

restrictions as a result of efforts to attract or increase the numbers or distribution of a listed species on their property. Application requirements and issuance criteria for permits through safe harbor agreements are found in 50 CFR 17.22(c) and 50 CFR 17.32(c).

We have worked with the applicant to develop the proposed agreement for the conservation of the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog on the property subject to the agreement (enrolled property), which is owned and managed by the applicant. The enrolled property is Garrapata State Park in Monterey County, California. Within the 2,902 acres of land within the enrolled property, habitat for the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog will be restored, enhanced, and managed under a written agreement between the applicant and Service. We expect that the activities proposed in the agreement will result in an increase in suitable habitat for these species and provide for their increase in number and their expansion into additional areas that are currently not occupied, thus resulting in a net conservation benefit for these species.

The agreement provides for the restoration, enhancement, and management of habitat suitable for the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog at the enrolled property. The proposed duration of the agreement is 15 years, and the proposed term of the enhancement of survival permit is 15 years. The agreement fully describes the proposed management activities to be undertaken by the applicant and the net conservation benefits expected to be gained for the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog.

Upon approval of the agreement and satisfactory completion of all other applicable legal requirements, and consistent with the Service's Safe Harbor Policy published in the Federal Register on June 17, 1999 (64 FR 32717), the Service would issue a permit to the applicant authorizing take of the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog incidental to the implementation of the management activities specified in the agreement; incidental to surveys and monitoring; and incidental to the return to pre-agreement conditions (baseline).

Management activities included in the agreement will provide for the restoration, enhancement, and management of native habitats within the enrolled property. The objective of such activities is to enhance the populations of Smith's blue butterflies and California red-legged frogs by increasing the quality and quantity of suitable habitat on the enrolled property. Take of Smith's blue butterflies and California red-legged frogs incidental to the aforementioned activities is unlikely; however, it is possible that in the course of such activities or other lawful activities on the enrolled property, the applicant could incidentally take Smith's blue butterflies or California red-legged frogs thereby necessitating take authority under the permit.

Baseline conditions have been determined for the enrolled property based on the occurrence of the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog and the extent of suitable habitat for the respective species as provided in the agreement. The applicant must maintain baseline conditions on the enrolled property in order to receive coverage regarding incidental take of Smith's blue butterflies and California red-legged frogs. The agreement and requested permit would allow the applicant to return to baseline conditions after the end of the term of the agreement and prior to the expiration of the 15-year permit, if so desired by the applicant.

Public Review and Comments

The Service has made a preliminary determination that the proposed agreement and permit application are eligible for categorical exclusion under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.). We explain the basis for this determination in an Environmental Action Statement, which also is available for public review.

Individuals wishing copies of the permit application, copies of our draft Environmental Action Statement, and copies of the agreement, including a map of the proposed permit area, should contact the Ventura Fish and Wildlife Office (see ADDRESSES).

If you wish to comment on the permit application or the agreement, you may submit your comments to one of the addresses listed in the ADDRESSES section of this document. Comments and materials received, including names and addresses of respondents, will be available for public review, by appointment, during normal business hours at the address in the ADDRESSES section above and will become part of the public record, under section 10(c) of the Act.

Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment—including your personal identifying information—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

We will evaluate this permit application, associated documents, and comments we receive to determine whether the permit application meets the requirements of section 10(a) of the Act and NEPA regulations. If we determine that the requirements are met, we will sign the proposed agreement and issue an enhancement of survival permit under section 10(a)(1)(A) of the Act to the applicant for take of the Smith's blue butterfly and California red-legged frog incidental to otherwise lawful activities in accordance with the terms of the agreement. We will not make our final decision until after the end of the 30-day comment period and will fully consider all comments we receive during the comment period.

The Service provides this notice under section 10(c) of the Act and under implementing regulations for NEPA (40 CFR 1506.6).

Stephen P. Henry,

Field Supervisor, Ventura Fish and Wildlife Office.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The U.S. Geological Survey is required to collect, evaluate, publish and distribute information concerning earthquakes. Respondents have an opportunity to voluntarily supply information concerning the effects of shaking from an earthquake—on themselves, buildings, other man-made structures, and ground effects such as faulting or landslides. Respondents' observations are interpreted in terms of numbers that measure the strength of shaking, and the resulting numbers are displayed on maps that are viewable from USGS earthquake Web sites. Observations are submitted via the Felt Report questionnaire accessed from the USGS Did You Feel It? Earthquake Web pages, and may be submitted via computer or mobile phone. Respondents are asked to provide information on the location to which the report pertains. The locations may, at the respondent's option, be given imprecisely (city-name or postal Zip Code) or precisely (street address, geographic coordinates, or current location determined by the user's mobile phone). Low resolution maps of shaking based on both precise and imprecise observations are published for all earthquakes for which observations are submitted. For earthquakes felt by many respondents, the observations that are associated with more precise locations are used in the preparation of higher resolution maps of earthquake shaking.

We will protect information from respondents considered proprietary under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and implementing regulations (43 CFR part 2), and under regulations at 30 CFR 250.197, "Data and information to be made available to the public or for limited inspection." Responses are voluntary. No questions of a "sensitive" nature are asked. We will release data collected on these forms only in formats that do not include proprietary information volunteered by respondents.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

As sovereignties, federally recognized tribes have the right to establish their own probate codes. When those probate codes govern the descent and distribution of trust or restricted property, they must be approved by the Secretary of the Department of the Interior. The American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004 (AIPRA) amendments to the Indian Land Consolidation Act, 25 U.S.C. 2201 et seq., provides that any tribal probate code, any amendment to a tribal probate code, and any free-standing single heir rule are subject to the approval of the Secretary if they contain provisions governing trust lands.
