

Authority for This Rulemaking

Title 49 of the United States Code specifies the FAA's authority to issue rules on aviation safety. Subtitle I, Section 106, describes the authority of the FAA Administrator. Subtitle VII, Aviation Programs, describes in more detail the scope of the Agency's authority.

We are issuing this rulemaking under the authority described in Subtitle VII, Part A, Subpart III, Section 44701, "General requirements." Under that section, Congress charges the FAA with promoting safe flight of civil aircraft in air commerce by prescribing regulations for practices, methods, and procedures the Administrator finds necessary for safety in air commerce. This regulation is within the scope of that authority because it addresses an unsafe condition that is likely to exist or develop on products identified in this rulemaking action.

Regulatory Findings

We have determined that this AD will not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132. This AD will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government.

For the reasons discussed above, I certify that this AD:

1. Is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866;
2. Is not a "significant rule" under the DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979); and
3. Will not have a significant economic impact, positive or negative, on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

We prepared a summary of the costs to comply with this AD and placed it in the AD Docket. You may get a copy of this summary at the address listed under ADDRESSES.

I. Background

This final rule amends 25 CFR parts 26 and 27 by consolidating requirements governing the Employment Assistance Program and the Adult Vocational Training Program into one “Job Placement and Training Program.” This revision is consistent with the Department of the Interior’s budget, which has integrated the two programs, Adult Vocational Training and the Direct Employment programs, into one comprehensive line item: the Job Placement and Training Program. The revision of this regulation was previously recommended by the Public Law 102–477 Tribal Work Group, Indian tribes, and BIA program staff and is part of the President’s Regulatory Reform Initiative. The purpose of the Department of the Interior’s Job Placement and Training Program is to enhance employment opportunities for eligible Indians and to provide related services as necessary for them to gain full self-sufficiency or non-subsidized employment. The program services are not intended to duplicate or supplant other job placement or training authorities, resources, or services, but are designed to complement and supplement where there may be gaps in an individual self-sufficiency plan. This program’s emphasis will focus on individual self-sufficiency through the implementation of a well-conceived plan that is designed to improve the individual’s standard of living. The program may be administered through the Self-Determination or Self-Governance process, Public Law 102–477 Tribal Plan authority, or other similar authorities.

II. Statutory Authority

The authority to issue rules and regulations is vested in the Secretary of the Interior by 5 U.S.C. 301 and sections 463 and 465 of the Revised Statutes (25 U.S.C. 2 and 9).

III. Discussion of Public Comments on Proposed Rule

The regulations were developed working with tribal representatives. During our National Public Law 102–477 conference in Reno, Nevada held from October 30–November 1, 2007, the proposed draft regulations and their effect on Job Placement and Training were discussed. Three hundred twenty-eight individuals attended the conference. The proposed regulations were also discussed at the Annual Alaska Bureau Service Providers conference in November 2007. We received numerous comments throughout a previous informal review process for more than the past 5 years. Some comments recommended more clarity or consistency and more detail or additional language in order to better clarify the Job Placement and Training Program. The Department incorporated changes based on these comments into the proposed rule, published on April 9, 2008 (73 FR 19179).

During the public comment period we received one comment from the Co-Chair of the Public Law 102–477 (Indian Employment, Training and Related Services Demonstration Act, as amended) Tribal Work Group. Specifically she stated, “As P.L. 102–477 Tribal workgroup Co-Chair representing over 258 federally recognized tribes or consortiums * * * the consensus of the group is that the proposed rules are reasonable and acceptable. I have personally read the proposed rules and find them clear, easy to understand and well worded. I concur with the consensus of the 477 Tribal Work Group members.” This written comment agreed with the proposed draft and no corrections or revisions were recommended. The comment stated that the proposed regulations were consistent with tribal suggestions and integration of programs to facilitate tribal implementation.

