

amended, 42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq., to provide federally-recognized Indian Tribal governments the option to request a Presidential emergency or major disaster declaration.¹ On January 8, 2016, FEMA published a notice seeking comment on a proposed pilot program to manage declaration requests from Indian Tribal governments. In response to comments received, FEMA made several revisions to the proposed guidance, including reducing the minimum damage amount from the proposed amount of $300,000 to $250,000, and expanding eligibility for individual assistance under a Tribal declaration to non-enrolled individuals who are members of the Tribal community.

FEMA is now issuing a final policy implementing the pilot program. This final policy does not have the force or effect of law.
