

only can these facilities become inoperable when submerged, but they are also at a greater risk of damage by outside forces, floating debris, river currents, and craft operating on the water. Boaters involved in rescue operations, emergency support functions, sightseeing, and other activities are generally not aware of the seriousness of an incident that could result from their craft damaging a pipeline facility that is unseen beneath the surface of the water. Depending on the size of the craft and the pipeline facility struck, significant pipeline damage may result.

Although accidents at river crossings account for less than one percent of the total number of pipeline accidents, the consequences of a release in water can be much more severe because of the threats to drinking water supplies and the environment. Unlike hazardous liquid releases on land where it can be easier to respond to and contain spills, swift-moving river currents will carry hazardous liquids further downstream, potentially impacting much larger geographical areas and more communities. Product releases in rivers can create difficult, costly, and lengthy spill response and remediation scenarios and activities for operators, communities, and local, state, and federal responders.

II. Advisory Bulletin (ADB-2016-01)

To: Owners and Operators of Gas and Hazardous Liquid Pipeline Systems.

Subject: Potential for Damage to Pipeline Facilities Caused by Severe Flooding.

Advisory: Severe flooding can adversely affect the safe operation of a pipeline. Operators need to direct their resources in a manner that will enable them to determine and mitigate the potential effects of flooding on their pipeline systems in accordance with applicable regulations. Operators are urged to take the following actions to prevent and mitigate damage to pipeline facilities and ensure public and environmental safety in areas affected by flooding:

1. Utilize experts in river flow, such as hydrologists or fluvial geomorphologists, to evaluate a river's potential for scour or channel migration at each pipeline river crossing.

2. Evaluate each pipeline crossing a river to determine the pipeline's installation method and determine if that method (and the pipeline's current condition) is sufficient to withstand the risks posed by anticipated flood conditions, river scour, or river channel migration. In areas prone to these conditions and risks, consider installing pipelines using horizontal directional drilling to help place pipelines below elevations of maximum scour and outside the limits of lateral channel migration.

3. Determine the maximum flow or flooding conditions at rivers where pipeline integrity is at risk in the event of flooding (e.g., where scour can occur) and have contingency plans to shut down and isolate those pipelines when those conditions occur.

4. Evaluate the accessibility of pipeline facilities and components that may be in jeopardy, such as valve settings, which are needed to isolate water crossings or other sections of pipelines.

5. Extend regulator vents and relief stacks above the level of anticipated flooding as appropriate.

6. Coordinate with emergency and spill responders on pipeline locations, crossing conditions, and the commodities transported. Provide maps and other relevant information to such responders so they can develop appropriate response strategies.

7. Coordinate with other pipeline operators in flood areas and establish emergency response centers to act as a liaison for pipeline problems and solutions.

8. Deploy personnel so that they will be in position to shut down, isolate, contain, or perform any other emergency action on an affected pipeline.

9. Determine if facilities that are normally above ground (e.g., valves, regulators, relief sets, etc.) have become submerged and are in danger of being struck by vessels or debris and, if possible, mark such facilities with U.S. Coast Guard approval and an appropriate buoy.

10. Perform frequent patrols, including appropriate overflights, to evaluate right-of-way conditions at water crossings during flooding and after waters subside. Report any flooding, either localized or systemic, to integrity staff to determine if pipeline crossings may have been damaged or would be in imminent jeopardy from future flooding.

11. Have open communications with local and state officials to address their concerns regarding observed pipeline exposures, localized flooding, ice dams, debris dams, and extensive bank erosion that may affect the integrity of pipeline crossings.

12. Following floods, and when safe river access is first available, determine if flooding has exposed or undermined pipelines because of new river channel profiles. This is best done by a depth of cover survey.

13. Where appropriate, surveys of underwater pipe should include the use of visual inspection by divers or instrumented detection. Pipelines in recently flooded lands adjacent to rivers should also be evaluated to determine the remaining depth of cover. You should share information gathered by these surveys with affected landowners. Agricultural agencies may help to inform farmers of potential hazards from reduced cover over pipelines.

14. Ensure that line markers are still in place or are replaced in a timely manner. Notify contractors, highway departments, and others involved in post-flood restoration activities of the presence of pipelines and the risks posed by reduced cover.

If a pipeline has suffered damage or is shut-in as a precautionary measure due to flooding, the operator should advise the appropriate PHMSA regional office or state pipeline safety authority before returning the line to service, increasing its operating pressure, or otherwise changing its operating status. Furthermore, reporting a Safety-Related Condition as prescribed in §§ 191.23 and 195.55 may also be required.

Issued in Washington, DC on January 12, 2016, under authority delegated in 49 CFR 1.97.

