Background on Today's Action:

In this action, EPA is providing notice of a public hearing on the Call for Information on Inputs to Emission Equations Under the Mandatory Reporting of Greenhouse Gases Rule (hereinafter referred to as the "Call for Information," 75 FR 81366, December 27, 2010). In this action, EPA is also extending the public comment periods on the Call for Information and another action published on December 27, 2010, the proposed Change to the Reporting Date for Certain Data Elements Required Under the Mandatory Reporting of Greenhouse Gases Rule (hereinafter referred to as the "Proposed Deferral," 75 FR 81350).<sup>1</sup>

EPA received a request for a public hearing on the Call for information. Although EPA was not required to and did not provide for an opportunity to request a public hearing in the Call for information, EPA has decided to grant this request to accommodate the public in providing information and comment solicited in that notice. In addition, EPA is extending the public comment period for the Call for Information. The current deadline for submitting comment and information solicited in the Call for Information is February 25, 2011. EPA is extending this deadline to March 7, 2011 to provide the public additional time to submit comment and other relevant information, especially after the public hearing.

In addition, EPA is extending the public comment period for the Proposed Deferral. The current deadline for submitting public comment on that proposed rule is January 26, 2011. EPA is extending that deadline to March 7, 2011. This extension will provide the public additional time for public participation.

<sup>1</sup> EPA also concurrently published an Interim Final Regulation Deferring the Reporting Date for Certain Data Elements Required Under the Mandatory Reporting of Greenhouse Gases Rule (75 FR 81338), which is not affected by today's action.

I. Introduction

1. In this NPRM, the Commission solicits comment on whether to modify the existing rules governing the licensing and operation of TIS to expand the scope of permitted operations. Since the inception of TIS in 1977, the Commission has authorized TIS operations to permit Public Safety Pool eligible entities to transmit noncommercial travel-related information to motorists on a localized basis. However, certain parties and licensees have sought to expand the scope of TIS operations in order to transmit more general alerts and public safety-related information to the public, including non-motorists. By initiating this proceeding, the Commission grants petitions for rulemaking filed by HIS and the AASHTO requesting the commencement of a proceeding to amend the TIS rules. The Commission denies the petition for declaratory ruling regarding TIS filed by American Association of Information Radio Operators (AAIRO), but incorporate the issues raised in AAIRO's petition into this rulemaking proceeding.

II. Background

2. The Commission promulgated TIS operations in 1977 in order to "establish an efficient means of communicating certain kinds of information to travelers over low power radio transmitters licensed to Local Government entities." The Commission specifically noted that such stations had been used to reduce traffic congestion and to transmit "road conditions, travel restrictions, and weather forecasts to motorists." Further, the Commission anticipated that such stations also would be used to "transmit travel related emergency messages concerning natural disasters (e.g., forest fires, floods, etc.), traffic accidents and hazards, and related bulletins affecting the immediate welfare of citizens."

3. Commercial broadcasters opposed the creation of TIS, claiming that it would duplicate information provided by commercial broadcasts, including "comprehensive weather reports, reports of traffic conditions, names of gasoline stations, restaurants, and lodging conveyed through advertising." The broadcasters worried that this would siphon off advertising revenues. Other licensees averred that TIS operations would cause impermissible interference with their operations.

4. To address these concerns, the Commission prohibited TIS operators from transmitting "commercial" messages and emphasized that strict limits would be placed on other operational aspects of TIS licenses,
