2006 Biennial Regulatory Review

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Correcting amendments.

SUMMARY: The Federal Communications Commission published a document in the Federal Register on February 6, 2013 (78 FR 8417), revising Commission rules. This document corrects the final regulation by revising certain provisions.

DATES: Effective on May 17, 2013.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William Bell, Satellite Division, International Bureau, at 202–418–0741 or via email at William.Bell@fcc.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Communications Commission published a rule on February 6, 2013 which became effective on March 8, 2013. That document listed incorrect cross-references in the introductory text in § 25.221(b) and, due to paragraph mis-numbering, inadvertently replaced § 25.221(a)(7), which should not have been changed, with a slightly revised version of the text in § 25.221(a)(8).

Synopsis of Reconsideration Order

1. On November 18, 2011, the Commission released the USF/ICC Transformation Order and FNPRM, 76 FR 73830, November 29, 2011, which comprehensively reforms and modernizes the universal service and intercarrier compensation systems. In that Order, the Commission directed the Wireline Competition Bureau and Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (Bureaus) to conduct a survey of residential urban rates for voice services. Specifically, the Commission directed the Bureaus to "develop a methodology to survey a representative sample of facilities-based fixed voice service providers taking into account the relative categories of fixed voice providers as determined in the most recent FCC Form 477 data collection." The Commission also delegated "authority to conduct an annual survey of urban broadband rates, if necessary, in order to derive a national range of rates for broadband service" and "to monitor urban broadband offerings, including by conducting an annual survey, in order to specify an appropriate minimum for usage allowances and to adjust such a minimum over time." In the accompanying FNPRM, the Commission sought comment on various issues associated with determining reasonable comparability for voice and broadband rates.

2. In response to the Commission's direction, the Wireline Competition Bureau (Bureau) released a Public Notice, 77 FR 52279, August 29, 2012, seeking comment on the format and content of a proposed survey of urban rates for fixed voice and fixed broadband residential services. The Bureau also sought to further develop the record on how we could use the data collected in the survey to determine the local voice rate floor and the reasonable comparability benchmarks for fixed voice and fixed broadband services.

3. In the USF/ICC Transformation Order and FNPRM, the Commission asked if it should "separately collect data on fixed and mobile voice telephony rates." In the Public Notice, we sought more detailed comment specifically on the development of a survey for fixed services. We now adopt a survey that collects data for fixed services.

4. We adopt a fixed-services specific survey because we have decided not to create a national average urban rate that represents a blended rate derived from both fixed and mobile data. We conclude that the differences in rate plans and other attributes of fixed and mobile services would make it inordinately difficult to create a unified benchmark. Accounting for all of these differences would require collecting substantial additional information as well as making numerous assumptions that could greatly complicate the development of the national average. For example, fixed and mobile voice offerings often differ in pricing structure, with fixed voice providers charging for unlimited calling in the local calling area and mobile providers charging for a bucket of any-distance minutes. Similarly, fixed and mobile broadband offerings typically differ substantially in speed and capacity allowances. Generating a blended fixed and mobile rate would require accounting for the various innate properties of each service to make them "comparable." Such a comparison would require assumptions about which service characteristics might be adjusted, and collection and analysis of data to understand customers' valuation of such characteristics, both of which would be resource intensive.

5. In other respects, the Bureaus are continuing to consider the best approach to implementing the reasonable comparability requirements with respect to supported fixed and mobile services. In particular, some nationwide providers have argued that they should be able to meet the Commission's reasonable comparability benchmarks by certifying that they charge the same prices in rural as urban areas. We will address such arguments in a future order.

6. Because we anticipate announcing reasonable comparability benchmarks derived from survey data after the deadline for the July 1, 2013 ETC annual reports, ETCs (both fixed and mobile) subject to section 54.313 of the Commission's rules are not expected to make any certification that their voice service rates are reasonably comparable to the national average urban voice rate, as required in section 54.313(a)(10), in their 2013 annual reports. Instead, this requirement will be initially implemented in the 2014 annual reports.

7. Survey Format and Sample Selection. As proposed in the Public Notice, we intend to implement this survey through an online reporting form