Given the positive response to the proposed rule, the Department has not made any changes to the rule beyond a few editorial changes and clarifications, which include:

- Adding to the definition of “On-the-job-training (OJT)” in section 26.1 that on-the-job training activities are limited to 24 months. This is a statutory requirement;

- Replacing “client” with “applicant” or “person” in a few instances where those terms are more appropriate;

- In section 26.5, clarifying that eligible applicants may live in an agreed contract service area;

- In section 26.23, clarifying that only one comprehensive Individual Self-Sufficiency Plan (ISP) will be developed for each applicant;

- In section 26.32, clarifying that an application may include an applicant assessment or other documents required by the servicing agency;

- In section 26.35, deleting “public” as a modifier to “transportation” to clarify that support services may include both public and private transportation; and

- In section 26.38, adding a sentence to clarify that if the servicing agency is a tribal contractor, the appeal may be filed with the tribal contractor under their established procedure, rather than with the service provider.

IV. Procedural RequirementsA. Civil Justice Reform (Executive Order 12988)

The Department has certified to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) that this proposed rule meets the applicable standards provided in Sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of Executive Order 12988. Specifically, this rule: (a) Meets the criteria of section 3(a) requiring that all regulations be reviewed to eliminate errors and ambiguity and be written to minimize litigation; and (b) meets the criteria of section 3(b)(2) requiring that all regulations be written in clear language and contain clear legal standards.

B. Regulatory Planning and Review (Executive Order 12866)

This final rule is not a significant regulatory action and the OMB has not reviewed this rule under Executive Order 12866.

(a) This final rule will not have an effect of $100 million or more on the economy. Further, this rule will not adversely affect in a material way the economy, productivity, competition, jobs, the environment, public health or safety, or State, local, or tribal governments or communities. This rule combines two programs into one, reflecting a change to the Department’s budget, which consolidated funding for the two programs into one line item. The purpose of the program is to assist eligible applicants to obtain job skills and to find and retain a job leading to self-sufficiency. Any effect on productivity, competition, jobs, and tribal governments or communities will be positive.

(b) This final rule does not create a serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency. This rule encourages coordination with other agency programs offering job training and placement assistance. For example, the rule states that the Bureau will consider other available resources, including those offered by other agencies, in determining financial need; allows the Bureau or tribal service provider to enter into agreements with appropriate Federal, State, or local government agencies, among other organizations, to provide facilities and services required for vocational training programs; and encourages partnering with similar programs and resources that may be offered by other agencies or organizations.

(c) This final rule does not alter the budgetary effects of entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights or obligations of their recipients. This rule does not alter any budgetary effects or the rights or obligations of recipients to job placement and training services; the rule merely consolidates programs to reflect consolidation into one budget line item.

(d) This final rule does not raise novel legal or policy issues. The Bureau and tribal service providers have been providing the types of services covered by this now consolidated rule and the legal and policy basis for providing these services has been well established.

C. Regulatory Flexibility Act

This final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). This rule offers job training and placement assistance to certain eligible individuals and will not affect small entities.

D. Takings (Executive Order 12630)

The Department has determined that this final rule does not have significant "takings" implications. The final rule does not pertain to "taking" of private property interests, nor does it affect private property.

E. Federalism (Executive Order 13132)

The Department has determined that this final rule does not have significant federalism effects because it pertains solely to Federal-tribal relations and will not interfere with the roles, rights and responsibilities of States. Therefore, a Federalism Assessment is not required.

F. National Environmental Policy Act

The Department has determined that this final rule does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and that no detailed statement is required pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

G. Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995

This final rule imposes no unfunded mandates on any governmental or private entity and is in compliance with the provisions of the Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995. Additionally, this rule does not have a significant or unique effect on State, local, or tribal governments or the private sector. The rule addresses a program that offers assistance to eligible individuals to obtain job skills and to find and retain a job leading to self-sufficiency; it does not require any action or service by any governmental or private entity. A statement containing the information required by the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (2 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) is not required.

H. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

The information collection requirements contained in this final rule have been renewed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under 44 U.S.C. 3504(h). The OMB control number is 1076-0062. The authorization expires on March 31, 2011.

I. Consultation With Indian Tribes (Executive Order 13175)

In accordance with Executive Order 13175, we have identified potential effects on federally recognized Indian tribes that will result from this rule. This final rule will affect those tribes that provide job placement and training programs by consolidating the two CFR parts that had previously governed the assistance they provide. During the week of October 27, 2007, we met with tribes at the National Public Law 102-477 Conference to discuss changes in the regulations. We also discussed proposed changes during the Annual Alaska Providers Service Conference in November 2007. The proposed regulations have been a topic of discussion with tribes for more than the past 5 years. The proposed changes were discussed at the annual Adult Vocational Training Conference sponsored by Sinte Gleska College for several years. We have considered tribal views in the proposed rule as they were being developed for over 5 years with intensive tribal consultation and consequently the final rule had only one public comment and that comment was favorable.

J. Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act (SBREFA)

This rule is not a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804(2), the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act. This rule:

(a) Does not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. This rule combines two programs into one, reflecting a change to the Department's budget, which consolidated funding for the two programs into one line item.

(b) Will not cause a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. This rule will not affect costs or prices because it relates only to a job training and assistance program for eligible individuals.

(c) Does not have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises. The purpose of this rule's program is to assist eligible clients to obtain job skills and to find and retain a job leading to self-sufficiency. Any effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation or the ability of U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises will be positive, by providing more individuals with needed skills and job experience.

K. Information Quality Act

In developing this final rule we did not conduct or use a study, experiment, or survey requiring peer review under the Information Quality Act (Pub. L. 106-554).

L. Effects on the Energy Supply (E.O. 13211)

This final rule is not a significant energy action under the definition in Executive Order 13211. A Statement of Energy Effects is not required.

[Docket No. USCG-2009-0644]

RIN 1625-AA00

Safety Zones; Neptune Deep Water Port, Atlantic Ocean, Boston, MA

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DHS.

ACTION: Temporary final rule.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is establishing two temporary safety zones extending 500 meters in all directions from each of the two submerged turret-loading buoys and accompanying systems that are part of GDF Suez Energy's Neptune Deepwater Port located in the Atlantic Ocean off of Boston, Massachusetts. The purpose of these temporary safety zones is to protect vessels and mariners from the potential safety hazards associated with construction of the deepwater port facilities and the large sub-surface turret buoys, and to protect the deepwater port infrastructure. All vessels, with the exception of deepwater port support vessels, are prohibited from entering into, remaining or moving within either of the safety zones.

DATES: This rule is effective from July 31, 2009 through February 16, 2010.

ADDRESSES: Documents indicated in this preamble as being available in the docket are part of docket USCG-2009-0644 and are available online by going to <http://www.regulations.gov>, inserting USCG-2009-0644 in the "Keyword" box, and then clicking "Search." SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Regulatory Information

The Coast Guard is issuing this temporary final rule without prior notice and opportunity to comment pursuant to authority under section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act (APA) (5 U.S.C. 553(b)). This provision authorizes an agency to issue a rule without prior notice and opportunity to comment when the agency for good cause finds that those procedures are "impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest." Under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for not publishing a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) with respect to this rule. The deepwater port facilities discussed elsewhere in this rule are in the final stages of completion and present a potential safety hazard to vessels, especially fishing vessels, operating in the vicinity of submerged structures associated with the deepwater port facility.

These safety zones are needed pending implementation of a final regulatory scheme to protect vessels from the hazards posed by the presence of the currently uncharted, submerged deepwater infrastructure. Final regulations are being developed and are expected to be proposed in a notice of proposed rulemaking in a separate rulemaking docket, USCG-2009-0589. In the mean time, immediate action is necessary to protect vessels currently operating in the area from uncharted submerged hazards. Further, a delay or cancellation of this portion of the construction is contrary to the public's interest in the timely completion of this project.

For the same reasons given above, the Coast Guard also finds under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3) that good cause exists for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register.

Background and Purpose

On March 23, 2007, the Maritime Administration (MARAD), in accordance with the Deepwater Port Act of 1974, as amended, issued a license to Suez Energy to own, construct, and operate a natural gas deepwater port named "Neptune". Neptune Deepwater Port (NEPTUNE) is located in the Atlantic Ocean, approximately eight nautical miles South-southeast of Gloucester, Massachusetts, in Federal waters.

The Neptune Deepwater Port can accommodate the mooring, connecting, and offloading of two liquefied natural gas carriers (LNGCs) at one time. The Neptune Deepwater Port operator plans to offload LNGCs by regasifying the liquefied natural gas (LNG) on board the vessels. The regasified natural gas is then transferred through two submerged turret loading buoys, via a flexible riser
