RIN 1218-AB76

Revising the Beryllium Standard for General Industry*AGENCY: Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), Department of Labor.ACTION: Direct final rule; request for comment.

SUMMARY: On January 9, 2017, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) issued a final rule adopting a comprehensive general industry standard for exposure to beryllium and beryllium compounds. In this Direct Final Rule (DFR), OSHA is adopting a number of clarifying amendments to address the application of the standard to materials containing trace amounts of beryllium. OSHA believes this rule will maintain safety and health protections for workers while reducing the burden to employers of complying with the current rule.

DATES: This DFR will become effective on July 6, 2018 unless significant adverse comment is submitted (transmitted, postmarked, or delivered) by June 6, 2018. If DOL receives significant adverse comment, the Agency will publish a timely withdrawal in the Federal Register informing the public that this DFR will not take effect (see Section III, "Direct Final Rulemaking," for more details on this process). Comments to this DFR, hearing requests, and other information must be submitted (transmitted, postmarked, or delivered) by June 6, 2018. All submissions must bear a postmark or provide other evidence of the submission date.

ADDRESSES: The public can submit comments, hearing requests, and other material, identified by Docket No. OSHA-2018-0003, using any of the following methods:
