History and Description of the Remains

Between the 1940s and 1970s, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from Squaw Valley, Fresno County, CA. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

Between the 1940s and 1970s, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from El Nido, on the San Joaquin River, Merced County, CA. No known individuals were identified. The one associated funerary object is 1 lot of dirt.

Between the 1940s and 1970s, human remains representing, at minimum, 16 individuals were removed from Fresno or Merced County, CA. No known individuals were identified. The seven associated funerary objects are 1 small rock, 1 lot of unidentifiable non-bone materials, 3 lots of dirt, 1 seed fragment, and 1 unidentifiable non-bone object.

According to Mr. Ron Gerstenberg, former natural resources teacher at Reedley College, the human remains were collected by Robert Merz, who taught anthropology at Reedley College. Mr. Merz was active from the 1940s until he retired in the 1970s and has since passed. Before he retired, Mr. Merz gave the remains to Mr. Gerstenberg for safekeeping at Reedley College.

In September 2011, Reedley College staff sent the collection to the State Center Community College District Police Department (SCCCDPD). Ms. Miller and Dr. Jill Minar, archeology instructor at Fresno City College, examined the human remains and cultural items at the SCCCDCPD and after preliminary examination, it was determined the human remains were likely Native American.

Ms. Miller contacted the Fresno County Coroner, David Hadden, and arranged for Dr. Roger La Jeunesse, Biological Anthropologist/Professor at California State University Fresno, to examine the human remains and provide a report as to the contents of the boxes. After examination the human remains were returned to Fresno City College Archaeological Curation Facility where they are currently housed.
