Analysis of Agreement Containing Consent Order to Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission ("FTC" or "Commission") has accepted, subject to final approval, a consent agreement from Collectify, Inc. ("Collectify").

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for thirty (30) days for receipt of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After thirty (30) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received, and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement and take appropriate action or make final the agreement's proposed order.

This matter concerns alleged false or misleading representations that Collectify made to consumers concerning its participation in the Safe Harbor privacy framework ("Safe Harbor") agreed upon by the U.S. and the European Union ("EU"). It is among the Commission's first cases to challenge deceptive claims about the Safe Harbor. The Safe Harbor provides a mechanism for U.S. companies to transfer data outside the EU consistent with European law. To join the Safe Harbor, a company must self-certify to the U.S. Department of Commerce ("Commerce") that it complies with seven principles and related requirements. Commerce maintains a public website, (www.export.gov/safeharbor), where it posts the names of companies that have self-certified to the Safe Harbor. The listing of companies indicates whether their self-certification is "current" or "not current." Companies are required to re-certify every year in order to retain their status as "current" members of the Safe Harbor framework.

Collectify sells comprehensive cataloguing software to consumers over the internet, including through a website (www.collectify.com). According to the Commission's complaint, since at least September 2001, Collectify has set forth on its website, (www.collectify.com), privacy policies and statements about its practices, including statements related to its participation in the Safe Harbor privacy framework.

The Commission's complaint alleges that Collectify falsely represented that it was a current participant in the Safe Harbor when, in fact, from October 2004 until July 2009, Collectify was not a current participant in the Safe Harbor. The Commission's complaint alleges that in October 2001, Collectify submitted a Safe Harbor self-certification, which it renewed in October 2002 and October 2003. Collectify did not renew its self-certification in October 2004 and was in "not current" status on the Commerce website until it renewed its self-certification in July 2009.

Part I of the proposed order prohibits Collectify from making misrepresentations about its membership in any privacy, security, or any other compliance program sponsored by the government or any other third party.

Parts II through VI of the proposed order are reporting and compliance provisions. Part II requires Collectify to retain documents relating to its compliance with the order for a five-year period. Part III requires dissemination of the order now and in the future to persons with responsibilities relating to the subject matter of the order. Part IV ensures notification to the FTC of changes in corporate status. Part V mandates that Collectify submit an initial compliance report to the FTC, and make available to the FTC subsequent reports. Part VI is a provision "sunsetting" the order after twenty (20) years, with certain exceptions.

The purpose of the analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order or to modify in any way their terms.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark

Secretary.

Analysis of Agreement Containing Consent Order to Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission ("FTC" or "Commission") has accepted, subject to final approval, a consent agreement from World Innovators, Inc. ("World Innovators").

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for thirty (30) days for receipt of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After thirty (30) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received, and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement and take appropriate action or make final the agreement's proposed order.

This matter concerns alleged false or misleading representations that World Innovators made to consumers concerning its participation in the Safe Harbor privacy framework ("Safe Harbor") agreed upon by the U.S. and the European Union ("EU"). It is among the Commission's first cases to challenge deceptive claims about the Safe Harbor. The Safe Harbor provides a mechanism for U.S. companies to transfer data outside the EU consistent with European law. To join the Safe Harbor, a company must self-certify to the U.S. Department of Commerce ("Commerce") that it complies with seven principles and related requirements. Commerce maintains a public website, (www.export.gov/safeharbor), where it posts the names of companies that have self-certified to the Safe Harbor. The listing of companies indicates whether their self-certification is "current" or "not current." Companies are required to re-certify every year in order to retain their status as "current" members of the Safe Harbor framework.

World Innovators is a list broker that also sells marketing consulting services, including through its website (www.worldinnovators.com). According to the Commission's complaint, since at least November 2001, World Innovators has set forth on its website privacy policies and statements about its practices, including statements that it is a current participant in the Safe Harbor.

The Commission's complaint alleges that World Innovators falsely represented that it was a current participant in the Safe Harbor when, in fact, from September 2004 until July 2009, World Innovators was not a current participant in the Safe Harbor. Specifically, the Commission's complaint alleges that in September 2001, World Innovators submitted to Commerce a self-certification to the Safe Harbor and renewed that self-certification in September 2002 and September 2003. In September 2004, World Innovators did not renew its self-certification to the Safe Harbor, and Commerce updated its status to "not current" on its public website. World Innovators remained in "not current" status on Commerce's website until it submitted a new Safe Harbor self-certification in July 2009.

The proposed order applies to World Innovators' representations about its membership in any privacy, security, or any other compliance program sponsored by the government or any other third party. It contains provisions designed to prevent World Innovators from engaging in the future in practices similar to those alleged in the complaint.

Part I of the proposed order prohibits World Innovators from making misrepresentations about its membership in any privacy, security, or any other compliance program sponsored by the government or any other third party.

Parts II through VI of the proposed order are reporting and compliance provisions. Part II requires World Innovators to retain documents relating to its compliance with the order for a five-year period. Part III requires dissemination of the order now and in the future to persons with responsibilities relating to the subject matter of the order. Part IV ensures notification to the FTC of changes in corporate status. Part V mandates that World Innovators submit an initial compliance report to the FTC, and make available to the FTC subsequent reports.

Part VI is a provision “sunsetting” the order after twenty (20) years, with certain exceptions.

The purpose of the analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order or to modify in any way their terms.

By direction of the Commission.
