ODS Analytical Methods and Reference Materials Program Stakeholders' Meeting Notice

Notice is hereby given of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) Office of Dietary Supplements (ODS) Analytical Methods and Reference Materials Program Stakeholders' Meeting to be held Monday, September 10, 2007, in the Lister Hill Auditorium on the NIH Campus in Bethesda, Maryland 20892. The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and will be open to the public.

In fiscal year (FY) 2002, Congress addressed the need for support of analytical methods and reference materials development related to dietary supplements. The congressional appropriations language supported an increased ODS budget for several topics, including analytical methods and reference materials. The Senate language called for “ODS to allocate sufficient funds to speed up an ongoing collaborative effort to develop and disseminate validated analytical methods and reference materials for the most commonly used botanicals and other dietary supplements.”

On February 8, 2002, ODS held a public meeting to solicit comments to assist ODS in designing an overall strategy for implementing the congressional mandate to foster development and validation of analytical methods and reference materials for dietary supplements.

In FY 2004 and 2005, Congress again used similar language supporting the Analytical Methods and Reference Materials (AMRM) program in the ODS appropriations.

The purpose of the proposed meeting on September 10, 2007, is to state the progress that has been made by the AMRM program since its inception five years ago and to receive comments on directions for the next five years. The meeting is intended to seek stakeholder comments that will assist us with the continued implementation of an overall strategy for research, development, validation, and dissemination of analytical methods and standard reference materials for dietary supplement ingredients. The sponsor of this meeting is the NIH Office of Dietary Supplements.
