\textbf{AGENCY:} Social Security Administration (SSA)

\textbf{ACTION:} Notice; Request for Comments.

\textbf{SUMMARY:} We are considering changing our policy about assigning new SSNs to children age 13 and under. child’s SSN to a police officer when stopped for a traffic violation.

We would no longer require proof that the number holder was disadvantaged due to the misuse in any of the three situations outlined above.

Request for Comments
We are requesting comments concerning the proposed policy change for assigning new SSNs to children age 13 and under. We ask that, in preparing comments, you address questions such as:

1. Is age 13 the appropriate cut off for application of the revised policy?
2. Are the circumstances that we propose for assigning a new SSN to children age 13 and under appropriate?
3. Are there other situations that we would warrant assigning a new SSN to children age 13 and under?

Please see the information under ADDRESSES earlier in this document for methods to give us your comments. We will not respond to your comments, but we will consider them as we review our policies and instructions to determine if we should revise or update them.

Michael J. Astrue,
Commissioner of Social Security.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

Background
A person who receives benefits from us may be unable to manage those benefits for reasons such as his or her young age or mental or physical impairment. In these cases, we select a representative payee if we believe that representative payment, rather than direct payment of benefits, will serve the beneficiary’s interest. Generally, we appoint a representative payee if we determine that the beneficiary is not able to manage or direct the management of benefit payments in his or her interest. The representative payee may be an organization or a person, such as a parent, relative, or friend of the beneficiary. We require the representative payee to use the money in the beneficiary’s best interest and to report the expenditures to us to ensure that the representative payee is using the funds appropriately. Our policies on appointing representative payees and their use of benefits are designed to protect the beneficiaries’ interests.

When a person or an organization requests to serve as a representative payee, we investigate the potential representative payee to help ensure that the person or organization will perform the duties of a representative payee responsibly and in the beneficiary’s best interests. When we investigate, we look at factors such as the potential representative payee’s relationship to the beneficiary, any past performance as a representative payee for other beneficiaries, and any criminal history the potential representative payee may have.

The Act prohibits certain groups of persons from serving as representative payees due to their criminal history. For example, the Act prohibits from serving as representative payees persons convicted of Social Security fraud and persons who are fleeing to avoid prosecution, or custody or confinement after conviction, of a felony, or an attempt to commit a felony. In other cases, the Act gives us discretion to determine whether it would be appropriate to appoint someone as a representative payee despite his or her criminal history.

The Act provides that we may not certify payment of benefits to a person as a representative payee if that person has been convicted of an offense under Federal or State law that results in imprisonment for more than 1 year, “unless the Commissioner determines that such certification would be appropriate notwithstanding such conviction.”

Over 5.5 million of our beneficiaries have a representative payee. Most representative payees serve beneficiaries appropriately. Given the sheer size of our representative payment program, however, we occasionally find that a
