D. Public Meeting

We intend to hold a public meeting on this topic. We will announce the time and place of that meeting in a later notice in the Federal Register.

II. Reasons for Extension

On December 27, 2013, the Coast Guard published its NPRM, “Assessment Framework and Organizational Restatement Regarding Preemption for Certain Regulations Issued by the Coast Guard” (78 FR 79242). The NPRM provided for a comment period of 90 days, which is now extended by an additional 60 days for a total comment period length of 150 days. This notice of extension is issued under authority of 5 U.S.C. 552(a).

The NPRM discusses existing law on preemption, and identifies the laws and regulations that have preemptive effect. It clarifies (but does not alter) the Coast Guard’s application of statutes and case law regarding the preemptive effect of its regulations. It also sets forth a process the Coast Guard will use in future rulemakings for evaluating the preemptive impact of those future regulations.

The Coast Guard has received requests for extension of the comment period. Some of these requests are from members of the public and of State agencies who are concerned that the proposed rule would interfere with existing State permitting practices, or would require a thorough review of State regulations to find out what State regulations may be preempted by the proposed rule. The Coast Guard does not believe the proposed rule should raise such concerns. As stated here and throughout the NPRM, the proposed rule merely restates the current preemptive impact of our regulations as it exists today as a result of statute and court decisions. The proposed rule does not make any new determinations or assertions, but only summarizes in one location existing law and the Coast Guard's statement of preemptive impact. The proposed rule does not alter in any way the rights of States. Likewise, it does not serve to prospectively give preemptive impact to any future regulatory effort. The proposed rule does not change the law as it exists today.

However, we are interested in better understanding the concerns expressed, and we want to allow ample time for the public to consider the proposed rule. Accordingly, we have extended the comment period. We encourage all members of the public, and especially States, to send comments explaining what, if any, impact the proposed rule could have. Please be as specific as possible in explaining how the proposed rule would affect you.

Dated: March 26, 2014.

F.J. Kenney,

Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard, Judge Advocate General.
