SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background: Inmate violence and vandalism have been pervasive in American jails. This is a result of our traditional approach to detention, which focuses primarily on physically containing inmates with the use of locks, steel doors, security glass, and bars. In traditional jails, physical barriers separate staff and inmates. As a result, inmates receive little supervision and are essentially left to their own devices. This creates a dangerous environment for both inmates and staff. Podular direct supervision combines a physical plant design with inmate management techniques to shift control of the jail from inmates to staff, which can significantly reduce inmate violence, vandalism, and other problematic behaviors. NIC provides training, technical assistance, and information to local jails on podular direct supervision. Scope of Work: The production company will see the DVD production through from beginning to end. The company will provide staff, equipment, and other resources necessary for all aspects of DVD production. The company will provide music, professional voice-over narration, and other talent necessary for the complete production.

Project Director

The production company will assign one staff to oversee the project and work with NIC on all production phases.

NIC Oversight and Approval

NIC will work closely with the production company throughout the project to ensure personnel understand podular direct supervision and that it is portrayed accurately in every detail of the DVD. NIC will be available for questions and quality assurance through all project phases. Each step of the production process will require NIC’s approval.

Production company staff must be readily available for up to 5 face-to-face meetings with NIC staff when necessary. These meetings will take place at the NIC offices in Washington, DC, or other agreed upon location. NIC will make provisions for telephone conferences or meetings through electronic media as needed.

The project kickoff meeting will take place shortly after the cooperative agreement is awarded. During this meeting, production company staff and NIC will discuss direct supervision and all project activities.

Scriptwriting

NIC anticipates using the script from a previous NIC video on this subject as a basis for the new DVD. This script may need revision, but it covers all concepts to be included in the DVD. Working with NIC, the production company will produce the final written script for the video.

Talent

The production company will provide a professional voice-over narrator for the video and other talent deemed necessary during the scripting process. NIC does not anticipate hiring professional actors for filming. NIC will arrange for individuals to participate in filmed interviews and staged events, such as meetings.

Filming Locations

Filming and interviews will take place at up to 5 jails throughout the United States. The production company will film inside jails, including inmate housing units, booking rooms, administrative areas, and meeting rooms. NIC will identify and confirm all filming sites. NIC staff will accompany the film crew to the filming sites.
