Stainless Steel Plate in Coils From Belgium, South Africa, and Taiwan: Notice of Court Decision Not in Harmony With Final Scope Ruling and Notice of Amended Final Scope Ruling Pursuant to Court Decision

AGENCY: Import Administration, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

SUMMARY: On September 7, 2012, the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (CAFC) issued a decision not in harmony with the final determination of the Department of Commerce (the Department) that stainless steel plate in coils (SSPC) from Belgium, South Africa, and Taiwan with a nominal thickness of 4.75 millimeters (mm), but an actual thickness of less than 4.75 mm, is subject to the AD and CVD Orders on SSPC.¹ On March 26, 2013, the United States Court of International Trade (CIT) sustained the Department's results of redetermination issued in accordance with the CAFC's decision in ArcelorMittal.² Those results of redetermination found that SSPC with an actual thickness of less than 4.75 mm, regardless of its nominal thickness, is not subject to the AD and CVD Orders on SSPC.³ Consistent with the CAFC's decision in Timken Co. v. United States, 893 F.2d 337 (Fed. Cir. 1990) (Timken), as clarified by Diamond Sawblades Mfrs. Coalition v. United States, 626 F.3d 1374 (Fed. Cir. 2010) (Diamond Sawblades), the Department is notifying the public that the final CAFC judgment in this case is not in harmony with the Department's final determination and is amending its Final Scope Ruling concerning SSPC with a

Because the description of the scopes in the multiple SSPC orders is identical and given the nature of the inquiry, the Department has considered it appropriate pursuant to 19 CFR 351.225(m) to conduct a single inquiry and issue a single scope ruling that applies to all such orders. See Notice of Amended Final Determinations: Stainless Steel Plate in Coils from Belgium and South Africa; and Notice of Countervailing Duty Orders: Stainless Steel Plate in Coils from Belgium, Italy and South Africa, 64 FR 25288 (May 11, 1999); Antidumping Duty Orders; Certain Stainless Steel Plate in Coils From Belgium, Canada, Italy, the Republic of Korea, South Africa, and Taiwan, 64 FR 27756 (May 21, 1999); Notice of Amended Antidumping Duty Orders; Certain Stainless Steel Plate in Coils From Belgium, Canada, Italy, the Republic of Korea, South Africa, and Taiwan, 68 FR 11520 (March 11, 2003); and Notice of Amended Countervailing Duty Orders; Certain Stainless Steel Plate in Coils From Belgium, Italy, and South Africa, 68 FR 11524 (March 11, 2003) (collectively, AD and CVD Orders). The antidumping orders on SSPC from Italy and South Korea and the countervailing duty order on Belgium were revoked effective August 31, 2011, November 16, 2011, and July 18, 2010, respectively. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Having received a scope inquiry request from ArcelorMittal Stainless Belgium N.V. (AMS Belgium),⁵ the Department, on December 3, 2008, issued its Final Scope Ruling in which it relied upon 19 CFR 351.225(k)(2) to determine that SSPC with a nominal thickness of 4.75mm, but with an actual thickness less than 4.75mm, is included within the scope of the AD and CVD Orders.⁶

Following a request for a voluntary remand, the CIT remanded the Final Scope Ruling to the Department to reconsider whether SSPC with a nominal thickness of 4.75 mm, but an actual thickness of less than 4.75 mm, is subject to the AD and CVD Orders.⁷ In remanding the case, the Court directed the Department to apply 19 CFR 351.225, in conjunction with the decisions of the CAFC in Duferco Inc. v. United States, 296 F.3d 1087 (Fed. Cir. 2002), and Tak Fat Trading Co. v. United States, 396 F.3d 1378 (Fed. Cir. 2005).⁸

On remand, the Department re-examined the language of the scope and, based in part upon interpreting the language in the context of the SSPC industry, determined it to be ambiguous as to whether it covers SSPC with a nominal thickness of 4.75 mm, but an actual thickness of less than 4.75 mm.⁹ Having found the scope language ambiguous, the Department then analyzed the criteria specified by 19 CFR 351.225(k)(1), i.e., "descriptions of the merchandise contained in the petition, the initial investigation, and the determinations of the Secretary (including prior scope determinations) and the {International Trade
