

NAEP results and explain how the achievement levels should (and should not) be used

- Reference to multiple types of achievement level descriptions (ALDs), including reporting ALDs that would be created using empirical data and written in terms of what students do know and can do rather than what students should know and be able to do
- Clarification on the standard setting participants, in particular the non-educator group
- Additional details about the achievement level setting process, including some practices that have become institutionalized over time (e.g., the use of “impact data”)
- Removal of details on implementation directed to staff and contractors, which will instead be included in a “procedures manual”
