

Banking ("the Committee"). After consultation with the General Services Administration, as required by section 9(a)(2) of FACA and 41 CFR 102-3.65, the Chairman of the FDIC certifies that she has determined that the establishment of the Committee is in the public interest in connection with the performance of duties imposed on the FDIC by law. The Committee will provide advice and recommendations on a broad range of policy issues that have a particular impact on small community banks throughout the United States and the local communities that are served by those community banks, including a focus on rural areas. The Committee will review various issues concerning community banks that may include, but are not limited to, the latest examination policies and procedures, credit and lending practices, deposit insurance assessments, insurance coverage issues, and regulatory compliance matters, as well as any obstacles to the continued growth and ability of community banks to extend financial services in their local markets in the current market environment. The Committee will function solely as an advisory body, and in compliance with the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. The Committee will represent community banks of various sizes and charter types, both urban and rural, from different regions of the country, and members of the Committee may also represent individuals, small businesses, not-for-profit community organizations, or other entities that rely on community banks to provide credit and other banking services in their communities, as well as one or more representatives from academic institutions.
