Outline

- I. Background
- II. Analysis of the State's Submittal
- III. Final Action
- IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

I. Background

The Texas Low Emission Diesel (TxLED) fuel program was initially approved by EPA on November 14, 2001 (66 FR 57196). It was revised on April 6, 2005 (70 FR 17321), October 6, 2005 (70 FR 58325), and October 24, 2008 (73 FR 63378). The TxLED fuel is similar to CARB (California Air Resources Board) diesel and is required for use by on-highway vehicles and non-road equipment (including marine vessels) in 110 counties in eastern and central Texas. Use of this boutique diesel fuel reduces NO_x emissions.

Texas submitted a revision to the TxLED rules on September 19, 2012. The rulemaking revises definitions; establishes new designated alternative limits for TxLED fuel properties; removes expired registration requirements and establishes new registration requirements for identifying production and import facilities; revises approval procedures for alternative diesel fuel formulations; specifies that the approvals of all additive-based alternative diesel fuel formulations will be subject to revocation if the composition of the additive is found to be altered; allows all alternative diesel formulations approved by the TCEQ prior to April 1, 2012, to remain in effect; revises reporting requirements to include production and import facility data; requires alternative emission reduction plans using the Unified Model to determine compliance each calendar quarter; removes expired early gasoline sulfur reduction credits provisions; and makes other clarifying changes as needed for accuracy and consistency.

II. Analysis of the State's Submittal

We compared the rule revisions for stringency against the rule language in the approved SIP. Revisions are made to the following sections: § 114.6, Definitions; § 114.312, Low Emission Diesel Standards; § 114.313, Designated Alternative Limits; § 114.314, Registration of Diesel Producers and Importers; § 114.315, Approved Test Methods; § 114.316, Monitoring, Recordkeeping, and Reporting Requirements; § 114.317 Exemptions to Low Emission Diesel Requirements; § 114.318, Alternative Emission Reduction Plan; § 114.319, Affected Counties and Compliance Dates.

We found that the revisions to the rule did not compromise the integrity of the approved SIP. In some cases, the revisions made the rule more stringent than the approved SIP. See the Technical Support Document that accompanies this action for a detailed analysis of the revisions.

III. Final Action

Pursuant to section 110 of the Act, EPA is approving revisions to the TxLED rule that were submitted on September 19, 2012. We evaluated the State's submittal and determined that it meets the applicable requirements of the Clean Air Act (CAA) section 110. Approval of this submittal will not result in any increase in ozone concentration levels. In accordance with CAA section 110(l), these revisions will not interfere with attainment of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS), Rate of Progress, reasonable further progress, or any other applicable requirement of the CAA.

EPA is publishing this rule without prior proposal because we view this as a non-controversial amendment and anticipate no adverse comments. However, in the proposed rules section of this Federal Register publication, we are publishing a separate document that will serve as the proposal to approve the SIP revision if relevant adverse comments are received. This rule will be effective on July 5, 2013 without further notice unless we receive adverse comment by June 5, 2013. If we receive adverse comments, we will publish a timely withdrawal in the Federal Register informing the public that the rule will not take effect. We will address all public comments in a subsequent final rule based on the proposed rule. We will not institute a second comment period on this action. Any parties interested in commenting must do so now. Please note that if we receive adverse comment on an amendment, paragraph, or section of this rule and if that provision may be severed from the remainder of the rule, we may adopt as final those provisions of the rule that are not the subject of an adverse comment.

IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

Under the Clean Air Act, the Administrator is required to approve a SIP submission that complies with the provisions of the Act and applicable Federal regulations. 42 U.S.C. 7410(k); 40 CFR 52.02(a). Thus, in reviewing SIP submissions, EPA's role is to approve state choices, provided that they meet the criteria of the Clean Air Act. Accordingly, this action merely approves state law as meeting Federal requirements and does not impose additional requirements beyond those imposed by state law. For that reason, this action:

- is not a "significant regulatory action" subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12866 (58 FR 51735, October 4, 1993);
- does not impose an information collection burden under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.);
- is certified as not having a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.);
- does not contain any unfunded mandate or significantly or uniquely affect small governments, as described in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104-4);
- does not have Federalism implications as specified in Executive Order 13132 (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999);
- is not an economically significant regulatory action based on health or safety risks subject to Executive Order 13045 (62 FR 19885, April 23, 1997);
- is not a significant regulatory action subject to Executive Order 13211 (66 FR 28355, May 22, 2001);

- is not subject to requirements of Section 12(d) of the National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act of 1995 (15 U.S.C. 272 note) because application of those requirements would be inconsistent with the Clean Air Act; and

- does not provide EPA with the discretionary authority to address, as appropriate, disproportionate human health or environmental effects, using practicable and legally permissible methods, under Executive Order 12898 (59 FR 7629, February 16, 1994).

In addition, this rule does not have tribal implications as specified by Executive Order 13175 (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000), because the SIP is not approved to apply in Indian country located in the state, and EPA notes that it will not impose substantial direct costs on tribal governments or preempt tribal law.

The Congressional Review Act, 5 U.S.C. section 801 et seq., as added by the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, generally provides that before a rule may take effect, the agency promulgating the rule must submit a rule report, which includes a copy of the rule, to each House of the Congress and to the Comptroller General of the United States. EPA will submit a report containing this action and other required information to the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the Comptroller General of the United States prior to publication of the rule in the Federal Register. A major rule cannot take effect until 60 days after it is published in the Federal Register. This action is not a “major rule” as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

Under section 307(b)(1) of the Clean Air Act, petitions for judicial review of this action must be filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the appropriate circuit by July 5, 2013. Filing a petition for reconsideration by the Administrator of this final rule does not affect the finality of this action for the purposes of judicial review nor does it extend the time within which a petition for judicial review may be filed, and shall not postpone the effectiveness of such rule or action. This action may not be challenged later in proceedings to enforce its requirements. (See section 307(b)(2).)
