The Gemological Institute of America, Carlsbad, CA; the Gemological Institute of America, New York, NY; Notice of Revised Determination on Reconsideration

The initial investigation, initiated on July 8, 2009, resulted in a negative determination, issued on January 20, 2010, that was based on the findings that the workers' firm did not import services like or directly competitive with the services performed by the workers in 2007, 2008, or in January through June 2009 nor did the firm shift those services to a foreign country during the relevant time period; and that the workers' firm is not a supplier or downstream producer to a firm with a TAA-certified worker group. The notice of negative determination was published in the Federal Register on March 5, 2010 (75 FR 10323).

To support the request for reconsideration, the petitioner asserted that there had been a shift in production from the United States to India.

During the request for reconsideration, the Department obtained additional information that, since 2007, the subject firm had significantly increased its reliance on revenues from its overseas operations.

Conclusion

After careful review of the additional facts obtained on reconsideration, I determine that workers of The Gemological Institute of America, Carlsbad, California and New York, New York, who provide jewelry grading and educational services, meet the worker group certification criteria under Section 222(a) of the Act, 19 U.S.C. 2272(a). In accordance with Section 223 of the Act, 19 U.S.C. 2273, I make the following certification:

All workers of The Gemological Institute of America, Carlsbad, California (TA-W-71,600) and The Gemological Institute of America, New York, New York (TA-W-71,600A), who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after July 7, 2008, through two years from the date of this certification, and all workers in the group threatened with total or partial separation from employment on date of certification through two years from the date of certification, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Chapter 2 of Title II of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended.

Signed in Washington, DC, this 19th day of May 2010.

Del Min Amy Chen,

Certifying Officer, Division of Trade Adjustment Assistance.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The satellite carrier compulsory license establishes a statutory copyright licensing scheme for satellite carriers that retransmit television broadcast signals to satellite dish owners for their private home viewing. 17 U.S.C. 119. Congress created the license in 1988 with the passage of the Satellite Home Viewer Act of 1988. Congress reauthorized the license for additional five-year periods in 1994, 1999, and 2004, and the license was slated to expire on December 1, 2009. However, Congress again reauthorized the satellite license for another five years with the passage of the Satellite Television Extension and Localism Act of 2010, ("STELA"), Public Law No. 111-175, which was signed into law by the President on May 27, 2010.

Satellite carriers pay royalties based on a flat, per-subscriber, per-month fee. These rates were set initially by Congress in the Satellite Home Viewer Act of 1988 and then later adjusted by a three-person arbitration panel convened by the former Copyright Royalty Tribunal. 57 FR 129052 (May 1, 1992). When the license was reauthorized in 1994, Congress directed that the rates be adjusted by the Librarian of Congress using the system that replaced the Copyright Royalty Tribunal, namely, ad hoc Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panels ("CARPs") administered by the Librarian of Congress and the Copyright Office. Accordingly, the Librarian adjusted the rates in 1997. 62 FR 55742 (October 28, 1997). In the Satellite Home Viewer Improvement Act of 1999, which reauthorized the license for an additional five years, Congress reduced the rates set by the Librarian. When Congress again reauthorized the license under the Satellite Home Viewer Extension and Reauthorization Act of 2004 ("SHVERA"), copyright owners and satellite carriers reached separate voluntary agreements regarding the rates to be paid for analog and digital signals carried by satellite carriers; and the Librarian adopted the respective rates. See 70 FR 17320 (April 6, 2005) and 70 FR 39178 (July 7, 2005).

STELA, in which Congress authorizes the Copyright Royalty Judges to determine the applicable satellite royalty rates moving forward, requires adjustment of the current rates to be paid by satellite carriers for the secondary transmission of the primary transmission of network stations and superstations. See 17 U.S.C. 119(c)(1)(B) & (F). This notice begins the process mandated by the statute.

Voluntary Negotiation Period

Sections 119(c)(1)(B) of the Copyright Act, title 17 of the United States Code, provides that "[o]n or before June 1, 2010, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall cause to be published in the Federal Register [notice] of the initiation of the voluntary negotiation proceedings for the purpose of determining the royalty fee to be paid by satellite carriers * * * under subsection (b)(1)(B)." ² This notice initiates the voluntary negotiation period.

The statute provides that "[w]ithin 10 days after publication in the Federal Register of a notice of the initiation of voluntary negotiation proceedings, parties who have reached a voluntary agreement may request that the royalty fees in that agreement be applied to all satellite carriers, distributors, and copyright owners without convening a proceeding under subparagraph (F)." 17 U.S.C. 119(c)(1)(D)(ii)(I). In accordance with this provision, the voluntary negotiation period commences today, June 7, 2010, and concludes June 17, 2010.

If a voluntary agreement is reached by the end of the negotiation period, the parties can request that the Judges publish the agreement for notice and comment in accordance with section 119(c)(1)(D)(ii)(II) and adopt the rates in the voluntary agreement if no objections are received from a party with a significant interest and intention to participate in a proceeding. 17 U.S.C. 119(c)(1)(D)(ii)(III). If an objection to the voluntary agreement is received or if the parties are unable to reach a voluntary agreement, the Judges will commence a rate proceeding in accordance with ² Since STELA was not signed until May 27, 2010, this notice is being published as soon as practicable after its enactment.