Alan K. Mayberry,

Deputy Associate Administrator for Policy and Programs.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, 5 U.S.C. 552a, and Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular No. A-130, the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) has completed a review of its Privacy Act systems of records notices to identify minor changes that will more accurately describe these records.

Department of the Treasury regulations require the Department to publish the existence and character of all systems of records every three years as specified in 31 CFR 1.23(a)(1). With respect to its inventory of Privacy Act systems of records, the OCC has determined that the information contained in its systems of records is accurate, timely, relevant, complete, and necessary to maintain the proper performance of a documented agency function. The OCC's systems of records notice was last published in its entirety on April 3, 2012, at 77 FR 20104–20122.

This publication covers the Privacy Act systems of records that were formerly Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) systems, which the OCC adopted on July 26, 2011, at 76 FR 44656. Treasury/OTS systems of records were transferred to the OCC pursuant to section 323 of the Dodd-Frank Act, 12 U.S.C. 5433. The OTS systems of records notices were last published in their entirety on June 29, 2009, at 74 FR 31103.

This publication gives notice of two new systems of records. Treasury/CC .341, Mass Communications System, contains records necessary to communicate with OCC employees in the event of an emergency. Treasury/CC .701, Retiree Billing System, contains records necessary to contact and to send bills to former OCC and OTS employees, retirees enrolled in OCC and OTS life insurance programs, and employees receiving annuities from the Pentegra Deferred Benefit Plan.

This publication gives notice of the following actions.

Treasury/OTS .002, Correspondence and Correspondence Tracking system has been retired. The records have been archived or destroyed in accordance with OCC records management policies.

Treasury/OTS .003, Consumer Complaint Files system will be retired at the end of July 2016. All records in this system of records will be archived or merged with Treasury/CC .600, Consumer Complaint and Inquiry Information, before the end of July 2016.

Treasury/OTS .006, Employee Locator File system has been retired. The records in this system have been merged into OCC personnel and payroll records, part of the Treasury-wide system, Treasury .001, Treasury Personnel and Payroll System dated January 2, 2014 at 79 FR 184.

Treasury/OTS .012, Payroll/Personnel Systems & Payroll Records, has been retired. The records have been merged with OCC records within Treasury .001, Treasury Personnel and Payroll System dated January 2, 2014 at 79 FR 184.

Treasury/OTS .013, Mass Communication System has been retired. The records have been merged into Treasury/CC .341, Mass Communication System.

Treasury/OTS .015, OTS Retiree Billing System has been retired. Records in the system were merged into a new OCC system, Treasury/CC .701, Retiree Billing System.

Other changes throughout the document are editorial in nature and consist principally of revising address information and minor editorial changes.

TREASURY/CC .200

SYSTEM NAME:

Chain Banking Organizations System—Treasury/Comptroller.

SYSTEM LOCATION:

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), Operations Risk Policy, 400 Seventh Street SW., Suite 3E-218, Washington, DC 20219-0001, and the OCC's district offices as follows: Central District Office, One Financial Place, Suite 2700, 440 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, IL 60605-1073; Northeastern District Office, 340 Madison Avenue, Fifth Floor, New York, NY 10017-2613; Southern District Office, 500 North Akard Street, Suite 1600, Dallas, TX 75201-3394; and Western District Office, 1225 17th Street, Suite 300, Denver, CO 80202-5534.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

Individuals covered by this system are individuals who directly, indirectly, or acting through or in concert with one or more other individuals, own or control a chain banking organization. A chain banking organization exists when two or more independently chartered financial institutions, including at least one OCC-regulated entity, are controlled either directly or indirectly by the same individual, family, or group of individuals closely associated in their business dealings. Control generally exists when the common ownership has the ability or power, directly or indirectly, to:

- (1) Control the vote of 25 percent or more of any class of an organization's voting securities;
- (2) Control in any manner the election of a majority of the directors of an organization; or
- (3) Exercise a controlling influence over the management or policies of an organization. A registered multibank holding company and its subsidiary banks are not ordinarily considered a chain banking group unless the holding company is linked to other banking organizations through common control.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

Records maintained in this system contain the names of individuals who, either alone or in concert with others, own or control a chain banking organization. Other information may include: The name, location, charter number, charter type, and date of last examination of each organization comprising a chain; the percentage of outstanding stock owned or controlled by controlling individuals or groups; and the name of any intermediate holding entity and the percentage of such entity owned or controlled by the individual or group.

12 U.S.C. 1, 481, 1817(j), and 1820.

PURPOSE:

Information maintained in this system is used by the OCC to carry out its supervisory responsibilities with respect to national banks, federal savings associations, and District of Columbia savings associations operating under the OCC's regulatory authority, including the coordination of examinations, supervisory evaluations and analyses, and administrative enforcement actions with other financial regulatory agencies.
