are not inconsistent with section 202(a) of the Act.

D. Other Issues

The 2000 rulemaking required the addition of information to the emission control label for urban bus engines to help identify the engines certified to the optional emission standards.\textsuperscript{56} CARB asserts that because the labels do not pertain to a manufacturer’s ability to certify and produce engines that comply with the applicable emission standards, the emission control label specifications are not standards or accompanying enforcement procedures.\textsuperscript{57} The specifications are, however, subject to federal preemption under CAA section 209(a) because the specifications are a condition precedent to the initial retail sale of the new engines in California.\textsuperscript{58} EPA has stated that “once California has received a waiver of federal preemption for its standards and enforcement procedures for a class of vehicles, it may adopt other conditions precedent to the initial retail sale, titling or registration of the subject class of vehicles without the necessity of receiving a further waiver of federal preemption.” \textsuperscript{59} In the instant case, CARB states that it has received previous waivers for urban bus engines.\textsuperscript{60} Therefore, CARB need not demonstrate that the labeling specifications independently meet the waiver criteria. EPA agrees with this assessment and the labeling specifications may be enforced in California without further action by the Administrator.\textsuperscript{61}

E. Full Waiver of Preemption Determination for California’s Urban Bus Standards

After a review of the information submitted by CARB, and given there were no parties opposing California’s request, EPA finds that California’s urban bus standards should receive a full waiver of preemption.

III. Decision

The Administrator has delegated the authority to grant California section 209(b) waivers of preemption and section 209(e) authorizations to the Assistant Administrator for Air and Radiation. After evaluating CARB’s urban bus emission standards and test procedures and CARB’s submissions, EPA is taking the following action. EPA is granting a waiver of preemption to California for its urban bus emission standards and test procedures as they affect the 2002 and later model years.

My decision will affect not only persons in California, but also manufacturers outside the State who must comply with California’s requirements in order to produce vehicles for sale in California. For this reason, I determine and find that this is a final action of national applicability for purposes of section 307(b)(1) of the Act. Pursuant to section 307(b)(1) of the Act, judicial review of this final action may be sought only in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. Petitions for review must be filed by September 23, 2013. Judicial review of this final action may not be obtained in subsequent enforcement proceedings, pursuant to section 307(b)(2) of the Act.

IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

As with past authorization and waiver decisions, this action is not a rule as defined by Executive Order 12866. Therefore, it is exempt from review by the Office of Management and Budget as required for rules and regulations by Executive Order 12866.

In addition, this action is not a rule as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601(2). Therefore, EPA has not prepared a supporting regulatory flexibility analysis addressing the impact of this action on small business entities.

Further, the Congressional Review Act, 5 U.S.C. 801, et seq., as added by the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, does not apply because this action is not a rule for purposes of 5 U.S.C. 804(3).

Dated: July 15, 2013.

Gina McCarthy,
Assistant Administrator, Office of Air and Radiation.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The draft IRIS assessment of the inhalation carcinogenicity of ethylene oxide was prepared by the National Center for Environmental Assessment (NCEA) within the EPA Office of Research and Development (ORD). The public has been provided an opportunity to comment on a previous external review draft of the Evaluation of the Inhalation Carcinogenicity of Ethylene Oxide. On September 22, 2006, EPA released an external review draft “Evaluation of the Carcinogenicity of Ethylene Oxide” (EPA/635/R–06/003) for public comment. This draft was reviewed by EPA’s Science Advisory Board on January 18 and 19, 2007. The expert panel’s final report, Review of the Office of Research and Development (ORD) Draft Assessment entitled, “Evaluation of the Carcinogenicity of Ethylene Oxide” (EPA–SAB–06–004), was made available on December 21, 2007.

The draft IRIS carcinogenicity assessment titled, “Evaluation of the Inhalation Carcinogenicity of Ethylene Oxide” (EPA/635/R–13/128a) has been revised in response to the peer review and public comments received on the external review draft released in September 2006. This notice announces a new public comment period on the current revised draft carcinogenicity assessment in advance of an upcoming peer review and in accordance with applicable information quality guidelines. The external peer review comments and EPA responses on the previous draft assessment are summarized in Appendix H of the draft. EPA is releasing this revised draft assessment for the purposes of additional public comment and subsequent peer review. This draft assessment is not final, as described in EPA’s information quality guidelines, and it does not represent and should not be construed to represent Agency policy or views.

In addition to an opportunity for public comment announced in this notice, EPA will initiate a peer review of the draft IRIS carcinogenicity assessment and will announce the details of the peer review in a separate Federal Register Notice. EPA seeks additional external peer review on how the Agency responded to the SAB panel recommendations, the exposure-response modeling of epidemiologic data, including new analyses since the 2007 external peer review, and on the adequacy, transparency, and clarity of the revised draft. The peer review will include an opportunity for the public to address the peer reviewers. EPA will announce the date, time and procedures for public participation in the peer review meeting in a separate Federal Register Notice and in an announcement on the IRIS Web site.

II. Information About IRIS

EPA’s IRIS Program is a human health assessment program that evaluates quantitative and qualitative risk information on effects that may result from exposure to chemical substances found in the environment. The IRIS Program, EPA provides the highest quality scientific information on the potential health effects for more than 550 chemical substances that can be used in human health risk assessments to support the Agency’s regulatory activities and decisions to protect public health. When supported by available data, IRIS provides health effects information and toxicity values for chronic health effects (including cancer and effects other than cancer). Government agencies and others combine IRIS toxicity values with exposure information to characterize public health risks of chemical substances; this information is then used to support risk management decisions designed to protect public health.
