SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) proposes to update and reissue a current DHS/FEMA system of records titled, “DHS/FEMA—001 National Emergency Family Registry and Locator System (NEFRLS) System of Records.”

During Hurricane Katrina, displaced individuals experienced numerous difficulties in reuniting with family members after the disaster. As a result, Congress mandated in Section 689c of the Post-Katrina Emergency Management Reform Act (PKEMRA) of 2006, Pub. Law 109–295, that FEMA establish NEFRLS. FEMA has the discretionary authority to activate NEFRLS to help reunify families separated after an emergency or disaster declared by the President as defined in the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 U.S.C. 5121–5207. Though the primary function of the NEFRLS is to reunify families, anyone who may have trouble locating a family member during a disaster is welcome to register. NEFRLS is a nationally accessible and web-based system that allows adults, including medical patients, who have been displaced by a disaster or emergency to voluntarily enter personal information into a database to assist with the reunification process. Registrants can select who can view their personal information.

The DHS/FEMA NEFRLS System of Records also collects information from law enforcement officials (LEO) who use the system when responding to a missing persons report. The information FEMA collects from LEOs facilitates identity verification and their status as a member of law enforcement.

As a result of the biennial review, DHS/FEMA is updating records within the classification category to be sensitive but unclassified, rather than unclassified. While the system of records still remains unclassified, the update accurately reflects the sensitivity of the records as it involves the location data of displaced individuals.

This updated notice clarifies three routine uses. This notice updates routine use “A” to apply when DHS employees or former employees are involved in litigation; routine use “C” to include disclosure to the General Services Administration; and routine use “E” to clarify the language.

The DHS/FEMA—001 NEFRLS System of Records allows limited access to three groups of individuals. The groups are: (1) Registrants: Displaced adults or children registered in the system; (2) searchers: Individuals who are searching for family or household members who registered in the system; and (3) FEMA NEFRLS Administrators: FEMA personnel who have limited access to records for the purpose of sharing registrants’ information with LEOs pursuant to an official missing persons report.

This updated system will be included in DHS’s inventory of record systems.

II. Privacy Act

The Privacy Act embodies fair information practice principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which federal government agencies collect, maintain, use, and disseminate individuals’ records. The Privacy Act applies to information that is maintained in a “system of records.” A “system of records” is a group of any records under the control of an agency from which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual. In the Privacy Act, an individual is defined to encompass U.S. citizens and lawful permanent residents. As a matter of policy, DHS extends administrative Privacy Act protections to all individuals when systems of records maintain information on U.S. citizens, lawful permanent residents, and visitors.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), DHS has provided a report of this system of records to the Office of Management and Budget and to Congress.
