

review the indemnification request and provide the board with a written opinion of counsel as to whether the conditions in paragraph (a)(1) through (3) of this section have been met. If independent legal counsel concludes the conditions have been met, the board of directors may rely on the opinion in authorizing the requested indemnification.

§ 750.6 Filing instructions; appeal.

(a) Requests to make excess nondiscriminatory severance plan payments pursuant to § 750.1(e)(2)(v) and golden parachute payments permitted by § 750.4 must be submitted in writing to NCUA. In the case of a Federal or state chartered natural person credit union, such written requests must be submitted to the NCUA regional director for the region in which the credit union is located. In the case of a Federal or state chartered corporate credit union, such written requests must be submitted to the Director of the Office of Corporate Credit Unions. The request must be in letter form and must contain all relevant factual information as well as the reasons why such approval should be granted. If written concurrence by the state supervisory authority is required, the requesting party must submit a copy of its written request to the state supervisory authority where the credit union is located.

(b) An FICU whose request for approval by NCUA in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section has been denied may file an appeal of that denial with the NCUA Board by following the procedures set out in this paragraph.

(1) The appeal must be in writing and filed with the Secretary of the Board, National Credit Union Administration, 1775 Duke Street, Alexandria, VA 22314-3428, and must be filed not later than sixty days after the initial determination denying the request.

(2) The Board shall make its determination concerning the appeal based on what is submitted in writing; there shall be no personal appearance before the Board in connection with an appeal under this paragraph.

(3) The Board shall make its determination concerning the appeal within 180 days from the date of its receipt of the appeal. The decision by the Board on appeal shall be provided to the appellant in writing, stating the reasons for the decision, and shall constitute a final agency decision. Failure by the Board to issue a decision on appeal within the 180-day period provided for under this section shall be deemed to be denial of such appeal.

(4) A final determination by the Board is reviewable in accordance with the provisions of chapter 7, title 5, United States Code, by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia or the U.S. District Court for the Federal judicial district where the FICU's principal place of business is located. Any request for judicial review under this section must be filed within 60 days of the date of the Board's final decision. If any appellant fails to file before the end of the 60-day period, the Board's decision shall be final, and the appellant shall have no further rights or remedies with respect to the request.

§ 750.7 Applicability in the event of liquidation or conservatorship.

The provisions of this part, or any consent or approval granted under the provisions of this part by NCUA, will not in any way bind any liquidating agent or conservator for a failed Federally insured credit union and will not in any way obligate the liquidating agent or conservator to pay any claim or obligation pursuant to any golden parachute, severance, indemnification or other agreement. Claims for employee welfare benefits or other benefits that are contingent, even if otherwise vested, when a liquidating agent or conservator is appointed for any Federally insured credit union, including any contingency for termination of employment, are not provable claims or actual, direct compensatory damage claims against such liquidating agent or conservator. Nothing in this part may be construed to permit the payment of salary or any liability or legal expense of any IAP contrary to 12 U.S.C. 1786(t)(3).

BILLING CODE 7535-01-P

NATIONAL CREDIT UNION ADMINISTRATION

12 CFR Part 740

RIN 3133-AD83

Accuracy of Advertising and Notice of Insured Status

AGENCY: National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The NCUA Board is amending certain provisions of NCUA's official advertising statement rule. Specifically, insured credit unions will be required to include the statement in a greater number of radio and television advertisements, annual reports, and statements of condition required to be published by law. The NCUA Board also is defining the term "advertisement" and clarifying size requirements for the official advertising statement in print materials.

DATES: The rule is effective June 27, 2011. To minimize the costs to credit unions and provide ample opportunity to prepare for the revisions, the mandatory compliance date is January 1, 2012.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Frank Kressman, Senior Staff Attorney, Office of General Counsel, at the above address or telephone (703) 518-6540.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

Section 740.5 of NCUA's regulations requires each insured credit union to include NCUA's official advertising statement in all of its advertisements, including on its main Internet page. 12 CFR 740.5(a). The official advertising statement is in substance as follows: "This credit union is federally insured by the National Credit Union Administration." Insured credit unions, at their option, may use the short title "Federally insured by NCUA" or a reproduction of NCUA's official sign, as depicted in § 740.4(b), as the official advertising statement. 12 CFR 740.4(b); 12 CFR 740.5(b).

The official advertising statement must be in a size and print that is clearly legible. 12 CFR 740.5(b). If the official sign is used as the official advertising statement, an insured credit union may alter the font size to ensure its legibility as provided in § 740.4(b)(2). 12 CFR 740.4(b)(2); 12 CFR 740.5(b).

