SYSTEM OF RECORDS NO.: PD&R/ RRE.02

SYSTEM NAME: Family Self-Sufficiency Program Demonstration Data.

SYSTEM LOCATION: MDRC 16 East 34th Street, New York, NY 10016–4326; Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 7th St. SW., Washington DC 20410; Iron Mountain, 1101 Enterprise Drive, Royersford, PA 19468.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THIS SYSTEM:
Participants in the Family Self-Sufficiency Program Demonstration Data.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM: The dataset will contain the following categories of records: 1. Output of random assignment process: Identify treatment group status, sample ID and research ID. 2. Responses to baseline information form: This initial survey collects PII, including social security number, full name, date of birth, public housing authority household ID number, address, phone numbers, email addresses, and contact information of family or friends. In addition, it will collect demographic data, family status, household composition, employment status, and income. 3. Responses to follow-up survey: Respondents’ subjective assessments of FSS; respondents’ experiences with other public housing programs; respondents’ earning of degrees and credentials; involvement in education, training, and employment services; respondent and household income; material hardship; family well-being; savings, debt, and financial behaviors; household demographics; housing circumstances and conditions. 4. Administrative data: Data on households available through HUD administrative data collections will be brought into the dataset directly from participating public housing authorities and extracted from HUD’s Inventory Management System, including information pertaining to family structure, household size, household assets, household income, total tenant payment and subsidy amount, FSS escrow account eligibility, timing and amount of FSS escrow account contributions, withdrawals from FSS escrow account, eligibility for Section 8 housing, residence status in public housing, and participation in other HUD programs. 5. Management information system data: When necessary, each study site will include information about FSS pre-employment, education, and training services providers will be collected, including service type, service referral, start and end dates, end reason, degree/credential receipt, and supportive services payment types. 6. Data from State Unemployment Insurance systems and other administrative systems outside of HUD: In addition to the data collected through the follow-up survey, the FSS Demonstration Data will also include quarterly data drawn from the Unemployment Insurance (UI) system on employment, earnings, and UI benefit receipt. It may also include data on receipt of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits and Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) benefits collected from the responsible entities in each study site.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM: Section 502(g) of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 (Public Law 91–609) (12 U.S.C. 1701z-1; 1701z-2(d) and (g)).

PURPOSE(S): The purpose of the FSS Demonstration is to evaluate the impact of the FSS program. The FSS Demonstration is a random-assignment study to evaluate the effectiveness of the Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Program. FSS has operated since 1992 and serves voucher holders and residents of public housing. The FSS program offers participants case management plus an escrow account in which they must deposit a proportion of any increased earnings during the time they stay in the program. The FSS program aims to help participants increase their earnings. To do this, HUD previously funded two studies of the FSS program, but neither can tell us how well families would have done in the absence of the program. The FSS Demonstration will compare FSS participants to nonparticipants in terms of employment, earnings and housing stability over several years. Because participants and non-participants will be randomly assigned instead of self-selected, the FSS Demonstration findings will allow us to attribute participant gains to the impact of the program. This study will provide... critical information for developing policies that truly support families toward self-sufficiency. The findings of the FSS Demonstration can inform decisions about the modification or expansion of the FSS program. Furthermore, the FSS Demonstration is in direct service of the mission of HUD’s Office of Policy Development and Research, which is to “inform policy development and implementation to improve life in American communities through conducting, supporting, and sharing research, surveys, demonstrations, program evaluations, and best practices.” In sum, the purposes of the FSS Demonstration are (1) to find out if the FSS program helps families achieve self-sufficiency and (2) to provide policy makers with insight into how policy can best help families achieve self-sufficiency.
