DEPARTMENT OF STATE

22 CFR Part 51

[Public Notice: 9680]

RIN 1400–AE01

Passports: Service Passports

AGENCY: Department of State.

ACTION: Interim final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule amends a regulation that establishes the different types of passports issued by the Department of State. A definition for special issuance passports is added. Amendments establish a new service passport, which may be approved for certain non-personal services contractors who travel abroad in support of and pursuant to a contract with the U.S. government, and make corresponding changes regarding official and diplomatic passports. The service passport will demonstrate a contractual relationship between the bearer’s employer and the U.S. government as the reason for travel, thereby continuing to demonstrate the individual’s support function on behalf of the U.S. government, but nevertheless signaling a more attenuated relationship with the U.S. government than that enjoyed by direct hire employees. The U.S. government incurs significant additional cost annually in delays and fees because foreign governments do not recognize contractors as doing work for the U.S. government. By more clearly demonstrating the attenuated relationship, the Department will eliminate such waste. The regulation is amended to establish the validity of the new service passport and clarify the grounds for invalidity of a special issuance passport.

DATES: This rule is effective on September 30, 2016. The Department of State will accept comments on this interim final rule until November 29, 2016.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: U.S. government activities overseas are often supported by non-personal services contracts, defined in 48 CFR 37.101 as contracts “under which the personnel rendering services are not subject, either by the contract’s terms or by the manner of its administration, to the supervision and control usually prevailing in relationships between the U.S. government and its employees.” U.S. citizens employed under these contracts, sometimes referred to as non-personal services contractors, carry out critical security, maintenance and other functions on behalf of the U.S. government, often under difficult or dangerous circumstances. As a general rule these individuals conduct the travel associated with their contractual duties in support of the U.S. government with a regular passport. However, the Department is aware that there are limited circumstances in which non-personal services contractors traveling on regular passports experience difficulties when the purpose of their travel involves work conducted in support of the U.S. government. These difficulties annually cause significant cost to the U.S. government resulting from program delays and fees assessed to the Department. Contractors working on building projects who must travel intermittently out of country to renew visas are particularly affected by such difficulties because the U.S. government must bear the round-trip air travel costs, the hotel costs, and the per diem costs in addition to wage costs during often lengthy waits for a new visa. Foreign governments also charge large visa fees which then increase the costs of programs and building projects. In these instances, it is advantageous to the U.S. government to provide a passport that conveys that the traveler is abroad to conduct work in support of the U.S. government while simultaneously indicating that the traveler has a more attenuated relationship with the U.S. government that does not justify a diplomatic or official passport.

The Department of State is creating a new type of passport, the “service passport,” to fulfill this function. The Department is further clarifying the limited circumstances under which a non-personal or personal services contractor may receive an official or diplomatic passport when in receipt of such request from a federal agency. The Department estimates that this rulemaking will affect approximately 1,000 non-personal services contractors per year.

Under 22 U.S.C. 211a et seq., the Secretary of State has the authority to make rules for the granting and issuance of passports. To add clarity to the types of passports issued by the Department, §51.4 of 22 CFR is being modified to add a definition of “special issuance passport.” The Department is modifying §51.3 to authorize issuance of service passports and to clarify the eligibility criteria for official and diplomatic passports. The Department is further modifying §51.4 to clarify the validity of special issuance passports, including the new service passport, and clarify the grounds for invalidity of a special issuance passport.

Regulatory Findings

The Department is publishing this rule as a final rule, effective on the date of publication, pursuant to the “good cause” exemption of the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(3)(B). The Department finds that delaying the effect of this rule until after notice and comment would be impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to public interest. The Department finds that providing these individuals with travel documents that indicate that their travel is in support of the U.S. government while also signaling a more attenuated relationship with the U.S. government than that enjoyed by direct hire employees provides a compelling justification for an immediate effective date of this rule.

In addition, this rulemaking is exempt from notice and comment pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553(a)(1), because it involves a foreign affairs function of the United States. As noted above, contractors working on building projects often must travel intermittently out of country to renew visas, and foreign governments charge large visa fees whenever that occurs. The U.S. government must provide a passport that conveys that the traveler is abroad to conduct work in support of the U.S. government while simultaneously indicating that the traveler has a more attenuated relationship with the U.S. government that does not justify a diplomatic or official passport.

Because this rule is exempt from 5 U.S.C. 553, it is effective on the date of publication. See 5 U.S.C. 553(d). However, the Department solicits—and welcomes—comments on this rulemaking, and will address relevant comments in a final rule.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Department, in accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C.
605(b), has reviewed this rule and, by approving it, certifies that the rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as defined in 5 U.S.C. 601(6).

Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995

This rule will not result in the expenditure by state, local, tribal, or territorial governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million or more in any year and it will not significantly or uniquely affect small governments. Therefore, no actions were deemed necessary under the provisions of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995, 2 U.S.C. 1501 et seq.

Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996

This rule is not a major rule as defined by section 804 of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, since it will not result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. See 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

Executive Order 12866 and 13563

The Department has reviewed the rule to ensure its consistency with the regulatory philosophy and principles set forth in the Executive Orders and finds that the benefits of this rule outweigh any costs. This rule is not economically significant under Executive Order 12866, section 3(f)(1), because it will not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. Therefore, the Department finds that the benefits of this rulemaking outweigh any costs. This rule has been designated as “non-significant” by the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs.

Executive Order 13132

This rule will not have substantial direct effects on the states, on the relationship between the national government and the states, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, in accordance with section 6 of Executive Order 13132, the Department has determined that this rule does not have sufficient federalism implications to require consultations or warrant the preparation of a federalism summary impact statement.

Executive Order 13175—Effect on Tribes

The Department of State has determined that this rulemaking will not have tribal implications, will not impose substantial direct compliance costs on Indian tribal governments, and will not preempt tribal law. Accordingly, Executive Order 13175 does not apply to this rulemaking.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This rule does not impose or alter any reporting or record-keeping requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act. The individuals who will be applying for the new service passports are those who have applied for regular or official passports; therefore, the total burden on existing information collections is expected to remain constant. The OMB Control Numbers are 1405–0004 and 1405–0020.
