SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Institute of Justice (NIJ) is inviting manufacturers of vehicle-mounted license plate reader (LPR) systems to participate in a practical assessment of the proposed test methods in the tentatively titled Vehicle-mounted License Plate Recognition Systems for Law Enforcement standard under development. The development of this draft NIJ standard is being facilitated by IACP with support from and in coordination with NIJ under cooperative agreement 2009-IJ-CX-K009. It contains several practical tests to determine the performance of vehicle-mounted LPR systems regarding four specific functions: detection of plates, capture of images of the plates, interpretation and conversion of images into alphanumeric data, and comparison of data with a list of specified license plates (e.g., a watch list). The tests are performed using license plates set up to mimic the different common parking configurations: parallel, perpendicular, and diagonal.

The practical assessment is primarily intended to allow LPR manufacturers to familiarize themselves with tests for vehicle-mounted LPR systems in the draft NIJ standard and develop any feedback regarding those tests. Manufacturers are invited to bring a vehicle equipped with a mobile LPR system to the U.S. Customs and Border Protection Government Test Lane Facility (GTLF) in Fredericksburg, Virginia. The assessment will take place over two days (see dates above). Manufacturers will be permitted to run through the test setups in an equitable fashion as time permits for the two days depending on the number of respondents to this notice.

Space is limited at the GTLF, and as a result, each manufacturer will only be allowed to bring one test vehicle. Neither NIJ nor IACP will collect any data from any manufacturer from the practical assessment. Manufacturers are encouraged to submit any feedback regarding the test methods as result of the two-day practical assessment during the forthcoming public comment period for the draft NIJ standard tentatively titled Vehicle-mounted License Plate Recognition Systems for Law Enforcement.

This DG also proposes practices and criteria for establishing those technical specification limits and ensuring that those limits will adequately support the proper operation of the associated systems.

DATES: Submit comments by September 9, 2014. Comments received after this date will be considered if practical to do so, but the NRC is able to ensure consideration only for comments received on or before this date. Although a time limit is given, comments and suggestions in connection with items for inclusion in guides currently being developed or improvements in all published guides are encouraged at any time.

II. Additional Information

The NRC is issuing for public comment a DG in the NRC's "Regulatory Guide" series. This series was developed to describe and make available to the public such information as methods that are acceptable to the NRC staff for implementing specific parts of the NRC's regulations, techniques that the staff uses in evaluating specific problems or postulated accidents, and data that the staff needs in its review of applications for permits and licenses.

The DG, entitled, "Setpoints for Safety-Related Instrumentation" is temporarily identified by its task number, DG-1141. Draft regulatory guide, DG-1141 is proposed Revision 4 of RG 1.105. The DG describes practices and criteria that the staff of the NRC considers acceptable for compliance with NRC requirements for ensuring that setpoints for safety related instruments are initially within, and should remain within, technical specification limits. This DG also presents practices and criteria for establishing those technical specification limits and ensuring that those limits will adequately support the proper operation of the associated systems—that is, that establishing and maintaining setpoints in accordance with those limits will provide adequate assurance that a plant will operate as described in the plant safety analyses.

This revision continues to address concerns expressed in the previous revision of this regulatory guide. The previous revision addressed problems with setpoint uncertainty allowances and setpoint discrepancies, which had led to a number of operational problems. This DG also addressed significant variability that had been observed in licensees' surveillance interval evaluations with regard to drift, setpoint methodology, and completeness. This DG enumerates a number of specific concerns in this area, observing that the listed concerns were resolved during the development of the 1994 version of ANSI/ISA-S67.04, Part 1-1994, "Setpoints for Nuclear Safety-Related Instrumentation."

Copies of American National Standards Institute (ANSI)/International Society of Automation (ISA) Standard ANSI/ISA-S67.04, Part 1-1994 may be obtained through the ISA Web site at www.isa.org or by writing to the International Society of Automation, 67 T.W. Alexander Dr., P.O. Box 12277, Research Triangle Park, NC 27709, by email at info@isa.org, telephone: 919-549-8411, or fax at 919-549-8288

III. Backfitting and Issue Finality

This DG, if finalized, would not constitute backfitting as defined in 10 CFR 50.109 (the Backfit Rule) and would not otherwise be inconsistent with the issue finality provisions in 10 CFR part 52. As discussed in the "Implementation" section of this DG, the NRC has no current intention to impose this DG on holders of current operating licenses or combined licenses.

This DG, if finalized, may be applied to applications for operating licenses and combined licenses docketed by the NRC as of the date of issuance of the final RG, as well as future applications for operating licenses and combined licenses submitted after the issuance of the RG. Such action does not constitute backfitting as defined in 10 CFR 50.109(a)(1) or is otherwise inconsistent with the applicable issue finality provision in 10 CFR part 52, inasmuch as such applicants or potential applicants, with exceptions not applicable here, are not within the scope of entities protected by the Backfit Rule or the relevant issue finality provisions in 10 CFR part 52.

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 3rd day of July, 2014.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.
