SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Employee Polygraph Protection Act of 1988 (EPPA), 29 U.S.C. 2001 et seq., prohibits most private employers from using any lie detector tests either for pre-employment screening or during the course of employment. See 29 CFR 801.1(a). Federal, State and local government employers are exempted from the Act. Id. EPPA section 7 contains several limited exemptions authorizing polygraph tests under certain conditions, including testing: (1) By the Federal Government of experts, consultants or employees of Federal contractors, to name a few, engaged in national security intelligence or counterintelligence functions [29 U.S.C. 2006(b)–(c); 29 CFR 801.11]; (2) of employees the employer reasonably suspects of involvement in a workplace incident resulting in economic loss or injury to the employer’s business [29 U.S.C. 2006(d); 29 CFR 801.12]; (3) of some current and prospective employees of certain firms authorized to manufacture, distribute or dispense controlled substances [29 U.S.C. 2006(f); 29 CFR 801.13]; and (4) of some prospective employees of private armored car, security alarm and security guard firms [29 U.S.C. 2006(e); 29 CFR 801.14]. The DOL’s Wage and Hour Division may assess civil money penalties of up to $10,000 per violation against employers who violate any EPPA provision. See 29 U.S.C. 2005(a); 29 CFR 801.40(a)(2). EPPA section 5 requires the Secretary of Labor to promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the Act and to require the recordkeeping necessary or appropriate for administration of the Act. See 29 U.S.C. 2004(a); 29 CFR 801.1(a), 801.30. Appendix A of Regulations 29 CFR part 801 contains a written statement setting forth both the examinee’s and employer’s legal rights for use in satisfying the EPPA section 8(b)(2)(d) disclosure requirement. Employers may use optional Form WH–1481 to provide this notice. This optional form information collection is currently approved for use through October 31, 2008.
