The purpose of this collection is to find out how states/territories are paying for sexual assault medical forensic exams, meaning the funding sources they use for this purpose and the reimbursement procedures they follow. The information will be used by OVW and IAFN to determine what training and technical assistance (TTA) states need to ensure that sexual assault victim-patients are not charged for their exams. The affected public includes a maximum of 112 employees of states and territories who serve as Victims of Crime Act (Voca) and VAWA STOP administrators. Voca administrators manage funds made available from the Crime Victims Fund (CVF) for victim assistance and victim compensation. STOP administrators manage the distribution and monitoring of OVW STOP Formula Program funds, which are distributed to states/territories to support law enforcement, prosecutors, victim services providers, and courts in responding to sexual and domestic violence. Voca and STOP administrators must ensure that funds are subgranted, spent, and reported in compliance with all applicable regulations and requirements. In some states, the designated Voca administrator and STOP administrator is the same individual.

Because Voca and STOP administrators are responsible for how federal grant dollars for combatting violence against women are used, they typically have thorough knowledge of how sexual assault medical forensic exams—for which VAWA prohibits charging victims—are paid for in their states. Therefore, these administrators are a key source of information about state policies and procedures for reimbursing healthcare providers for exams, as well as the funding sources used for this purpose. Furthermore, Voca and VAWA administrators may have considerable insight into which strategies are showing promise in their states, and what approaches have proved challenging.

An estimate of the total number of respondents and the amount of time estimated for an average respondent to respond/reply: It is estimated that it will take the respondents approximately 30 minutes to complete this one-time survey, which will ask respondents about existing laws, policies, and procedures for paying for medical forensic exams, what aspects of the exam are paid for, the funding sources used to reimburse healthcare providers for exams, and what is and is not working with the current approach. The survey will be a mix of multiple-choice and narrative response questions.

An estimate of the total public burden (in hours) associated with the collection: The total hour burden of this one-time data collection is 28 hours. While Voca and STOP administrators will be invited to provide responses, only one response per state/territory is needed. 56 states/territories * 30-minute completion time = 1,680 minutes, or 28 hours.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This ICR seeks PRA authority for the retaining Employment and Talent After Injury/ Illness Network [RETAIIN]
Demonstration Project and Evaluation information collection. The RETAIN Demonstration Projects are a collaborative effort led by the U.S. Department of Labor’s Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP) in partnership with DOL’s Employment and Training Administration (ETA) and the Social Security Administration (SSA). The RETAIN projects will test the impact of early intervention strategies that improve stay-at-work/ return-to-work (SAW/RTW) outcomes of individuals who experience work disability while employed. “Work disability” is defined as an injury, illness, or medical condition that has the potential to inhibit or prevent continued employment or labor force participation. SAW/RTW programs succeed by returning injured or ill workers to productive work as soon as medically possible during their recovery process and by providing interim part-time or light-duty work and accommodations, as necessary. The RETAIN Demonstration Projects are modeled after promising programs operating in Washington state, including the Centers of Occupational Health and Education (COHE), the Early Return to Work (ERTW), and the Stay at Work programs. While these programs operate within the state’s workers’ compensation system and are available only to people experiencing workplace-related injuries or illnesses, the RETAIN Demonstration Projects provide opportunities to improve SAW/RTW outcomes for both occupational and non-occupational injuries and illnesses of people who are employed, or at a minimum in the labor force, when their injury or illness occurs. The Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2016 section 107 authorizes this information collection. See Public Law 115–245.

This proposed information collection is subject to the PRA. A Federal agency generally cannot conduct or sponsor a collection of information, and the public is generally not required to respond to an information collection, unless it is approved by the OMB under the PRA and displays a currently valid OMB Control Number. In addition, notwithstanding any other provisions of law, no person shall generally be subject to penalty for failing to comply with a collection of information if the collection of information does not display a valid Control Number. See 5 CFR 1320.5(a) and 1320.6. For additional information, see the related notice published in the Federal Register on 06/22/2018 (83 FRN 121).

Interested parties are encouraged to send comments to the OMB, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs at the address shown in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section within thirty (30) days of publication of this notice in the Federal Register. In order to help ensure appropriate consideration, comments should mention OMB ICR Reference Number 201902–1230–001. The OMB is particularly interested in comments that:

- Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;
- Evaluate the accuracy of the agency’s estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.
