Decision (RED) or Interim RED, while for pesticides not subject to reregistration, it is the date the first product containing the active ingredient was registered. Although the draft schedule generally is constructed chronologically using baseline dates, some registration review cases in years two through four are grouped in the schedule to achieve greater program efficiencies. For example, pesticides that are chemically or use related, such as the organophosphate and carbamate chemical classes, the coppers group and the pyrethroids, pyrethrins and synergists group, would be reviewed during the same time frame.

Background information on the program is provided at:

B. What is the Agency's Authority for Taking this Action?

EPA is announcing this schedule as provided in §§ 155.42(d) and 155.44 of the Procedural Regulations for Registration Review: Final Rule <http://www.epa.gov/fedrgstr/EPA-PEST/2006/August/Day-09/p12904.htm>). In general, the Agency may consider issues raised by the public or the registrant when reviewing a posted schedule, to schedule a pesticide registration review, or to modify the schedule of a pesticide registration review as appropriate. This schedule will be updated at least annually.