As noted in the current rule, however, a number of advertisements need not include the official advertising statement.¹ Among those currently exempted advertisements are radio and television advertisements that do not exceed 30 seconds in time. In December 2010, the NCUA Board proposed to rescind these exemptions. 75 FR 82323 (December 30, 2010). In that proposal, NCUA stated that it believes it is important for consumers of those kinds of advertisements to know that the share accounts in the advertising credit union are Federally insured by NCUA. The NCUA Board also stated in the proposal that it believes the benefits to consumers and credit unions of rescinding these exemptions, namely, enhanced consumer confidence and NCUA name recognition, far outweigh the minor inconvenience associated with requiring the inclusion of the official advertising statement.

With respect to print advertisements, the NCUA Board proposed to clarify the requirement that the official advertising statement must be in a size and print that is clearly legible. 12 CFR 740.5(b). NCUA's regulations do not dictate a specific font size be used for the official advertising statement, and NCUA stated it continues to believe this makes sense considering advertisements can range from small magazine advertisements to very large billboard advertisements. The NCUA Board proposed to require, however, that in any particular advertisement, in addition to legibility, the font size for the official advertising statement may be no smaller than the smallest font size used in other portions of the advertisement intended to convey information to the consumer. 75 FR 82323 (December 30, 2010).

Also, the NCUA Board stated in the proposal that it believes an insured credit union's annual report and other statements of condition required to be published by law are significant and a form of advertisement and must include the official advertising statement in a prominent position. Accordingly, the NCUA Board proposed to amend § 740.5 in this regard. Id.

In summary, the proposal rescinded three exemptions from the general rule requiring the use of the official advertising statement. Those three include the official advertising statement, including but not limited to, promotional items such as calendars, matchbooks, pens, pencils, and key chains; (11) Advertisements that contain a statement to the effect that the credit union is insured by the National Credit Union Administration, or that its accounts and shares or members are insured by the Administration to the maximum insurance amount for each member or shareholder; (12) Advertisements that do not relate to member accounts, including but not limited to advertisements relating to loans by the credit union, safekeeping box business or services, traveler's checks on which the credit union is not primarily liable, and credit life or disability insurance. 12 CFR 740.5(c).

included radio and television advertisements that do not exceed 30 seconds in time and annual reports and other statements of condition required to be published by law. All other exemptions in § 740.5(c) remain in place.

Finally, the NCUA Board sought to clarify the advertising statement rule by proposing a definition of the term "advertisement" which had previously never been defined. Id. The proposed definition is consistent with that used by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in its official advertising statement rule. 12 CFR part 328.

B. Summary of Comments and Discussion

NCUA received only fourteen comments on the proposal. One commenter fully supported the proposal in its entirety. Thirteen commenters opposed some portion of it. The aspect of the proposal commenters expressed the most concern about is rescinding the exemption from using the official advertising statement for radio and television advertisements that do not exceed 30 seconds. Many commenters noted that radio advertisements are their most cost effective form of advertising and are often 10 seconds or less in duration. Commenters stated that requiring the use of the official advertising statement in such short advertisements would detract from their effectiveness or increase their cost. One commenter added this would also apply to short television advertisements. A number of commenters noted the added expense could cause some credit unions to reduce the number of advertisements they place.

NCUA is sensitive to the needs of credit unions to have access to affordable advertising outlets that effectively broadcast their messages. Accordingly, based on the comments, NCUA is amending the proposed requirement for using the official advertising statement with respect to radio and television advertisements. Specifically, NCUA will require the use of the official advertising statement for all radio and television advertisements 15 seconds in length or longer. In other words, all radio and television advertisements less than 15 seconds in duration are exempt from the requirement to use the official advertising statement. This adjustment, adopted in the final rule, exempts those advertisements commenters consider their most cost effective while still enhancing consumer confidence and NCUA name recognition.

Some commenters stated that if the radio and television advertisement aspect of the proposal is adopted, then NCUA should grandfather advertisements already made. Other commenters more generally asked for an extended compliance date if any aspect of the proposal is adopted. To accommodate these requests, although the effective date of the rule will be 30 days after publication in the Federal Register, the mandatory compliance date for this final rule is January 1, 2012. This should suffice to minimize any expense or operational disruptions related to the final rule.

A few commenters opposed having to include the official advertising statement on annual reports and statements of condition as they do not believe these documents are advertisements. Some of these commenters also asked for guidance from NCUA as to where they should place the official advertising statement on these documents. NCUA believes it is appropriate and minimally intrusive to include the statement in these documents. The statement must be legible and placed in a prominent position on the front cover of the document or on the first page readers see if there is no cover page.

With respect to the size requirement proposal for print advertisements, one commenter supported it, and six commenters opposed it stating it would complicate the current standard, reduce the effectiveness of print advertisements, or result in some credit unions placing fewer print ads. NCUA believes the proposed standard is fair, reasonable, and minimally intrusive so as not to confuse consumers or detract from the effectiveness of print ads. NCUA adopts it in the final rule.

