

The Terrorism Risk Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2007,⁸ in relevant part, further extended the Program through December 31, 2014, and amended section 108 of TRIA to require an ongoing analysis regarding the long-term availability and affordability of insurance for terrorism risk. The President's Working Group subsequently submitted a report updating its analysis in 2010⁹ and is required to submit another report by September 30, 2013. The analysis performed by the President's Working Group is to be done in consultation with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, representatives of the insurance industry, representatives of the securities industry, and representatives of policy holders.¹⁰ Treasury seeks comment from these and any other interested parties to assist the President's Working Group in drafting the forthcoming report.

II. General Solicitation for Comments

Treasury solicits comments on behalf of the President's Working Group, including information in support of such comments where appropriate and available, regarding the long-term availability and affordability of insurance for terrorism risk since 2010, when the President's Working Group issued its last report. Identify and explain any and all factors relating to the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance, and particularly how these factors have affected the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance since 2010.

III. Solicitation for Specific Comments

TRIA Termination Considerations

(1) Describe and explain in detail any and all possible ramifications from the termination of the Program on December 31, 2014, including any available evidence to support the predicted result, regarding:

(a) The availability and affordability of insurance for terrorism risk in the United States generally;

(b) The availability and affordability of insurance for terrorism risk in the United States specifically by line of business; geographic location, including the rating tiers defined by the Insurance

Services Office, Inc.; and other relevant characteristics; and

(c) Additional specific effects on commerce in the United States.

(2) If the Program were to continue beyond December 31, 2014, describe and explain in detail any revisions or modifications to the Program that would promote the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance, including any accompanying challenges that might arise from any proposed revisions or modifications to the Program. All views regarding the appropriate role of the federal government in supporting the availability and affordability of insurance for terrorism risk are welcome.

Insurance Market Considerations

(3) Describe and explain the ability of the insurance industry to model, quantify, and underwrite terrorism risk, and the resulting impact of such analysis on the availability and affordability of terrorism insurance, including an examination of the price (by line of business, location of risk, and other relevant characteristics) and coverage options for terrorism insurance.

(4) Describe and explain, with supporting information where available, any additional insurance market considerations that could impact the long-term availability and affordability of terrorism insurance (e.g. implications for coverage of insurance for nuclear, biological, chemical, and radiological acts of terrorism; cyber acts of terrorism; and terrorism in workers' compensation policies).

(5) Explain and describe in general the demand (or "take-up") of terrorism insurance and provide specific data and information, where available, regarding the take-up rate by line of business, location of the risk, and other relevant characteristics.

Reinsurance Considerations

(6) Describe and explain in detail the long-term availability and affordability of private reinsurance for terrorism risk. Analyze, with supporting information, the impact of the Program, and any changes to the Program, on the private reinsurance market for terrorism risk, including any accompanying challenges that might arise from revisions or modifications to the Program.

Additional Consideration

(8) Describe and explain any other developments, considerations, or market issues that might affect the long-term availability and affordability of terrorism risk insurance.

IV. Further Consultation

In addition to the consultation facilitated through this request for comment, the President's Working Group may continue to consult with interested parties through meetings, public discussions, or further written comment.
