

cell maturation. The immunotoxins are fusion proteins consisting of a truncated diphtheria toxin joined to an anti-CD3 antibody, which binds to the CD3 antigen found on the T cell receptor (TCR) of mature T lymphocytes (T cells). The toxin moiety acts to kill cells, the anti-CD3 antibody portion performs cell targeting to direct the toxin to specifically kill T cells, and the bivalency allows the immunotoxin to bind to target cells with greater efficiency than monovalent constructs. Thus, bivalent, anti-CD3 immunotoxins that specifically deplete T cells, such as those constructs created by the inventors, could yield innovative therapeutics for T cell lymphoma and other disorders caused by T cell-related abnormalities.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Notice of this meeting is given under the Federal Advisory Committee Act, 5 U.S.C. App. 2. The HSAC provides independent advice to the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security to aid in the creation and implementation of critical and actionable policies and capabilities across the spectrum of homeland security operations. The HSAC periodically reports, as requested, to the Secretary, on such matters. The HSAC serves as the Secretary’s primary advisory body with the goal of providing strategic, timely and actionable advice.

The HSAC will meet for the purpose of receiving briefings and updates from DHS principals on the current status of the HSAC, a threat assessment and intelligence briefing focused on border security, internal DHS management directives and the successes and challenges of the DHS transition. The briefings will include information on sensitive homeland security procedures and the capabilities of the Department of Homeland Security Components.

In accordance with section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, it has been determined that this HSAC meeting concerns matters that “disclose investigative techniques and procedures” under 5 U.S.C. 552b(c)(7)(E) and are “likely to significantly frustrate implementation of a proposed agency action” within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. 552b(c)(9)(B). Additionally, release of information presented during the briefings and the nature of the discussion could lead to premature disclosure of information on Department of Homeland Security actions that would be “likely to significantly frustrate implementation of a proposed agency action.” Therefore, the portion of the meeting of the HSAC from 12:20 p.m. to 3 p.m. will be closed to the public.