Some commenters expressed concern about the proposed definition of the term "advertisement" as too broad. The proposed definition is the same as the current definition of "advertisement" used by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in its official advertising statement rule. 12 CFR part 328. NCUA believes the proposed definition is reasonable and not too broad, and NCUA adopts it in this final rule.

C. Regulatory Procedures

Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act requires NCUA to prepare an analysis to describe any significant economic impact a regulation may have on a substantial number of small credit unions (those under $10 million in assets). The amendments enhance consumer confidence and do not impose a burden on credit unions. Accordingly, the NCUA has determined and certifies that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small credit unions within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601–612.

Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act

The Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act (SBREFA) of 1996, Public Law 104–121, provides generally for congressional review of agency rules. A reporting requirement is triggered in instances where NCUA issues a final rule as defined by Section 551 of the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. 551. The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, an office within the Office of Management and Budget, has reviewed this rule and determined that, for purposes of SBREFA, this is not a major rule.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This rule does not contain a “collection of information” within the meaning of section 3502(3) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3502(3)) and would not increase paperwork requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 or regulations of the Office of Management and Budget.

Executive Order 13132

Executive Order 13132 encourages independent regulatory agencies to consider the impact of their actions on state and local interests. In adherence to fundamental federalism principles, NCUA, an independent regulatory agency as defined in 44 U.S.C. 3502(5), voluntarily complies with the executive order. This rule would not have substantial direct effect on the states, on the connection between the national government and the states, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. NCUA has determined that this rule does not constitute a policy that has federalism implications for purposes of the executive order.

The Treasury and General Government Appropriations Act, 1999—Assessment of Federal Regulations and Policies on Families

NCUA has determined that this rule would not affect family well-being within the meaning of section 654 of the Treasury and General Government Appropriations Act, 1999, Public Law 105–277, 112 Stat. 2681 (1998).

Advertisements, Credit unions, Signs and symbols.

By the National Credit Union Administration Board on May 19, 2011.

Mary F. Rupp,

Secretary of the Board.

For the reasons discussed above, the NCUA Board amends 12 CFR part 740 as follows:

PART 740—ACCURACY OF ADVERTISING AND NOTICE OF INSURED STATUS

■ 1. The authority citation for part 740 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 12 U.S.C. 1766, 1781, 1785, and 1789.

■ 2. Amend § 740.1 by redesignating current paragraphs (b) and (c) as paragraphs (c) and (d), respectively, and by adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 740.1 Definitions.

* * * * *

(b) Advertisement as used in this part means a commercial message, in any medium, that is designed to attract public attention or patronage to a product or business.

* * * * *

■ 3. Amend § 740.5(a) as follows:

■ a. Revise paragraph (a).

■ b. Revise the third sentence of paragraph (b).

■ c. Remove paragraph (c)(1) and redesignate paragraphs (c)(2) through (c)(12) as paragraphs (c)(1) through (c)(11) respectively.

■ d. Revise redesignated paragraphs (c)(7) and (c)(8).

The revisions read as follows:

§ 740.5 Requirements for the official advertising statement.

(a) Each insured credit union must include the official advertising statement, prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section, in all of its advertisements including, but not limited to, annual reports and statements of condition required to be published by law, and on its main Internet page, except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section. For annual reports and statements of condition required to be published by law, an insured credit union must place the official advertising statement in a prominent position on the cover page of such documents or on the first page a reader sees if there is no cover page.

* * * * *

(b) * * * The official advertising statement must be in a size and print that is clearly legible and may be no smaller than the smallest font size used in other portions of the advertisement intended to convey information to the consumer. * * *

Federal Aviation Administration

14 CFR Part 25

[Docket No. NM400; Special Conditions No. 25–388A–SC]

Special Conditions: Boeing Model 747–8/–8F Airplanes, Interaction of Systems and Structures

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final special conditions.

SUMMARY: These special conditions amend Special Conditions No. 25–388–SC for the Boeing Model 747–8/–8F airplanes. These special conditions were previously issued July 29, 2009, and became effective September 10, 2009. These special conditions are being amended to include additional criteria addressing the Outboard Aileron Modal Suppression System. The 747–8/–8F will have novel or unusual design features when compared to the state of technology envisioned in the airworthiness standards for transport category airplanes. These design features include their effects on the structural performance. These special conditions contain the additional safety standards that the Administrator considers necessary to establish a level of safety equivalent to that established by the existing airworthiness standards. Additional special conditions will be issued for other novel or unusual design features of the 747–8/–8F airplanes.

DATES: Effective Date: June 27, 2011.
