Endangered and Threatened Wildlife and Plants; 5-Year Review

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of initiation of review; request for information on the piping plover (Charadrius melodus).

SUMMARY: We, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service), initiate 5-year reviews of the piping plover (Atlantic Coast, Great Lakes, and Northern Great Plains populations) under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (Act). We request any new information on these populations that may have a bearing on their classification as endangered or threatened. Based on the results of these 5-year reviews, we will make a finding on whether these populations are properly classified under the Act.

DATES: To allow us adequate time to conduct these reviews, we must receive your information no later than December 1, 2008. However, we will continue to accept new information about any listed species at any time.

ADDRESSES: For instructions on how to submit information and review the information that we receive on these populations, see "Public Solicitation of New Information."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Please contact the appropriate person under "Public Solicitation of New Information." Individuals who are hearing impaired or speech impaired may call the Federal Relay Service at 800-877-8337 for TTY (telephone typewriter or teletypewriter) assistance.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We initiate 5-year reviews of the Atlantic Coast, Great Lakes, and Northern Great Plains populations of the piping plover (Charadrius melodus), under the Act. In our December 11, 1985, final rule listing the piping plover across its range, we determined the Great Lakes breeding population to be endangered (but threatened when occurring outside of the Great Lakes watershed—See Table 1) and the Atlantic Coast and Great Plains populations to be threatened (50 FR 50726). We then approved recovery plans for the Atlantic Coast (USFWS 1988a, 1996), Great Lakes (USFWS 1988b, 2003), and Northern Great Plains (USFWS 1988b) populations. The three populations share wintering habitats along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, from North Carolina to Mexico and into the Caribbean Islands.

We request any new information on these populations that may have a bearing on their classification as endangered or threatened.

Based on the results of these 5-year reviews, we will make findings on whether these populations are properly classified under the Act.

Why Do We Conduct a 5-Year Review?

Under the Act, we maintain the List of Endangered and Threatened Wildlife and Plant Species (List) at 50 CFR 17.11 and 17.12. We amend the List by publishing final rules in the Federal Register. Section 4(c)(2)(A) of the Act requires that we conduct a review of listed species at least once every 5 years. Section 4(c)(2)(B) requires that we determine (1) whether a species no longer meets the definition of threatened or endangered and should be removed from the List (delisted); (2) whether a species more properly meets the definition of threatened and should be reclassified from endangered to threatened; or (3) whether a species more properly meets the definition of endangered and should be reclassified
