SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of the Interior is creating the DOI Social Networks system of records. The purpose of this system is to allow the Department of the Interior to interact with the public using third party or commercial social media applications. These applications facilitate the sharing of information and ideas between the Department of the Interior and the public. Many social media applications require users to register or provide information to utilize their services. While the Department of the Interior may use social media applications to connect with the public in an official capacity, information provided by an individual to register with the third party site is rarely shared with the Department. Information collected and stored by the social media applications is subject to the third party privacy policies posted on their Web sites. The Department of the Interior may receive contact information from the third party site for individuals who wish to have further contact with the Department for additional communications such as dissemination of information for an upcoming event, notification of an emergency or breaking news, or solicitation of feedback about a program. The Department may also receive user names or e-mails for individuals who have commented or submitted information on a Department of the Interior section on a social media Web site. The Department may also receive information indirectly from social media sites as part of specific programs or initiatives.

The Department may use social media applications to share information with the public, to collect ideas and comments submitted by the public, and to promote participation and collaboration with the public. A list of the Department of the Interior's Social Media presence can be found at: <http://www.doi.gov/news/Social-Media.cfm>. The information provided by the Department on these social media sites is also available on Department of the Interior public Web sites. If the Department is requesting feedback from the public through the use of a social media site, an alternative DOI e-mail address will also be provided so that the public may interact with the Department without having to use the social media site. When an individual submits an e-mail directly to the Department, the Department will maintain the individual's e-mail, and any other personal information provided in their e-mail, in accordance with applicable records retention policy. All interactions by the public are voluntary. The Department of the Interior's Social Media Policy can be found at: <http://www.doi.gov/notices/Social-Media-Policy.cfm>.

The system will be effective as proposed at the end of the comment period (the comment period will end 40 days after the publication of this notice in the Federal Register), unless comments are received that would require a contrary determination. DOI will publish a revised notice if changes are made based upon a review of the comments received.

II. Privacy Act

The Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, embodies fair information principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which Federal agencies collect, maintain, use, and disseminate individuals' personal information. The Privacy Act applies to information that is maintained in a "system of records." A "system of records" is a group of any records under the control of an agency for which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual. The Privacy Act defines an individual as a United States citizen or lawful permanent resident. As a matter of policy, DOI extends administrative Privacy Act protections to all individuals. Individuals may request access to their own records that are maintained in a system of records in the possession or under the control of DOI by complying with DOI Privacy Act Regulations, 43 CFR part 2.

The Privacy Act requires each agency to publish in the Federal Register a description denoting the type and character of each system of records that the agency maintains, the routine uses that are contained in each system in order to make agency record keeping practices transparent, to notify individuals regarding the uses of their records, and to assist individuals to more easily find such records within the agency. Below is the description of the Department of the Interior Social Networks system of records.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), DOI has provided a report of this system of records to the Office of Management and Budget and to Congress.

III. Public Disclosure

Before including your address, phone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment—including your personal identifying information—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

Dated: July 5, 2011.

Karen Burke,
OS/NBC Privacy Act Officer.

Background Information

Section 9 of the Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) and its implementing Federal regulations prohibit the "take" of fish or wildlife species listed as endangered or threatened. "Take" is defined under the Act to include the following activities: To harass, harm, pursue, hunt, shoot, wound, kill, trap, capture or collect listed animal species, or to attempt to engage in such conduct. However, under section 10(a)(1)(B) of the Act, we may issue permits to authorize incidental take of listed species. "Incidental take" is defined by the Act as take that is incidental to, and not the purpose of, carrying out an otherwise
